Russian Delegate Quits Brussels Peace Meeting; May Help Negotiations

Regard Abrupt Withdrawal As Soviet Protest

Peace Group Awaits Japan's Answer To Invitation

BRUSSELS, Nov. 9 (AP) — Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff of Russia created a sensation in the Brussels conference on the far eastern war tonight by unexpectedly announcing his immediate departure for Moscow.

The abrupt manner of the Russian delegates leaving was regarded as a protest against movement he believed was under way to eliminate Russia from conference activities, particularly from conference committees.

There were unofficial reports Litvinoff had received suggestions from conference delegates that his withdrawal might create an atmosphere more helpful to negotiations with Japan—which has indicated displeasure that Russia was invited to the discussions.

As yet there was no indication Japan's reply to a second invitation to participate in conference proceedings would be received in time for tomorrow's session. Today's meeting was postponed in the hope some sort of Japanese answer might be forthcoming.

The United States was understood to be prepared to insist upon including the Netherlands on the conciliation committee if it should decide to name Belgium, England, the United States, Italy and France.

The American delegates were said to fear that the committee would otherwise look like a revival of the former allied groupings of the World War.

Litvinoff was reported to resent what he regarded as a plan to name Italy on the proposed conciliation committee and ignore Russia.

With Litvinoff gone, Vladimir Potemkin, Russian ambassador to France, was left to represent the Soviet.

Appearance Of Tax On Capital Gains Relaxing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Definite signs that the capital gains tax may be relaxed appeared today at a meeting of a house tax subcommittee.

Members and treasury experts were described as in tentative agreement on a principal, if not a method, of permitting a loss carryover for one or two years.

Business and financial circles have assailed the capital gains levy on grounds it discourages transactions in the securities market and impedes the flow of capital into productive enterprise. The tax is imposed on profits made on capital assets, including securities and real estate.

A loss carryover, committee said, probably would decrease returns from the levy. The treasury has been asked to determine how it would affect the yield.

If approved on a two year basis, one tax expert said it would work something like this:

A person who loses $10,000 on capital investments this year would be allowed to use it to offset any capital gains realized in 1938 or 1939. If the gains in the two years totaled $10,000 there would be no capital gains subject to tax.

Mrs. J. Templeman, City Resident, Dies

Mrs. J. M. Templeman, 87, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Green, at 11:45 p.m. yesterday. Mrs. Green resides at 641 S. Governor street.

Mrs. Templeman is survived by her daughter and four sons.

The body is at the Hohenschuh mortuary. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Praise Turned To Derision

MacDonald Rejected Labor Party, Flinched
At Its Rejuvenation Afterwards

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP) — Few men in modern British history ever had such a hold on the masses of that country as the late James Ramsay MacDonald — but he lived to hear the adulation of most of his followers turn to scorn and derision.

Shouts of "good old Ramsay Mac" were dead echoes and cries of "traitor" made the four old Scot visibly flinch as the labor party he once led to victory gradually began its rejuvenation against his opposition.

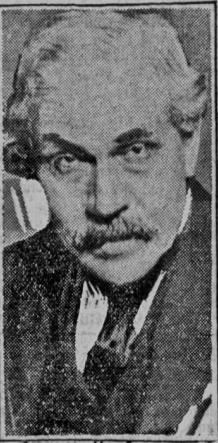

A tragic sidelight to his passing on board a cruise ship to South America is a little known fact that he had dreamed and talked plans for the same sea trip ever since retiring as prime minister for the last time on June 7, 1935. But he had remained on for more

Heart Attack Blamed; Health Poor After 1936 Collapse

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP) — J. Ramsay MacDonald, who rose through labor's ranks from Scottish poverty to become thrice prime minister of Great Britain, died suddenly tonight aboard a cruise ship bound for South America.

RAMSAY MACDONALD

Dr. Alastair MacKinnon, MacDonald's son-in-law, received news by radio of the death of Britain's first labor prime minister.

The man who was born the son of a Scots farmer and spurned an earldom only this year died aboard the steamer Reina del Pacifico at 8:45 p.m., apparently of a heart attack.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain received news of his death shortly after addressing the lord mayor's banquet in the Guildhall, the occasion at which only a year ago MacDonald suffered a sudden collapse.

The body will be taken off the ship at Bermuda, where it is due Nov. 15, and returned to England.

The 71-year-old former prime minister, with his daughter Sheila, sailed last Thursday for South America in search of what he called "the most elusive of all forms of happiness—rest."

He had planned to visit Peru and Chile and "to return when I have had enough of it."

The day after he departed, his successor, Stanley Baldwin, now Earl Baldwin and also retired, paid tribute to MacDonald in a public address, saying "I never feel that Mr. MacDonald has had credit given him by the country due for services he rendered it in 1931 and in the years immediately succeeding."

Closer Contact Policy Predicted By F.R.'s Aides

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt is moving toward a policy of closer contacts with congressional leaders in shaping legislation if some of his aides read the signs aright. They point to his session today with legislators and treasury officials on financing procedure for new farm legislation.

Some presidential advisers are known to be hopeful that Mr. Roosevelt will, throughout the special session, keep in intimate personal touch with congressional leaders and committee members framing the bills for which he will ask when the session opens next week. They favor that course, rather than employment of go-betweens, as a means of healing party wounds left by the fight over the court bill last session.

The president has taken a recent step which is expected to leave his time more available for frequent conferences with legislators. Assignment of his secretary, James Roosevelt, to act as clearing center between the president and heads of the numerous executive agencies not included in the cabinet set — up was primarily intended to effect a saving in presidential time, white house aides insist.

A change of such nature in recent presidential technique in dealing with congress would seem to preclude any return to the surprise strategy Mr. Roosevelt employed when he sent in his message on reorganization of the judiciary last February. It would mean that party key men in congress would have advance knowledge of any proposals the white house contemplated. They could advise Mr. Roosevelt about the shaping and timing of executive recommendations and this would meet complaints of non-consultation frequently voiced last session.

California Offers 19-Foot Corn Stalks As Just Average

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9 (AP) — A challenge was extended to the Midwest corn belt today by the chamber of commerce here after a Turlock rancher brought in four 19-foot corn stalks.

As J. A. Morden arranged his stalks on display at the chamber headquarters, he opined that Iowa may have the reputation, but California is really the state "where the tall corn grows." He added that his exhibit included only "average" stalks and that he had some more on his ranch which measured more than 22 feet.

C.I.O. Union Causes Dispute

Says Perkins' Labor Policy 'Out of Line'
With Wagner Labor Disputes Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Labor trouble has broken out in the labor department.

