Pep For All—All for Pep

*** ** **
'Iowa Rooters' to Lead Cheers of Fans
At Indiana-Iowa Game Nov. 13

The Iowa Rooters, the first organized cheering section on the University of Iowa campus, will lead Iowa cheers and yells at the Indiana-Iowa game Nov. 13. The new project, a continuance of Iowa's "new era pep," was announced yesterday by Orval Matteson, A4 of Elgin, Ill., chairman of the Pi Epsilon Pi committee in charge.

Each organization belonging to the pep fraternity will be given a percentage of seats, the number depending on the number of "I" books in each group house on the campus. Seats will also be set aside for unaffiliated students, so that every student will have a chance to sit in the cheering section.

Reserved seats will go on sale this morning at Whetstones No. 1 and will be on sale until Thursday evening. The number of seats for each group is limited, and they must all be reserved.

The first public appearance of the group will be at the Indiana game. The rooters will also lead cheering at the basketball games and form the nucleus of next year's cheering section. This year's members who return next year will be the charter members of next year.

The Pi Epsilon Pi committee members are Mr. Matteson; Florence Barr, A4 of Lamont; Elzena Gross, A2 of Warrens, Wis.; Alan White, A2 of Iowa City, and Ernest Grosser, A3 of Cleveland, Ohio.

New York Election Campaign Ends With Threats, Promises

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—The local election campaign wound up tonight in melodramatic fashion with special-rackets-prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey announcing he would have at least 500 voters arrested tomorrow and would challenge more than 4,000 others. Candidates for major offices drenched their fees with political invective.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, fusion candidate for re-election, trimmed his oratorical outflow to three speeches today after his campaign managers promised him he would win by "more than 500,000 votes." A majority of local newspapers agreed.

His opponent, Jeremiah T. Mahoney, Tammany democrat, head of the Amateur Athletic union, also was assured of victory "by from 250,000 to 400,000 votes" by his campaign managers, but wound up his campaign on election eve with twelve major speeches and many neighborhood appearances.

Election tomorrow promised to furnish trouble for voters and meat for argumentative analyzers of elections.

All available members of the police force will be on duty tomorrow from 6 a. m., when the polls open, until after they close at 6 p. m.

The city voter must register his choice for a long list of city and county offices, for candidates to congress, the state assembly, for district delegates to a constitutional convention, on six constitutional amendments, and on one proposition on a voting machine.

He can register his vote for delegates-at-large to the constitutional convention on the same machine if he is a regular party man, but if he chooses to split his vote for that office, he must ask for a big card with seven pads containing 90 typed names and many blank spaces, tear off a list, cross out some names, write in others, seal up the slip, and force it into a slot in the machine.

Gates Indicted For Withers' Murder

CLARION, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Wright county grand jury late today indicted Harold Gates for first degree murder in connection with the death of Guy Withers Jr., who was fatally wounded Sept. 9 as he was getting into a car following a melon patch raid.

Gates, a farmer, was arraigned immediately in district court and pleaded innocent to the charge. He was freed on bond of $10,000 posted by two neighbors, C. G. Olson and J. C. Smith. The same men had signed Gates' bond when the latter was arrested on a charge of second degree murder immediately following the death of the 18-year-old victim.

IRONIC DEATH

Two of Thrill-Seeking Trio Are Killed

ROSEVILLE, Mich., Nov. 1 (AP)—Two of three thrill-seekers whirled to their deaths in the crash of a stunting airplane today while a woman passenger—"crazy over flying"—suffered serious injuries.

The ill-fated flight, outcome of a chance visit between the two men, and the woman, ended in the plunge from about 1,000 feet after the plane had gyrated before the gaze of fearful witnesses on the ground.

Prefers Aunt Bartholomews Denied Son's Custody

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1 (AP)—Cecil L. Bartholomew and his wife, Lillian, lost their fight to regain custody of their famous son, Freddie, today, after the child screen star denied he loved them and testified, "they're strangers to me."

Counsel for Mylicent Bartholomew, the aunt who had adopted the boy, asked if he was happy with her.

"Yes, sir," Freddie answered. "I've always been with her—since I was three years of age. She's just the same as my mother to me."

"Do you have any affection for your parents?"

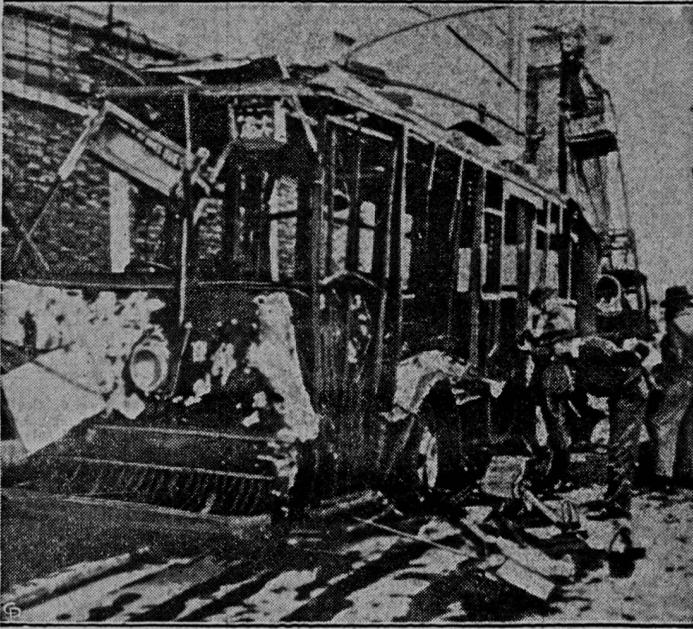

"No," he said matter of factly. "They're strangers to me."

Two Marx Brothers Incur Fines of $1,000

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1 (AP)—Groucho Marx and Chico Marx, screen comedians, were fined $1,000 each by United States District Judge Cosgrave today on a charge of infringing a copyright.

After the verdict, Groucho commented: "Well, I was expecting the worst, so I'm pretty well satisfied. Chico, however, was indignant and said so."

Bombed Shanghai Trolley in Which Three Died

Workmen begin work of repairing bombed trolley in Shanghai. Ruins of a trolley car in Shanghai, China, following a bombing by Japanese planes. Twelve persons were killed and 18 injured in the bombing. Despite constant threat of destruction, workmen are seen erecting new equipment and putting up new trolley wires.

Chinese Spokesman Declares Japanese Have Been Repulsed

Has Confidence In Strength To Hold Attackers

SHANGHAI, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Chinese spokesman today declared China's army had driven Japanese forces back from the south bank of Soochow creek despite a relentless Japanese artillery and aerial bombardment attempting encirclement of Shanghai.

The spokesman asserted Japanese were repulsed in Shanghai's western suburbs by Chinese armed only with trench mortars, machine guns and rifles in the face of Japanese artillery.

"We are fully confident now of holding the enemy which is facing us in large numbers at Rubicon road," said the spokesman.

A Japanese army communique declared there was "no new information from the Soochow creek front."

Shanghai buildings as far away as the Bund, along the Whangpoo river front, were shaken by detonations of the intensive Japanese aerial and artillery bombardment of Chinese position along the Shanghai - Hangchow railway.

Although the battle raged only an infinitesimal distance from the International Settlement boundary, British guard outposts reported all projectiles were falling outside the Settlement.

The Japanese drive to force a passage of Soochow creek and seize the western suburbs of Shanghai, which yesterday produced an American protest and a Japanese apology, continued with intensified fury today.

Chinese fought back desperately against the advance of Japanese units which late Monday gained a footing on Soochow creek's southern bank at heavy cost to both sides.

Bird Receives 45-Year Term For Bank Theft

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1 (AP)—The government sentenced Frank Bird, fugitive Missouri killer, to 45 years in prison for bank robbery today, and separated him from Sylvia Sieber Bird, the 21-year-old Cleveland nursemaid he emmeshed in a life of crime.

