Officials Fear Japan Intends Commerce Ban

United States Demands Conference Before Customs' Change

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Anxiety lest China's open door be slammed shut has prompted the state department to demand Japan talk things over with the United States before altering the maritime customs service of China.

The move, announced by Secretary Hull, reflected official apprehension here the reported intention of Japan to seize control of the customs might have the effect of restricting the commerce of non-Japanese nations.

Great Britain Acts
Similar action has been taken by Great Britain. The two nations, acting independently but keeping each other closely informed of their movements, presented their virtual demands yesterday in formal notes to the Japanese foreign office.

The American representations, stressing in vigorous written phrases the same views previously set forth in an oral communication by the American ambassador to Tokyo, expressed strong opposition to any action calculated to disturb the integrity of the customs setup.

Complete Text Withheld
Secretary Hull withheld the complete text of the American note but said in submitting it, Ambassador Joseph C. Grew directed the attention of Foreign Minister Koki Hirota to the economic and historic nature of the American government's interest in the customs organization.

Japan's Army Pushes Chinese

Capture 3 Important Strongholds; Move On Westward

SHANGHAI, Nov. 30 (Tuesday) (AP)—Japan's army reported today its columns were pursuing retreating Chinese to fortified lines close to Nanking itself after capture of three important strongholds.

Harried by heavy aerial bombardments, the Chinese were reported falling back to the line of Chinkiang-Tanyang-Kintan, 40 to 60 miles east and southeast of Nanking, China's almost deserted capital.

Far to the south the desperate Chinese right wing stalled Japanese progress from Hangchow Bay. On the north the Kiangyin forts, overlooking the mighty Yangtze river, were stubbornly held, although outflanked and threatened with momentary capture.

But elsewhere the story was of almost unimpeded Japanese progress.

Kiangyin City— not the forts—Wutsin and Iling had fallen to Japanese columns which moved on westward into the heart of China, leaving their rising sun flags fluttering from pagodas and post offices in captured towns.

In Shanghai the tense international situation arising from Japan's seizure of all Chinese communications facilities and efforts to gain control of the Chinese maritime customs was somewhat eased.

(The state department at Washington made it known that new and more vigorous representations had been made by United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew at Tokyo against any action likely to interfere with the integrity of the Chinese customs. Britain and France took like action. The powers are interested because a large part of the customs receipts is pledged for service of foreign loans.)

NOBODY THERE

Dog Dies In Attempted Child Rescue

SOTTISBLUFF, Neb., Nov. 29 (AP)—Queen, a pet bulldog, gave her life today in attempting to rescue three small children already taken from a burning home. She apparently believed the children were trapped in the small house.

After the flames broke out, Mr. and Mrs. Jolly Stowell carried their children—Junior 5, Buddy, 3, and Richard, one—to safety. As the parents and firemen fought the blaze, queen rushed past them into the burning house. The dog was found suffocated in the children's bedroom.

How Moving Mountain Tossed Boulders in Its Path

Following the breakaway of nearly a million tons of dirt and rocks, eerie rumbles presaged another menacing avalanche of Los Angeles' moving mountain. Photo shows huge boulders that pinned in an automobile on Riverside drive, as shale and rocks slipped down the adjoining hillside.

F.R. Asks Housing Act Change

FIRST FISH

President Cruises Off Florida Keys

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt caught the first fish—a large mackerel—as he and seven companions cruised southward off the Florida keys today.

First word to temporary White House headquarters, a radio message from the yacht Potomac transmitted through the destroyer Roper in Biscayne bay, said the yacht was headed toward Dry Tortugas island, west of Key West, after the party had enjoyed a restful day behind rod and reel off southeast Florida.

The president, accompanied by four aides and Secretary Ickes, Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust cases, left for a week of fishing and business conferences about an hour after reaching Miami this morning by special train from Washington.

Honors Treaty By Recognition Of Manchukuo

ROME, Nov. 29 (AP)—Italy today honored its anti-communism pact with Japan by formal recognition of Manchukuo, the so-called independent empire Japan carved out of Chinese Manchuria in 1932.

The action legalized Italy's virtual recognition of Manchukuo last January, a month after Japan had accorded de facto recognition to the Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

Italy announced the step in a cable from Count Galfazzo Ciano, former minister, to Japanese Minister Koki Hirota.

"I am happy to inform your excellency this government has decided to give formal recognition to Manchukuo and to install a legation in that state. The Italian consul-general at Mukden will be charged with notifying the Manchukuo government of this decision."

(Italy was the third nation to recognize Manchukuo. Japan, of course, was first and El Salvador second. Salvador, however, never established a legation and has carried on business through her consul general in Tokyo.)

(Nearly all major powers have maintained consulates either at Mukden, the principal city, or Harbin. Generally, as in the case of the United States, these have been listed as accredited to China.)

Formal Italian recognition lagged behind the general attitude of fascists, whose controlled press has long shown itself sympathetic to the Japanese point of view toward Manchukuo.

Proposes Cut in Building Cost As Anti-Depression Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress to cut the cost of home building as an anti-depression measure today—and congress quickly showed a liking for the proposal.

In a special message, the chief executive suggested amendments to the federal housing act which, he said, would halve the down payment on small homes and reduce the financing charges on them, as well as on more ambitious structures.

He proposed, also, changes in the law to stimulate large scale construction of houses for sale and houses to rent, with a $50,000,000 allocation from the reconstruction finance corporation to give the movement impetus.

As a supplementary move, Mr. Roosevelt announced he would hold conferences with industry and finance directed at reducing the cost of labor and of building materials. He blamed the high cost of these items for the continuing lag in construction and called the latter "one of the principal reasons" for the current business recession.

He said he hoped the total effect of this program, one of several methods he has chosen for combating the slump, would be a boom in residential construction, spreading economic benefits in many directions.

"The long continued lag in building is a drag on all industry and trade," the message said. "This presents an urgent problem which is the common concern of industry, labor and government."

Ford Plant Manager Announces 52 Cars Turned Out Despite Auto Union Strike

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Martin N. Johnson, manager of the Ford motor company assembly plant, announced tonight 52 cars were turned out today despite a strike by the United Automobile Workers of America.

Informed of this production report, Delmond Garst, strike leader and a regional director of the CIO union, said:

"I guess Johnson is proving one thing—that you don't need skilled men to build automobiles. If they built that many cars I'd hate to ride in any of them."

Garst charged Ford was operating with imported labor and not with regular employees.

Johnson denied this as he did also the union charges which precipitated the strike call last Wednesday—that the company discriminated against union men, fostered a company union and forced employees to sign "loyalty pledges."

The plant manager asserted he was going ahead with plans to reach the December quota—135 cars a day—and needed 50 or 60 more men to do that.

"I might start hiring some more in a few days," he said. "There were 592 men in the plant today, including 40 maintenance men who did not leave tonight. Forty more maintenance men will report tonight. We're going right ahead."

Watchers at the main gate counted 552 men leaving tonight in automobiles. Police dropped into the string of cars at regular intervals, and the exodus through a picket line was made without incident.

Two Ford workers, Floyd Atwell and Dallas Ashburn, reported they were waylaid and beaten "by union men," six blocks from the plant this morning.

Borrowing Goes On
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced yesterday the current treasury borrowing of $50,000,000 a week on treasury bills would be continued up to and including December 15.

HOW INTOXICATED?

Urinalysis To Measure Amount of Fine

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Urinalysis as a method of determining how much alcohol a defendant has drunk was demonstrated in safety court today and described as an aid to the judge in fixing fines.

The company manufacturing a midget "still" used in the test said it was possible to "determine to the drop just how much whisky a man has imbibed." Then the court can levy a fine in proportion to the defendant's intoxication, the company said.

A bailiff who participated in the demonstration told Judge J. M. Braude the test revealed truthfully the quantity he consumed.

Backers of the test said the Arizona supreme court recently upheld it as legal evidence.

Federal Court Rules on Cases Of Vote Fraud

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Impetus to prosecution of vote frauds in the November, 1936 election in Kansas City was given the government today by the eighth United States Circuit Court of Appeals in unanimous opinions concerning 18 convictions.

United States District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan, prosecutor of the cases, declared in Kansas City the court's decisions assured that "American citizens have the right to vote and to have their votes counted."

Twenty indictments to "clean up the fraud" in the election were ready for hearing in the Kansas City district courts of Federal Judges Albert L. Reeves and Merrill E. Otis, he added.

The appellate court's action in reversing part of five of the cases had the effect of limiting federal prosecutions to charges of fraud in the balloting for representatives in congress.

The opinions held that voting for president, through the indirect, constitutional method of choosing electors, was a state, and not a federal, function. In the 1936 election, the voters named both congressman and presidential electors.

Six convictions were reversed outright and the cases remanded for new trials, but in none of them did the court's ruling affect the government's method of indictment and prosecution. Five of the reversals were on the grounds of insufficient evidence and the sixth because of a trial error.

Predict Increase In State Liquor Sales

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 29 (AP)—Bernard E. Manley, chairman of the Iowa State Liquor Commission, predicted today that Christmas liquor sales in the state's liquor stores would exceed those of last year.

Britain, France Reach 'Full Solidarity' in Talk On World's Problems

Love Me—Love My Hog

** * * * *

Chicago Boy Raises Porker in City Yard But Loses in Exposition

By PAUL D. SHOEMAKER

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Competition was too tough today for 15-year-old farmer Hal White of Chicago, whose lone hog, a Berkshire barrow, "Bully Boy," failed to make the championship hurdle at the international livestock exposition.

Instead the well-groomed porker—it was evident that Farmer White spent a lot of time dressing him up—settled back into the rather extraordinary class of being the only city-raised hog on exhibition.

It turned out much the same as Farmer White expected when he figured he didn't have much chance "against those birds from Iowa colleges" excepting the "birds" with the champion Berkshire barrow came from Pennsylvania State college.

"Perhaps it was just as well that Penn State won, rather than Iowa State, because Farmer White plans to go to Iowa State when he grows up to learn all about this business of farming.

Chances are he wouldn't have felt so kindly toward Iowa State had a porker from that college beat his "Bully Boy" today.

Farmer White took defeat with good grace.

"This was just a warm-up for the main event," he declared. "Next year I'm going to have two hogs to enter."

Farmer White, a student at Morgan Park high school, apparently has been able to overcome neighborhood objection to raising livestock on the rear of a city lot, therefore his emphatic declaration that he is going to have two entries next year.

"Why, I'm feeding a calf now," he declared with pride. "Going to be a dandy, too, and I've raised chickens and turkeys. Had some sheep and goats out on my place, too."

"Last year I sold my hog to the stock yards and got top price, $21.75 for him. It's a lot of fun. Started out by raising rabbits when I was seven."

Premier Says Tour of World Made by Group

Settlement of European Situation Appears More Likely

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Heads of the British and French governments, conferring in private, today reached what French Premier Camille Chautemps described as "full solidarity" in their search for an effective solution to major world problems.

The diplomats appeared pleased as they ended their eight-hour conference at Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's official residence.

Chautemps said "we made a tour of the world," and informed circles said a four-point discussion dealt with:

1. The visit of Viscount Halifax, British lord president of the council, to Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany;
2. Germany's colonial demands;
3. The threat to British and French interests from the Chinese-Japanese war;
4. The Spanish civil war.

These sources said the results were: A confirmed belief in their Spanish nonintervention policy; full agreement on the need for vigilance to safeguard their Shanghai interests; the necessity for further examination of German colonial demands; the conclusion that Lord Halifax's visit, considering its "scope and limitation," was highly successful.

