ANOTHER 'MOVING HILL' CRISIS!

B. LOGAN CLEANSING, M.D.

An extremely inelastic adjustment of the banks. The need for medical care is the most obvious of our ills. The doctor, who has no patients, is a little village, which has its own problems. But the entire population of the village has its own problems, who are treated by their own physicians. Who are the people who are affected by the economic crisis? Those who have lost their jobs and are unable to work. We need to be aware of the economic crisis not only for our own sake, but for the sake of all society.

The International After-Care Treatment is important because it brings the question out of the clinics and into the homes. The International After-Care Treatment is important because it helps to gather renewed strength.

Another 'Moving Hill' Crisis!

LOCUS RAPTUS, M.D.

The year of the After-Care Treatment was a fairly impossible task to overcome Japanese aggression by bringing the question out of the clinics and into the homes. The International After-Care Treatment is important because it helps to gather renewed strength.

No Need For Boring Parties

Informal, Ingenious Holiday Festivities Should Make Hostesses' Task Easy

To you, the thought of a Christmas party, from the planning to the carrying out, seems like one long, boring to-do list. But suppose that it doesn’t. Suppose that you can make your party the talk of the town, that you can have a good time doing it. Suppose that party planning doesn’t have to be a perfunctory chore.

This year, why not take a step toward this end? Why not make your party the talk of the season? Why not make sure that your guests enter in good humor, that they have a good time, that they go away feeling that they have had a good time?

The first step is to think of your guests. What do they like? What do they want? What are their tastes? What are their preferences? What are their dislikes? What are their habits? What are their interests? What are their hobbies? What are their likes? What are their dislikes?

The second step is to think of your party. What kind of party is it? What kind of atmosphere is it going to have? What kind of entertainment is it going to provide? What kind of music is it going to play? What kind of food is it going to serve? What kind of drink is it going to serve? What kind of decorations is it going to use? What kind of table is it going to use? What kind of chairs is it going to use? What kind of linen is it going to use? What kind of silverware is it going to use? What kind of glassware is it going to use? What kind of china is it going to use? What kind of crystal is it going to use? What kind of china is it going to use?

The third step is to think of your hostess. What kind of hostess is she? What kind of personality does she have? What kind of taste does she have? What kind of style does she have? What kind of character does she have? What kind of temperament does she have? What kind of attitude does she have? What kind of philosophy does she have? What kind of outlook does she have? What kind of perspective does she have? What kind of vision does she have? What kind of future does she have? What kind of hope does she have? What kind of faith does she have? What kind of trust does she have? What kind of confidence does she have? What kind of courage does she have? What kind of resolve does she have? What kind of determination does she have? What kind of persistence does she have? What kind of purpose does she have? What kind of ambition does she have? What kind of drive does she have? What kind of energy does she have? What kind of vitality does she have? What kind of enthusiasm does she have? What kind of spirit does she have? What kind of Zeal does she have? What kind of zest does she have? What kind of pep does she have? What kind of pep does she have?

The fourth step is to think of your guests. What kind of guests are they? What kind of people are they? What kind of personality do they have? What kind of taste do they have? What kind of style do they have? What kind of character do they have? What kind of temperament do they have? What kind of attitude do they have? What kind of philosophy do they have? What kind of outlook do they have? What kind of perspective do they have? What kind of vision do they have? What kind of future do they have? What kind of hope do they have? What kind of faith do they have? What kind of trust do they have? What kind of confidence do they have? What kind of courage do they have? What kind of resolve do they have? What kind of determination do they have? What kind of persistence do they have? What kind of purpose do they have? What kind of ambition do they have? What kind of drive do they have? What kind of energy do they have? What kind of vitality do they have? What kind of enthusiasm do they have? What kind of spirit do they have? What kind of Zeal do they have? What kind of zest do they have? What kind of pep do they have? What kind of pep do they have? What kind of pep do they have?
Christmas Carolers Practice Latin Verses

In December, the University of Illinois choir practices for the annual caroling broadcast. Professor Franklin H. Potter, who directs the choir, is shown here with some of his students preparing for the annual caroling broadcast.

The broadcast is held on Christmas Eve, with carolers singing familiar Christmas carols in Latin and English. The broadcast is a tradition at the University of Illinois, with carolers singing both Latin and English versions of classic Christmas carols.

The carols are broadcast over the University of Illinois radio station, WSUI, and are heard by college students and the general public. The broadcast is a way for the University of Illinois to celebrate the holiday season and bring the community together.

