F.R. Amplifies His Remarks on Foreign Affairs

President Declines To Comment on Stock Market Drop

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt, interpreting for the first time his recent utterances on foreign affairs, indicated today the United States would propose the forthcoming nine-power treaty conference seek to mediate Japan's undeclared war on China.

This would be the initial step at the historic meeting soon to be held in Brussels, he in substance told a press conference.

Refuses to Comment
Discussing domestic affairs with his interviewers, he declined to comment on recent declines on the stock market. But he intimated his messages to the special and regular sessions of congress might touch on this subject.

Clarifies Fireside Chat
The president gave the first clarification of his references to foreign affairs in his Tuesday night "fireside" radio chat and his Chicago speech when a reporter asked if it were safe to assume he meant mediation would be the first step of the conference of signatories to the nine power treaty guaranteeing China's territorial integrity.

He replied he had said that very thing in so many words. "The so many words" he evidently had in mind were these: "The purpose of this conference will be to seek by agreement a solution of the present situation in China. In efforts to find that solution it is our purpose to cooperate with the other signatories to this treaty, including China and Japan."

We Are Against War

WE ARE opposed to war. We are as patriotically American as anyone; but we have no desire, either now or later, to die for our country's glory as did so many millions a few decades back.

Even the very youngest of us can recall the economic depression which we have just passed through and which economists have attributed directly to that combat.

It is for these reasons, then, that we view with alarm the events of the last few weeks in regard to an undeclared yet all too violent struggle in the Far East.

The propagandists are at work again. We are well acquainted with their campaign immediately preceding the previous war and we know that most Americans believed they were actually "saving the world for democracy."

Looking back with the perspective of time, we know today that none of these was true.

We believe that, atrocities or no atrocities, the United States should steer clear of any "action" in the Far East. We agree wholeheartedly with a recent editorial by Jay Franklin, political columnist, who declared, "Why should we protest that others covet what we don't want or need? Why not let Japan have China if Japan can take China?"

Perhaps our view seems cold-blooded, and indeed it may be. Had someone suggested in 1917 that it might be just as well to let Germany go her way, we have a feeling that situation would probably have been termed inhuman also.

We, therefore, do not wish to fight again, even to make China "safe for democracy." We believe the best way to protect our democracy lies along the channels of construction, not destruction.

A NEW SCIENCE

DR. ALEXIS CARREL, speaking at the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Dartmouth chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, renewed his suggestion for the establishment of "institutes of psychology" whose work would be to find and pursue a "true science of man" in his "organic and spiritual entirety."

Dr. Carrel's complete and stubborn faith in the power of knowledge and reason and of science in particular is refreshing in an age which pays lip service to the former and boasts of the latter's triumphs, but yet in so many important things still trusts to emotion and force.

