Japanese Report Occupation Of Huchow, on Nanking's Flank

Intensive Preparation Is Beginning for Final Capital Drive

SHANGHAI, Nov. 24 (AP)—Japanese press reports tonight said three Japanese columns had occupied Huchow, on the south flank of the Nanking defenses. Chinese forces were said to have been driven from the stronghold, to the rear of the main defense lines bordering the southern shore of Lake Tai. Japan's army, however, temporarily has suspended large scale operations to prepare intensively for a final drive on Nanking, China's evacuated capital.

Defense troops also were girding for an expected major clash between the Yangtze river and the grand canal west of Shanghai. About 300,000 troops were reported massed between Kiangyin, the Yangtze anchor of the defense line, and Wusih, to the south.

The belief grew, nevertheless, that the Chinese might relinquish Nanking with only a face-saving rear guard in action in order to spare the capital from destructive bombardment. Many Chinese government officials were understood to favor such a course which would protest hundreds of millions of dollars invested in magnificent new buildings and expensive highways. A Japanese navy spokesman said bombing planes raided Nanking but that results were not known. Air attacks also were made on Chinese troop concentrations at Wutsin, Iping, Wusih and Kiangyin. Dispatches from Canton, important south China port, said 100 civilians were feared kill in a half hour raid.

Renew Appeal For G-Men On Corcoran Case

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 24 (AP)—A labor leader's story he had been told to leave town — or else — brought renewed pleas today for federal aid in solving the fatal shooting a week ago tonight of Patrick J. Corcoran, powerful figure in American Federation of Labor circles here. Appealing for intervention by department of justice agents, Governor Elmer Benson pointed again to current charges imported gangsters may have caused Corcoran's death and added that "city police and state investigators thus far have failed to apprehend the criminals."

In Washington, Attorney General Cummings acknowledged receipt of the request and turned it over to the criminal division without indicating whether it would be granted.

Eddie and Al Pirotti, former Chicago labor organizers, and the only persons held in connection with the case, won their freedom today after being held five days without charge, on a writ of habeas corpus. They had admitted attacking the labor leader four days before his death, but denied any connection with the slaying. William Maueuth, Committee for Industrial Organization leader who demanded a grand jury investigation of "gangsterism and racketeering in the Minneapolis labor movement," said five anonymous telephone calls threatening him and demanding that he leave town came to his home within 20 minutes this morning. A police squad car guarded his home. The grand jury adjourned until December 7 without taking any action in the case.

Members of Three Faiths Meet Today For Joint Service

Members of three faiths, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, will participate in the community Thanksgiving service at 10 o'clock this morning in the Congregational church, Jefferson and Clinton streets. The Rev. Edwin E. Voigt will preside. The address will be delivered by Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion. The offering received at the service will be administered by the Social Service league.

BURLESON'S RULE Simple Way To Fool The Weather

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Albert S. Burleson, former postmaster general who died today at Austin, Tex., had a simple formula for never getting caught in the rain—he carried an umbrella every day. "Shucks, any fool can carry an umbrella when it's raining," Burleson used to chuckle. "It takes a wise man to carry one when it's clear."

Madrid Rocked By Rebel Fire

Scores Believed Killed In One of Worst Bombardments

MADRID, Nov. 24 (AP)—After more than a month of comparative quiet, Madrid was battered for over an hour tonight in one of the worst shelling of the war. Scores were believed killed and injured in the furious artillery duel which filled Madrid's streets with a continuous roar of explosions. Government guns answered. All parts of the city were affected.

The few remaining lights in Madrid flickered out as if by a master switch with the first shell. An overcast sky flashed with the blaze of battle. Thousands of Madrilenos huddled sleeplessly in spots of refuge.

More than 1,200 bursts were counted and after each came the crash of glass and mortar, and screams.

Above the cannon roar came the noise of hard fighting in the university city sector.

First reports said the insurgents had launched a heavy attack. This deadly show came the one night this year when the American government was represented here by a diplomatic officer, Walter Thurston, counselor of the American embassy, arrived today. After a few shells burst near the embassy, he retired with other inhabitants of the building to the basement. Thurston planned to remain for Thanksgiving.

Embassy officials left here last Thanksgiving day, after the removal of the Spanish government to Valencia. This week they will move again—this time to Barcelona, new seat of the Spanish government.

Newton Moves For New Trial

PITTSFIELD, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—The Rev. C. E. Newton tonight bared his hopes of escaping a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Dennis Kelly, his former Sunday school teacher, on a motion for a new trial filed in Pike county circuit court a few hours after a jury had found him guilty. The veteran minister said he was "not surprised" at the verdict "because of prejudice in this case." He remained calm after hearing the jury's decision and made no protest when Sheriff Wendell Johnson transferred him from his private cell to one he will share with three other prisoners.

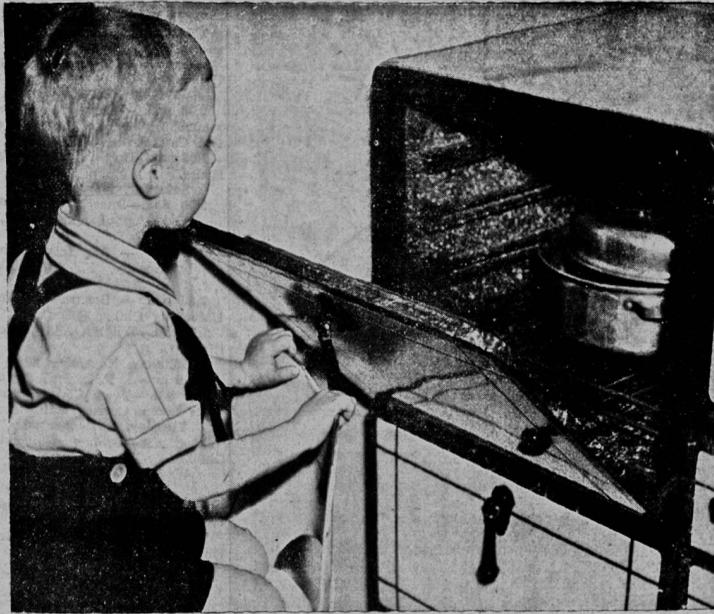

The motion for a new trial was filed by Martin S. Turner, one of his attorneys, as court convened this morning.

Judge A. Clay Williams granted the defense 10 days in which to present briefs. If the motion is denied, the judge said, Newton will be sentenced immediately. Turner announced, however, the former Paris, Mo., pastor would appeal to the state supreme court in the event the motion is overruled.

The jury's verdict in the case came early today, six hours and 52 minutes after it had retired to deliberate.

Included in the evidence was Newton's purported "confession" that on the night of July 12 he struck Mrs. Kelly "with something, I think a hammer," and then threw her into the Mississippi river from the Illinois side of the Mark Twain bridge at Hannibal, Mo. This occurred, the statement said, while Newton was assisting Mrs. Kelly flee from her home and family at Paris, Mo.

Quest For Solution To Far East War Halts

World Capitals Will Exchange Active Views

BRUSSELS, Nov. 24 (AP)—The efforts of the Brussels conference to end the undeclared war in the Far East were thrown back tonight to direct exchange between the world's capitals.

The conference adjourned indefinitely after adopting a declaration condemning the use of armed force in disputes between Japan and China he suspended.

Only Italy of the 10 nations represented voted against the declaration.

Arrangements were made for recall of the conference whenever its chairman or two members "have reported that they consider that its deliberations can be advantageously resumed."