The dispute began when Secretary Perkins refused to change the department's system of settling employee grievances at the demand of the United Federal Workers of America, a C.I.O. union.

Now officials of that union accuse Miss Perkins of promoting a "company union" and say her labor policy is out of line with the Wagner Labor disputes act.

Miss Perkins' aides reply that the department's system of handling grievances is the most practical one that has been found. As to collective bargaining, they point to President Roosevelt's statement on that subject:

"All government employees should realize that the process of collective bargaining, as usually understood, cannot be transplanted into the public service."

If Miss Perkins granted the union's demand that union officials be consulted before a union member was discharged, her aides said, she would be breaking the law. The supreme court has ruled, they said, that a department head can not delegate authority to hire and fire employees.

The whole situation is complicated, too, by the presence of two other unions. Both the American Federation of Government Employees (A.F. of L.) and the National Federation of Federal Employees (independent) have members in the department. These unions recently endorsed Miss Perkins' grievance system.

Tanks, Machine Guns in Use By Jap Aggressors

Two Mines Explode As Prelude to Attack; Shake Houses

SHANGHAI, Nov. 10 (Wednesday) (AP) — Japanese shock troops, supported by tanks and batteries of machine guns opened a spirited attack all along Zahwei creek this morning in an attempt to drive the last remaining Chinese forces from Shanghai.

Entrenched behind sandbagged barricades in the Nantao native district bordering the French Concession, the Chinese, estimated at about 6,000 men were resolved to resist until death.

As the Japanese went into action against the Chinese who appeared trapped inside a bayonet-pointed crescent thousands of foreign and Chinese civilians crowded the streets of the French Concession for a view of the battle.

Sharp bursts of hand grenades and machine guns clearly traced the line of fighting along Zahwei creek toward the Whangpoo river.

A prelude to the Japanese assault came earlier when two land mines exploded in the Nantao area and were followed by the noisy chatter of machine guns and rifles. The thunderous explosion of the mines shook houses in the French Concession over a wide area.

While the vanguard of Japanese troops moved into battle, Japanese war planes roared overhead bombing clusters of stubborn Chinese defenders wherever they could be stopped.

The Japanese also reported capture of the important city of Sungkiang, 20 miles south of Shanghai on the Shanghai-Hangchow railroad, during the night.

It appeared certain the last remnants of Chinese defenders in Shanghai must be annihilated if they made a last stand.

Husband Finds Wife in Friend's Arms, Kills Both

GLENDALE, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP)—Paul A. Wright, 38-year-old aviation executive, shot dead his young wife and one of his close friends, John Bryant Kimmel, early today when, he told authorities, he found them in each other's arms in the Wright home.

Wright related to Police Chief V. B. Browne that he discovered his comely 28-year-old wife embracing Kimmel, also a married man, when he arose from a nap.

Earlier Wright and Kimmel returned from a round of night clubbing in Hollywood. Wright said he had brought Kimmel home with him to "alibi" his (Wright's) coming in so late. They started the night at a stag party involving initiation of a new member into the "quiet birdmen's club" and later went elsewhere including Clara Bow's "it" club.

Wright said he and Kimmel arrived home shortly after midnight and had some more drinks.

Police said they found on top of a piano a whiskey highball and two empty glasses.

"My wife had a jealous attitude toward me," Wright told police. "I sometimes had my friends vouch for my whereabouts when I was away from home for any length of time. So I asked Kimmel to drive me home last night—to explain to my wife where we had been.

"She was waiting up for me when we got home. I had another drink and then decided to take a nap."

"I don't know how long I slept, but when I got up and started back to the living room, I heard Evelyn's voice. Then I saw them on the piano bench, their arms around each other.

"Everything went white before my eyes — like a sheet of white fire. I ran and got my gun and came back and shot them."

Secor To Stop Cabin Building

Tavern Owner Agrees To Await Outcome Of Hearing

Harvey Secor and his university and city opponents yesterday reached an agreement to halt construction of tourist cabins on Secor's tavern grounds at the edge of Iowa City until the appeal of the case, brought by the university and property owners in the tavern neighborhood, is heard Nov. 22.

The counsel for both factions met in Judge James P. Gaffney's offices in district court yesterday afternoon and the agreement was made then. A scheduled hearing for the restraining order and injunction to prevent the tavern owner from building the cabins was the reason the two counsels met.

The board of adjustment set aside a restrictive zoning ordinance to grant Secor permission to erect the much-discussed cabins and the university and property owners have questioned the legality of such a move.

Magda De Fontanges Asks for Chance To Tell All About 'Romantic Interlude'

By ROBERT D. GREENE

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP) — Barred from this country on grounds of "moral turpitude," Magda de Fontanges appealed from Ellis Island tonight for an opportunity to tell Washington authorities all about the romantic interlude she said she had with Premier Benito Mussolini.

The svelte, red-haired French journalist, who came here to appear in a Broadway night club at $50 a week, was ordered excluded after a private hearing before a special board of inquiry headed by Immigration Commissioner Rudolf Reimer.

The board announced it had decided against permitting Mme. de Fontanges to enter the country "because of an admission of crime involving moral turpitude, to-wit: Assault with a dangerous weapon."

She was convicted in Paris last summer of shooting Count Charles Pineton de Chambrun, former French ambassador to Italy. At the time she testified he had broken up her "unforgettable hours of love with Mussolini."

The Italian dictator's name was not mentioned at today's hearing, she said, adding:

"They asked me why I shot de Chambrun and I told them it was because he mixed into my private life."

She was not asked for further details, she said, and she would like to lay all the facts of the "regrettable episode" before the board of review at Washington.

Pending action by Washington authorities on her appeal, Commissioner Reimer said she would remain at Ellis Island with some 220 other immigrants whose entry permits have been found defective for one reason or another.

"She will not be kept with any shawl-headed immigrants breathing of garlic," he added, "because we don't have that type of immigrants any more."

The vivacious 30-year-old writer, who speaks no English, seemed unperturbed when she was taken to the immigration station in upper New York harbor.

Through an interpreter she said it was "the greatest surprise of my life" when her right to enter the country was challenged. She added that she hoped she would not be returned to France because the ocean trip had made her "so very sick."

The case recalled the difficulties experienced by Vera, former Countess of Cathcart, when she attempted to enter the country eleven years ago and was barred on grounds of "moral turpitude," as a result of a divorce proceeding in England. She finally obtained a habeas corpus writ and was permitted to enter.

Governor Kraschel Refuses Proposal Of Iowa Prisoners

DES MOINES, Nov. 9 (AP) — Governor Nelson G. Kraschel tonight frowned on a petition of Iowa's state penitentiary inmates for 10-day Christmas paroles.