The premiers and foreign ministers of the two powers, which with the United States—largely dictated a new map for Europe after the war, sat through the first of two days of talks which observers in both London and Paris described as among the most important since the war ended.

Reciprocity Aid May Give Vote On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Indications of reciprocity between supporters of farm legislation and backers of the wage-hour bill appeared today in the House.

For the first time in his 20 years in congress, Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the agriculture committee, signed a petition—intended to force a vote on the labor standards measure.

Three other southerners, Representative Ramspeck (D., Ga.), Umstead (D., N. C.), and Mahon (D., S. C.), were among the signers who brought the number of names on the petition today from 180 to 188—30 short of the required 238.

Chairman Norton (D., N. J.) of the labor committee told reporters addition of names of southerners apparently indicated representatives of agricultural areas were hopeful of picking up votes for farm legislation in exchange for help in bringing the wage-hour issue to the house floor.

"It looks like a question of reciprocity," she said.

However, Jones said he had signed, without committing himself to vote for or against the bill, because he believed a matter in which there was so much interest was entitled to consideration.

The National Grange, National Cooperative council and the National Cooperative Milk Producers' federation sent a letter to all house members today asking that the labor standards measure be defeated.

"Crime Tourist" Sentenced
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (AP)—The Arkansas supreme court ruled yesterday that Lester Brockelhurst, 23, Galesburg, Ill., "crime tourist," must die in the electric chair for the May 6 hitch-hike slaying of Victor A. Gates, 57.

Spanish Communique Denies Reports of Insurgent Air Raid

Says 30 Planes Flying Over City Dropped No Projectiles

MADRID, Nov. 29 (AP)—Government army headquarters tonight officially denied military reports an insurgent air raid caused almost 100 casualties in Guadalajara, 30 miles northeast of here.

The government communique said 30 insurgent planes flew over the city but that Guadalajara authorities declared no projectiles were dropped.

The official statement gave no explanation of previous detailed reports from military sources saying 30 persons were killed and more than 50 wounded in a Guadalajara raid.

Bombings occurred, the communique said, at Arganda, 15 miles southeast of Madrid, the factory of La Polveda and near Alcalá de Henares.

Reports to Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish frontiers, said the intensive bombings near Madrid appeared to indicate a major insurgent drive against that city.

It was recalled that similar attacks preceded the conquest of the Bay of Biscay cities in the north.

(Previous insurgent advice said the long-planned thrust would start against Almeria, in South Spain, but the advance has not taken form.)

Just south of Madrid insurgent cavalry, tanks and artillery attacked Moedas de Lagana and the bridge across the Tagus river. A government announcement said the attack was repulsed.

Madrid itself has not been attacked by air since last February, but since Thursday 12 towns have been bombed in a close circle about the city.

'Too Old' Police Retire in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, whom criminals call hard, softened up today.

In a husky voice, he said: "As I look around, I can see a lot of friends. I assure you, this is not a pleasant job."

His friends were a group of nearly 60 grayling men, ranging from patrolmen to inspectors. The commissioner's job was ordering them to resign.

They were "too old," under new police department rules which call for compulsory retirement at the age of 63 years. The rule affects 66 men.

"You have been loyal, faithful, and sincere public servants," Valentine said. "I want to say I regret taking this action, but it is essential in order to give the people the best administration possible."

House Roars!

New Birth Bill Flayed By Humorist

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Humorist A. P. Herbert plunged the sedate house of commons into an attack on the government's "Nosey Parker" bill—designed to find out why Britain is not producing more babies.

Herbert recommended "holidays with pay by the sea" as a remedy.

Other members joined the humorist in ridiculing Sir Kingsley Wood's population statistics bill which the opposition labelled "an insult to the nation's women."

The measure reportedly would give the government broad liberties in prying into family confidences.

"I am a grandfather," Herbert declared. "I think I have ceased to breed. But no one is going to ask me about that until I die."

Herbert also recited one of his own compositions, two lines of which were:

"The babies studied musketry while mother filled a shell,
"And everybody wondered why the population fell."

Wood argued that the present population decline, if continued, would reduce Britain's 44,000,000 population to 5,000,000 in 100 years.

New Clue For Corcoran Case

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—A new clue in the slaying of Patrick J. Corcoran was reported in the hands of police today as authorities prepared for the opening tomorrow of a coroner's inquest into the slaying of the Minneapolis labor leader.

While subpoenas were being served on 40 witnesses late today, the Tribune said it was reported that ballistics experts had determined that the slug that killed Corcoran was of .38 caliber and of foreign make.

At the same time, the Tribune said it was learned that a former inmate of the state penitentiary has been sought for questioning in connection with the slaying of the labor leader behind the Corcoran home on the night of Nov. 17.

The man sought for questioning, the Tribune said, it was learned was released from the state penitentiary less than two months ago.

While the search for this man was being made, authorities were preparing to open the inquest at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow.

No Time To Play Ostrich

REPRESENTATIVES AT the Brussels conference are returning to their respective countries agreed on only one thing: that they have failed to bring about any change in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

This is not a new situation. For the last three years the world community has stood idly by while militarists have made the map of three continents. To be sure, the old machinery of protest and negotiation has again been put into operation—but to little purpose.

Today Japanese armies penetrating deep into the heart of China are reiterating the long, dogged fight that gave Ethiopia to Italy. Once China is crushed—and it appears that only Russian intervention can save her—we can no longer deny that our peace machinery has broken, that it is outdated and ineffective in the play of modern big-gun passions.

What then? Are we to say that peace is impossible, that the pressure of population and economic need must continue to keep our boundaries shifting in the bloody kaleidoscope of war? Shall we repudiate the old premise that a small inefficient nation has a right to live its own life unmolested? Or shall we continue to evade the issue with neutrality, with an aloofness born of temporary security?

No single power is big enough to become world policeman. That two or more nations cannot cooperate without short-circuiting their professed motives in the tangle of the diplomatic switchboard is equally apparent.

We may point to roads, canals, new buildings and increased production of recent war-torn countries and say that progress justifies the means. This is neither sound reasoning nor comforting philosophy. It is a smooth and dangerous way to avoid looking at the unpleasant.

Aside from humanitarian considerations, it must be remembered that, by burying its head in the sand, every government places itself in the best position to be kicked when some enterprising militarist decides that still other nations should be remade in the interests of progress.

Regulating The Stock Market

THE RALLYING cry in most newspapers today is regulate the stock market. Demands pro and con are made continually in regard to the activity of stock exchanges. We all become panic stricken whenever the market slumps and we are ignorant of the exact causes.

In itself the stock exchange is a valuable economic machine, but when abused it becomes a menace. The proverbial bull and bear conflict is perennial and the cause of these two forces will work out some solution to the problem. The solution that is usually made is one which blocks further progress in the business cycle. Therefore we cannot leave the situation entirely in the hands of the exchange.

President Roosevelt has created a regulating agency to curb the activity of the market—one of the most needed things in our governmental set-up. It regulates the margins on the market and prevents the wholesale and uneven profits on both sides. Speculation is one of the desires of the average American financier. He strives to accumulate as much wealth as he possibly can at the expense of the person responsible for his gain. The regulating board is cognizant of this fact and aims to curb these actions.

Last week the market took another drop and the nation's business suffered considerably by it. Brokers attempted to stomp the buying to boost different fields of industry and in doing this the rest suffered a lapse in buying power. The main idea was to buy and sell the best for the most profit and that is where the stock exchange commission comes in. It has attempted to level off this fluctuating curve and benefit every industry on the market.

Wall street watched the president's attitude during the late business conclave, basing its activity on the outcome of the meeting. If the results were positive, then the market operated to pull the best out of the buying. This fact was obvious in the overselling of the market.

The stock exchange should be regulated in order that each industry may have an equal chance on the market. No partiality should be shown which would invite buyers to speculate too much on either side. If the government succeeds in establishing some sort of equilibrium on the market, the general business trend will be upward. Panics will fade and more confidence will be gained in the power of American business.

Warning to all young bridegrooms: Make certain now that your bride will not, in the future, wonder whether the name "spouse" shouldn't be correctly pronounced "souse."

It must be distinctly unsettling to the American who becomes quickly wrathful over the way the Italians are treating the Ethiopians and the Japanese the Chinese to suddenly realize that he never sees—never has seen!—Indians on Main street!

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

A THREAT TO FORESTRY

There is every prospect that the present congress will be called upon to consider a plan for reorganizing the federal departments. Under that plan the department of the interior would become the department of conservation. Quick to seize the opportunity of widening the jurisdiction of his office, Secretary Ickes hopes to take over the forestry service from the department of agriculture by executive order. When this proposal came before a committee of the senate and house during the last congress it was opposed by 15 agricultural organizations and conservation bodies. The house declined to pass it.

The forestry service now supervises 167,000,000 acres of national forests, an even greater area of farm forests, and 270,000,000 acres of timberland owned by commercial companies. Obviously the farm forests cannot be transferred. So we may find ourselves saddled with two forest services and two sets of scientific experiment stations—one in the department of agriculture and the other (concerned primarily with national forests) in the proposed department of conservation. Just how the ends of conservation are thus to be served no one has explained. The best that Secretary Ickes can say is that conservation is already the business of several bureaus, with the implication that more scattering is not objectionable.

Because the forest service was ineffective when it was part of the department of the interior, it was transferred to the department of agriculture in 1905. There it should remain. The soil and all that grows therein are the proper concern of the department of agriculture. Timber belongs to the soil, and the control of soil erosion involves forestation. Our greatest conservation problems are those presented by the soil.

Moreover, it is provided that any office that the president deems to be "of policy-determining character" may, with the consent of the senate, be filled by him without the usual competitive examination or inquiry into professional qualifications. It is easy to see what may become of the positions now held by the chief forester, nine regional foresters, 137 forest supervisors and 10 directors of experiment stations similar to the one at Madison, Wis., where some of the finest work in the world is done in discovering national uses of wood. The forest service has been developed by career men selected solely on merit. Brought under the control of the proposed department of conservation, it might become an asylum of deserving party workers and a hotbed of scandals like those that have marred the record of the land and Indian offices of the department of the interior. If conservation is indeed to be achieved, the department of agriculture rather than the department of the interior should be favored. Congress ought to modify the proposal for government reorganization in this light.

Tuberculosis Not Necessarily Fatal Disease if Treated Early

This morning I saw an elderly man who had been in the hospital 15 years ago. His record says that at that time he had tuberculosis of the lung, with cavitation. At the present time he is in on account of dropsy from a weak heart. He is nearly 70 years old. The case proves, if it proves nothing else, that tuberculosis is not necessarily a fatal disease, and with proper care people will go on and live out their life expectancy and die, as this man may, of some other condition.

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

Florence Golden, heard as Phyllis in "The Life of Mary Southern" at 3:15 p.m. Monday through Friday over WLW, is in a Cincinnati hospital recovering from a major operation. Miss Golden, wife of Don Becker, author of "The Life of Mary Southern," collapsed on the street in New York Nov. 5. The following day she was flown to Cincinnati, her home, where she underwent the operation Nov. 7. She is the second member of the cast to be stricken within a year. Minabelle Abbott, who has the title role, underwent an emergency operation just a year ago.

Constance Cummings, actress, has been signed to appear on the Kate Smith program either Dec. 2 or Dec. 9, depending on her other commitments.

"Midwestern Stars," a new creation of the nation's station presents a galaxy of radio artists from 9 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays. This new feature of WLW replaces on Tuesday nights the "WLW Operetta" which has been moved to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. Headed by Peter Grant, chief announcer of WLW, the "Midwestern Stars" program features Phil Davis' 15-piece orchestra playing the favorite musical hits, the WLW acappella choir, a male quartet, the DeVore sisters trio, Mary Paxton, personality singer, and Red Barber, ace sports announcer.