In addition to the caroling broadcast, the University of Illinois also hosts a variety of other holiday events, such as a Christmas market and a lighting of the Christmas tree. These events are all designed to bring the community together and celebrate the holiday season.
Signs of Holiday Spirit Appear

Dr. Betty Harpel

Many families manage to survive both Christmas and the New Year by keeping busy and carrying on with their daily routines. However, there are those who find that Christmas is the most enjoyable time of the year. The anticipation of gifts and the excitement of the holiday season are great motivators for some people.

The snow, the Christmas decorations, the happy faces of children, and the warm lights of the Christmas tree all add to the festive atmosphere. Many families love the tradition of opening presents on Christmas morning and enjoying the company of loved ones. The atmosphere is one of joy and happiness, with everyone looking forward to the day ahead.

Nohl Descends 420 Feet In Lake Michigan In Only A Diving Suit

PONT WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) - World's greatest depth ever attained in a diving suit of any kind was 420 feet by Frank Cullen, Nohl, who descended to this point in only a diving suit of his own invention.

He was the first man ever to descend to this depth in a diving suit of any kind.

The suit was designed and constructed by Frank Cullen, Nohl, who has made it his specialty to construct diving suits for deep-sea diving.

The suit is made of a special material that is resistant to the pressure of the water at this depth.

Cullen's suit is so well-designed that it is expected to be used in future deep-sea diving expeditions.

Students Contemplate Activity Tickets

Representatives of Campus Groups Discuss Possibilities

University Women’s Association Calls Meeting; W. H. Cobol Outlines General Policies of Use

The possibility of introducing activity tickets for the University of Iowa students was discussed at a meeting attended by representatives of leading campus organizations in the Chautauqua following afternoon. The University Women’s association, which has been instrumental in the project, called the meeting.

The meeting was presented as a possible plan to the general student body, as a means of promoting the spirit of a more unified campus, and to save many dollars. The tickets would be distributed to members of campus organizations and would be a means of promoting the spirit of a more unified campus, and to save many dollars. The tickets would be distributed to members of campus organizations and would be used for admission to various activities, such as dances, plays, and concerts.

Those present at the meeting included representatives of the Student Senate, the Women’s Association, the Student Council, the Women’s Kabaret, and the Women’s Social Club.

The meeting was well attended, with a large number of students present. The representatives of the various organizations discussed the possibility of introducing activity tickets and the benefits they would provide.

The meeting ended with a vote to proceed with the introduction of activity tickets, with the understanding that further discussion and planning would be necessary to ensure the success of the project.

They repeat

so you won't have to!

Without repetitive tubes, which amplify voice currents every 50 miles, telephony over very great distances would hardly be possible. C. Incidentally, the telephone repeater tube was one of the first applications of the vacuum tube principle, which now makes it possible for you to talk across the continent as easily as just around the corner. C. Changing needs call for continuous telephone research to make your service more and more valuable.

California Bears Glad To Have Alabama As Rose Bowl Opponent

Strom Leading Triathlon Field

With the conclusion of the first day of the annual weight triathlon, Phil Norman, freshman from Princeton, is leading the field of participants. The 25-pound ball load, which must be carried on the shoulders, was added to the regular weight-throwing and shot-put events. Norman, who also dropped the javelin, led the field in hammer throw and shot-put.

Coach Working Up New Plays

Coach Tom To Begin Practice Dec. 17 For Classic

Boondocks, Cal. Dec. 1 (AP) — California's Golden Bears, who once raised Pacific Coast Conference hopes, are 7-2 after today's 57-0 defeat of Illinois in the Citrus Bowl. The Bears have won nine straight games and clinched the Pacific Coast Conference title, and are scheduled to play in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day.

Due to their splendid efforts in the Iowa City high school basketball league last season, the McLaughlin, left, and Ted McGinniss were elected co-captains of the team for the current campaign. The selection was made by team members at yesterday's afternoon.

City High to Invade Davenport for Conference Title Tomorrow

Coach Francis Merten had a full house advantage against Van Meter in a practice session last night. An enthusiastic entourage followed the Maders out to the airport for the 10 a.m. flight. With the return of Russell Rice,m the Little Hawks literally have two gunners of equal ability and speed. Russell Rice and Deans appear to be easily overdue. This chunky halfback makes dangerous opponents.

Faters Need Injunction
Coach Chuck Harnett's Homesteaders-supercell candidate spent the afternoon visiting with White辫cups practicing short down the road from Brooklyn. As usual, John and Bert Harnett, an assistant on the sprints, will be present with their units. The Homesteaders mean as much as any other organization here.
