accidents. Of these the one responsible for most complaints is the maze of roads at the west end of the Iowa avenue bridge. A professor who lives across the river reports that daily he is stopped by a number of people asking the way to University hospital. Since the re-routing of U. S. road No. 6 around the hill below the nurses' home, many tourists have been led astray by the different forks at the stop sign. To us who live in Iowa City and familiarize ourselves with its various parts, this does not seem such a great problem, but to people traveling through the town or coming here for a short while it is very difficult.

Since Iowa City stands at the center of education in Iowa and draws visitors throughout the state and nation, a real need is presented in this perplexing traffic problem. The University hospital alone brings many hundreds of people to Iowa City each year. In addition other university divisions have their drawing points for other diversified groups of people. A solution would be the erecting of signs in appropriate places directing drivers to the hospital, the stadium and the nurses' home. This would not only simplify the problem for the Iowa City visitor, but would locate the position of the west campus buildings for people passing through the town.

In the days of czarist rule in Russia, there were merely 90,000 high school and college students in the entire country. Today there are 107,000 in Moscow alone.

Tibet, China, is the loftiest large plateau in the world. Its average elevation is 16,500 feet.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

BUSINESS, LABOR AND PEOPLE

MANY STUDENTS of the human comedy, among whom Mr. Stuart Chase is the latest, have drawn attention to some of the dangers inherent in the use of language. It was Robert Louis Stevenson, if one's memory is not at fault, who said that we live not by bread alone but principally by catchwords. It does seem true that in our time we are making certain words carry more weight than is good for them.

Consider only two of them: "business" and "labor." Both of these have been solemnly discussed as though they represented two opposing and irreconcilable forces, and to love one were to hate the other. The president has at times "leaned toward labor."

At times he has "made overtures to business." We all know in a general way what is intended by these phrases. Almost all of us use them. Yet they tend to set up an antagonism that does not really exist. One need not argue that the interests of labor and of business (that is to say, the employer) are identical, even though in the long run both should gain by high wages and maximum production.

But their interests do coincide to a large extent because they are parts of the same body politic. Substandard wages do in the long run hurt business. Restrictions on output, whether imposed by unions, by laws or by trade practices, do hurt labor.

But behind these large abstractions lie the essentials of our society—not abstractions at all but a network of human relationships. These are the realities. There is not one "business," there are a million businesses, ranging from the very small to the very large. There is not one entity that can be called "labor"—there are forty-odd million individuals "gainfully employed," each one a unique bundle of characteristics.

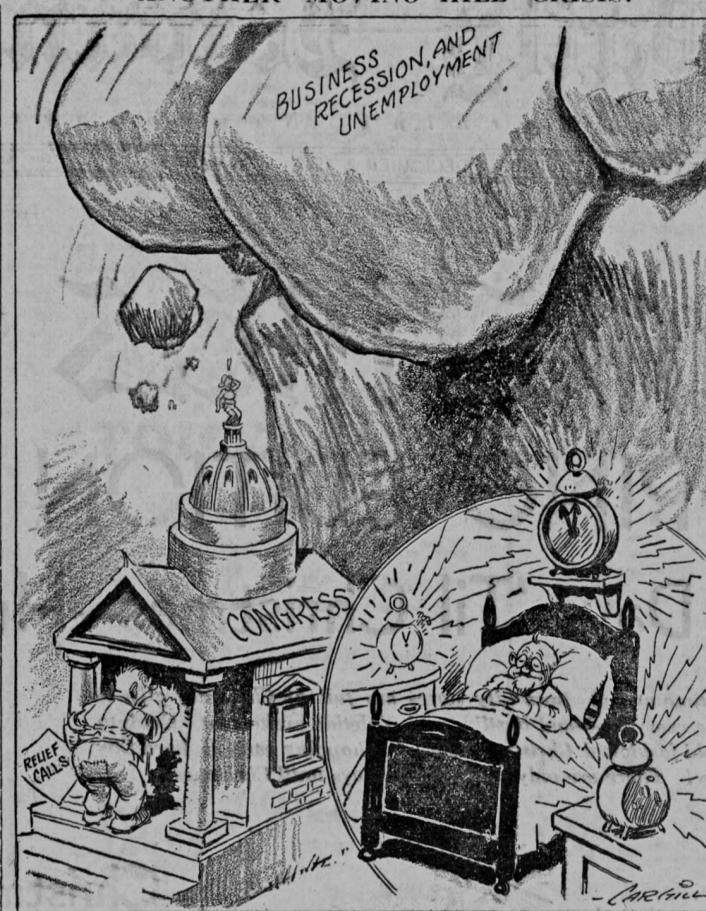

No one can be hostile to labor unless he himself produces all that he consumes, for if he buys or hires he is dependent on labor. No one can be hostile to business in our society, for it is business that directs the flow of goods without which productive efforts would be wasted.

One may argue that in specific instances either labor or business is inefficient, obstructive, wasteful, corrupt—anything we like. But to make such an argument is to bring the question out of the clouds of language. In what way? To what extent? By what means? To find the answers we have to bring scientific thinking into play, and to do that we have to give our emotions a rest. What we have is a vast economic machine, operated by human beings. Like other machines, it constantly needs attention, frequently it needs repairs; its parts wear out or grow obsolescent, they have to be replaced—invention will show the way to improvements.

In these processes there will undoubtedly be struggle, human nature being what it is. But it is the business of statesmanship and of all responsible discussion to minimize the element of strife. Reform need not be war—it will indeed be regarded by warlike attitudes. We need to be wary of our abstractions, which so easily turn into battle cries, and consider the practical, measurable effects of practical measures.

ANOTHER 'MOVING HILL' CRISIS!

After-Care Treatment of T.B. Needed to Prevent Relapses

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

An extremely important modification of life all the rest of their days. But at the same time our conquest of tuberculosis has been due to the fact that we were willing to look the facts in the face, and this is one of the facts. It is a good deal better to have your life modified than to have it terminated, as it would have been by treatment or lack of treatment of other days.

Relapses High The reason for the necessity of after care is the high percentage of relapses which occur unless patients are watched and treated for a period of years after their original cure. These relapses, when they occur, are not always as easy to terminate as the original disease.

The International After-Care committee is determined to devise means whereby the lives of consumptives may be made useful, purposeful and protective once more.

It is, of course, a pathetic and tragic thing that people with this disease have to lead a somewhat modified life all the rest of their days. But at the same time our conquest of tuberculosis has been due to the fact that we were willing to look the facts in the face, and this is one of the facts. It is a good deal better to have your life modified than to have it terminated, as it would have been by treatment or lack of treatment of other days.

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

Francis Farmer, picture star, and her husband, Leif Erickson, will co-star in the dramatic spot on the Kate Smith hour-long CBS program this evening at 7 o'clock. Miss Farmer is currently starring in the Broadway production, "Golden Gloves."

Mark Kelly, noted sports writer, plans to use outstanding sports characters as guests on his CBS Thursday night show.

The prize fan letter of the week was received by Myra Kingsley, noted astrologer heard over MBS five days weekly.

It read: "Dear Miss Kingsley: I love your programs on astrology and would love to avail myself of your offer to mail me my astrological horoscope, but before writing in for it tell me, what is a horoscope and do I have to move out the player piano to make room for it?"

Don't miss Leo Reisman and his orchestra when they go on the air tonight at 6:30! Also on the program helping to furnish entertainment will be Ed Smalle's chorus and several guest artists.

