F.R. Aims Talk At Mollifying Both Congress, Public Opinion

President Lives Up To Advance Notices Of 'No Fireworks' In Fireside Chat

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Judged by both its substance and the tone of its delivery, President Roosevelt's fireside chat amplifying his call for a special session of congress in November was designed primarily to have a tranquillizing effect both on congress and on public opinion. It lived up to advance notices that there would be "no fireworks" in what the president had to say, either as to domestic or foreign affairs.

There is controversy in plenty ahead for the special session, even under the limited program the president outlined. Crop control, wage - hour legislation, regional planning for national resources, new anti - trust measures, even the lesser question of the method to be followed in re-organization of government executive machinery, all involve carrying out the Roosevelt conception of necessity for a strong central government to deal with modern problems. Yet they project nothing strikingly new for public debate. All have been on the anvil of political controversy since Mr. Roosevelt took office.

Confident of Public Support

To many Washington observers, including some who stand close in White House councils, the fireside chat and the calm tone of its delivery speak the president's complete confidence that public opinion backs his broad economic and social program and that, when congress does meet in November, the effect of that public support will be quickly evident. House and senate members, this group contends, will have felt the popular pulse at home during the recess and reached the same conclusion. As a result the White House may—and does—expect prompt action. To encourage it, the president can hold out to the legislators hopes of a brief regular session after the first of the year to permit them to get back to political fence-mending at home long before the congressional elections.

Court Fight in Background

Whether Mr. Roosevelt correctly gauges in advance the mood in which congress will get back on the job is sharply questioned by his critics. That he does view the situation confidently, and felt it unnecessary to do any active fire - building beneath the legislators, is apparent on casual reading of his remark. It is highly significant that the president again kept the party-splitting controversy over his proposal to make over the supreme court far in the background.

Asks National Relations Board To Stay Out Of C.I.O. Fight

DENVER, Oct. 13 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor decided today to ask congress to keep the national labor relations board out of the federation's fight with John L. Lewis' rebel C.I.O.
After hearing repeated charges that the board and its agents favored the C.I.O., the federation's annual convention voted to ask congress for two amendments to the Wagner labor disputes act. The first would prevent the board from stepping into any dispute between unions. The second would compel the board to hold its elections by craft in plants where more than one craft was employed.
In a fast-moving session that saw most of the convention's major business concluded, the delegates also voted to boycott Japanese manufactured goods and to keep a wary eye on any federal wage and hour legislation proposals.
John P. Frey, president of the federation's metal trades department, led the attack on the labor board.

Judge Orders Night Session In Hahn Trial

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13 (AP)—One man sat among 11 women on a tentative murder trial jury tonight, as Judge Charles S. Bell ordered a night session of court in an effort to speed the trial of Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, charged with fatally poisoning Jacob Wagner, 78.
The state and defense each had exercised two of six allotted peremptory challenges when court recessed for dinner. Two prospective jurors were dismissed when they expressed opposition to infliction of the death penalty.
In ordering the night session Judge Bell indicated a wish to reach the actual start of testimony soon.

Confident Fans Due To Leave

1,350 Stadium Tickets Sold For Game At Madison

Hundreds of Hawkeye fans, confident of success for Coach "I" Tubbs' reorganized football machine, will entrain for Madison Saturday morning, bound for the Wisconsin stadium and Iowa's first Big Ten game.
More than 1,350 stadium tickets had been sold last night, it was reported by Charles Galiber, business manager of athletics. Others planning to attend the game have been requested to buy tickets today, since most of the unsold admission slips will be returned to Wisconsin tonight.
Accompanying the football team and fans will be a 110-piece football band under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter and the Scottish Highlanders, bagpipe corps. The Iowa-Wisconsin game has been designated as the official "game" trip for Iowa students this year, and is endorsed by university officials.
Students will board a special train at the Rock Island depot at 8 a.m. Saturday, arriving at Madison at noon for a police-escorted parade to the campus.

Evangelist's Wife, Salesman Killed

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 13 (AP)—The wife of a Lexington evangelist and an automobile salesman were shot to death tonight at the former's home, and shortly afterward, Police Sgt. Speed Sherrow said, the woman's husband surrendered to police and was booked for murder.
The victims were Mrs. Willie Johnson, 42, and William (Buster) Rue, 37.

State Officials Hunt Verner's Death Weapon

Stepson Admits Using Iron Club To Kill Spencer Man

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—State enforcement officials tonight awaited conclusion of a search for a piece of iron, a weapon which officers said Paul Verner, 18, confessed he used in slaying Frank Jayne, his stepfather, Oct. 2 at Spencer.
Reports from Spencer late today said the weapon had not been found. In his reported confession, which officers said he signed today, the authorities quoted Verner as having designated the spot where he threw the piece of iron after crushing the skull of the 65-year-old man.
Officers refused to divulge the location of the weapon as given in the reported confession.
Meanwhile, Clay county officials prepared to hustle Verner and his two associates, Lowell Lair, 18, and Max Barnett, 22, back to Spencer. Clay County Attorney Gilbert S. James, who called the killing "a murder of hatred and revenge," said Verner's confession implicated Lair.
Ill feeling between Verner and his stepfather apparently was the motive in the killing, James said. Jayne lived in one part of the house and his wife, from whom he had been separated for several months, lived upstairs.
Jayne ordered the boy out of the house, James said, and the youth, living upstairs with his mother, sneaked in and out of the house at night.
The county attorney said the day was spent in taking statements from the three boys, singly and collectively. He refused to disclose the texts of any of them.
Jayne's body was found slumped over an old fashioned phonograph three days after he died. "Don't Turn My Picture to the Wall" was the title of the record on the machine.
James said Lair also has admitted being with Verner when Jayne was slain. The boys crept into the apartment through a window, the county attorney added, and Verner brought the makeshift weapon down with a crash on Jayne's head.

5,000 Fishermen Die As Japanese Gunboats Scuttle Chinese Junks

C.I.O. Strike Relief Costs $960,000

John L. Lewis and Sidney Hillman

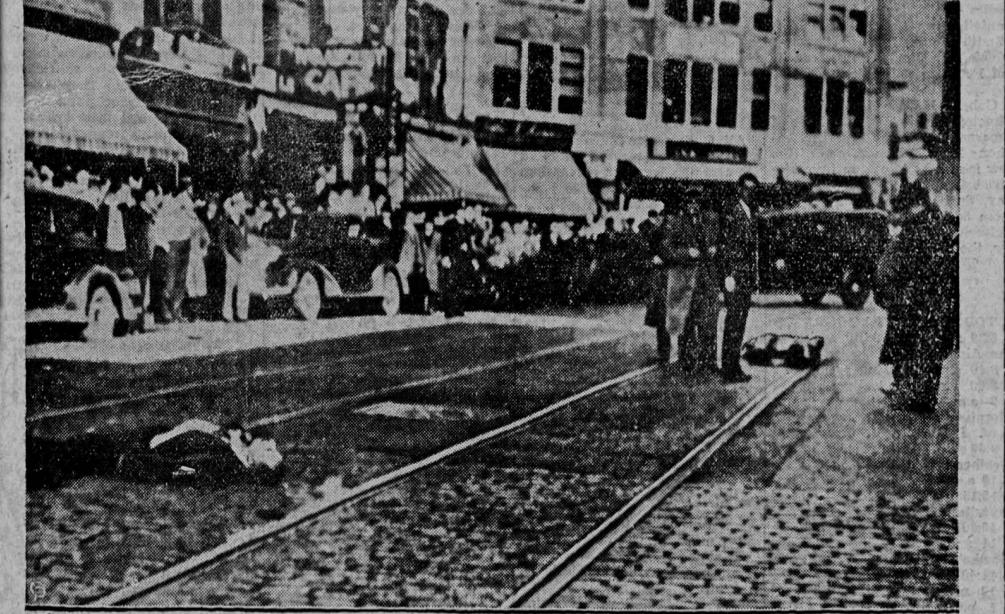

The Committee for Industrial Organization paid out $960,000 for strike relief in its recent clash with "little steel" operators, according to the C. I. O. chief himself, John L. Lewis, seen left in Atlantic City, N. J., with Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. The meeting in Atlantic City drew more than 200 C. I. O. leaders who discussed accomplishments and aims. Lewis also revealed that the C. I. O. expended a total of $1,745,988.96 in the past 16 months.