Bird, who escaped from jail here last September with his brother, Charles—still a fugitive—pleaded in court for lenity toward his wife.

"There's nothing I can say for myself," the 30-year-old defendant told Judge Paul Jones. "But I wish I could do something for my wife. I talked her into it. It was not her fault."

Emissary Lays Plan for Duke

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Charles Badaux, wealthy emissary-without-portfolio for the Duke of Windsor, arrived tonight to make ready for the forthcoming American visit of the abdicated British monarch and his American born wife, the former Wallis Warfield.

Badaux, who will help chart a public relations path for the royal couple, didn't bring the news so many had been waiting for—just what points in the United States they would visit. That, he said by ship-to-shore telephone as the liner Europa pushed up New York harbor, would be announced by the Duke himself.

Thus, the social side of the trip apparently was undecided, 10 days before the scheduled arrival of the royal couple on November 11, and the country's leading hostesses were left guessing.

Madrid Plans New Offensive To Break Siege

HENDAYE, FRANCO - SPANISH FRONTIER, Nov. 1 (AP)—Insurgent military dispatches from Salamanca stated today the government was concentrating troops and equipment in the Madrid sector for a general offensive to break the year-old siege of the capital.

The dispatches said government troops had already started attacking insurgent advance posts and government soldiers who passed into the insurgent line told of intensive preparations for the drive.

Tanks were said to have aided the preparatory assaults on insurgent positions in the Western University City suburb, the Guesta de la Reina sector, 20 miles to the southeast.

Border reports said most sections of the Aragon front were quiet. It is in that region Generalissimo Francisco Franco hopes to end the civil war by driving a wedge into the government's eastern territory.

FULFILLS VOW Pat O'Brien Gives Parents Home

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 1 (AP)—Pat O'Brien, film actor, today fulfilled a vow he made when he left home to seek a career on Broadway 20 years ago.

When his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Brien, arrived from Milwaukee, Wis., planning to stay only for the winter, he presented them with a home "in which they can retire and enjoy themselves for the rest of their lives."

"This is the happiest day of my life," Pat said.

England Waits for U. S. To Take 1st Steps In China-Japan Settlement

Japan's Official Suggestion Will Be For Peace

England, U. S. Hesitate To Accept Added Responsibility

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
BRUSSELS, Nov. 1 (AP)—A high Japanese authority told the Associated Press tonight Japan's official recommendation to the Brussels conference on the far eastern conflict would be to end the conference as quickly as possible and get Japan and China to begin direct peace negotiations.

American delegates made it clear they would "not go out on a limb" to take greater responsibility than other powers in effort to settle the Chinese-Japanese war.

Commenting on Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's statement in parliament Britain would go as far as the United States, delegates declared they would lend the fullest cooperation.

The informed Japanese source described Japan as fearful of the conference, called to find an amicable solution, might merely add to the bitterness of the Oriental crisis.

He also stated the conference might suggest availability of certain powers, such as Great Britain and the United States, for mediation if it should be desired by the Chinese and Japanese government.

It was indicated Japan had particular confidence in Joseph C. Grew and Sir Robert Leslie Craige, American and British ambassadors to Japan, as possible mediators.

A spokesman for the Chinese delegation said China would not find declaration of an armistice with a later discussion of peace terms acceptable.

Japanese had been "reported as favoring an armistice and delegation circles have hinted such a proposal might be forthcoming from the conference."

China's spokesman said an armistice merely would give Japan a chance to dig in and consolidate her position in the territory, chiefly in North China, she already has occupied.

"The Chinese will not consider peace under any other terms than Japanese withdrawal from all occupied Chinese territory," the Chinese spokesman insisted.

Morgenthau to See Government Satire

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau has a seat for the Broadway premiere of "I'd Rather Be Right" which suggests a number of freakish ways to balance the budget.

He was the only high official from Washington known to have a ticket for the George M. Cohan satire which opens Tuesday night. Cohan plays the role of the president in the comedy lampooning government figures.

Something New—To Use When You Get Mad at Date

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP)—Should you feel like giving the heavy date the "cold-shoulder," there's a new piece of furniture for the purpose—the "mad-seat."

It was put on exhibition today at the American Furniture Mart's mid-seasonal showing.

To get an idea of this new living room piece, think of a half-moon. Put a back on the inner side. Next divide the midsection of the seat off with two arms, leaving a corner on the outer side of each arm.

Thus, if the person in the middle seat should suddenly get peeved at the one next to him, a move away to the outer side of the arm would change the situation from cheek-to-cheek to back-to-back.

In general the midseason show was emphasizing a revival of the modern trend in the higher priced groups.

Residents Are Urged to Vote

Iowa Citizens were urged to "Get out and vote Thursday," at a meeting of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and in the city school board in the city hall last night.

"Vote as you please on where to build the school—but vote to accept that PWA grant and build it" was the general opinion expressed by 30 members.

"This $328,250 grant must be accepted at this election Thursday," Attorney Herbert J. Ries said. "If it is defeated, the earliest a second election could be held would be Dec. 15 due to the school district law."

"No contractor could possibly submit plans and specifications, secure local and federal approval and then start building the school by Jan. 4, 1938, he said.

"It's a race against time," Attorney Ries said. "We must accept the grant Thursday and start construction early in January as the grant conditions."

Mayor Myron J. Walker, who presided in the absence of Attorney William Hart, chamber of commerce president, said that the present building is inadequate.

"The structure was built in 1891 and at that time was suitable," he said. "However, since then, the school population has more than doubled, and the building is inadequate."

"Personally, I would advise Iowa Citizens to consider the vital need for a school and to vote to accept the PWA grant. The question of location is secondary in comparison to the need," Mayor Walker said.

"The hazardous conditions in the present school could easily lead to another New London, Tex., school tragedy here," H. J. Dane said.

Eden Promises Britain To Go 'Far as U. S.'

Hitler-Mussolini Scored; Warns Firmer Stand Will Be Taken

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today promised Great Britain would go "as far as the United States" in measures to end the Chinese-Japanese war and warned European dictators Britain never would "stand and deliver at anyone's command."

Without mentioning Italy by name, Eden's blunt declaration before the House of Commons tossed back Premier Benito Mussolini's and Reichsteuher Adolf Hitler's diplomacy in hard-hitting phrases.

Just before leaving for the Brussels conference on the Far Eastern conflict, Eden declared Britain would "in this difficult Far Eastern situation go as far as the United States in full agreement with them—not rushing in front but not being left behind."

He said, "I feel I ought to make it quite plain the initiative for holding the conference in Brussels never came from us at all but from the United States government itself." He stressed that any action "that can be taken in the Far Eastern dispute does essentially depend on the cooperation of the United States of America."

Washington had not interpreted statements of President Roosevelt and the state department of American willingness to "cooperate" with other nations to settle the war "by agreement" to mean the United States was prepared to take the initiative at the conference.

Shifting from war in the Far East to the troubled European situation, Eden, with what he described as his own "appalling frankness," declared:

"The house no doubt will have observed that during recent days a country that had itself as the outcome of the great war gained a very considerable concession in Africa from the countries which were its allies in the great war, has now championed the claim of Germany to African possessions."

"I must declare plainly we do not admit the right of any government to call upon us for a contribution when there is no evidence to show that that government is prepared to make any contribution of their own."

Jan Garber's Wife Files Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1 (AP)—"Too much temperament," said Dorothy C. Garber in her complaint for divorce from Orchestra Leader Jan Garber, filed today.

She accuses him of extreme cruelty, asks a division of community property, valued at $75,000, and requests custody of their nine-year-old daughter, Janis May.

"First Lady," Opening Theater Season, Is "A Good Show"

By MERLE MILLER

In the beginning, "First Lady" is a good show. It is bright, witty and is to be sure, unimportant. It is typical George Kaufman playwrighting.