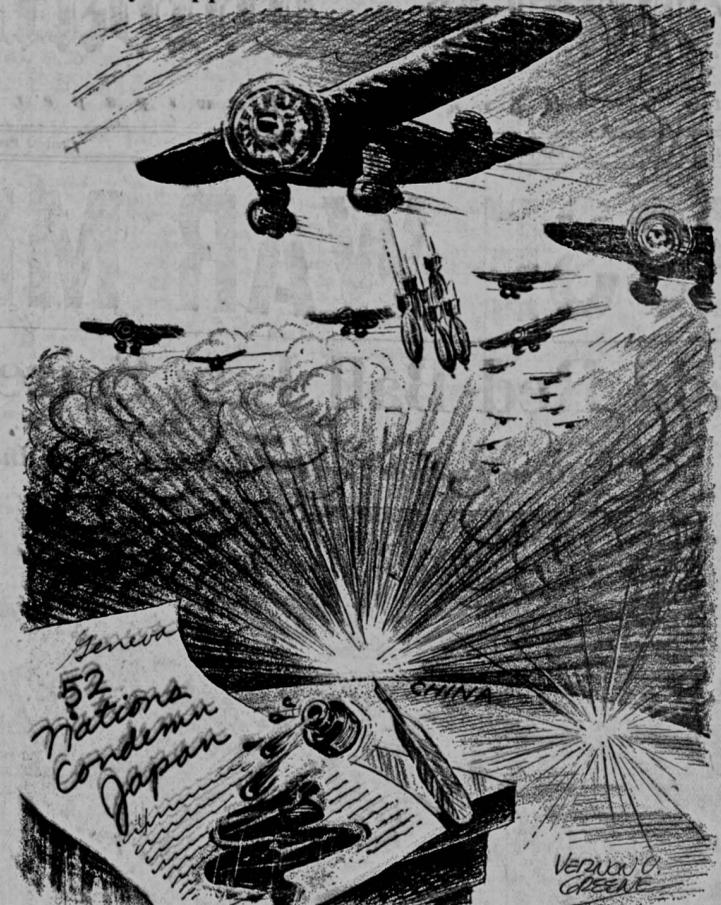

Professor Hogben, like Dr. Carrel, proposes an institute—his is an "institute of social inquiries," pushing forward researches in social technology, social biology and administrative techniques.

Where all is so far theoretical and so much is debatable there is no need yet to argue over these differences in approach. At least it is worth noting such notions are in the air and that among men of distinguished intellectual attainments the idea of some new "science of man" is claiming attention and discussion.

It serves to suggest that the scientists are no more content with the present state of affairs than they are with the most frequently offered political remedies.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: King Rudolf is dragged on the eve of his coronation, and Rudolf Rassendyll, Englishman and a double for the king is persuaded to take his place at the Strelitz ceremonies to thwart the plot of the king's brother Michael.

Chapter Six: Establishing a base of operations at the royal hunting lodge, Rassendyll, Zapt and Fritz, with a retinue of their loyal friends, began mapping the thrust on Zenda castle.

A terrific duel which raged through the castle.

Michael called and tried vainly to have the monarch sign documents of abdication, promising him a handsome competence from his own civil list if he would resign and take up residence across the border.

Rassendyll, "how do you know but it's Benson whose body is floating in the moat and not the king—Can't we have a smoke while we talk it over?"

First news of conditions inside the castle was brought to the lodge by Michael's own servant, Johann, who for a bribe had betrayed his master.

For one mad moment, they talked of running away together, "I love your madness, dear, for one lovely moment, I too was mad. But I love the only thing! If it were I could follow you to the end of the world. I don't know why God has led me love you, but I know that I must stay."

Group Mourns Lack Of Math In High School

Algebra and Geometry May Be Added To High Learning

The majority of mathematics teachers who attended the mathematics conference dinner in Iowa Union last night, deplored the fact that students are reducing mathematics in their high school schedules because colleges and universities have decreased or entirely eliminated the mathematics requirement for college entrance.

The most serious problem presented to the faculties of colleges and universities, according to the general opinion, was that of students who entered institutions planning to major in engineering or any of the fields of natural or physical sciences without the required mathematics subjects. The reason was that they had not been properly advised. The student was thus placed at a very serious disadvantage.

Elementary Math in College
"The result may be," Prof. H. L. Rietz, head of the mathematics department said, "that such subjects as elementary algebra and plane geometry will have to be added to the college curriculum." He maintained, however, that schools of advanced learning will definitely oppose such a measure.

Prof. G. H. Jamison of Northeast Missouri State Teachers college, Kirksville, Mo., however, in a most encouraging statement said, "The situation depends on the enthusiasm of the teachers in cooperation with the school showing a need for it."

"Regardless of whether or not mathematics is made compulsory in the high school as it should be," he declared, "if the subject is taught enthusiastically by the teacher, it will prove to be as successful as any other required subject."

Prominent Speakers
Prominent members of the conference who offered opinions in the informal discussion were Mrs. Elsie P. Johnson of Oak Park Ill., Theodore E. Donnelly of Milwaukee, Wis., Eva M. White of Ames, Katherine Mueller of Winterset, Margaret Metzger of Iowa City, Rose Miller of Ottumwa.

Monica Goen of Marshalltown, Dora Kearney of Cedar Falls, Arnold Jones of Belle Plaine and G. H. Jamison of Kirksville, Mo.

Conference Closes With Talks Today

Prof. L. E. Ward of the mathematics department will preside over the final addresses to be presented in the mathematics conference which will close today.