U.S. Navy Man Is Wounded In Shanghai Fire

Destroyer Pours Shells On Pootung; Planes Open Attack

NANKING, Oct. 14 (Thursday) (AP)—Five thousand Chinese fishermen were drowned and 200 fishing junks sunk off Hongkong in the past month by Japanese gunboats, the Chinese Fishermen's union reported today.
Declaring that 40,000 fishermen and 6,000 junks are now idle, the union appealed to the Chinese government for relief from the attack.
SHANGHAI, Oct. 14 (Thursday) (AP)—An American naval radioman was slightly wounded by shrapnel today when a Japanese destroyer poured shell after shell into ruined Pootung attempting to wipe out a lone Chinese sniper who had hit a Japanese picket boat.
Simultaneously the Japanese opened widespread attacks along the entire Shanghai front, making aerial bomb attacks on the north station and Chapei areas.
Yarnell Protested
The wounded American was J. P. McMichael of Connerville, Ind., radioman attached to the United States cruiser Augusta, flagship of the American Asiatic fleet.
Admiral Harry Yarnell immediately protested to the Japanese Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa concerning the incident.
Both the Japanese destroyer and the picket boat concentrated heavy fire on the Pootung sector after the Chinese sniper scored a hit on the picket.
Fierce machine gunning adjacent to the international areas caused the British Royal Ulsters Rifles regiment temporarily to abandon patrol posts on the fringe of the fighting.
Northern Drive Goes On
Japanese today declared their north China forces were continuing their drive south along the Peiping - Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways. Earlier Chinese dispatches from Tsinafu had reported an inexplicable quiet on the north China front. They said the Japanese had withdrawn their vanguards and halted their advance.

Gangster Al Brady and Pal Fall Before Guns of G-Men in Maine

Midwest's public enemy No. 1, gangster Al Brady, 31, is shown lying dead in foreground, with his pal, Clarence Shaffer, 22, after the pair fell on a street at Bangor, Me., victims of a G-man ambush fusillade. The spectacular coup, which wiped out the Brady gang of Indiana, was engineered after federal agents were tipped that Brady would try to rob a Bangor sporting goods store. James Dalhover, 30, third member of the gang, received minor injuries and G-Man Walter Walsh of Washington, D. C., was seriously wounded in the chest during the spectacular street battle which resulted. Dalhover was captured immediately.

Charles Clark Dies While At Work in Shop

Charles F. Clark, 58, Resident of Iowa City for the Past 12 Years, Died Suddenly at 5:15 P.M. Yesterday While at Work in his Shoe Shop at 126 S. Dubuque Street. Death was due to an acute heart attack.

He was born in Larne City, Wyo., Jan. 4, 1879, and was married in 1902. He lived with his family for 19 years at Washington, Ia., then moved to Iowa City, where he lived until the time of his death. The family resides at 220 S. Linn street.
He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Charles F. Clark, and five children: Mary F. Clark and Charles F. Clark of Davenport, Mrs. Florence Bleeker of Rock Island, Ill., and Helen Clark and Willard S. Clark of Iowa City.
He was a member of the Woodmen of the World fraternal organization for 25 years.
The body was taken to McGovern's funeral home.

Gangster Talks After Grilling By Federal Agents

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 13 (AP)—Federal sleuths today back-traced the outlaw trail of the Al Brady gang, which yesterday came to an abrupt end when two of its members perished in a hail of machine gun bullets and the third was captured.
The investigators were particularly eager to learn, who if anyone, gave aid and comfort to Brady and Clarence L. Shaffer, the two who fell before the G-men's guns, and James Dalhover, the prisoner, since the trio escaped an Indiana jail a year ago.
Meanwhile Dalhover, under heavy guard, talked. Police Captain Frank Foley said the federal agents, after lengthy questioning, obtained a confession of the band's outlawry. Murders of three policemen and a storekeeper and numerous robberies of jewelry stores and groceries were charged against the gang.
Pending removal to Indiana for trial, Dalhover was held in the city jail. Brady's body remained unclaimed on a slab at the city morgue. An undertaker said he had received instructions to ship Shaffer's body to his native Indianapolis.

School Board Accepts Invite

The Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce will entertain the city school board at a luncheon tomorrow noon in the Jefferson hotel. The board accepted the invitation to a meeting last night.
The board will explain the features of the two-proposition ballot which will be used in the Nov. 4 high school bond election to the Iowa City League of Women Voters, it was decided last night.
No date was set for the meeting, but it was agreed the high school auditorium will be the site. Mrs. Orvis C. Irwin, 619 N. Governor street, is the league president.

Charge Patient Got Improper Care from State

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Des Moines police were asked tonight to investigate conditions surrounding the transfer to Des Moines of a 72-year-old woman patient here by ambulance from the State University hospital.
The woman, Mrs. Emma Waisner, was reported unconscious and in a critical condition in a hospital here, where she was left by the state ambulance this afternoon.
Complaint was made by Mrs. Esther Morris, Mrs. Waisner's niece, to Captain of Detectives Roy Clarkson that her aunt appeared to have been given improper care in the ambulance.
Mrs. Morris said Mrs. Waisner has abrasions on both eyes and that she was told she had fallen several times out of a stretcher while en route here in the ambulance.

Rebel Shells Batter Madrid Buildings

Foreign Correspondent Dictates Vivid Account of Bombardment

By CHARLES P. MUTTER
MADRID, Oct. 13 (AP)—I was still covered with plaster from the walls and ceiling of a smoke-filled press room when I telephoned London tonight that an insurgent shell had just scored a direct hit on the ministry of state building, headquarters of most foreign newspaper men.
After the insurgents opened a furious artillery bombardment of Madrid it was only a few seconds before the city was filled with the roar of exploding shells and the screams of the wounded.
One of the heaviest barrages of the entire 11-month siege rained shells into every quarter of the city.
I had dictated only a few words when a second shell crashed into the building, showering the room with broken glass. Shells from insurgent artillery batteries only two miles distant poured into the city in an even heavier shower than on Monday night, when the insurgents fired 1,200 shells within an hour, killing more than 100 persons.

As I tried to conclude my conversation and run for shelter before it became too late another shell shook the building and broke my connection.
I hastily took advantage of the opportunity to hunt for cover. I am now dictating this dispatch to London in a 400 year old inquisition chamber deep below the ministry of state building.
Pale lights flicker on the six foot thick walls which were the despair of prisoners confined here in the middle ages but are our salvation now. A girl of about 8 years of age, trembling and weeping in abject terror, sits close beside me. She was brought here by a passerby as she fled crying through the debris-littered streets from her home—struck by a shell.

The thunder of exploding missiles and loud cries of wounded persons reach into this subterranean chamber.
The bombardment still is going on. There are about 100 persons here, including ministry of state officials and foreign newspaper correspondents. Two newspaper men were wounded by flying glass upstairs while I was telephoning London earlier.

Prospects for A Special Session

THE SPECIAL session of congress President Roosevelt called for in his "fireside chat" Tuesday evening may well be a more important meeting than the regular session held early this year. For actual work accomplished, the last session of our law-making body was as futile a gathering as has convened in recent years.

When the congressmen came to Washington in January, hopes were high; here was a group of men elected, for the most part, on the same principles. Except for scattered exceptions, every man was a new dealer and elected to office on the democratic ticket. But the optimism on the part of observers was short-lived. Scarcely a month had elapsed before congress was a turmoil of personal and political squabbling almost unprecedented in our national history. When the session ended late in the summer, the constructive accomplishments could have been numbered on the fingers of one hand. If the regular session had gone as had been planned, this special meeting would not have been necessary.