As produced two seasons back on Broadway, no one got very excited about it; yet it had a long, substantial run. As given last night to open the University theater season, it appears as assured of the success in Iowa City as it had in New York.

It lacks only that undefinable something that puts some few shows on a plane above the other "hits."

As a piece of playwrighting, "First Lady" cannot be bettered. It treats of George Kaufman's favorite subject—excepting only Hollywood—Washington, D.C. His "Of Thee I Sing," dealing with the same town and the same subject—presidents—won him a Pulitzer prize. Last week in Boston he opened "I'd Rather Be Right," also dealing with presidents and the nation's capital, and promising to be this year's Pulitzer winner.

"First Lady" won no prizes. The plot is not Kaufman's but was brought him by unskilled, amateurish Katharine Dayton. It was Kaufman who furnished the gags, the situations, the laughs.

It must have been he who decided that Lucy Chase Wayne and Irene Hibbard should so closely resemble Washington's Alice Roosevelt Longworth and Dolly Gann that those ladies are said

Lucy Chase Wayne and Irene Hibbard are long-standing enemies in a feud dating back to the time Mrs. Hibbard captured Mrs. Wayne's chef.

When it develops that Mrs. Hibbard's stuffed-shirt supreme court justice husband may well be President of the United States and thrice-married Irene Hibbard, first lady, there's a play.

Lucy Wayne, of course, manages to swing everything the right way. In the end her secretary of state husband is headed for the presidency, and she plans for the first-ladyship, which is really most important, after all.

Indeed, as Lucy puts it, "They ought to elect the first lady and let her husband be president."

The plot, then, is unimportant. The situations are important. It must have been Kaufman who decided that in the beginning of the second act Irene, sitting in quiet desperation while her elderly husband cleans his fingernails and she has the hiccupps, should suddenly glance around and shout to the world, "My God, I never saw such a place. A roomful of books and nothing to read!"

It was probably Kaufman who decided that when it looks as if Irene may be the president's wife, Lucy must gently murmur, "She may not get along with the Girl Scouts, but she and the wayward girls could certainly exchange stories."

In short, "First Lady" has the kind of brittle, cutting dialogue that makes for an enjoyable evening in the theater.

Last night's production advanced this writer's belief that this will be a headline year for University theater. Last year, the first in the new theater building, was not. Now, however, the main element in any theater—acting talent—does appear to be available.

Florabel Houston played Irene Hibbard, and the show was hers, although it for Lucy Chase Wayne. Of all the actors on the stage, Miss Houston whose first important University theater role this is, was easy, free—and unaffected.

In the scene already described at the beginning of the second act, Miss Houston gave as funny a comedy performance as I have seen on the new theater stage. In one scene, her last, during the general trend toward overplaying, she lost her balance and left an unpleasant impression.

Dorothea Carlson was disappointing. This summer a star in "Hippolytus," a "promising young actress" in "Holiday," last night she lost herself completely in a role that was not for her.

She made her Lucy Wayne too hard, too stagey and too inhuman. At no time during the play did she appear at ease. Her lines, funny as they were written, were pointed to the hit—and as a result lost much of their buoyancy.

Miss Carlson is still a promising actress, one of the most promising University theater has had in several years. If she is to succeed, however, she must forget she is an actress of promise and concentrate on being the character she is playing. Last night she failed in that.

Ronald Van Arsdale played Carter Hibbard, the billious supreme court justice; and in his two brief scenes, he played him well. A part that might easily have been overplayed, Van Arsdale kept his tempo even and did not step out of Carter Hibbard's shoes for a minute while he was on the stage.

A half dozen other good performances might be mentioned. Marianne Woodehouse was clever; she too is new to the University theater, but I assume she'll be back again.

Ruth Morgan played Belle Hardwicke with vitality, and Max Ellis was his usual competent self as Tom Hardwick. In a brief moment, Lemuel Ayers made a definite impression as Jason Fleming.

The production technically was excellent, as seems to be the habit with most University plays. There were two beautiful settings by Arnold Gillette and effective lighting by Hunton Sellman.

In conclusion "First Lady" is worth seeing. A good show in itself, it gives promise of something better yet to come.

New York

Elects a Mayor

BY TONIGHT New York will have a new mayor or will have reelected an old one. We, along with millions of other liberal, free-thinking persons throughout the nation hope it will be the latter.

During its present administration, America's largest city has had a government worthy of its size and importance in the national scene. A definite attempt has been made to lay aside partisan politics to obtain honest, efficient government. There has been a distinctive feeling in the rest of the nation that New York wants to keep that kind of a government. Today will tell how right these indications are.

As the campaign ends, it appears that the majority of New Yorkers intend not only to keep their irascible and incorruptible mayor but also give him the support of an anti-Tammany board of estimate and district attorney. For district attorney—the keystone of efforts to separate crime and politics—there is opportunity to install Thomas Dewey, the brilliant young lawyer who has made a name for himself as a relentless buster of rackets.

Yet, despite all the arguments against Tammany, Governor Lehman and Senator Wagner—both brilliant and admirable men—have joined Al Smith, Jimmy Walker and Postmaster General James A. Farley in backing the Tammany ticket. All these endorsements are, of course, only personal. One man had a political debt to pay; a second had to return a token of personal friendship, and two of the men have always been members of Tammany's organization.

Farley, to be sure, had promised that the administration would not intervene in local elections; so it must be that his endorsement is "only personal." It has official effect, however, and the spectacle of the new deal political chieftain coming out against a new deal mayor because he isn't a democrat is nearly as funny as the farce of Senator Copeland's efforts in the primaries to get both the Tammany and republican nominations for mayor of New York—and on a platform that was mostly against the court bill.

It's no mystery at all that Tammany hall must get back in office today or forever lose its strength. It has suffered too many defeats in recent years to go on. What is happening in New York is obvious. The people have had a taste of good, efficient non-political government. They have in the backs of their minds the memory of the tin-box government of Tammany, and the recent return of Walker to the city payroll makes the issue more clear-cut than ever.

Does New York want to insure a continuation of good government? If the answer is yes, then there is only one man to put in the city hall. That man is Fiorello LaGuardia.

Reclaiming An Indian Heritage

UNDER THE guidance of Bob Yellowtail, Indian college graduate wise in the ways of this new America, the impoverished remnant of the once powerful Crow tribe may come into some semblance of the proud heritage it bears.

out by the Crows on their Montana reservation. The project will include the restoration of the tribe's buffalo and other herds, stock raising, and diversification of crops. With the idea of making the Crows the "best mounted tribe in the world," this new leader has also planned a new emphasis on proficiency in horsemanship. Imported stallions and brood mares plus the utilization of the best technical information are main features of this part of Yellowtail's program.

This ambitious project is intended to make the Indians as economically independent as possible and to give them a distinction they have lost. After so many years of virtual helplessness and dependence on their conquerors, these Indians may become something more than objects of curiosity for tourists. It means cooperation and hard work; but if the project is completed, the shrunken Crow tribe may feel that it fulfills all the standards its progenitors ever set.

And Bob Yellowtail will be as great a chief as any in the tribe's history, even though his head may not be bedecked with a splendid war bonnet.

The High Price of Beef

THE NEW deal, for the first time, has come face to face with the high cost of living. Except for war and peace, the high cost of living is the most important problem in the country.

At the moment, the price of beef has center stage. The kosher butchers of New York and northern New Jersey have gone on strike. Chicago nosewives refuse to buy meat at the new prices. Why are the people so agitated over the price of meat? The Bureau of Labor Statistics tells the story. Between the Septembers of 1936 and '37 the following increases have taken place: sirloin steak, 23.9 per cent; round roast, 24.4 per cent; rib roast, 25.2 per cent; chuck roast, 28.4 per cent. From these figures, one can easily realize why the housewife on a small budget will quickly convert her family into vegetarians.

In part, we can blame the high cost of beef to the droughts of 1934 and '36. At this time A. A. authorities encouraged the shipment of cattle and hogs because they maintained that the farmers could not afford to keep them. They now contend that this had no effect on the nation's meat supplies.