The speakers and their subjects scheduled for the morning session are G. H. Jamison of Northeast Missouri State Teachers college, Kirksville, Mo., who will speak on "Neglected Mathematics in the Teaching of Arithmetic" at 9:30; Prof. Roscoe Woods, of the mathematics department whose subject "The Significance of a Certain Plane Geometry Theorem" will be presented at 10 o'clock and Mrs. Elsie Parker Johnson who will address the conference at 10:30 on "The Teaching of Ratio and Proportion."

Immediately following the speeches an informal discussion will be held.

Aged Man Dies In Courthouse

Retired Farm Laborer, Orville S. Shrock, Is Heart Victim

Orville S. Shrock, 75, 517 E. Jefferson street, dropped dead of a heart attack in the treasurer's office at the county courthouse yesterday afternoon. Dr. George Maresh reported the time of death as 2:10.

According to Melvin Westcott, a clerk in the office, Shrock entered the room and was standing in the center of the office apparently attempting to get something out of his pocket when he stiffened and toppled over backwards. He fell before anyone could reach him and died instantly.

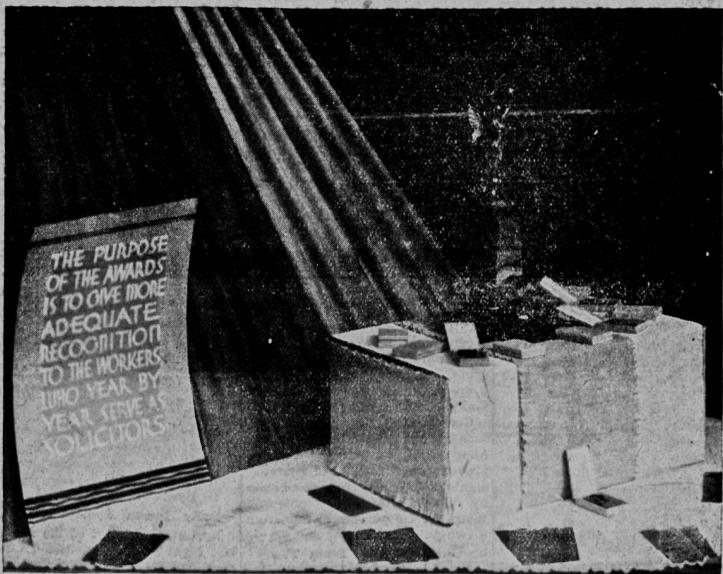

Shrock, a retired farm laborer, was born in Iowa City, spending the greater part of his life in Johnson county. He was last employed at Oakdale sanitarium, leaving because of ill health in December, 1936.

The body was taken to Beckman's.

Corn Company Gets 2,600 Bushels Daily

Iowa City Seed Corn Plant Will Triple Acreage Next Year

More than 2,600 bushels of seed corn are received daily at the National Hybrid Seed Corn company — Iowa City's newest industry — for processing. The material is being imported from Jones and Linn counties.

The amount exceeds pre-harvest estimates, according to Keith Lemon, manager.

More than 30,000 bushels of corn are in the bins and at least 12,000 additional bushels will be delivered from contracted and owned acreages, Lemon said.

The plant is capable of processing 200,000 bushels, Lemon said, but only 20 per cent of that amount was under contract for this year. In 1938, the company will probably triple the company-owned acreage to 1,500 acres, Lemon said.

The 40,000 bushels this season are being processed by approximately 160 persons. The company is busy filling orders for seed corn from several foreign countries.

State Board Notifies Bonding Company Of Bookbindery Liability

DES MOINES, Oct. 15 (AP)—The state printing board tonight notified the Continental Casualty company that the board is holding the company liable for any damages to books sent to the Des Moines Bookbindery company for repairs.

Dr. R. E. O'Brien, secretary of state and chairman of the printing board, said the State University of Iowa and Iowa State college have presented claims totaling $2,600 for damage to library books sent to the bindery.

O'Brien said Julius Tolchinsky, member of the bindery firm, admitted to the board today that the repairs were not made according to specifications, and did not promise to abide by the specifications in the future.

The contract took effect July 5, 1937, and has three years to run. O'Brien said the printing board is not cancelling the contract, but is relying on the bonding company to fulfill it.