The participating governments, the declaration said, meanwhile would have time "to exchange views and further explore all peaceful methods by which just settlement of the dispute may be attained."

Thus ended what was called the "first phase" of a three weeks quest for a solution for the Chinese Japanese conflict.

The conference was called under the terms of the 1922 nine-power treaty which pledged respect for China's territorial and administrative integrity.

Japan, one of the signatories, steadfastly refused all invitations to attend.

Challenge Witness In Creech Trial

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Counsel for Ted Creech, Kentucky mine superintendent on trial for perjury, lost today in an attempt to challenge the "credibility" of a star witness for the government.

Federal Judge Joseph Cox ruled not pertinent an effort by the defense to show that the senate civil liberties committee knew Richard C. Tackett, former Kentucky "deputy sheriff," "didn't have one ounce of credibility" when it questioned him regarding labor conditions in Kentucky.

Judge Cox said the senate committee might have considered the "materiality of Tackett's story" rather than his "credibility."

Previously William Leahy, defense counsel, drew from Tackett admission that he had given conflicting testimony concerning a Harlan county dynamiting.

British, French Diplomats To Discuss Nazi Aims Expressed in Recent Talks

LONDON, Nov. 24 (AP)—British and French diplomats will meet Monday to discuss German policies outlined in the Hitler-Halifax conversations and to determine the future of the British-French collective security policy.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, carefully guarding the aims which Chancellor Hitler laid before Viscount Halifax, indicated he would make them known to France when Premier Camille Chautemps and Foreign Minister Yvon Deibos come to London.

Chamberlain told the house of commons that recent talks in Germany were "confidential" and declined to discuss them beyond saying that "no pledges have been given."

"I am satisfied, however," he said, "that the visit has been valuable in furthering the desire, which I believe to be generally felt in both countries, for the establishment of closer mutual understanding."

The feeling persisted in diplomatic quarters that Britain and Germany were further from a settlement than ever. It had been hoped at least that German Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath would come to London to continue the discussions, but Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced that "no new arrangements for a visit had been made."

Informed quarters said the British-French meeting next week probably would result in a statement expressing hope for an European settlement which would include Germany, but would make it clear that Britain and France would not take dictation from anyone.

Quick-Witted Cashier Prevents Larger Loot in Bank Robbery

CINCINNATI, Ia., Nov. 24 (AP)—Two handsome young robbers held up a branch bank office here today and escaped with loot estimated at $900 after a quick-witted cashier balked their attempts at the vault by slamming a door in their faces.

John Brown, cashier of the Iowa Trust and Savings bank of Centerville, bank here, was alone in the branch when the men walked in. They scooped up approximately $800 in small bills and $100 in silver from the counter and threatened to shoot him if he did not open the safe, he said.

Brown added that he faked attempting to open the safe, although the time lock prevented him from doing so. The robbers stepped into the doorway, he added, and he lurched forward suddenly and slammed the door shut, the sudden action knocking one of the men down.

The robbers escaped in a sedan (Ford) bearing Iowa license plates stolen at noon in Ottumwa (90-5419). They fled southward toward Unionville, O., with an automobile driven by Hizover, a store manager at Mendota, Mo., in hot pursuit.

A report from Ottumwa said the car had been deserted late this afternoon near Mendota and that officers were searching the woods for the men.

The Iowa Bureau of Investigation in Des Moines said both the robbers were about 20 years old. One answered to the name of "Dell," the bureau reported.

The second man was 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighed about 140 pounds, is light complexioned and was wearing a gray overcoat.

Farm Bill In House

Includes Provisions For Forced Control Of Corn And Wheat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The house agriculture committee's general farm bill included today provisions for compulsory control, through marketing quotas, for corn and wheat.

Similar in this respect to the senate committee bill, it also provided for soil conservation payments to participating farmers and for government loans on corn and wheat sealed in storage.

The house bill made no provision for "parity" payments proposed in the senate bill.

Where the senate measure provided fines of 50 per cent of parity prices for marketings in excess of quotas, the house bill provided taxes of 15 cents a bushel for excessive marketings of the two grains.

As they affected the corn-wheat farmers in general, the house provisions included: Farmers would be offered soil conservation contracts and would be entitled to benefit payments for compliance with soil conserving practices.

Turkey Is Tops Today

Iowa Citizens Will Pay About $13,000 For Thanksgiving Dinner Birds

Iowa Citizens will eat 45,000 pounds of turkey at noon today during their annual Thanksgiving day banquet—and they will spend about $13,000 for their turkeys, it was estimated last night.

There has been a large demand this week for 12-pound turkeys, Iowa City retailers have discovered.

Many Iowa Citizens will dine on geese and ducks today; yet turkeys are bound to be more popular, probably because Iowa City is in the heart of a nationally-known turkey-raising district.

There is a large turkey farm at Wellman, and two others near here, that ship birds all over the nation every Thanksgiving.

"Turkey" today will grace the table of almost every Iowa City home. Members of families have traveled long distances to be with their folks today.

Thousands of university students, granted a one-day vacation, will be unable to be at home today for dinner. Instead, dormitories, fraternities, sororities and restaurants will serve turkey dinners in imitation of the home table.

About 800, other persons in Iowa City, though, are away from their homes and families, yet they, too, will partake of the traditional turkey dinner "with all the trimmings" at noon today.

At the University hospitals, about 700 patients will dine on turkey and chicken. "The nutrition department has planned a complete banquet for the patients," Robert E. Neff, administrator, said last night.

The dinner, in most instances, will include a generous slice of turkey or chicken, stuffing, cranberry sauce, with the usual potatoes and vegetable—and the inevitable pie or cake for dessert.

In Mercy hospital, 50 patients will be served at the traditional banquet, hospital authorities said last night.

In the Johnson County Juvenile Home, 25 children will also feast themselves upon turkey and chicken, Mrs. Genevieve Orr, overseer, has announced.

And in the Johnson county jail, seven inmates will also receive their "treat of the year," Sheriff Don McComas said last night.

Iowa Citizens can expect somewhat warmer weather with possible light showers on Thanksgiving day, the weatherman predicted last night.

The temperature was hoisted 15 degrees above freezing to record the day's highest reading, 47 at 3 p.m. yesterday, according to municipal airport weathermen.

A warm south wind kept the temperature above freezing after 9 a.m. and at 10 p.m., it was 34. The lowest temperature was 26 between midnight and 7 a.m., they said.

Private Home Drive To Get Full Support

$112,000,000 Assured For Construction Agreement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Roosevelt administration made peace with a large segment of the private power industry today and received virtual assurance that at least $112,000,000 of new construction would be started to remedy business ills.

Floyd L. Carlisle, chairman of the Consolidated Edison company and the Niagara Hudson Power company, told reporters after a white house conference that he was in substantial agreement with President Roosevelt's power views and that he expected to cooperate with the private home construction drive the administration is now organizing.

Government officials said the two companies headed by Carlisle constitute the world's greatest electric generating system, from the standpoint of power production.

Carlisle's visit to the white house was one of a series by private power executives, resulting from the president's recent offer to make peace with the industry and limit government competition to its present proportions if the power companies would agree to change their method of valuing properties for rate making purposes.

"I think the fears of government competition are very much lessened by the discussions that have taken place," Carlisle said. He said he expected the Consolidated Edison company to spend $100,000,000 in the next two years by ordering equipment and expanding power distribution into areas where new homes would be built under terms of legislation to be proposed by the president later this week. Consolidated Edison serves the New York city area.