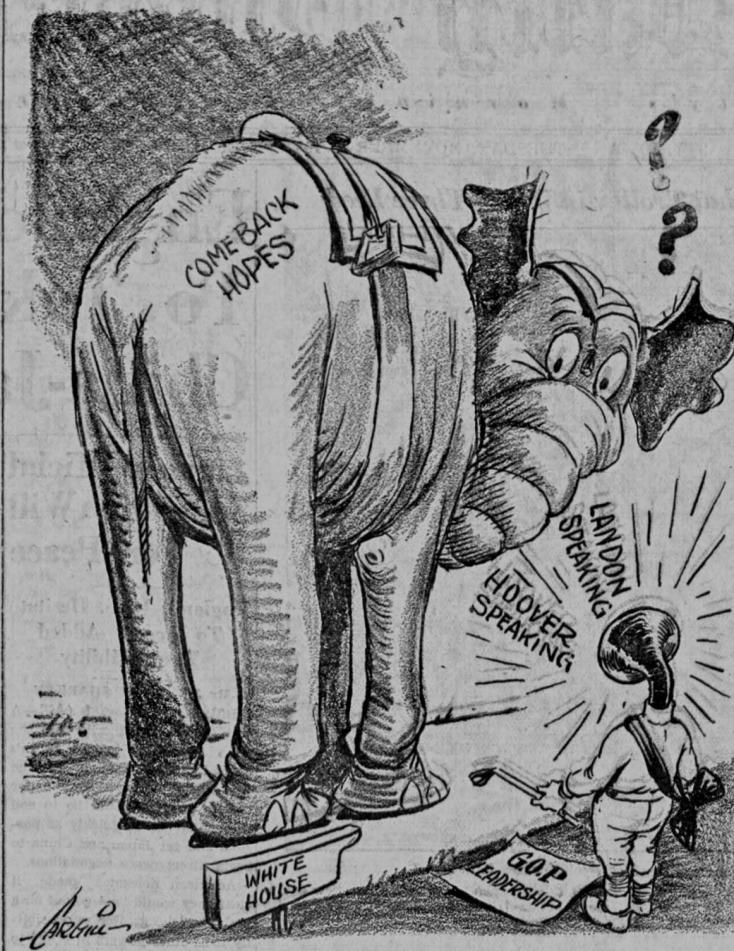

The experts of the agriculture department indicated a slow easing off in meat prices. Nevertheless, the people expect a fairer deal than this. Meat isn't a luxury—it's a stark necessity. The department of agriculture should step forth today as it did in 1934 and make a thorough investigation, especially of the change in beef prices at the Chicago stockyards during the last days of September. The results might be more than interesting.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS DOUGLAS AND PERCY MEMORIES OF Bearnais and Valois, of Montague and Capulet, and of many other ancient, long antagonistic families joined at last in marriage are recalled by the union of the houses of Douglas and Northumberland, in the persons of the Marquis of Clydesdale and Lady Elizabeth Percy. Little did Sir Philip Sidney think when, more than three hundred and fifty years ago, he wrote the famous sentence, "I never heard the old song of Percy and Douglas, that I found not with a trumpet," the twentieth century would provide it with so unexpected and happy a sequel.

Sir James of Douglas, surnamed the Black Douglas, one of the earliest ancestors of the Marquis of Clydesdale, who himself is famous for his flight over Everest, fought in no less than seventy battles, and triumphed in fifty-seven. His descendant, the second Earl of Douglas, was also a doughty warrior, as he proved in his many raids across the Scottish border into England, most of them against the family of Percy. In 1388 he captured Hotspur Percy at Otterburn, an exploit celebrated in the "old song" that moved Sidney, the ballad of Chevy Chase. But in 1402 it was the turn of the Percys, for Hotspur captured the reigning Douglas at Homildon Hill.

And so these old battles went on, a series of midnight forays on the borders of England and Scotland, of raids in the darkness, of burning homesteads, and of men shouting and boasting in anger. It is all ended now, and former enemies live in closest friendship and affection. There is a reason for hope here. It is individuals who compose nations, and what individuals can do is not beyond the power of nations either.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Shirley Temple is supposed to be the kiddies' delight, and yet my operative in the foyer of a Glendale theater the other preview night, will stake her spy glasses on the truth of this conversation between two auto-graph-hunting moppets: First: "Gee, but I hope I can get Shirley Temple tonight." Second: "Aw, you can have Shirley. What I want is Seemoan Seemoan."

Simone is bursting into song in "Love and Hisses." I believed it after hearing her recording of the Bell Song from "Lakme," which was better than you'd expect. Now there's nothing to stop Lily Pons from taking up putting. My operative in the vicinity of the Bel-Air country club, where Katharine Hepburn's "Bringing Up Baby" company has been on location, reports another triumph of movie expediency. . . Seems Katie had to sink a 12-foot putt, but the pill wouldn't behave. . . They tried and tried, but no go. . . They dug a trench for the ball, but it still wouldn't sink. . . And then solved it, in the end, by changing the script. . . Made it a six-foot putt.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—John Golden is one producer who likes to give table rehearsals of his plays. In other words, he takes his friends to cafes and acts on the tablecloth. With the aid of cream pitchers, sugar bowls, salt cellars and sauce bottles, he duplicates the movements of every character on the stage, giving full action and quoting each important bit of dialog.

After one such demonstration of "Susan and God" before it opened in New York, Mr. Golden shoved the sugar bowls and cream pitchers aside. "Now bring me my dinner," he instructed the waiter. "You've already had it," the waiter replied without so much as lifting one hair on his very correct eyebrows.

Tropic Author There is an author in our town who is noted for his languorous tales of the tropics. But he has never been to the tropics and can never go there. Once in Florida he suffered sunstroke and lapsed from that into a curious fever. The doctors have warned him never to live in a tropical climate. It would be certain to kill him.

The other night I walked up Fifth avenue with an artist who was just back in New York. He had been in the South Seas for three years. Suddenly he stopped and pointed to what he termed the harsh crudities of our Western culture—brzen skyscrapers, hurrying buses, screaming taxi snarls, people straining to get to various places which really wouldn't matter after they go there.

"This is what I mean," he said. "all this insane plunging and lunging! There is no sanctuary here! In the Islands there is poetry and beauty and a profound simplicity that goes deeper than all the ancient honesty of Asia. Every tree is a temple and every man is a god!" I remembered another traveler who spoke almost the same thought on a night several years ago. He too was an artist and he too had returned to New York, to be troubled and hurt by what he saw.

Injured Hawkeyes Open Drills for Minnesota

Little Hawks Start Drilling For Geneseo

City High Grid Squad Has Light Workout After Victory

A broad smile and general satisfaction were evident last night as Coach Herb Cormack put his City High gridders through a light workout after their successful review before alumni Friday. Men who saw little action against the Marshalltown aggregation joined the reserves in a stiff scrimmage.

In forthcoming practice sessions before the invasion of the Geneseo, Ill., eleven, the local coaches will attempt to iron out the difficulties brought to light in the first half of the Bobcat encounter, in which the Red and White team was guilty of erratic play.

Larry Paul, senior lineman who has provided Iowa City fans with a brilliant brand of football all year, sustained a severely injured leg in the Homecoming battle. The seriousness of his injury is still undetermined. Other members of the squad came through the game in good shape.

Beck Still Injured

Bob Beck, also on the casualty list from last week's practice scrimmage, will probably be withheld from participation in the inter-state tussle with the Illinois outfit.

Coach Cormack will probably attempt to perfect the aerial game that showed amazing strength and accuracy in becoming the deciding factor in last week's fracas. The lateral and basketball passes dished out last week by the Little Hawk mentors proved invaluable as they provided scoring punch after the running attack had been stopped cold by the massive Bobcat forward wall.