Beatrice Lillie, droll British comedienne, will guest star on Al Jolson's program tonight. She will be followed on the next program by Steopnagle and Budd, comedians, whose last guest star appearance was on the "Hollywood Mardi Gras." The program goes on the air at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays over CBS-WABC.

John Nesbitt, recently signed to a five-year contract by MGM to direct short subjects similar to his "Passing Parade" radio series, has obtained permission for two weekly broadcasts. A new show is being assembled for him to start soon after his present sponsor withdraws on Dec. 5.

NATIONAL HIGHLIGHTS: 3:45 p.m.—WLW, The Mad Hattersfield, drama. 5 p.m.—NBC-WEAF, Science from the news. 5:30 p.m.—NBC-WJZ, Gale Page song program. 7:30 p.m.—NBC—WEAF, Wayne King's orchestra. 8 p.m.—CBS—WABC, Al Pearce and his gang. 8:30 p.m.—WLW, True detective mysteries. 9 p.m.—CBS-WABC, Benny Goodman swing. 9:30 p.m.—NBC-Red, Jimmy Fidler and his Hollywood gossip. 10 p.m.—NBC-WJZ, News: Earl Hines orchestra. 10:15 p.m.—WLW, Noble Sissle's orchestra.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—New peril for film troupes in African jungles is reported by Otto Brower, director of an expedition into the Tanganyika country for the film "Stanley and Livingstone."

"The native men buy and sell wives at a standard price of 90 goats or 10 cows for each woman," Brower related on his return. "Each man saves up his cows and goats until he gets enough to buy another wife." So when the movie people, far from civilization, wanted to buy meat—for their own needs and to pay 2,500 natives who demanded food rather than money for "extra" work—they couldn't get it. Brower finally sent native runners with an appeal to the nearest British government outpost, got cattle commandeered, and had the wife hoarders reimbursed with cash and the promise to redeem the money in cattle later.

Left Holding The Book: Cesar Romero tells it on himself: After a recent preview he was surrounded by autograph hunters. He had one girl's book and pencil in hand, poised to sign his name, when the cry went up, "There's Clark Gable!" Suddenly Romero was standing alone, the book and pencil snatched from his hand, which was still poised as though to sign his name.

Robert Wilcox, who made his first successful screen test a year ago this Christmas, is marrying Joy Hodges on the same lucky day.

Fritz Feld, the character actor ("I Met Him in Paris," "True Confession," "The Yellow Nightingale"), has been trying to become a director for 20 years. Once Lubitsch, when managing director of production at Paramount, made Feld his editorial assistant, Feld took the job on condition he would be allowed to direct at the first opportunity, Lubitsch agreeing if Feld would stop acting long enough to be considered a directing possibility. But Lubitsch married, honeymooned in Europe, and during his absence Feld was prevailed upon by Wesley Ruggles to take the Colbert film role. Since then it's been one acting assignment after another—but some day, he still insists, he will be a director.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER: NEW YORK—A kindly little man with a benign smile and fitted out in the cowl of an Irish monk is reaping a harvest of applause every night in the west and sometimes in the afternoon. His face and his brogue are as solidly Irish as a corn cob pipe and a pint of whiskey. He is a Jew.

Think back a few years. Ten years anyway, perhaps a little longer. ("Oh, Mr. Gallagher! Oh, Mr. Gallagher! Hello, what's on your mind this morning, Mr. Shean?") ... Al Shean, in those old hey-days of the fabulous Ziegfelds he stepped into a musical show and saw it blossom into a theatrical legend. And from it came the Gallagher-Shean song, the ballad with a thousand verses. You remember. If you didn't know enough verses, you made 'em up. It lengthened out like a fakir's rope, or a chain of sausage links that never, never became exhausted.

Back to Broadway: Now come back to Broadway of 1937. Of late week, in fact. And travel down to the St. James, where a curiously warmed surprise package has been set down by Delos Chappell. It is "Father Malachy's Miracle," and a more welcome addition could not be named. They go behind the scenes in this play where a Catholic church is set down across the street from a Scottish nightclub. It comes with something of a shock to Protestants to see several priests walking around in their own quarters, genuinely human fellows who laugh and wise crack and get off occasional witticisms. They say that during rehearsals Mr. Chappell and his director, Worthington Minor, invited one of New York's best known priests down to see that the playwright hadn't made any mistakes—that the behavior of the monks was as it should be—that certain ritualistic features were in keeping with the ritual of the church.

When the Father witnessed a complete rehearsal he nodded approvingly, but added, somewhat dryly: "I'm almost afraid to give this to the laity for fear they may criticize us on Sunday."

Educators Will Open Language Meeting Friday

3-Fold Conference To Bring Nationwide Professors

The three-fold language and literature conference which will meet here Friday and Saturday, will attract teachers of English, German, French, Spanish, Latin and Greek from high schools and colleges over the state.

The conference will include the 23rd annual conference of the teachers of English of Iowa, the 18th annual conference of the teachers of modern languages of Iowa and the 20th annual conference of the classical teachers of Iowa.

Among the speakers will be Prof. Hans Kurath of Brown university who will give a lecture on "The Linguistic Atlas and the Future of Research in American English" Friday at 4 p.m. and also on "Why the Teacher Should Know the History of the Language He is Teaching" Friday at 11 a.m.

Paul Engle, Iowa lecturer and poet, will give an address on "The Making of a Poem" Saturday at 10:10 a.m.

Professor Helmut Rehder of the University of Wisconsin will speak on "The Plight of Literature" at a general meeting Friday at 2:30 p.m. He will also address the modern languages conference Saturday at 10 a.m. on "Some Aspects of Romanticism."

On the classical languages conference program is a symposium on "The Value of the Classics." Speakers will give their ideas on the value of the classics for the student of theology, for the teaching of English, for the business man, for the lawyer and for educational guidance.

Three illustrated lectures will be given for conference visitors, Capt. John D. Craig will give a university lecture Thursday at 8 p.m. showing jungle scenes which he has taken for use in motion pictures.

William C. Graham, professor of Old Testament language and literature at the University of Chicago, will give an illustrated lecture on "Echoes, Ancient and Modern, of Cultural Conflict in Palestine" Friday at 7 p.m. in chemistry auditorium.

Professor Graham's lecture will be followed by an illustrated lecture by Prof. Walter R. Agard of the University of Wisconsin on "Delphi and Greek Religions."

The conference will close Saturday evening with a lecture by Prof. John A. Scott of Northwestern university on "Solved and Unsolved Problems of Government, Ancient and Modern."

Debate Squad To Speak Over WSUI Dec. 8

Freshmen Will Analyze Labor Question In Open Forum

The freshman intercollegiate debate squad of the University of Iowa will present a radio broadcast over station WSUI Dec. 8 at 3 p.m., Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of debate, announced yesterday.

The broadcast will be an open forum discussion in which the speakers will analyze the question, "Should the national labor board be empowered to require arbitration of industrial disputes between employer and employee?" The program will be for the benefit of junior colleges throughout the state which are working on the question.

Those who will participate are William Rivkin of Davenport, David Sayre of Ames, Richard McMahon of Ft. Dodge, Roland Christensen of Iowa City, Gerald Siegel of Vinton, Robert V. Smith of Des Moines, Deming Smith of Toledo, Conrad Schadt of Williamsburg, Stanley Roberts of Osage, Bryant Prichard of Onawa, Everett Miller, El of Mabel, Minn., and Richard Reece of Marrenco.

Prof. Walter L. Daykin of the college of commerce will discuss the debate question used by the university freshmen and junior colleges in a speech to the freshmen debate squad in room 7, Schaeffer hall Thursday at 7 p.m. He will analyze issues and answer questions relative to the topic.

Rotarians Feast At Duck Dinner

The annual duck dinner for Rotary clubs in this section of the state was held last night at 6:30 in Burlington. Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the college of law, president of the Iowa City branch, represented his group.

The speaker for the evening was J. N. Darling, well-known cartoonist.

Adventurer 'Shoots' World Thrills

Captain Craig, Hollywood Favorite, To Speak Here Thursday Night

One of Hollywood's favorite adventure thrill producers, Capt. John D. Craig, who will appear here Thursday evening in the university lecture series, has traveled the world for 12 years seeking out-of-the-way spots where the unusual thrills are recorded by his camera.

Photographing strange sights and experiences is his hobby. Captain Craig has led his adventure thrill crew into 39 different countries across five continents . . . always far off the beaten tourist track. The highest mountains, the deepest jungle, even the bottom of the sea are his studios.

In his early 20's, just out of college, Captain Craig became a "trouble-shooter" in the California oil fields. He struck oil and became a man of leisure. It was then that he made a hobby of motion picture photography and one night attempted to "shoot" a burning oil well. He crept so close that his clothes were scorched but before they burst into flames, he retreated and returned with an iron plate for a shield and made some excellent shots.

This was the first time young Craig had ever experienced a close-up of genuine danger. He liked the thrill so much he decided to track adventure to its den. He went to India on a tiger hunting expedition. His experiences there made him doubly sure danger was to be his business.

The motion pictures he obtained were so full of dangerous and thrilling close-ups, that they were quickly purchased by one of the leading studios. This gave the youthful adventurer a practical idea. He felt there was a real field for the production of genuine adventure pictures. He assembled his first crew of danger-loving technicians.

The jungles had given Captain Craig his idea, but he felt that, while animal life on the surface had tremendous interest value, the comings and goings of the denizens of the ocean bottoms would be something novel and decidedly intriguing. His crew

CAPT. JOHN D. CRAIG

Free admission tickets for the second university lecture of the year will be available to students and faculty today and tomorrow at the main desk in Iowa Union. Capt. John D. Craig, Hollywood's adventure producer and world traveler, will give the lecture in the main lounge of Iowa Union Thursday at 8 p.m. It will be illustrated with motion pictures. Any tickets which remain Thursday will be available to the general public.

agreed this was undoubtedly true, but none of them knew the slightest thing about diving or undersea photography.

Young in years, Craig has absorbed much of the learning of the old masters of the Orient. Years of travel through India and the Far East have broadened his viewpoint and left him with a philosophy that would do credit to a man many years his senior. The combination of his boyishness and understanding of human nature is the key to his success in his work.

Captain Craig's first long journey started in a rush. "Your boat sails in a hour," the agent said. Craig was aboard when it sailed. He has been doing things like that ever since. That first trip took him to Alaska and the Yukon. It was there that he learned an interesting lesson that has kept him on the go ever since.

In the northland he met the Old Sourdoughs . . . men who had been "seized" by that great white vastness. It was there Craig learned that a country could "get" a man if he tarried too long. Since then he has never stopped in any one country so long that it could hold him.

Art Exhibition Presents Work Of Corbusier

An exhibition including one model, 24 enlarged photographs, and 14 plans of work by the modern French architect, Le Corbusier, will be shown in the exhibition lounge of the fine arts building until Dec. 20.

The exhibition, arranged by the Museum of Modern Art of New York, N. Y., considers Corbusier's development both in design and plan from his 1916 house at La Caux-de-Fonds, Switzerland, to his latest villa in the eastern outskirts of Paris.

The work represented is distinguished by its variety. In addition to the representation of private houses, apartment buildings and dormitories, there are the double and single house units in the housing development at the 1927 exposition in Stuttgart, the lodging houseboat on the Seine and a model of the town of Nemours, Algeria.

Hospital Jobs Open During Holiday Season

Students or non-students may earn the equivalent of at least $45 during the Christmas vacation by accumulating board at the University hospital, Lee H. Kann, manager of the university employment bureau, announced yesterday.