An editorial in the Presidio, prison magazine, asked that such paroles be granted to inmates of all five of the state's penal institutions.

The writer of the editorial stated that Christmas gifts and visits bring "a touch of deep sadness" to the prisoner.

"They bring back old memories," the editorial continued, "thoughts of days gone by, which only add to the unpleasantness of the present unfortunate surroundings."

Aid for Utility Fixing Proper Valuation—F.R.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — President Roosevelt said today private utilities could expect government assistance if they would fix a proper valuation of their properties as determined by the old common law and capitalization on that basis.

Describing at a press conference a talk on power problems he had earlier in the day with federal and private officials, the president said it was hard to get utility men to even discuss valuations.

Going back to a discussion he had with news men three years ago in which he talked about private utilities and government attempts to bring down electric rates, the president said the same situation held true today.

He said with a proper valuation private utilities could expect federal benefits which in effect would amount to a monopoly. But in territories where they received a monopoly, the president said municipalities, under the constitution, had the right to go into distribution business and private utilities ought to sell power to them at a fair charge.

Plan for Largest Radium Bomb Yet Made for Cancer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — The National Advisory Cancer council outlined tentative arrangements today for making the largest radium bomb in the world for research into the cause and cure of cancer.

(Medical men explained that a radium bomb is a large mass of radium, surrounded by lead, which is used to bombard a cancer.)

The new radium bomb, if built, will be more than twice the size of any previously used in cancer treatment, members of the council said. It will contain about 16 grams of the precious radioactive metal costing about $250,000 at present market prices.

Our Readers' VIEWPOINT

Letters must be signed and should not exceed 250 words. Opinions expressed by our readers do not necessarily reflect our views.

Editor, The Daily Iowan: As a fraternity man of long experience at the University of Iowa, I feel that the time has come to call attention to a situation now existing that has long caused trouble, and seems destined to cause more as long as it exists.

I am a member of a social fraternity that is not associated with Pan-Hellenic, Ltd., and have many friends in the Pan-Hellenic council, as well as in the non-Pan-Hellenic fraternities. I have no dispute with any particular fraternity nor with the individual members of Pan-Hellenic, Ltd.

However, there appeared last week in the Des Moines Register a letter defending the student morals on this campus. The letter was signed "Pan-Hellenic Council, Ltd." By what token does this group consider itself the representative of the fraternities at the University? Or does it believe that it includes the only fraternities worthy of consideration? I feel bound, out of my regard for the fraternity system, to protest against this attitude.

After all, what are the criteria of a good fraternity? Are they size, wealth, beauty and extravagance of house, the number of cars parked outside, or the members themselves? Clearly enough, it is the caliber of the men that counts, and this is the one factor that varies least from one house to the next.

There are 19 social fraternities on the campus, all members of the Iowa Men's Interfraternity association. Pan-Hellenic, Ltd., embraces eight of the 19. This group within a group has long been the stumbling block to concerted fraternity action, whether campus-wide or state-wide.

Is there any reason why eight fraternities should be considered on a plane above the rest; given a distinguished place in the Hawkeye; permitted to hold a closed party at the Union; and allowed to act as self-appointed spokesmen for the entire group? Truly other houses could band together in similar self-centered groups; this is the answer which the Pan-Hellenic group has always made to criticism, but the groups outside of the Pan-Hellenic organization feel that what is needed is not a number of conflicting bands, but one concerted organization, and well advised body. They do not care to accept the responsibility of dividing Iowa fraternities into two separate and conflicting groups.

A cooperative body exists in the Iowa Men's Interfraternity association, and I believe that this organization should be the source of all fraternity proclamations, and the directing agency for all organized fraternity activity.

What has Pan-Hel accomplished in the years of its existence? Has it any way bettered fraternities as a whole, or even the members of the "inner circle"? What justification is there for the continuance of a system that leads continually to dispute and conflict — of an organization that stands in the way of real unified action of all fraternities? The reason that the Pan-Hellenic group clings to its organization is very clear. It makes a good ruse talk. Freshmen are not aware that the very existence of this so-called "inner circle" is the antithesis of fraternity unity. They know only what they are told. My question is this: What have the other members of the Interfraternity council done, where have they so failed, that they must be hushed up and forced to submit to this perpetual indignity? Why does Pan-Hel deserve the continued apparent administrative support, supplied by closed parties at our Union, and a page in the year book?

Frankly, I do not know the answer to this problem, but some solution must be found before any sound and permanent progress can be made. I only hope that this letter may provide the start toward a speedy and satisfactory revision of the present unwholesome situation.

Pilots Required To Pass Rigid Examinations Before Flying

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

I know a man who was a good enough aviator during the war to be appointed an instructor, who refuses to fly a plane today even for short distances under the best of weather conditions. His attitude gets support from such an experienced flight surgeon as Dr. Isaac Jones in his interesting book, "Flying Vistas," just published. "The veteran transport pilot of 1937," writes Dr. Jones, "with his plane loaded with passengers and mail and express, steers a course that would have been confusing to any pilot of the war era. Any war aviator who has not progressed with his flying, cannot pilot the modern commercial transport plane."

For this responsible work, the candidate for pilot must pass a rigid examination as to his physical fitness, particularly as regards his eyes and ears. One experienced pilot said, "The engine quit on me at 10,000 feet. I saw below me a nice green field. But I want you to take to know that it takes a long time to come down 10,000 feet, and by the time I got near it, the green field had grown up into a forest."

The aviator, you can see, has to develop all sorts of visual accomplishments that are unknown to people in the ordinary walks of life. He gets a depth perception test. Facing a box about 200 feet away, he holds two strings which move a rod back and forth inside the box. There is also a stationary rod in the box, and the test consists in pulling the movable rod back or forth until it is exactly opposite the stationary one. It is hard to do, but practice helps.

What we ought to do is to develop eyes that will penetrate fog, and see the mountains behind it, as the infra red rays do.

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

Bess Johnson, noted dramatic star of "Hilltop House" which will be broadcast over CBS-WABC network this afternoon at 4:45, has had one of radio's busiest careers. Since her debut in 1929, Bess has appeared on more than 40 programs—and she has kept a novel souvenir of each, in what she calls her "Trophy Room."

Walls of this trophy room are not studded with heads of big game nor with cups or tennis tournament statuettes but with furniture and bric-a-brac bought with the first week's salary of each radio role she has played. The bottom of each "Trophy" is tagged with the name of the air show whose salary made its purchase possible — and her first week's check for enacting the lead in "Hilltop House" has been paid out for a piano.