Reaction yesterday to Mr. Roosevelt's call was varied. Some congressmen expressed opposition; some few said they would not be present; others have branded the session "political." Most of them, however, have been silent, and we take their silence to mean that they will be present and ready to cooperate with any of the objectives for which the call may have been issued.

The list of tasks the president has outlined sounds promising. Among them are crop-production control to "build an all-weather farm program so that in the long run prices will be more stable"; wage and hour standards to make "millions of our lowest paid workers actual buyers of the billions of dollars of industrial and farm products"; regional planning in conserving natural resources, preventing floods and producing electric power for general use; government reorganization to provide "twentieth century machinery" to make the democratic processes "more efficiently operated"; and stronger anti-trust laws in furtherance of a "low price policy which encourages the widest possible consumption."

Whether all of these seemingly necessary actions will receive the approval of congress, we cannot say; perhaps it will be found that some of the suggested legislation is unnecessary or needs revision. These are problems for congress to work out itself. Our hope is that congress will go to Washington next month with an open mind, ready to forget squabbles and settle down to work, to complete tasks which might have been done in regular session. We hope, too, that Mr. Roosevelt will forget the supreme court; we hope the executive and the legislative branches of our national government will begin a closer cooperation. It is only thus that the "instruments of democracy" referred to so lovingly by Mr. Roosevelt in his recent constitutional speech, can survive. It was Benjamin Franklin who once said, "If we do not hang together we shall all hang separately," and to this philosophy we heartily agree.

With the price of beef soaring to heights even Mr. Picard, the stratosphere balloonist, hasn't dreamed of, the modern boy friend doesn't bring his girl or chids any more. He brings her a hamburger sandwich.

These Changing Traffic Lights

IMAGINE, if you can, either of the intersections on Washington street with the traffic light out of control. Green changes to red with no warning. Trucks and flivvers, taxis and limosines tangle in a confused mass, dashing ahead only to halt suddenly in front of the other traffic stream as the light shows red.

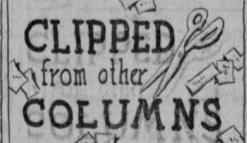

Only last week, the chief of police announced that pedestrians crossing downtown streets against traffic lights would be subject to arrest and fine. We think the demand reasonable, the warning fair. A year ago The Daily Iowan reported the large number of people crossing against light and, at the same time, pointed out the hazard in "leaving it all up to the motorist."

Designed to permit an even flow of cross traffic, the lights are worthless when thoughtless persons saunter across the street or make an end-run around a passing delivery truck. As far as the motorist is concerned, the green light goes red every time a pedestrian looms above the radiator cap of his car. Often this "light" changes as many as three times during the 25-foot crossing from block to block.

Why not be as careful a pedestrian as you are a driver? It doesn't mean wig-wagging hand signals to the fellow behind you nor does it mean blowing your horn in traffic. It does mean careful attention to traffic lights and cooperation with the Iowa City police in reducing street accidents for 1937-38.

Editorial writer says women should be banned from cocktail lounges. He thinks the only bars the ladies should be familiar with are those made of soap.

Time certainly flies. A few weeks more and we'll be hearing that old, moth-eaten gag about the Thanksgiving turkey getting it in the neck.

LIMITED ENGAGEMENT

NEITHER EXPENSE nor artistry has been spared in the stage settings for Mrs. Nature's production of "Autumn," which has been having successful tryouts in the suburban and rural districts and is expected to come into New York City for a limited engagement. Color has been lavishly used—perhaps a little too lavishly in some cases for those who prefer the more delicate effects—but on the whole the impression is one of a brush skillfully handled by a designer at once jovial, humorous and sumptuous in his tastes. Nor have the broad strokes which are so noticeable prevented a nice attention to details—in even so small a matter as the outlining of the veins in a leaf there are signs of painstaking care. Something should be said, too, for the ingenuity which has been expended on background and sky effects. By a striking use of draperies and indirect lighting these features are made to change with the mood of the drama, so that a veil of pastel grays breaks suddenly, as the action quickens, into dazzling whites and blues.

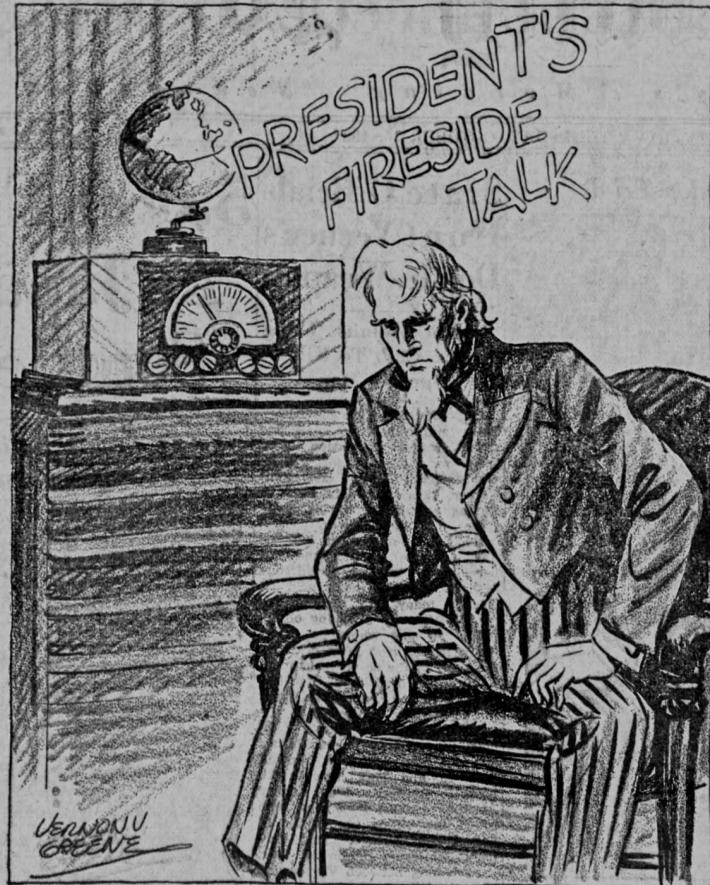

The play has been, on the whole, well cast, though there may be a difference of opinion as to which character is taking the lead. Maple, vividly clothed in red, will seem to many to attain almost the highest point of her career; Willow, less dramatic, plays her part with the poise and inner glow of an old stager; and Elm, profiting by the plot angle which keeps the audience in suspense as to whether she will or will not succumb to the Dutch Elm disease, achieves a fine tragic-comic relief in her russet gown and with that brave, rustling laughter which seems to defy the fates. Poison Ivy, with her smart Parisian worldliness, is most seductive, and Sumac does the honest countryman without overacting the bucolic element in the role. The chorus of weeds and grasses has been well drilled and beautifully costumed; and there is a possibility that it may continue to present its program after the run of the original show has ended.

It can safely be said that if Mrs. Nature could be induced to bring her play to Broadway it would keep the boxoffice staff busy for the rest of the year. Properly cast, the performance might also enjoy a long run as a motion picture. At the producer's headquarters, however, it was definitely stated that the play would be taken off before the end of the month, partly to give the leading characters a much-needed rest, and partly to revamp a number of scenes in preparation for a production now promised for the Fall of 1938.

We have no hesitation in recommending "Autumn" to our readers. Seldom has an American drama come so close to grasping the essence of human life, in all its mingling of comedy and tragedy, and seldom has the theme been treated with so much gusto.

WELL WORTH CAREFUL THINKING

Useful Action of Drugs Found Accidentally in Past

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The practice of mixing drugs to heal the ills of the human body and mind is as old as mankind. And they are still a part of the scheme of things. New drugs are constantly being discovered; new uses for old ones are being uncovered—some old ones are discarded.