This will assure workers of three meals per day up to the second week in February. In many cases the amount saved will more than care for the second semester registration cost. Daily board during the vacation period may be earned if the person does not wish to work for the accumulative board.

Persons who wish employment have been asked to report immediately to the university employment bureau in the old dental building.

Prof. W. L. Daykin and Joan Halloran Write in November Journal of Business

Prof. Walter L. Daykin of the college of commerce and Joan Halloran, research assistant in sociology, are the authors of two articles in the November issue of the Journal of Business. The magazine, second of six regular issues, will be released today. Arnold Brown, C4 of Buffalo, N.Y., editor, announced yesterday.

Professor Daykin's article, "Is Employment Compensation a Preventive Measure?", deals with the question of whether unemployment compensation is a relief or a preventative measure.

"Effects of Changes in Communication Upon Business Services of Iowa Agricultural Villages," is the title of Miss Halloran's article. Covering a 15-year period, it shows the changes in number and character of retail services in 100 Iowa towns of 500 population or less, changes that have resulted from improvements of highways.

Although there has been a substantial decrease in most retail services, it has been offset by the tremendous increase of garages and oil stations, the article points out. There has been almost a 500 per cent increase in the number of filling stations in the last 15 years, Miss Halloran writes. These and other statistics are included in the article.

Other articles are by Prof. Harley L. Lutz of Princeton university; Joseph L. Baker, assistant chief of federal trades commission of Washington, D. C., and E. M. Patterson, president of the American Academy of political and Social Sciences.

Law Students To Open Cases

2nd Year Arguments Will Begin Tonight In Commons

The first of the series of second-year law arguments will be tonight at 7:30 in the lounge of the law commons. Judge Frank Bechtley of Montezuma, a district court judge, will preside.

Members of the competing teams will be James Cameron of Eldora and Philip Yothers of Cedar Rapids on one team, and Howard Siegel of Davenport and Herbert Rosenberg of Maquoketa on the other. Harvey Uhlenhopp of Hampton will serve as bailiff.

The case to be argued will be the state of Iowa against Philip X. Dexter. It is similar to one tried recently in the Johnson county court concerning the use of the blood test to determine alleged intoxication of a person.

The public is invited to attend.

Sophomores Buy 400 Tickets Yesterday; General Sale Starts

More than 400 tickets to the Sophomore Cotillion, first all-university formal, had been sold by last evening at Iowa Union desk. Clyde McCoy's Sugar Blues orchestra will play for the party Friday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Union lounge.

The general ticket sale will begin this morning. Tickets were restricted to university sophomores yesterday. The Cotillion is the first of the four all-university dances for which closing hours for women are extended to 1:30 a.m.

Pharmacists Show Window Display On Quantity Buying

Quality is not hampered by buying products in bulk—this is the theme of the window display at the pharmacy-botany building this week.

Different sizes of bottles of medicine are shown, and the corresponding prices are indicated. Each medicine is shown in five or six different sizes of bottles. These examples demonstrate that when one purchases a large bottle of medicine, one gets the same quality but a larger quantity for his money.

Those who were in charge of the display were Harry W. Austin, P2 of Iowa City, Frederick A. Quire, P1 of Kanawha, and Howard Lee Johnson, P2 of Chariton.

TWO NEW FORD V-8 CARS FOR 1938

THE DE LUXE
85 HORSEPOWER

THE STANDARD
60 OR 85 HORSEPOWER

DE LUXE FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85-hp. engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Mohair or Broadcloth upholstery; Twin horns, tail lights, sun visors; Clock; 6.00" tires, white side-walls are extra; 8 body types; 6 colors.

STANDARD FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85 or 60 hp. engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Broadcloth or Mohair upholstery, Mohair extra in '60"; One tail light, one sun visor; Twin horns; 3 body types; 3 colors.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance — but built to the same high standard of mechanical, excellence — on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth, economical performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments. De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors. It gives you again a choice of V-8 engine sizes — 85 horsepower or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost.

BOTH LINES LOW PRICED

With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly. Whichever one you choose you get the same proved Ford features.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689; Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire, tube, tire lock and band, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, windshield wiper, sun visor; also de luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

Athletic Board Re-Appoints Coach Irl Tubbs

Popular Iowa Football Coach

Daily Iowan Engraving

Coach Irl Tubbs, shown above, who has just finished his first football season at the University of Iowa, yesterday was granted a new one-year contract by the Board in Control of Athletics.

1937 team won only one game, beating Bradley, 14-7. Despite the disastrous season, the Iowa alumni groups all over the state are well satisfied with the team and its coaches.

Hawkeye coaching staff also received new contracts. Ernie Nevers, backfield and end coach, Pat Boland, line coach and Bill Frey, trainer were the other three.

Daily Iowan Sports Writer

In a thrilling game that saw the lead change hands 23 times throughout the evening, Iowa City high's cagers came from behind to defeat Lone Tree in the last two minutes of the tilt played on the local court last night.

Two minutes before the final gun sounded, Ted McLaughlin replaced George Covert in the Little Hawk lineup to perform a Horatio Alger feat as he pulled the game out of the fire.

Capt. Joe Gaeta, playing the entire game for the visitors, was the outstanding man on the floor, but was unable to outdo the excellent team work of the Hawks.

Iowa City's reputation as a second half football team during the past season has extended itself to the hardwood courts.

Both teams registered an equal number of field goals. A keen eye from the free throw line marked the Red and White's slight superiority over their invaders.

The Mertenmen have established somewhat of a record in their three early season games, in that they have shined no single cager into the limelight.

Paced by Virgil Parker's 13 points, Coach Herb Cointack's freshman-sophomore quintet rolled over the City high B team by a 41 to 14 score in the curtain raiser last night.

The younger Hawks had no competition as they romped around the floor, scoring almost at will. The score at halftime favored the frosh-soph by a 21 to 5 score.

DeWayne Justice led the scoring for the B team, coached by Bush Lamb and Charley Sprague, with 7 points. The B team showed the results of a lack of practice, having rehearsed for only four nights.

Both teams used all available substitutes as the coaches sought experience for their respective proteges.

Coach Merten will take his Little Hawk basketballers to Davenport Friday to engage in the first Mississippi Valley conference game of the current season.

Trade Winds

Baseball Men Invade Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 29 (AP)—Trade rumors were almost as numerous as pints of beer in Milwaukee today as baseball's David Harums, big and small, piled into the Wisconsin metropolis for the annual ivory market rush.

The top rumor involved Ducky Medwick, National league batting champion of the St. Louis Cardinals. Though the deal has been denied by every interested party, it still persisted that Ducky had been traded to the New York Giants for Pitcher Hal Schumacher, Infielder Mel Ott and Catcher Gus Mancuso.

Every team in both leagues except for the World Championship New York Yankees, were definitely in the market for new faces. Manager Joe McCarthy of the champs, a great trader in his heyday, was expected to attend the market but was in no mood for swapping or buying except to strengthen the already strong Yankee farm system.

Mungo Scheduled to Go
As the major and minor delegates streamed into the city, there seemed a general agreement that Van Lingle Mungo, truant fire ball ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers, definitely was to get a change of scenery.

The Detroit Tigers, in the market for a good starting pitcher, were expected to swing one or two good deals, probably acquiring Pitcher Johnny Whitehead of the Chicago White Sox, for Outfielder Gerald Walker.

"We Can Listen"
They all want to load me down with third basemen because they hear I'm through playing that bag," said Jimmy, "but they'll have to talk fast and talk big to get a fast one over on me. I'm willing to talk business but we're in pretty good shape and can do a lot of listening."

Inssofar as the minor league convention was concerned, no hard battles were in prospect. The big business before the house was the creation of Class E circuits and the proposal to tighten the rules on recruiting of college players.

Both teams registered an equal number of field goals. A keen eye from the free throw line marked the Red and White's slight superiority over their invaders.

The Mertenmen have established somewhat of a record in their three early season games, in that they have shined no single cager into the limelight.

Paced by Virgil Parker's 13 points, Coach Herb Cointack's freshman-sophomore quintet rolled over the City high B team by a 41 to 14 score in the curtain raiser last night.

Basketball Regulars Excused from Scrimmage As Coach Williams Builds Reserve Strength

Veterans Work For Perfection Of Fast Attack

Coach Rollie Williams excused the basketball regulars from scrimmage yesterday as they rested following Saturday's game with the freshmen.

What looked to be a first string lineup saw Ben Stephens and Capt. Sam Johnson at the forwards, Jack Drees at center and Ken Suesens and Joe Van Yseldyke at the guard positions.

Elmer Bratten was alternated with the forwards in this lineup and saw plenty of service.

Coach Williams and his assistant, Pops Harrison, concentrated on timing involved in swinging the attack from one side of the court to the other, working on ball handling and cutting.

Williams soon left the regulars and went down to the other end of the court to go to work on the task of building up a competent set of reserves.

The three forwards, Johnson, Stephens and Bratten seem to be rounding into form. Basketball fans aren't forgetting the hook-shot exhibitions the Hawkeye captain put on in the closing games of the 1936-37 campaign, and he was dumping them consistently in yesterday's practice.

Irish Hardwood Team Plays At Parnell Tonight

Coach Ryan sent his St. Patrick's cagers through a final workout last night before journeying to Parnell tonight.

This engagement will serve to test the real strength of the Irish this season. In workouts thus far the southsiders have shown that they are a team to be reckoned with, and should go far in the way of winning ball games.

Ryan spent considerable time last night in explaining how to shoot baskets in Parnell's cracker-box gym, and the Irish spent a large portion of the drill in practicing low-aimed balls at the basket.

The Irish starting lineup will have Black and Demery at the guard posts, Love teamed with Bradely in the forward positions and Scannell holding down the pivot berth.

Regular workouts of Coach David Armbruster's varsity swimming team will begin this week, and a regular program of development and practice has been outlined to condition the men for the strenuous Big Ten competition they will encounter during the season this coming winter and spring.

Coach Armbruster will begin to definitely place his men shortly, and it is then that the first indication of how powerful a team Iowa will have this year will be available.

Final Football Poll Has Pitt In First Place

Fordham, Alabama And California Round Out Big Four

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh's rating as the No. 1 college football team of the year fell only a trifle short of being unanimous today in the final roundup of votes for the Associated Press national writers' poll.

The seventh and last weekly tabulation of nation-wide opinion disclosed Pittsburgh the top choice of 29 out of 33 experts and clear belief that California, Fordham and Alabama, in that order, compose the "Big Four" of 1937.

It remains to be seen whether the poll's indicated pairings for the two major post-season engagements, California-Pittsburgh for the Rose Bowl and Fordham-Alabama for the Sugar Bowl, will be made official.

Here's the final tabulation, with points tallied on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

- 1. Pittsburgh (29 first, 2 ties for first) 327
2. California 277
3. Fordham (1 first, 2 ties for first) 253
4. Alabama (1 first) 246
5. Minnesota 104
6. Villanova 103
7. Dartmouth 102
8. Louisiana State 97
9. Notre Dame and Santa Clara tied, each 90
Second ten: 11. Nebraska, 35; 12. Yale, 18; 13. Ohio State, 14; 14. Holy Cross and Arkansas tied, each 9; 16. Texas Christian, 8; 17. Colorado, 7; 18. Rice, 6; 19. North Carolina, 5; 20. Duke, 4.

Also ran: Vanderbilt and Auburn, each 3; Cornell, Harvard and Washington, each 1.
Only the "Big Four" received the support of every expert casting a final ballot. Pittsburgh, undefeated and tied only by Fordham, topped the rankings throughout the last four weeks. California, the Western Rose Bowl choice, ran second during the stretch drive after being the nation's No. 1 team for three weeks.

