Japs Threaten China's Heroic 'Lost Battalion'

All Americans, British Warned To Take Heed

Chinese Troops Given Day To Surrender Before Blast

SHANGHAI, Oct. 30 (Saturday) (AP)—The Japanese navy today gave China's "lost battalion" in Chapei until tomorrow to surrender and warned American and British defense units and residents of nearby sections in the international settlement to take precautions.

Unless the Chinese give up their warehouse stronghold just across the Soochow creek from the American defense positions, the Japanese said they would blast them out.

Rear Admiral Tadao Honda, Japanese naval attaché, officially declared Japanese patience was exhausted with the "do-or-die" unit of the crack 88th division.

He warned all residents living in the international settlement near the sector and the American and British defense units in close proximity to take precautions to avert possible casualties and damage.

Rear Admiral Honda did not disclose exactly when the Japanese planned to take action against the battalion if it would not surrender but inferred the deadline would be after midnight tonight so noncombatants might move out of the danger zone.

British surgeons meanwhile fought to save the lives of riflemen Jack McGuire and Robert Delaney, seriously wounded by Japanese bombardments west of Shanghai yesterday in which three British soldiers were killed. One other soldier was injured.

England Indignant Over Casualties

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Increasing bitterness against Japan was evident in informed circles tonight as a result of the mounting list of British casualties attributed to Japanese attacks in the battle for Shanghai.

Official quarters showed great indignation at the killing of three soldiers of the Royal Ulster Rifles today while guarding the international settlement.

Informed sources said these deaths, coming so soon after a British sentry was machine-gunned to death Oct. 27, increased the resentment at the continuance of incidents despite Japanese assertions they were taking steps to prevent them.

Controlled Acreage

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Strong sentiment developed in the house agriculture committee yesterday for controlling the acreage a farmer plants, but leaving him free to raise and market as much as he can on this limited acreage.

Plan Xmas Procession

Civic Group Hopes To Present 40 Floats In Parade Dec. 3

Iowa Citizens may see a mile-long Christmas parade with 40 floats Dec. 3, according to the retail trade division of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

The floats, fitted appropriately for the approaching Christmas holidays, will display a team of Eskimo dogs with a driver and sled; a log cabin in which guests will be received; Santa Claus in his customary red and white winter clothing and a camel and three wise men.

The parade will also include 10 shetland ponies and a bugler on horseback, the Chamber's special decorations committee decided yesterday at a meeting in the Jefferson hotel.

The chamber of commerce will make special efforts to have Iowa City children released from school Dec. 3 so they may attend the parade. Three hundred balloons will be released.

Iowa City stores will be closed between 1 and 4:30 p.m. on Homecoming, next Saturday, it also was decided yesterday.

Railroads Seek Raise in Rates

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—The nation's major railroads today voted to seek increases in freight and passenger rates calculated to boost their annual income by $508,000,000.

The Association of American Railroads decided to ask the interstate commerce commission to authorize a 15 per cent hike in all freight charges except those on coal, coke, lumber, fruits, vegetables and sugar, for which a certain maximum will be asked in each instance.

The organization of all class one carriers also elected to petition the I.C.C. immediately for permission to advance coach fares in the eastern district from the current 2 cents a mile rate to 2 1/2 cents and coach rates in the southern district from the present 1 1/2 cents basis to 2 cents a mile.

Western lines joined in a move to obtain a $5 increase in transcontinental fares between Chicago and the Pacific coast with corresponding adjustments between intermediate points and increase in the round trip, 30-day coach fares and round trip, intermediate tourist car fares.

Executives estimated the new freight scale would bring in an additional $459,500,000 annually with $48,500,000 more realized from the higher passenger schedule.

Preponderance of Strength Now With C.I.O.

John L. Lewis

In the "peace" conferences between the C.I.O. and the A.F. of L., John L. Lewis' C.I.O. has the preponderance of membership — all gained within slightly more than a year. C.I.O. membership is estimated at 3,718,000; American Federation of Labor, 3,200,000. The suggestion of the C.I.O. delegation, that the C.I.O. go into the A.F. of L. as a new department, authorized to organize workers in mass production, would give the C.I.O. control by sheer weight of numbers. Thus it is fought by William Green's A.F. of L. conferees at the "peace" meetings.

Hawks, Boilermakers Seek 1st Big Ten Win

by GAYLORD HODENFIELD Daily Iowan Sports Editor

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 29 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Two Big Ten teams, both admittedly stronger than their season's records show, will clash here tomorrow as the Boilermakers from Purdue and the Golden Hawkeyes of Iowa meet in Ross-Ade stadium, each seeking their first conference win of the season.

Confidence so thick it can almost be cut with a knife covers the home of the Boilermakers tonight. To the Riveter fans it is not a question of whether Purdue will beat Iowa. That is taken for granted. The only things the Purdue fans have to argue about is how large a score will be run up against the Hawkeyes.

A crowd of 18,000 persons, celebrating the annual Dad's day, is expected for the game.

Purdue Has Signal Drill

The Riveters went through a short signal practice this afternoon and left immediately for a resort hotel at Williamsport, about 30 miles from here.

The Hawkeyes, meantime were in Chicago, where they will spend the night. Coach Irl Tubbs sent his men through a short limbering up session and then had his men run through a brief signal drill. They will arrive in Lafayette tomorrow noon and will leave immediately after the game.

Odds Favor Purdue

No conference lead will be at stake but both outfits will be battling with everything they have in a desperate attempt to rack up a Big Ten triumph. Although the odds on the outcome of tomorrow's struggle favor the Riveters, they are not as overwhelming as the attitude of the Purdue fans would lead one to believe.

Iowa, after playing a fighting brand of football against Wisconsin's Badgers at Madison two weeks ago, suffered a letdown in their game with Michigan for no apparent reason. In last week's drills, however, Coach Tubbs succeeded in bringing the Hawks out of their lethargy and if the Iowans can hit their peak, the game is liable to go either way.

Swing It Boy Sings Headlines; Doubles Sales

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 29 (AP)—Here's a tip for street corner newsboys who can carry a tune.

It comes from Fulton Gunter, 18, who says his sales have doubled since he started adopting the day's headlines to the melody of "The Organ Grinder's Swing."

It goes something like this: "Mrs. Manville gets divorce, She's his fourth wife, of course; Auto stolen, cops nab one, 'Read the (name of paper), oh, what fun!'"

106 Years Old

KEOKUK, (AP)—Mrs. Asma Rashid, said by relatives to be 106 years old, died here yesterday.

Mrs. Rashid was born in Syria. She lived there until 10 years ago, when she came here to live with a son, Joe Rashid.

Youth Arrested For Attempted $2,000 Extort

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 29 (AP)—A 19-year-old taxi driver pleaded guilty on arraignment today to attempting to extort $2,000 by threatening the life of a member of the Weyerhaeuser Lumber family.

The youth, Wilford Raymond Marchand of Cloquet, admitted sending a note demanding the money to Walter B. Driscoll, executive vice president of the Northwest Paper company, "if you value the life of your wife and son."

Mrs. Driscoll is the former Margaret Weyerhaeuser, granddaughter of the vast Weyerhaeuser lumber interests in the northwest and a cousin of John Philip Weyerhaeuser Jr., whose son was a kidnap victim in 1935.

Bond for Marchand was set at $5,000 by U.S. Commissioner Lloyd J. Palmer, before whom he was arraigned. The case will be presented to a federal grand jury at St. Paul in December, with trial during a December term of federal court here probable.

Marchand, who police here said had no previous record, said he devised the plot to obtain some "easy money." He was arrested the night of October 23 when he appeared at the tavern where he had directed that the money be left. Officers said he first told them he was picking up the package for a man named "Ryan," but later admitted he had no accomplices.