United Auto Workers Threaten Strikes After Ford Victory

Bitter Feeling Renewed With Dismissal Of Assault Charges

DETROIT, Nov. 24 (AP)—The CIO-affiliated United Automobile Workers threatened a spread of strike, in Ford assembly plants today a few hours after the Ford motor company won dismissal of assault charges based on a riot involving union members near its Dearborn plant May 26.

Giving official sanction to a strike in Ford's St. Louis branch, Richard T. Frankenstein, UAW assistant president, said "If Ford is ready for the battle it will not rest in St. Louis long."

He telegraphed the secretary of the Kansas City Ford local to "prepare for action if necessary."

Circuit Judge Lester S. Moll dismissed, because of insufficient evidence, charges of felonious assault against the Ford motor company and eight individuals, seven of them Ford employees.

The charges resulted from the beating administered union members who tried to distribute UAW literature near the huge plant as part of a campaign to organize the 89,000 Ford workers employed here.

Quashing of the charges brought from Frankenstein the comment that "the decision is one which should make Mr. Ford very happy, but it should make the workers universally unhappy."

As long as Mr. Ford feels that the courts will not stop him in any of his actions we may expect him to carry on with great boldness and with the same immunity he has enjoyed."

TIME TO COMPOSE

Orchestra Leader Says Jail Is Quiet

CINCINNATI, Nov. 24 (AP)—In the splendid solitude of the Kankakee, Ill., jail, Don Bestor announced today, he "had a lot of time to sit and think and knock out a few arrangements."

Among them, the orchestra leader said, is a tune he has titled "Sitting on the Inside, Looking on the Outside, Waiting for the Evening Meal."

"Three guesses," he grinned, "what rhymes with that last word."

"All of my life I've wanted to be away from crowds and take a rest. Finally, I got the chance. Believe you me, there few places quieter than the Kankakee jail. Old friend Sheriff John Stack did everything he could to make me comfy."

Bestor, here to fill an engagement, was arrested Sunday night on complaint of his former wife. He was freed late last night after pledging $3,000 in paid up life insurance for the support of a 16-year-old son, Bartley.

School Mystery Involves Powder

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Sniff and scratch sleuths of the New York police department bared a dark mystery in the Humbolt junior high school today.

Violent sneezing and frenzied scratching had thrown two classes into an uproar. Police eyes roved, police noses sniffed. The eyes spotted two boys, apparently immune from the plague.

The rest was elementary. The boys had scattered sneezing compound and itching powder. The storekeeper who sold them the stuff was arrested.

Former Iowa Instructor Dies

Irving King, who taught in the college of education for 11 years, died of a heart attack in the Iowa State Bank and Trust company building at 2:45 p.m. yesterday. He was 63 and has been ill for the last five years.

Mr. King, 903 Dearborn street, was proprietor of the Iowa Chick hatchery. He had taught in the university between 1909 and 1920. Illness forced him to leave the university.

He was born at Richmond, Ind., July 17, 1874, and received a B.A. degree from Earlham college at Richmond. Mr. King received a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago, and taught at the University of Michigan and Pratt institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., before coming to Iowa City.

He married Alta F. Burke of Tonganoxie, Kan. Mr. King is survived by his wife; three sons, Philip King of Arlington, Va., Robert King of Midland, Tex., and Edward King of Midland, Mich.; two sisters, Jessie King and Bertha King, both of Baltimore, Md.; and a grandson, Philip Burke King of Arlington.

The body is at the Oathout Funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Ohio Supreme Court Upholds Press Freedom

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Ohio supreme court upheld today the freedom of the press to publish names of grand jurors and witnesses summoned to appear before grand juries.

It refused to review the case in which Walter Morrow, former editor of the Akron Times-Press, had been held in contempt of court for publishing names.

Common pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker, who held the editor in contempt, and fined him $50, had been reversed by the appellate court. The supreme tribunal's refusal to review the case upheld the newspaper's right to make such publication.

We Are Thankful—

MANY YEARS AGO when the Pilgrims set aside a day for giving thanks to God, it was to show their gratitude for the blessings of food and shelter he had given them.

Today in the United States we can look about and find much for which to be thankful. But we don't, for in the hurly-burly of every day life we lose sight of the good while we worry and complain about that which we don't like.

So today we say: We are thankful— Because we are free—to believe in any God we please; to select our own friends and vocations; to read, study and say what we choose; and to live our lives as we think right.

Because we are in America—not in China or Spain where there is war and destruction; where we have a higher standard of living than any other country (in spite of the depressions); and where we can be straightforward and honest, without hypocrisy.

Because Christmas is coming—When those who have share with those who have not; when the spirit of "freely give and love your fellowman" reigns; and when all of us, like Scrooge, give up our skepticism and feel warm and friendly and happy together.

Ode to a Turkey

Many, many years ago, once upon a time, There was a little turkey (this doesn't seem to rhyme) And tempus slowly fugit And turkey et ad et And though we always meant to, we haven't killed him yet.

The Sanctity Of Man's Honor

"HOW IS your honor today?" You wouldn't have to be a judge to be so addressed in Nazi Germany these days.

For honor has become a household god, with no less than a system of courts to uphold its brand of justice. These courts sanction the duel as a way of determining how high a man may hold his head in society. There are regulations, to be sure, concerning the type of weapon to be used—the more dangerous ones being reserved for cases where honor has been more disgracefully challenged. Should one of the combatants be killed, his opponent will be imprisoned for six months or a year. He who winces in the conflict merits scorn, and the "sanctity of man's honor" has become a watchword.

It occurs to us that this custom is quite in keeping with the spirit of aggressiveness that characterizes the Nazi regime. No doubt it does, and perhaps commendably, serve to inflate the ego, but at the same time it fosters an attitude of belligerency that has, through enlightened periods of history, been considered uncivilized.

As long as honor is a matter of force and pseudo-courage, rather than of personal humility and respect for mankind, there can be no peace on earth.

Ohio citizens hear late November thunderstorm. But there was no wind. So, perhaps, it wasn't that extra session of congress, after all.

He's an average human being if his great love for the freedom of wide, open spaces causes him to sell his house and spend the rest of his life in a two-by-four trailer.

A School For Maids

THE BEGINNING of a WPA school for maids in Council Bluffs should indeed be the answer to every Iowa housewife's prayer.

Hundreds of Iowa women have found the maid problem a difficult one—it has been practically impossible to find competent girls for housework. Nine times out of 10 the girl is ignorant of the correct way to perform these tasks.

Low wages have been blamed for the poor quality of maids. But it's more likely that the lack of interest induced by the ignorance of their duties has produced inferior maids and thus made low pay inevitable.

This WPA school will train girls in the niceties of learning to serve correctly from a tray, and also in the commoner duties such as washing windows and polishing silverware.

It is to be hoped that this first experiment in Council Bluffs is a success because then it will be extended to all Iowa. And just in passing we might suggest that in time a course be added on the cause and cure of house-maids' knee.

The man at the next desk says that the mark of an obstinate man is one who not only holds opinions but who in turn is held by them.

Junior is beginning to lose his faith in the intelligence of grown-ups. He's just gone through the "S" and "C" sections of "Who's Who" and can't find a single line about Santa Claus.

If we were a congressman we wouldn't mind being called back for the current extra session. At least, it would be something to take our minds off the impending Christmas bills.

GRAMOPHONE WILLS

THERE IS a familiar legal tag—especially familiar to the convalescing gent of Lincoln's inn—that "a will speaks from death." This simple aphorism, which merely means that a will takes effect as if it had been drawn up immediately before the testator's death, has recently been given a literal interpretation.

