How Vitamin Knowledge Helps Youngsters Develop Strength

By DR. OLGA CLAVERING, M.D.

I was looking the other day through a group of school children in Colorado, and being interested in educational material and supplies, I was surprised to find that they were not wanting. The children were well dressed, had plenty to eat, and were healthy. The picture was not at all surprising, since the children were in Colorado, and the children of Colorado are known to be well educated and healthy.

I was interested in this because I have been told that children in Colorado are well educated and healthy. I was surprised to find that this was true, and I was interested in this because I have been told that children in Colorado are well educated and healthy.

Football is a rough sport, even if it is just a practice session. The players stand on the line of scrimmage, play roughly, and still try to stay in bounds. The Blue and White team was the offensive team for most of the practices, as Coach Zuppke feels that the Blue and White team is the stronger side.
CARL KOPP WINS FIRST PLACE IN PRELIMINARIES OF JAVELIN THROW

Frosh Heaves Spear 159 Feet On 4th Attempt

Carl Kopp, freshman from Attica, Iowa, with a career-best throw of 159 feet, 11 inches, carried his winning throw and earned the title of co-captain of the Iowa Trials, which were held on the University of Iowa track in the Coliseum.

He was the only contestant to throw the javelin over 150 feet, and his throw was also an improvement of nearly 10 feet over his previous best of 149 feet, 11 inches, made in the first round.

Kopp, competing in his fourth season, has improved steadily in his javelin work. In his first round he threw 154 feet, 11 inches, and in his second round he improved his throw by two feet to 156 feet, 11 inches. In his third round he threw 155 feet, 11 inches, and in his final round he improved his throw by four feet to 159 feet, 11 inches.

How Much Natural Gas?

When the natural gas schedule "estimates" the cost of heating your home, it is but to some fancy figuring. Your figures will not be "estimates."

Substitute your own figures for his theory.

Here is the way to figure:

Suppose your average consumption has been 12 tons of Poughkeepsie coal.

This coal contains 18,000 heat units per ton or 216,000,000 per ton. Expressed in "therms" of 100,000 heat units, this amount of coal contains 216 therms. Then 12 tons would contain 2,592 therms. At $1.12 per ton, the amount of heat you have been using costs $2,918.60.

Natural gas has various rates of cost; the least of which is 6c per therm. So then, 3,300 therms will cost $198.$0.

So your least cost of giving your home an equal amount of heat is approximately 6c per therm.

Here’s the rub:

It isn’t it?

But you can’t store gas like you do coal. So your great big gas bill will come in December, January, February and March—just in time to be paid with Xmas bills, interest and taxes.

First Lady' Opens Theater Series Monday

Director Vance M. Morton announces Cast for Second University Theater Production

"Pride and Prejudice" Three Act Comedy: Nov. 22

New Field For Talent Dramatic Students Acquire Technique Over WSUI 'Mills'

Students interested in dramatic pursuits have found a new field of endeavor in the University Theater's "Mills," which will be open to the public for the first time Saturday, Nov. 20, 1938. The opening production will be "Mister Roberts," by Jerome Weidman and Jo Swinney, based on the novel by E.B. White, and directed by Prof. Mark Fleischer, University professor of English. The play will be presented at 8 p.m. in the University Theater. Tickets will be sold at the door, $1.50, and $1.00.

"Mister Roberts" is a satirical comedy about a typical middle-aged battle captain, a character of the drama's period, who is determined to push his personal brand of discipline on a sleek, modern warship. The story is told through the eyes of several of the ship's crew members, including the captain, the ship's doctor, and the American consul. The show is a witty and entertaining look at the absurdities of military life.

University Theater Monument To Drama

Week's Run Planned for All Community Group Offerings

University Theater's community nights, which this year will feature five full-length comedies, will open Monday with the first of five performances of "First Lady," a historical romantic comedy on Washington Life by Katharine Dayton and Donald Ogden Stewart. Performances will be given Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the University Theater. Under his guidance the plays will be presented by eastern and western universities, in cooperation with the United States Department of Education, Office of Education, under the direction of the University of Michigan, University of Illinois, and University of California.