Tonight's Cavalcade of America program will tell the story of John Bartram, 18th century Philadelphia Quaker who was America's first scientific botanist. His classifications of American plants and his chemical researches with plant substances form the basis for much of today's botanical science. The program will be heard over CBS-WABC network at 7 o'clock.

Walter O'Keefe is not in the least dismayed over the fact that he will soon be supplanted by Fred Allen on "Town Hall Tonight." He points out that he's dickering for the gum-checking concession on the scenery "flat" backstage, where all the performers park their chicle before going on stage. "It's the opportunity of a lifetime," sezee.

O'Keefe will appear on the Town Hall program tonight at 8 over NBC-WEAF network. Fred Allen will return to the air next Wednesday to resume his starring role on the program.

Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Tish," presented by the WPA Federal Theater Radio Division, is now being broadcast over the complete CBS network on Wednesdays, from 8:30 to 9 p.m., instead of its former time on Thursday evening. Tonight's Tish story is "Mind Over Motor."

The radio rights to Tish stories have been donated to the Federal Theater by Mary Roberts Rinehart for the 13 weeks series. Letitia (Tish) Carberry made her first appearance in a national magazine Aug. 20, 1910, and her latest appearance last week. From 1910 to the present, Tish has been the heroine of more than 25 stories written by Mrs. Rinehart.

Priestley, English novelist and critic, will deliver a university lecture in the main lounge of Iowa Union Wednesday, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the senate board on university lectures. Admission to the lecture will be by ticket. Tickets will be available to faculty and students on Monday and Tuesday at the Iowa Union desk. Any tickets which remain on Wednesday will be available to the general public. BENJ. F. SHAMBAUGH, Chairman senate board on university lectures.

Home Ec Party: There will be a home economics party Wednesday from 7:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. in the club rooms. Everyone is cordially invited to be present. PRESIDENT. Jewels: Then she explained: "I keep my jewels and their imitations in identical boxes. This afternoon I thought I was taking the imitations down to a friend who wanted to borrow them, but suddenly I had a premonition that these were the real ones, and now I can't tell until I have my jeweler look at them. He's going to let me know after the theater."

"No, I couldn't. As a matter of fact, it was my friend who first thought that I had made the mistake. I wanted her to wear the jewels anyway but she refused. It was too late to go by my jeweler then, and I telephoned him and made arrangements to see him after the theater."

Next day I hurriedly scanned the headlines to see if some snatch — thief had relieved the pretty of her jewels. But evidently she got them safely home. Can you imagine taking a fortune to the theater and not knowing whether it's a phoney or real!

Camera Finds: Into the automobile show I ran into further activities of the camera fiends. They were mostly tourists, armed with diminutive motion picture cameras, who lurked in the aisles waiting to take pictures of the celebrities who sauntered past cars. One young man said enthusiastically: "This is great. When I get home I'm going to give a motion picture show, charging admission, and I'll make enough to spend Xmas in Havana."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS: Hollywood — Christmas is coming, and so are the nifty little schemes of the petty racketeers who prey on the movie colony especially when Hollywood's eyes are blurred by the artificial snow that annually clouds Santa Claus Lane.

There'll be the usual number of phoney perfume salesmen — offering colored water in fancy bottles — at a bargain; the usual furtive deals in shining white fox furs that turn into rabbit skin the first heavy rain.

Many Threats by Mail: This film community has become accustomed to all sorts of badger games and petty rackets; it knows about burglary — the Gary Coopers and Hal Roach, of the jewelry store, can give fresh first-hand information; Mae West is the colony's leading authority on the hold-up (receiving end); but the major fear in these parts, in the crime line, remains the kidnaper.

More than 20 screen celebrities have received threatening letters or phone calls in the past year. In every case police guards have been assigned, and usually — when extortion was attempted through the mails — the federal man has stepped in.

These precautions may explain why there have been no actual kidnappings. In fact, as police statisticians point out in their 1936-37 report, there have been no kidnappings for ransom in the entire Los Angeles community in the period.

The Small-Town Girl Myth: These city statistics, assembled by Mrs. Rhoda Cross, official statistician, would seem to blow down another Hollywood legend — that Hollywood is the mecca of missing small-town girls. The statistics have no department devoted to those lured here by movie glamour, unless these would come under "adventure-seekers." In this category, among 644 juvenile girls, were listed only 14. Among older women rounded up here the big cause for landing in Los Angeles or Hollywood is "mental imbalance" — which might or might not have some connection with the movies.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER: NEW YORK — In the front row at an opening of a play the other night sat an actress who used to be one of New York's best, but who gave up Broadway to become a successful glamor girl of the films.

Clutched tightly to her was a package of some sort, and she held it so carefully that I asked her what in the world it was. "You look nervous," I said. "That must be very valuable."

"I don't know," she said. "This could be a small fortune or it could be nothing."

Then she explained: "I keep my jewels and their imitations in identical boxes. This afternoon I thought I was taking the imitations down to a friend who wanted to borrow them, but suddenly I had a premonition that these were the real ones, and now I can't tell until I have my jeweler look at them. Hawks Polish Passing Attack for Hoosiers

Mentors Seek To Strengthen Aerial Game

Bob Herman Injured In Short Workout; Returns Today

If last night's drill is any indication of things to come, spectators at the Iowa-Indiana game in Iowa stadium Saturday will see plenty of Iowa passes thrown.

In the short workout held last night Coach Irl Tubbs, seeking an aerial attack that will offset the strong ground game of the Hoosiers, alternated two teams in pass offense and pass defense. The squad was at full strength last night with the exception of Charles Brady, guard, who was excused from the drill. Brady injured a hip muscle in the Minnesota game last Saturday but will be ready to go against Indiana, it was announced by Dr. Hayne, medical advisor.

Robert Tarzan Herman was injured in the workout last night and it was feared for a time that he would be out for several weeks but the injury proved to be only a bruise and Dr. Hayne said that he would be in uniform again today.

Seek Defensive Strength

Most of the drills this week will see an effort on the part of the Iowa mentor to build a defense that will stop the running attack of the Hoosiers and at the same time be able to cope with their brilliant aerial attack.

The Indiana team so far this season has completed 48 per cent of their passes, a phenomenal average, and have gained 603 yards through the air. The Hoosiers are not far behind with a record of 31 completions out of 78 attempts for a gain of 378 yards and a 40 per cent average.

Sophomores, who have played a major role in the Hawkeyes' battles so far this year, will be entirely missing from the Hoosier starting lineup Saturday. Five seniors and two juniors are in the forward wall of the Indiana team and their backfield is composed of three seniors and one junior.

No more than five seniors will start for the Iowans and there will be at least three soph in the game when the opening whistle blows.

