British, French To Cooperate In International Agreement

Strengthen Entente In Two Day Attack On Trouble

LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Britain and France presented a strengthened entente tonight following a two day attack on world trouble spots.

Statements of the two countries ended consultations with a joint declaration announcing they had agreed:

1. To cooperate with all countries "in the common task of promoting international appeasement by methods of free and peaceful negotiation."

2. Germany's colonial demands require "much more extended study."

3. To cooperate with other countries for protection of rights and interests in the far east.

4. To pursue the policy of non-intervention in Spain.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the house of commons further that the ultimate goal was a general settlement of world problems.

He said this necessarily would require that other countries be brought into the consultations, but added that immediate extension of the conversations was not yet in prospect.

Premier Camille Chautemps and Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, who represented France in the talks, left London for Paris in the afternoon.

During their visit here, they consulted with Prime Minister Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and other British cabinet ministers.

Labor Leader's Widow Takes Stand at Inquest

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—The grief stricken widow of Patrick Corcoran, slain Minneapolis labor leader, told late today of threats against his life when she took the stand at a coroner's inquest after a near breakdown in a crowded courtroom.

Mrs. Alice Corcoran testified her husband, vice president of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, had once pointed out two men in a car who had threatened him.

A labor leader's nonchalant description of threats as "fan mail" and the hint that Kansas City truck wage scales may furnish a clue in the case, preceded the widow's testimony.

"I don't know who they were, nor could I identify them," Mrs. Corcoran told William Compton, assistant Hennepin county attorney conducting the questioning.

"That's the guys over there that chased a certain fellow out of town," she quoted her husband as saying when he pointed to the men he said had threatened him.

Mrs. Corcoran testified she was with her husband five days before the killing, at a union "party," when her husband was beaten by two men. She said she could identify one of the men.

Eddie and Al Firotti, Chicago labor organizers, who admitted to police they beat Corcoran, were in the courtroom, waiting to testify. The Firotti brothers were held five days for questioning before they were freed on a writ of habeas corpus.

Penniless Old Man Believed To Be 'Buck' Buchanan Buried

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—A penniless old man was buried today with only a priest and mortuary attendants looking on, while charity workers sought to prove their conclusion that he was William T. (Buck) Buchanan, once known in newspaper offices throughout the country.

He stumbled into a mission house a little more than a week ago.

"I'm 'Buck' Buchanan, and I'm a sick old man," he gasped.

They took him to the hospital—the charity ward, because he said he had no kin, no friends and no funds.

At night he fretted over "copy" and "stories," and he wept because "the news was late getting into Sioux Falls." He called the names of men he once knew in Des Moines. They were names familiar to readers of metropolitan papers and wire services today.

Grave-Diggers Pacified

NEARLY PERFECT Van Meter Farm Lad Is Healthiest

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (AP)—A 17-year-old Van Meter, Ia., farm lad, who studies in the same classrooms Bob Feller, Cleveland Indian baseball pitcher, did before he was graduated last spring, tonight was one of the six healthiest rural boys in the United States.

Smiling Junior Clayton today was named one of the six national champions in health among boys' 4-H club members. The national committee on boys and girls' club work said examiners made no distinction in the scoring because the winners were declared so nearly perfect.

Physicians who selected Junior as Iowa's boys' health champion in competition with 48 other county winners scored him 99.8 per cent. The judges deducted two-tenths of one per cent for two fillings in Junior's teeth.

Plan to Extend CIO-Ford Fight

May Quit Long Beach, Kansas City Plants Of Company

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—Leaders of the United Automobile Workers' strike against the Ford motor company in St. Louis were informed today of the CIO union's plans to extend the strike to Ford plants in Long Beach, Cal., and Kansas City.

Delmond Garst, regional director, said the strike calls would be made on complaints similar to that of the St. Louis local, that the company discriminated against union members in rehiring workers after a seasonal lay-off.

In Washington, Richard Frankenstein, UAWA vice-president, said he had ordered Ford locals at Long Beach and Kansas City to "make all preparations" but to withhold definite strike action pending further instructions.

The recently reopened Kansas City plant employs 2,300 men when working at capacity and the Long Beach plant 2,500, a total of 4,800 men, Garst said.

The Ford motor company in all has 12 of its 16 assembly units in operation, with the others scheduled to go into production within a few days. Total employment was reported over 100,000 on a 5-day week production schedule of 3,000 cars daily.

There was little change in the situation at the St. Louis plant, which has continued operating since the strike was called last Wednesday. Workers, coming and going in automobiles escorted by police cars, passed through a picket line without disturbance.

War Souvenirs Left in Streets

PARIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—Arms seizures in the government drive against a secret revolutionary organization accused of plotting to set up a dictatorship in France led to new consequences today.

Many Parisians who kept arms as war souvenirs and others with arms supplies dropped them in streets and parks, fearing they might be connected with the plot if the arms were found in their homes.

A total of 576 loaded hand grenades was discovered lying on the grass in peaceful Bois de Boulogne park.

Police immediately issued an appeal to Parisians to call at the nearest police station or city laboratory if they wanted arms supplies removed, instead of dropping them in the city where they might be found by children.

No Groceries, Just Cash, Says Judge

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (AP)—That chicken-in-every-pot standard of living may be okay but Mrs. Mae Sanders wants no part of it.

Her attorney came into circuit court today and complained her estranged husband, Ernest, head of a commission house, had paid off $466.08 in temporary alimony in the form of dressed chickens, meat and vegetables.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan ordered payments of $25 a week hereafter—in cash.

Heiress Tours With First Lady

They saw the squalid, dusty Scotts Run mining area and then went to an old-fashioned square dance, held over a hardware store near the Tygart Valley homestead at Elkins. Sniper Fires on 3 Buses In Pennsylvania as Strike Goes On Against Greyhound Lines

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30 (AP)—Non-striking Greyhound drivers reported three buses were fired upon today as strikers considered an ultimatum from the nine affected lines to return to work or lose their jobs.

Carriers rolling over Pennsylvania mountains were targets of gunfire, L. T. Shreve, Gettysburg, Pa., bus dispatcher said. Two of the machines were struck but no one was injured, he reported.

One driver, Shreve said, "heard the crack of a rifle and the whistle of a bullet" as his bus neared McConnellsburg from Pittsburgh.

Two bullets shattered a window beside the driver of a Pittsburgh-bound bus near Cashtown, the dispatcher reported, while a bullet struck the side of another vehicle between Waynesboro and Gettysburg.

An unidentified passenger was injured slightly, Driver Walter Moore reported, when two men stoned a bus in a Detroit suburb. The man was cut as the stones shattered a window.

Greyhound, opposing demands from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for a closed shop agreement and wage increases, fixed noon tomorrow as the deadline for strikers in 16 states to return or "be considered as having resigned." The ultimatum was in the form of written notices.

"We expect no response possibly until tomorrow," a Greyhound spokesman said.

Congressmen Attack Proposed Cut in Road Building Program

F.R. Hits at Practice Of 'Authorizations' In Message

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Congressmen found fault with one item of President Roosevelt's program for helping business out of its slump today but made all preparations for passing another quickly.

Hardly had he asked a deep cut in road building expenditures than Senators Hayden and Ashurst, Arizona democrats, announced their opposition and Chairman Cartwright (D-Okla.) of the house roads committee issued a sharply critical statement.

All was well, however, with the president's proposal for reducing the cost of home building in the hope of stirring up a construction boom that would have a generally beneficial effect. Hearings were begun, and the legislation was put on the list for enactment at the special session.

The president's anti-depression program, as announced in recent days, consists of five points: housing, government retrenchment (to which the road building cut is related) immediate purchase of some $245,000,000 worth of government supplies, a revision of taxes and encouragement of public utility construction programs.

In a special message to congress today on road building expenditures, Mr. Roosevelt objected "strenuously" to the practice of incurring advance obligations for this purpose without reference to the condition of the budget.

Japanese Seize American Tug At Dock in Whangpoo River

State Department Fears Japs May Try to Close Open Door

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—There was growing apprehension in official circles here tonight that Japan, following up her military victories in China, may have begun closing the historic "open door" against the goods of other foreign nations.

Apparently headed toward a showdown with Nippon on what may prove to be the most critical international issue of the present Far Eastern strife, Secretary Hull sought to determine officially whether Japanese-controlled North China, already had accorded tariff advantages to Japanese imports.

Reports that such concessions had been made were published in the United States only a few hours after the secretary of state revealed that this government had made vigorous representations to Japan against any attempt to alter the existing Chinese maritime customs system.

Reports from Tientsin, North China's principal seaport, said that the Japanese-dominated peace maintenance commission there had reduced tariffs on a wide range of products imported into North China from Japan.

Mindful of the virtual exclusion of American goods from Manchuria after that state became the Japanese-sponsored Empire of Manchoukuo, Hull instructed American officials in China and Japan to send him full information concerning the Tientsin situation.

Officials here were apprehensive that, if true, the reported action at Tientsin might be the prelude to similar steps at all other Chinese customs depots now subject to control of the Japanese.

United States Consul General Clarence E. Gauss lodged a protest with the Japanese consul general against the alleged discourtesy to the flag. The launch was owned reportedly by the William Hunt steamship company.

The spokesman said the Japanese navy, certain that the vessel was the property of the Chinese government, seized the launch under recent Japanese naval blockade regulations.

He said that if Americans could prove ownership Japanese authorities were ready to return the launch. A reply to American representatives over the incident will be made after a Japanese naval investigation, he declared.

The spokesman admitted that five other small vessels of purported foreign nationality were seized, including two Italian ships, but declined to reveal the ships' identities.

The disputed launch was anchored off the French concession bund when boarded by Japanese commanding vessels for transport of supplies and troops to the interior.

Both charges against the members of the crew of the government owned freighter Algic were made under the admiralty mutiny statutes.

Four others who participated in the sit down strike at Montevideo, Uruguay, last Sept. 10, and who subsequently fled the ship, were named as co-conspirators but for lack of jurisdiction were not indicted. Three were arrested in Brooklyn and the fourth in Jacksonville, Fla.

If convicted, the men face possible fines of $1,000 or five year jail terms, or both, said District Attorney Bernard J. Flynn. All are free on $500 bonds supplied by the National Maritime union, a CIO affiliate, of which they are members.