Hawkeyes Beaten Once

To date the Hawkeyes have tasted defeat in only one game, having been unable to stop the powerful Franklin team of Cedar Rapids. However, Iowa City boasts a tie with Dubuque, who took the measure of Franklin last week.

When the first census of the United States was taken in 1790, the population was 3,929,214.

Prof's Prize Pupils Deflated

Bernie Bierman Calls Notre Dame Team Toughest Minnesota Opponent

By PAUL NICKELSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—For the first time in his uplifting career, the old professor was forced to scatter the bulk of his anecdotes of aspirin and crying towels among his prize scholars at the Monday morning class for pigskin coaches today. The whole classroom looked like a busy dentist's office with the back row gang happy to have their wisdom teeth extracted and the undefeated worried about a painful yank to come.

Professor: Maybe you defeated ones have the right idea. The worst is over for you. Nothing else can hurt you because you've gone through the mill. Even Bierman is smiling but Layden and Stub are crying. Elmer, what's wrong?

Elmer Layden, Notre Dame: We licked Minnesota and I was sure we would. But now nobody will undertake us any more. Wouldn't surprise me if we didn't win another game all season.

"Strongest Opponent"—Bernie Bierman, Minnesota: Professor, Notre Dame was the strongest team we played this year. They were more powerful and had more lucky breaks—which they probably didn't need. Stub Allison, California: Professor, it's getting tough. Every team is laying for us and we have to hold back on new plays to keep the scouts from seeing too much. The spirit of my boys is fine but their blocking was not as good as it can be.

Bill Spaulding, U.C.L.A.: Professor, those Bears are good and don't let Stub talk you out of it. They never give a tip off on where a play is going—and then if they had some glue on their hands we might have scored some more. But we scored the first touchdown of the season against them.

Pitt Still Fumbles

Professor: I've always been in favor of glue.

Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh: I'd like to order some of that glue, professor, because my Panthers still have fumble-itis. Carnegie Tech had us plenty worried that

Frosh Cagers Report for 1st Drill of Season

Twenty-three freshmen reported to "Pops" Harrison for basketball at the fieldhouse yesterday afternoon.

The squad was divided into groups according to the position they played. Centers: Harry Fischer, Lake View; Dale Meyer, Branson, Mo.; Joe Farrel, Allerton; and John Albers, Mt. Auburn.

The guards: Waldo Martin, Libertyville; Dick Edmond, Vinton; Carlyle Kopp, Buffalo Center; Ed Brees, Iowa City; Wayne Hall, Pisgah; Norman Newton, Vinton; Ray Majors, Springfield, Ill.; Bill Schlenk, Iowa City; Morton Rabinowitz, Newark, N. J.; and Don McCluskey, Minburn.

Forwards: Augie Anapol, Chicago; Ray Bogenga, Grundy Center; "Skip" Adrian, Iowa City; Kermit Ruppenkamp, Garwin; Dick Hine, Sioux City; Jean Messer, Brighton; Norman Hainkins, Combesville; Jack Pawlars, Pocahontas; and Joe Murray, Clinton.

Outstanding freshmen on the squad are "Skip" Adrian of Iowa City who was the city champion scorer season before last; Bill Schlenk also of Iowa City, was captain of St. Mary's last year, and Dick Hine who led Central high of Sioux City last year in scoring.

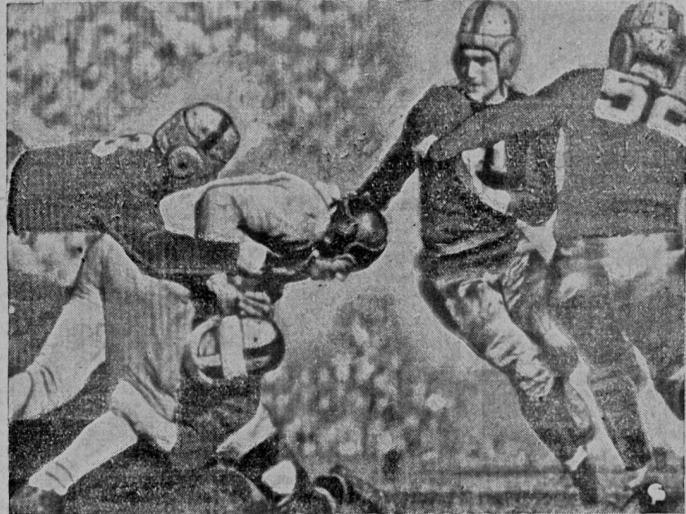

The squad will practice every Monday and Wednesday at 4:15. As the season advances those showing least promise of developing into varsity caliber will be dropped.

Last night a few freshmen were on hand to scrimmage the varsity. The green clad squad was quite effective in breaking up plays attempted by the first string composed of Joe Van Yessdyk, Tom Lind, Kenneth Suesens, Howard Ely, and Robert Hobbs.

Cyclone Regulars Rest

AMES, Ia., (AP)—The Iowa State reserves received the attention of Coach Jim Yeager yesterday while the regulars took it easy after their game with Missouri.

The team came through the Missouri game with no injuries. Everett Kischer, apparently recovered from his shoulder injury suffered in the Nebraska game, ran through signals yesterday and the coach said he probably will be ready for scrimmage this week.

Buhler, Minnesota fullback, is shown above as he was stopped by Notre Dame in the first quarter of the game played at Memorial stadium in Minneapolis Saturday.

Buhler, in the light suit, was thrown back from left guard for a yard loss in two trials. One slim point, a placement by Andy Pupils, won the game for the Irish, 7 to 6.

California Still on Top Golden Bears Lead For 3rd Successive Week, Minnesota 14th

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—For the third successive week and without anything approaching serious debate, California's all-conquering Golden Bears occupy the national pigskin peak.

While Minnesota dropped out of the "first 10" for the first time in four years, and a quartet of championship contenders elbowed their way to higher brackets, California piled up another landslide margin in the Associated Press nation-wide poll of newspaper experts.

The Bears were the No. 1 choice of 49 out of 62 writers, and topped the list with 600 points out of a possible 620. At the same time Alabama, Baylor, Fordham and Nebraska rode to higher ratings for the week on the crest of a fresh wave of votes.

Here's the latest tabulation, scoring each team on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis and with first place votes indicated in brackets:

Rank	Team	Points
1	California (49)	600
2	Alabama (6)	503
3	Pittsburgh (4)	482
4	Baylor (2)	331
5	Fordham	281
6	Nebraska	191
7	Yale	181
8	Ohio State	178
9	Dartmouth	146
10	Santa Clara	113

(Note: One ballot bracketed California, Alabama and Pitt in triple tie for lead.)

Second 10: 11. Duke, 107; 12. Notre Dame, 75; 13. Villanova, 62; 14. Minnesota, 55; 15. Tennessee, 24; 16. tie between Duquesne and Arkansas, 10 each; 18. Louisiana State, 8; 19. tie between Tulane and Northwestern, 6. (Also ran Colorado 5, Southern California 5, Texas Christian 2, Holy Cross and Vanderbilt, 1 each.)

The see-saw race for runner-up honors between Alabama and Pittsburgh, with the Crimson tide regaining the edge, has attracted close attention. Each has an eye on the Rose Bowl, Pitt looks to have the tougher November path, with Notre Dame, Nebraska and Duke among four remaining opponents. Alabama must hurdle Tulane, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt to keep its slate clean.

U-High Given Hard Practice

Blues Girding for Tilt With Loop-Leading Tipton Eleven

The University high football team went through a rigorous drill on fundamentals yesterday, as they began preparations for their last game of the season, which will be played Wednesday against Tipton on the latter's home field.

The Blue and White team suffered its first defeat of the season last Friday at the hands of West Branch, making it impossible for them to finish better than second in their league.

To finish in second place they must defeat Tipton and this seems to be a fairly difficult task as the latter team has only been scored on once this season and has a record of 15 straight victories. Tipton is now a game and a half or more ahead of every team in the league, so they are certain of the conference whether they defeat U high or not.