Y.W.C.A. Flower Sale For Homecoming Will Begin Today

Soliciting of orders for the traditional Homecoming chrysanthemums will begin today under the auspices of Y.W.C.A. As in former years, the flower sale will be campus-wide.

Orders will be taken by "contact" girls in the different sororities and dormitories and in the Y.W.C.A. office. All orders should be placed by Tuesday morning.

The petals of the large golden chrysanthemums will be specially treated to strengthen the life of the flower under adverse weather conditions.

Mercury Reaches 30 Degrees Above Normal for Record

The highest Indian summer temperature here yesterday was 86 degrees—30 degrees above normal, hydrological laboratory weathermen said.

The mercury registered in the 70's and 80's for 10 hours during the morning and afternoon, and it was 86 between 2 and 5 p.m., they said.

Available records indicate it was the warmest Oct. 29 "in at least" 10 years, and the highest Iowa City temperature since Sept. 23, the weatherman said.

The mercury soared 23 degrees in two hours when it went from 51 to 74 between 9 and 11 a.m., they reported.

BULLETIN Police Capture Public Enemy

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30 (AP)—Cleveland police announced they captured Frank Bird, nationally hunted gangster, and his wife, here tonight.

Bird was captured without a shot being fired at the home of his wife's parents.

Federal agents had surrounded the house. They had been maintaining constant watch in the neighborhood.

An auto drove up in front, police reported, and Bird and his wife and baby got out and walked into the house. The federal men closed in and he surrendered.

Another man left the auto and ran, making good his escape, officials reported.

Bird is one of the notorious Bird brothers who have been at the head of the government's wanted list. His brother, Charles, was believed by officials to have been with him.

A third member of the gang was James Widmer, who was captured Oct. 15 in Philadelphia by police as he was driving a stolen car.

Conferences Next Week Attempt Settlement Of Wars in Spain, China

Deadlock Over Volunteers In Spain Remains

Communists, Fascists Dispute to Block British Plan

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The subcommittee of non-intervention ended another bitter five-hour session tonight with a deadlock between Communist Russia and the Nazi-Fascist front of Germany, Italy and Portugal blocking agreement on Great Britain's plan to withdraw foreign volunteers from Spain.

The plan was accepted in its entirety by Britain, France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Sweden at today's session. Russia accepted it with reservations on the granting of belligerent rights to the Spanish warring parties. Germany, Italy and Portugal accepted without reservations, but on condition of unanimity.

Deadlock On Unanimity

The deadlock was on the question of unanimity. The plan envisages, besides the withdrawal of foreign soldiers from the Spanish armies, the granting of belligerent rights and restoration of land and sea supervision to insure non-intervention.

Ivan M. Maisky, Soviet ambassador, abstained from voting on the belligerency issue in what Lord Plymouth, chairman of the subcommittee, and France's Ambassador Charles Corbin said was a desire "not to hinder the work of the committee."

This, however, did not break the impasse.

German Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop led the Nazi-Fascist front in an unexpected about face from its stand at the last meeting and insisted abstention from voting was tantamount to a refusal to accept the plan and that acceptance must be unanimous or the plan would break down.

Subcommittee Adjourns

The subcommittee adjourned until next Tuesday. The main committee of 27 nations is scheduled to meet Wednesday.

At the latter meeting Lord Plymouth proposes to ask the main committee's approval of the British plan as well as its authority to seek approval of the plan by the Spanish government and the insurgents.

Russia's agreement to abstain from voting on the belligerency issue was obtained by Anglo-French pressure. Refusal of the Nazi-Fascist group to accept the concession was interpreted as showing Berlin and Rome still were playing for time.

Belligerency

Belligerency is broadly defined as the state of carrying on war in accordance with the law of nations. Although the status of belligerents — like most of international law — is based on usage, some of the points were codified in the Hague convention of 1907.

Initial Reports On Chest Drive Still Incomplete

A Late Report from Community Chest Campaign Headquarters, 110 S. Linn Street, Last Evening Showed that 50 of the 228 Solicitors have yet to turn in their initial assignment cards.

This morning, according to Attorney Thomas E. Martin, campaign director, a special effort will be made to get in the assignment cards still outstanding. This is imperative if a redistribution of the cards is going to be completed by Monday noon, it was urged by the auditors at headquarters.

An unofficial report indicates that the trend of subscriptions is an increase over last year. There are more contributions being increased than decreased, officials state.

"The second meeting will be Monday noon at the Jefferson hotel if it is at all possible to complete the clerical work by that time," said Attorney Martin. "The time of the meeting depends entirely upon the speed with which the cards come in to be reassigned," he added.

Included in the firms yet to be solicited are five national organizations.

"There will be a full week's work for every solicitor who can possibly give his services," Attorney Martin declared.

"Several thousand dollars should be realized from the second assignment. The goal of the campaign is $19,890."

Sterility Cure New Compound Found By Doctors

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—The cure of sterility in five men and three women by new ways of using three chemicals, hormones, all from the pituitary gland at the base of the brain, was reported to the American College of Surgeons here today.

One of those hormones is on the market, another was first reported two weeks ago and is not available to the public and the third was announced today. All are part of a new and recent attack on the problems of human sterility.

They were described in symposia which told surgeons of the "practical" side of endocrine medicine, its dangers and the disappointments which most persons must expect when they ask doctors for these new medicines.

At Rush Medical college, Chicago, in the last 12 months, said N. J. Heckel, M.D., 20 men, unable for years to become fathers, have been tried on two of the "brain" hormones. Five are today prospective parents.

Nye Predicts War

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—United States Sen. Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota predicted here yesterday afternoon that this nation would drive into war as a result of President Roosevelt's failure to fully invoke the neutrality act.

Germany's Aid In China-Japan Meet Withheld

Sees Itself Unable To Join Nine Powers In Deliberations

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—Germany today declined the invitation of Belgium to take part in the conference of signatories of the nine power treaty scheduled to open at Brussels November 3.

A note to the Brussels government explained that Germany, not being a signatory nor a later adherent to the treaty, "sees itself unable to participate in deliberations over application of the agreement."

Germany and Soviet Russia, also a non-signatory, were invited to join the powers which in 1922 signed the treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China in seeking "amicable means" of ending the Chinese-Japanese war.

The German reply expressed "full appreciation of the endeavor to bring a speedy end to the lamentable conflict in East Asia by application of friendly means."

It concluded with an expression of willingness to cooperate in mediation when conditions for such action were ripe. "The German government," it said, "would like to give expression to its willingness at all times to assist in a move for peaceful settlement of the conflict provided it is certain that indispensable preconditions therefore have been fulfilled."

Germany is bound to Japan by an anti-communist treaty signed last November.

Meddling in the Far Eastern conflict may prove a boomerang for the Western powers, in the opinion of the Essener National Zeitung, generally regarded as the mouthpiece of Colonel Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 man of the Nazi regime. Commenting on Germany's rejection of the Brussels invitation, the paper said:

"The two great Asiatic peoples should and will find a basis for necessary and useful cooperation without other powers taking sides."

"States which today are so apprehensive regarding their economic interests in the Far East and because of this fear let themselves be maneuvered into hostile partisanship ought to remember that at the moment China and Japan come to terms they will be regarded as meddling intruders and will be rejected with all their wishes and claims."

Buried In Sand

CHELMSFORD, Mass. (Saturday) (AP)—A 19-year-old youth lay buried to his neck under a crumbling sandbank early today, trapped since late afternoon despite feverish efforts of 100 workmen to shore up the constantly sliding bank and dig him free.