The theater's opening production, which will be Monday, Nov. 20, will be "The Dolly Dance," by Eugene O'Neill, with a cast of University students. The play will be presented at 8 p.m. in the University Theater. Tickets will be sold at the door, $1.50, and $1.00.

"Pride and Prejudice" Three Act Comedy: Nov. 22

"Pride and Prejudice" is a romantic comedy by Jane Austen, first published in 1813. The story is set in the English countryside during the early 19th century and follows the lives of the Bennet family, particularly the five sisters, as they navigate the social and romantic landscape of their time. The play is a classic example of the romantic comedy genre, with its focus on love, marriage, and social class.

Freshman Dramatic Art Students Will Produce Own Plays

Acting Company Is Formed Under Winbigler's Supervision

Two Plays To Be Given During Semester: Tyrrels Held

This year for the first time freshman students, interested in dramatic art and work of the theater, will be given the opportunity to produce their own plays. In previous years some students have attempted to mount productions through the Dramatic Art Department, but the number of students engaged in the work has been so small that the Department has not been able to give them the training necessary to handle productions. This year a number of the students interested in the work have decided to form a separate organization to handle their own productions and to give regular performances in the new Little Theatre which is being constructed. The first production of the group will be given Wednesday, Nov. 4, in the Little Theatre. The play will be produced by the organization under the supervision of Prof. John Winbigler, who is teaching the advanced course in dramatic art this year.

The first production will consist of two performances of a play called 'Conklin Drama To Be Shown In New York Broadways.' The play is written by one of the drama students and will be produced by the organization under the supervision of Prof. Winbigler.

The second production will be a comedy called 'The Light of Ages.' The play is written by another drama student and will be produced by the organization under the supervision of Prof. Winbigler.

The organization will be called the 'University Players.' It will consist of a core group of drama students who are interested in the work and who wish to produce their own plays. The organization will be under the supervision of Prof. Winbigler and will be given regular performances in the Little Theatre.

University Theater Possesses Unique Lighting System for Remote Control

The University theater has an unusual system of lighting which is unique in America. The system is being utilized in the University theater and it is intended to be used for the first time in this country. The system is based on the idea of having a large number of small lights which can be controlled from a central location. This allows for a great deal of flexibility in the lighting of the theater and makes it possible to create a wide variety of lighting effects.

The lighting system is controlled by a central console which is located in the control room of the theater. The console contains a number of electronic devices which control the lights and allow for precise control of the light. The system is designed to be user-friendly and can be controlled by anyone with a basic understanding of the technology.

The lighting system is also designed to be energy-efficient. The lights used in the theater are energy-efficient and the system is designed to use as little energy as possible.

Buckner System For Theater Performers

A light and music system is being utilized in the University theater. The system is designed to work in conjunction with the lighting system and allows for a wide variety of effects to be created.

The theater is also utilizing new technology in the form of advanced lighting systems. The lighting systems are designed to be energy-efficient and allow for a wide variety of effects to be created.

Students Have Five Different Organizations in Dramatic Arts

Five organizations for students interested in the field of dramatic art are maintained as extracurricular activities in connection with University theater. These organizations are divided into three groups, each group having its own particular interest. The groups are the University Drama, the University Players, and the University Players' Guild.

University Drama is an organization for students interested in the field of dramatic art, who are not members of the University Players. The organization is devoted to the production of plays and musicals.

University Players is an organization for students interested in the field of dramatic art, who are members of the University Players. The organization is devoted to the production of plays and musicals on a smaller scale than those produced by the University Drama.

University Players' Guild is an organization for students interested in the field of dramatic art, who are not members of the University Players. The organization is devoted to the production of plays and musicals on a smaller scale than those produced by the University Drama.