The slump in Golden Bear showed a scoreless tie with Washington.

Alabama and Santa Clara compiled the only all-winning records of teams listed in the first 10. Villanova, like Pitt and Fordham, showed only one tie on its season's record. Dartmouth, the fourth eastern entry in the top 10, was deadlocked twice. Minnesota was rated several notches above Notre Dame and Nebraska, although defeated by both. Louisiana State's only setback was a 7-6 score at the hands of Vanderbilt.

Notre Dame, although tied by Illinois and beaten by both Carnegie and Pittsburgh, finished strong. The Fighting Irish won five of their last six games.

For comparative purposes here's how the teams were rated in the final 1936 poll: 1. Minnesota, 332 points; 2. Louisiana State, 309; 3. Pittsburgh, 227; 4. Alabama, 218; 5. Washington, 216; 6. Santa Clara, 155; 7. Northwestern, 130; 8. Notre Dame, 107; 9. Nebraska, 69; 10. Pennsylvania, 34.

Final Big 6 Standings

Table with 4 columns: Team, W, L, T, pts per gp. Rows include Nebraska, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Kansas State, Iowa State.

Regular workouts of Coach David Armbruster's varsity swimming team will begin this week, and a regular program of development and practice has been outlined to condition the men for the strenuous Big Ten competition they will encounter during the season this coming winter and spring.

Coach Armbruster will begin to definitely place his men shortly, and it is then that the first indication of how powerful a team Iowa will have this year will be available.

Blues Prepare For Game With Wellman Friday

Still smarting from the defeat they suffered at the hands of Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids last Friday, University high cagers went through a strenuous drill on fundamentals as they began preparations for their basketball game with Wellman this Friday.

Coach William R. Wood stated that he thought that their defeat last week end, which was by a small margin, was due to faulty ball-handling, poor passing and the inexperience of most of the squad members in varsity competition.

Coach Wood plans to drill mostly on fundamentals this week, stressing the general weakness of the whole squad. He will also scrimmage them against the sophomore squad.

In the practice yesterday, he drilled his team on offensive and defensive footwork, basket shooting and passing. In a short scrimmage session against the sophomore squad he used Ham Ries and Duane Carson at the guards, Ed Burns at center and George Miller and Bob Carson at forwards as his starting lineup.

Canby Pole Vault Meet Scheduled This Afternoon

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the annual Canby pole vault competition will be held in the fieldhouse under the supervision of Francis Cretzmeier. The event is the eighth in the all-university intramural competition. All undergraduates are eligible to enter the event with the exception of previous winners.

The winner will be awarded a travelling trophy as well as an individual gold medal. Second and third places will receive silver and bronze medals. In last year's event M. E. Barnes and W. T. McElhinney tied for first place with a mark of 11 feet six inches.

Those interested should report at the fieldhouse or get in touch with Ted Swenson, assistant track coach.

Hawk Mentor Receives One Year Contract

Nevers, Boland, Frey Also Given One Year Pacts

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

The Board in Control of Athletics announced yesterday that Ira Irl Tubbs, who has just completed his first season as head football coach at the University of Iowa, has been retained for another year.

Tubbs' contract will run on a year to year basis, the same as other members of the university faculty.

Three other members of the Hawkeye coaching staff were also given one year contracts. Ernie Nevers, backfield and end coach, Pat Boland, line menter and Bill Frey, popular little trainer of the football team, all received one year contracts.

Despite the fact that the Hawkeye football team, playing its first year under Tubbs, ended the season with only one victory in eight games, the soft spoken little man from the south has made a lasting impression on the Iowa fans and as yet there have been no rumblings of the sort that have haunted Iowa coaches in the past.

The one thing that has endeared Tubbs to the hearts of the Iowa alumni more than anything else is the fighting spirit that was shown by the Hawks all during the disastrous season. Only in the Michigan game was there any sign of a let down in spirit and that game followed the heart-breaking defeat at the hands of Wisconsin the week before.

The board did not announce the appointment of the new member to replace Chairman C. M. Updegraff, who is on a leave of absence from the university. It was believed that President Eugene A. Gilmore has not yet acted upon a successor for Updegraff.

Updegraff last spring traveled to Washington, D. C., to interview Tubbs before the latter came to Iowa City to sign his contract.

Colorado to Play Southwest Team In Cotton Bowl

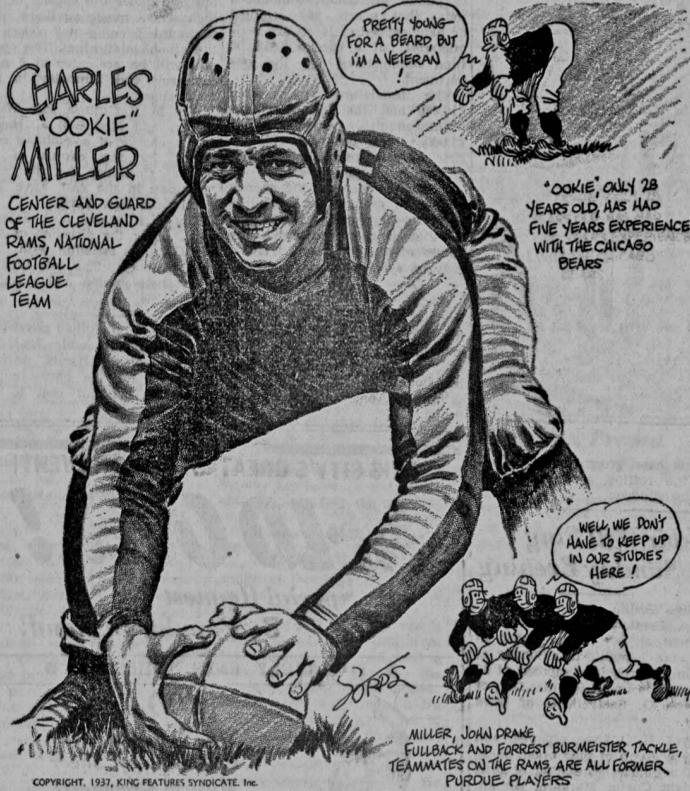

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 29 (AP)—The undefeated University of Colorado football team will meet a southwest conference representative in the Cotton Bowl here New Year's day.

An invitation extended by J. Curtis Sanford, president of the Cotton Bowl association, was formally accepted tonight after the Colorado faculty executive council approved participation. The players voted for a "bowl" game yesterday.

The championship of the southwest conference will be decided here Saturday in a game between Rice Institute and Southern Methodist University. Victory for the Rice Owls would give them the title, whereas a loss would place the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, who have already completed their schedule, in first place.

H. L. Williams, brilliant left-handed Victoria resident, won the 1937 Australian Amateur Golf championship over the same course whereon as a lad he won his first Australian amateur title six years ago. Williams defeated T. Tanner, 1 up, in the finals.

School's Out—Old Professor Holds Last Class

Coaches Tell Season's Highs and Lows; Pa Goldberg Proud of Marshall

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Even the old professor, accustomed as he is to crocodile tears and shock-proof alibis, applauded today as he came to Chicago to hold graduation exercises for his Monday morning football coaches' class.

After he had bestowed highest honors on Frank Thomas of Alabama and Buck Shaw of Santa Clara for their feats in going through the tearful season undefeated and untied, the old professor dispensed with all rules by asking each of his star students to pull down his hair for a good cry or laugh.

Professor: All honor to Buck and Frank, two country boys who made good, but let's have the inside. I'd like every man to get up, one at a time I mean, and tell us his saddest and happiest moment of the season. We'll start with Ducky.

Ducky Pond, Yale: Professor, my lowest moment came when Clint Frank walked off the field at Cambridge and I realized the great player and great captain had played his last game for Yale and had to leave with his team defeated. My happiest moment came only the week before when I saw Clint carry the ball 79 yards for a touchdown in the first play against Princeton. Why, I got a bigger kick out of that than from our last minute comeback against Dartmouth.

Professor: Yes, Yale won't be the same without Frankie, but I hear Cale will have a team again next fall. How about the Irish?

Proud of Gopher Win
Elmer Layden, Notre Dame: The season was a very even proposition for us with few low or high spots, professor. The most satisfaction I got out of the season was defeating a great Minnesota team. I was very proud of the great way in which our boys protected their one point lead for 35 minutes. I was proud of them, too, for leading Pitt until that last quarter. Pitt was the strongest club we met. My biggest disappointment came when we got licked by Carnegie Tech. This team was one of the most courageous I ever coached or saw.

Bernie Moore, L. S. U.: Professor, the season developed into a nightmare in the southeast because of the many different types of defenses used. The quarterbacks had an almost impossible job trying to operate offense against seven, six and five man lines. We had two very lovely week ends in beating Texas and Rice, first time L. S. U. ever beat two southwest conference opponents in a row, but we hit our low when Vanderbilt stopped us.

Professor: Our valetictorian of '36 now has the floor.
Bernie Bierman, Minnesota: Naturally, my happiest moment came when we beat Wisconsin to win the Big Ten title; my lowest came when Andy Uram broke his arm in the Michigan game and we lost our great left halfback. Our practice through the first four weeks of drill was unsatisfactory, professor, so I kind of expected lickings we got from Nebraska and Notre Dame. Now if we could have avoided just two plays—but that's football.

Whizzer White
Bunny Oakes, Colorado: I had low and high moments as we beat Missouri and another headache when Cooper of Utah scored on a punt return to put us behind, 9-7, in the fourth quarter. But Whizzer White—the boy just made life happy for me all fall—saved the day by breaking loose with a 95 yard punt return to put us ahead.

Frank Thomas, Alabama: My two happiest moments came when Sanford kicked two field goals to lick Tulane and Vanderbilt. Some times, professor, I think I was born under a lucky star but the rules committee ought to standardize defense to give the offense a break. There have been too many low scores and 0-0 ties. Why...

Professor: Gosh, will you guys ever be satisfied?
Earl Blaik, Dartmouth: I am, professor. My darkest moment came after the Bates game when things looked so bad and the team looked terrible. My happiest? Right now, professor, because the season's over. No more worries for Earl. He's just sitting back and taking things easy.

Professor: Hey, don't forget the banquet season just ahead.
Morley Jennings, Baylor: Well, I don't know who is happy in the southwest conference. Our league was so evenly matched I believe the lowest team in the percentage column today is strong enough to lick the leaders. My brightest moment was after the T. C. U. game; my lowest came after we got licked by S. M. U. for our second straight defeat in a row.

Wallace Wade, Duke: North Carolina gave us our biggest heartache as we hoped we might get through undefeated. But now I know it didn't make any difference because Pitt dumped us.

There, professor, is a football team.

Papa and Marshall
Professor: We have a noted guest today. Papa Goldberg is here and happy for Pitt and his boy, Marshall. Papa is the season's greatest fan.

Sol Goldberg, Elkins, W. Va.: I was afraid of Fordham all the time and I got sick when Marshall scored and was called back because Matisi was holding. I could have shot Matisi but he's a fine boy. Marshall made me proudest when he helped Pitt beat Duquesne. Last year, the Duquesnes stopped Marshall but you can't stop the Goldbergs twice in succession, professor.

Professor: Nor the Pitts. Doctor, how does it feel to be through except for maybe the Sugar or Rose Bowls?
Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh: It's been a long, hard but gratifying season, professor, and my boys took the long, tough schedule in fine stride. Our low and high spots came in the Fordham and Notre Dame games. After fumbling too often, we finally clicked and Goldberg scored only to have the ball called back to wind up in a third straight scoreless tie against Fordham. That was most depressing. I'll never forget our comeback at Notre Dame. My high moment in that game came when, after reaching their five for first down, Goldberg raced to the one yard line on the first play. I knew then my troubles were over. But, professor, we lose '19 men for next year...