Under the contract, backs of books to be repaired were to be coated with glue and covered with cotton flannel. This was not done, O'Brien said.

Architect Sees Need of Beauty

Stresses Cooperation In Building of Better Places To Live

"Beauty is an economic necessity in constructing better places in which to live," Gilmore D. Clarke, New York landscape architect, declared in a lecture in the exhibition lounge of the fine arts building yesterday afternoon.

"We all have a common end in making our cities, villages and outlying regions better places in which to live," he said. To do this cooperation between engineers, architects and those persons connected with the fields of fine arts, sociology, government and economics is necessary, Mr. Clarke asserted.

He advocated the adoption of some means of control over the selfish fellow in the matter of building construction, a policy of zoning and city planning commissions.

In tracing the history of city planning from the days of the early Egyptians, he explained that the early carelessness in construction of our American buildings was due to the mechanical age and our haste in expanding westward.

Civic improvement in the United States really began with the world fair in Chicago in 1893, the first time that art and architecture were exhibited to the American public, Mr. Clarke said.

Iowa Clashes With Unbeaten Wisconsin 11

Confident Badgers, Boasting 3 Impressive Victories, Tackle Hawkeyes on Homecoming Day

By JOHN MOONEY Daily Iowan Sports Editor Those high-stepping Badgers, planning a conference title, and the question - mark Hawkeyes, hoping for an upset, clash this afternoon in Camp Randall stadium in what appears to be one of the rip-roaring grid battles of the mid-west.

Wisconsin, undefeated, untied, and unscored-on in three games this season, will be performing before one of the largest Homecoming crowds in Badger history today as they seek to meet the challenge of the invading Hawkeyes.

On the other hand, the Iowans have been defeated by the Pacific Coast champions, the University of Washington, 14 to 0 in the season's opener, and have a dubious victory over the "warm-up" Bradley Tech eleven to their credit.

As usual, Coach Irl Tubbs has refrained from making any starting line-up announcement, but it is expected that Erwin Prasse and Bob Lamm will get the call at the end posts, with Capt. Homer Harris and Frank Gallagher starting at tackles, and Chuck Brady and Bob Allen at the guard positions.

The Hawkeye Special, a special train carrying a part of the college rooting section, the University of Iowa band, and the Highlanders, bag pipe unit, left Iowa City early this morning bound for Madison, Wis.

Today's game will mark Coach Irl Tubbs' debut in Western Conference competition, and also a return to Wisconsin where Tubbs' high school teams at Superior first won him recognition.

It was reported late last night that all the Iowa cripples would be in shape for the battle which may make or break the Iowa football team this year. Little has been seen of the Iowa attack as Tubbs was content to use only a limited number of plays in the Bradley game, and the potency of the Iowa attack has been the subject of much heated debate in the last few weeks.

Today's game will start at two o'clock.

for themselves while the Wisconsin gridgers were scoring 12 points. Last week, the University of Chicago fell before the Badgers 27 to 0 in the opening conference game.

Breaks may figure largely in this game. Both elevens boast tough defensive lines, and the question concerning most fans relates to the relative potency of the variously assorted running backs when they contact the opposing lines.

Iowa has the edge in one department at least. In Kinnick, McLain, Dean, Eicherly and Lamb, the Hawkeyes have punters who will average far and above the Wisconsin kickers.

Both teams have shown a lax pass defense at times, but the Badger opponents have had little success in connecting with their aerial shots while the Hawkeyes' opponents have used these thrusts to advantage. Washington completed two touchdown passes in whipping the Iowans and Bradley scored their only counter on an intercepted pass.

By HOWARD GROTHE Daily Iowan Sports Writer Greatly improved in every phase of the game, Coach Jack Sterrett's University high football team upset all pre-game predictions by downing Monticello 7-0 in a close game here yesterday afternoon.

The Blue and White eleven, outweighed and doped to lose, scored late in the fourth quarter after outplaying the visitors through the entire game.

With but four minutes to play in the last quarter, Bob Carson, U high tackle, blocked Chuck Field's attempted kick and recovered it for the local eleven on the Monty 35 yard line.