The Algic's strike-troubled trip to South America began last July with a sitdown in Baltimore. The crew at first refused to sail unless the officers joined the Engineers Beneficial association, and the Master, Mates, and Pilots association. After several days, however, the Algic sailed on its 103-day voyage. Its log listed over sit-downs, desertions, one slaying, and a drowning in an attempt to "jump ship."

Midwest Bloc Launches Fight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The midwestern corn bloc opened its fight in the house today to include in the farm bill provisions for a reduction in the marketing quota and mandatory loans on corn.

Representative Lucas (D-Ill.) told the house he spoke for 60 midwesterners who want loans made mandatory and a reduction in the corn quota from 2,928,000,000 bushels, the figure in the bill, to 2,600,000,000 bushels. Lucas said he would offer necessary amendments.

Earlier in the day he conferred with seven representatives of wheat growing states in an effort to win their approval of a proposed reduction in the wheat quota. He said the wheat quota "must be reduced" if the corn quota is reduced, because "wheat is equal to corn for feeding."

Lucas said the wheat states' representatives told him they would confer with Secretary Wallace on the proposed wheat reduction. He said he had information that Wallace was favorable toward "downward revision" of the corn quota, but did not know to what extent.

Surgery Makes Advance

Airplane Metal Screws Used In Fractures, Medical Men Are Informed

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30 (AP)—A new method of repairing broken bones by tying the fragments together with airplane metal screws was announced today before the Southern Medical Association.

The use of screws to hold a broken bone in place until it knits is not new, Dr. Earl D. McBride of Oklahoma City, Okla., who reported it, said. However, the use of airplane metal screws is a distinct advance in surgery because the metal is absorbed in the bone after it has done its work.

The metal from which the screws are made is an alloy of magnesium and aluminum similar to that used in making airplane parts and stratosphere balloon gondolas. When left in the bone tissue the magnesium gradually disintegrates into a gas which then is absorbed by the blood.

The common thistleweed recently has yielded a new substance for the treatment of one form of diabetes which makes use of insulin unnecessary for these sufferers, Dr. Emile A. Bertucci of New Orleans reported at the first clinical session of the association.

The substance, which he named "cardely," is not effective for treating the severe organic form of diabetes caused by failure of the pancreas to secrete the hormones which regulate normal sugar use by the body, he said.

Will Work 2,600 Recipients Of Relief Register

CINCINNATI, Nov. 30 (AP)—There was plenty of volunteers tonight for "work at the workhouse."

This city of 600,000 starts tomorrow its experiment in city-made employment "for every able bodied man willing to work," to meet the charge that "you can't get people to work."

Response to the plan has been "far beyond our expectations," said Welfare Director Omar Caswell. More than 2,600 relief recipients registered, he said.

Starting tomorrow, 100 men will be called daily to report to the city workhouse to tear down old buildings on several projects at 50 cents an hour.

It is first planned to give preference to more than 700 persons now on relief. When this list is exhausted, Caswell said he hoped to have created eligibility lists from 1,212 men who indicated they formerly were dependent upon public aid.

This completed, more than 500 men who said they never had been on relief, will be considered.

Col. C. O. Sherill, city manager, author of the plan, was elated at response and with Caswell and Anthony Sauer, workhouse superintendent, reiterated a belief that it would "go a long way to disprove the oft-heard charge that you can't get people to work."

"We'll put the men to work as quickly as possible," added Sherill. "There's many a task that needs to be done—yet wouldn't be otherwise, because of lack of money."

The new city workers will be paid by voucher, exchangeable for food, clothing "or anything except the payment of back debts," Sherill declared.

Illegal Liquor Flow Checked By State Men

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 30 (AP)—County Attorney M. E. Rawlings tonight revealed that his office had been working with state agents in uncovering evidence of illegal liquor sales here during July and August following an announcement in Des Moines by Bernard E. Manley, head of the state liquor control commission, that he had evidence of illicit sales amounting to $62,000.

After reading newspaper accounts in Des Moines, Mr. Rawlings said, "During the past two months, I have been working with state agents on this matter and am convinced that by our combined efforts we have noticeably stemmed the flow of illegal liquor into this community. I will undoubtedly confer with the attorney general and liquor commission relative to this problem in the near future. A course of action to be pursued probably will be announced later."

Keep Age Secret By Paying $2 Tax!

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 30 (AP)—Ladies, it is worth $2 annually to keep your age a secret?

That is a question Nebraska women may have to decide when the tax assessor makes his annual visit next spring. County officials said today too many women write "over 21" or "21 plus" on the old age assistance tax schedules, then come in later and ask cancellation of the tax because they are over 50.

"These cancellations will have to stop," said County Clerk J. B. Morgan. "It looks like the privilege of withholding one's age is going to cost $2 from now on."

Woman Attempts Rescue; Falls in Tar

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30 (AP)—While vainly trying to rescue her dog from the La Brea tar pits, Mrs. Alice Harris, 40, fell into the black ooze today and sank to her armpits before her cries brought rescuers.

The pits, where primeval animals were drawn to their death thousands of years ago, are enclosed by a three foot wall posted with warning signs.

Jap Spokesman Denies Reports Of Flag Theft

'Old Glory,' Reported Dishonored, Really In Custody

SHANGHAI, Dec. 1 (Wednesday) (AP)—A Japanese embassy spokesman today denied Japanese threw an American flag into the Whangpoo river from a seized steam launch.

The spokesman declared the Chinese crew had hauled down the flag of the launch seized yesterday and now in the custody of the Japanese navy.

United States Consul General Clarence E. Gauss lodged a protest with the Japanese consul general against the alleged discourtesy to the flag. The launch was owned reportedly by the William Hunt steamship company.

Conspiracy To Revolt Charged By Indictment

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Fourteen seamen who "sat down" in sympathy with longshoremen on strike in a foreign port were indicted by a federal grand jury today for conspiracy to revolt and "unlawfully and feloniously endeavoring to make a revolt."

Both charges against the members of the crew of the government owned freighter Algic were made under the admiralty mutiny statutes.

Four others who participated in the sit down strike at Montevideo, Uruguay, last Sept. 10, and who subsequently fled the ship, were named as co-conspirators but for lack of jurisdiction were not indicted. Three were arrested in Brooklyn and the fourth in Jacksonville, Fla.

A Hypothetical Close Shave

THE RECENT nipped-in-the-bud revolution of France has some very perplexing aspects. It is possible that in all its complexity the real import may have been underestimated.

The foremost suspects in the case are Adolph Hitler, alias der Fuehrer, Benito Mussolini, alias Il Duce. As yet France doesn't seem to have the goods on either, but her government did hint that a foreign dictator was the instigator.

French newspapers are less reticent; many of them openly accuse Hitler of attempting to precipitate the revolt.

It has also been disclosed that revolutionary headquarters are believed to be in Germany. Within the last week, too, several Germans have been convicted of espionage by France.

Enormous caches of munitions and other war materials have been found. They include machine guns, tanks, anti-aircraft guns, and every other instrument of modern warfare.

These huge amounts of supplies bring to mind an interesting parallel—the Spanish civil war. Germany and Italy have shipped great quantities of armaments and other goods to the Spanish rebels.

Consider for a moment the effect of a civil war in France. If the fascist sympathizers should win, fascism would dominate in both France and Europe.

The ramifications of this situation are self-evident. England would be the sole surviving European democracy and undoubtedly she would find her territorial cookie jar soon raided.

Education In Eight Languages

OUT OF A little corner of Czechoslovakia comes a story which represents a minor triumph for education over suspicion and distrust in a day when suspicion and distrust have first place in the minds of far too many of the world's inhabitants.

For in Ruthenia, a corner of Czechoslovakia somewhat smaller than Connecticut—and consequently much smaller than Iowa—schools are being taught and children reared and educated in eight different languages due to a League of Nations decree. Three-quarters of a million people live there, speaking Ruthenian, Russian, Czechish, Slovakian, Hungarian, Rumanian, modern Hebrew and Gypsy.

The importance of this successful attempt to guarantee racial minorities educational rights lies, perhaps, more in its implications than in its achievements. In a land where one may travel for thousands of miles through territory where only the English language is spoken, we are too likely to forget the part which linguistic differences play in keeping the countries of Europe in a war-like state of perpetual apprehension.

Under ordinary circumstances it could have scarcely been expected that so many languages in so small a space as Ruthenia would not have brought about fighting, riots and persecution among the racial groups represented there. Such occurrences were prevented when the League of Nations recognized minority as well as majority rights and guaranteed educational facilities to all.

Who can say that the principles which have worked so well on a small scale would not be equally successful if applied to all of Europe?

Going To The Hogs

IF THE neighbors don't object—and evidently they don't—we think it's a fine idea. Fifteen-year-old Hal White, farmer from Chicago, raises hogs in his back yard—also calves, chickens, turkeys, sheep and goats. Also rabbits.

Competition in the International Livestock exposition was too much for his pride and joy, "Bully Boy," but Farmer White wasn't discouraged. Next year he'll enter two hogs—if the neighbors still don't object.

The large number of young farmers—whether urban or rural—who enter their pets in the exposition, win or lose with equally good grace, and ambitiously return again the next year are a gratifying sight for those who worry about where this younger generation is going.

The amount of time and energy expended on caring for the entrants—feeding and housing, shampooing and brushing and curling—the sportsmanship and persistence of the young trainers, all speak well for the ambition of youth.

Doubting fathers and grandfathers may drop their skepticism—this newest younger generation is going to the hogs!

A radio telephone circuit linking Hawaii's 28,000 telephones with the 600,000 instruments in Japan is planned by an American company. The base rate would be $15 for a 3-minute call from Honolulu to Tokyo.

Glass windshields, according to a news item, are now being made of coal in Great Britain. When the London fogs arrive it probably doesn't make any difference what they are made of.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

WAR IN THE NURSERY: A survey has shown that more war toys are being displayed in the stores this Christmas than for many years past, and that the demand for them is unprecedented.

Every modern device of slaughter is represented—tanks, armored cars, bombing planes, machine guns, heavy artillery, and even flame throwers. Moreover, to give a touch of grim reality, it is possible to buy wounded tin soldiers, with ghastly bandages upon them.

It is interesting to note that the little generals of the nursery display remarkable discrimination in their choice of war toys, Chinese, Japanese, Spanish, Italian and Abyssinian soldiers are preferred, and the small purchasers know their subjects sufficiently well to demand and receive authenticity in uniforms and equipment.