Injuries Hamper Blues

The local team was seriously hampered by injuries in their game against West Branch. John McAllister, Bernie Miltner, Bob Campion and Bruce Blackstone, regular end, tackle, guard and center, respectively, were out with injuries.

Both McAllister and Blackstone will be in condition to play against Tipton, barring any further injuries.

Coach Jack Sterrett plans to use Owen Morgan, former fullback, at Bernie Miltner's tackle position and Bill Rarick at Campion's guard post. Both of these men played a short time in these positions against West Branch and showed up well.

Packers Lead in Scoring

NEW YORK, (AP)—The champion Green Bay Packers continue to lead the National football league in ground gaining and scoring, statistics released yesterday show.

The Packers have gained 2119 yards and scored 153 points, Pittsburgh is second in ground gaining with 2013 yards, while Detroit is second in points scored, with 120.

Coach Works Mat Prospects

Coach Mike Howard has been sending his men through hard workouts to get them in shape for the oncoming season. He is working on speed and stressing fundamentals.

According to the tentative schedule, Iowa has a very tough season ahead. Three Big Ten schools are boasting of strong teams and one is predicting the strongest team in its history. Coach Howard believes that he will be prepared for them as his squad is better than usual and well balanced from bantam to heavyweight.

Honor Humphreys

NEW YORK, (AP)—A plaque, honoring the memory of Joe Humphreys, veteran fight announcer, was unveiled in Madison Square Garden yesterday.

Hod Shots

By G. K. HODENFIELD

Notes from the Iowa-Purdue battlefield:

Most spectacular play of the day—Nile Kinnick's 55 yard pass that Jack Eicherly dropped on the Purdue five yard line when he had the Boilermaker safety man behind him and a clear path to the goal line. It wasn't Eicherly's fault, he was looking right into the sun.

Biggest cause for wonder for the Iowa Fans—Frank Balazs, Iowa back, was declared guilty of pass interference and the resulting penalty set the Riveters up for the second marker. Balazs hit the ball with one hand and had his other arm strapped to his side so that it was impossible for him to raise it above the horizontal. How he interfered with the Purdue player is beyond me.

Biggest disappointment—Dick Evans' failure to get away for a touchdown after catching Kinnick's pass in the fourth period. Evans was apparently in the clear but was brought down by the last Purdue man in his path.

Biggest gripe of the Iowa team—On the fourth play of the game, Kinnick was tackled by Clem Woltman after returning a punt to midfield and fumbled. When the pile was untangled it appeared that Kinnick had recovered his own bobble, in fact he handed the ball to the umpire, but the official gave the ball to Purdue.

Greatest weakness of the Iowa team—Open field tackling. When Cecil Isbell dropped back to pass and then decided to run with the ball, three Iowa players had hold of him and then let him get away. If the first Hawkeye had held on to him he would have lost about seven yards on the play.

Most welcome sight for the half-dozen Hawkeye rooters—The real "Iowa Fights" spirit shown by the Hawks as they went down to defeat. Every one of the men was fighting for all he was worth and all of them showed a distinct about face from the listless game they played against Michigan.

And, despite the season's record, I am sticking to my guns and predicting a victory for the Iowans before the season is over. Each week the chances grow smaller but the Iowa bad luck can't hold out much longer and when those Hawkeyes start getting the good breaks instead of the bad ones there is going to be an upset of major proportions.

Harris, Prasse Hurt in Game With Riveters

Tubbs Sends Varsity 11 Against Freshmen In Scrimmage

Hampered by injuries to key men and faced with the seemingly hopeless task of stopping the Minnesota Gophers when they invade Iowa City this week end, Coach Irl Tubbs sent his University of Iowa football team through a scrimmage against the freshmen last night in an effort to build up a defense against the powerful attack of the Northerners and at the same time conceit some new offensive plays of his own.

The Iowa mentor shifted his men about in an effort to find the most powerful possible lineup to use against the Gophers. With Homer Harris out for at least a week and Prasse on the sidelines with a shoulder injury, the task of the Hawkeye coach is no easy one. Bob Lannon, the third Iowa wingman injured in the Purdue game Saturday, was excused from the drill but it was expected that he would be able to play Saturday.

Dick Anderson, Frank Balazs and Jack Eicherly were also excused from the drill. Anderson suffered a back injury in last Saturday's game.

New Plays

Before the scrimmage against the frosh, Tubbs sent his men through a brief warm-up session and followed with some new plays.

The first team, as used yesterday, Dick Evans and Emil Klumppar at ends, Wilbur Nead and Floyd DeHeer at tackles, Charles Brady and Bob Allen at guards, Fred Lindenmeyer at center, Nile Kinnick at quarterback, Ed McLain at fullback and Jack Eicherly and Bill Gallagher at the halves.

With the strength of the Iowa passing attack increasing with each game, it is probable that Iowa will depend a great deal on aerials in Saturday's game. The blocking of the Iowa team last Saturday was especially commendable on the pass plays.

The freshman team based most of their offensive maneuvers on power plays, the Minnesota type of offense.

After his fine showing in the game against the Boilermakers it is likely that Frank Balazs will see plenty of action in the Gopher tussle. Balazs played an outstanding game, both on offense and on defense against the Purdue eleven, breaking through the center of the line once for a 26-yard gain, the longest of the contest.

Pioneers Undismayed

GRINNELL, Ia., (AP)—Undiscouraged by the 45 to 7 whipping administered to them Friday by Drake, the Grinnell Pioneers went through a stiff scrimmage with the freshman squad in preparation for the game with Carleton this weekend.

Lower A Team Wins To Enter Quad Playoff

A drop-kick from the toe of Karl Ryerson gave Lower A a 9 to 6 last half win over Lower D, and the championship of the bracket for the second consecutive year.

The contest, a playoff as each team had finished the regular schedule with the same percentage, saw hard driving line plays used consistently. The strong wind which prevailed during most of the game made it difficult to complete passes.

The losers scored first, Lane rounding end on a 20 yard jaunt to the end zone midway in the first half. The attempt at conversion failed.

Grosser Scores

A tied up the game soon after this, Boysen throwing Grosser a 40 yard pass into the end zone. Again the attempt at conversion failed, the teams leaving the field at half with the score 6-6.

A strong wind held down the passing more than ever in the second half and strong defensive play marked the game, each team waiting for a break. With about half of the period gone, the A squad drove to the 25 yard line of their foe, at which point Ryerson dropped back and booted the winning goal.

Qualify for Finals

Strong individual play marked the work of each side. For the winners, Boysen, Grosser, Ryerson and Francis played excellent ball. The D team featured Miletich, Cowan and Lane.

This win of A's permits them to meet Upper A in the inter-bracket game for the championship of the Quad, to be held on Friday. These two teams also met in the 1936 championship game.

Hawkeye Fans To Stage "Loyalty" Rally This Afternoon

Pep Meeting in Iowa Stadium To Show Local Faith in Team

Demonstration Receives Support of Walker And Gilmore

All Hawkeye fans — including university students and Iowa City grid enthusiasts — will stage a spontaneous "Loyalty" pep rally this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Iowa stadium as a demonstration of Iowa City's faith in the team.

The rally was proposed at a meeting of the Monday Quarterback club at a luncheon yesterday by Nyle W. Jones, and has been enthusiastically supported by Mayor Myron J. Walker and President Eugene A. Gilmore.

Mayor Walker enthusiastically approved the project, saying "We have confidence in our team—its ability and its coaches, and we are happy to have the opportunity to show them our wholehearted support. We should turn out in a body to show our spirits at the 'Loyalty' rally."

Members of the football squad, who will be practicing on the field before the rally, will be introduced, and Coach Irl Tubbs, and several other members of the coaching staff will be introduced.

Pi Epsilon Pi is making preparations for the event, the first of its kind at the University of Iowa.