How the useful action of drugs was discovered was in the past largely accidental. In modern times, with so much research in the pharmacological laboratories all over the world, it is more likely to be the result of deliberate research. One of our drugs was a disease in past centuries. Ergot is a disease of plants which sometimes used to affect man. It is a rot, or rust, on rye and other grains, and it was known as a spoiler of flour. Before its effects were traced to the proper cause, people used to eat this spoiled grain or flour with terrible results. Epidemics of ergotism swept over Europe time and again in the

LUCKY THIRTEEN Gets All Diamonds In Bridge Hand

"Thirteen" is supposed to be an unlucky number—but sometimes it isn't. The hand for which every bridge player dreams was dealt to Seymour Shapiro, M1 of Davenport, yesterday afternoon. Shapiro bid seven diamonds. Robert Sandler, A2 of Des Moines, doubled the bid. Shapiro led back by "redoubling" the bid. The reason—he held every diamond in the deck—13. The man at the next desk says the reason our language is known as the "mother tongue" is because, around the house, at least, few fathers get a chance to speak it.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD — For Tamara Geva, for a while a leg will be something to stand on. She stands on two of the prettiest Broadway stage or Hollywood ever saw. But Hollywood — meaning the camera — won't see them. Tamara, Russian-born dancer — actress, is hiding them as she makes her film debut.

Besides something to stand on, a leg to Tamara is also something one prefers not to discuss. "I don't mind," she says, "but anything one says is so likely to be misunderstood. At present I wish to forget dancing for a while — to be seen as an actress — but if I said so, that, too, might be misconstrued."

Did Ballet Burlesque: Born on St. Patrick's Day, the daughter of a Tartar father and a Swedish mother, Tamara was trained in the Russian imperial ballet school and came to America in "Chauve Souris." Ziegfeld signed her for "Whoopee," and her other musicals on the stage included "Three's a Crowd," "Flying Colors," and "On Your Toes." In the last-named she added acting to dancing, and presented a burlesque of ballet — in a way a revenge for the weary hours of grueling practice ballet had demanded of her.

Tamara appeared in an acting role in an unsuccessful play, "The Divine Drudge," and this opened the dramatic field to her. Recently she did "Idiot's Delight" in summer stock. In pictures she wants to continue as a dramatic actress — and forget the dancing and the legs.

In appearance a sort of exotic Margaret Sullivan, Tamara shied from film offers until she found one she considered suitable. She plays a temperamental opera star — but doesn't sing — in "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round."

She herself is not too temperamental. She loses her temper seldom, but when she does—you're supposed to duck. She never dices, except eschew hard liquor. She likes a glass of sherry, has a few superstitions, loves to have her head scratched. She makes elaborate plans, usually abandons them for a spur-of-the-moment idea.

She hates to pack clothes, write letters, cook, give parties, sew, or eat onions. Off the screen she wears little or no make-up. She has few close friends, but makes acquaintances easily. She is a good story-teller, a good listener, and a good conversationalist. Her accent is slight.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—In the Times Square area there two vast newsstands where are sold newspapers from every important city in the world.

These include all principal American cities and the European capitals, with especial emphasis placed on English language papers from Shanghai and other Oriental ports.

New York being a cosmopolitan center, composed of people from every city, state, and nation in the world, it is an assured fact that if you stand near these stands for any length of time you will see a cross-section of the world pass in review.

Less publicized but equally true is the fact that plainclothes men and detectives keep a watchful eye on these stands. They scrutinize closely anyone purchasing a paper there, and their logic is simple. Criminals frequently give way to impulse or curiosity to see how much ado the "local" press is making over their activities. A fugitive, say, from Minneapolis is likely to ask for his hometown paper, and when he does a copper usually is ready to slip the irons on him.

Then again, spies are sometimes detected in this way. There is one case on record where a rather harmless looking fellow was in the habit of buying a large number of papers every second Monday at one of these stands. Finally it became noted that he purchased coast papers only—that is, he bought Savannah, Miami, New Orleans, Galveston, San Diego, San Francisco, and Seattle papers. This, in effect, drew a "ring" around the United States.

Before making a move the authorities purchased these papers themselves and, in time, succeeded in breaking down a code in the classified advertisements. The purchaser was a spy and was receiving certain information in this way twice a month. This was shortly after the war, and so the fellow was, as I recall, deported. Had he been captured during the war he would have been shot.

Stephen Vincent Benet Will Open Talks This Month

Lectures by three visiting speakers and 11 faculty members have been scheduled for the 1937-38 Baconian lecture series, the Baconian committee, headed by Prof. Harrison J. Thornton, announced yesterday. Stephen Vincent Benet, noted poet and novelist of New York, will open the series Oct. 25 speaking on "The Architecture of the Novel."

The two other visiting speakers will be Edward W. Lindstrom, professor of genetics at Iowa State college, and William C. Graham, professor of Old Testament language and literature at the University of Chicago.

State Directors Here To Confer On Iowa Guide

Raymond Kresensky, state director of the federal writers' project for Iowa, and David McLaughlin, assistant state director, were in Iowa City this week to confer with the staff of the State Historical society in reference to the publication of an Iowa Guide, under the auspices of the Historical society.

The manuscript of the guide, which is one of a series of state guide books being compiled under the WPA, is now in Washington, D.C. After it has received final approval, it will be published sometime in 1938.

Reuben Voted Cheer Captain

Committee Named To Arrange Student Pep Rallies

Bob Reuben, A3 of Ft. Dodge, was elected captain of the university cheerleaders at a meeting of the executive council of Pi Epsilon Pi, pep fraternity, last night.

A committee to arrange for student rallies, part of the organization's "new era in pep," was also elected. The members are Bruce Morrow, D3 of Council Bluffs, and Bob Brandon, D4 of Philadelphia, Pa. They will work with the cheerleaders.

Tryouts for freshman cheerleaders will be held next week after the Iowa-Wisconsin game. All students interested are eligible to take part.

A "get-acquainted" pep meeting to which all university men are invited will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Iowa Union. A pep program for the year will be outlined by the fraternity.

University Grad Represents Iowa

W. Otis Teeters of Wilmington, Del., a university alumnus, will represent the university at the dedication of a new chemical laboratory at the University of Delaware tomorrow.

He is the son of Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy. He received a B.S. degree in pharmacy at the University of Iowa in 1930 and is now employed by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, Wilmington, Del.

Three Teams Win First Round Games In Women's Meet

Of the nine teams which participated last night in the first round of the intramural volleyball tournament in the women's gymnasium, Currier hall, Alpha Delta Pi, and Breene-Tudor won both games.

The tournament is arranged so that the teams draw for opponents and play two games each evening. The teams which played last night will play again next Wednesday whether they won or lost. A second group of eight teams will complete this evening from 7:15 until 9:00 o'clock.

The organizations which participated in last evening's competition were: Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Delta Pi, Sigma Delta Tau, Currier hall No. 1, Eastlawn No. 1 and No. 2, Delta Gamma No. 1, and Breene-Tudor No. 1.

President Announces Outing Club Meeting

The Outing club will meet this evening at 7:30 in the social room of the women's gymnasium. Alice Jean Bates, A3 of Iowa City, president, has announced.

Others interested in joining the club are invited to attend.

Students to Welcome Fathers

Seven Events Scheduled for Dad's Day Entertainment Oct. 22, 23

Hundreds of fathers will arrive on the afternoon of Oct. 22, ready to be entertained with a round of events being given in their honor by the university and A.F.I., senior mens' honorary society.

Seven events have been scheduled, the first of which is the "Beat Michigan" pep meeting and the "I" blanket hop which take place Friday evening. Saturday morning military and physical education demonstrations will occur at the fieldhouse. At this time, fathers will have an opportunity to tour the campus with their sons and daughters.

With the kick-off at 2 p.m., the Michigan-Iowa football game will furnish the Saturday afternoon attraction as the Wolverines play here for the second time in history and the first time since 1923.