An ingenious resident of Brisbane has just had his will recorded on a gramophone record. The precise legal effect of this lugubrious performance need not now be determined. It is sufficient to know that it is what the lawyers, with equal scorn and erudition, would describe as a nuncupative will. Its effect on the testator's sorrowing and rapacious friends can be more easily determined. It is hard enough, as every student of Victorian fiction knows, to endure the disappointments of an unjust will or the insults of a crusty testator when they are pronounced through the stately medium of the family solicitor. It would, however, be more than flesh and blood could bear to hear that tongue, which should be decently stilled, triumphing after death.

How sonorously, how complacently the rich uncle would leave 100 pounds to his deserving nephew and "all the residue of my estate" to a distant cousin who never sent him a little present at Christmas and never comforted him through his attacks of gout. With what agonizing shriek persistence the rich maiden aunt would leave her large fortune to the cats' home! The cautionary proverb, "Don't wait for the dead man's shoes," will now have to be supplemented by the warning, "Don't listen to dead men's voices."

The natural curiosity of mankind is left longing for further information. Does the voice start abruptly with those magnificent, portentous words, "This is the last will and testament of me," or is there perhaps, on the principle of the endorsement on a written will, another voice to introduce a testator. A roll of drums or the strains of a funeral march might prove an even more appropriate beginning. The exact tones in which the lawful words should be spoken provide something of a problem. On reflection, a testator will probably feel that nothing could be more stately, nothing more effective, than the tones of that once familiar dirge, "Miss Otis regrets." It is a curious chance that this recorded will should have been made in 1937—the centenary of the Wills act. The act provided that every will must be in writing signed by the testator in the presence of two witnesses. The object of this was to prevent the forgery or faking of wills. The act should surely be amended now to include wills made on gramophone records—a provision which would greatly add to the liveliness of the probate court.

The authorities might well remember that it is impossible to amend a record and far more difficult to copy a man's voice than to copy his writing.

Heart Attacks Often Wrongly Diagnosed as Acute Indigestion

By LOGAN GLENDENING, M.D.

A stomach specialist the other day brought a patient into the heart department in one of our large clinics. The patient was thoroughly convinced that she had indigestion, and having made her own diagnosis, sought out the stomach specialist on her own responsibility. He saw immediately what any capable diagnostician would see, that her attacks were really due to attacks of heart spasm, or angina pectoris, and not to her stomach at all.

It can be pretty well put down as an axiom that a patient over the age of 50 who complains of attacks, rather than continuous indigestion, which have come on within a year, is probably a heart case rather than a stomach case. In the newspapers, when those unhappy accidents occur of a prominent citizen dying suddenly at a banquet, it is usually called "acute indigestion."

Pain Due to Heart Spasm The pain of angina due to spasm of the coronary arteries of the heart, seldom appears in the location of the heart. It is usually a referred pain, localized underneath the breast bone or in the arms or finger tips and, as in this case, in the pit of the stomach.

This patient, to which the stomach specialist referred, was found to have a slightly enlarged heart, some increase in blood pressure, to be somewhat overweight and, as could be seen in the arteries of the retina or her eye, to have a tendency to spasm and thickening of these vessels. It is a lucky thing for her that she decided to consult a stomach specialist rather than to decide to treat her own case, as well as to diagnose it, because under proper management so much can be done for her to make her comfortable, as well as to prolong her life.

The 43-inch tall M.C. of the "Johnny Presents" programs gets countless letters each week from youngsters who have seen him in person or in photographs and have assumed he's still, like themselves, attending school. These epistles, in varying degrees of wavy juvenile penmanship, are his favorites.

This evening from 6:30 to 7 o'clock, Leo Reisman and his orchestra will play with a chorus led by Ed Smalle, former leader of the Revellers. The program will be broadcast over WEA-F.

Rudy Vallee completes his last coast airing tonight before returning to New York from Hollywood. He will resume in Radio City on Dec. 2 and will stay until Jan. 6 when he goes back to movietown to start work in the Warner Brothers' picture, "Gold-diggers." Rudy can be heard tonight at 7 o'clock over NBC-WEAF.

There are three "Romantic Rhythm" fans who hope that some day three of Seymour Simons' orchestra men don't show up. They are Maestro Simons' three youngsters, aged 8, 9 and 12. All are expert instrumentalists whose idea of heaven would be just once to play in "Daddy's" band over the air!

Louise Fitch, pretty young Chicago actress featured on CBS in the "Manhattan Mother" series, was notified this week by the Universal studios in Hollywood that her screen tests, taken six months ago, have been approved by Universal executives and she must be ready to leave for Hollywood on a moment's notice. Miss Fitch will wait, however, until she has fulfilled all of her present radio commitments.

It is a common occurrence to see the cop on the beat, the scrubwoman, cab drivers and sundry unemployed from the streets sitting in on Gabriel Heatter's "We, the People" rehearsals in CBS Playhouse II every Thursday afternoon. Heatter thinks he might get up a whole show some week without leaving the studio!

HOLLYWOOD—The man with a thousand voices has just signed away one of them. For 15 years—in vaudeville, on the air, in pictures—Billy Bletcher has been in show business. His weird ability to mimic anybody or anything practically stole away his own identity. He found himself becoming a "voice"—or many voices.

Once, on the air, he substituted for a famous comedian and listeners never knew the difference. When Hollywood's animated cartoons began to talk, Billy spoke for all of them. Vocally, he has been pig, frog, dog, rabbit, mouse, horse, cat, practically all the creatures of the animated screen. In spare time he has played parts in feature pictures, sung on the air. His tenor is trained for music, too. Metro was launching a new series of talking cartoons, "The Captain and the Kids." For it, Bletcher was signed to a contract. He will speak for the Captain—and he cannot use that voice for any other purpose.

But he is still free to use the other 999 voices in his repertoire. He calls it the ideal contract. Perfect Make-Up: Annabella from France spent two days, soon after arrival at 20th Century-Fox, undergoing the usual Hollywood routine of experimental hair-dress and make-up. Each of the experiments required from one to two hours to apply. "May I have just one test of myself as I like to look?" she asked. Next day Production Chief Darryl Zanuck had the film stopped on a certain frame. "That's the make-up," he said. "It's perfect."

It was—of course—Annabella's own. She'll use it in "Jean" opposite William Powell. Auto Graphs: Sally Eilers was "abducted" the other morning. Emerging from her home, she was surrounded by a gang of boys, ages 14 to 17, and ushered solemnly to the curb. There stood a worn old vehicle, once an automobile. "Your autograph, please," commanded the gang leader, offering a brush dipped freshly in paint.

This should be done immediately since, otherwise, it is possible that we shall be unable to certify for graduation next February, a student who may have accomplished satisfactory graduate work elsewhere, just because we shall not have received the requisite official statement of it early enough. H. C. DORCAS, Registrar

Chemical Engineers: University of Iowa student branch of American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet Monday, at 7:30 p.m., in the chemistry auditorium. Dr. John Hassler, director of research of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company will talk on "The Application of Activated Carbon to Problems in Industrial Chemistry."

A.A.U.W. Fellowships: Women graduate students interested in fellowships to be granted this year by the American Association of University Women should write for application blanks to the association headquarters, 1634 I street, Northwest, Washington, D.C. Applications must be in by Dec. 15. Further information may be obtained from Helen L. Rhinehart, Dial 5755.

Library Hours: The University library will be closed on Thursday, Nov. 25, in observance of Thanksgiving day. Reserve books may be withdrawn for overnight use from 9 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24, and should be returned by 8:00 a.m. Friday, Nov. 26. GRACE VAN WORMER, Acting Director.