Fred Allen always approaches the microphone with "Town Hall Tonight" in exactly the same manner week after week. He waits until the show is on the air and then walks to the center of the studio stage, takes a short drink of water, teeters on his toes for a few minutes, gingerly palms his script—and then quietly walks five paces to the central microphone just as the familiar words: "That harlequin of comic terpsichore, Fred Allen in person" fade from the lips of Announcer Harry von Zell.

Edward G. Robinson used his crime library, one of the largest in the country, to check details in his present radio series of racket exposes, "Big Town."

No one can doubt that Truman Bradley, master-of-ceremonies on that auto hour Sunday nights, is ambitious. He works six days weekly on his own 15-minute CBS show, reviewing human interest news of the day, and commutes between Chicago and Detroit Sunday for his weekly musical show. In addition, he's president of Chicago's largest cosmetic firm.

Surprise! It's Not a Necktie
 ** ** ** ** **
 Give Everyone a Break This Year By Buying Different Xmas Gifts

Be different! Don't give dad the same old blue tie with the white polkadots or mother that rose-colored bedspread—show some originality. Members of the family enjoy surprises as much as anyone.

Mother is always first on the list. Don't ask her what she wants. You should know by now that she'll answer, "Oh, you don't need to get me anything"—or "Just something practical to wear or any little thing for the house." When she unwraps her packages Christmas morning let her be surprised with that exquisite perfume she has always eyed in the window but never bought. She's just a gal at heart and she too has her feminine charms to uphold.

Give Dad a Razor
 And for one Christmas let dad forget socks and ties. Get him that time-saving and close-shaving electric razor he reads about so much. Or surprise him with a smoking jacket, so comfortable to get into after the day's work. And what brother does not want to throw a nicely-wrapped pair of socks right back at you. But do you blame him when you could have given him that grand looking cigarette case and lighter just as well? Fellows like to flash a new cigarette case before their best girls. Help brother succeed on the road to popularity!

Sisters do appreciate hose, of course, because they're always so useful, but just this once let her be more careful with the hose she has—get her a triple compact with her initials on it.

A Housecoat for Girl Friend
 And for the girl friend—well, toilet sets are always nice but so common every year. How about a satin housecoat with mules to match? She'll have plenty of use for them and will really appreciate that gift.

After he's spent so much on you all year, the least you can do is to give the boy friend something besides the conventional scarf and gloves. How about that good-looking gray suede jacket with the pleated back or the new rage, a candid camera?

So be different this Christmas. Get curious with your family and find out their hidden wants. Show your originality and prove yourself a specialist in Christmas shopping!

Novel Ski Suits Add To Festivities

By EULALIA KLINGBEIL

Whether it's for a vacation at Sun Valley, Idaho, for a weekend at the cabin in the woods, for skiing in the country, or just for sliding in the backyard, you'll want to add one of this year's snappy snow outfits to your Christmas wardrobe.

Water-repellent cloth, varied, striking and different color combinations, novelty styles and clever accessories are much in evidence in snow suit fashions.

An appealing outfit is one of white gabardine cloth, accented by a navy and red sash and red tam.

Navy blue gabardine knickers and a dark green Byrd - cloth jacket lined with flannel and worn with a fur edged parka hood will prove most comfortable on an all-day skiing party.

For something glamorous in snow suits, outfit yourself in a ski suit of navy ski satin like that used in football pants. Add to that fur cap and large furry mittens.

Suit jackets with leather on the shoulders to keep the skis from rubbing will be most welcome when one has to carry them up a long hill. Black oilcloth jackets trimmed with zippers

Story Characters, Other Novelties Will Adorn Xmas Trees

By CORNIE SHRAUGER

Let's dress up our Christmas trees this season! We all have boxes of old decorations that we use from year to year. And we forget to investigate the new ideas and the latest styles for what the well-dressed tree will wear.

To be in style, an illuminated celluloid cross, a star or a Santa Claus should adorn the evergreen top.

Let's not confine our lights to the smooth, pointed green, red, yellow, orange, blue or white types. Did you know that there are candle lights this season? Their holders and sticks are all colors, but the flame naturally remains yellow. Flick on your tree lights and you have lighted candles!

Another novelty light is the "flasher" type — slightly larger than the uniform kind and constantly flickering. Small children will enjoy lights shaped like clowns, Santa Claus, birds, lanterns, dogs, cats and geese.

Mother Goose Rhymes

And Mother Goose rhymes can now adorn Christmas trees! The story of the "three bears," "sing a song of sixpence," and "the cow jumped over the moon" are now told by lights.

To outline these clever lights, there's something new in reflectors this season. Silver reflectors are now bordered by sparkling silver roping. Celluloid reflectors in cup and star shapes make for a continual and brighter glow.

Trick For Illumination

Small glass points attached to the light proper give off greater brilliance. The same illumination can be obtained with fewer strings of lights.

As in other years, wreaths, red, green and silver roping, tinsel, poinsettias, holly and artificial snow will adorn the tree. At the bottom of the evergreen, try placing a small village or biblical scenes. Of course room must be left for the stacks of Christmas presents!

Will your tree be well-dressed this season? Use these suggestions and you will be right in step with the latest Christmas styles!

Streamlined! New Idea Carried Out This Season

A streamlined Christmas is in order for this year. Streamlined automobiles, trains, airplanes or perhaps a thumb will hurry students home for the holidays.

Even gifts this year must carry this general theme. Tricycles, electric trains, trucks, fire-engines, toy automobiles, airplanes and doll buggies built along the lines of least wind resistance are very popular with the younger members of the family. And dad and mother aren't far behind in their desire for gifts which carry this youthful motif.

There are endless possibilities for gifts but only one fashion. If you wish to be in vogue this year, be streamlined.

Kurath To Talk In Old Capitol At Conference

Professor from Brown University Will Be Heard Friday

Prof. Hans Kurath of Brown university will give a graduate college lecture on "The Linguistic Atlas and the Future of Research in America" Friday at 4 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. The address will be part of the language and literature conference Friday and Saturday.

Professor Kurath will also give an address on "Why the Teacher Should Know the History of the Language He Is Teaching" Friday at 11 a.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Professor Kurath received his doctorate at the University of Chicago. He has been professor of German and of general linguistics at Brown since 1931. Prior to that he was at Ohio State university and at Northwestern university.

Professor Kurath has served on the staff of the linguistic institute several times, lecturing on American English. He specializes on the methods and purposes of linguistic geography as applied to American English.

He has been in charge of the Linguistic Atlas project since 1930 and has published a number of short papers on American English. He is now completing the introductory volume Atlas which will probably be released in the spring together with the first volume of the New England Atlas.

The Linguistic Atlas of the United States is a record of an important phase of the political, social and cultural life of the people. It is an account of the speech habits of conservative, old-fashioned country people, of middle-aged city and country dwellers and of cultured individuals in the larger population centers.

Hawk's A "Fish" PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Jimmy Crawford claims one of the season's most unusual "fish" catches. As Crawford threw back his line in preparation for a cast, a large hawk swooped down and grabbed his bait. When the line and the hawk fell into the water, Crawford thrust a net over the "catch" and brought him in safely.

It is estimated that more than 250,000 persons in the United States inhabit motor vehicles the entire year.

Skiing, Skating Outfits Win Approval For Xmas Outdoor Sports This Year

Skiing and skating clothes are so clever this year that it behooves every one to learn to hold their own on ice and snow.

The classic skating outfit is a plaid pleated skirt and a turtle neck sweater, but there are endless variations to suit the individualists. One of the most stunning is the black velvet skating dress with a flared skirt faced in bright challis print cotton.

A cotton poplin pullover with knitted wool cuffs and turtle neck is a good change from the usual sweater.

After the skiing is over you'll want your costume to live up to your pretty pink cheeks and sparkling eyes, so try a jacket of quilted cotton with bells for buttons.