"We have to show the team that we have confidence in them—despite setbacks we still have confidence. The football players are out on the field every day working hard, so today let's all of us get out there and really show them we're back of them," Hyman Andich, A3 of Rock Island, Ill., president of Pi Epsilon Pi, said last night.

The university high school band will provide music for Iowa cheers at the rally. Members will meet at Clinton and College streets at four o'clock.

President Gilmore has announced his approval of the rally, "Iowa has a good football team. I believe in it; do you? If so, turn out and give the boys a rousing demonstration. They will appreciate your support and encouragement and will fight harder than ever."

Plan 16 Events For Homecoming

For the 17th consecutive year, Iowa City is decking its streets, showwindows, dormitories and buildings with the traditional Old Gold and black which will mark another Homecoming for the University of Iowa.

A schedule of 16 events has been planned by the committees which will assure alumni, visitors and college students a gala week end.

The celebration will be officially opened at 7:40 p.m. Friday with the mass celebration following the enthusiastic parade on the west approach to Old Capitol. The band will play, and the crowd will be led in yells by the cheerleaders. Prof. Harry G. Barnes of the speech department, general chairman of the Homecoming committee, and two or three other faculty members not yet selected will give short pep talks.

After the mass meeting Iowa Union will be the scene of the Triangle Club reception and program for men at 8:30 p.m. At the same time the University club will have its reception and program for women. The theme of the two events will be "Do you remember when..."

Emil Velazco will furnish the music for dancing at the Homecoming party at 9 p.m. in Iowa Union.

Corn Monument Nears Completion

The Homecoming corn monument which is being constructed by students of the college of engineering is nearing completion and will probably be erected early this week, Prof. Thomas G. Caywood of the mechanical engineering department announced yesterday.

The monument, an annual project of the engineers, will be approximately 20 feet high and 14 feet wide and will be covered entirely with Iowa corn, amounting to about 50 bushels. It will be a natural corn color with the names of Iowa and Minnesota painted on in black and red respectively.

A large searchlight will be placed on top of the monument and one on each side to serve as floodlights. The monument will be lighted each night after it is placed on its base and two guards will be on duty nightly to see that it is not destroyed before the appointed time.

The construction, paid for out of Homecoming funds, will be placed in its usual location—the corner of Iowa avenue and Clinton street.

The sale of traditional Homecoming badges for 1937 will start officially this morning at 7 o'clock, but there are a few who were "pinned" early. President Eugene A. Gilmore, above, who was the first to buy the badge this year said, "It's a good idea and I am buying one. Everybody should do the same." Muriel King, A4 of Hancock, Alpha Xi Delta captain, is selling him the badge. Mayor Myron J. Walker, declared when he bought his badge, "Homecoming is always a time of pleasure for those of us in Iowa City, and we are anxious to make everybody feel they are really home. We hope every visitor will get into the spirit of the season and feel at all times that Iowa City is his second home, and that each visit will recall the pleasant days spent on the campus. For this reason the official Homecoming badge is the sign that you belong. It is hoped that whether you call Iowa City your home or your second home, that you will proudly wear the official Homecoming badge." Mayor Walker bought his badge from Jane Myers, A3 of Marshalltown, Chi Omega. Iowa's "first lady"—the first to buy a badge at least—is Prof. Clara M. Daley of the history department. As she bought hers, she said, "Everybody should appreciate the fact that Homecoming has been financed for several years through the efforts of these girls who have sold the Homecoming badges." Margaret Hallgren, C3 of Cedar Rapids, Delta Gamma, is the seller.

A man was recently convicted in England of selling cigarettes which contained coal, paper, tin-foil, lead, bristles, wood and sealing wax.

Homecoming Finance Project To Cover City and Campus

The Homecoming badge sale will open this morning at 7 o'clock when members of the three sororities, Delta Gamma, Chi Omega and Alpha Xi Delta, take their posts on every street corner of Iowa City and every section of the campus.

"A badge for every student and for every member of every family in Iowa City" is the slogan for the five-day sale which ends Saturday, Dean Rudolph A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy announces as the sale opens.

Dean Kuever added that the committee wants to emphasize that, "the wearing of the Homecoming badge gives everyone an opportunity to contribute to the welcoming of the guests of the university and of the city. It also gives everyone a chance to have a part in the biggest celebration that is held here during the year," he said.

The Homecoming badge shows the picture of Coach Irl Tubbs and the traditional words, "Iowa Homecoming, Nov. 6, 1937." The winning design was contributed by James J. Long, of Fairfield, an art major last year, who is now working in Chicago.

The sale of the Homecoming badges has been the means for 14 years, of covering the expenses of all activities connected with Homecoming, including the smokers, the building of the corn monument, decorations of the university buildings, stunts, lighting equipment and entertainment.

The badges cost only 10 cents each but the proceeds from the sale are also used to help send the band to out of town games, and last year a substantial amount was contributed to the new band uniforms.

Mayor Myron J. Walker has given his approval of the sale of the Homecoming badges. Mayor Walker said, "The official Homecoming badge is the sign that you belong. It is hoped that whether you call Iowa City your home or your second home, you will proudly wear the official Homecoming badge."

Three 'Keys' Open a Safe Locksmith and Crime Sport Same Method For Different Uses

"When we close the steel doors of our safe deposit vaults, only two kinds of men can open them without the combination," any bank president will tell you.

Any policeman can name the first kind—the criminal safe-cracker. The second and most essential kind is the legitimate safe-cracker or locksmith.

Every once in a while the vaultier will lose or forget the vault's combination—and when they do, the services of a locksmith must be obtained immediately.

The locksmith—a legitimate safe-cracker—must open the lock which he has never before examined at once.

One Iowa City's legitimate safe-openers is William L. Novotny, a locksmith at 214 S. Clinton street. He was once called to a bank to open two safe deposit vaults.

"I took my drills," he related, "in case it will be necessary to drill it open, but when I examined it, I found it had been used enough to pick it."

"The job was finished in about one-half hour," Novotny said. "We can't pick a new lock because the corners of the tumblers would still be sharp. After it has been used, the corners get well worn," he explained.

"The longest time I ever spent picking a lock was about two and one-half hours," Novotny said, "and the shortest was almost instantly."

"That was the time two university students could not open their door with the usual key, and came to me for aid," he said. "We went to the room, inserted the key, in the lock, and it opened."

"The explanation? I don't know," Novotny said. "Just one of those things."

Novotny usually repairs locks and makes keys in addition to repairing motorcycles and bicycles. "The bank vaults seldom refuse to open," he said.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK By R. J. Scott

52nd STREET with more than 20 stars headed by IAN HUNTER, LEO CARRILLO, ELLA LOGAN, PAT PATERSON, SID SILVERS, ZASU PITTS and KENNY BAKER

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: The story of the aristocratic Rondell family is the story of 52nd Street on which they live. When Rufus married show girl Evelyn Macey, his horrified sisters cut off all relations with him. He and his wife lived across the street from them, raised a baby and when Evelyn died, she made him promise to make Margaret a lady. Meanwhile, Evelyn's old friends, Sid and Jack, have progressed in the cabaret business. As prohibition advances they become rich operating 52nd Street's most prominent speakeasy, with Ben Zamarelli, young pianist as their principal attraction. Ben's lovable old father, Fiorello, objects to his son's employment, gets drunk, as Ben leads him home, Fiorello stops before Rufus' home to sing to the accompaniment of Margaret's piano playing, precipitating a riot. Margaret, now a young lady, is attracted to Ben. Fiorello is saved from the police by Rufus, who knows him as a great chef.

Chapter Three

Inside the house, Rufus bandaged Fiorello's wounds while the latter smacked his lips over a rare vintage from the famed Rondell cellar. "Tell me about your son," Rufus said. "Didn't you say once that he was going to be a great musician?" "Bah! A easy speaker, that's what he is. He makes me sick in the head. You know, Mr. Rufus, if I have the money I put those Jacks and Sids out of business, then my wife's gotta be a musician. I make him out of it."