Hawklets Play Muskies in 2nd Game of Year

Muscatine Host to City High Basketeers For Tilt Tomorrow

With a short practice session this morning the City high cage squad will taper off for its second game in four days. The Little Hawks will travel to Muscatine tomorrow for their second start of the season.

Yesterday's practice was divided between a rehearsal of fundamentals and a brief scrimmage. Coach Francis Merten directed the light scrimmage toward the erection of a defense for the Muscatine style of play.

During the earlier part of the drill the Hawklet mentor spent some time on individual criticism, pointing out errors made in Tuesday's conquest of Williamsburg.

Same Starting Lineup

The starting lineup for tomorrow's engagement will probably include the same five that started the Williamsburg tilt. Captain Wayne Putnam, Gabby Burger, Joe McGinnis, Ted McLaughlin and George Covert are likely beneficiaries for the Red and White. Wheeler, Rogers, Devine and Lemons are sure to see considerable service against the Muskies.

Muscatine's basketeers are coached by Bob Kinnan, a star Iowa performer of a few years back. Kinnan's attack this year features several veterans of last year's outstanding aggregation. Perhaps the most dangerous of these are Walt Nash and Lysle Calvert, both of whom stand well over the six foot mark.

Double Pivot System

The Musky attack is built around a double pivot system. Nash and Calvert handle the two pivot posts under the basket, using their height to furnish the Blue and White with an unusually potent offense.

The Muscatine tutor has been driving his proteges hard in an attempt to get them into top form early in the season. Since many of Kinnan's veterans will graduate at the end of the first semester, including Nash and Calvert, he will strive to insure early season victories by putting a polished quintet on the floor for the opening game of the current campaign.

Junior Hawklets Play

Iowa City's freshman-sophomore team will try for its second win of the year at the expense of Muscatine's B squad. Coach Herb Cormack spent the entire session yesterday working on fundamentals. The Muscatine outfit is expected to furnish the inexperienced junior Hawklets with plenty of competition.

Parker, King, Laughlin, Lewis, and Lillicek will probably comprise Cormack's first choice for the Muscatine invasion. McNamara will also be counted upon for a good deal of work in tomorrow's game.

Madison Crew Wins Cage Tilt

The Madison street Mad-Caps defeated a stubborn North-Central outfit, 29-28, in the first game of the town intramural basketball league last night. The winners spotted Captain Haffley's aggression eight points before Fred Lindenmeyer and Jules Greenwald found the basket.

From then on it was a see-saw affair, never decided until the last 10 seconds of play when Percy Forman, eager North Central guard, fouled Jules Greenwald with the score tied at 28 all. Greenwald made good and the game was over. Otto Huebner, who counted five buckets, and Robert Haight looked good for the winners.

Two games were forfeited, the Northwesterns winning from the Southeasterns and the Southerners from the Westerners.

To Fete Gridders

Eight members of the freshman football squad will be entertained at a Thanksgiving day dinner today by Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Jennings, 418 Clark street. The gridders who will attend are Mike Enich, Keith Rickard, Robert Maches, Kenneth Pettit, Mike Tosaw, Dale Myer, and Hugh LeValley and Roger Pettit.

Army-Navy Ready for Football Farewell to Arms

Gridiron hosts of Army and Navy are prepared for a parting salute to football Saturday, Nov. 27, at Philadelphia. Regardless of the records of the teams, this game between the two services always is hard fought and interesting, with a background of fine tradition. For sheer color the game is a fitting conclusion for the grid year, with its bands, parades of swinging cadets and midshipmen.

Alabama in Sugar Bowl?

Atlanta Sports Writer Says Southern Classic Rivals Rose Bowl

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Putting two and two together before the turkey:

BOWLS . . . Ralph McGill, sports editor of the Atlanta Constitution and one of the clearest heads in the expert business, barged into the office today with bowl talk. McGill says Alabama positively does not care to go to the Rose Bowl this year, preferring rather the Sugar Bowl classic at New Orleans. Reasons ascribed by McGill are: 1. Alabama doesn't feel strong enough; 2. it can make almost as much money at the Sugar Bowl because it costs only $2,500 to get a team to and from New Orleans whereas it costs around $20,000 to make the trip to Pasadena.

"The Sugar Bowl," says McGill, "at last is a real threat to the Rose Bowl. It now seats around 50,000 and eastern teams are finding out they can make almost as much money as in the Rose Bowl because of the saving in traveling expenses."

Pitt to Sugar Bowl?

If Pittsburgh does not get a Rose Bowl invitation, it definitely will jump at a Sugar Bowl chance, this corner has learned from an official Pitt source. Our guess is Fordham will go to Pasadena, after getting revenge on New York university by two or three touchdowns Saturday, and then will hold California to a scoreless tie.

Rumor Montague To Marry Soon

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 24 (AP)—Close friends of John Montague, the onetime "mystery man" of golf, said today he and socially prominent Mrs. Esther Plunkett were planning to be married "very soon."

Mrs. Plunkett greeted Montague with a kiss Monday night when he returned from New York, where he won acquittal on a seven year old charge of robbery. She was among the first to visit him while he was arrested here last summer.

Friends said the wedding plans were as secret as Montague's past life had been, but predicted the ceremony might occur "today, Thanksgiving or later in the week."

Irish Practice On Rebounds

Ryan Seeks Tall Men For Following In Under Basket

"Follow that rebound" echoed through the St. Patrick's gym last night as Coach Harry Ryan sought to find a combination that could click near and under the basket. With the first game only a week off Ryan as yet has failed to uncover a tall man that is adept at following rebounds. A three-cornered battle is in progress between Glen Fitzpatrick, Paul Holland, and Paul Scannell, the three tallest men on the squad, for the important pivot position.

The initial part of the drill last night was taken up with fundamentals in ball handling and passing. Following this, Ryan instructed his men in out of bounds plays, which were worked into actual scrimmages.

The potential Irish lineup as it now stands consists of Hod Demery, Junior Bradley, Horace Love, Don Black, and Paul Holland. In last night's workout, Demery and Bradley stood out as scoring threats, with Black's passing and footwork playing an important role.

Touch Football Playoff Carded

With divisional interfraternity touch football declared finished yesterday afternoon by Dr. Frederick Beebe, arrangements were made for the divisional winners, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Delta Theta, and Delta Upsilon, to play off for the fraternity championship on Friday and Saturday afternoons if the weather permits.

Holding up the finals were three postponed divisional games which would not affect the winners' standings. As these teams showed no immediate desire to play off their games they were each given a forfeit and the games were cancelled.

Phi Kappa Psi will play Phi Delta Theta on Friday at 4:15 and Delta Upsilon on Saturday. Should the winner of the former game be defeated in the latter, another round-robin would be necessary but should the winner of the first game also win the second, then the two losers will fight it off for second and third places.

Seek Recognition For Track Record Set By Hawkeyes

The national record of 30.6 set by the University of Iowa 440-yard relay team two years ago at the Kansas relays, will be submitted to the International Athletic Federation for consideration as a world's mark next March.

Daniel Ferris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, informed Hawkkey officials yesterday that the record, which was approved by the recent A.A.U. convention, will undoubtedly be formally accepted by the international group as they generally approve the American body without question.

Andy Deoley, Wilson Briggs, Carl Nelson and Jimmy Owen were members of the famous quartet that bettered the world mark of 30.8 set by the Southern California Trojans in 1931.