There is an interesting speculation involved in the sudden predilection of the younger generation for war toys. Does it mean that young America has suddenly gone militaristic? Is a changed spirit toward war on the part of its elders betokened? Hardly so. The interest of children in soldiers and weapons is more probably an indication that the children of America know something of what is going on in the world just now and so seek to dramatize it in their play.

INSIDE JOB!

Buy Christmas Seals to Aid Successful Tuberculosis Battle

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. There is a kind of an eternal dispute that goes on concerning the reason for the decline in tuberculosis. There is no question about the facts. In the last 50 years the death rate from tuberculosis has been reduced more than half. In the last 30 years, it has gone from the position of "Captain of the Men of Death," the most frequent cause of disease, to the seventh most frequent.

In 1900 over 200 people per 100,000 population died of the disease. In 1935 this was cut down to nearly 50 per 100,000. Tuberculosis was the only disease in the United States which showed a decline in 1935 from 1934. There are, of course, still plenty of cases and still much work to be done. It is estimated that there are over 500,000 active cases in the United States.

The task of instructing these people in how to take care of themselves and how to prevent giving the disease to others is done through many agencies. Long ago, the facilities of the private practitioner were found to be inadequate to proper control and eradication.

This idea was started by Miss Bissell in Delaware in 1907. She raised $3,000 toward building a hospital for children sick with tuberculosis. In 1910 the National Tuberculosis association took this idea up and made it a nationwide thing.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD—About four years ago movie talent scouts raided the New York musical "Roberta" and came back with two finds—a member of the orchestra named Fred MacMurray and an actor—hooper named George Murphy.

Both of these boys now have a movie head-start on the show, leading man, Bob Hope, who belatedly makes a film debut in the new "Big Broadcast." As he has been signed for additional films, it appears he won't be long in catching up with the others.

Born in London, but reared in Cleveland, Ohio, Bob made his vaudeville and radio reputation telling Scotch jokes. And he was a canny fellow, too, when the movies invited him out from "Roberta"—at $750 a week.

He was doing well enough on the stage and air to be able to smile at that price. If he came out at that price, he reasoned, he might sit around a long time with nothing to do in pictures. The more an actor is paid, the more careful the studio is to do right—and immediately—by him.

He waited—proving that you don't have to be in Hollywood to know all about how it works.

Much-Married Miss Shirley Temple's future pictures will be half-and-half: half in "costume," half modern. They've stayed awake night worrying about it, but a fan mag pool of juvenile readers was equally divided on the question, and Shirley's fan mail the same.

"Sally, Irene and Mary" will have the usual this-is-pure-fiction note at the beginning, but Louise Hovick's character is a much-married gal named in the script as Miss Joyce.

Carpenters Notice. Even in Hollywood one gets startled occasionally. There was this sign on a set, for instance, "Carpenters please note. Lumber in this set finishes natural. Do not pencil mark it and do not walk on the walls."

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN. By GEORGE TUCKER. NEW YORK—Unlike most stage comics who are weighed down with the Pagliacci complex and a desire to play Hamlet, Al Trahan prefers to spend his off-stage moments shooting left-handed golf.

He also has an unpublished reservoir of hilarious reminiscences, the latest of which was an occurrence at the National Press club dinner in Washington.

Mad Falconer. Al went down to attend the dinner and to add a little merriment to the festivities, and with President Roosevelt the star guest, all omens pointed to a satisfying evening. But Al did not reckon on the G-men. Most of his foolery is centered around this ancient fowling piece which he uses in his stage comic-antics.

When it was time for him to go on, an announcer bawled: "Al Trahan, the mad falconer. . . . Every-body waited expectantly, but there was no Al.

Where was Al? He was writing in the toils of a strong-arm guard which had apprehended him back in the corridor leading to the stage. It seems that nobody with a gun is allowed to walk in on the President.

"But—b-b-b-b!" expostulated the man who once made King George guffaw with laughter. But there were no buts about it. They shoed Al onto the stage, but they kept his gun. . . . "But, I've got to scare somebody with that gun." He pleaded vainly.

"Yell Boo at 'em," growled a G-man. Back in Manhattan, in that rangy expanse of rooms which is his hangout in 72nd street, Prof. Trahan was chucking over the incident and showing his mounted trophies of the chase. . . . Suddenly an object loomed on the wall which caused everybody's eyes to pop out—until Trahan suddenly exploded in laughter.

A closer examination disclosed it to be the head of a jackrabbit to which a taxidermist had cleverly fashioned a pair of antelope antlers.

To Preserve Kansas Battle

John Steuart Curry Is Commissioned To Paint Murals

By GILBERT A. MAYO
TOPEKA (AP) — Kansas' historic struggle "against the tragic forces of ruthless nature" — drought, dust storm, tornado and grasshoppers—will be preserved in murals to be hung in the state capitol three years from now.

In keeping with the theme, incidents and figures connected with the state's lawless past will be omitted. So will her political personalities.

John Steuart Curry, a native Kansan, is the artist who has been commissioned to do the work by a committee of newspaper publishers.

John Brown Marches On
"I propose to do a series on Kansas' war with nature, as only I can do it," Curry said. "This struggle has been a determining factor in my art expression. It is my family's tradition and the tradition of a great majority of Kansas people."

The artist submitted a series of panels for committee approval showing the "beauty of real things under the hand of a beneficent nature."

John Brown is the only person in the state's history who will appear in the murals. He will be painted with a Bible in his outstretched left hand, a rifle in his right hand and facing each other with rifles will be the free and pro-slavery forces which wrote the bloody chapter in the state's struggle over that issue.

The panel, Curry said, "expresses the fratricidal fury that first flamed on the plains of Kansas."

The entire story as depicted by Curry from the coming of Coronado, the Spanish soldier, and the missionary, Padilla, in search of Quivera four centuries ago, to those portraying drought, the clouds of dust, and grasshopper plagues, includes nothing gaudy or related to sensational events by any one individual or group other than John Brown and the slavery-free state struggle.

Such figures as Carrie A. Nation, the hatchet-wielding saloon smasher of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, and the lawlessness of Dodge City's "boot hill" days thus were omitted.

Concerning the portrayal of the "war with nature," however, William Allen White, Emporia editor and member of the mural committee, said Curry has "not prettied us up. He has painted us wars and all."

"But he has portrayed us as aspiring men and women, struggling with hope and high faith against the tragic forces of ruthless nature. No smart alex giggles at our foibles is here. He never thumbs his nose at our gauderies even when he feels he must reveal them."

"Obviously, he desires to create a beautiful monument for other generations which will depict the loveliness of our prairies and the essential nobility of man."

Curry, artist in residence at the University of Wisconsin, said he would require at least a year to complete the outlines of the murals and two more to do the painting.

The project will be financed by popular subscription sponsored by Kansas newspapers.

The Townsend club will have a mass meeting Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Moose hall. A speaker from out of the city will give a talk.

Members of the boards of the 11 counties in the first district of the club will meet at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Moose hall. Other representatives of the 11 clubs are expected to attend the mass meeting.

6 Years Prove Education Plan

Students Through Classes Under Hutchins' New Regime

CHICAGO—Six years of operation have proved the voluntary attendance plan of education a success at the University of Chicago.

Some students have completed the four-year course in one year. Others have done it in two and the majority in less than four. Fewer students cut classes and a greater number take post graduate work.

But, says Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university, it has a drawback. Attendance at classes has increased since it became non-compulsory. "This indicates a slavish servility on the part of students that I deplore," he says.

Under the Chicago plan, students are advised not to let the university interfere with their education.

"It's No Soft Snap
"If you feel you can get an education superior to that the faculty can give you, go to the aquarium, take a trip around the world or deposit yourself with the encyclopedia," Dr. Hutchins recently advised the students.

Such advice often sets agasp the high school graduate accustomed to compulsory study and attendance schedules. But if he thinks Dr. Hutchins is prescribing a "soft snap" he is due for a jolt. There is a price for all this liberty.

"At the end of a course," Dr. Hutchins explains, "you will have to take an examination and I warn you that only the first examination is free."

That explains one phase of the university's method of imparting knowledge to its more than 6,000 students from all parts of the world.

As Fast As They Can
They complete courses as fast as they can pass examinations and to pass they must know more about a subject than is given in text books or lectures. Examinations are being revamped so as to test a student's thinking processes rather than his ability to memorize.

The plan was instituted in 1931 shortly after Dr. Hutchins became president at the age of 30. It had been discussed but never tried because Hutchins' predecessors had considered it too revolutionary.

"Some thought it would be unfair to turn students loose on their own without restrictions," Dr. Hutchins explains. "They argued that high school graduates were trained to the 'lock step' system where everyone progresses together regardless of ability."

"Another objection was that the plan would speed up education and that this had its disadvantages. 'Neither has happened.'"

A student entering the university may take examinations putting him a year or two ahead. He can take other examinations whenever he feels he is ready. He gets his degree when he fills the requirements of the four-year academic course.

Dr. Hutchins said the success of this plan in other colleges and

String Quartet Plays Monday

Jacques Gordon, Famed Violinist, Heads Group of Young Musicians

Presenting the second number in the university concert series will be the Gordon string quartet

Jacques Gordon, a distinguished violinist, will bring his renowned string quartet to Iowa City next Monday at 8 p.m. to give the second program in the university concert series in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Headed by this famous musician the members of the organization are all young men, yet of long and distinctive experience in their chosen field.

Disguised as a shabby old man, Mr. Gordon once earned $5.51 in half an hour playing his $40,000 Stradivarius on Michigan Boulevard in Chicago.

The Chicago Evening Post secured Mr. Gordon to settle a dispute in the Time magazine. This periodical printed two articles—one saying that if a great violinist like himself or Jascha Heifetz were to play on New York streets he would go unnoticed and the other declaring that he would obstruct traffic.

The couple immediately came forward and dropped all the change they had into the tin cup. Mr. Gordon's performance did not go unnoticed, and he did not obstruct traffic. His playing disproved the theory that good violin playing will go unnoticed as the one Time article stated.

So the concert master took his position in front of the Chicago Institute of Art shortly before noon one day. An elderly woman passed, paused and finally deposited a coin into Gordon's cup.