A sheepskin waist-length jacket made mandarin style is grand for skating and can be worn for almost any other occasion as well. Big sheep-skin mittens in the same or a contrasting color will be stunning with your jacket.

Brushed wool baby bonnets are the smartest and the most comfortable thing to wear with your ski suit. Under your ski jacket wear a Tyrolean wool sweater—it will inject a lively dash of color.

If your forte is being a spectator, do it with a flare. Inexpensive accessories can pep up your costume effectively. Try an amusing hat and belt to match; be sure that they are brightly embroidered in a peasant motif and that they are made in a different pattern. Another amusing style is a bell-boy's cap.

To be really well dressed your socks should match or harmonize with your cap and belt in colors and patterns. Be sure that your socks should match or harmonize are long and roomy.

Get yourself all dressed up for a big time during the Christmas vacation and then pray for snow.

Names Fail to Hide Christmas Spirit in Foreign Countries

By The AP Feature Service

If Americans went back to the "old country" this season, they would find that Christmas there is still Christmas — with variations. Take Great Britain, Germany and Italy.

England's observance is closest to the American holiday. The English send Christmas cards, bedeck their houses with holly and exchange gifts. Trees, however, are only for youngsters. Santa Claus is known also as Father Christmas, and the very young hang stockings on their beds in anticipation of his visit.

Carols For Pennies

Caroling is popular, and small boys pick up a good many pennies on Christmas eve with their serenading.

The great caroling sessions, however, are confined to the church choirs which sing holiday hymns at outdoor services. At midnight, Christmas eve, the church bells start to ring. Then follows the old ceremony of "letting Christmas in." The congregation breaks up and individuals set out to call on friends. The first person to enter a friend's house after midnight is supposed to bring luck and is rewarded with a drink.

As good as the holiday itself is the extra English holiday called "Boxing day," the day after Christmas — this year, because Christmas falls on Saturday, two days after.

"Boxing day" has nothing to do with prize-fighting. It comes from the old practice of making up boxes containing gifts, which squires used to give to workers on their estates. Moderns follow the custom, giving boxes to the postman, doorman and others for year-round service.

The Scots Are Different

The Scots, who never used to enter the parlor alone. Mother and the children file in to receive their gifts when father rings a gong.

The "Holy Night celebration," as it is called, is exclusively a family event. Even good friends are regarded as intruders. Not so December 25. Friends and relatives come and go then in a constant stream.

In Italy there is no Santa Claus, no sleigh, and, except in the mountains, no snow at Christmas. But there are the Three Wise Men, who come not on Christmas Day, but at Epiphany, Jan. 6, bringing gifts for children.

Christmas day is chiefly a religious day, with many midnight masses on Christmas eve.

There is little or no exchange of gifts among adults. Eels are a favorite Christmas dish.

Swing Styles Featured Party-Goers, Dress To Suit Your Style Of Dance Friday

By VERA SHELDON

"Allure runs rampant" will headline society flashes the morning after the night before — the Sophomore Cotillion when beautiful dancers swing with their dates to the music of Clyde McCoy and his band.

Extravagantly new and different are the formal which will appear on the floor for this first university formal of the season. They fit as if poured at the waistline, flair extravagantly at the hemline and practice dare-deviltry all along the line.

White gowns will lighten the steps of their wearers Friday night. If you plan to go "trucking," you'll do your best in a gold belted white dress of Celanese alpaca. Get into the swing of the Big Apple in a white net dress with silver-head bodice. If swaying to the "Blue Danube" is your style, choose a white crepe model with a hly-shaped corsage and glittering rhinestone shoulder straps.

Your choice may not be white, but a gown of soft petal-pink, pearl-grey satin or star-studded grey net. And black as always is the paramount color — black net spangled with beads, black satin with a multi-colored sash, a lace and velvet combination or crepe with transparent lace sleeves and back. There's an enchanting dress lighted with a sequin girdle which may be alternated with others if you choose.

To be a dream girl, appear in a white and dubonnet gown which features a tight-fitting bodice of dubonnet velveteen and a white crepe skirt which clings to the figure to the knees and falls into soft folds about the ankles. Countless dubonnet buttons form shoulder straps and are met by white one marching up the back of the skirt. There is no wrap problem with this formal — the three-quarter length jacket is also dubonnet.

There's a surge toward brown for evening wear — we've found it in net over a brown taffeta slip. A multitude of soft triangular shirring fits the gown at the waist; the skirt is very full. A wide orange velvet crush satin is the only trimming.

Particularly enchanting on the dark-haired beauty is a formal of pequot blue. Its low-cut neck is emphasized by a huge up-standing ruffle, matched by another at

No Need For Boring Parties

Informal, Ingenious Holiday Festivities Should Make Hostess' Task Easy

Did your Thanksgiving entertaining leave a bad taste in your mouth? Was the party really a failure?

It's a pity to make your parties such stagnant and boring affairs. A hardship to you, the hostess, they may prove wasted evenings to those invited friends.

Informal Parties Popular

There are many ways to make parties fun. Informal ones are most popular, especially during the holiday season. If bowling is the game of the evening, plan a simple meal for the group before launching on this strenuous activity. Or, if the air is very nippy, and a few hours at Melrose lake are suggested, your friends will appreciate really substantial food. Prepare it simple country style to save time. They'd love lots of creamed potatoes and chicken hash with pickled peaches, or hot waffles with cold fried chicken or hot fried ham. Hot chocolate is easy to prepare and is a grand drink for cold evenings.

The idea of inviting people in for a snack before the theatre has become a definite part of the entertaining picture. For such an occasion it is suggested that the hostess serve hot soup with chicken sandwiches. Or fried egg and bacon sandwiches with lettuce, ripe olives and a bowl of boiled eggs will be very tasty. A cup of steaming hot coffee, or maybe two, and prepare you and your guests for the brisk walk across the bridge.

Buffet-Supper

Buffet-suppers still hold their own in line with newer modes of service. Have one for those guests who like to feel at home and who enjoy eating to their heart's content. Prepare a menu which is easy to fix and easy to serve. Guests helping themselves often lack the grace of an experienced hostess.

A new arrangement of the buffet style supper is one planned by a New York hostess which she calls "a buffet without a buffet".

the hemline. There's a line of dubonnet velvet buttons down the front.

A novel combination is found in a black moire taffeta gown with a dusty pink collar and a wide band to match at the hem of the floorlength skirt. It is also trimmed with buttons.

Very daring is a model in fuchsia satin ornamented only with a brilliant belt and shimmering rhinestone straps. If you can be extravagant, there is a demure black velvet gown with a white satin petticoat. It's ruffled and it shows!

Sequins — gold sequins, blue sequins and many-colored sequins — appear on many blouses. One frock is a black net whose low v-neck is banded by gold noes. Another is of sparkling silver, sequin-trimmed. Its royal blue chiffon velvet sash is flattering to a slim waistline.

The best comes last. The most enchanting gown seen this year is a chiffon following new drapery lines. Its colors pay tribute to the rainbow. The purple skirt in front falls from a gathered bodice and merges into soft panels in black — panels or rainbow colors. A mass of harmonizing flowers borders the neckline.

So They Say . . .

Do you think the morals of the college student are higher or lower than formerly?

Mrs. John F. Kerr, 113 Varsity Heights — I don't know exactly; however, as to my personal criticism, I think the student's morals are higher, and he is definitely more intelligent.

Raymond Hoffelder, 408 N. Duquette street, clerk — I think they are lower. When I went to the university they were bad, but their social conduct was better than it is now.

Mrs. E. T. Amrine, 217 S. Johnson street. — I think the students are just about the same, and I really can't see any difference as to their moral conduct.