Lower A Has First Setback

Lower A suffered their first setback in four games last night by Lower C in the Quadrangle basketball tournament by the score of 18 to 16. Upper B defeated Upper D, 28 to 20, in the second game of the evening.

Playing a defensive game with the lead changing many times during the contest, Lower C overcame a 12 to 8 lead held by Lower A late in the second period and continued to hold the advantage throughout the rest of the contest.

Jerome Biebesheimer made two baskets late in the final period to win the game for Lower C. Ray Boyenga played an outstanding floor game along with Biebesheimer's offensive drive which netted 10 points. Roland Boyens again played good ball for Lower A, making 8 points. Al Bissot and Tom Lazio played good floor games for Lower A.

Upper B centered their attack around a fast breaking offense and set floor plays. Zeke Bailey and Bill Vogt garnered six and eight points respectively for the winners. Hal Born of Upper D was high point man of the game with 10 points. Bob Kelly contributed six points toward Upper D's total.

Will Feature Water Pageant, Roosevelt Tilt, Swimming Exhibition, Diving, Musical Numbers and Beauty For Rivermen

U-High Cage Aspirants Handicapped By Lack of Size

Tonight, before a crowd that promises to be one of the largest opening night gatherings in a colorful 18-year history, the Dolphin club of the University of Iowa will stage their annual water carnival, "Gypsy Fantasy," at the fieldhouse pool.

Never in the history of the show has any greater enthusiasm or anticipation been shown previous to the actual performances. Weeks have been spent in rehearsing and preparing the pageant, and on historic Thanksgiving night the climax will come as the members of the varsity and freshman swimming squads present what is reported to be the finest Dolphin water show ever created.

It will be difficult to realize as the show unfolds in all its splendor and majesty, that a few weeks, and even a few days before, the swimming pool was barren of decorations and scenery.

Colorful Spotlights

The gigantic back-drop, 90 feet long and 18 feet wide, will nearly cover the north wall of the pool room, and on it will play from every angle colored and white spotlights, floodlights and footlights so as to enhance the beauty of the gypsy scene painted there.

Announcement of the queen and her four attendants will be anxiously awaited. Several weeks ago nominations for the queenship were received from dormitories, sororities and co-operative dorms. Pictures of the 21 candidates were then taken, and the photographs were mailed to Hollywood, Cal., where Don Ameche, famous radio and movie star, picked the queen and her attendants.

Hail the Queen!

Tonight hundreds of Dolphin show visitors will see the queen crowned. At each of the following two performances, tomorrow and Saturday, the queen will reign over the festivities of the carnival of water sports.

Beside her will sit the four attendants, each selected with the same care and eye for beauty as the queen. Over one corner of the pool a throne room has been constructed, and lined with beautiful drapes. It is there that the queen will sit with lights shining from concealed spots in the room to make the display of Iowa beauty more attractive.

After the first breath-taking glance around the huge room, the spectators will settle back for two hours of entertainment given in the proven Dolphin fashion.

Divers Perform

Every phase of swimming and diving will be demonstrated. Divers will perform from two different heights, the 10-foot board and a 25-foot platform nestled in the rafters high above the surface of the water.

Members of Coach David Armbruster's varsity swimming squad, augmented by a few freshman divers, will thrill the crowd with dare-devil dives. Army Christen and John Stark will go through the five required and five optional dives used in Big Ten competition.

Augmenting the regular diving will be a comedy quartet, which threatens to outdo all previous comedy teams in drawing laughs out of Dolphin crowds.

Ed Callahan, Army Christen, John Stark and Harold Sears have

By NEAL NAIDEN Daily Iowan Sports Writer

devised a comedy routine which almost brought down the house of technicians and scenery workers who viewed dress rehearsal last night.

Groucho and Company

Disguised as the Marx brothers three of the four men cavort atop the high board, and later in the act introduce Ed Callahan in a somewhat questionable capacity of queen. The Marx brothers act will also be portrayed on the high wire.

Another feature of the 18-act program will include two drill team units. The units are composed of from eight to 12 men and they perform difficult group swimming feats. Al Tennes and Al Armbruster, both members of Coach Armbruster's squad, have directed the drill teams.

Costumes, one of the visible spots where the show can either be ruined or made a success, have been handled by Charles Bremer and George Brown. Between 30 and 40 men will take part in different spots of the show, and a great many of them require elaborate costuming.

Coach Armbruster

Ray Walters and Bob Christians, two aces on Coach Armbruster's swimming squad, are taking major parts in tonight's pageant. Each has a spot on the drill teams, and they will share considerable responsibility in the maneuvering of the units.

Underwater lights will come into effective use during the underwater swim and the drill team acts. Giant floodlights will play from below and accentuate the silhouette created by the swimmers as they swim gracefully through the water.

Behind the scenes of the pageant Coach David Armbruster, supervisor of the show since its first performance 17 years ago, will take considerable pride in watching the product of his swimmers be presented to the public. During his tenure as swimming mentor the Dolphin show has grown into a university activity that has no rival.

Kling Plans Flight

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Rudy Kling, winner of the Greve and Thompson trophies at last summer's national air races, said yesterday he planned a nonstop west-east speed dash across the nation in a plane equipped with a motor of less than 100 horsepower.

Tomorrow With WSUI

In observance of Thanksgiving, WSUI will not be on air today.

On the evening musicale program tomorrow at 7:30 Clair Henderlinder, A2 of Onawa, will present a vocal program, accompanied by Ralph Deal, A4 of Des Moines. He will include "The Slave Song," "The Rose of Tralee," "Reminiscing," "When the Mighty Organ Played" and "Once in a While."

"The city which governs our destinies,"—thus we refer to Washington, D. C., but how does a person from Washington look at his own city? On tomorrow afternoon's Through the Air-planes program at 4:15 the two views will be presented by Laura Lankford, A3 of Washington, D. C., when she is interviewed by Derelle Atkinson, A3 of Des Moines.

O. C. Sorlien Will Testify In Own Defense

O. C. Sorlien, Mason City salesman charged with manslaughter in district court here, will testify in his own defense when the trial is continued tomorrow. There will be no session today.

The state is expected to rest its case tomorrow, and the defense plans to examine about 10 witnesses during the remainder of the trial.

Defense Attorney John Senneff stubbornly resisted the testimony of the most important state witness—Mrs. Mable Holdt of Iowa City yesterday afternoon. She was driving a car behind Sorlien when the crash—in which Dr. C. L. Drain was fatally injured—occurred June 5 north of Iowa City.

Her eye-witness testimony that "Sorlien's head dropped to his shoulders before the crash" and that "Sorlien was unable to light a cigaret after the accident" was pronounced upon by Defense Attorney Senneff.

He produced an insurance adjuster's statement signed by Mrs. Holdt stating "I did not notice Dr. Drain's car until it struck and was rolling over."

"I thought you saw the accident take place," Senneff said.

"I hardly looked at the state-

- ment before signing my name, Mrs. Holdt declared. "I did not read all of it," she added.
- These questions and comments were struck from the record, but the adjuster's statement was read into the records.
- Results of blood tests given Sorlien by Dr. G. F. Spielhagen were not allowed as testimony after the prosecution showed that he had treated Sorlien for injuries following the crash.
- Two Iowa Citizens driving behind Sorlien before the accident occurred also testified concerning the manner Sorlien was driving. They were Roland A. Simonson and Hans Hansen.
- Derelle Atkinson.

She Won't Cut In On The Tax Collector

DENVER (AP)—Miss Katherine Fitzgibbon won't argue with a customer so she is looking for another state in which to open a beauty shop.