Hoosier Defense Strong

The Iowa offensive punch, noticeably weak all season, will come in for a lot of attention this week as the coaches attempt to concoct scoring plays that will pierce the strong Hoosier defense.

The average gain from scrimmage for the six teams the Indiana eleven has played so far is 81 yards. Minnesota was limited to 168 when the Gophers defeated them, 6-0, in the second game of the season.

Corby Davis, 200-pound fullback, is the spearhead of the Indiana attack and is the leading scorer on the Hoosier team. Out all last year with an arm infection, Davis has bounced back into the spotlight this year with brilliant performances in every game. Just a few hours before he lined up against the Ohio State Buckeyes last week, he was notified that he is being considered as a serious contender for an All-American berth. He received a merit card from the All-American board headed by Christy Walsh.

Davis has played twice against the Hawkeyes, having an important role in the 6-6 and 0-0 ties played in 1935 and 1936.

Indiana Mentor 'Fears' Hawkeyes

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 9 (AP)—Coach "Bo" McMullin, suffering from an attack of laryngitis, strove today to improve charging and tackling of the Indiana university team in preparation for the game this week with Iowa at Iowa City. "There is a serious possibility we will get beat Saturday," he warned the squad.

Nothing Permanent In Passing Creighton

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Cecil Muellerleile, St. Louis university athletic director and head football coach, said today there was "nothing permanent" in the decision not to renew a football contract with Creighton university.

"We have enjoyed our relations very much with Creighton and perhaps in a few years will renew them again," Muellerleile said. The schools will continue to meet in basketball.

Scribe Lauds 'Forgotten Men'

Mickelson Sings Praises of Men Who Get 'Clipped But No Clippings'

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—More about football's forgotten men—unsung heroes who get clipped but no clippings.

Silent Men... It's hard to believe California could forget any man who makes its football team great, but it's the truth. Claude Evans and Vard Stockton take care of the guard posts for the Bears and are so good no one notices them. "They're way down under where nobody sees them," explains Coach Stub Allison. "They stop the play and everybody else piles on top of them. Nobody sees their numbers; nobody gives them credit."

Evans, a senior and a cousin of Ernie Pinckert of All-America renown, broke five ribs as a sophomore but is back with more ferocity than ever. He has been known to tackle so hard he has knocked himself out. He's 5 feet 11, weighs 178 pounds and is the team's "silent man." Clams are chatterboxes compared to Evans.

Stockton, native of Norfolk, Neb., is shy and reticent in this fraternity house and on the dance floor but a rip-roaring whirlwind on the field. He possesses almost catlike quickness and usually does the opposite of what his opponent expects. He's 5 feet 10, scales 186 pounds, and as strong as two oxen.

Reserved Reserve... Minnesota has been doing a bit too much singing this fall while forgetting one of its greatest dependables—George "Butch" Nash, an orphan lad from North Minneapolis where the kids get plenty of hard knocks early in life. "Butch" hasn't started a game this season and so far, not a yard has been gained through him. Bierman says, if every Gopher played as hard as "Butch" the Gophers might be as good as they thought they were going to be. "Butch" is 5 feet 11 and weighs 175.

Methodical Ed... Vanderbilt coaches unhesitatingly name Ed Merlin, senior guard from Miami, Fla., as the team's unsung hero. Big Ed made all Georgia and all southern prep teams at Riverside but no one pays much attention to him as he stars along Vandy's great line. Says Line Coach Dutch McIntosh: "Merlin rarely misses a block in the line, blocks ends out very well on reverses, and always takes care of his position on defense. He has a knack of putting out super human effort and breaking through line to throw the opposition for loss in a crucial moment." Ed is 5 feet 10, weighs 196.

Hard Luck Joe... Fordham selects Joe Bernard, a near six foot, 190 pound guard who never has won an "F" as its unsung hero. Injuries have stopped Joe, a senior, from getting the coveted letter but Coach Jim Crowley intends to see he gets one for this fall's work. The Brooklyn boy, an honor student, was the one lineman who did most to stop Pitt. Even this year, Joe's injury jinx caught up with him. During pre-season scrimmage he collided with another guard and suffered a gash over his right eye that required six stitches. His teammates call him "Bishop," because he's deeply religious.

Brooklyn Sid... On the Brooklyn college campus, Sid White is a hero but not many fans follow the fortunes of Brooklyn college. Sid unquestionably is one of the finest and most courageous backs in football. In one game this fall he insisted on playing despite a broken hand. The coach let him stay until he scored six touchdowns.

Pittsburgh Panthers Oust California From Top of National Grid Rankings

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Pittsburgh's ponderous Panthers will be protecting a brand new honor when they meet Nebraska Saturday in a major intersectional duel.

For the expected crowd of 70,000 will see, in Pitt, the team that has displaced California as national leader in the latest Associated Press ranking poll. The combination of the unbeaten, once tied Panthers' drubbing of Notre Dame and California's tie with Washington lifted Jock Sutherland's team out in front by 509 1-2 points to 449.

Pitt won 31 1-2 of the 55 first place votes in this week's survey. The half vote came from a ballot on which the first place award was split between Pitt and Fordham, the team which defeated the Rose Bowl champions and, on the strength of its own rout of Purdue, moved from tenth to fourth place in the balloting.

East Rankings High

Between California, which was tops for three weeks, and Fordham is Alabama, which drew 13 firsts to the coast team's nine but did not win as much general support. As a result the southerners skidded out of the runner up position.

Not since Cobb was taking things apart in his hey-day has the game seen anything like it.

With each of the eight voting experts casting a ballot for 10 choices in the order he wanted them selected, Medwick drew two first-place nominations; Hartnett three. Each was selected twice on a second-place ballot. But Medwick collected four third-place mentions, while the rest of Hartnett's votes were

National League Medwick Most Valuable

Hartnett Polls Second in Vote

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—In well-deserved recognition of baseball's classiest clouting sweep since the palmy days of Ty Cobb, the baseball writers' association today selected Ducky Medwick as the most valuable player in the National league for 1937.

Although they "split the ballot" and gave Gaby Hartnett of the Cubs more first-place nominations than the Cardinal clouter, the committee of eight writers—one from each city in the league—more than made up for it in Medwick votes for second and third place, which counted heavily in the final point tabulation.

As a result the No. 1 Gas House gangster won the award, and the accompanying sporting news trophy, by two points, 70 to 68 for Gaby.

Turner, Fette, Rank High

King Carl Hubbell, recipient of the award last year, wound up in third place with 52 points. Surprise of the balloting was the high total cast for the sensational "old man" rookie pitching pair of the Boston Bees, Jim Turner and Lou Fette, who were picked for fourth and fifth, respectively, with 30 and 29 points.