Professor: Tut, tut, they tell me you know who's going to play right guard for the next five years. Stub, it's been a happy, sunny fall in California, eh?
Stub Allison, California: My happiest moment came when the team finally started to roll in the second period against Stanford to score the first touchdown. When I saw all 11 of my boys click and block I just relaxed and smiled. My lowest moment was at the start of the game when we showed signs of poor timing on the slow field. Professor, my team, I think, was a model in blocking. That's what made it good. Rose Bowl? No sir. I'm not going out on any limb.

Professor: The limb climbing season is over for most of us. Now comes the banquet and recruiting season. You'll find stomach pills and check blanks in your desks. Let your conscience be your guide only don't forget to come back next year. Cheerio.

Pitt Continues Grid De-Emphasis Plan; Will Turn Down All Bowl Invitations

HOD SHOTS

By G. K. HODENFIELD

There are more reasons than one why Bill De Corveont, sensational scoring star of Austin high in Chicago, should enroll at the University of Iowa. Three former athletic lights of the Windy City prep school are now enrolled here and all of them are doing their part to keep Iowa in the sporting limelight.

Jack Drees, Bob Christians and Bob Allen all received their early training at Austin high and the three of them entered the Hawkeye institution as freshmen, three years ago.

Drees has won two major letters as a basketball player and is being counted on for a lot of service in this year's cage schedule. He was chosen as one of Iowa's most eligible bachelors and is a member of A.F.I. He also does most of the sports announcing over WSUI when he is not engaged in basketball.

Bob Christians is one of Coach David Armbruster's star paddlers and helped the Hawkeyes win the Big Ten swimming title two years ago. He was also chosen as one of the most eligible bachelors on the Iowa campus and is a member of A.F.I.

The third member of the trio, Bob Allen, has won major letters in two sports, football and swimming. He was one of the few

PANTHERS 'STRIKE'

Pitt Gridders Demand Better Terms

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Post-Gazette said tonight Pitt football players went "on a modified sit-down strike" in rejecting a possible bid to the Rose bowl.

The paper said it learned the players demanded:
1. A cash consideration for pocket money—between $100 and $200.
2. The entire squad of approximately 60 players be taken instead of a traveling squad of about half that number.
3. An immediate vacation of two weeks.

It was understood the last demand was to compensate for loss of Christmas holidays. Likewise the demand for "spending money" apparently was based on the dispute last year between Jock Sutherland and then Athletic Director W. Don Harrison which resulted in the resignation of Harrison. Sutherland claimed the boys were not given sufficient money and that he had to pay personally for shows and other entertainment.

Players Vote To Stay Home Now

No Rose Bowl Bid Yet And None Wanted, Say Gridders

By JUDSON BAILLY
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29 (AP)—Pitt's football Panthers turned thumbs down today on all post season football games, including the Rose, Sugar and Cotton Bowls.

The decision was made in a secret and reportedly stormy meeting called by Athletic Director James Hagen to sound out the opinion of the players. The Post-Gazette said the players went "on a modified sit-down strike" in rejecting the Bowl bids, demanding "pocket money" of between $100 and $200; an immediate vacation of two weeks and that the entire squad of approximately 60 players be taken on the trip.

John Weber, secretary of the university, asserted he and other members of the staff had not heard of any such demands. He said he told the players the entire squad would be taken on any trip and left the room during their discussion.

He said Al Barr, student manager, reported the vote to him but made no mention about money or vacation.

John Weber, treasurer of the athletic council, said: "We had invitations from the Sugar Bowl and the Cotton Bowl which we wanted to place before the boys, so we just tossed in the Rose Bowl for consideration, too—in the event we should be invited."

"The boys decided they didn't want to play in any of them and as far as we are concerned, if California should now invite us, we would have to reply negatively."

Thirty-one members of the traveling squad were present at the session and it was reported divided 16 to 15 against a trip to the coast if invited. However, athletic department officials said no invitation would have been accepted without unanimous consent.

Some of the players anxious to make the trip attempted to assemble the squad this afternoon to reconsider its action, but were unable to obtain a quorum.

Nineteen members of the Pitt squad are seniors and most of them have made two trips to the far west—last year for the Rose Bowl and in 1935 to play Southern California.

While the gridders were wrangling over acceptance of the bid—if received—Hagan, Coach Jock Sutherland and other athletic chieftains sat in their offices apparently unconcerned.

In a rough game, Zeke Bailey, by virtue of his 9 points and good floor game, led the Upper league leaders. The win was the third straight for Upper B and leaves them in sole possession of first place. Wayne Cox and John Howard were Upper C's outstanding performers.

All-University Mat Contest To Be Held Dec. 13, 14, 15

Nead and Vergamini To Strengthen Iowa In Big Ten Meets

Coach Mike Howard has set the date for the all-university wrestling meet to be held in the wrestling gym in the fieldhouse. Preliminaries will be on Dec. 13 and 14, and the finals will be on the 15th.

Coach Howard says that the meet will run off under national intercollegiate rules. Three pounds overweight will be allowed.

Anyone that is interested in competing in this meet should report for work-outs in the wrestling gym as soon as possible. All persons interested are permitted to compete in the meet.

Wilbur Nead, heavy-weight wrestling captain, and Carl Vergamini, sturdy 175 pound grappler, returned to Coach Mike Howard's team this week at the close of the football season.

Both boys have very good records from last year and are expected to help make Iowa's team among the strongest in Big Ten competition this year. Their record of last year is: Wisconsin, Nead won by a fall and Vergamini by a decision; Iowa State college, both boys won by a decision; Carleton, again Nead took his opponent with a fall and Vergamini with a decision; Minnesota, both boys lost their first match by a decision, this was also their only loss; Nebraska, Nead won by a fall but Vergamini was unable to pin his opponent and the match ended in a draw; and in the last meet of the season Nead won by a fall and Vergamini won with a decision.

Summary: Nead: one loss, five matches won by falls and one by decision; Vergamini: one loss, one draw and five won by decisions.

The squad is working out five days a week and according to Coach Howard practice is going good. He expects to have a very strong team this year which will stand near the top of the Big Ten at the close of the season.

Phil Strom, 193-pound freshman from Ft. Dodge who was state heavyweight champion in high school last year, is working out now and may give Nead some stiff competition in the heavyweight class in the all-university affair.

Professionals playing for cash prizes have been known to throw away their putters when they missed a short one, but to Secretary of State Cordell S. Hull, "putting" furnishes the best mental relaxation and not too severe exercise.

Three Contests Played in Quad Cage Tourney

Three games were played in last night's Quadrangle basketball leagues as the tournament started into the last half of the round-robin schedule. Two games were played in the Lower league, with Lower D defeating Lower A in the second meeting of the two teams, and Lower B downing Lower C in a thriller as the other Lower league game. Upper B was victorious over Upper C in the final game of the evening.

Lower D took possession of first place in the Lower league as a result of their 36 to 23 victory over the former leaders, Lower A, in a hard fought game opening the evening's play. Led by Bill and Matt Millich the winners held the upper hand throughout the struggle. The entire Lower D outfit played consistent ball both offensively and defensively to win the encounter. Roland Boyesen played his usual outstanding game garnering 12 points for Lower A. Russell Busk tallied seven points to help the losers in their scoring. Lower D now has won three games against one defeat. Lower A held second place in the league with three wins and two losses.

Lower B and Lower C staged the thriller of the evening, playing nip and tuck for three periods, with the former squeezing out a 23 to 22 win. Jim George made the winning basket late in the game. Jerome Blebesheimer and Ray Boyenga lead Lower C's attack by scoring 18 points towards the team total.

In the final game Upper B, featuring team play and smooth passing, trounced Upper C, 24 to 14.

$5,000 Suit Brought Against Donald Short and Helen Beltz

Judge Evans Will Try First Civil Case Here Monday

Donald L. Short, G of Cedar Rapids, and Helen Beltz are the defendants in a $5,000 damage suit brought by Mary A. Krejca in the first of 30 civil cases to be tried before Judge Harold D. Evans beginning Monday in the November term of Johnson county district court.

Judge Evans stated yesterday that the remaining criminal cases on the docket will not be heard until civil cases are concluded. He said that prospective jurors are to report for duty at 10 a.m. Monday.

Mary Krejca seeks damages as the administratrix of the estate of Frank M. Beltz, who was killed in an auto crash with the Short machine in Cedar Rapids Sept. 19, 1936. Mrs. Mary A. Russell, a passenger in the Beltz car, was also killed in the crash.

The petition states that eight other passengers in the two cars were injured. Two of these passengers have also filed cases against Short which will be heard later in the term.

St. Wenceslaus Opens Exhibit

Over 40 Magazines And Articles Are Shown In Collection

A Catholic press exhibit was opened at St. Wenceslaus church Sunday night in connection with the mission being given there by the Rev. Dom Emilian Shonka, O. S. B., and the Rev. Dom Claude Viktor, O. S. B. The exhibit includes more than 40 different magazines and a collection of religious articles.

Members of the W. W. club and the Daughters of St. Wenceslaus are in charge of the exhibit, which is open to public daily from 2 to 4 p.m.

The mission will continue until Dec. 7. A large congregation was in attendance Sunday night.

German Group To Give Dinner Friday Evening

Delta Phi Alpha, honorary German fraternity, will be hosts to the language and literature conference visitors at a German dinner to be held Friday at 6 p.m. in Reich's pine room.

Following the dinner the group will hold a social gathering or "Geselliger Abend." Prof. E. A. Beyer of Augustana college at Rock Island, Ill., will present a sound motion picture on "The German Student of Today." The remainder of the evening will be spent in singing German folk songs and other entertainment.

Justen to Appeal For Safe Roads in Radio Speech Next Friday

R. H. Justen, Johnson county engineer, will make an appeal for public cooperation in eliminating the hazards of unsafe highways in a speech over WSUI Friday at 4:15 p.m.

Mr. Justen's talk is in conjunction with the nation-wide campaign of the Committee on Safe Highways of the American Road Builders' association. It will stress the need of building safety into the nation's highways to decrease the mounting highway traffic-accident toll.

Tear Gas Explosion Interrupts Kreisler

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 27 (AP)—Explosion of a tear gas bomb, dropped by an unidentified person, interrupted a recital by Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, at the University of Michigan tonight. Spreading fumes from the bomb caused many in the audience of 5,000 to leave their seats hastily. Several persons were so nauseated they could not return to the auditorium.

Kreisler, who had just finished a Bach concerto when the bomb exploded, took the interruption good-naturedly, resuming his recital after a five minute delay.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

It's good for deflated egos to read in this week's New Yorker that New York's Lucius Beebe, successful columnist and author of "This New York," managed to be forcibly ejected from not one but two universities—Harvard and Yale.

Lucius left Yale rather suddenly after appearing at a theater with a heavy, false beard, standing up in the middle of the play to shout, "I am Professor Tweedy of the Yale Divinity School" and thereby flinging an empty bottle upon the stage.

At Harvard he was requested to leave after it was discovered he had lifted most of his thesis from Edward Arlington Robinson.

This probably isn't true, but they're telling the one about the local man who has a second horn on his car, wired from the back seat. When you ask him about it, he'll merely sigh and remark, "That's for my wife."

Matron The local bus drivers all know her but won't tell her name. I mean the extremely well-known local matron who gets on the buses with never anything smaller than a $5 bill—always saying, "Oh, never mind, I'll pay you next time" but never doing it.