The Colorado sales and service tax, levying two per cent on all sales and service transactions, is her reason.

"I won't argue with my customers over the collection of a tax," she says. "After all, I'm a beauty operator, not a tax collector."

Dorcas Names Date of Medical Aptitude Exams

Prospective medical students who plan to enroll in the college of medicine in the fall of 1938 will take aptitude tests Dec. 3, Registrar H. C. Dorcas announced yesterday.

Tests will determine whether the students have the aptitude for medicine. The test is required of all students who plan to enter a college of medicine belonging to the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Last year throughout the United States, the test was taken by more than 10,000 students of 627 colleges who applied for admission to approved medical schools.

RESUME

Marie Walewska has worshipped Napoleon as a great hero since her childhood. Married to Count Walewski, aged Polish statesman, her one hope is that Napoleon will free Poland from Russia. Napoleon comes to Poland and is entertained in Warsaw by the leading diplomats of the country who hope to interest him in the Polish cause. But Napoleon remains obdurate in the face of their pleas; his only interest is Marie whose beauty intrigues him. When he learns that despite her youth she is married to a man old enough to be her grandfather, he openly courts her at the ball. Marie checksmate his attentions and refuses his invitation to visit him the following day.

Chapter Three

LOVE BY ROYAL COMMAND

Two grenadiers, one carrying a huge bouquet of flowers, the other a note, waited in embarrassed silence outside the Walewski home. Stephen opened the door.

"The answer will be the same today as it was yesterday, the day before and all week: 'No answer,'" said Stephen coolly and closed the door upon them. He carried the flowers and note into the drawing room where Marie sat with her husband.

"Dispose of the flowers," said Marie, and handed the note to Walewski. He read it then walked to his desk. "I'm beginning to think Your Emperor admires you," he remarked, opening a drawer and placing the letter on top of a small pile of similar ones. He dropped wearily into a chair. "You made a profound impression on him, my dear," he sighed. He lapsed into silence, wondering to himself how much of an impression Napoleon had made on "Anastasia!" she cried. "What shall I do — these flowers, these letters — these insults to you —" The ringing of the bell interrupted her and a moment later Stephen announced the arrival of Prince Poniatowski and Senator Malchowski. After an exchange of greetings, Marie rose to leave.

"I beg you to remain, my dear Countess," said the Prince. "We are here to discuss matters of state — which — he paused — "which concern you."

Marie started in surprise, then took her place near her husband. Conversation turned to the further failure of all diplomatic effort to interest Napoleon in Poland's cause. Every attempt had been made to conciliate the emperor — more troops, cannon, horses had been promised and given — but, to no avail.

"And that is why we have come to you," Malchowski said finally. "You are suggesting that I can succeed where the Polish legions have failed!" she faltered.

"You are suggesting that I can succeed where the Polish legions have failed?" she faltered.

"This is not your first love affair," he whispered tenderly. "Or is it?"

"I have had no love affairs," she faltered.

"None?" he queried eagerly.

"She freed herself from his embrace. "I have only one love, sire — my country. Help us, sire! We are in your hands. Don't let a proud people beg in vain for what is rightfully theirs. We are desperate. You are powerful. Help us, sire!"

With steely eyes, he stepped away from her. She followed him imploringly. "We were happy to sacrifice everything for you — we were proud to see our loved ones go and fight for you. They were fighting for liberty! Is not liberty the mother of your own greatness, sire? When you reject Poland, you reject her, too."

He turned sharply, his face menacingly close to hers. "Who sent you?"

Her eyes fell at his tone. "I love my country, sire," she protested in a low voice.

"Who sent you?"

"You did, sire. You sent for me."

He regarded her deliberately. "Did you come here to find Polish liberty?" he mocked, "or to lose your own?"

"I came to offer you what thanks you might want — for an act of justice," she answered. "I would not have come here at all if I had not been persuaded it was for the good of a million others."

"You have wasted your time, Madame!" His words lashed out at her. "You should have learned before this that if you want to get something from a man — don't bargain. Give! Or pretend to give. I object to the tactics of the merchant. But — I never leave anyone — man or woman — who has behaved generously to me, the poorer for it. Now go and tell your advisors they have humiliated Napoleon. Napoleon doesn't trade — he takes. Or gives."

She stood white-faced and immobile.

"Well — why do you stand there?" he shouted. "You are free to go."

"No, sire," she replied quietly. "I am not free to go. I am not free to return to my countrymen and tell them that I pleaded so poorly in the cause of justice that Napoleon himself could not hear me!" Her tears fell fast.

He seized her roughly in his arms. "You are the only woman whose favor I have ever begged for," he whispered hoarsely.

She broke from his embrace and rushed from the room.

"Wait!" His voice echoed down the corridor.

She stopped and turned to meet his burning gaze. "Come back," he cried.

Slowly she retraced her steps. Tenderly he took her in his arms. Despite herself, an irresistible ardor impelled her lips to his.

With a swift sure, he closed the door behind them.

Marie has followed the dictates of Polish statesmen — and found them to be the dictates of her heart. What next has fate in store for her? Be sure to read tomorrow's thrilling chapter.

"No, sire," she replied quietly. "I am not free to go. I am not free to return to my countrymen and tell them that I pleaded so poorly in the cause of justice that Napoleon himself could not hear me!" Her tears fell fast.

He seized her roughly in his arms. "You are the only woman whose favor I have ever begged for," he whispered hoarsely.

She broke from his embrace and rushed from the room.

"Wait!" His voice echoed down the corridor.

She stopped and turned to meet his burning gaze. "Come back," he cried.

Slowly she retraced her steps. Tenderly he took her in his arms. Despite herself, an irresistible ardor impelled her lips to his.

With a swift sure, he closed the door behind them.

Marie has followed the dictates of Polish statesmen — and found them to be the dictates of her heart. What next has fate in store for her? Be sure to read tomorrow's thrilling chapter.

Big Lunches Blamed For 'Brain Anemia'

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Donald Laird, Colgate university psychologist, urges business men to eat light mid-day lunches to prevent "anemia of the brain."

Dr. Laird says tests have shown the digestive tract takes blood away from the brain after a heavy lunch. Light lunches make for better memory, faster and more accurate figuring and better concentration, the psychologist reports.

Headquarters of City Recreation Center Open Monday

Indoor Program Will Begin November 29, Board Decides

Quarters Include Gym, Game Room, And Staff's Office

The indoor recreation program of the Iowa City Recreation Center will start Monday when the center headquarters open, it was decided yesterday by the center board.

The headquarters, 121 Iowa avenue, will be open between 4 and 6 p.m., and from 7 to 10 p.m. on schooldays, and from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays, the board decided.

It is planned that the winter program shall consist of physical activities, such as gymnasium classes and handicraft, hobby, dramatic and musical recreation. Several social mixers are also planned.

The headquarters include a gymnasium, game room and reading room, in addition to the staff's office. The reading room has a supply of current magazines, newspapers and a small library.

Two groups — girls, between nine and 18, and boys between nine and 13 — will use the center during the afternoons on schooldays, and the older boys' group, between 15 and 18, will have its use in the evening.

Boys may play at the center on Saturday mornings and girls during the afternoons, according to the schedule.

To Begin Final Week of 1937 Record Drive

Sixteen solicitors will receive their final assignments tomorrow for the last week's drive in the 1937 community chest campaign, Attorney Thomas E. Martin, director, said last night.