Merlin Morris, 215 S. Johnson street, store employe. — Their morals are higher now. From all indications, the alumni of the universities were worse.

Richard McMahan, 41 of Fort Dodge, Quadrangle. — Higher, absolutely — I think we are out of an economic despair which, in my opinion, lead to immorality.

Roland Smith, Woodlawn apartments, restaurant proprietor. — Higher. I think there are more fine places for the student take care of themselves.

Arthur Norman, 413 E. Jefferson street, clerk. — Higher. If what I hear they used to do years ago is true, they were certainly much more rowdy than the average college students now.

velveteen lining. You can get it in many colors to suit your holiday mood.

Vogue dictates cashmere sweaters. Expensive, yes, but always practical because they wear longer and retain their smartness to the very last time you put them on. Tucked away a soft cashmere imported from Scotland in a becoming color such as beige, yellow or aqua. Wear it during the holidays with your classic pin-tucked skirt.

Cosmetic manufacturers realize the gullibility of women when it comes to make-up cases, and there are any number of lovely ones to suit any taste. One handsome pin-seeled cosmetic case contains all the essential make-up preparations for traveling and practical use at home. A mirror in the top makes it even more useful. Combine practicality with luxury this Christmas and you will glow with a sense of well-being as you travel home!

Every Family Has Customs

Xmas Trees, Wreaths, Hanging Stockings Make Holiday

Probably every family in America has at least one custom that makes its Christmas celebration different from all the others.

It may be something so universal as hanging stockings by the fireplace or a holly wreath on the door. Whatever it is, it is a Christmas custom and part of making Christmas the most loved season of the year.

Some families save their gifts till Christmas morning. The children all scurry to bed as soon as dinner is finished the evening before, and all the elders bring the tree from its place of concealment in attic or cellar and trim it with tree-jewelry and a myriad of twinkling lights and tinsel. Then, as church bells ring in the Christmas day, the children hurry down stairs and greet their new toys with shouts of delight.

Although some of us are apt to forget the true meaning of Christmas, in many homes it is a custom to light a candle in each window to light the Christ child on his way. A variation of this custom is the small evergreen tree outside that has been strung with lights.

In many homes a lunch is left beside the Christmas tree for Santa and his helpers. This custom may have come from Holland where the children fill their wooden shoes with straw for St. Nicholas' horses.

Perhaps you have a special grace that someone in the family says before the Christmas dinner; or a purple plum pudding brought to the table all aflame; or small figures in a creche beneath the tree or in a corner of the room.

Christmas cards and Christmas dinner—both customs. Same design, same menu and the same people to share them with. Even candy may be a custom if the whole family sets aside a day and prepares it at home.

Good food, good friends, good wishes and good cheer—all these are Christmas.

Bush Jailed On Larceny Count

Police Discover Alleged Stolen Goods In Hotel Room

In lieu of a $1,000 bond, Henry Bush was sent to the Johnson county jail yesterday afternoon by Police Judge Burke N. Carson. Bush had been bound over to the grand jury on a charge of larceny earlier by Carson.

Policemen who searched Bush's room at the Transient hotel said that they found the alleged stolen goods there.

Charles Eden of Lone Tree reported to the police Tuesday evening that a suit of underwear, six pairs of cotton gloves and a package of hamburger had been taken from his car.

An hour after Eden's complaint, Victor Kron and Clyde Green told police that they saw Bush take a package from Kron's car and run down the alley. The package contained a new pair of overalls, according to the police report.

All of the stolen articles except the hamburger were recovered in Bush's room by the police.

Christmas Carolers Practice Latin Verses

Singing Christmas carols in Latin — that's what this group of classical language students is doing. They are rehearsing for a Christmas program to be broadcast over station WSUI Sunday at 9:15 p.m. under the auspices of Eta Sigma Phi, honorary classical languages fraternity, and under the supervision of Prof. Dorrance S. augurated by Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, head of the classical languages department, in 1931. This is the sixth broadcast given by the classical languages department.

The broadcast of the carols will be part of the 20th annual classical languages conference here Friday and Saturday.

The program will include "Silent Night," "Joy to the World," "There's a Song in the Air," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "We Three Kings of Orient Are," "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Jingle Bells."

Between each two numbers there will be readings from the story of the nativity in Latin, Greek and English. Jack Grove, G of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, will read the story in English and also direct the chorus.

Theodore Panos, M1 of Sioux City, national president of Eta Sigma Phi, will read the story in Greek. Prof. Franklin H. Potter of the classical languages department will read the story in the Latin of the Vulgate.

Signs of Holiday Spirit Appear

Iowa Citizens Plan Christmas Festivities; Prepare Gifts, Goodies

By BETTY HARPEL

The snow, the Christmas decorations down town and the happy look on everybody's face are telling us that the Yuletide season with all its family celebrations and traditional ways of observance is in the air again.

There are two main schools of thought on the celebration question—those who believe in having their presents on Christmas Eve and those who think that Christmas day is the time to be featured. Of course the eve supporters have an obvious advantage, offering as they do surcease from the 6 o'clock rising and sticking one's feet into clammy slippers and washing one's face in a cold bathroom.

The morning celebrators have an argument to offer too, for they never find themselves in danger of the let-down that comes when all the presents are opened and all the suspense is over.

Many families manage to celebrate both occasions thoroughly and perhaps this is the best solution. Christmas eve can be very beautiful if spent wrapped up in your warmest, brightest wraps carolling to all the neighborhood.

Or you might trim the tree or deliver your Christmas presents to your friends in person.

Some families make it a custom to have nuts, candy and Christmas goodies on hand to serve freely to carollers or to friends who drop in with Christmas gifts.

Christmas morning, with presents to be unwrapped and a big family breakfast of sausage and waffles to be enjoyed, is a time that the whole family loves. Most families who have young children find themselves on their way down

1937 Delinquent Tax Property Drop Announced

The list of 1937 delinquent tax property, which goes on sale next Monday at the court house, will be the smallest of any in the past 10 years, County Treasurer W. E. Smith, announced yesterday.

Over 25 per cent of the delinquent property owners listed on the published report several weeks ago have paid the delinquent taxes. This is an exceptionally large number of redemptions, according to officials.

Homestead exemptions, federal loans and improved business conditions are credited for the decrease in delinquent tax property.

Kadlec Sets Monday For Rutherford Trial

There was no alimony asked in the uncontested case. The couple were married in Cambridge, Ill., Aug. 17, 1936.

Attorney Burke N. Carson represented Russell in court.

30 Day Sentence Given by Judge

Thirty days in the county jail was the sentence received by William Day yesterday when he appeared before Police Judge Burke N. Carson on a charge of intoxication.

Japan Joins Italy, Germany In Recognition of Insurgents

Pact Expected To Aid Intimacy Between Three Nations

TOKYO, Dec. 1 (AP) — Japan today joined Italy and Germany, her partners in an anti-communist pact, in recognition of the Spanish insurgent regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

"We find deep significance in this recognition," a foreign office statement said, "as being directed to promote the intimate relations now existing between Japan, Italy and Germany."

"The Spanish disturbance resulted from activities of the people's front, which was created through the intrigues of the Comintern (communist international)."

"Franco has been fighting to expel communism and anarchism."

"The present recognition establishes friendly relations between Japan and the Franco government, with which we are in agreement regarding the policy to be pursued toward communism."

(The pact among Germany, Japan and Italy against communism was signed Nov. 6 in Rome when Italy joined in an accord originally reached by the other two nations nearly a year before.)

(Countries formally recognizing the insurgent regime include, besides Germany, Italy and Japan, Nicaragua, Guatemala, Salvador and Albania.)