On the first play, a pass from Duane Carson to Ham Ries was good for a first down, but another pass from Carson was intercepted by Vic Richardson, Monticello fullback, who was quickly tackled on his own 20 yard line.

In two plays Richardson and Loyal Rittmer picked up five yards and on the third down Rittmer fumbled and Bob Campion recovered for University high.

With the ball resting on the Monticello 20 yard line, halfback Carson faded back to throw a pass, and being unable to spot a receiver started running and got to the visitors' six yard stripe before he was stopped. Taking the ball three times in a row, Clarence Hightshoe finally pierced the Redhawk line for a touchdown. Bob Carson's kick for the extra point was good making the score 7-0 in favor of University high.

With but two minutes to play Monticello chose to receive and it was during this time they made their most serious scoring threat. The kickoff traveled a bare 15 yards where tackle Bob Stutt picked it up and lugged it back to the 50 yard line. Two passes, Rittmer to Fields and Rittmer to Rodman, put the ball on the local eleven's 19 yard line. Here three line bucks and a pass were all unsuccessful in breaking the U high defense and Monticello lost the ball on downs.

With a fraction of a minute left to play U high took the ball up the field 40 yards in three running plays, and were apparently on their way to another touchdown, but the game ended before they could get within striking distance.

Rival "Scoops" Sol

"Hold it until after the game," requested Papa, "then give it to Marshall. I don't want him to have too much money until after the game is over."

The maddest Papa ever became in his life, perhaps, was when the rival movie house in Elkins got the reel of the Pitt-Notre Dame game in which Marshall played his first great game. Sore as a hornet, he wired the movie distributor:

Tony Lazzeri Is Given Release

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Tony Lazzeri, veteran second baseman of the New York Yankees and batting star of the recent world series, was given his unconditional release by the world champions tonight.

The announcement of the release said the Yanks learned from reliable sources Tony had been offered a job as manager of a major league club for 1938.

The Boston Bees and St. Louis Browns are the only two clubs with vacancies for next year. All other teams, with the exception of the Cleveland Indians, have signed managers for next season, and the tribe is expected to retain Steve O'Neil.

Veteran of 12 years of big league play with the Yankees, and holdover from the Yanks' era of Babe Ruth, Lazzeri is one of the shrewdest thinkers in the game today.

He left New York the day after the world series ended Sunday, and is en route to his home in San Francisco.

Lazzeri had announced a few weeks before the 1937 season ended this year would be his last as a player, and that unless he received a post as manager of a major league club he would retire from the game.

After his brilliant performance during the series, however, Tony admitted he wasn't so sure he would quit. Batting leader of the classic and flawless fielder in five games, he said he would "think it over" during the winter.

His release today was given out by the Yanks on a single sheet of paper, signed by the club owner, Col. Jacob Ruppert. It did not state just what were the "reliable sources" through which the club had been advised Tony had been offered a managerial position.

Johnny Revolta Leads Field In Southern Meet

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—Johnny Revolta, the Chicago golf artist whose temper flared when his opponents refused to concede a putt, bore down on the back nine today and led a crack field of 16 pros in the second round of the Oklahoma City's $5,000 four-ball tournament with a par 71.

Visibly ruffled, Revolta putted all the better on the last four greens, and his consistent work gave him and Partner Ray Mangrum, of Dayton, O., a victory over Harry Cooper and Horton Smith of Chicago.

Cooper and Smith rounded the turn all square with Revolta and Mangrum, but Revolta's game improved after his flare-up on the eighth hole, and only a birdie by Cooper on the eighteenth saved the Cooper-Smith duo from a two-point beating.

Guldahl-Burke Team Ties Ralph Guldahl, Chicago, National open champion, and Billy Burke, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who led the field at the beginning of the second day's play, finished all even with Tommy Armour, Chicago, and Jimmy Thomson, the long-distance climber from Shawnee-on-the-Delaware.

Lawson Little of Chicago, who carded a 72 for the second best score in the second round, and Paul Runyan of New York, with a 79, scored a 2-up victory over Ky Laffoon and Dick Mets of Chicago, who has as much difficulty getting the ball on the wind-swept course as they had the first day.

Dudley, Hines, Win Ed Dudley of Philadelphia and Jimmy Hines of New York chalked up 3 plus points by defeating Zell Eaton and Francis Scheider of Oklahoma City, 2-up.