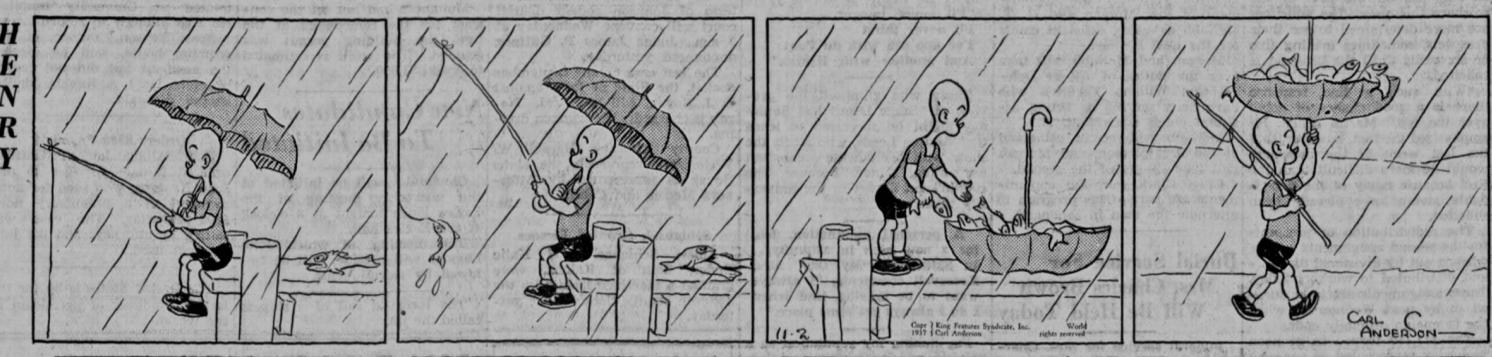

Fiorello's indignation amused Rondell. Then he became reflective. "You cooking, my wine," he mused. "Fiorello!" he called. "Suppose we call that a bargain, Zamarelli and Rondell. What do you say?" "What do I say," shouted the amazed Fiorello. "I'm so happy, I got beats in the belly. Zamarelli and Rondell, such a PRETTY name!"

But if Fiorello and Rufus had hoped to put the others out of business, they had not counted on entertainment hungry New York. 52nd Street was an established trend, it was the alley of flourishing amusements.

"All around the town the good word was spread. If you liked supper food, good wines and fun, 52nd Street was the place. There was more business than any of them could take care of. And, as fast as the started residents discovered what had happened to their prized street and moved out, their premises were snatched up at unheard of prices by new restaurateurs who wanted to cash in on the harvest.

As a matter of fact, the impulse that drove Rondell into this new business was his salvation. Stocks and financial investments dwindled to the vanishing point, as the cafe business soared. He had money again, which he used to continue the education of his daughter, with which he could keep her fluttering through European capitals. But his associates and friends were sworn to silence as to the source of his wealth.

Fiorello became the patron spirit of their place. The patrons loved to chortle at the highly flavored character of his speech. His waiters and

Chest Collection Totals $11,399 From 1,659 Fund Subscribers

Hospital Group Heads Lists So Far in City Campaign

Late last night $11,399.41 in contributions had been audited for the first week of Iowa City's two weeks' community chest campaign for $19,890, according to Attorney Thomas E. Martin, campaign director. Most of the increase over the $11,140 total announced at the time of the luncheon meeting of solicitors and directors yesterday at the Jefferson hotel came from contributions in the hospital division, Attorney Martin said.

At the luncheon meeting yesterday it was announced that the individual subscribers during the first week of the campaign numbered 1,659, which Attorney Martin termed, "The best news yet." This number does not include the scattered returns which are still out, he added. At noon yesterday all but 23 of the 228 solicitors in the city-wide drive had turned in complete reports on their first assignments.

Attorney Martin, complimenting solicitors on their work during the first week of the drive, said "There has been an unprecedented response on the part of the workers this year. The solicitors are more determined to see their prospects, sometimes making five or six visits until the prospect is solicited."

"With such a fine response there is a good chance of going over the top," Martin added. He emphasized the fact, however, that the last week of the campaign would be more difficult than the first because many of the dependable givers have already been solicited.

The redistribution of prospects for the second assignments will be worked out by divisional directors and distributed to workers today. These assignments are to be turned in by next Wednesday, when the campaign officially ends.

The $11,140 turned in at noon yesterday represented 56 per cent of the goal set by campaign leaders. At yesterday's meeting Attorney Martin gave the eight divisions and the percentage of each quota raised as follows:

Employees	$1,211	48.44%
National firms	1,299	62.87%
Professional	633	39.66%
Public schools	369	73.80%
Hospitals	1,597.67	79.88%
University	3,676.84	78.75%
Residential	721.40	53.44%
Business	1,632.50	26.04%

The University hospital group is heading the divisions, having reached 79.88 per cent of their quota. Rapid returns from the business group are expected today, materially raising the percentage of the quota for the entire campaign.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

Awake
My wakefulness last night was due to dear, insistent thoughts of you; Though I'll concede it might have been the lobster Newburg or the gin. —M. F.

I do hope the Duke of Windsor won't be alarmed when President Roosevelt gives a fireside chat on the "state of the unemployed" three days after he lands...
The duke is unique, however... He can afford a press agent to tell the nation about his idleness... If he filled out a card listing his last job, he'd find it pretty hard to get a king job; although the dictator market is actually going up.

In passing, I think one of the cleverest lines in the new "I'd Rather Be Right" is the ditty: "I'll never hanger, I'll never thirst, I've one son with du Pont, And another with Hearst."

Those who glimpsed the preview of "Stage Door" last Saturday might be surprised to learn that Andrea Leeds, who steals the show with her suicide scene, left her alma mater because she couldn't get a part in the university theater.

A personal nomination, too, for a new high in astininity... In Saturday's "My Day" Mrs. Roosevelt comments, "I always want to be moving, and when I do I always get some place."

I'm staking my reputation as a prophet on La Guardia's reelection as New York's mayor today...

I see by the papers, incidentally, that they're using the same arguments that worked so unsuccessfully against Franklin Roosevelt in the last campaign... They're saying that since the communists are supporting La Guardia, every voter who opposes communism must oppose the present mayor.

It seems to me the politicians who put out such inadequate statements should realize the arguments that worked in the 1890's aren't still good...

I can't remember whom but someone has suggested that our next president may well be a radio announcer... The chaps with the poor personalities didn't do so well in the last three elections...

A scout who heard him reports, incidentally, that Hugh Johnson, while correcting Alf Landon's mis-mouthing, himself called radio—Kaaadio...

Luck
My personal nomination for the month's poorest taste goes to a certain sorority which had good luck this rush week and which, via the campus "humor" rag, has proceeded to rib mercilessly one or two other sororities not so lucky...

Doctors to Attend Meet

Schlabach Granted License
Albert Schlabach and Katie Yoder, both of Kalona, were granted a marriage license by the Johnson county clerk's office yesterday.

To discuss the federal grant for the new high school building the education group of the American Association of University Women and the public welfare department of the Iowa City Woman's club will meet tonight. The forum at 8 o'clock in the council chambers at city hall will be open to the public.

Natural Gas Explosions!

No. 6 of a Series

Recital of the loss of life and the damage to property by explosions of natural gas would take more space than is available here.

You have only to recall the New London school disaster last winter to remember the horror that swept the country when news of the hundreds of deaths and broken bodies of children came in over the wires.

This paper has printed many stories of lesser tragedies. You know, beyond any argument, that natural gas is highly explosive and dangerous.

Why expose your family?

If there is no danger, then the natural gas salesman will have no objection to this question:

"Will you give me written insurance signed by an officer of our company, covering loss of life and damage to property as a result of natural gas in my home?"

Ask him to do that.