A while later the crowd greatly increased as stenographers, business men and office boys collected and the coins began to clink into the artist's cup. As the violinist was playing he noticed his friend Herman DeVries, Chicago music critic, and Mrs. DeVries in the crowd. So he played the meditation from "Thais," which he knew to be the critic's favorite.

Fourteen High Schools Enroll For Forensic Institute Saturday

Speech Event to Feature Western Conference Debate

Fourteen high schools in the Iowa high school forensic league have enrolled for the Forensic institute which will be conducted here Saturday by the speech department.

The feature of the day will be the Western conference debate between the University of Iowa and the University of Minnesota at 3 p.m. Robbins Fischer, Al of Turin, and George Hill, A3 of Burlington, will represent Iowa, upholding the negative of the question "Resolved, that the several states should adopt a system of unicameral legislation."

Prof. Andrew T. Weaver of the University of Wisconsin will act as critic judge and will render a decision with constructive criticisms for each speaker.

The high school representatives will register at 8 a.m. Saturday in Macbride auditorium. Immediately after registration a program of non-decision practice debates will be arranged at the convenience of the high schools. A critic judge will offer criticisms at the end of each debate.

The Iowa intercollegiate debaters, visiting coaches, faculty members and advanced students will serve as critic judges.

The scheduling of debates will be in the charge of Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of debate, Prof. Harry G. Barnes, Loretta Wagner, director of women's debate, Elton Abernathy, Orvin Larson, Carl Dallinger, Eugene Chenoweth, Otto Dieter, Harvey Cromwell and Robert D. King. W members AG

Professor Baird will preside over the debate round table at which discussions will be led by members of the speech department and visiting coaches at 10 a.m. They will lead discussions on topics submitted in a questionnaire by the visiting coaches.

Professor Barnes will present a 30 minute discussion of standards in speaking. Prof. Kirk Porter of the political science department will analyze the "Problem in the Discussion of Unicameral Legislation."

A luncheon at Youde's inn with a short entertainment feature will be under the direction of Mr. King.

Enrollment will continue until Friday. The schools registered by 5:30 p.m. yesterday are Ames, Creston, Oelwein, Independence, North Hampton, Okaloosa, Maquoketa, Mt. Pleasant, Newton, Burlington, Manchester, Roosevelt high school in Cedar Rapids, University high school and Iowa City high school.

Howard Siegel Gets 1st Place

Junior Law Argument Heard by Bechly; Cameron 2nd

Howard Siegel of Davenport was awarded first place in the first of the second-year law arguments last night in the law commons. Second place was won by James Cameron of Eldora.

Judge Frank Bechly of Montezuma judged the contestants and handed down the decisions. Judgment was on the basis of the written briefs which were handed in before the hearing and on the effectiveness of the oral presentation of the arguments.

The case which was heard concerned the state of Iowa against Philip X. Dexter. It involved a reversal of a lower court's decision that Dexter was guilty of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Mr. Cameron of Eldora and Philip Yothers of Cedar Rapids made the appeal for a reversal of the decision against Dexter. The opposition was given by Mr. Siegel of Davenport and Herbert Rosenberg of Maquoketa.

The main issue of the case was whether or not a blood test for intoxication which was taken within an hour after Dexter's arrest could be used as evidence. The court ruled that it could not question the expertise of a doctor's opinion and scientific recognition of the blood test as a true test of intoxication.

Judge Bechly doubted that the amount of alcohol necessary to intoxicate an individual according to the Iowa law would be the same in all cases.

Other points of argument were based on the violation of Dexter's rights of self-incrimination by testifying against himself by means of the test.

The decision was in favor of a reversal of the lower court's decision which had found Dexter guilty of "drunken driving."

Prof. Frances Zuill Will Speak Tonight

On Current Buying

Prof. Frances Zuill, head of the home economics department, will speak to the University of Iowa Dames at their meeting tonight at 7:45 in the north conference room of Iowa Union. Her topic will be "Experience in Current Buying."

Mrs. Grant C. Bailey is chairman of the program committee.

Phi Gamma Nu Actives Will Hold Initiation This Evening

Mary Musgrave of Philadelphia, Pa., grand second vice-president of Phi Gamma Nu, commerce sorority, will visit the University of Iowa chapter today and tomorrow.

The actives will entertain Miss Musgrave tonight at a formal dinner at Iowa Union. Initiation will also be conducted at the same time.

Alberta Rogers, G of Iowa City, national treasurer, will entertain Miss Musgrave and alumnae at a buffet supper at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at her home, 506 N. Linn street. Plans for the national convention to meet here in June will be discussed.

Prince Bernhard Is Confined to Hospital

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 30 (AP)—Physicians to Prince Bernhard, consort of Crown Princess Juliana, decided today he must remain in the hospital several weeks to recover from head injuries suffered in an automobile accident yesterday.

Queen Wilhelmina and Princess Juliana, an expectant mother, stayed at the bedside of the prince, whose condition was described as "satisfactory."

Show Pueblo Reproductions

An exhibition of 25 reproductions of water color paintings by Indian artists of the New Mexican Pueblos of San Ildefonso and Sia will be shown in the west foyer of the fine arts building until Dec. 15.

The collection is circulated by the American Federation of Arts of Washington, D.C.

The rise of water color artists among the Pueblo Indians in New Mexico dates from 1917. These artists have been influenced by the requirements and limitations of the decorator's art, for the Pueblos were and still are primarily pottery-makers.

Scouts Discuss Health at Meet In Iowa Union

"The time to correct physical defects in a person is in his youth," Lew Hall, assistant director of the Boy Scouts of America health and safety program, told scoutmasters last night.

The meeting, held in the private dining room of Iowa Union, was a part of the health and safety program in the training of leaders.

The program is national in scope and is divided into three parts—protection, education and service.

Examples of methods of health and safety education were given by the following scouts: Harold Hudacek, David Cassad, William Bauer, Otto Lepic and Robert Polik.

Hall predicted that "some day joining a scout movement will require a physical examination." He also urged scoutmasters to make health and safety education interesting to the scout by making it entertaining.

Church Bazaar Opens Tomorrow

The Presbyterian bazaar tomorrow will open at 10 a.m. at the church parlors. Mrs. Ray Carson is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The other members of the committee are Mrs. F. B. Olsen, Mrs. William A. Meardon and Mrs. John B. Van Horn.

A turkey dinner will be served at 5:30 p.m.

Daily Iowan Sports Writer
PARNELL, Nov. 30 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—St. Patrick's high school of Iowa City lost their initial start of the season here tonight as they bowed to a rangy and more experienced Parnell five, 35-19.

The visiting team was never in the running as the home town boys ran up a 14 to 5 score at the end of the first quarter and had the game safely tucked away early in the contest.

Hod Love counted all five of the Irish markers in the first period. Sheridan and Lower pushed in eight of the local's points as the Parnell team coasted away to victory.

Play during the second period was fairly even with the Irish scoring four points and the Parnell cagers showing in five. When the teams left the floor at the rest period the Iowa City team was trailing, 19-9.

The local team started putting on the steam in the third quarter and were leading, 27 to 14, as the teams entered the last period. Sheridan and Lower again carried the burden of the Parnell scoring as they dropped the ball through the hoop for seven points. Love made three points and Howard Demery counted the other two on a long field goal, just before he was ejected from the game after four personal fouls.

With the Parnell coach sending in substitutions to relieve his tired men, the local team went on another scoring spurge and tallied 12 points while holding the Irish to five in the last stanza.

Sheridan and Gallagher, Parnell forwards, were the outstanding men on the floor with their brilliant defensive and offensive play. Sheridan led the scorers for the game as he racked up 15 points and Gallagher was close behind with 14.

Fighting for a losing cause, Love put on a one-man Irish scoring exhibition with 12 markers made on four field goals and four free throws.

Mermen Begin Exercises Diet

With the 1937 Dolphin show safely tucked away into the books, Coach David Ambruster's varsity swimming squad will settle down to a strenuous diet of general conditioning exercises until the team breaks up for the Christmas holidays on Dec. 17.

A varsity-freshman dual meet may be held before the squad breaks up, and this will give some idea of the capabilities of some of the untried candidates.

Coach Ambruster will go to Chicago Dec. 3 and 4, where the coaches and athletic executives of the Big Ten meet to arrange schedules for winter and spring sports.

This year the Big Ten is expected to have six or seven of the toughest swimming teams in the country. Illinois and Wisconsin, two of the dark horses, and Ohio State, with several champions and near champions from last year's powerful team, are numbered among possible schools that Iowa may schedule.

Michigan, perennial top-ranking team of the United States, will have a tough outfit as usual. Coach Ambruster and his boys always have provided them with the toughest competition, and this year seems like no exception.

Tribe Writers Declare War

Cleveland Scribes Resent Being Blamed For Failure of Indians

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Cleveland baseball writers, madder than the maddest swarm of hornets that ever buzzed from a hive, have declared war on their reputations for ruining the fame and name of Indian chiefs.

As the nabobs and underlings of the baseball profession puffed big cigars and tried to fleece each other today, the Cleveland delegation of scribes bounced into the market with this angry ultimatum to their writing pals on the sidelines:

"The next one of you guys who writes a story saying we're rat poison to Cleveland managers or that we're predicting a pennant for the Indians in 1938 will get himself a punch in the nose. We can take it, but we've taken all we're planning to take."

Heading the delegation of infuriated writers was Gordon Cobbleddick of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Mr. Cobbleddick, usually a mild mannered fellow, fumed as he pulled a file of clippings from his pants pocket.

"Look at this one," he groaned. "The guy says we Cleveland writers already have started to chase Oscar Vitt (new Tribe manager) out of town, by unanimously predicting a pennant for next year. Look at this one and take a peek at this. Why is it that every time one of you guys comes to Cleveland and get hard up for a story you write us up as the duffiest, meanest and lowest scribes in the baseball writing business? Well, watch your step from now on."

Don't Pick Indians to Win
Mr. Cobbleddick and his writing pals have written some strong stuff about the baseball situation in Cleveland but they certainly have not been guilty of picking the Indians to win pennants. Last spring, several touring baseball writers, excited about the Indians, were all for picking them to beat out the Yankees for the flag when the Cleveland writers talked them out of it. Not one chose the Indians, their concensus being third place. The club finished fourth.