Four more rounds remain before the winners of the $5,000 in prize money are determined Sunday.

A storm came out of the North last night as the Franklin Thunderbolts of Cedar Rapids rose to noble and unexpected heights to send the powerful Little Hawks down to defeat on their own field for the first time in three years. The game ended 15 to 0 in favor of the Parlor City eleven.

To start the second quarter Lewis downed Justice's 75 yard punt on the Cedar Rapids 11 yard line. After an offside penalty on Iowa City and two cracks at the line Albert Eddy, flyswinging Franklin field general, carried the ball to the Hawklet 44.

Another series of plunges took the ball to the 36 yard stripe from which point Eddy scored on a brilliant sprint around his own left end. Paul blocked Kanellis' attempted place-kick.

The Thunderbolts struck again midway in the final period. Cedar Rapids kicked to the locals' 13 yard marker where, on the following play, Justice muffed a bad pass from center behind the goal line as he faded back to pass. Franklin recovered the ball for (See HAWKLETS, Page 7)

Papa Goldberg to See Marshall

"Oy, Oy, Am I Happy," Says Sol After Son Leads Pitt to Victory

By PAUL MICKELSON NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—From what the elated Pittsburgh sports writers say, the fanciest and happiest one-man cheering section in college football, is Sol Goldberg of the Elkins, W. Va., Goldbergs.

Since his illustrious son, Marshall, began scoring touchdowns for Jock Sutherland's Pittsburgh Panthers, there has been no holding Papa Goldberg. Not even Mama Goldberg can do it very often. The little, roly-poly man with fancy vests and glittering stick pins never heard of football when he came over from Poland years ago but today he's in a constant dither that makes his movie business very boring.

"When Marshall plays, if I get excited, can I help it?" demands Papa Goldberg.

Though Marshall unquestionably is one of the greatest open field runners in Pitt football history, there are more stories about Papa Goldberg floating around than perhaps the entire Panther team. Some are laughs on Papa, but he's a great sport and tells many of them himself.

Before the Notre Dame game last year, Papa Goldberg got an exceptional break. The movie men held a convention in Pittsburgh at the same time as the game was scheduled. Papa left the convention, so the story goes, and looked up Marshall.

"Don't Bet, Pop" "Marshall," he said, "I want you to really carry that ball tomorrow. Papa has a big bet on Pittsburgh."

"Pop, don't bet," protested Marshall. "It doesn't look so good for us. That Notre Dame team is tough, awfully tough."

Old Sol shook his finger and said: "Sol Does The Betting" "Marshall, stay still. Let Papa do all the betting for the Goldbergs. You carry that ball."

Jock Sutherland says the football season wouldn't be complete without a few telegrams from Sol Goldberg. The messages keep Jock in stitches and old Sol intends they should. Before the Rose Bowl game last January, old Sol dispatched this wire to Sutherland: "Dear Doctor: Please bring home the bacon."

"Oy, Oy, Am I Happy" After the game, Sutherland howled when old Sol sent him this one:

"Oy, oy, am I happy." Papa Goldberg is a man who refuses to spoil his sons. Besides Marshall he has two more boys who help him operate his movie house in Elkins. The story I'm told is that Papa pays his boys off at 9 p.m. every Saturday with the ultimatum that they must have all their debts paid by 9:30 that same night. Unable, because of business reason, to go to the Pitt-Washington Rose Bowl game, Papa gave a Pittsburgh sports writer $150 to give to Marshall.

Rival "Scoops" Sol "Hold it until after the game," requested Papa, "then give it to Marshall. I don't want him to have too much money until after the game is over."

The maddest Papa ever became in his life, perhaps, was when the rival movie house in Elkins got the reel of the Pitt-Notre Dame game in which Marshall played his first great game. Sore as a hornet, he wired the movie distributor:

Football Hits Stride in Country Today

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—College football, shorn of all hampering competition from other sports, really goes to town tomorrow in nearly every town on the map.

There has been no dearth of customers at big games the past three Saturdays and the results have been enough to give the selectors headaches that won't be cured before Thanksgiving. On all counts tomorrow's program looks even more pleasant for the men who handle the gate receipts and worse for those who try to name the winners.