For edwick and the dose of pitchers' poison packed in his war club, the award topped off a year in which he not only achieved his long desired goal, the batting championship, but cleaned up in just about every other important individual offensive department as well. His classic performance precipitated the season's hottest argument as to whether he or Joe DeMaggio of the Yankees is the best all-around outfielder in the game today.

Four Teams Left In University High Cage Tournament

The University high basketball squad held their second practice of the current season yesterday and continued with the second round of their elimination basketball tournament which will be a big factor in determining the first squad.

There are four teams left in the tournament out of the eight that started yesterday. The finals will be played today. The object of the tournament according to Coach William R. Wood is to give all of the large squad of 67 a chance to play and be seen in action by him or one of his two assistants, Jack Sterrett or Don Flester, before he chooses his varsity and sophomore squads.

The squad is one of the largest U high has ever had report for basketball. Coach Wood will select a varsity and sophomore squad sometime this week after the completion of the tournament.

From last year's quintet, that finished fourth in the league, Coach Wood has two letter winners who were also regulars last year. They are Capt. George Miller and Ham Ries, forward and guard respectively.

Probe Rumors Of Subsidizing At Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 9 (AP)—An investigation of rumors that freshman athletes at the University of Michigan have been subsidized in violation of Western conference rules was launched tonight.

Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, chairman of the board in control of physical education at the university, revealed the investigation in a formal statement. Aigler is the Michigan faculty representative in the Big Ten.

Harry G. Kipke, head football coach, said he approved of the investigation. Athletic Director Fielding H. (Hurry Up) Yost withheld comment.

The board, its chairman said, may declare candidates for varsity teams ineligible, if necessary, and place on them the burden of proving their support is "of the character permitted by the conference rules."

"Certain men against whom these rumors and charges apply, freshmen on the campus last year," the statement said, "have never dropped from the university, never having become eligible academically... are now freshmen."

Detroit newspapers said the rumors were that the men had received support from Michigan alumni groups in Cleveland and Chicago.

Town Students Plan Intramural Program

University students living in private homes and not affiliated with a university group, are invited to attend a town mixer to be held at Iowa Union tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. to assist in planning an intramural program for the coming year.

After a brief business meeting, which will be in charge of Fred Beebe, intramural program director and Don M. Mallet, manager of the Iowa-Wisconsin football game will be shown. The evening will close with refreshments.

Sasse Resigns As Grid Mentor At Miss. State

Coach Polishes Offense For Crucial Game With Hiltoppers

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 9 (AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Ralph Sasse, one of football's most colorful figures, resigned today as head coach of Mississippi State college.

G. D. Humphrey, university president, said Sasse resigned on orders of his physician, Dr. J. W. Eckford, who asked that the colonel relinquish his duties immediately. The resignation, however, will not take effect until the present season ends.

Sasse, confined to bed at his home, was reported too ill to make a statement.

The colonel, before coming here in January, 1935, coached the United States military team at West Point for three seasons. The Army hung up its greatest three year record under him.

His Mississippi State teams have won 18 games, lost eight and tied two. He lost to Duquesne, 13-12, in the Orange Bowl game January 1 this year.

This season the Staters have lost three games, won three and tied one. The team beat Delta State Teachers 39 to 0, Florida 14 to 13, and Howard 38 to 0, played a scoreless tie with Centenary and dropped decisions to Auburn, 33 to 7, Texas A. & M., 14 to 0, and Louisiana State 41 to 0.

President Humphrey said no change would be made in the present coaching staff and no successor to Sasse would be named until after the season closes.

Sasse was noted for his many "publicity" ideas, among them brine baths for his gridders and a "gridiron" julep and a suggestion that players wear kilts.

Hawklets Gird For Davenport Contest Friday

Coach Polishes Offense For Crucial Game With Hiltoppers

With their hearts set on winning the game which they have been looking forward to for two years, the Little Hawks plan to invade the Hiltopper stronghold fully prepared Friday night.

Davenport has not been on the City High schedule since football started booming at Iowa City high school but for years the Blue Devils have been the arch-rivals of the local gridders and Coach Herb Cormack has been keying his proteges all season for this crucial game, which rings down the curtain on the current season.

Reserves, displaying Davenport formations, occupied the major part of the session last night to acquaint the varsity with Coach Jesse Day's style of play. Local mentors hope to match power with power as they build a defense capable of stopping the veteran Hiltopper backs. Red and White linemen are being especially groomed to stop the vaunted running game of the Davenporters.

Meanwhile an aerial offense, featuring several new formations, is being prepared for the Hawklets by Coach Cormack. With the addition of a third pass-tosser in the person of Eldon Parizek, the Iowa City passing attack is expected to achieve new heights against the Daymen.

Dave Kerr will continue to do most of the receiving, although Ted McLaughlin is being schooled in the art of snagging laterals. McLaughlin's ankle is now completely healed and his speed should augment the Little Hawk attack.

Distance was the main objective of Eldon Parizek and Herman Miller as they practiced booting the ball from kickoff formation last night.

Phi Delt's Win Section Title In Touch Football

Two important interfraternity football games took place yesterday on the fields west of the field-house yesterday as Phi Delta Theta won the championship of its section by defeating the Alpha Sig's 6-0 and the Phi Psi's continued their victory march in their section by downing the Phi Gamma Delta team 20-7. In the only other scheduled game, Theta Xi forfeited to Phi Kappa Sigma.

The Phi Delt-Alpha Sig game proved to be a tame affair with the Phi Delt's dominating things most of the way, making their only marker early in the first period on a pass from Newbold to Landsberg.

The powerful aerial attack of the Phi Psi's was largely responsible for their semi-final victory over the Phi Gammas.

Dick Hoak did the majority of the passing for the victors, hurling all four of the touchdown passes. Two passes from him, one to Jim Hoak and one to Dick Lozier, were responsible for scores in the first half. The Phi Gammas also scored in this half on a pass from Dick Heldridge to Herman Schmidt. Heldridge ran over for the extra point.

In the second half, Hoak tossed to Al Johann and Dick Lozier for the other two Phi Psi markers. Jim Hoak drooped three of the extra points for the winners.

Nothing Permanent In Passing Creighton

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Cecil Muellerleile, St. Louis university athletic director and head football coach, said today there was "nothing permanent" in the decision not to renew a football contract with Creighton university.

University Symphony Orchestra Will Give Concert Tonight

Prof. Clapp To Direct Year's First Program

Selections To Include Works of Wagner, Mozart, Weber

The university symphony orchestra, under the baton of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will present its first concert of the season at 8 o'clock tonight in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Free tickets to the concert may be obtained at the Union desk.