Plane Lands Safely on One Wheel

Pilot Spends 90 Minutes Over Airport Trying to Lower Jammed Wheel

NEWARK, N.J., Oct. 29 (AP)—An American Airlines transport, with damaged landing gear, circled Newark airport for an hour and a half this afternoon while eight men and five women on board wondered whether they would land safely or be broken to pieces.

Through all those 90 minutes, while airport attendants, police, firemen and ambulance crews waited anxiously on the ground, Pilot B. C. (Dinty) Moore of Chicago, and his co-pilot, Kenneth Case of Marshall, Mo., tried desperately to lower a jammed landing wheel.

It was no use, and so as every-one held his breath, Moore, a veteran of 12 years of flying, brought the ship down in a perfect one-wheel landing, rolled across the field for 600 feet without damage to plane, crew or passengers, and modestly shrugged his shoulders.

"We all knew there was trouble," said one of the passengers, Fred Lanscheid, Royal Oak, Mich., "and we wondered why we didn't land and get it over with."

The other passengers aboard the disabled plane which arrived over Newark airport at 11:25 a.m. (CST), from Chicago, were Iro Yake, and his sister, Myra, of Toronto, Canada; Mrs. William Edgerton of Bound Brook, N.J.; Mrs. F. Heyworth Thorne of New York; H. L. Kennedy of Belmont, Mass.; Arthur A. Bolsterli of Hamden, Conn.; A. F. Buddenemeyer, American Airlines manager at Buffalo, N.Y.; Mrs. May Scribner, editor of the line's magazine, and E. R. Bayless, engineer at the Wright aeronautical plant, Paterson, N.J. The stewardess was Margaret Freer of Chicago.

Moore and Case became aware of trouble when they shot in on schedule and their wheels touched the ground. The plane bumped heavily and Moore sent it into the air swiftly. The passengers, too, were surprised that something was amiss. They remained calm, one and all said afterward.

Moore and Case took turns jerking at the retractable landing gear lever. One wheel moved freely, the other stuck midway as they tried to bring it into place.

Finally Moore decided to take a chance. He swooped low, came nearer to earth, cut the throttle and carefully landed on the jammed wheel and the tail wheel. The ship tilted slightly, kept its balance and rolled away to a safe stop on the far side of the field.

"I never saw a more beautiful job of piloting," said Case of Moore's work.

On Oct. 6, a transport of the same line experienced similar trouble. Pilot Roscoe (Rocky) Kent made a one wheel landing then with 21 passengers,

Halloween of Iowa Citizens 20 Years Ago Was Mischievous Too

"Mischievous little scamps!" Prophetic? Well . . . those words were directed at now-popular Iowa Citizens when 20 . . . 25 or more years ago they "pulled" the same old Halloween tricks.

Charles Bowman, secretary of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, will probably hear irate merchants protest tomorrow, that "those kids soaped up our windows again last night."

Bowman, however, will probably not lend them a too-attentive ear because he still chuckles about "the best prank of all."

"Why" he said yesterday, "they are still looking for the fellow who put a cow in the chapel on the second floor of the high school."

"Broken windows? Well, there may have been a few," Bowman admitted. "But, I guess it was those buggies that tickled us," he said.

Modern university women do not "pull" Halloween pranks—according to Dean Adelaide Burge, "Did I ever pull a clever prank?" she answered. "Honestly, I never could think of a real clever one to pull," the dean of women replied.

Attorney Thomas Martin, former mayor of Iowa City, is reticent to explain his Halloween experiences. "You see," he explained, "we lived on a farm and it was very far to our closest neighbor. So, our field of activity was rather limited." Attorney Martin refused to enlarge his statement.

Roscoe Taylor, manager of the Iowa City Light and Power company, said he could think of only "one little" incident. "When I was four years old," Taylor explained, "I made a lantern, hiked to town and started to scare the people on East Burlington street." "It sort of backfired though," he admitted. "They scared me into running all the way home. It didn't take very long, either," Taylor said.

B. M. Ricketts, vice-commander of the Iowa City American Legion post, could only say that "I was a very nice boy. Why I always stayed home and popped corn on that night." Ricketts did not insist that his assertion be believed.

Roland Smith, manager of Smith's cafe, did only the "natural things," he said. "Such as soaping windows or tying tick-tacks to them — and upsetting small buildings," he explained.

Fred Racine, manager of Racine's Cigar stores, claimed that "We tied the doorknobs of rooms in the dormitories and locked them. There were students inside, too," he added.

"Mischievous little scamps?" Perhaps these 1937 Iowa City youngsters had better look to their laurels after all!

Whither Halloween?

HALLOWEEN! Whence did it come? Newspapers scattered over the country will print the usual seasonal answer. But we are more interested in where it is going, and why.

That Halloween—the old kind of Halloween—is making its exit cannot be denied. This year a supervised party in Iowa City is evidence that the public is tired of waking up the morning after to find chaos on its doorstep.

We suspect that modern youth is a bit unresponsive to the supposedly weird element in Halloween. They are unable to imagine an old lady dressed in black, riding a broomstick through the skies.

Bicycles are increasing rapidly in popularity throughout the United States. The reason probably is due to the fact that so many of us Americans get a thrill out of going around corners on two wheels.

Dictatorship Means Censorship

WE REMEMBER Mark Twain's "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" as one of the high points of our boyhood. We read it, re-read it, loved it and remembered it, even forgetting Tom and his friend Huck Finn in not a few instances.

Labor Moves Toward Peace

THE American Federation of Labor is meeting with the Committee for Industrial Organization in an "armistice conference" this week to conciliate differences and discuss terms of peace. It is a rather naive notion to anticipate any agreement between these two labor organizations that would resolve their conflict.

The significant feature of this conference is that both factions are weary of their feud and are willing to arrange a temporary truce. Labor seeks peace within its ranks in the interest of fostering its own welfare.

employers who have had to contend with the two. American industry has been greatly upset by factional and jurisdictional quarrels waged by the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L. for control of a particular plant in the interest of becoming the sole agency for collective bargaining.

The League Steps In

THAT THE League of Nations has failed to measure up to the ideal of international peace as seen by its creators is no longer a matter of dispute. That it is performing important services in international health is equally recognized, but probably not as well known.

Last week the league's health committee reported that in the International Settlement at Shanghai, cholera alone was accounting for 100 deaths a day. Typhus, smallpox, typhoid fever, dysentery, meningitis, diphtheria and venereal diseases were among the other plagues mentioned.

After hearing the report, the league passed a measure sending anti-epidemic units into the war area and backed up its order with a $500,000 appropriation. These units, in co-operation with existing league health stations, will combat the plague from within as well as assist in the enforcement of quarantine.

Meanwhile, Surgeon-General Parran of the United States Public Health service announced that there is little danger of cholera spreading to our western ports since the five-day incubation period for the disease would elapse before ships could complete the voyage from the Orient.

In a prison in Elizabeth, N. J., white bread was used almost as a staple article of diet, and beri-beri broke out among the prisoners. They were cured by the use of brown bread.

A shipwreck prevented beri-beri in Labrador, when, in 1910, a ship ran ashore with a cargo of whole meal wheat flour, and in order to lighten her, a considerable portion of her load was removed and consumed by the people in adjacent districts.

That is why we read with regret that the children of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, will never have the experiences we had. The book has been ordered from all schools and libraries there because it is "subversive and communistic."

We might well believe this if we were not aware that in 1930 the same tale was banned in Russia for the reason that it was "capitalistic propaganda." It will probably puzzle everyone — as it has us — how the story could be classed as either capitalistic or communistic, much less both.