The traditional dinner at Iowa Union will be held Saturday at 6:30. Speakers for the occasion will be President Eugene A. Gilmore, Leo R. Leeper of Waterloo, president of the Iowa Dads' association who will also act as toastmaster, Jack Drees of Eau Claire, Wis., president of A.F.I. who will speak for Iowa sons; and James Savery of Atlantic, president of Mortar Board, representing Iowa daughters.

Two Pharmacy Groups Name Class Officers

Officers for the freshman and junior classes of pharmacy were announced yesterday. Carl B. Burnside of Shenandoah has been elected president of the junior class, and Frederick P. Drumm of Maquoketa is the freshman class president.

Other junior officers are Marjorie L. Moburg of Geneseo, Ill., vice-president, and Ruth M. Miller of Guttenberg, secretary-treasurer. The remaining officers of the freshman class are Milo D. Himes of Normal, Ill., vice-president, and Darlene M. Rallsback of Harlan, secretary-treasurer.

Dean Kuever Will Speak at Meeting Of Druggist Association

Dean R. A. Kuever and Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy will attend the luncheon meeting of the Independent Retail Druggist association in Iowa Falls today.

Dean Kuever will speak on "Recent Advancement in Pharmaceutical Education." This association includes all the counties in the third congressional district.

Clapp To Speak On 'Thought in Music'

Prof. P. G. Clapp, head of the music department, will speak at the Humanist society meeting Monday evening at 8 p.m. at the home of Prof. and Mrs. D. S. White, 825 N. Johnson street.

His subject will be "The Thought Content in Music."

New York Landscape Architect, Clarke, Will Lecture to Residents of Iowa City On Subject of 'Landscape Architecture'

Gilmore D. Clarke, New York landscape architect, will give a public lecture on "Landscape Architecture" in the exhibition lounge of the fine arts building tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Mr. Clarke is a member of the Vitale, Geiffert and Clarke firm of architects in New York and of the national committee on fine arts. He is collaborator-at-large for the National Park service and director of the Fine Arts federation in New York.

In 1931 he was the winner of the medal of honor from the Architectural League of New York. Mr. Clarke assists in an advisory teaching capacity in landscape architecture and city planning at Harvard university, Cornell university and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He is a fellow and trustee in the American Society of Landscape Architects, a member of the Society of Civil Engineers and a member of the executive committee in the American Academy at Rome.

Speeches Given by 3 Engineering Students At Meeting Yesterday

John Howard, E3 of Cedar Rapids, Robert Neff, E4 of Brooklyn, and D. U. Greenwald, E4 of Iowa City, addressed the local student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Howard chose as his subject "Welding Techniques." Mr. Neff spoke on "Physical Testing of Materials at the Caterpillar Tractor Company," and Mr. Greenwald's subject was "Personnel Methods at the Caterpillar Tractor Company."

Canoeists To Meet In Women's Gym

The Canoeing club of the Women's Athletic association will have its first meeting Monday in the social room of the women's gymnasium at 4 p.m. to make plans for the year.

To be eligible for club membership, women must have passed the university swimming test and had previous paddling experience. All eligible university women are invited to attend.

Weekly Discussion Groups Help New Students Gain Perspective of Campus

Each week four discussion groups led by faculty members afford the freshman an opportunity to talk with fellow students about common interests.

Freshmen discuss such problems as arranging study schedules, the true value of sororities and fraternities on the campus and extracurricular activities.

The discussion groups meet Wednesday at 4:10 in room 211, Schaeffer hall, under the leadership of Prof. and Mrs. Stephen H. Bush, and in the north conference room of Iowa Union under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Don Mallett.

Meetings are also held Thursday at 4:10 p.m. in the north conference room with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Peder as advisers, and at 7:30 p.m. in the Y.W.C.A. conference room under the leadership of Prof. and Mrs. C. J. Lapp.

Any freshman may attend these discussion groups conducted under the auspices of the religious activities office, the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A.

Lecturer Tells Requisites For House Interior

Washington Decoration Expert To Speak Again Today

"Your house will be correct and interesting only if it expresses your own personality," Genevieve Hendricks declared in her lecture "Furnishing the Modern Home," yesterday afternoon in Macbride auditorium.

Miss Hendricks, who has maintained a studio of interior decoration in Washington, D.C., for the last 18 years, pointed out that the first requisite of an interior decorator is to know the personality of her client.

She will conduct a round-table discussion this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Macbride auditorium on "The Profession of Interior Decoration, Its Requirements and Opportunities." Today's talk will deal with the technical side of her profession.

Miss Hendricks contends that houses usually do not reflect enough thought and care. Color, good balance and proportion are essential, but they cannot be attained without a pre-arranged plan, she said.

An impractical house does not express good taste. "Above all," she said, "use the rule of common sense."

Mrs. Matthews attended the university, and Mr. Matthews attended Knox college and Northwestern and Drake universities. The couple are living in Marshalltown.

Woman Dentist Enters S.U.I.

Graduate of German Dentistry School
Matriculates as Junior

The distinction of being the only girl enrolled this year in the college of dentistry belongs to Dr. Ann Gurau of Berlin, Germany. A graduate of the college of dentistry of the University of Berlin, Dr. Gurau practiced her profession for more than a year there before coming to the United States.

Dr. Gurau enjoys life in the United States, she says. She has been here two years. For six months after her arrival she worked with a dentist in New York and later did research work in cancer for Dr. Richard M. Brickner, neurologist at Columbia university.

Meets Requirements
To meet the requirements for an American license, Dr. Gurau must take two years in the college of dentistry. She is now enrolled as a junior dentist.

Iowa City is very different from Berlin, but also very pleasant, according to the doctor.

"Both students and professors are most courteous and helpful," she declared.

Greater Opportunity
There is greater opportunity to obtain an education in the United States than in Germany, according to Dr. Gurau. Possibilities for students in Germany to work their way through school are limited.

Boys and girls in Germany spend only three years in elementary school, after which they attend the gymnasium, a school equivalent to our high school and junior college. Gymnasiums are of three types. In the lower type, where the student spends nine years, French, English, mathematics and Latin are taught.

In the second type, there are six years of Latin but no Greek. In the third and best type, English, French, Latin and Greek are taught along with supplementary studies.

Allowed Independence
College students in Germany are allowed more independence than they are here, according to Dr. Gurau. All class work is in lecture form. There are no assignments, no home work, and no roll is taken.

No restrictions are placed on either women or men students. No hours are imposed, and German students do not live in university dormitories or houses.

Informal Dinner To Honor Faculty

Prof. and Mrs. Frank Luther Mott will entertain members of the school of journalism faculty at an informal dinner in their home in Coralville this evening.

Their guests will be Prof. Fred J. Lazell, Prof. and Mrs. Fred M. Pownall, Prof. and Mrs. Edward F. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Earl English, Prof. Charles L. Sanders and Loie Randall.

Society To Entertain

Circle No. 2 of St. Patrick's Altar and Rosary society will entertain this afternoon at 2:15 at a public card party in the school building. Mrs. R. T. Lee and Mrs. Dan Peters will be in charge.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Akre of Washington, D. C., spent Wednesday night visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Rehder, 1181 Hotz avenue.

Prof. Frances Zuill, head of the home economics department, will speak tomorrow in Council Bluffs before the southwestern district of the State Teachers association. Her subject will be "Modern Trends in Teaching Home Economics."

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. R. G. Snyder, Mrs. C. F. Rittenmeyer and Mrs. V. M. Vandicar are giving a farewell party for Mrs. Olive Hornaday Beckering at the Vandicar home, 639 S. Dodge st. Mrs. Beckering has been a nurse in Iowa City since 1926, and the majority of the guests will be nurses who have worked with her. Mrs. Beckering leaves Oct. 15 to join her husband, Dr. Beckering.