There's something definitely ego-bursting about most gymnasium outfits. The most important men I know look the silliest when on a basketball floor playing a game in shorts.

You never can be sure about anything, but it's a well-defined over-the-coffee rumor that a famous eastern university has offered one of the better known campusites a fat-sized job.

In J. B. Priestley's "Midnight on the Desert," which I'm just finding time to peruse again, he declares himself in favor of working your way through college. "I admire a country in which it is possible to work towards a degree by washing dishes or stoking furnaces," he writes.

I'm inclined to disagree, though. It appears to me many who struggle against the odds to get their degrees find it not worth much when they have it because they've been forced to miss so much of college that is worthwhile—the concerts, the lectures, the dances, the fraternity and sorority social life, all a part of a well-rounded college career.

That old idea of the fellow who works the hardest being worth the most is another platitude. If I were an employer, I'd rather have a man who would do his job efficiently in his eight hours, would relax and play in his spare time. Those are the men, who, usually, reach the top.

The mediocre reach their ultimate too soon. That's why so many outstanding collegians make a mess of their lives.

I think it was Somerset Maugham who first observed this truism of mankind. When someone calls you up while you are out and leaves his number for you to call, it's usually more important for him than it is for you.

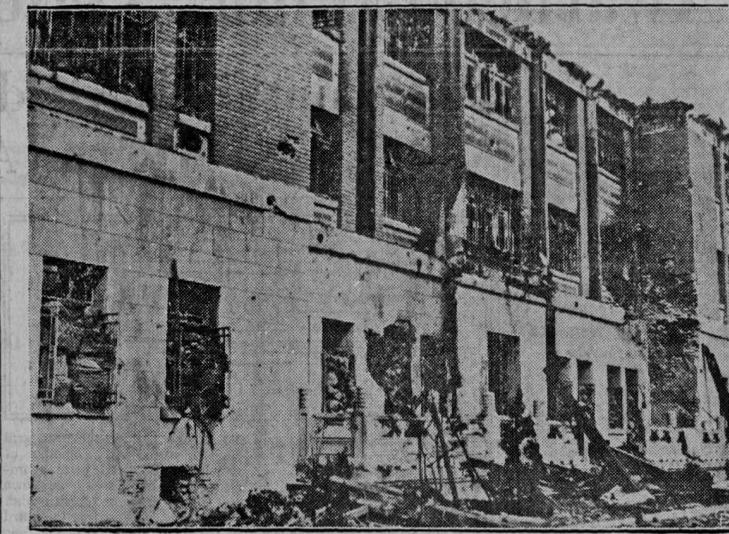

It's an oddity that the men who occasionally make the least impression on the campus, the quiet, unassuming ones, are best known in the farthest parts of the nation. The university to many, fortunately, means not a football team but a campus personality.

The trouble regards the New York ballot boxes—in which allegedly Tammany interests are accused of ballot-stuffing—proves what many on the campus are already well aware—that it takes more than a good political campaign and illegal votes to win an election.

The last J. B. Priestley story concerns the author's idiosyncrasy. I'm told on his first visit to the campus he quite astonished well-meaning campusites by refusing to go through University hospitals, "because I've seen the great hospitals of London and the continent." Then this month he refused to autograph a book of University library—a copy of "The Good Companions"—because it was "not my latest book."

And when I hear criticism of critics—the all-too-frequent do-it-yourself-comeback—I'm reminded of George Jean Nathan's maxim, when chafed for criticism:

This Is a Chinese University—Roofless, Wrecked

Ruins of Commercial university in Shanghai building of Commercial university, Chinese defended it so long weeds have grown from the soil in the rotting sandbags placed in the windows.

State Gives $13,000 To Crippled Children

DES MOINES, Nov. 29 (AP)—Officials of the state department of public instruction announced today that nearly 200 crippled or handicapped children are beneficiaries of a special $13,000 fund administered by the department.

The legislature appropriated $10,000 and the legislature interim committee last week added $3,000 to this fund for children stricken with infantile paralysis and other crippling diseases. In some instances, the money is used to provide special transportation to regular schools and in others teachers are sent to the homes of the handicapped children for special instruction.

RESUME
When all other diplomatic efforts fail, Polish statesmen send Marie Walewska as their emissary to plead for Napoleon's support of Poland. Napoleon and Marie fall deeply in love. She leaves her husband to join Napoleon for an illustrious career at his Prussian headquarters. With the arrival of spring, their idyllic ends when he must start on his Austrian campaign. They take tender leave of each other and Marie promises to rejoin him in Vienna when the campaign is over.

Chapter Six

THE CONQUERER CONQUERED

Marie sank back in her carriage, her momentary anxiety lost in the joyous thought that soon she would see her beloved. She was in Vienna at last. She smiled a happy, tender smile, thinking for the hundredth time how she would break to him her glorious news. Their winter idyll had been more than a romantic interlude. When her child came, they would have a lasting token of their love. She sighed happily at the prospect of the joy this news would give Napoleon; she hoped, for his sake, that their child might be a son.

The carriage finally arrived at Schoenbrunn, the Hapsburg Palace, which Napoleon, as conqueror now occupied. Duroc welcomed her. Marie took a chair and waited in a fever of joy. The shadow of an approaching figure fell on her. "Countess," a voice called softly. Marie started. "Count Talleyrand," Talleyrand bowed. "The Emperor will be delighted to see you," he observed. "You will help him forget the shock of today's unprecedented experience, a man tried to shoot him."

Talleyrand shrugged his shoulders. "Suppose," he answered with casual elegance, "suppose—heaven forbid—that Napoleon has been successful. What then? The ruin of an empire—and that empire dependent upon one man?" "The future would have died with him," whispered Marie. "Precisely," snapped Talleyrand. "Napoleon must have an heir. He is placing his trust in me—to all who believe in you? Napoleone," she pleaded, "is there no other son you could love but one born of the royal blood you once despised?" "If it is to be secure on the throne," Napoleon answered, "he must be of royal blood."

Marie's hands fell slowly to her side. She knew then she must keep locked within her the secret she thought would bring him joy—the secret that they were to have a child—a hoped-for son. "Do you remember the days when an idea was stronger than a throne?" she asked desperately. "Do you remember the French Revolution?" "The Revolution?" he shouted in anger. "That was a phase of my youth. I've outgrown it! That's what you don't see."

"What I do see," she wept, "is that everything that was between us is gone. This is the end."

princess of one of the royal houses of Europe."

He ceased abruptly as he observed her tears for the first time. "Marie!" He rushed to help her to her feet. "Marie," he pleaded, "what do you say?" Her thoughts turned bitterly to Talleyrand. This then, was what he had meant to tell her. A faint, barely audible sound broke thru her lips. "Nothing," he inquired in astonishment.

"If you were in my place, what would you say?" "I am not a woman," he shouted in desperation. "I cannot put words into your mouth."

"Then, perhaps—there are no words."

"Marie, understand, my dear, this changes nothing between us." He rushed on frantically, desperately on the defensive. "I beg you, I implore you, Marie! Listen to me! This is an affair of State. My personal feelings are not involved. I love you. I want you near me always. You, yourself, promised at Walewska, I've never seen the princess. This transfusion of ancient blood is a necessity forced upon me.

"Ancient blood?" she cried in horror. "Thin—cold—watery." His face flushed in anger, but she continued with deadly calm. "A tomb. And you are going to live in it. A tomb. With a bride that hates you—a family who despises you. Do you think they will forget that you have 'betrayed' them? How they will hate you for forcing yourself upon them."

"Marie!" he cut in furiously. "What has happened to you?" she wept. She seized his hand. "What has happened to you? What are you doing to me—to me—to all who believe in you? Napoleone," she pleaded, "is there no other son you could love but one born of the royal blood you once despised?"

More than 22,000 miles of highways of all classes were completed under the supervision of the U. S. bureau of public roads in the last fiscal year. Some 1,100 grade crossings were eliminated and 574 were protected with signals or other devices.

Leaders of Relief Organizations Ask Aid of Needlework Guild

Groups Will Receive Garments Friday Afternoon

Anticipating the annual ingathering of garments by the Iowa City Needlework guild Friday, directors of relief organizations in Iowa City have written to Mrs. Frederic T. Mavis, the garments of which their groups are most in need.

The Social Service league in Iowa City distributed to 71 families last year garments including hose, underwear, dresses, pillow cases, mittens, diapers, baby shirts, bloomers, sweaters, boys' shirts, aprons, baby shoes, trousers and towels.

Most of the articles were given out at the clothing center in the old Rate building, but some were presented as Christmas gifts.

Frances G. Wilson, executive secretary of the league, said in her letter, "We want your group to know that these articles were particularly useful to us, and that the families especially appreciated getting them as they are of a better quality as a rule than those which we are able to buy from county funds."

Mrs. E. Orr, 538 S. Gilbert street, director of the Iowa City Juvenile home, has written, "We are very much in need of dresser scarves, stand covers or table cloths. For any clothing we have girls whose ages range from 10 to 17 years. We have 13 boys, ages five to 15 years. We always appreciate any donations or gifts which are given us."

Margaret Cannon, school nurse said, "I often wish the donors could see how these gifts are needed and how joyously and graciously these articles are received."

"A heavy pair of woolen hose was given to an old lady," the letter continued. "This was two years ago, and she is still using these as night boots as her home is none too warm. A jacket was given a boy last year. He has outgrown it, but I see his little sister is wearing it this year."

Merle Karns, city nurse, wrote that her group needs anything for infant layettes, mittens and underwear.

Mrs. Martin Peterson, who is in charge of Red Cross needs particularly stockings, mittens, bedding and towels of any sort. The Iowa City Red Cross gives only to families of veterans, since civilians are already aided through the social service.

Parochial schools have expressed a need for children's clothes, sweaters, shoes, dresses and other garments.

Representatives of each of these groups—social service, parochial schools, city schools, city nurse, juvenile home and the Red Cross—have been asked to come to the assembly room of the Press-Citizen building at 4:30 p.m. Friday. At this time all the garments will be distributed according to the needs of each group.

All the directors of the Needlework guild will bring the garments they have collected to the Press-Citizen building before noon.

Money From Sale Of Seals To Aid Tubercular Fight

More than 5,000 Iowans ill with tuberculosis will benefit by your purchase of the 1937 Christmas seals, according to the National Tuberculosis association, sponsor of the annual holiday sale.

The disease claimed 588 persons in Iowa last year and approximately 70,000 in the county two years ago, the report shows.

Funds collected during the current Christmas seal sale will be used to combat tuberculosis locally and in the state by the Iowa Tuberculosis association.

Medical research during the past 35 years saved an average of 200,000 lives annually from tuberculosis, the association estimates. The reduction of the tuberculosis death rate from 202 out of every 100,000 living in 1900 to 55 in 1935 is equivalent to nearly 200,000 lives every year, according to the report.

The sale is being conducted in other cities by 1,000 organizations, 48 state tuberculosis associations and the National Tuberculosis association.

The seals this year—during the 31st annual sale—bear a double-barred cross, world-wide emblem of the fight against the disease.

Judge Carson Fines Thomas

Ben Thomas of Kalona was fined $25 and costs by Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday on a charge of operating an automobile without a license.

Judge Carson suspended $23 of the fine on the condition that Thomas apply for a proper license.

Matinee Of 'Mikado'?

Grade school children who wish to attend a matinee performance of the "Mikado" tomorrow afternoon will have the opportunity to do so if a sufficient number of parents signify their consent to this arrangement, it was announced yesterday.

Parents of grade school children have received notes informing them of the chance for their children to see the production, to be given by the school music department under the auspices of the music auxiliary in the auditorium of Iowa City high school.