The program will include selections from Weber, Mozart and Wagner.

The two Weber overtures, one "Oberon" and the other "Euryanthe," are two of the best known favorite concert pieces. Weber is recognized as one of the most important composers of the German romantic opera, and although his operas are seldom performed in the theater today, his overtures are extremely popular.

The Symphony in G minor, another number on the program, was written by Mozart shortly before his death, and the score was revised in 1788 with a richer instrumentation. The revised score passed into private hands and was not published along with his other works.

Later Johannes Brahms came into possession of it but he withheld it from publication for many years. The second version, richly scored and revised by Mozart himself, is to be presented by the symphony orchestra.

The opera "Lohengrin" was the most highly developed of the earlier works of Richard Wagner. In the Prelude to Act I he describes a dream in which the angels from heaven descend to earth bearing the Holy Grail and then return to heaven with it after the sight of the Grail has alleviated the suffering of mortals.

A birthday-Christmas present to his wife in 1871 was the Siegfried Idyll composed by Wagner for a small orchestra on thematic material under the direction of Hans Richter in Wagner's home in Switzerland Dec. 24, 1936.

The symphony orchestra this year consists of 84 members. Prof. Hans Muenzer is concertmaster; Prof. Arnold Small, assistant concertmaster, and Lois Voxman, student concertmaster. Prof. Addison Alspach is assistant conductor and manager of personnel, and Cynthia Ash is librarian.

The program follows: Overture, "Oberon"..... Weber
Symphony in G minor..... Mozart

Allegro moderato
Andante
Menuetto
Allegro assai

Prelude to Act I, "Lohengrin"
Siegfried Idyll..... Wagner
Overture, "Euryanthe"..... Weber

Holiday Recesses Remain Same For University Students

No change has been made in the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday vacations at the university. As was the case a year ago, students will have a single day for Thanksgiving and 17 and one-half days for Christmas.

Only students living fairly close to Iowa City will have a chance to have Thanksgiving dinner at home, for the recess is only for Nov. 25. Penalties will be exacted for students who skip Friday classes.

The Christmas and New Year's recess, equalling the longest on record, will begin on noon Friday, Dec. 17 and will end Tuesday, Jan. 4, at 8 a.m.

Prof. Allen Tester Resigns As Assistant State Geologist

Prof. Allen C. Tester of the geological department has resigned his position as assistant state geologist, the Iowa state geological board announced yesterday.

He resigned to devote full time to his work in the geology department and to have more time for personal research and writing. Professor Tester was appointed assistant state geologist in 1934. Since then he has worked on a full-time basis for the geological survey during the summer months and has divided his time during the academic year between the survey and the geology department.

He has also been in charge of the service and research projects in ground water supplies. Although he will no longer have active directorship of the ground water resources division of the survey, Professor Tester will continue with personal investigation in this field.

Students! Bring Your Ponies!

Prof. Meno Spann Writes German Reader With Interlinear Translations

"Ponies," secretly used in language classes by generations of schoolboys, have become legal with the publication of the First Interlinear German Reader, compiled by Prof. Meno Spann of the German department.

This text, published after two years of experimentation with university German classes, has a literal English translation below each German word.

Interlineation increases the speed of vocabulary learning, eliminating the time wasted in looking up words in the dictionary or the word list in the back of the reader. Meanings of words are clearer, and the vocabulary is remembered longer when associated with a thought in a text rather than being isolated in a word list. This method maintains the reader's interest

Seats Still Available

Hawkeye Farewell Ball for Grid Stars Slated for Nov. 24

Students may still obtain seats in the Iowa rooters, the new organized cheering section, for Saturday's game with Indiana, Orval Matteson, A4 of Elgin, Ill., chairman, announced at the Pi Epsilon Pi meeting last night in the cafeteria of Iowa Union.

Plans for a Hawkeye Farewell Ball were discussed. The party will be a revival of an old custom of paying tribute to the grid stars. The informal closed party given by Pi Epsilon Pi will be Nov. 24 in the fine arts building.

The 500 rooster members, supplied with special megaphones, will make their first appearance at Saturday's game. They will continue to cheer at the basketball games this winter. Game tickets may be exchanged for the rooster section at Whetstones No. 1. Non-affiliated students are invited to join the organization.

A quota of rooster seats, based on the number of "I" books in each organization, was given to members of Pi Epsilon Pi and its auxiliary.

The percentages of quotas secured by the member organizations ranks the group as follows: Alpha Chi Omega, 100; Alpha Delta Pi, 190; Alpha Sigma Phi, 0; Alpha Tau Omega, 100; Alpha Xi Delta, 100; Beta Theta Pi, 110; Chi Omega, 100; Currier hall, 60.

Show Painting By Grant Wood In Art Display

"Dinner for Threshers," a painting by Prof. Grant Wood of the graphic and plastic arts department, is now on display in the Exhibition of American Paintings for Paris at the Museum of Modern Art, New York, N. Y.

The exhibition of paintings by 40 leading American artists will remain on display through Dec. 13. The artists will also be represented in the contemporary painting section of a large retrospective exhibition of American painting, sculpture, architecture, graphic art, photography and motion pictures to be shown in May, 1938, in the Musee du Jeu de Paume in Paris.

Prof. R. J. Ojemann, 701 Grant Street, I think, of course we should have reasonable protection, but if we should get into any "tight places" whereupon some people are certain to suffer, the government should reimburse those persons whose activity is restricted in the war zone.

Mr. C. E. Oberman, 522 Rundell street, Well, I believe in the isolation policy—I think we should mind our own business.

Lee H. Kann, manager university employment bureau, 225 E. Fairchild street. It's rather difficult to answer that one; however, I think the home policy is the best one—to take care of our own back yard.

Waldo Geiger, 108 1-2 S. Duquesne street. If they should get into war over there, we should stay right here and mind our own business—let them fight it out.

W. F. Schmidt, 1111 Sheridan avenue, bank teller. The best thing we could do is refuse to take sides.

H. E. Kensing, insurance agent, Cedar Rapids. There isn't any way of keeping out of it—we can't stand idly by and see our own property destroyed without even raising a hand—however I suppose every effort shall be made to keep out of war; and I am very much in favor of peace, of course.

Lillian Shulman, 946 Iowa avenue. I'd rather have peace at any cost. We should give them no money, no armament; and we should maintain a strictly neutral attitude.

Albert VeDeppo, 704 E. Bloomington street, drug store employe. I think the United States should stay far away from European lands and affairs.

Mrs. Alex Rehder, Iowa apartments. I don't think we should supply any other countries with war armaments.