The whole thing reverts back to censorship which, in spite of the occasional good it may do, is usually inefficient and useless. Indeed it may often push a mediocre work into the front rank as it did with James Branch Cabell's "Jurgen," or, in painting, with the none-too-meritorious "September Morn."

It is unfortunate that "censorship" should exist at all and particularly that it should have reached the momentous height it has during the last few years. It is active today in all dictatorships.

In Europe alone there are 100 million persons who may read only such magazines, newspapers and books as their rulers think good for them — and for themselves. It is a major calamity that in a civilized world, one in which education has reached its highest point, that whole nations can be kept in the dark as to facts that are of vital importance to their future and their welfare.

Sufficient Vitamin B Will Act To Prevent Beri-Beri Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. Beri-beri is a form of paralysis due to nerve degeneration which occurs almost exclusively in rice-eating countries. But not necessarily is it seen only in rice-eating populations.

For instance, a Danish whaling expedition reported as late as 1930, 51 cases of beri-beri occurring on one ship on which no whole meal bread was eaten.

In a prison in Elizabeth, N. J., white bread was used almost as a staple article of diet, and beri-beri broke out among the prisoners. They were cured by the use of brown bread.

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

Marion Claire, talented young soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera, will be guest star of "Your Hit Parade" when the program goes on the air tonight at 9 o'clock over the WABC-Columbia network.

These facts have nothing to do with the controversy as to whether white bread or whole wheat bread is the most healthy. If wheat were the only article in the diet which could provide Vitamin B, it is true that it would be healthier to eat whole wheat bread.

Beri-beri in Alcoholic Neuritis: Beri-beri occurs occasionally in the peculiar form of alcoholic neuritis. It was long supposed that this neuritis was due to the degeneration of nerves by alcohol itself, but it has been found that the use of concentrated Vitamin B will cure the neuritis after it occurs, and if the alcoholic will eat a mixed diet along with his alcohol, a diet sufficiently mixed to contain Vitamin B, alcoholic neuritis will not develop.

By BRIAN BELL, JR. HOLLYWOOD (AP) — W. C. Fields, the famous comedian, did something for me that very few of his motion picture fans see nowadays. He juggled.

Mr. Fields was a famous juggler in his early days and I had heard a lot about his juggling. So, my first question was to ask him how he learned. "When I was a boy," he replied, "I was very lazy and did not like to get up in the morning. So I decided I would follow a profession that did not call for me to be up early. I picked the stage; and since I could not go on the stage without an act, I took up juggling."

Mr. Fields juggles: I wanted to say "show me," but did not feel like coming right out with it. But he volunteered to try without my asking. The interview was taking place at his home in Bel-Air, so he called his butler and asked him if he could find any tennis balls. The butler brought in four balls, all that were available. Mr. Fields said he had not juggled in a long time and was not sure he could, but he had no trouble keeping all four in the air. He became so engrossed he went on for 15 minutes. I was sorry the butler could not find more balls, as Mr. Fields said at one time he could keep seven going. But he said it was just as well since he was out of practice and had a sore wrist and could not have handled any more.

Mr. Fields made two trips around the world. Once he was in Australia when he received an offer to appear in the United States. He took the first boat and was home in 32 days. He appeared at only one performance and was told his services were no longer required.

Mr. Fields Gess A Break: To be "fired" after traveling 22 days to take a job was a shock, but Mr. Fields said it turned out all right; for a scout for the Ziegfeld Follies saw him in his one appearance and signed him up for the big New York show. Mr. Fields did not say so, but I know he became a great star in New York.

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I think it would be a good idea if New York were to arrange, for the benefit of visitors, an exhaustive itinerary of its waterfront.

It's a crime that thousands of guests pour into the city weekly and never see beyond a certain bald yardage of dock space and a few liners hitched to their berths. The waterfront in New York admittedly is now a series of mechanized sheds showing nothing on the surface, of the glamor and intrigue it knew in other days, but there still is meat for a fascinating tour of it if it were supplemented by an expert guide who knew the A.B.C.'s of its romantic interest.

In arranging such a tour I would emphasize the romantic interest of the tramps and freighters—especially the ones that ply between New York and those almost unknown ports of the tropics and the East.

For there is where the interest lies—from these points come the stuff from which fiction and history are made.

I would have it so that one might go aboard those lumbering, barnacled craft whose holds carry hemp and shell and coconut and seaweed.

What can the great de luxe liners offer in interest compared to these derelicts of the sea whose wooden decks have witnessed desperate struggles between men under the soft light of tropic stars? There are bright, vivid pages of the Arabian Nights to be unfurled if one knows where to go—strange babble of dialects and men whose skins range from lemon to ebony and alabaster, men who come from languid climes where peacocks roost in the banyan trees and the nightingales are as commonplace as hens in a barnyard.

You'll see these men, swart and tawny, staring oddly at New York and seeing in it a civilization and a mode of life they can not understand. You'll see brown men from the templed cities of India, Lascars, Malays (who are probably pirates), Javanese (whose native land abounds with wild orchids), men whose forebears tended goat herds on the Slopes of Palestine.

This is the bright lining to the grey, mist-hung curtain of the waterfront. Few see it and fewer still come to know it, but it is there if you know where to look.

Triner Predicts Title Fight For Chicago in June

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, confidently predicted today the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling heavyweight title fight would be held in Chicago next June.
"Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Sporting club, who has the pair signed for their title fight, would like to stage the battle in Chicago," said Triner, visiting here.
"We are working now on the place where it will be held. It should be Soldiers' field as Comiskey park might be too small for the crowd we expect. The bout would draw over a million dollars.
"With 400,000 Germans in Chicago and over a million in the cities within an overnight jump, the bout is a certainty to be a popular one in our city. And of course we have plenty of followers of Louis in Chicago alone."
Triner predicted Freddie Steele of Tacoma would successfully defend his middleweight title against Fred Apostol of San Francisco when the pair meet in New York, Nov. 12.

U - High Loses 6-0 Contest To Conference Foe

Offense Is Ineffective Against Winner's Strong Line

By HOWARD GROTHE
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
WEST BRANCH, Oct. 29 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Greatly weakened by the loss of three of its regular linemen, University high slipped from the ranks of the undefeated football teams this afternoon when West Branch vanquished them 6-0.
The Blue and White team, playing the game without the services of John McAllister, Bernie Miller and Bob Campion, regular end, tackle and guard respectively, were unable to stop West Branch's powerful running attack.
West Branch's touchdown came at the first of the game, when on the second play after they had taken the ball, Joe Lewis skirted his own right end for a 25 yard gain which put the ball on the U high 42-yard line. On the next play Elmer Hemingway made 18 yards around left end.
Two line bucks and a five yard penalty on U high for offside put the ball on the visiting team's 13-yard stripe, where in four line smashes the local team carried it over for a touchdown. An attempted pass for the extra point was incomplete.
U High Attack Stopped
University high's highly touted running attack was ineffective against the fast charging West Branch eleven. The Blue and White team never succeeded in getting closer to the West Branch goal than the 20-yard line.
The local team played superb ball in gaining a victory over the heretofore undefeated University high team. They outgained them and several times had breaks were responsible for stopping drives that seemed headed for touchdowns. When the game ended the ball was on the University high goal line.