Milton J. Frick, who has been working at the Magnus hotel pharmacy in Cedar Rapids, has accepted a position at Pearson's drug store, 202 N. Linn street.

Dad's Day Party Band Named

Agnew's Orchestra Will Come Oct. 22 for I-Blanket Hop

A.F.I. Honorary Organization To Give University Dance In Honor of Visiting Fathers Of S.U.I. Students

Charlie Agnew and his band will begin the festivities of Dad's Day week end, playing at the I-Blanket Hop Oct. 22. The informal dance, at which A. F. I., senior men's honorary organization, will entertain, will be in the main lounge of Iowa Union from 9 to 12 p.m.

Agnew has already established a reputation on the Iowa campus. Last year he entertained the medics at the Aesculapian Frolic. Two years ago he presided at the Spinster Spree.

The band has just completed an extended tour of Texas. Agnew and his musicians were heard at the Baker hotel in Dallas and the Rice hotel in Houston.

Other recent engagements include appearances at the Morrison and Edgewater Beach hotels in Chicago. Agnew has also played on the Lucky Strike Hit parade. On his way from the Lowry hotel in St. Paul, Minn., to the Iowa campus, he will make several one-night stops.

Jack Drees, A4 of Eau Claire, Wis., chairman of the committee, has announced that tickets will go on sale Monday at Iowa Union desk.

The chaperons for the I-Blanket Hop include Dr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson, Prof. and Mrs. C. M. Updegraff, Dr. and Mrs. George Easton, Prof. and Mrs. Frederic G. Higbee, Dean and Mrs. Rudolph A. Kuever, Prof. and Mrs. George Haskell, Coach and Mrs. Rolland Williams and Coach and Mrs. Irl Tubbs.

Relief Corps Plans Noon Pot-luck Dinner

Plans for a pot-luck dinner at noon Oct. 26 in the Moose hall were made by members of the Women's Relief corps at a meeting Tuesday in the hall. Dinner will be followed by a white elephant sale and the raffle of a quilt. Members will bring guests to the dinner.

At the meeting Mrs. William Mueller Jr., reported on the district convention held at Williamsburg Oct. 6. About 130 members from district corps attended the convention. They were inspected by state officers of the organization.

"Roguary is never quiet"

So said Chicago's chief of police in 1880—the year that city speeded up its war on crime with the world's first police telephone system. From that day to this, the telephone, the teletype and more recently police radio—an outgrowth of Bell telephone making—have made "roguary" harder and harder to get away with. Just one more way in which the telephone helps to make your life happier, broader, safer.

'Light of Ages,' Epic by Marcus Bach, To Appear in Chicago Opera House

Chicago's epic of faith, "Light of Ages," by Marcus Bach, fellow in the dramatics art department, will open Saturday for a week's run at the Civic Opera house in Chicago. The dramatic spectacle will close the celebration of Chicago's 100th birthday.

On the stage will appear every important episode of the city's history. The historical-religious production will be staged by a cast of 300 members. Professional actors and actresses will play the leading dramatic parts.

The chief soloist will be Mark Love of the Chicago Civic opera company and the principal ballerina, Harriett Lundgren.

Marcus Bach is this year's winner of the Charles Sergei national play writing contest with his presentation of "The Happy Merger." He is also the author of "Within These Walls," which was given in University theater in 1936 and at the Blackstone theater last season in Chicago.

Mr. Bach will return to the university next week.

Cubs Held In Check, 6 to 1, By Whitehead

Pale Hose Club Davis, Carleton, to Grab Seventh Game

By WILLIAM WEEKES CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP) — John Henderson Whitehead, the problem child of the White Sox, hurled the American league to a sweep of autumnal baseball honors today as the southsiders conquered the cubs, 6 to 1 for their fourth consecutive Chicago championship.

The triumph was Whitehead's second of the series as the White Sox followed in the New York Yankees' wake. Curt Davis, who split the Cub pitching with Tex Carleton, was the loser.

Pound Davis Out The Sox, winners of the 1931, 1933 and 1936 series before they reaffirmed their domination over the Cubs today, went to work on Davis in the second inning, and after he departed at the start of the seventh, picked on Carleton. Singles by Rip Radcliff and Jack Hayes, combined with a walk to Luke Appling, gave the American leaguers two runs in the second, and the same group of boys produced two more on two hits in the fourth.

The final Cubs gesture came in the ninth after Whitehead had fanned Rip Collins who batted for Carleton. Hack, Herman and Demaree loaded the bases with singles, but Hartnett hit into a multiple killing.

Strongest In Two Decades

Frick, National League Presy, Praises Murderous New York Yankees

By PAUL MICKELSON NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — Noting it was the 13th of the month, it was considered a swell time to call on Ford Christopher Frick, president of the Yankee-shocked National league, for a candid interview.

Mr. Frick was puffing on his pipe and answering "What's the matter with the National league" telegrams when he ordered full steam ahead for the inquiring reporter.

Q. Ford, what's the National league going to do about the American league?

A. Pardon me, have you anything to suggest? I'm open to all ideas. Tell the folks I'll be glad to get suggestions. Maybe it'd be a good idea to finger print all the baby boys and claim 'em when they reach 18.

Q. But why is it the Yankees can soak you National leaguers like they did in the world series? Frankly, do you think the whole American league is stronger than your outfit?

A. Taken as a whole the two leagues are the same with about identical strength. The Yankees licked the Giants and I'm not trying to alibi. If they started the series over again, the result would be about the same. The Yankees, I think, are the strongest team in two decades. They spread-eagled their league and they walloped us. It seems to me they are as big a worry to the other seven American league clubs as they are to us.

Q. Yes, but didn't the Yanks do better against the Giants than they did against their American league rivals?

A. Well, yes, but remember the Giants, like almost all our world series representatives in the past few years, had to fight down to almost the last day before they clinched the pennant. They were hard pressed and they were tired.

Q. Did you actually believe the Giants had a chance against the Yankees?

A. After I watched them beat the Cubs in that final series in Chicago, I was convinced of it. They looked marvelous. But the Yankees treated them like the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox.

Q. Ford, why doesn't the National league get some DiMaggio, Gehrigs, Gomez's and Lazzeris?

A. We had a Gomez (Jose Gomez, an infielder) but he couldn't stick. We've got a DiMaggio and a pretty good one in Outfielder Vince DiMaggio of Boston. Lead us to some Gehrigs and Lazzeris and a handful of Bill Dickeys.

Q. Ford, what's your idea of paradise?

A. A National league victory in the world series and All-Star game and a pennant race that's decided on the last day. And brother, if that ever happens in one year I'll toss a banquet that will make Col. Jake Ruppert's Yankee victory dinner look like hash day in Sing Sing. Only...

Q. Only what?

A. Only I hope I'm not too old to enjoy it.

Iowa Grid Machine Entrains For Madison Tomorrow; Meets Wisconsin Badgers Saturday

Hawk Gridders Given Long Scrimmage Against Frosh

Only one more practice session remains for the University of Iowa Hawkeyes before their first and very important Big Ten conference football game with the undefeated and unscored-on Wisconsin Badgers at Madison Saturday.

Coach Irl Tubbs and his staff will entrain Friday at 7:30 with 33 men on two special pullmans. On the following morning the pullmans will arrive in Madison where the cars will be parked near Camp Randall stadium.

Nile Kinnick, sophomore quarter who bore the brunt of the field general duties in the Washington and Bradley tilts, may not start. Kinnick's kicking ability and his expert passing arm may be sacrificed because of the bad cut over his eye.

Backfield Coach Ernie Nevers used Busk at quarter, Lamb and Eicherly at the halves, and Ed McLain at full in yesterday's drill, with Buzz Dean, 200 pound fullback doing some work at the signal calling post as an understudy to Kinnick.

Glen Olson, another hard hitting back, will be in shape and probably see service in Saturday's crucial encounter. In the line, although Coach Tubbs shifted his men constantly, Prasse and Lannon seemed to have the end positions under control, with Harris and Gallagher at the tackles, Brady and Bob Allen at guards, and big Fred Lindemeyer at center.