So They Say . . .

If Europe would get involved in war, what would be the best way the U. S. could keep out of it?

Grace C. Meyers, 715 N. Linn street. Not to get mixed up commercially—that's where our great danger lies. We are apt to go to war when we have done business with the belligerents.

Chest Nears $19,800 Goal Contributions Attain 76 Per Cent of Aim Says Atty. T. Martin

Contributions to Iowa City's Community Chest totaled $15,189.96—76.5 per cent of the $19,800 goal—according to the latest report of Attorney Thomas E. Martin, campaign director.

Records show a continued response from the small givers, upon which the success of the campaign now largely depends, drive officials state.

With 2,100 individual contributors to the fund thus far, Attorney Martin said last night, "There is a good chance to set a new record for givers this year. Last year 2,300 contributors responded in the drive.

Many of the women solicitors in the residential division who have completed their canvass are now campaigning for the business division in the second assignment.

"The present rate of returns would indicate that most of the ribbons given to leading solicitors will go to the women," Attorney Martin remarked last night.

The general work of solicitation will be completed by the end of the week, but scattered solicitations will continue until everyone has been given opportunity to give, officials state.

Ries to Report PWA Answer At 7:30 Tonight

PWA Officials To Give Reply To Building Delay Request

The city school board will learn at 7:30 tonight whether PWA officials will grant an extension of the Jan. 4 date when construction of the new $725,000 high school must be started.

Attorney Herbert J. Ries, school board lawyer, who conferred with regional PWA administrative officials in Omaha, Neb., yesterday, will inform the board of the conference's findings.

John Hamilton, architect, who accompanied Attorney Ries, has returned to Chicago, Ill., to start designing the school.

Hamilton's opinion that it will take about four months to start construction and that inclement weather will hinder actual work prompted the conference. They also discussed a required construction schedule. Public works administration terms state that the building must be completed in 15 months after the project is started.

with MERLE MILLER

I'm told by those who know that one of the handsomest small school buildings in the nation is that housing University elementary and high schools. . . It's a design now being used in many of the larger cities. . .

One of those rare but beautiful moments few notice is the glance from the Quadrangle hill over the city any of these early fall evenings. . . Iowa City, like an aging woman, appears at her best under artificial lights. . .

Smart A chap who's here from an eastern school tells me Iowa men on the campus dress far better than those in even the smartest New England colleges. . . There, he declares, one seldom sees a camper in anything but corduroy slacks and a ragged sweater.

Des Moines' A. H. Blank, soon to celebrate his silver anniversary as a theater man, ranks with Maj. Edward Bowes in the theater world, I'm told. . .

Similar Completing George Moore's "Esther Waters," I'm reminded of the Iowa City char woman whose story is strangely similar to that of the Moore heroine. . .

The mother of a grown son, the woman has worked in a downtown office for more than eight years; meantime, she's done washings, has been a cook, done almost every odd job a woman can manage. . .

Her son a senior in a Des Moines high school, she tells me he may enter the university next fall—although she'd prefer to send him to an eastern school. . . He is an honor student in Des Moines. . .

Amendment I'd heartily favor an Iowa amendment to New York's constitutional addition, extending the governor's term from two to four years. . . Seems to me the job's so complicated most men don't even get a nodding acquaintance with the job in 24 months.

What Iowa citizen almost everyone knows has a large collic that won't sleep any place but on his master's bed?

One of the quickest literary fade-outs in recent years seems to be the Mitchell monstrosity, "Gone With the Wind." . . Is anyone still reading it?

The life of Britain's Ramsey McDonald was almost an exact counterpart of America's Abe Lincoln. . . And the step from a log cabin to the prime ministry is almost twice as far as the journey from cabin to White House. . .

McDonald, incidentally, might be the background of a profitable study by American laborers. . . He was the first man to unite all Britain's labor forces. . . He managed to worry more about higher wages and shorter hours and better working conditions than whether someone else had more power than he. . .

Iowa City Observes Opening Of American Education Week

Speeches, Assemblies To Occupy Stage In Local Schools

Observance of American education week today will consist of an assembly at Iowa City high school and a radio speech at 6:50 tonight over radio station WSUI. The American Legion auxiliary will present Frank Miles, editor of the Iowa Legionaire, at 9 o'clock this morning in the high school auditorium.

Prof. Moses Jung of the school of religion will speak on "Our American Youth Problem" in a problem arranged by the auxiliary on the radio this evening at 6:50. The Roy L. Chopek Post No. 17 of the American Legion has arranged the entire program for the observance of education week. The schedule includes addresses, radio talks each evening, open house days at all schools and the presentation of a safety program to the grade school children.

Tomorrow the American Legion will present speakers at St. Patrick's and University high schools at 11 a.m. assemblies. Dr. Frank L. Love will speak at St. Patrick's and Prof. Ethan Allen of the political science department at the university high school.

"Schools and the Constitution" will be the subject of Attorney Kenneth M. Dunlop in a program presented by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce over station WSUI at 6:50 p.m. tomorrow.

and then proceeding to do no introducing for the next half hour.

Among the times I wonder about higher education are such as when I hear a university senior inquire. . . "Who did you say LaGuardia was?"

Marches On Only five years ago an Iowa City restaurant of import had posted a sign, "Women are requested to refrain from smoking."

17 and 18, will be larger than ever before, according to general chairman Harold Simmen. The show will boast of new and novel arrangements of booths, entertainment and a larger display of new automobile models than has been offered at previous exhibits. Nearly all merchant booths for this year's show have already been sold. The auto show is an annual event sponsored by the Lions club in cooperation with the local child welfare program.

New York's metropolitan area has 124,579 acres of park land.

Monk Issues Permit To Construct House

City Inspector Harold J. Monk issued a building permit yesterday to Marjorie Goody to construct a four-room house on So. Capitol street.

Gas Pressure and Heat Cost

No. 12 of a Series

When gas pressure goes down cost of heat goes up.

Gas is regulated into your mains through a meter. This machine operates by pressure and measures a certain volume at a given pressure. If the pressure lowers, the gas expands. The meter will read in cubic feet, but there are less heat units packed into a cubic foot. At the gas company office, the feet recorded by the meter are turned into "therms" for which you are billed.

Confusing?

Sure.

The only way you can detect lowered pressure is by seeing a smaller flame. You never can detect how much more money you have paid for gas because of lowered pressure.

Low pressures always come when the demand is great and everyone wants gas. That is when it is the coldest. So it all works out in favor of the gas company.

Before signing for natural gas heat, ask this:

"Will your company give me a written guarantee that the pressure at my house will be constant and agree to refund any excess cost caused by lowered pressure?"