In the east and midwest, especially, some of the season's biggest crowds are expected to watch a lot of games that look exceedingly close from any angle. With some 65,000 to watch Michigan and Minnesota battle for the "little brown jug" at Ann Arbor, 57,000 looked for at the Pitt-Fordham encounter at New York and two gatherings of 50,000 predicted for the Yale-Army and Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame games, the total for the 20 top games this week falls just short of 700,000.

35,000 at Madison A few of the other estimated crowds for games that promise to give every fan his money's worth in action are: Navy-Harvard, 45,000; Northwestern-Purdue, 40,000; Colgate-Tulane, Holy Cross-Georgia, Columbia - Penn, Nebraska - Oklahoma, Wisconsin-Iowa and Southern California-Oregon, 30,000 to 35,000 each; and Tennessee - Georgia, Georgia Tech-Duke, Louisiana State-Mississippi, Texas Christian-Texas A. and M., and Southern Methodist-Vanderbilt in the 25 to 30,000 class.

Barring further upsets or competition from ivy-clad institutions such as Cornell and Yale, the Fordham - Pitt game looks like this week's No. 1 contest in determining the eastern "champion." They have played scoreless ties two years in succession and it might be the safest bet to predict another. Since Pitt has been tested in more strenuous competition than the Rams, however, the Panthers get the call.

Cornell over Syracuse Cornell and Yale, the "ivy league" candidates for sectional laurels have the edge over tomorrow's rivals, Syracuse and Army, respectively but by margins so small they are visible only under a microscope. The Harvard-Navy game could be picked either way without explanations, but from here it looks like the midshipmen by a shade.

Syracuse is making a rapid comeback under Ossie Solem but so far doesn't appear to have caught up to Cornell's fine team. Army's passing game, both on offense and defense, was none too

Well, It's News to Wrigley

Cub Owner Puzzled by Report That Hartnett Will Replace Grimm

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Gabby Hartnett as manager of the Cubs and Charlie Grimm in the front office? Well - it's news to P. K. Wrigley.

Wrigley, president of the Cubs, said today he was puzzled by reports Hartnett, veteran catcher, was going to become manager of the club and that Grimm, under contract to manage again in 1938, would be made a vice-president, or something.

"I don't think Grimm would fit in as an office man and I do think he is a good leader on the field," said the Cub magnate.

No Crastic Shakeup There will be no drastic shake-up of the team, Wrigley said. He emphatically said he has no intention of wrecking his club because it failed to win the 1937 pennant. He said efforts will be made to land a couple of slugging outfielders and that he is ready to give up some players to get them.

These players, he said, probably will be with the club another year: Phil Cavarretta, Bill Herman, Bill Jurges, Stan Hack, Frank Demaree, Hartnett, Larry French, Bill Lee, Curt Davis, Tex Carleton and Clay Bryant. One or even two of those men, Wrigley said, might have to go in order to get desired players.

He added that such players as Rip Collins, Lonnie Frey, Tuck Statton, Augie Galan, Roy Parmelee and Ken O'Dea, among others, might be used in trades.

Doesn't Want Diz He made several flat statements, namely, (1) that the Cubs do not want John (Pepper) Martin or Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals (2) that the Cubs would like Joe Medwick of the same club but don't think they have a chance of getting him (3) and that the Cubs are after Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitcher, but don't intend to give up Demaree and Lee to get the big righthander.

He said he plans to extend the Cubs' farm system and thinks the team needs more scouts.

Walden Scores

The invading Irish came through their first win of the season last night as they nipped Wilton Junction by a score of 7-6. St. Pat's running game was at its greatest height as the Irish ripped through the opposing forward wall for consistent gains.

Walden kicked off to Grinks, who returned the ball to the 32-yard line. After three tries at the center of the Irish line which yielded nothing, Wilton punted to Fitzpatrick on the Irish 15-yard stripe.

Irish Fumble Ball

St. Pat's threatened in the second quarter when scrappy Jack Sheetz recovered a Wilton fumble on the six-yard line. On the following play Newbiggen drove off tackle to the one-yard stripe. However on the next play Walden fumbled the ball, which was recovered by Wilton who immediately kicked out of danger.