Most attention has been paid during the drills this week to offensive formations. No potent offense has been uncovered in either the Bradley or Washington games, but it is consensus of opinion that Iowa will spring an effective ground gaining attack.

Practice was slowed up last night as photographers took pictures for the Little Hawk yearbook. At the south end of the field carpenters were constructing a new scoreboard for the local prep football fans.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 13 (AP) — The University of Wisconsin first and second string football teams ran through a pass and signal drill today as Coach Harry Stuhldreher gave his charges a chance to recover from a scattered assortment of bruises before the game with Iowa here Saturday. A light rehearsal was on tap for tomorrow and Friday.

Coach Drives Irish For Wilton Junction

Kelly, Field was fairly bristling with activity last night as the Irish prepared for their battle with Wilton Junction Friday. The visitors are not as strong as they have been in former years, having been beaten by Lone Tree a few weeks ago, 72 to 0. Coach Ryan stated that if his boys don't win this game there will be no letters issued, so this will be an added incentive for a win.

Small Donnie Black was the only man injured in the Rock Island fracas, having wrenched his back. He is recovering rapidly, however, and will probably see action in Friday's game.

First String Lineup Pleases Sterrett in U High Grid Drill

Showing a powerful offensive, the University high football team went into their final scrimmage session yesterday in preparation for their game with Monticello here tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Jack Sterrett has switched his lineup considerably in the last week, but was more pleased with the showing of the first eleven that he used last night than any other in the last week.

He used Ernie Krogh and Clyde Williams at ends, Bob Carson and Russ Bulechek at tackles, Bob Campion and Ed Brender at guards with Blackstone at center. The backfield was the same one he has been using all season with the

Bad Weather Causes Track Postponement

Bad weather caused the indefinite postponement of Tuesday's division of the interclass track meet which was to have brought together the freshmen and seniors against the juniors and sophomores. Because of the conflict with other meets falling on Tuesday and Thursday in the future no date has been set.

Tomorrow's meet will be held as scheduled at 4:15 on the outdoor track west of the fieldhouse. The events planned for tomorrow are the 50 yard dash, the 300 yard dash, the 110 yard low hurdles, the high jump, broad jump and the discus.

Anyone enrolled in the university who wishes to compete in the meet should report to Francis Cretzmeier on the track before the meet.

Ramblers No More

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP) — The Notre Dame athletic department yesterday "respectfully requested" sports writers to quit calling the University's teams "Ramblers."

When Notre Dame pioneered in interclass games it was all right but it's a misnomer now, the department contends, for many other teams travel much farther than do the "Fighting Irish" as they like to be called.

Joe McCarthy Signs Three Year Contract to Manage Yankees

$35,000 a Year Wage Revealed By Yank Heads

Jacob Ruppert Breaks With Old Custom, Joe Vacations

By EDDIE BRIETZ
 NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Joe McCarthy called at Col. Jacob Ruppert's brewery this morning and then minutes later came out with a brand new three-year contract to manage the world's champion New York Yankees at $35,000 per year.

The Colonel had the papers ready, McCarthy took one look at the figures and the length of the contract and reached for his fountain pen.

All concerned were pleased. As a reward for Joe's fine work and also as evidence of his complete satisfaction with his manager's work, Colonel Ruppert broke one of his unwritten rules and signed for longer than two years.

Except to announce that McCarthy will receive $35,000 per season through 1940, Yankee officials would not discuss the financial phase of the contract.

When McCarthy signed for two years in the summer of 1935, the salary was not made public, but it was the general belief among baseball men that the contract called for approximately $35,000 annually.

In the seven years he has piloted the Yankees, McCarthy has won three pennants and three world's series. His teams have finished second four times. He is the only man in the majors to win pennants in both leagues.

Time to Rest
 In 1929, he led the Chicago Cubs to a National league pennant, but lost the world's series to Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

Tomorrow McCarthy will go to his Buffalo home for a rest. He'll return to New York for a few days before going to Milwaukee and Chicago for the minor and major league meetings in December.

McCarthy has few worries about next year so far as the Yankees are concerned. Except for a possible replacement for the veteran Tony Lazzeri at second base, the Yanks will probably go into the campaign with virtually the same lineup that enabled them to coast through the American league with a 13 game lead this year, and then go on to walk-off Giants in the big series.

Grid 'Guests' No Tickets Necessary At Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Johns Hopkins University has solved the football financing problems to the great joy of fans—everybody goes to the games on passes.

There'll be ticket-takers at the Johns Hopkins—Washington college game Friday night, but all they'll do will be glance at "guest cards"—the cards are available to all askers and cost exactly nothing.

Each card will be good for "bearer" and all comers—the card owner can play host to his relatives and friends at will.

No "Gate"
 Washington college? It, too, will get nothing, just the thanks of Johns Hopkins—first big modern U. S. University to play football without a "gate."

It's all a part of the new Hopkins plan to "de-emphasize" football—and other sports—on a scale never before attempted by a modern-day university or college.

"Guest Cards"
 Director of Athletics G. Wilson Shaffer, like Dr. Isaiah Bowman, business-man president of the Hopkins, thinks it's a good plan. His office force was swamped today by the task of sending out thousands of season "guest cards."

Under the plan briefly summarized, the Hopkins will neither pay nor accept guarantees, will finance its own trips away and expect visiting opponents to do the same.

Games for Players
 "We are going on the theory," Dr. Shaffer explained, "that any of our games should not be played primarily for the crowd interest—we'll play games for players, and, if people want to watch the Hopkins teams, they're perfectly welcome to do so."

Incidentally, Johns Hopkins opened its season last Saturday at Lehigh. The score: Hopkins, 0; Lehigh, 32.

Turkish Olympic Star at Iowa

Sedat Sora, Track Competitor in 1936 Games, Is Grad Student Here

By BOB WHALEN
 Enrolled in the graduate college here in the university this fall is Sedat Sora, one of Turkey's outstanding track and field athletes.

Entering inauspiciously and without fanfare, few seeing him would realize that this lean, nervous student was a member of the 1936 Turkish Olympic team and competed at Berlin in the high jump against such American champions as Dave Albritton of Ohio State and Cornelius Johnson of Compton junior college.

Sora, who speaks better English than the average American, attended Roberts college in Istanbul. It was at Roberts, which is an American institution, that the track star perfected his style and was for four years the all-around champion of the school in ten events. These events included both track and field.

At the same time he was on the Turkish National track team and represented his country at the Balkan Olympic games for three years placing in both the high jump and 120 yard high hurdles.

The Turk uses the eastern style in the high jump and his top mark was 6 feet three inches. He can still consistently clear six feet.

Following his graduation from Roberts, Sora matriculated at the University of Brussels in Belgium. Here he was for two

Parker Picks Drake
 DES MOINES, (AP)—Drake University's hopes for a strong track team next spring were boosted yesterday when Jack Parker, Lamoni, Ia., athlete who placed third in the Decathlon event at the Berlin Olympics in 1936, enrolled in the university.

Parker attended Sacramento, Calif., junior college last year.

During the World war allied submarines did patrol work in the Strait of Dover, the Baltic and Adriatic seas.

Success of Hawk Swimming Team Depends on New Men

Varsity swimmers worked out last night under the eye of Capt. Robert Christians. Coach David Armbruster attended a faculty meeting from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m., and appointed Captain Christians to put the squad through the regular early season calisthenic program.

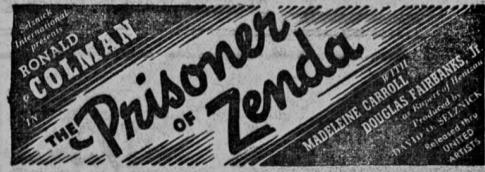

Neither Coach Armbruster nor Allen Hurley, freshman mentor, would make much of a statement about their prospective paddlers. Armbruster bemoaned the absence of enough capable sprinters, while Hurley could only offer downcast looks when queried about his freshmen possibilities.