U-High Cagers Play Practice Game Today

Arrangements have been made for the University high basketball team to play a practice game with Riverside high in the U-high gym today, as a part of their practice program in preparing for their game with Wellman this Friday.

Coach William R. Wood has been drilling his charges on the fundamental weaknesses he noted in their game last week end. He hopes to see some improvement in the game today and uncover any other fundamental defects that might show up.

Yesterday Coach Wood sent his cagers through a long fundamental drill and a short scrimmage session with the sophomore squad.

In the drill, he stressed offensive footwork, passing and basket shooting. These are the phases of the game that they showed themselves to be noticeably weak on in their game last week end.

In the scrimmage session, he kept his varsity squad on defense most of the time. The starting lineup was Ham Riis and Duane Carson at the guards, Ed Burns at center, and Bruce Alderman and Bob Carson at the forwards.

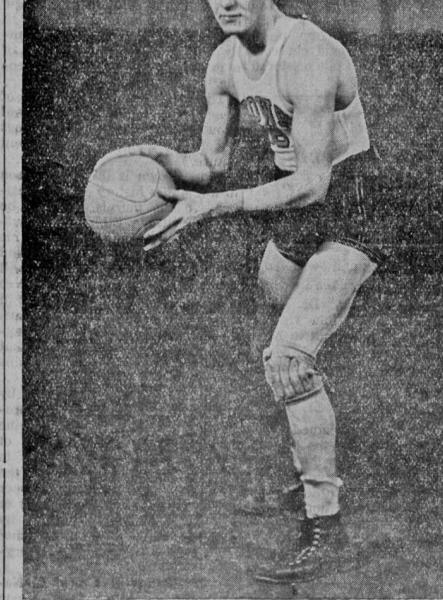

Pittsburgh Receives Lambert Trophy For 2nd Straight Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—Pittsburgh's football team, unbeaten and tied only by Fordham, today was awarded for the second straight year the August V. Lambert memorial trophy as the outstanding eastern eleven.

Thirty-one sports writers from New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington, gave the Panthers the trophy by a margin of four votes over Fordham. Pitt was the choice of 17 writers while 13 named Fordham and one, Dartmouth.

Former Captain Back Again

With only three semesters of competition chalked up against him, Kenny Seusens, captain of the Iowa basketball team last year, will represent the Old Gold cagers on the hardwood court this year and will also be eligible for one semester next year.

Playing his fast scrappy type of basketball, Seusens should prove invaluable to the Hawkeye quintet in the coming campaign.

Hirt, Heacock Bolster Hawklet Squad for Davenport Contest

Hopes for a City High victory over Davenport at Davenport Friday were brightened last night, as Russell Hirt returned to the squad after being on the injured list since the season opened.

Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, last year's title winner, will engage in an intra-city battle with McKinley. Lack of forward material and scarcity of replacements seem to be the big headache of the Roosevelt mentor.

West Waterloo looms as the league's strongest team according to pre-season dope. With seven returning lettermen on hand, Coach E. G. Strobridge will have veteran material for each position. A number of juniors make the prospective substitute situation a bright one.

Davenport, however, will again be a strong contender for the conference title. Co-captains Siegel and Dohse, both of whom have reported to Coach Paul Moon this year, were stars on last year's powerful Blue Devil quintet. Siegel was an all-state forward last year.

Heacock Joins Squad
In last night's practice the Hawklet cagers were shown the errors made in the Lone Tree game. Some time was also spent in learning methods of breaking through the Davenport zone defense. Norris Wheeler, resting a sore ankle, did not participate in the drill, but Junior Heacock, his broken finger now completely healed, joined the squad for his first practice of the season.

Preparing for the Davenport invasion, Coach Herb Cornack put the freshman-sophomore candidates through a stiff workout. Cornack is trying to key his men for the tough Hilltopper tilt after an easy win over an inexperienced City High B team Monday. King and McNamara acted as first string forwards last night, while Parker and Lewis got first call in the back court. Goldberg

HOD SHOTS

By G. K. HODENFIELD

After seven weeks of very consistent wrong-picking, I feel that I have a right to say (in a wee small voice) 'I told you so.' All that is because on Oct. 20 I picked California and Alabama to play in the Rose Bowl game.

The 'Rose Hill to Rose Bowl' football express of Fordham evidently hit a sidetrack. Several noted eastern sports writers went way out on a limb by predicting that the Rams were a cinch, they couldn't miss. Oh?

Alabama finished its regular season unbeaten and untied. This corner is predicting that they will still be unbeaten and untied on Jan. 2.

Correction — Yesterday I said that Bill De Correvont, the most talked of high school player in America, finished his prep school football career last Saturday in an intra-city game. Austin high, De Correvont's school, has been picked as the high school team that will meet a Memphis, Tenn., high school in a sports carnival in the southern city, Dec. 11. Ernie Nevers, Iowa backfield and end coach will be one of the officials of the game.

Three University of Iowa cheerleaders have been awarded the "Cheerleaders Award" by the Board in Control of Athletics. An old gold sweater with a minor block I, inscribed with 'CI' will be given to Robert Reuben, Bruce Morrow and Ronald Carlsen. Three years' service as a cheerleader is one of the requirements for the award.

Morrow is the veteran of the group. He is finishing his fourth

Delta Upsilon Wins Feature Fraternity Tilt

Ten fraternities battled it out last night at the fieldhouse in basketball as the organizations moved into mid-season competition. Sigma Chi and Delta Upsilon fought a close hot game with the Sig Chi's coming through with just one point less than D. U.'s 20-19. Phi Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta played a fast game with the Phi Kap's ending on top by a score of 27-22. Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Delta Phi finished with the Phi Gam's on the big end, 28-19, while the Triangle fraternity nosed out Phi Epsilon Phi, 29-23, and Delta Chi ran over Beta Theta Pi to the tune of 48-20.

The remaining three games scheduled were not played as the Alpha Tau Omega's forfeited to the Sigma Phi Epsilon team, the Theta Tau's won when the Phi Kappa Alpha basketball players failed to appear and Alpha Sigma Phi forfeited to Phi Kappa Psi.

Credit for the best fighting team goes to the Triangle team which after trailing the Phi Ep's by a score of 14-4 at the end of the first period, came through to take the lead for the remainder of the game. The Phi Ep's made a valiant effort in the closing seconds to overtake them and succeeded in pulling up within one point when the whistle ended the contest.

With the score remaining almost even throughout the contest, the Phi Kap's put on a last period drive which pulled them up to win. Walter Berns and Paul Hendrix were the main offensive threats for the Phi Kap's with Ted Landsberg leading the Phi Del's.

Sigma Chi presented a well-balanced team with no outstanding players for the D. U.'s to concentrate their defense upon. Dick Hine was the top scorer for the D. U.'s contributing 10 of their 19 points. A game played for blood, it was probably one of the fastest to be seen so far in fraternity competition.

Crimson Tide Selected Over Fordham For New Year's Tilt

BERKLEY, Cal., Nov. 30 (AP)—University of California officials tonight announced the selection and acceptance of Alabama's unbeaten football team to play the undefeated Golden Bears in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

The announcement, made by Graduate Manager Kenneth Priestley, ended several days of uncertainty during which one important contender, University of Pittsburgh, voted itself out of the running without an official indication it would be invited to play.

Priestley, whose past few days have been spent in saying "no comment" with various kinds of emphasis, telephoned newspaper men tonight and said tersely: "Alabama will play California in the Rose Bowl."

Pressed for further comment, the graduate manager said negotiations with Alabama officials were completed by telephone tonight, he had nothing more to say.

Priestley would not say whether invitations had been offered to any other schools, notably Pittsburgh and Fordham, who were rated unofficially as strong contenders for the bid.

Pitt eliminated itself yesterday when a team majority voted against any post season games.

Bears Average 20 Points
California, Pacific coast champion this year, rang up 201 points in 10 games to 33 for its opponents, an average of 20 points per game.

The Golden Bears, considered one of the strongest outfits since the 1920-21-22 "wonder teams" under the late Coach Andy Smith, beat St. Mary's 37-0, Oregon State 24-6, Washington State, 27-0, College of the Pacific 20-0, California Aggies 14-0, Southern California 20-6, University of California at Los Angeles 27-14, Oregon 26-0 and Stanford 13-0. The only blemish on the record was a scoreless tie with Washington which otherwise had a mediocre season.

Roberts Takes First in Pole Vault Contest

Dale Roberts, junior from Villisca, won the annual Canby pole vault competition yesterday afternoon at the fieldhouse. Roberts' mark was 11 feet eight inches, two inches better than Howard Ely's mark last year.

Don Parrish, freshman from Des Moines, and Karl Ryerson, Cedar Rapids freshman, won second and third places. Parrish vaulted 10 feet nine inches for second place and Ryerson's best mark was 10 feet three inches.

The event was the eighth in the all university series of intramural meets. For first place in the event Roberts will receive a gold medal and a traveling trophy. Parrish and Ryerson will receive silver and bronze medals.

The Canby event was named in honor of Henry Canby who held the national indoor record of 13 feet seven and one-half inches for several years. This mark is still the all-time all-university record. The competition is held every year and is open to all undergraduates with the exception of previous winners.

Ted Swenson, assistant track coach, was in direct charge of the meet and Francis Cretzmeyer acted as official judge.

$92,000 Left By Kinless Man; Never Disclosed Background

Spent Time Browsing Over Plato And Aristotle

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—A strange story of an apparently kinless recluse worth $92,000, who lived in a $10-a-week hall bedroom for 16 years, came to light today as the body of Frank De Forest Case, 80, lay in the morgue, unclaimed.

A quiet little man, seldom venturing more than a prosaic greeting, he touched on the mystery of his life only once. That was two weeks ago, in a conversation with his landlady.

"I wonder what's going to happen to me?" he said suddenly. And then wistfully, in a burst of confidence:

"I have a lot of money and nobody to leave it to."

Abruptly he changed the topic. Yesterday he was found lifeless, beside his bed, victim of a heart seizure.

He never disclosed much of his background. Browsing the hours and years away over his Plato and Aristotle, he sometimes fondly recalled big game hunting for elephants in his youth, but without details as to his associates or family.

When detectives searched his modest furnished room, they found mute evidence of his hunting days, a 30-30 rifle and a 12-gauge double barreled shotgun—both as carefully oiled and polished as though he were going out on a big game safari on the morrow.