The regular presentations of the operetta will take place tomorrow and Thursday evenings at the high school auditorium.

Today at 7 o'clock the cast will hold its first dress rehearsal.

Prominent roles will be held by Rogers Jenkinson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Jenkinson, 510 Oakland avenue, and Shirley Hegg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hegg, 217 E. Davenport street.

Handicap Fails To Daint Local Man; Fashions Novelties

Fashioning the 40 belt ornaments for the university's Highlander bagpipe unit was the most difficult order Charles H. Jackson, 613 E. Burlington street, has had to fill since he began making articles from pewter and brass.

Jackson, a cripple from an attack of infantile paralysis, said, "I had to make 40 of the ornaments and I had only a limited time to finish them. The greatest difficulty was in fashioning them all alike. That's the disadvantage of not having machine tools."

For several years, Jackson has been making plates, ash trays, belt buckles and nut bowls—each monogrammed with the purchaser's initials, if desired. "Persons appreciative of unique, individual metalware are my best customers," he stated.

The Iowa City hammermith does all his work with hand tools, the method making metal work of colonial times distinguished and valuable today.

"I use Britannia metal—a pewter of high quality—for most of my pieces. It has no lead in it but is composed of tin and antimony. Colonial pewterware had an excess of lead in it and sometimes caused lead poisoning," he explained.

Jackson sells some of his metalwork to gift shops in Chicago and other cities. "But my largest order was the 40 belt ornaments—and what an order!" he added.

Police to Use Drastic Means On Shoplifters

Christmas Seals GREETINGS

"Drastic measures will be taken against shoplifting," warned Chief of Police W. H. Bender yesterday when he announced the addition of two plainclothesmen to the police force.

Chief Bender said the men would be on duty from now until Christmas. They will devote their time to circulating among the crowds in the Iowa City stores.

A maximum fine of $100 is provided for persons convicted of shoplifting, Chief Bender stated.

Will Nominate Seven Officers

The nomination of seven officers of the Odd Fellows lodge will take place at the weekly meeting tonight at 7:30 at the hall.

Lloyd T. Rogers, noble grand, will preside at the meeting.

Members will place in nomination the names of candidates for the offices of noble grand, vice-grand, recording secretary, financial secretary, treasurer, captain of the degree staff and one member of the board of trustees.

The final election of officers will occur at next week's meeting, with the installation ceremony taking place early in January.

Following tonight's meeting, the Odd Fellows drill team, which will participate in the program of the regional Odd Fellows convention at Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 11, will hold a practice drill.

L. Rogers Will Preside At Weekly Meeting Of I.O.O.F.

The nomination of seven officers of the Odd Fellows lodge will take place at the weekly meeting tonight at 7:30 at the hall.

Lloyd T. Rogers, noble grand, will preside at the meeting.

Members will place in nomination the names of candidates for the offices of noble grand, vice-grand, recording secretary, financial secretary, treasurer, captain of the degree staff and one member of the board of trustees.

Xmas Parade Plans Finished

Final plans for the Christmas day parade here Friday were made at a special meeting of the retail trade division of the chamber of commerce at the Jefferson hotel yesterday morning.

Washington street will be blocked between Dubuque and Linn streets to all traffic except the local bus service. The Santa Claus cabin, where children will be given free candy, will be parked in this section in front of the Iowa City Light and Power company.

A policeman will be stationed at each stop and go light during the parade to direct traffic. Either two squad cars or two policemen on motorcycles will clear the path for the parade.

Barrow Says Public Helping In Test Survey

Postmaster Walter J. Barrow reported yesterday that enumerators were receiving excellent cooperation from the public in the unemployment test survey being conducted on several local mail routes.

The purpose of the survey is to find the proportion of unemployed who registered in the recent unemployment census. Similar surveys are being made on about 1,800 other mail routes throughout the country to make a national yardstick of response to the census.

The survey, which began yesterday, will continue through Saturday.

Postoffice Gives Suggestions For Mailing Christmas Gifts

"Do your Christmas mailing early" is the postscript to the holiday greetings of local postal employees as they prepare to handle a 200 per cent increase in the ordinary volume of mail. And to insure speedy delivery and lighten the burden of holiday mail they give a few suggestions.

Be sure parcels are wrapped securely with strong paper and heavy twine. Such articles as golf sticks, hats, shoes, cut flowers and sharp pointed or sharp edged instruments require special wrapping and extra reinforcement.

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked "Fragile." Such articles should be packed with materials such as excelsior and then securely crated or boxed.

Parcels containing perishable matter should be marked "Perishable." Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing. Special delivery stamps should be used to speed-up delivery.

Postoffice Gives Suggestions For Mailing Christmas Gifts

Addresses should be complete, with the house number, name of street, postoffice box or rural route plainly typed or written in ink.

If a tag is used it is wise to write the address again on the package and a copy of the address should be enclosed in the parcel. Christmas cards should not be mailed in red, green or other dark-colored envelopes or in very small envelopes.

Parcels are limited to 100 inches in length and girth combined and should not exceed 70 pounds. Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. The correct place for postage is in the upper right hand corner of the parcel.

There will be no delivery of mail on Christmas day. It is physically impossible to handle the great mass of holiday mail efficiently and promptly within a few days. Since Christmas means more than Dec. 25 to postal employees, holiday mail should be sent a week or 10 days before Christmas and thus enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families.

Toys of All Kinds, Colors, Descriptions Await Arrival of Children

By BUD CARTER

The boys at once head for the sections of toyland where the trains, cars, bicycles, sleds, wagons and construction sets are shown. All show the streamlining, prevailing in the originals, with flaring fenders on each wheel and "teardrop" lights that work.

While eager hands disregard "Please Do Not Handle" signs, the boys become engineers piloting streamliners down the rails or pilots at the controls of racing planes.

Further down the counters, the interests of the boys and girls converge at the shelves of books and games. Every classic, profusely illustrated, is stocked. The popular comic strip and radio characters are represented here in book forms so that their admirers may read over and over the exciting incidents in the life of the idol.

The younger children congregate at the cars, wagons and scooters which they can ride in or upon. Even these are modeled after current automobiles.

Santa Claus

No toyland is complete without a Santa Claus. Jolly, red-faced men, dressed in true Santa Claus fashion, are daily given hundreds of confidential suggestions as to what a certain boy or girl would like for Christmas. In case the store's Santa is out of sight, there is always a large mail box, labeled "Airmail for Santa Claus," placed conspicuously.

Christmas is nearly a month away, but the children are already planning and hinting what they would like to find beneath the tree on the morning of Dec. 25.

Since Christmas means more than Dec. 25 to postal employees, holiday mail should be sent a week or 10 days before Christmas and thus enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families.

Handicap Fails To Daint Local Man; Fashions Novelties

Fashioning the 40 belt ornaments for the university's Highlander bagpipe unit was the most difficult order Charles H. Jackson, 613 E. Burlington street, has had to fill since he began making articles from pewter and brass.

Jackson, a cripple from an attack of infantile paralysis, said, "I had to make 40 of the ornaments and I had only a limited time to finish them. The greatest difficulty was in fashioning them all alike. That's the disadvantage of not having machine tools."

For several years, Jackson has been making plates, ash trays, belt buckles and nut bowls—each monogrammed with the purchaser's initials, if desired. "Persons appreciative of unique, individual metalware are my best customers," he stated.

The Iowa City hammermith does all his work with hand tools, the method making metal work of colonial times distinguished and valuable today.

"I use Britannia metal—a pewter of high quality—for most of my pieces. It has no lead in it but is composed of tin and antimony. Colonial pewterware had an excess of lead in it and sometimes caused lead poisoning," he explained.

Jackson sells some of his metalwork to gift shops in Chicago and other cities. "But my largest order was the 40 belt ornaments—and what an order!" he added.

Police to Use Drastic Means On Shoplifters

Christmas Seals GREETINGS

"Drastic measures will be taken against shoplifting," warned Chief of Police W. H. Bender yesterday when he announced the addition of two plainclothesmen to the police force.

Chief Bender said the men would be on duty from now until Christmas. They will devote their time to circulating among the crowds in the Iowa City stores.

A maximum fine of $100 is provided for persons convicted of shoplifting, Chief Bender stated.

Will Nominate Seven Officers

The nomination of seven officers of the Odd Fellows lodge will take place at the weekly meeting tonight at 7:30 at the hall.

Lloyd T. Rogers, noble grand, will preside at the meeting.

Members will place in nomination the names of candidates for the offices of noble grand, vice-grand, recording secretary, financial secretary, treasurer, captain of the degree staff and one member of the board of trustees.

The final election of officers will occur at next week's meeting, with the installation ceremony taking place early in January.

Xmas Parade Plans Finished

Final plans for the Christmas day parade here Friday were made at a special meeting of the retail trade division of the chamber of commerce at the Jefferson hotel yesterday morning.

Washington street will be blocked between Dubuque and Linn streets to all traffic except the local bus service. The Santa Claus cabin, where children will be given free candy, will be parked in this section in front of the Iowa City Light and Power company.

A policeman will be stationed at each stop and go light during the parade to direct traffic. Either two squad cars or two policemen on motorcycles will clear the path for the parade.

Barrow Says Public Helping In Test Survey

Postmaster Walter J. Barrow reported yesterday that enumerators were receiving excellent cooperation from the public in the unemployment test survey being conducted on several local mail routes.

The purpose of the survey is to find the proportion of unemployed who registered in the recent unemployment census. Similar surveys are being made on about 1,800 other mail routes throughout the country to make a national yardstick of response to the census.

The survey, which began yesterday, will continue through Saturday.

Postoffice Gives Suggestions For Mailing Christmas Gifts

Addresses should be complete, with the house number, name of street, postoffice box or rural route plainly typed or written in ink.

If a tag is used it is wise to write the address again on the package and a copy of the address should be enclosed in the parcel. Christmas cards should not be mailed in red, green or other dark-colored envelopes or in very small envelopes.

Parcels are limited to 100 inches in length and girth combined and should not exceed 70 pounds. Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. The correct place for postage is in the upper right hand corner of the parcel.

There will be no delivery of mail on Christmas day. It is physically impossible to handle the great mass of holiday mail efficiently and promptly within a few days. Since Christmas means more than Dec. 25 to postal employees, holiday mail should be sent a week or 10 days before Christmas and thus enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families.

Have You Visited Santa Claus?

Toys of All Kinds, Colors, Descriptions Await Arrival of Children

By BUD CARTER

The boys at once head for the sections of toyland where the trains, cars, bicycles, sleds, wagons and construction sets are shown. All show the streamlining, prevailing in the originals, with flaring fenders on each wheel and "teardrop" lights that work.

While eager hands disregard "Please Do Not Handle" signs, the boys become engineers piloting streamliners down the rails or pilots at the controls of racing planes.

Further down the counters, the interests of the boys and girls converge at the shelves of books and games. Every classic, profusely illustrated, is stocked. The popular comic strip and radio characters are represented here in book forms so that their admirers may read over and over the exciting incidents in the life of the idol.

The younger children congregate at the cars, wagons and scooters which they can ride in or upon. Even these are modeled after current automobiles.

Santa Claus

No toyland is complete without a Santa Claus. Jolly, red-faced men, dressed in true Santa Claus fashion, are daily given hundreds of confidential suggestions as to what a certain boy or girl would like for Christmas. In case the store's Santa is out of sight, there is always a large mail box, labeled "Airmail for Santa Claus," placed conspicuously.

Christmas is nearly a month away, but the children are already planning and hinting what they would like to find beneath the tree on the morning of Dec. 25.