"Considerable depends on how my inexperienced boys can perform under fire," Armbruster stated. "I have several potential point winners, but whether or not they will develop and get into condition will determine more than anything else what kind of a team we will have," he said.

One very apparent weak spot, Armbruster says, is in the sprint events. Ray Walters, a major letterman, and winner of the national 50-yard free style crown in his sophomore year, heads the list, but last year his performances were erratic, and although his ability is not questioned, the ability of the rest of the sprinters is problematical.

Coach Armbruster has asked all divers, both freshman and varsity, to report to the pool Thursday for motion picture demonstrations of diving form.

Wilson Signs
 PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Jimmy Wilson signed yesterday to manage the Philadelphia National league baseball team for the fifth consecutive season, ending rumors he would be dismissed.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
 When Rudolf Rassendyll, Englishman, meets Rudolf, King of a Balkan country, on a fishing trip, they discover an amazing resemblance. The king is drugged on the eve of his coronation by agents of his brother, Michael, and the king's aide, Zapt, prevails on Rassendyll to impersonate him at the coronation. While Rassendyll races to Strelsau, Michael plans civil disorders which will enable him to seize the throne. Rupert of Henza, another conspirator, convinces Antoinette de Mouban, Michael's sweetheart, that Michael wants the throne so that he can marry Princess Flavia, the consort. Antoinette reacts jealously to the information.

Chapter Four

The great cathedral was literally crowded to the rafters with the dignitaries of state and church, the noblemen and noblewomen, the arrivals of all nations, awaiting the arrival of the king for the coronation ceremony.

The arrival at the station, the official welcome and the trip to the cathedral went off without untoward incident. As the royal placed the crown on Rassendyll's head, and intoned "God save the king," the phrase was picked up and shouted by the throngs in the cathedral and in the streets, to the accompaniment of trumpet blasts and the salute of cannon.

Josef was dead—the king was gone!

As she reached the throne, she dropped to one knee, and repeated her oath of fealty: "I, Flavia, do become thy vassal, swearing to serve thee in truth, with life and limb, until death findeth me, so help me, God."

Flavia was the loveliest vision Rassendyll had ever seen as she lifted her head and looked into his eyes.

"Do I kiss her?" Rassendyll whispered to Zapt, who nodded assent. Rassendyll reached down with both hands, drew her to her feet, and rising himself, kissed her on both cheeks.

Michael, half beside himself with rage and chagrin, gazed upon the events like a man in a coma. He knew the newly crowned king was an impostor, but to make a move now would only expose his own plot against the real king.

He kept his peace as Rassendyll and Flavia left the cathedral arm in arm, entered the royal coach of stage, a huge, lumbering affair, drawn by eight cream-colored horses, and began the triumphal coronation procession through the streets of Strelsau, bowing frequently to the cheering onlookers.

As the swaying coach rumbled through the cobbled streets of the old town, Rassendyll stole a glance at the beautiful creature by his side. "I thought everything went off very well, didn't you?" . . . for a coronation that is . . . He was groping for words now. "Well, that is, I mean of course, a coronation should go well if the king puts in an appearance properly dressed, knowing his lines . . ."

"And sober?" arched Flavia. Rassendyll winced. "That's a nasty one. Don't you think you might overlook my—uh—past behavior and unbend a little. After all, here we are on show in the state coach. Just like a wedding. Don't the people want to see now well we get on together?"

Youth Brought Before Justice

Morford Arrested For Posing as Officer At Corn Plant

Posing as an officer without authority, lost its pleasantness for Murrell Morford, 18, when haled into justice of the peace court yesterday.

Arrested before Justice of the Peace T. M. Fairchild, he was ordered to post $500 appearance bond and make arrangements for preliminary trial Oct. 18.

The youth was taken into custody by police after reports were received from the National Hybrid Corn company that Morford, allegedly flashing a police badge and claiming to have authority from police officials, was found acting as night watchman at their plant.

Investigation revealed that Morford was using a badge found by a relative and could ascribe no reason for his actions.

Mueller Upheld In Jury Trial

In a jury trial before Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec, Louis Mueller yesterday received a verdict against Albert Blecha for possession of the property at 223-225 E. Washington street.

Mueller, represented by Attorney Henry Negus, claimed that the property was leased to Blecha on a month-to-month basis and that he was entitled to possession after a 30 day notice had been served.

Defending his possession of the building, Blecha claimed through his attorney, D. C. Nolan, that he had an oral lease for one year.

The jury which decided in favor of the plaintiff was composed of William H. Olson, Floyd Stevens, Harry Goody, Claude Higgenbotham, J. B. Nash and Fred Kettes.

Bertha Greer Asks Damages Of Vic Redeem

Damages amounting to $3,000 have been filed against Vic Redeem of Hennepin county, Minn., by Bertha Greer in Johnson county district court. The suit was filed as the result of an accident involving a university ambulance, in which the plaintiff states she was riding, and a car driven by Redeem.

The petition, filed by the law firm of Messer and Cahill, charges that the plaintiff was seriously injured in the accident which occurred Sept. 26, 1936, on U. S. highway 6 about four miles east of Marengo.

Firemen Battle Residence Blaze

Firemen were called on their first large fire since fire prevention week yesterday at 8:50 p.m. when flames of unknown origin damaged the home of Mattie Goody, 323 S. Madison street.

Considerable damage was done to the house and furniture. No one was in the house when the fire started. The flames ate from the back porch around toward the front of the house, and sparks from the blaze ignited roofs of two neighboring houses.

Iowa Relief Assists 167 County Families During September

Johnson county families receiving aid from the Iowa emergency relief administration during the month of September numbered 167, according to the Associated Press report from Des Moines yesterday.

Unemployment aid for September in this state totaled 15,447 cases in 1937 and 19,178 cases in 1936, it was stated.

Relief cases in nearby counties include 37 for Iowa, 603 for Linn, 135 for Muscatine and 38 for Washington.

It was Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh who declared there are too many students on the campus who know "the price of everything and the value of nothing." It's worth thinking about.

Beauty
Only a few may have noticed it, but late yesterday afternoon, had you observed, the sky for a brief few minutes was the color most artists look for but seldom find, a sort of turquoise blue and pink at once.

Tip for Students: One of the quieter places to study is a deserted class room in a spare hour. You can lock the door and concentrate at the professor's desk with little outside disturbance.

Someone is always bringing up stories about queer sorts of notes or comments by maids. . . Yesterday, for example, I heard the one about the local girl-of-all-work who heard the family discussing a household which, for reasons of its own, didn't subscribe to a daily paper. . . My personal vote for the handsomest military man about goes to Major Whisner of the military department, who looks the way most of the rest of us should in a uniform. . .

Times when I think affectionately of revolution are such as yesterday when I visited a campusite's home where there were several hundred beautifully bound books on the shelves. . . On taking down two of them, I found the pages uncut. . .

No question can be quite so disconcerting as "Why?" . . . Take half a dozen of your pet beliefs and ask yourself the reason you cling to them. . . You'll be surprised at the results. . .

Transfer Suit To Davenport

Three Athletes Ask For $20,500 Payment For Injuries

Ozzie Simmons, football luminary of last year, Don Simmons, a brother, and Wilbur Wallace have transferred a suit for damages totaling $20,500 to Davenport district court, according to the Associated Press.

The suit originally filed in Johnson county is brought against the Keeshin Motor Express company following an automobile accident Feb. 4. The three plaintiffs, members of a Negro basketball team, were riding with Elmus J. Strickler on U. S. highway 6, four miles east of Wilton Junction. Their vehicle collided with a truck driven by L. Willard Short. The accident, resulting in the fatal injury of Strickler, was caused by Short's failure to yield half the road while traveling at an excessive rate of speed, according to the petition.