Investigators found, too, apparent proof of his unsuspected fortune. In an old fashioned bureau in his room, they discovered 36 bank books showing deposits totalling $90,004.10 in banks in Westchester, Yonkers and Manhattan, and a dust covered strong box.

His only explanation of himself was that he was retired from business as an investment broker, and simply wished to live in peace and quiet to read his books of travel and hunting and philosophy.

His only visitor—apparently his only friend in the world—was a middle aged woman who first called about 12 years ago and made recurrent visits until three years ago. Then she stopped coming. "She died," the little man explained quietly, and never spoke of her again.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

Heil to Nazism!

A pamphlet came in yesterday's mail, an invitational pamphlet asking me to align myself with a new youth movement which, the booklet declares, is "sweeping the country."

Now this in itself is not unusual. I'm including it here only because, to me at least, the possibilities behind the organization are alarming and terrifying. . . . Because it's the first actual contact I've made with American nazism. . . . And because I wonder how many others my own age are receiving similar invitations—and being fooled by them. . . .

The general tone of the text is, it declares, "for intelligent persons who think. . . . All of which reminds me of the Hearst Journalistic moronia which also declares itself to be for "people who think."

I'm convinced no one who thinks could be taken in by an organization which advocates "driving the Jews, the Negroes and the aliens out of American business. . . . Which asks the "youth of America to show these invaders that this is AMERICA." . . . I can't believe a college student would be taken in by its slogan, "America for Americans!"

It seems inconceivable that any intelligent American would believe these things because we have barbaric examples of what can happen when such doctrines are adhered to, in Germany and Italy today. . . .

I remember too the Black Legion and the Ku Klux Klan, both of them societies declaring to be for "real Americans." . . . And both of them American only in their new title for European fascism. . . .

I'm not for any "ism" wholeheartedly. . . . But I believe even fascism has its worthy qualities. . . . But I also believe if, as the pamphlet declares, "40,000 American college youths" are members of such a group as this, then colleges where these men belong are wasting their time. . . .

If, also as the pamphlet declares, such narrow-minded bigotry ever reaches the stages of a national movement, then America—and soon too—will be host to its own Hitler or Mussolini. . . .

So, to the National American Youth association, Ltd., I say this, in answer to their invitation for membership. . . . I don't think America is for Americans alone. . . . I believe it's for Negroes and Jews and aliens and anyone at all who is free-thinking, liberal and removed from bigotry. . . .

I believe even the National American Youth association, Ltd., may have its place in America. . . . And I believe if any American college youth is silly enough, ignorant enough to swear allegiance to a society dedicated to mob violence, then he deserves anything he gets. . . .

But probably the American Youth association, Ltd., will soon kick its heels in the dust and die a natural death—as do all such non-entities. . . . Probably, too, some day an American nominated to the United States supreme court or some other equally august organization will reveal, shamefacedly, that he pledged his loyalty in his youth. . . .

And the newspapers will headline it, and there will be talk of renewing it. . . . And then the fellow will tell us all about his misspent youth and ask for forgiveness. . . . And we all will live happily ever after. . . .

The Patriots To war they go—those noble ones— Fathers of freedom and free-

So They Say . . .

What, in your opinion, helps the Christmas spirit along? Mrs. Ione Puckett, 219 S. Johnson street.—This delightful cold weather, the snow and of course the decorations more than stir up that jovial holiday spirit.

Harold Miller, 410 S. Clinton street, waiter.—I notice the holiday spirit because of the cheerful customers. They all seem to be so nonchalant and free minded — furthermore, nothing seems to anger them.

Beth Laughlin, 416 Summit street, A2 of Springfield Mo.—I think the dances, the new clothes and the many parties being planned make one fully aware of an approaching holiday.

Mr. Dave Bernstein, 108 S. Linn street. Just seeing the crowds, the Christmas decorations and the snow all make me realize how near the holiday is.

Should Santa Tradition Be Told?

New York Professor Believes in Development of Imagination

NEW YORK—When Santa Claus comes sliding down the chimney with his bag of toys this Christmas, he's going to be met by two little children. Call them Tommy and Billy.

Tommy will jump up and down with glee because he knows Santa has come all the way from the North Pole and has a lot of presents for him in his bag. Santa gave him a sled last Christmas. Why not the bicycle he wants this year? Just a Myth.

But Billy will look bored. He'll remark: "There's no use pretending, Dad, I know there isn't any Santa Claus. He's just a myth. Nobody nowadays believes in Santa Claus. Besides, I saw you filling my stocking last night."

Tommy and Billy represent the two schools of thought on the Santa question.

Tommy's father, like Prof. Charles E. Benson of New York university, believes children should have their imagination developed. He thinks that creative work grows out of the imagination; that if a child's imagination isn't developed early, he won't stand a chance later on.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW AP Feature Service Writer

Time enough for disillusionment when Tommy outgrows the Santa Claus tradition, he says. The emotions that accompany imagery are pleasant. Since Santa is the living expression of the Christmas spirit, what better way to show the child the real feeling of the holiday season? Just about like turkey on Thanksgiving. No harm done.

Crime?—Foot!

Tommy's father (in the person of Dr. Benson) scoffs at the theory that a child who has been brought up to believe in myths will come to a bad end. He can't imagine Tommy committing a crime because he found out Santa.

Billy's teacher, like Rhoda Harris, of the Little Red School House, a well known and advanced progressive school in New York, thinks there shouldn't be any fooling about this Santa Claus business. Someone will tell Billy the truth some day, and he'll be horribly shocked. Why not make matters clear in the first place? Tell him, she advises Billy's parents, that Christmas is a pleasant, happy time when presents are given, but that Santa is just a symbol. The Santa Clauses in the stores, on the corners, in the homes, are only as real as the tinsel and cotton ice and snow that decorate the show windows.

The End of Pretending

She goes as far as to say that playing Santa Claus will endanger the relationship of parent and child. No trust, no faith. The child is on his guard.

If Billy meets some of his little friends who haven't come to the great awakening yet, no need of his spoiling their fun. He knows better but he can keep it to himself. But if his father tries to put one over on him, he can't pretend. He has to tell Dad he knows all.

Santa's going to be in a pickle this Christmas. Maybe somebody better warn him.

Report Subnormal Weather for Entire Month of November

Below normal characterized the weather conditions in Iowa City for the last month, it was reported last night by Prof. J. W. Howe at the hydraulics laboratory.

Yesterdays' high reading of 26 was 15 degrees below the average high of 41, and yesterday's low of 4 was 17 degrees below the average low of 21.

Readings for the entire month have been consistently below normal, the report indicated. The average top temperature was 44, four degrees below the normal high for November. The average low for the month was 23, five degrees below normal.

The mean temperature for the month was 34, four degrees below the normal level.

The highest single temperature of the month came Nov. 1, when Iowa City basked in a temperature of 76 degrees. Nov. 21 the temperatures toppled to the zero mark.

Even in rainfall Iowa City is below normal. Only .92 of an inch of moisture fell during November, 1.05 inches short of the

Longman Will Speak Tonight

To Talk About Art At Pi Lambda Theta Dinner Meeting

Prof. L. D. Longman, head of the graphic and plastic arts department, will be guest speaker at the Pi Lambda Theta dinner tonight at 6 o'clock in Iowa Union.

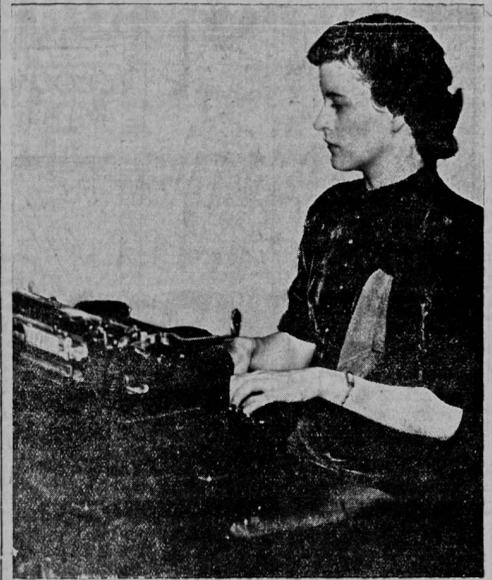

His subject will be "Present Trends in Art." Professor Longman's speech will be the first of a series of talks on "Present Trends in Art," the program theme for the club this year.

Prof. Edward C. Mabie, head of the speech and arts department, will discuss the present trends in the theater at the next meeting of the club.

The committee, which has arranged the program series for the year, includes Bernice Stormes, Loretta A. Wagner, Prof. Maudie McBroom, Prof. Clara M. Daley, Prof. Anne E. Pierce and Prof. Estella M. Bood.

The social committee planning the dinner includes Evelyn Benzler, Marion Shupp, Mrs. Erich Funke and Clara M. Wallace.

Meet the Champ! 113 Words a Minute!

One of Iowa's champion typists, Marian Lybbert, C4 of Cresco, is shown giving a speed demonstration to one of the secretarial science classes taught by Earl P. Strong of the college of commerce. She has demonstrated her technique before the classes of Mary Ferro of the college of commerce and Iowa City high school typing classes. In 1933 Miss Lybbert was acclaimed —Daily Iowan Photo, Engraving world's champion amateur high school typist at the international commerce schools contest in Chicago, with a record of 85 net words on a 25 minute test. The same year she was accorded the title of Iowa's amateur typing champion at the state high school commercial contest. After going to business school she increased her speed to 113 net words per minute.

Plan Reading, Speech Clinic

Six graduate students and assistants in the psychology department and speech clinic will conduct a speech and reading clinic in Independence Saturday.

Those in charge of the clinic are Frank P. Bakes, G of Columbus, Ohio; Dorothy M. Davis, G of Royal Oak, Mich.; Betty Martinson, G of Wichita, Kan.; Elizabeth Kuntz, G of University City, Mo.; C. E. Obermann, G of Iowa City, and George Shaffer, G of Midway, Pa.

The clinic will be under the auspices of Supt. Dayton H. Winters of Buchanan county. Children from rural schools of Buchanan county who have speech and reading disabilities will be examined and remedial instructions will be outlined.

These extension clinics are arranged by Prof. Wendell Johnson, assistant director of the speech clinic. The demand for such extension work has become sufficiently heavy that definite provisions have been made this year for meeting the demand. Other Saturday clinics are scheduled for the near future.