CANDIDATE IN 1940?

Mayor LaGuardia Joins Labor Party

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP) — Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, chief executive of the nation's largest city, historically the greatest metropolitan stronghold of the democrats, formally has become a member of the American Labor party, cutting any last thin tie with his old nominal republican affiliation.

This was disclosed today — 29 days from the time he registered under the labor party's clasped hands emblem and 29 days, too, from the election which returned him to city hall as the first man ever to beat the democratic machine twice in a row.

There have been published speculations that he might be the spearhead of a national third party movement in 1940 — speculations recalling his past association with middlewest LaFollette progressives in attempts to form a farm-labor political federation.

Plans Seen In About 3 Weeks

Hamilton Tells Board Modifications Will Be Necessary

Plans for Iowa City's $725,000 high school will probably be submitted in about three weeks, John L. Hamilton, of Chicago, Ill., architect, told the city school board last night.

Hamilton showed the board his preliminary designs and discussed certain features of the building which may have to be modified or omitted.

Modifications must be made because the cost of building materials has risen since the proposed school plans and costs were submitted to PWA officials more than two years ago.

Minor contracts for preliminary work on the Morningside site, where the building will be located, will probably be let by Jan. 4, according to terms of the PWA grant.

Bean Charges 'Gangsterism,' During Inquest

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 1 (AP) — Charges that "gunmen, thugs and gangsters" were brought into Minneapolis by American Federation of Labor officials were made by Harold Bean, union leader, testifying late today at the inquest into the ambush killing of Patrick Corcoran, union head, Nov. 17.

The second day's session was enlivened today by refusal of Eddie Frotto, Chicago labor organizer, on advice from his attorney, to answer a question of William Compton, assistant county attorney, whether he and his brother, Al Frotto, had "words or trouble" with Corcoran five days before his death.

Bean, a leader in the carpenters union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, gave the coroner's jury the names of at least three persons he claimed were "beaten up" or "accosted by gunmen." The three — William Mauseth, CIO official, Detlaf Weick, union organizer, and Harold Opperman, plaster tender, union member — will be subpoenaed as a result of Bean's testimony, Coroner Gilbert Seashore announced.

Asked by Compton whether he knew of "gangsterism in the labor movement," Bean emphatically responded in the affirmative and added:

"The organizer for the carpenters union No. 7 was threatened by men with drawn guns. His name is Detlaf Weick. Officials of the American Federation of Labor had employed gunmen, thugs and gangsters for the purpose of smashing the general drivers union or compelling them to affiliate with the A.F. of L."

Labor Board Intervenes

Ford Plant Charged Unfair in Dealings With Auto Workers

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1 (AP) — The national labor relations board intervened today in the week-old strike of the United Automobile Workers of America against the Ford motor company.

A complaint, issued by Dorothy De Schweinitz, labor board regional director, cited the company to appear at a hearing Dec. 16 to answer allegations of unfair labor practices in dealing with the employees of its St. Louis assembly plant.

The company was given five days in which to file an answer to the complaint, which embodied charges submitted to the board by the CIO union Oct. 25 and made the basis for its strike call last Wednesday.

Just as he did when the strike began, Milton N. Johnson, plant manager, specifically denied each of the charges. He said the company bargained collectively with its employees but did not recognize the authority of union leaders who, he contended, did not represent a majority of the workers.

William Kimberling, president of the UAWA's Ford local, disputed Johnson's claim more than 600 employees manned the assembly lines. He said "Less than half that number" were in the plant.

Kimberling was one of 76 union members whom the labor board's complaint said the company had discharged, laid off or refused to rehire after a recent seasonal shutdown.

The complaint charged further that the company threatened and intimidated its employees, forcing them to sign statements they were satisfied with working conditions; circulated anti-union propaganda; discouraged employees in the right to form independent labor organizations, and fostered and financed the "Ford Service Workers" and the "Ford Loyalty group."

DISCOURTEOUS?

Judge Condones Quip Of Pretty Girl

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP) — It is quite possible, Magistrate Mark Rudich said today, that Patrolman Fred Schwyer "can go to hell."

Dismissing a charge of disorderly conduct against Margaret Greenberg, 26, who made the retort discourteous in exchange for a summons for unnecessarily tooting her automobile horn, the magistrate said:

"In the ordinary course of our life and entirely within the realm of our belief, it is quite possible that you can go to hell. Miss Greenberg's remark wasn't a command or a wish but a simple statement of fact." (Miss Greenberg is pretty.)

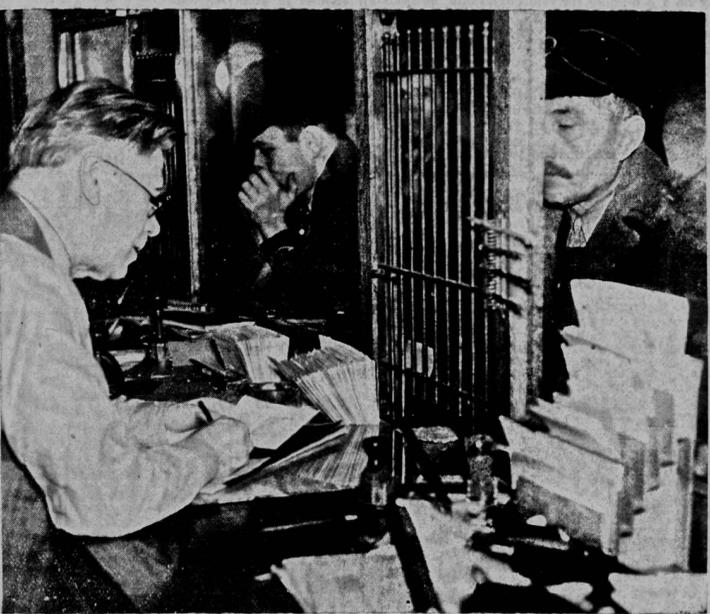

Advised by Rudich to "kiss and make up," accused and accuser smiled at each other.

They'll meet again, in traffic court tomorrow on that horn blowing charge.

House Deadlock Shows First Signs of Breaking

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP) — Signs of a break in the house deadlock over the wage-hour bill — and a partial clearing of the confusion of the special session — appeared for the first time tonight.

In response to a determined effort by northern members who busily buttonholed their colleagues in cloakrooms throughout the day, more than a dozen names were added to the petition intended to bring the measure before the house.

At the close of the day only eight more were needed to bring the total to 218, a majority of the house membership, and assure a vote on the bill some time before Christmas. It has already passed the senate.

While the movement for signatures advanced, the ever-conflicting economic interests of the industrial north and the agricultural south became involved in the controversy to an extent that at one time seemed to endanger both the wage-hour bill and the pending crop control measure.

Increasingly irritated at the southern opposition, which with some assistance from other sections, has thus far successfully bottled the wage-hour bill in the rules committee, the northerners threatened to sabotage the cotton provisions of the farm measure.

Belligerently opposed to the wage-hour measure, on the ground that it would remove existing north-south wage differentials, to the competitive disadvantage of the south, the southern members were still forlornly hopeful that a sufficient number of signatures could not be obtained.

GreyhoundBus Strike Settled

CLEVELAND, Dec. 1 (AP) — The 16-state strike of Greyhound bus drivers was settled tonight with the companies granting wage increases of one fourth cent a mile for all drivers, but refusing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's demand for a closed shop.

Bus drivers affiliated with the brotherhood went on strike Thanksgiving day. Their demands included a 5.5 cent a mile minimum for drivers with three years' experience. R. E. Cochran, company spokesman, said the one fourth cent a mile increase raised the lowest bracket from 2.6 cents a mile to 2.85, and the highest bracket from 3.9 to 4.15 cents for three year drivers.