Big 10 Busy Gophers Favored Over Notre Dame

By WILLIAM WEEKES
CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Big Ten gridiron championship business will move over a little tomorrow in favor of a pair of big non-conference deals — mighty Minnesota against Notre Dame, and Indiana's scrappy Hoosiers against Nebraska's power.
The eight other members of the league will be busy working on each other, with the Buckeyes of Ohio State rolling against Chicago in quest of their third straight conference victory, and Wisconsin's surprising Badgers battling Northwestern, in the games of championship significance. Sentiment and bids for consolation victories will furnish the chief appeal when Michigan tackles Illinois, and Iowa invades Purdue.
Supplementing the Big Ten program will be the neighborhood's chance to see one of the Pacific coast's top ranking elevens, Santa Clara, in an inter-sectional battle with Marquette, at Chicago's Soldier Field.
Sellout Crowd
The Big Ten figures to break even in the two big struggles, Minnesota, fortified by two weeks of preparation since untracking its great offense against Michigan, appears to have a definite bulge over Notre Dame. The Irish, however, were hotter than a pistol in the second half against Navy last week, and may have found themselves. Anyway, a capacity crowd of 64,000 in the Gopher stadium is likely to see a terrific struggle.
Nebraska's powerhouse, which seems to be on the way back up following the letdown after its sensational triumph over Minnesota early this month, rates the choice over Indiana which bowed to Minnesota 6 to 0. The Cornhuskers have superior reserves, and probably will need them in the Hoosier passing game, which bothered Minnesota no end, clicks again.
Illini vs. Wolverines
At Champaign, Illinois, will have an opportunity to square Bob Zuppke's personal victory account with Michigan in their traditional battle. An Illini triumph would match Michigan's collection of nine victories since Zuppke took charge at Illinois 25 years ago. Michigan's incentive will be to keep Illini from making it four in a row, something only Minnesota has done.
Wisconsin will toss everything at Northwestern in an effort to remain in the Big Ten battle. The Wildcats, defeated by Ohio State last week, will be severely handicapped by the loss, through injuries, of Fred Vanzo, its great blocker and defensive back, but with a superior running game and a strong passing attack, rates an edge over the surprising Badgers.
Boiler-makers Favored
Purdue, a disappointment so far, figures to win its first Big Ten victory at the expense of Iowa's slowly improving eleven.

Wellman Wins From St. Pat's By 32-0 Score

By BILL LEUZ
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
WELLMAN, Oct. 29 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—St. Patrick's football team was beaten decisively yesterday afternoon by a much stronger Wellman outfit, 32-0. Featuring Ross and Yoder, two speedy backfield men, the "Wildcats" encountered little resistance from the Iowa City eleven.
In the first quarter, after an exchange of punts, Wellman made a determined drive toward the Irish goal but it faltered on the 20-yard stripe when the St. Pat's line stiffened, and held Wellman for four downs. The remainder of the quarter was played between the 30-yard lines.
In the following quarter, Wellman turned on the heat and pushed over three touchdowns before the half ended. The first touchdown came when Ross, tricky Wellman quarterback, skirted his own right end for thirty yards and the score. A pass for the extra point failed. The Irish then chose to kick off and Ross ran it back 80 yards for a second touchdown but failed to make the extra point. Later in this same quarter a lateral from Ross to Yoder was good for 20 yards and the third touchdown of the game. The half ended with the score 18-0.
Starting the second half St. Patrick's kicked off and Wellman returned the ball to the 40-yard line. On the following play Ross broke into the open and seemed headed for a touchdown but Ed Ipsen caught him from behind on the 20-yard stripe. From this point Lewis, rugged Wellman fullback, found a hole in the Irish line and dashed to the goal line. Ross then passed to Moothart for the extra point.
In the fourth period Yoder faded back and threw a pass which was knocked into the air by Jack Fitzpatrick and caught by Wetrich. Wellman left end, who raced 50 yards for the last touchdown of the game.
Throughout the game the Irish were on the defensive and at no time threatened to score. Walden, Ipsen and Scannell played good defensive games while Newbiggen carried the brunt of the offensive attack.

Easy Day for Top Teams Five Leading Powerhouses Are Picked To Continue Victory March

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Notwithstanding proof that pitfalls of America's great college sport of ten trap the unwary when least expected, many of football's top-ranking teams figure to get a temporary "breathing spell" tomorrow in the race for championship objectives.
Five powerhouses currently ranked in the nation's "first ten," get some relief from the pressure that otherwise rests heavily upon sectional leaders, notably in the East and Southwest.
There's no advance reason, at least, to doubt the ability of California's Golden Bears to flatten U.C.L.A. and continue their all-conquering march. Similarly Pitt and Alabama do not figure to be seriously challenged by Carnegie and Kentucky. Vanderbilt, rated seventh on the national list, and Ohio State, now eighth, look much too powerful for Georgia Tech and Chicago.
Sellout at Minneapolis
Tomorrow's biggest crowd, a capacity turnout of 64,000 at Minneapolis, is expected to witness resumption of relations between Minnesota and Notre Dame in the middlewest's No. 1 attraction.
Yale and Dartmouth, unbeaten and United Giants of the "Ivy league," will draw close to 60,000 at New Haven for the eastern headline. It's noteworthy from a box office standpoint that Navy and Pennsylvania, whose combined records show two ties and three defeats, likely will lure as big a crowd to Franklin Field, Philadelphia, while 50,000 may see the Harvard-Princeton game.
Santa Clara at Marquette
On the inter-sectional side, Santa Clara's Broncos, boasting a perfect record, make tomorrow's longest jaunt for their match with Marquette at Chicago. The eastern brigade will send two of its crack outfits into this phase of competition, with Villanova invading Detroit and Fordham moving south to tackle North Carolina.
Here's how they size up from this corner:

Sarron Beaten By Armstrong

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Henry Armstrong, sensational Los Angeles Negro fighter, gained undisputed possession of the world featherweight boxing title tonight by knocking out Peety Sarron of Birmingham, Ala., holder of the National Boxing association crown, in the sixth round of a 15 round match that inaugurated the Mike Jacobs regime in Madison Square Garden.
In a sudden and unexpected finish to a whirlwind slugfest, Sarron, took the count of ten, on all fours, after capturing four of the first five rounds and boxing his way to a decisive margin on points. The little Syrian weakened without warning under a heavy barrage of blows to the head, staggered half-way across the ring, then went down from a short right to the chin.
Sarron was counted out after 2 minutes 37 seconds of the sixth round had elapsed without apparently knowing just how it all happened. Still on his knees, he looked inquiringly at Referee Arthur Donovan and remained in a complete daze as Armstrong's hand was raised in token of victory.

Drake Wallops Grinnell, 45-7

DES MOINES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Drake university handed Grinnell a 45 to 7 setback here tonight to keep its Missouri valley conference record unblemished.
Drake's crushing attack moved into action in the first quarter and the Bulldogs maintained their pace throughout the game, scoring in every quarter.
The Bulldogs scored three times in the third quarter, Pug and Phil Manders, a pair of hard driving Bulldog backs, led their team's attack.
Drake scored its first two touchdowns on long marches, the first for 61 yards and the second for 68 yards. Coach Vee Green sent in a flood of substitutes, but they continued the touchdown parade.
The Pioneers scored late in the fourth quarter when Hayward intercepted a Drake pass on the Grinnell 45 yard line and raced for a touchdown.