Prof. Ise Will Be Speaker At Dinner Tonight

In answer to roll call, members will state their favorite songs and will offer suggestions for Christmas gifts.

HOSTESS HINTS

A peek into a French kitchen would reveal a fry basket very much in evidence, and the Gallic housewife uses it to fry other foods than potatoes. There is no monotony like that in cooking; so let's try variety in oil. Here are some typically French recipes.

French Fried Onions

Cut four large Spanish onions very thin and take all rings apart. Dip in milk; then season with salt and pepper and dredge in flour. Place the onions in a French fry basket and dip in medium hot fat (350 degrees F., bread test 40 seconds) for a few minutes in order to blanch them. Then lift out of basket and let fat cook until very hot (400 degrees F., bread test 25 seconds). Dip the onions in the fat for a minute until crisp and shake them onto a clean towel to dry.

French Fried Parsley

Wash and clean one standard bunch of parsley. Dry as much as possible with a cloth. Toss into a French fry basket of hot fat (400 degrees F., bread test 25 seconds) for just one second. Lift out and season with salt. Use to garnish other dishes.

French Fried Egg

Pour olive oil in a skillet. When very hot crack egg into oil, tilt skillet and form egg into a round shape with a spatula knife or small skimmer. Lift out when brown and serve.

Elks to Install Mattes Tonight

Matt Mattes, newly elected member to the board of trustees of the Elks lodge, will be installed at the bi-weekly meeting of the Elks at 8 o'clock tonight at the clubrooms. Mattes will fill the vacancy in the board caused by the recent death of Philip D. Ketelsen.

Gus A. Pusateri, exalted ruler, will preside at the regular meeting. A buffet lunch will follow the meeting.

Scout Group To Meet

Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting fraternity, will meet at 4 p.m. Sunday in Iowa Union, Orval Matteson, A4 of Elgin, Ill., president, has announced.

Crazy Rhythm 'Big Apple' Influences Modern Life

Never since the days of the whooping red savages and their war dances has this continent seen such action as is displayed by dancers of the modern frenzy, "The Big Apple."

A strapping 215-pound tackle from the University of Nebraska came through the football season intact only to break a leg doing this gentle little dance.

The story is told of the girl who had just begun to attend dances and who was so captivated by the elemental rhythm of the apple that she couldn't keep her feet still. The impulse for a bit of trucking overcame her one evening while she was serving at a formal dinner party.

The guests were amazed to see her wave her finger in the air while she brought in a soup plate in the other hand. And down the guest's neck went the soup—but it was all in the cause of syncope.

This craze is effecting not only our eating and our football, but also our clothing styles. We find that our formalists this year must have skirts wide enough to do the big apple comfortably and actively. Sleeves must be ornate enough to hold their own when all eyes are directed to them as that finger goes aloft.

Formals must be piquant rather than stately or demure. Could you imagine a train of white satin participating in the Susie Q? It's up to us to be gay, giddy and young, eat lots of spinach so that we will have vim, vigor and vitality and learn to romp all over the place.

RESUME
 When another diplomatic effort fails, Polish statesmen send Marie Walewska to plead for Napoleon's support of Poland. Marie and Napoleon fall deeply in love. She leaves her husband to join Napoleon for an idyllic winter. With the arrival of spring, Napoleon sets out on his Austrian campaign. Austria conquered, Marie rejoins him in Vienna. She is radiantly happy in the discovery that they are to have a child. However, before she can tell him this, he announces he will marry Princess Marie Louise in order to found a dynasty. Marie pleads against this course, warning him that his ambition will lead him to disaster. He is adamant, and she leaves him forever without telling him of their expected child.

Chapter Seven FAREWELL TO LOVE

Napoleon married the Princess Marie Louise amid pomp and glory. And, as he hoped, a son was born to them. However, as if Marie's warning at Schoenbrunn had been clairvoyant, defeat followed him in every campaign during the three ensuing years.

One by one his armies failed against those of his enemies. It was his tragic march on Russia that definitely turned the tide. Soon all Europe rose against him. The Emperor became a prisoner, exiled to Elba.

For eight months he suffered his exile, his mind and heart burning with mad ambition. He must escape. He must somehow get back to France. Once in Paris, he was certain he could regain the love of the French people and with their help, win back some part of his empire for his son, the young King of Rome.

"I have brought your son," she whispered.

If only he could see his son! His Empress had promised she would bring the child to him, but day followed day with no sign of their arrival.

At last, late one afternoon, a ship sailed into the harbor with a woman and child reported on board.

"It is my son, coming to me at last!" Napoleon cried. He seized his horse and rode to the quay. The boat docked and a woman and boy disembarked. Napoleon rushed to meet them, then stopped short, the joy and expectancy dying in his eyes.

It was not the Empress and his son. It was Marie Walewska with some child he had never seen. She approached him timidly. "You are disappointed, sire?" she said at length.

"No, no Marie —" he assured her hastily. "I —" his voice faltered. "I was expecting my son."

"I have brought your son," she whispered and beckoned to the child. "Your son — and mine."

Napoleon stared at the boy in amazed silence. Then, with a quick gesture, he picked him up and held him close. "Child of my heart," he whispered and looked over the boy's head into Marie's tear-filled eyes.

Back in Napoleon's humble cottage dinner was shared in oppressive restraint. Marie ate silently, her heart torn as she sat opposite the man to whom she had once been heaven and earth. And who looked now upon her from behind a brooding mask. The meal over at last, she begged leave to put her child to bed.

In their room she undressed him quietly, answering his childish questions with infinite tenderness. "Your prayers, dear," she admonished at last.

The boy knelt beside her. "Our father who art in heaven and in whose keeping I entrust my heart — bless my mother and bless my father whom I have never seen. Help him to be good and guard him from evil and bring him peace. And let me grow up worthy of his name." He clasped her in his arms. She kissed him goodnight, blew out the candle and turned toward the door. Her hand flew to her heart. Napoleon's figure stood silhouetted against the doorway. He beckoned and she, in obedience, crossed to him shyly. He lifted her hand to his lips, then motioned toward the open doorway leading to his room across the hall.

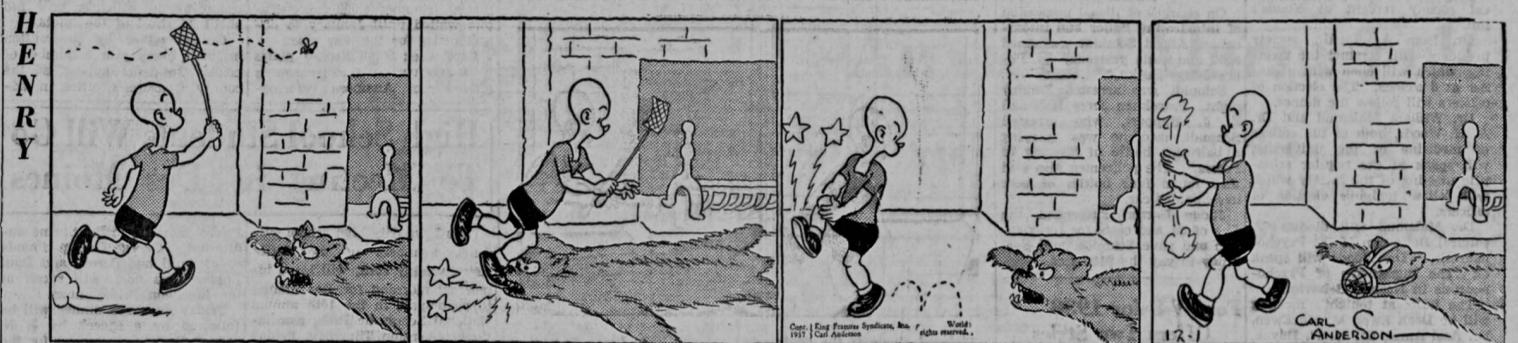

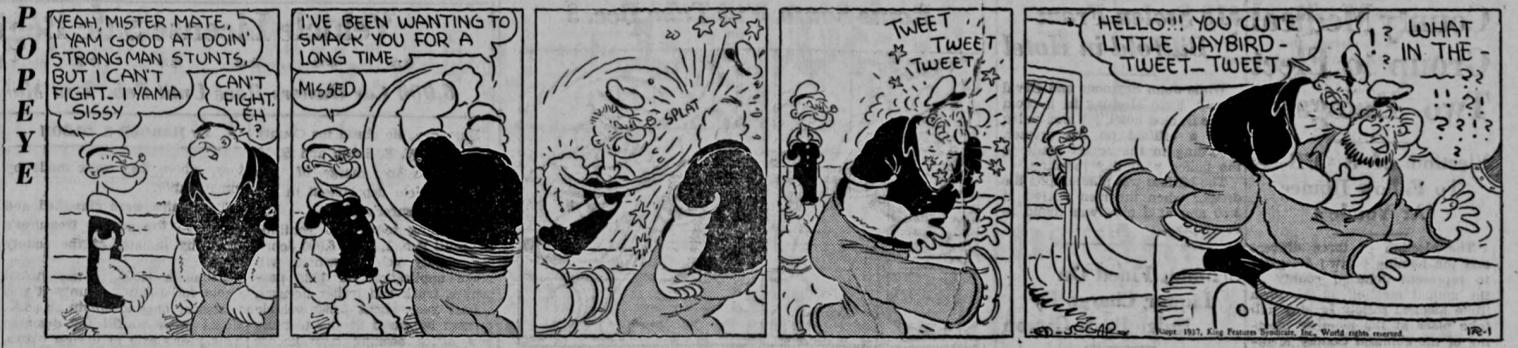

Inside his room they faced each other, their eyes meeting for a brief instant. With intense longing, he took her in his arms and kissed her. The dam of pent-up emotions broke at the contact and Marie, shaken by sobs, kissed him rapturously.

"I've waited for this moment — so long —"

He led her to a divan and gently placed her on it. "Why did you never tell me of our son?" he asked wonderingly.

"I tried to," she whispered. "At Schoenbrunn."

County Medical Group to Elect Two Delegates

Election of 3 Officers To Follow Dinner At Youde's

The election of three officers and the naming of two delegates to represent Johnson county at the annual meeting of the Iowa State Medical society in May will take place at the monthly meeting of the Johnson County Medical society tonight at Youde's inn.