Drivers on nine affiliated Greyhound lines were affected in a broad area from St. Louis to Portland, Me.

The settlement came a few hours after the deadline set by Greyhound for drivers to return to work or "be considered as having resigned." The contract, dated today, will be in force for one year.

"This contract broadens the base in the lower brackets," Cochran said. "Roughly, it will mean an increase of $15 a month more per man."

Garner Goes Deer Hunting Vice-President 'Bags' 125-Pound Buck In Northern Woods

ST. MARYS, Pa., Dec. 1 (AP) — Bluff, hearty Vice-President John Nance Garner laid aside his senatorial toga for hunting togs today — and "bagged" a deer.

Hunting for the first time in northern woods, on the heavily timbered, well stocked 10,000 preserve of Col. William Kaul near this lumber town, the vice-president shot the first and only buck — brought down by a party of sportsmen, including nine senators, and five other government officials.

Guides later found a four point, 145-pound buck slain by Senator Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania earlier in the day.

Rueful that his deer had not been found earlier, so he might have won a hunting prize, Senator Guffey said:

"I knew I had one, and it's a mighty fine deer."

The party arrived from Washington before dawn. Garner himself was the first to alight, clad in a new khaki outfit, red hunters cap, and cowhide boots.

After a 12-mile drive to the Kaul estate, the sportsmen tramped off into frost covered hills, shortly after 9 a.m.

The vice-president brought down his quarry two hours later, returning to the hunting lodge about noon, the buck slung over one shoulder.

"This is the way I take 'em in," Garner called out: "I just wanted to show you I could carry it."

Payne Serves Blunt Notice On Nation's Broadcasters For Improved Standards

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP) — A blunt notice that the standards of radio programs must be improved — by law, if necessary — was served upon the nation's broadcasters today by federal communications Commissioner George Henry Payne.

Contending the ether waves were the inalienable property of the public, he told the national conference on educational broadcasting:

"The ideals of the broadcasters must be changed, even if such changes are made at the risk of a severe jolt to these gentlemen."

City Offers $100 For Conviction

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 1 (AP) — Three year old Virgil Randall, jr., toddled in front of an automobile — and Kansas City's record of no child traffic fatality in more than a year hung in the balance. But today, the 42th for the record, the good news came that Virgil will recover.

Now the Kansas City Safety Council has offered a $100 reward for the arrest and conviction of the driver.

Americans Marooned In War-Torn Region; Anxiety, Alarm Felt

Greatest Depth Ever Attained Nohl Descends 420 Feet In Lake Michigan In Only A Diving Suit

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis., Dec. 1 (AP) — Max E. Nohl, 27-year-old amateur diver descended 420 feet to the floor of Lake Michigan today to reach the greatest depth in water ever attained by man in a diving suit.

After nearly three hours in the icy depths Nohl was hauled back to the deck of the coast guard cutter Antietam at 3:40 p.m. (CST). Ship to shore short wave radio communication announced his condition as good, it was reported by the coast guard's chief radio operator, Hubert Wren, at Chicago.

The cutter brought Nohl back to Milwaukee, his home.

The depth of 420 feet reached by Nohl exceeds by 114 feet the United States navy diving record of 306 feet set by Frank Crilley on the bottom of Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, in 1915.

Nohl's avowed purpose in making today's descent was twofold. It was a test of a special mixture of oxygen and helium, supplied from a tank strapped to his back, which Nohl and Capt. John Craig, a commercial diver, say enables a diver to resist the pressure of water at greater depths and which, they say, reduces the danger of "bends."

The plunge also was practice for Nohl's intended descent to the sunken liner, Lusitania, which lies in 312 feet of water off the Irish coast.

Week Passes Without Word Of Lost Group

Group of 13 Isolated At Missionary Station
In Mokanshan

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
SHANGHAI, Dec. 2 (Thursday) (AP) — Alarm was felt here today for the safety of 13 Americans, mostly women and children, marooned in an isolated region in the center of Chinese-Japanese fighting.

Mission headquarters and the United States consulate general expressed anxiety after more than a week had passed without word from the Americans.

They were last known to be in a missionary rendezvous at Mokanshan, near the Chekiang-Anhui province border. Chinese and Japanese have been fighting on all sides of Mokanshan and deserters from the Chinese army, turned bandits, have been reported looting there.

The Americans are Prof. and Mrs. L. D. Sherez and four children (address not given); Mrs. W. H. Park, Hawthorn, Fla.; Mrs. H. L. Sone and two children, Chillicothe, Tex.; Miss L. B. Edgar, Lawrence, Kan.; Miss G. S. McCulloch, Jackson, Mich., and Miss E. J. Peterson, New Sweden, Me.

An American owned steam launch, seized by Japanese sailors Tuesday, was returned to its owners yesterday with apologies.

United States consular officials confirmed Japanese assertions that their sailors had not thrown the launch's American flag into the Whangpoo river, as had been protested to the American consulate.

Japanese army units, meanwhile, spread west and south across the Yangtze delta toward Nanking, Wuhu and Hangchow against feeble opposition.

Jury Hears Trucker Testify In Des Moines Liquor Trial

Clopton Tells of Hauling Many Gallons Of Illegal Alcohol

DES MOINES, Dec. 1 (AP) — A federal court jury today heard a trucker testify that he had hauled thousands of gallons of alcohol from Wisconsin to a Des Moines ring he termed "the company."

The witness, Allen Ray Clopton, 25, had pleaded guilty several days ago to charges of violating the federal liquor revenue laws. He was the first witness called by the government in the trial of Steve Christanelli, 33, of Milwaukee, Wis.

Christanelli is the only one of 13 defendants recently indicted by the federal grand jury here on liquor charges to maintain his original plea of not guilty in court. Two others, Eugene Rhue of La Crosse, Wis., and Charles Eaton of Des Moines, changed pleas to guilty today before the Christanelli jury was selected.

Clopton testified he had hauled liquor "100 times" from Burlington, Wis., to Des Moines and that he brought back "100 to 400 gallons of alcohol" on each trip. He also said he distributed orders of alcohol to Des Moines beer taverns. The orders varied from two to 50 gallons apiece, he said.

The Iowa state liquor law prohibits sale of liquor by the drink and the sale of alcohol for beer "spiking" purposes.

Everett Schutte, who pleaded guilty with Clopton, said he once went to Burlington, Wis., to get "about 1,000" empty alcohol cans in connection with the group's activities. Basis of the federal charges is the alleged non-payment of federal liquor taxes.

PREFERS PRISON Escaped Convict Glad To Be Back

CHESTER, Ill., Dec. 1 (AP) — Remarking that "conditions on the outside are terrible, I'm sure glad to be back," John Ketchmark surrendered at the Southern Illinois prison today and told a story of wanderings since he escaped in 1920.

Warden Joseph Montgomery checked the records and found that Ketchmark had escaped, as he related. He will complete his term which, the warden said, would keep him in prison seven years.

Ketchmark, now 52, was sentenced from Sangamon county in September, 1912, after a conviction on a charge of burglary and larceny.

Japanese army units, meanwhile, spread west and south across the Yangtze delta toward Nanking, Wuhu and Hangchow against feeble opposition.

Stock Market Still Unsteady

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP) — Leading shares backed away for losses of fractions to a point or more in the stock market today, with buying support limited.

At the same time, brokers said, offerings were not in volume and the session was slow rather than "thin." Steels and motors, affected by adverse trade news, were under most pressure. Gold mining issues were in some demand and finished higher. Utilities were largely inactive.