Upper A Annexes Divisional Title In Quad Playoff Tilt

In a roughly played do-or-die battle in the Quad league, Upper A copped the bracket championship play yesterday afternoon 13 to 6 from Upper B.
As in many of the Quad games of the series, line plunging was prevalent, and tries at the line seeming to have a marked preference to the open game. However, in the aerial plays that were attempted, A showed a marked superiority which was responsible for their margin of victory.
A pass, Knapp to Stiller was good for the opening counter for A. Stiller also converting to give his teammates a 7 to 0 advantage. This score came as a rather surprise as B, only a moment before had been seriously threatening the winner's goal.
Soon after play was resumed in the second half, an end around play with Purvis toted the ball from the 25 yard line scored for the B aggregation. Dillinger's attempt at conversion failed.
Later in the half, Overholt put the game in the bag for A with a brilliantly executed end run, scoring from the 30 yard marker. Knapp failed at the conversion, leaving A with a 13 to 6 margin which they held to the end. Throughout the last half B failed to threaten the winners' goal.
Yesterday's game ended the Quad touch football schedule in that loop. However with D and A both holding a pair of wins against a loss in the lower bracket, a playoff will be necessary to decide who will meet Upper A in the Quad championship finals to be held Wednesday afternoon. Monday will witness the play-off in the lower bracket.

St. Ambrose Beats Iowa Wesleyan By Huge Margin, 46-0
MT. PLEASANT, Oct. 29 (AP)—With a 46 to 0 victory over Iowa Wesleyan here today, St. Ambrose college chalked up its 21st straight game without a loss.
The first touchdown came in the second quarter, on a series of line plunges from mid-field, with Oelrich, St. Ambrose left half, carrying the ball.
The next touchdown came in the same manner, with Adams, fullback, scoring. Gustitus kicked both times for extra point. Oelrich carried the ball over again early in the third quarter.
Upper Iowa Wins
FAYETTE, (AP)—Upper Iowa defeated Columbia, 21 to 7, in a rough, hard-fought battle yesterday. Upper Iowa scored once in the second quarter and twice in the third, after a sustained drive from the upper Iowa 25-yard line in which Pickering, Eischeid and Spatcher covered the ground. Upper Iowa scored late in the second quarter on a pass, Eischeid to Pickering.

Ohio State - Chicago: The Daily Maroon, Chicago student newspaper, advocates abolition of all intercollegiate athletics. Ohio State.
Vanderbilt - Georgia Tech: Tech has a dangerous passing attack but the hand is quicker than the eye and Vanderbilt is the decisive choice.
Alabama - Kentucky: The margin of safety looks sufficient despite the threat of Kentucky's Bob Davis. Alabama.
Tennessee-Georgia: Two teams to one here. Tennessee.
Loses Fifth Straight
TOPEKA, Kan., (AP)—Colorado college handed Washburn its fifth straight football loss last night by defeating the Ichabods, 6 to 0. The victors scored their touchdown in the second period on a pass from Deacon to Bugg, the latter dashing 20 yards to the goal line. They made two other threats, but on both occasions lost the ball on downs.

Detroit Boy Claims Lead in Scoring

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP)—A Detroit boy claims the individual football scoring championship of the country—and he isn't "Anvil Andy" Parkas, University of Detroit halfback, whose churning legs carried him to 11 touchdowns and the college point getting leadership for the first five games of the season.
The youngster is "Hurricane Harry" Groth, star halfback of Catholic Central high school. In the first five games his team played, Groth scored 129 points, almost double the number tallied by Parkas.

Looking Glass Reflections

By VERA SHELDON

Sugar and spice and everything nice—that's what high school girls are made of! They go bouncing in and out of automobiles, flirt gaily with their high school "Romios" and drink milk shakes to their hearts' content.

A girl's most valuable beauty asset in the teen age is a good complexion. A feeling of inferiority is enhanced by the appearance of a skin disorder, so common in adolescents.

While high school girls may casually talk about hickies and blossoms to their friends, most of them try every known home remedy in an effort to cure them. While some of these efforts may be helpful, most of them will only irritate the disorder.

Many bad complexions are the result of the careless notion, "Oh, they'll grow out of it." Unfortunately, many do not and as the result, find their faces scarred for life.

The most common skin disease among young girls is acne. Since it is caused by a systemic condition, the first thing to do is to visit a physician concerning diet and other health measures. Common diet regulation consists of avoiding fats, spicy foods, and too many sweets, eating plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables and drinking lots and lots of water.

Local treatment includes a thorough cleansing, use of an acne pack and the removal of pustules followed by the use of an electric treatment. First, the healing infra-red light is used and then a positive galvanic current which has been saturated in an antiseptic lotion. This treatment is followed by a soothing lotion.

Little makeup should be used on the face, for it is only an added irritation and calls unwanted attention to the skin.

Professional treatments should be taken once a week. Used faithfully in conjunction with a physician's prescription and careful home care, they will prove most effective in removing the condition.

La Coterie Society Will Meet Tuesday

La Coterie club will meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ray V. Smith, 504 Oakland avenue. The program for the afternoon has not yet been announced.

Rutledge Talks At Conference

"Communities composed of specialists cannot survive for any relative permanence," Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the college of law declared last night at the foundrymen's conference dinner in Iowa Union.

Dean Rutledge who addressed the group in the absence of President Eugene A. Gilmore said, "Up until 1900, the lawyer thought little of economic or social problems. The engineers were concerned only with the machine and physical things being done with little regard for the social order. The doctor, too, went his own way."

He stressed the fact that for this reason a new type of technician is being developed; the individual is trained not only in one field but in several.

"When we learn to know each other as men and know more about the work of each other," he concluded, "then we shall have accomplished a basic unity."

H. Bornstein, president of the American Foundrymen's association and director of laboratories for Deere and company of Moline, Ill., gave a short address outlining briefly the history and the activities of the A.F.A.

Stormy Days Fancy Colored Coats Defy Drizzles

By HELEN RIES

London may be a dreary place when there's a fog. New York may not be pleasant when it's snowing. But there are few places so dreary as the campus when it drizzles.

With the invention of cellophane, however, the outlook was brighter. Colored capes dotted the campus during each rain. But since these capes are flimsy and not so practical, the gals are changing to a heavier garment of gabardine. The coats are usually reversible with a checked material on one side and plain tan gabardine on the other. Made with a raglan sleeve they are campus favorites.

Gabardine in itself is not too colorful, so the girls of today tie a bright scarf around their curls—a la peasant—and truck gaily off to classes.

Shoes Are a Problem
Shoes are always a problem in the rain, but the girls just smile as they don their brown and white saddle oxfords left over from the summer play days. These need to be brightened too, so we add angora anklets in one of the popular shades of yellow, white, brown or blue.

As the rain grows chillier, gloves are handy, and nothing could be more colorful than the new "Swiss" knits made with bright embroidered flowers.

Try a Belt
If you crave still more color to light your gloomy walk to school try a bright new suede belt. Wear it with that old-but-comfortable sweater, or follow that yearning you've always had for beads big enough to trim a Christmas tree and drape a string around your neck.

Bright red nail polish might cheer you up but we frown on it for the classroom, so fool 'em—try it on your toes and feel the glow!

Susan Gaspel, American author, was born in Davenport, Iowa.

Air Line Sets Record Completes 20,000 Scheduled Flights Across Continent

An international record for long distance scheduled passenger flights was set last night when United Air lines completed the 20,000th coast-to-coast passenger plane trip on its midway continent airway.

In commemoration of the flight each division of the overnight "continental" sleeper plane was flown by one of United's million-mile pilots.

Figures show that during the first year of coast-to-coast operation, United carried 1,679 passengers, contrasted with 220,000 the company expects to transport this year.

The first transcontinental flight required 33 hours and 14 refueling stops contrasted to this thousandth anniversary flight which is made in one-half the time and with only three refueling stops. Fares are one-third of what they were on the original flight between the two seaboard 10 years ago.