In the same quarter Wilton took the ball at midfield and began a march toward the goal line. A pass from Thede to Thurston netted 30 yards. After two tries at the Irish line, Atkinson faded back and threw another pass to Thurston, who galloped the remaining distance for a touchdown. In the try for extra point a bad pass was knocked down by Newbiggen.

Defensive Play

In the second half most of the play was concentrated between the 30-yard lines, with neither team able to gain much. Although St. Pat's appeared powerful they could not push over another touchdown. Walden's quick kicks kept the opposing backs on their heels during the second half.

Good Performance

For the Irish, Beasley, Rohner, Daly and Fitzpatrick turned in good defensive performances in the line, while Walden and Newbiggen were standouts in the backfield.

Wilton's outstanding players were Thurston and Atkinson.

"I" Club Mails Out Material

The University of Iowa's newly revived "I" club has opened their membership campaign by the mailing of material to 1,000 former Hawkeye athletes. The reorganized club was formed, Sept. 10, when 18 men from all sections of the state met here and elected Albert Jenkins of Cedar Rapids, president.

In mailing the material to the "I" men, President Jenkins announced that the first annual meeting of the club will occur on the morning of the Homecoming football game with the Minnesota Gophers, Nov. 6.

30,000 to See Nebraska Play

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—Nebraska, which is finding its Big Six rivals consider it with "awe" instead of awe, meets another conference foe tomorrow which figures the best way to get a reputation is to take it from someone who has one.

The Nebraska meet Oklahoma at Lincoln in one of the two conference games scheduled. Kansas makes its first league start against Iowa State at Lawrence in the other encounter, and Missouri and Kansas State meet Michigan State and Marquette, respectively, which mean troubles in any language.

Beck then kicked the ball from placement to midfield. Cracking the Red and White line consistently, Thunderbolt runners carried the ball to the 26 yard line.

Costly Fumble

Coach Cormack's gridders were not to be disregarded, however, as they headed for the goal several times. In the second half the Little Hawks took a Cedar Rapids punt on their own 41.

Larry Paul played a bang-up game in the local forward wall.

Eldon Parizek continued to loom as the Red and White chief offensive threat, while his defensive work was all that could be desired. Diminutive Nicky Duros, entering the fray early in the first period, fought his heart out against heavier opponents.

Eddy Scintillates

Coach Orville Rust's flashy quarterback, Albert Eddy, literally swept the locals off their feet with a fast change of pace and shifty maneuvering that marks him as one of the state's best backs.

Good Performance

For the Irish, Beasley, Rohner, Daly and Fitzpatrick turned in good defensive performances in the line, while Walden and Newbiggen were standouts in the backfield.

Wilton's outstanding players were Thurston and Atkinson.

good against Columbia and since then, the Cadets have lost Captain Jim Isbell, star lineman. Yale looks like the team to take advantage of that kind of opportunity.

Gophers Favored

Although the Gophers haven't looked like the all-conquering machine of the last couple of seasons, there seems to be no valid reason for not picking Minnesota over twice-beaten Michigan in the leading midwestern encounter.

Games don't come much tougher than this week's headlines in the south and southwest, but, jumping in with both feet, we'll say Alabama over Tennessee and Georgia Tech over Duke on the basis of scoring records.

Directors of Community Chest Convene at Luncheon Today

Prospect Files Will Be Completed Today For Campaign

Members of the board of directors of the community chest and divisional directors in the campaign beginning Oct. 25 will meet this noon at the Iowa drug store for lunch. A business meeting will follow at the campaign headquarters, 110 S. Linn street.
Attorney Thomas E. Martin, campaign director, last evening declared the prospect files will be completed by the headquarters' staff today. The list of prospects will then be apportioned among the various divisions according to occupational classification.
Next week the divisional heads will select the solicitors who are the actual "contact" workers in the campaign.
The window display and signs at campaign headquarters have been donated to the chest drive by the Ellis Advertising service. The large gold trophy to be awarded to the most successful solicitor is displayed along with the medals and ribbons going to others who are outstanding in the campaign.

Rev. Charles Coughlin will not broadcast for the next 26 weeks.