Belief governmental aid to business may be a little slower in arriving than had been hoped for was a factor in the market's lassitude, it was asserted. The week's drop in steel operations chilled enthusiasm for this group, although "Iron Age" suggested the decline might be near its bottom.

Unofficial estimates that the week's rail loadings would again be well under those for the comparable period of 1936 were offset in their market effect, to an extent, by Wall Street's belief favorable action on requested freight rate increases was due soon. Compilations of October net operating income indicated a sharp decrease under last year.

Heavy Losses For Rebels In Futile Attempts

HENDAYE, FRANCO - SPANISH FRONTIER, Dec. 1 (AP) — Spanish government reports tonight said the Insurgents lost heavily in five futile attacks on government positions southwest of Toledo on the west bank of the Tagus river.

Government soldiers entrenched in olive groves were said to have moved down the enemy infantry with machine guns as it sought to advance.

Insurgent headquarters announced the clean up of government resistance in the northern province of Asturias was completed with the slaying of the last chiefs and bands holding out in mountain strongholds.

From Bilbao came the announcement that the "iron ring" fortifications around the Basque Port city, which failed to halt the Insurgent forces, would be preserved as an attraction for tourists.

(In Tokyo, the Japanese government formally recognized the Insurgent regime and Manchouquo was reported to have decided on similar action.)

Yvon Delbos To Tour 4 Capitals

PARIS, Dec. 1 (AP) — Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos will leave tomorrow on a tour of four capitals to patch France's political fences and to seek to quiet fears Britain may be ready to abandon eastern Europe to Germany.

His trip, to last 17 days, will take him to Warsaw and the Little Entente capitals, Bucharest, Belgrade and Praha.

He hopes to get a new promise from the countries — Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia — of faithfulness to their alliances with France.

Speaking on behalf of both Britain and France, following a mandate given him in London during the recent Anglo-French consultations, he will try to assuage fears expressed in the four capitals that Britain might leave eastern Europe to Germany in return for a full settlement in the western part of the continent.

Foreign office sources said Delbos would give France's allies assurance Britain stood with his country in "taking an active interest" in eastern European affairs and had refused to give Germany a "free hand" in central Europe.

Students Contemplate Activity Tickets

Representatives of Campus Groups Discuss Possibilities

University Women's Association Calls Meeting; W. H. Cobb Outlines General Policies of Use

The possibility of introducing activity tickets for University of Iowa students was discussed at a meeting attended by representatives of leading campus organizations in Old Capitol yesterday afternoon. The University Women's association, which has been investigating the project, called the meeting.

W. H. Cobb, university business manager, at the request of the students presented a possible plan for use of the ticket and outlined general policies which would be followed after its adoption.

The activity fee, a composite fee usually providing for student admission to athletic contests, concerts, lectures, plays and other entertainments, is in use in many other colleges and universities. Cost of the ticket is included in tuition fees.

Betty Bauserman, A4 of Des Moines, president of U. W. A., presided during the meeting and Betty Braverman, A4 of Iowa City, was chairman of the discussion.

A committee of five students was appointed to make a further study of the project.

Members are Miss Braverman, chairman; Harlan Wilson, M4 of Woodburn; Statea Browning, G of Iowa City; James Savery, A4 of Atlantic, and Clinton Moyer, L2 of Iowa City. The committee will meet at a luncheon tomorrow in the private dining room at Iowa Union.

here than any place else in the state, and we who count Iowa City as our town challenge you to prove that there is. . . You're inconsistent, Mr. Wegman. . .

Bootleg

How can you possibly know how many bootleg cigarettes are smoked here in a week, in a month or a year? . . . Did you know that I personally brought back three cartons of cigarettes from a recent Chicago trip and two from a journey into Wisconsin? . . . This may possibly furnish another headline, Mr. Wegman—because I'm an Iowa Citizen violating the law. . .

Haven't you ever brought any unstamped cigarettes across the state border, Mr. Wegman—because if you haven't you're missing an experience almost every other Iowa citizen has enjoyed. . . We would wager, incidentally, that even some of your home-towners from Carroll have done that very thing? . . . Why didn't you mention them as law violators, Mr. Wegman? . . . Why did you single out Iowa City? . . . Because we are pretty annoyed about the whole thing. . . We've been defamed without cause too many times before to take this lying down. . .

We like you, Mr. Wegman. . . We think you have talent and, so far as we know, are an efficient state treasurer. . . We believe you may be a candidate for reelection—but before we make up our minds about voting next year, if you are a candidate, we'd like that explanation, please. . .

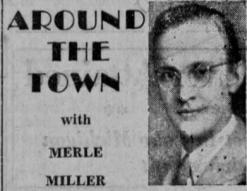

Politics is a peculiar business, Mr. Wegman. . . This is your second term in office, and you should know. . . You should know that most of us regard an insult to our hometown as personal and biting. . .

Favor!

We want you to know that we are in favor of your proposal for a new cigaret tax law and better enforcement activities. . . We want you to know we think you probably meant well enough in your statement about Iowa City—but were misguided. . .

If you have definite proof of what you allege, let's have it. If not—

MERLE MILLER

—Comes Now Leo J. Wegman— (Being An Open Letter to the State Treasurer)

Dear Mr. Wegman: You probably won't remember me, Mr. Wegman; but I remember you very well. . . You made a speech in Iowa City before the November, 1936, election. It was a very good speech. . . When I met you later in the evening, I considered you a good-fellow, a smart politician and an honest man. . . Had I been of age I undoubtedly would have cast my vote in your favor.

Today I'm not so sure. . . That's why I'm addressing you here, to ask an explanation for myself—and the other Iowa Citizens I heard talking about you yesterday. . .

Frankly, Mr. Wegman, we want an answer. . . We want to know why you picked Iowa City out of the state's several hundred towns to mention as a particular violator of the Iowa cigaret tax law. . .

Were you misquoted by the articles which stated, "The treasurer said that at least 50,000 bootleg cigarettes are smoked every week in Iowa City, seat of the University of Iowa, and that flagrant violation of the tax is statewide?"

Are these your words? . . . Or were they placed in your mouth by clever newspaper men whose papers prefer stories with a definitely anti-Iowa City slant? . . . If you have been misquoted, say so. . . If we receive no word from you, we shall assume you did speak thus.

And we doubt what you say, Mr. Wegman. . . We doubt that there is more "bootleg smoking"

Iowa Has Hill Billies

Guests in Overalls, Calico, Will Dance At Silver Shadow

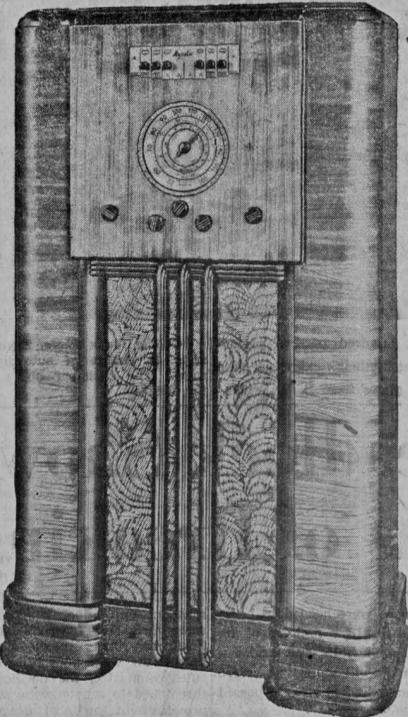

From the Ozarks to the University of Iowa campus comes the "Hill Billy" night at the Silver Shadow, the university night club. "Hill Billy" night will be held Saturday at 9 p.m. as the theme of the fourth evening of the season in Iowa Union. Overalls and calico may be worn to the informal party, but costume is not required.