Intelligent As Chimpanzee

Psychological Tests Measure Mentality Of 2-Year-Old Child
VIENNA (AP)—Does your child reach eagerly for a toy held before him?
What does he do when a bell is rung and then handed to him?
These are among the tests methods being developed in the psychological institute of the University of Vienna by Professors Charlotte and Karl Buehler and launched as new bases for child psychology.
Smart As a Monkey
One of their conclusions so far is that an average two-year-old child has the mental development of an adult chimpanzee.
That conclusion was reached by placing a toy beyond a child's reach outside his play pen and giving him a stick. His ability to retrieve the toy with the stick is a measure of his intelligence.
Laboratory for the professors Buehler is the children's receiving station of Vienna, where children from six months to three years old are placed if their home life is unsatisfactory.
Tests Tell Character
During a four weeks stay at the station they are given "play" tests to determine whether some mental or emotional difficulty requires training in an institution or whether they are normal and can be entrusted to foster parents.
One of the common tests is the "grasping tests." In this a desirable object is held before the child. Whether he reaches for it or remains passive indicates his general reaction to things about him.
Social tests are given children two years old or over. Several youngsters are placed together in a play pen in which there is only one toy. Whether they dominate the play and seize the toy for themselves or give it to another child are, to the psychologists, clues to their character and social attitudes.

County $42,996 Road Program Will Be Completed This Week

68 Miles Resurfaced; Thirteen Receive Stone Surface
Johnson county's $42,996 road resurfacing program will be completed this week, County Engineer R. H. Justen said yesterday.
More than 68 miles of roads have been resurfaced since the project started Aug. 1, 13 miles of which received a new stone surface.
Forty-five per cent of the cost was paid by a PWA grant, and the work was done by the Concrete Materials company of Cedar Rapids.
President Lincoln was assassinated in Word's theater on April 14, 1865.
A goby is a carnivorous shore fish on nearly all temperate and tropical coasts.

Homecoming Luncheons
Men to Meet At Field House; Other Grads at Iowa Union
Hundreds of University of Iowa alumni, here for the 26th Homecoming festivities Nov. 5 and 6, will attend luncheons on the day of the Minnesota game.
For the first time, the Homecoming committee has planned two luncheons. One, in Iowa Union, is open to all alumni while the other, a buffet affair, will occur in the fieldhouse for "I" men only.
No program will be given at either affair. The general luncheon is informal, but if groups want to meet by classes they are welcome to do so.
Letter men will be served in the fieldhouse following the first annual meeting of the newly reorganized "I" club. More than 600 announcements of the luncheons will be mailed to letter men in the state.

Police Department, Fire Department Have New Numbers

Beginning today the telephone number of the Iowa City police department is 9613, and the fire department number is 9617.
This change was made because the telephone calls to the police and fire departments are furnished free from public telephones, but with the present telephone numbers the calls are completed at the usual charge.
Switching equipment which handles the present numbers will not operate so that the coins can be returned to the calling parties while the new numbers are associated with recently installed switching equipment that makes it possible to return coins used to call the fire and police departments.

Defendants Consent To Court Decision

In the case of Etta M. Hills against George and Ida Bowers at the court of Justice of the Peace T. M. Fairchild yesterday, the defendants consented to the judgment removing them from the property.

Peasant Hats

Newest Modes Favored By American Women
By BETTY PROCHNOW
Since the visit of the Duke of Windsor, then the Prince of Wales, to the Dalmatian coast two years ago, the peasant influence in dress has swept the world, especially the United States.
The American people, women in particular, always ready to adopt a new mode or custom, are wholeheartedly in favor of the peasant type of dress and ornamentation.
Smocked Blouses
Scarfs worn over the head, smocked blouses, full skirts, tight bodices, low square necklines, bright colors, wooden beads and laced-in waistlines are evidences of the peasant influence.
Although the girls on the Iowa campus have just started wearing scarfs for headgear, the peasant women in Europe have worn them for hundreds of years. The drawing blouse which has been so popular this fall is really an adaptation of the peasant blouse.
Full Skirts
Full skirts have found much favor in this country. Perhaps it is a many-gored model or a full skirt gathered at the waistline, maybe one with dozens of pleats or an accordion-pleated number. "Swing" skirts have swept the country, and to have a completely up-to-the-minute wardrobe you must include a few of them.
The low square necklines are often trimmed with a bit of ruching on the more dressy models or perhaps just embroidery for a touch of color. The bodices of these peasant dresses are usually quite tight with a laced effect in front or a row of buttons. The waistline is often high with a laced-in girdle to emphasize the old-world slimmness.
Godey's Lady's Book was founded in 1830.

Chapter One

Florello Zamarelli drew out his accordion for a final screeching chord, then swung into a turkey trot with Italian variations. It was a fine day with fine sunshine. It was a fine accordion and Florello was a fine musician. Everything was fine, except that this was 52nd Street, a cloistered New York street, sacred to the very rich. That was why Danny, the cop on the beat with a high celluloid collar and the slightly pompous look of policemen in this year of our Lord 1922, suddenly appeared before Florello.

"Sorry, old man," Danny drawled. "But it's twenty-three skidoo for you."

"What did I do I have to skidoo?" protested Florello as the accordion moaned to a silence. "You can't do these things to me. I got a recipe for American citizen. I got city licenses."

"This ain't New York," Danny pointed out, good-naturedly pushing the musician along, "this is 52nd Street!"

"So these people too good for me," sputtered Florello. "Some day I show them. I make-a my son a big-a music, then when they come to my house to hear him, puttin' the jell on them . . . I . . ."

But Florello's music had already created a diversion in one of the sedate brown-stone mansions that lined the street. A little, bright-eyed spinstress, watching him covertly from behind lace curtains was humming his tune. "Aren't you ashamed?" she heard her sister's voice behind her, and whirled to face her. "Ashamed?" Letitia Rondell breathed. "Yes! No, I'm not! I've got a right to sing."

Adela compressed her ordinarily thin lips into an even finer line. "You, and your brother Rufus!" Her voice was harsh. "You singing out into a public street - and he making love to a common show-girl!"

Letitia flamed. "She is not a common show-girl. She's Evelyn Macey and according to the papers she's some - some pumpkin."

"Letitia! You defending a show girl?" Now it was Adela's turn to break into sobs. "Upholding our brother for his actions - out every night - drinking."

"He wasn't last night. He smelled all right. I kissed him!" Letitia countered and she moved forward to embrace her sister.

There was one other place in New York that evening where Rufus Rondell's romance was the subject of the conversation. It was backstage at the Beaux Arts Club, where Evelyn Macey was the leading attraction.

Sid, who was short with a terrific proboscis, and Jack, who was tall with an Adam's apple to match his dancing partner's nose, were discussing their favorite topic of conversation.

"Oh boy, if Evelyn Macey marries that guy, we can borrow five thousand bucks like that," Sid was exclaiming.

"How d'ya know," asked Sid.

"Evelyn Macey wouldn't throw us down," shouted Jack. "Why man, we could have our own place. Boy, can't you see it? Bigger than this and full every night - an electric sign over the door - Jack's and Sid's -"

"Sid's and Jack's," corrected the other.

"Jack's and Sid's," insisted Jack. He chuckled up as he saw Rufus Rondell make his appearance. Rondell had the pleasant amiability of a man accustomed to money. He was young, distinctly on the good-looking side. For a moment he exchanged pleasantries with the two who had just been spending his money - in their imagination. Sid thought he would take advantage of the situation, maneuvered Rondell one side.

"It's like I been telling you," he said. "If you got anything to tell her which you want to be sort of secret like, I suggest you get her alone - - out in the park, maybe."

Rufus had been eyeing his adviser amusedly during the speech. Suddenly he interrupted.

"Sid," he said, "I know all about your proposed enterprise. Miss Macey has often told me. Tomorrow - regardless of her answer - you'll get a ten thousand dollar check."

Sid sidled to the floor in a senseless heap.