The drive will end Dec. 3, and 10 solicitors will be awarded medals and a loving-cup for their work. The drive has netted $17,095.86—85.95 per cent of the $19,800 quota — according to last night's checkup.

The two largest divisions which have contributed so far are the business with $5,175.35, and the university, with $4,080.94.

The highest quota — percentages to be obtained so far are the residential division's 94.85, and the hospital's—91.24.

Exactly 2,400 Iowa Citizens have contributed during the drive to establish a new record for givers. In 1936 the campaign had 2,318 subscribers.

Relatives Honor Don D. Brown On Anniversary

Honoring her husband's birthday anniversary, Mrs. Donald D. Brown, 109 Seventh avenue, will entertain a group of relatives today.

Guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Brown of Cedar Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown and their children, Florence, Frances, Betty, Jane and Richard, of North Liberty and Mr. and Mrs. J. Emmett Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas and their daughter, Patsy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brown and their son, Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Stimmel, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Brown and their daughters, Dorothy and Katherine, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Brown and their daughters, Elizabeth and Gladys, and Leila Baker, all of Iowa City.

Clapps Entertain At Party Tonight

Prof. and Mrs. Philip Greeley Clapp, 222 S. Lucas street, will entertain the students of the music department and members of the chorus and the orchestra at a party in the north and south music halls tonight.

There will be games and dancing, with cider and doughnuts for refreshment.

Choir Entertained After Rehearsal

Dean and Mrs. Carl E. Seashore, 815 N. Linn street, entertained the Congregational church choir at a pre-Thanksgiving party last evening.

The 36 members of the choir gathered at the Seashore home at 7 p.m. for a choir rehearsal, following which there were dancing and games. The hostess served refreshments later in the evening.

Trivialities
It's Unimportant But — James Russell Lowell was asked to leave Harvard the day after he was elected to head the campus honor group. . . He had imbibed so freely he could hardly reach the platform on the night of his honor. . .

Francis Villon, who probably has penned the most beautiful lines ever written excepting Shakespeare, murdered a man, was convicted of thievery and accused of treason. . .

And Christopher Marlowe at 29 was killed in a tavern brawl, probably wrote most of his "Dr. Faustus" while the spirits were in flustering him. . .

No one of the temperance lecturers ever seems to realize, either, that the public house frequenter — Johnson, Boswell, Keats and the rest — did not drink milk while they witticized.

Cabell
James Branch Cabell, reflecting these, has declared, "Admit it or not—liquor has been the god-mother of most master-pieces." . . . And John Macy, admitting this, has mentioned half a hundred great who were teetotalers which of course, leaves us nowhere at all.

I can feel a more profound admiration for the few who are sceptical of the value of honorary scholastic fraternities once they are in—than when they are out. . . .

In the same way I'd rather be one of those who can quote that great man are known by their enemies and have a hundred friends than vice versa. . . .

The cynics, seems to me, are the ones who haven't and save their ego by diminishing those who have. . . .

Divergent
This being a meeting ground for divergent opinion — and I'd even print something nice about Frivol if I could think of something—I'm forced to report a kind note from a scout regards my Rudy Vallee remark. . . .

"I'm sorry you don't like Vallee's voice," he writes. . . "It's such a rest to my soul after the screeching of Eddie Cantor and the ingratiating smoothness of the Ford Sunday evening hour announcer. . . It's real. It's normal. . . It sounds like an intelligent person. . .

Bona-Fide
"Perhaps that is because he never says Whight for White as does a WSUI announcer three mornings a week, and he never uses 'by and large,' so to speak and 'as it were' all in one sentence as a speech instructor on our campus did last year. . . Between the too-trained voices of the women and the insincere laughter voices of the men, allow us to have one bona-fide voice."

None
Speaking of radio, I've never heard a woman on the air whose

Prominent Hollywood Folk Will Attend Banquet, December 9, in Des Moines To Honor A. H. Blank, Theater Manager

A. H. Blank will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given in Des Moines Dec. 9. Prominent Hollywood folk will attend the affair commemorating Blank's 25th year in the motion picture business in Iowa.

Three hundred and fifty film notables have been invited to attend. Special planes from the west coast and a special train from New York will bring them to Des Moines, according to G. R. Branton, general manager of the Tri-States Theaters Corporation, of which the Englert and Varsity theaters are a member.

Guests will include Mary Pickford, Charles Chaplin, Fredrich March, Adolph Zukor, Samuel Goldwyn, Louis B. Mayer, H. M. Warner, Governor Cochran of Nebraska, and Governor Kraschel of Iowa.

Blank was born in Roumania and came to the United States with his parents early in life. The family settled in Council Bluffs.

He began his career as ballyhoo man at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha. When he began managing a nickelodeon, his friends thought him crazy. But these unimaginative friends watched him mount from a struggling nickelodeon manager to an important character in the cinema industry.

Back there in 1912 and 1913 he foresaw a big industry arising from those hurriedly made one reels that constituted the movie business of that day. He made improvements such as furnishing seats for his customers and air conditioning (this consisted of a huge fan, a tunnel and a "lot of ice").

The two reel features became so popular that Blank was forced to expand. His first "palace," the Garden theater in Des Moines, seated 600 or 700 persons. Then he shocked his friends again by boosting prices from five to 10 cents.

Blank climbed higher and higher, aided by his rare talent in salesmanship. He built more palaces in the midwest and watched stars come and go. He watched the old two-reelers develop into 15 and 20 reel features with the best actors and technicians available.

Blank climbed higher and higher in many ways in developing the cinema industry and has been active in exhibitors' circles. He was one of the organizers of First National Pictures and served for years as chairman of its board.

Blank could hold interest for five minutes. . . .

I'm wondering if it's organized — this well-defined classroom antipathy toward fresh air. . . It's a well-known fact that wakenfulness is hard enough to maintain in most class-rooms. . . .

Part of It
A well-defined part of every writer's life—particularly those who venture an opinion — are those who harp with verbal discontent and write unsigned notes. . . I hear a half dozen such dissatisfactions a day, would be glad to consider them too. . . .

I've only this to say. . . If anyone has fault to find, I wish he'd first tell me. . . .

Kingston, Jamaica, largest town in the British West Indies, has a population of 120,000.

Stamp Pictures Alaskan Mountain

Postmaster Walter J. Barrow yesterday announced the arrival of a new postage stamp.

The purple stamp, which has been given the impressive name of "Alaska Commemorative Postage Stamp," shows a reproduction of Mt. McKinley and a view symbolizing development in the territory.

City Clerk Receives Notice of Approval For WPA Project

City Clerk Grover Watson received a notice from WPA officials yesterday that the city's project for WPA aid in clearing away the debris at the American Legion had been approved.

Several weeks ago the city was informed definitely that the project had been rejected, and as a result, work of clearing away the debris at the city's expense was undertaken.

The work is practically completed now and the WPA project will do no good. City Engineer Fred E. Gartzke said.

'Turkey Is Served, Madam'

University high school boys refuse to let Iowa City girls get ahead of them in the cooking world. Last night members of the Doughboys, an all-boy club, cooked and prepared a turkey dinner and served it to Prof. Harry K. Newburn, principal of University high school, Mrs. Newburn, and Miss Waite, domestic science teacher. Bruce Adams (left) and Charles Robins (right) are shown (top) immediately after the turkey was removed from the oven. They have joined (below) Doughboys Robert Alderman, Bill Dunton, Henry Pelzer, Richard Neff, John Hayner, Harold Webster, Bill Boiler, Murray Dawson, Don DeWitt and Wallace Taylor, and the guests at the Thanksgiving dinner last night.