Dr. Isom A. Rankin, society president, will conduct the meeting, which will open with a dinner at 6 o'clock. The election of officers will follow the dinner.

Dr. William Malamud and Dr. A. H. Woods, both of the college of medicine of the university, will speak at the regular scientific meeting of the society which will follow tonight's election of officers.

Dr. Malamud will discuss "A Clinical Definition of the Psycho-neurosis." Dr. Woods will speak on "The Ingredients of Psycho-neurosis in Normal Behavior."

The hosts at tonight's meeting will be Dean Ewen M. MacEwen, Dr. Azel Ames, Dr. W. W. Hayne, Dr. J. A. Greene, Dr. A. E. Lambert, Dr. C. S. O'Brien, Dr. F. R. Peterson and Dr. C. Van Epps, all of the college of medicine, and Dr. H. F. Smith, host chairman, Dr. W. L. Bywater, Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, Dr. P. A. Reed and Dr. W. R. Whites.

2 Auto-Patrols To Arrive This Week for Trial

Two caterpillar auto-patrols are expected to arrive this week and be placed in service under a tentative purchase agreement made recently with an equipment maker, according to R. H. Justen, county engineer.

The new equipment will replace present deteriorated equipment as soon as it is received.

A purchase contract for the equipment, valued at $9,500, will be signed by the board of supervisors after Jan. 1, 1938, according to Mr. Justen.

Committee Men Of Lions Club To Give Reports

Committee chairmen of the recent Lions club auto show and merchants' exhibit will make their complete reports at the luncheon meeting of the club at noon today in Reich's pine room. New members of the club will be initiated.

Chairmen of the auto show who will make reports are Harold Simmen, general chairman; Attorney F. B. Olsen, ticket chairman; Prof. E. W. Hills, house and decorations chairman; Mr. B. Guthrie, booth chairman; Harry Bunker, publicity; George Nagle, entertainment, and Grace Slavata, style show.

Judge H. Evans Levies $300 Fine

H. C. McNeal was fined $300 and court costs by Judge Harold D. Evans in Johnson county district court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated.

McNeal was indicted by the Johnson county grand jury upon the information of County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark filed Nov. 16.

Operations Resumed On Legion Building After Short Lay-Off

Work has been resumed in the reconstruction of the American Legion building, it was announced yesterday. Operations had been halted for nearly two weeks.

The work was delayed to obtain a new steel truss and to straighten several smaller truss members. The work was done at Des Moines.

City Inspector Harold J. Monk issued the permit for repair of the building Monday. The cost of the project was placed at $30,000.

Marriage License Granted Joseph Hebl of Tiffin and Kathryn May Aubrecht of Iowa City were granted a marriage license in the Johnson county clerk's office yesterday.

James B. Morris Fined by Carson

James B. Morris, charged with operating a car with defective lights and brakes, was fined $10 and costs yesterday by Police Judge Burke N. Carson.

On a charge of reckless driving, Wayne Yoder was fined $25 and costs by Judge Carson.

$18 Stolen From Billfold in Hotel

While John Seymour and Orval Houser were sleeping in a room in the Dunkel hotel, $18 was stolen from a billfold on the dresser, according to the report made to the police yesterday morning.

The billfold was placed upon the dresser when the men retired at 3:30 and at 6 a.m. was found to be empty.

Schmidt Fined On Liquor Charge By Judge B. N. Carson

On charges of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor and intoxication, Albert Schmidt was fined $105 and costs yesterday by Police Judge Burke N. Carson.

Schmidt was arrested Sunday night. Patrolmen Jerry Hall and E. J. Ruppert, who arrested Schmidt, said he was carrying a half-pint bottle of "Spirits of Peoria." The policemen also said they found four bottles of beer in Schmidt's car.

Judge Carson suspended the fine of $5 and costs for intoxication and gave Schmidt until Saturday to pay the $100 fine.

Ford V-8 for 1938 Offers Two Styles In Low Price Field

Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars for 1938 on display are offered this year as two distinct lines, differing in appearance and price. Both are in the lowest price field.

One car is a newly-styled standard Ford line, in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered either with the 85 or the 60 horsepower V-8 engine. The other is a newly-designed deluxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments.

The two lines of cars have the same improved V-8 chassis, but their styling is distinctly different. The bodies of both, however, are all-steel.

The new equipment will replace present deteriorated equipment as soon as it is received.

A purchase contract for the equipment, valued at $9,500, will be signed by the board of supervisors after Jan. 1, 1938, according to Mr. Justen.

Route Santa Will Take Dec. 3

Pictured above is the route of the Christmas parade to be staged here Friday. The pageant-parade is sponsored by the retail trade division of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce. It will be more than a mile long and will contain more than 40 floats. The parade will form at the Hawkeye Lumber company, 402 E. Washington street. From here the marchers will go west to Capitol street and turn south to College street, east to Dubuque street and then north to Iowa street. Here it turns west to Clinton street and then back south on Clinton to College street. The marchers will then go east to Linn street where they will turn north to Washington street and return to the Hawkeye Lumber company.

Kadlec Takes Kelly Auto Damage Suit Under Adversement

The civil suit of Tim Kelly Jr. against the Hauer-Lambert lumber company was taken under advisement by Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec yesterday. Kadlec will probably give a decision today.

Kelly is asking $76.61 allegedly due for damages sustained in an automobile collision Aug. 21.

Vehicle License Sale Begins Today 6,000 Car Owners Have Until Feb. 1 to Make 1938 Applications

Busy days lie ahead for County Treasurer W. E. Smith and B. V. Bridenstine, in charge of the motor vehicle department in the county treasurer's office.

Beginning today and continuing until Feb. 1, 1938, 6,000 Johnson county vehicle owners will make application for 1938 passenger, truck and trailer licenses.

Last year about 2,000 vehicle owners appeared at the treasurer's office seeking new license plates. Another 4,000 car operators waited until January to obtain plates for the new year.

Last week 9,500 license plates were received at the treasurer's office from Anamosa reforma-

By HAROLD S. OLSON

tory, where they were made by inmate labor.

The plates were classified and stored in the county treasurer's office by inmates of the county jail.

Although 9,500 is the usual quota for Johnson county it was necessary once to obtain an additional order to fill the demand. This year's sale of license plates, according to officials, will fall about 75 short of the quota.

Guided either by superstition or habit, every year a number of county residents appear at the county treasurer's office in advance of registration and request particular numbers on their plates.

A full 100 reservations for particular numbers—the total number allowed—had been filed three weeks ago. Answers to inquiries for the preference has brought reasons ranging from the desire for a personal "lucky number" to the desire for easier remembered numbers of the preceding year. Number one license plate has been held for the last eight years by Charles J. Kos of Swisher.

Estate Administratrix Appointed By Judge

Winifred J. Hambrecht was appointed administratrix of the E. F. Hambrecht estate yesterday by Judge Harold D. Evans in Johnson county district court. Bond was fixed at $1,500.

Officials Announce New Cross-Country Airplane Schedules

A new United Air lines schedule for Iowa City — effective today — was announced yesterday by municipal airport officials.

An airliner — eastbound for Chicago, Ill., and New York, N. Y. — will arrive here at 9:19 and leave at 9:24 this morning. The plane will reach Chicago at 10:56 this morning and New York at 5:07 this afternoon, according to the schedule.

Another plane—westbound for San Francisco, Calif. — will land here at 9:50 and leave at 9:55 tonight. It will arrive at San Francisco at 9:27 a.m. tomorrow. These planes also stop at Des Moines and Moline, Ill., according to the schedule.

IS EPILEPSY INHERITED? CAN IT BE CURED?

High School Students Will Go To Meeting in Des Moines

Nine Iowa City high school students, members of the Little Hawk weekly staff, will leave tomorrow morning for Des Moines to participate in the 16th annual National Scholastic Press association convention Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The students will also attend meetings of four other journalistic organizations holding conventions in conjunction with NSPA. These include the National Association of Journalism Directors, Quill and Scroll society, Iowa High School Press association and Iowa Association of Journalism Directors.

During the three days, the members of the staff will represent the Little Hawk Weekly and the Red and White annual at the round table discussions.

Friday morning one of the students attending will be named to represent Iowa City high school in each of the contests in interviewing, news writing, sports writing, feature writing, ad copy writing and advertising selling.

The winners in each contest will be announced at the final meeting Saturday morning.

Friday and Saturday afternoons tours have been arranged which will take the conventionites through the Des Moines Register and Tribune plant, the offices of Look, the publishing plants of Meredith publications and Wallace's Iowa Farmer, the state capitol building, the F. W. Fitch company, the Armand company and radio station WHO.

Following the welcome dinner Thursday evening, Dr. Daniel W. Morehouse, president of Drake university, will address the journalists on "A 200 Inch Journalist."

Harrison Porman, photographer for the March of Time, will relate his adventures on "China Photo News Beat" to the meeting.

Friday morning in the Shrine auditorium, George Gallup, founder of Quill and Scroll, and Paul Engle, Iowa poet, will speak at the luncheon Friday noon.

Friday evening's dinner will be followed by a speech by J. N. "Ding" Darling, cartoonist for the Des Moines Register. A social program has been arranged to follow the dinner.

The concluding speech will be made by Edward Price Bell, foreign correspondent for the Chicago Daily News, Saturday morning after the business meeting of the Iowa High School Press association.

The members of the Little Hawk Weekly staff who will be accompanied to Des Moines by Erma Hanson, journalism instructor, are Marvin Chapman, Robert A. Jones, Mary Lambert, Marybelle Mason, Naomi Braverman, Pauline Ranshaw, Dorothy Reha, Violet Lackender and Betty Uterback.

MOST popular of all the Ford V-8 body types is the standard Tudor sedan, shown above. A longer hood, more sweeping lines and newly-designed front end, grille, louvers, fenders and hubcaps are featured. The car is available either with 85 horsepower or 60 horsepower V-8 engine. Interiors are attractively appointed. The front seat is full width. The seat back is divided. The sections are hinged diagonally and swing inward as they are tipped forward so as to leave a wide passageway on either side for entrance to the rear seat. All Ford body types have a large built-in luggage compartment. The standard cars are engineered for owners who demand the maximum of economy in first cost and operating cost.