The policeman whistled as he approached crunching on the gravel walk. It was Spring and Central Park was full of lovers and lovers' problems, but Evelyn and Rufus felt that their problem was most difficult of all.

"It just couldn't be, Rufus," she shook her head. "It wouldn't work."

"You can't tell me that," Rufus spoke earnestly. "I've wanted you ever since the first day I saw you."

"Rufus, my kind doesn't belong on 52nd Street. Your sisters will tell you that - they probably have. And I don't blame them."

"Darling," he blurted forth. "My sisters are snobs! But I love them. You see, Adela gets her happiness out of thinking she dominates me. Letitia loves to cover up my vices. I feel sorry for them because the romance that might have been theirs is behind them. But in my particular case, my dear . . ."

And here he substituted action for words, leaned over and catching her face tenderly between his hands, kissed her passionately on the lips.

"Rufus," she breathed in protest. Then "Rufus," weaker. Finally, "Rufus" in a voice full of tenderness, surrender and love as her arms curled up about his neck, brought his head closer to her own.

The policeman returned whistling, gave them an amused glance, and resumed his patrol down the path, with his club swinging freely by his side.

ROOM AND BOARD

The more intelligent you are, according to some magicians, the more easily are you fooled by 'magic' tricks.

Marie Dressler co-starred with Charlie Chaplin in the first multiple-reel comedy, 'Lille's Punctured Romance,' in 1914.

Youngsters Celebrate Halloween Tonight With Parade, Games

Police Escorts Masked Crowd Through Town

Clever Costumes Will Receive Awards At Fieldhouse

Hundreds of Iowa City boys and girls will celebrate Halloween tonight with a masquerade parade through the business district and a mass game session in the fieldhouse.

The most cleverly dressed youngsters will be awarded prizes after the games, Eugene Trowbridge, director of the recreational center which sponsors the event, said.

Anyone wishing to join the parade should meet between 7 o'clock and 7:30 tonight on Gilbert street between College and Burlington.

The paraders will be grouped according to school classification. All high school students will march behind a high school banner, and junior high and grade school students will also be designated by banners.

A Boy Scout color guard and the Iowa City high school marching band will lead the parade. The marchers will also have a police escort.

The parade will march north to Washington street and pass through the business section before turning north on Madison street.

They will then go west across the Iowa avenue bridge and through the sunken walk north of the Quadrangle to the fieldhouse.

They will enter the fieldhouse through the south entrance and will pass the judges' stand for a review of the costumes.

Fourteen members of the dramatic department of the Iowa

City Woman's club will judge the costumes, and the results will be announced later in the evening after mass games have been played.

Prof. Miriam Taylor of the women's physical education department and a group of physical education majors will lead the celebrants in games. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded to the best costumes in each of seven divisions. There will be prizes for the best animal costume (one or more persons may make up a costume).

Best impersonation of a historical, story book or theatrical character; best witch, ghost, cat, owl or similar Halloween symbol. Best hobo, pirate or scarecrow; best comic strip character or clown; most original costume other than those specified; and the best couple or group impersonation of famous characters taken from life or fiction (only for couples or groups).

In case of rain, there will be no parade, but the fieldhouse program will remain the same. Spectators may attend the event and can enter by the east door of the fieldhouse.

The Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, women's physical education department, Iowa City Woman's club and Lieut. Col. George F. N. Dailey of the military department are cooperating with the recreational center to make the celebration possible, Trowbridge said.

Intoxication Charges Bring $100 Fines To Three Persons

Police Judge Burke N. Carson gave three $100 fines on intoxication charges in police court yesterday.

Joe O'Brien, W. F. Wright and C. P. Owin received the fines. On a similar charge, "Cappy" Prochas was fined $5 and costs. One dollar fines were paid by L. A. Miller for overtime parking and Jay M. Shriver for using the streets for storage.

AROUND THE TOWN

Work
Today, I am told, Iowa City's Harvey Secor will have his men at work on his alleged "tourist" cabins. . . And, then, it won't be long until the Casino roadhouse may be multiplied, as Tom Martin suggested, into "a lot of little Casinos." . .

Everything that could be said has already been said in Daily Iowan editorial, I think. . . But let this one thing be pointed out. . . At the University of Illinois yesterday two students were expelled; the scandal of the viceing is reaching every corner of the state and nation. . . And people are putting the blame on the university. . .

Iowa's state university has had its own taste of scandal on several occasions. . . As a result the university has suffered and is still suffering. . . Where we will go from here will be determined, in one way or another, by whether Harvey Secor completes his — and here I use his own adjective—"tourist" cabins. . .

Warning
And in passing I'd like to say a word of warning against those too - frequent professors and students as well who are allowing themselves to build up a definite feeling of anti-Japanism these last few weeks. Let Prof. Clara Daley or any of a half dozen others who were on the campus in the days just preceding America's entrance to the World war tell you about the brilliant students who were swept with the rest into the mob spirit then and how it started much as the campus feeling of today. . . Let them tell you about those who didn't come back — and those who did but, perhaps, would have been better off had they not risen from the battlefield. . .

I personally am in favor of letting Japan and China fight their own war, all peace conferences to the contrary. . . I, for one, am not willing to give my life to save China for democracy — or anything else for that matter.

And can anyone tell me who is the education professor who bores his students itemitently with his tales of the doings of his wife and children. . .

Well, 72 more Russians have been executed this week. . . It certainly looks as if Stalin's game is improving. . . Now he's shooting in the low 70's. . .

As you probably already know Stalin is the whole works in Russia. . . He's the cabinet, the congress and the president and the supreme court. . . If things keep up, he's liable to be the entire population as well. . .

It makes things much easier for the census taker of course. . . He just sits in his office, listens to the number of shots and then subtracts.

And condolences to Alf Landon whose newsreel shots in the local theaters have received the roughest hissings of the week. . .

I personally think, incidentally, if there were one vote against Stalin in Russia he'd probably demand a recount. . .

A scout has remarked that the only mudslinging in the present Russian political campaign is that of the gravediggers. . . If you're not for Stalin, you're not. . .

City Asks Leaves, Grass Be Collected For Fall Cleanup

City Engineer Fred M. Gartzke asked yesterday that Iowa City residents collect their leaves and grass so that the street department's trucks may pick the debris up during the annual fall cleanup beginning Monday.

Four trucks will begin work in the second ward Monday and expect to complete a ward each day, ending with the first ward on Friday.

Gartzke stated that the leaves should be piled on the curb and not in the gutter where they will interfere with the carryoff of rain.

Part of the leaves will be burned at the city dump on Riverside drive. The University has asked for the rest to be dumped on old Iowa field.

Student Art Guild Plans Costume Ball

This year the guild will have its own clubroom in the fine arts building. A bulletin board will also be placed in the building where notices of the guild will be posted.

Indians Back To Saddle

Yellowtail Hopes To Restore Economic Freedom of Tribe

CROW AGENCY Mont. (AP)—Soft-spoken Bob Yellowtail, leader of the once powerful Crow Indians, is striving to make his hard-working tribesmen economically independent.

Yellowtail, a college graduate, has devised a "rehabilitation program" which includes building up of the tribe's buffalo and other herds, stock raising and diversified crops.

He also hopes to restore to the Crows the proficiency in horsemanship for which they became famous throughout the west. With a view to making the Crows "the best mounted tribe in the world," he has imported stallions and brood mares, and gathered the best technical information.

Yellowtail is the first Indian to become superintendent of a reservation.

R. N. Miller Elected County Commander

R. N. Miller, clerk of the county district court, was elected county commander of the county American Legion at a meeting Thursday evening at Lone Tree.