A whirling lariat will be handled by Louise Seeburger, A1 of Des Moines, in a fancy rope exhibition. Costumed in an orange satin blouse with a blue scarf, brown shorts and anklets, and a "ten gallon" hat, Miss Seeburger will demonstrate the rope "handshake," the body spin, flat spins, jumps and hurdling. She will lie down on the floor spinning the rope in formations at the same time.

Lynn Wertz, the "one man band" from Kalona, will play a zither and mouth harp in combination with other musical instruments. Jimmy Powers of Tipton, an entertainer at the Silver Shadow last year, will play selections on the musical saw.

Vette Kell, L1 of Marengo, will be master of ceremonies. Plans are being made to distribute souvenir "Hill Billy" musical instruments to the guests.

Supervised Tap-Dancing At City's Recreational Center

Iowa City girls wishing instruction in tap-dancing and other play activities should register at 4 p.m. tomorrow at the recreation center, Eugene Trowbridge, director, announced yesterday.

Tap-dancing and games will be taught by three university students who are majoring in the women's physical education department. They are Frances Jones, A4 of Iowa City, Bernice Peterson, A3 of Boone, and Elizabeth Fowler, R3 of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Miss Jones will supervise the tap-dancing instruction on Wednesday and Fridays between 4 and 5 p.m., and Miss Fowler and Miss Peterson will have charge of the game periods on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays between 4 and 5 p.m. Thirty boys registered for informal gym periods and game room play on the center's opening day Tuesday. Boys between nine and 13 may play between 4 and 6 p.m., but the evening period between 7 and 10 p.m. is reserved for older boys.

All boys wishing to play basketball must register this week, Trowbridge said. The two age groups — younger and older — will be organized for league play next week, he said.

Four university students from the social administration department will aid in craft work and game room supervision. They are Elma Liers, A3 of West Burlington, Mary Harty, A3 of Iowa City, Dorothy Smalls, A4 of Des Moines, and Delores Freeman.

Noted Adventurer Will Present 2nd Talk in University Series

Motion Pictures Will Illustrate Lecture In Union

Capt. John D. Craig, adventure motion picture producer and deep-sea diver, will give the second university lecture of the year tonight at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union. The lecture will be illustrated with motion pictures.

Captain Craig has travelled about the world for 12 years searching in out-of-the-way spots for the unusual thrills recorded by his cameras. One of his releases was the authentic story of a deep-sea treasure hunt. By means of a special waterproof underwater camera of his own design, he has successfully shot moving pictures at depths to 100 feet.

He was a co-designer of the Craig-Nohl diving dress, the second major development in diving dress since 1823. Captain Craig nearly lost his life during experiments with the diving suit on the bottom of Lake Michigan when the life line of the standard diving dress he was wearing became fouled. He was rescued by Max

Nohl wearing the Craig-Nohl self-contained diving dress and went down next day.

The ability of Captain Craig to obtain authentic and unusual thrill "shots" has made his services in demand by Hollywood producers. Many of the big features have contained wild animal or undersea "shots" obtained by Captain Craig.

In Hollywood, Captain Craig has at his command a group of movie technicians, all in their early 20's. They have been college athletes, aviators, deep-sea divers and several of them have been on the Olympic teams. They can shoot both camera and gun and know how to knife a shark. With these men, Captain Craig is sent to remote parts of the world to get the "sock" thrill shots needed for the major features.

A limited number of free admission tickets for the lecture will be available for the general public this morning at the main desk in Iowa Union.

California Bears Glad To Have Alabama As Rose Bowl Opponent

Strom Leading Triathlon Field

With the conclusion of the first day of the annual weight triathlon, Phil Strom, freshman from Ft. Dodge, is leading the field with 1577 total points. In second place is Dale Roberts, varsity pole vaulter, with 1553. Fred Martin, Hampton frosh, is third with 1503 points.

Roberts led both Martin and Strom in the 25-pound weight throw and the shot put, but Strom picked up almost 100 points more in the discus throw to take first place.

Strom has won the Dutton discus and DeHeer shot put events this year and Roberts both the jump triathlon and Canby pole vault. Martin has taken second in both the discus and shot put.

Although Strom is leading in total points he will receive only the award for the freshman division. Roberts, if he continues to lead the event this afternoon, will receive the varsity award.

Quad, Fraternity And Co-op Cagers Play Last Night

There were seven intramural basketball games played in the Iowa fieldhouse last night. In the first game of the evening Theta Xi fraternity romped over Delta Theta Phi, 29 to 8, with Townsend scoring 10 points. Mose and Reynolds looked good for the losers.

In the two following games, Whetstone and Wilson, two strong contenders for the co-op title, won lopsided victories over Gables and Jefferson. Bill Driscoll, scoring seven points, led Whetstone in its 21 to 8 victory. Wilson, with Boyd Walker and Bob Day scoring 30 points between them, was able to crush a valiant Jefferson quintet, 56 to 5. Lowden, Lettow and Fisk fought to the last for the lost Jefferson cause.

In three Quad games, Upper D defeated Upper A, 26 to 20; Upper C downed Upper B, 32 to 21, in the latter's first defeat in four games and Lower B nosed Lower C, 23 to 21, in the final game. Leading scorers of the evening were Boyenga, who dropped in 14 points for Lower C and Elwin Book, who made nine points for Upper D.

Coach Working Up New Plays

Coast Team To Begin Practice Dec. 17 For Classic

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 1 (AP)—California's Golden Bears—who once named Pittsburgh their No. 1 choice of opponents—will be glad to see Alabama in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

While the California players had previously, and informally, expressed a preference to meet Pitt in the football classic at Pasadena, their reaction to Alabama was best reflected today through the views of Perry Schartz, first string end.

"All of the fellows are glad Alabama is coming out. They have a perfect record this year. In four other trips to the Rose Bowl they won three games and tied one. If we are lucky enough to beat them we really will have accomplished something."

The California players, idle since they defeated Stanford Nov. 20 to win the Pacific coast championship, will begin practice Dec. 17, when final examinations end. Until then light exercise, taken whenever the men can spare time from studies, will be the routine.

Meanwhile, Head Coach Leonard "Stub" Allison prepared to work up new plays and defensive setups. Not having had Alabama scouted, he knows nothing of the team's tactical maneuvers. He said he hoped to receive information before long, however.

Ticket Selling Starts
The ticket handling staff opened its office in the southern city today. Priestley pointed out that whether a public sale of tickets would be held depended on applications from alumni. Each alumnus is entitled to purchase six tickets. Applications will close Dec. 10.

Brooklyn's Van Mungo Holds Limelight at Baseball Meeting

City High to Invade Davenport For Conference Tilt Tomorrow

Coach Francis Merten had a full dose of offensive work on tap for his City high cagers as they furthered preparation for tomorrow's Davenport invasion in their practice session last night.

An intra-squad scrimmage afforded the Hawkelet squad an opportunity to rehearse formations originating under either basket. With the return of Russel Hirt to the squad, the Little Hawk mentor now has two quintets of almost equal competence. Putnam, McLaughlin, Covert, Burger and Lemons composed the first string last night, while Devine, Rogers, Wheeler, McGinnis, Hirt, Sleichter and Crumley also participated in the scrimmage.

The Red and White five is rapidly developing into a smooth-passing, fast-driving outfit. Brushing up on their ball handling and floor work, the Little Hawks will face the Hilltoppers with a formidable attack that will not be easily overcome. The second half rallies of the Iowa Citizens make them dangerous opponents until the final whistle blows.

Parker's Hand Injured

Coach Herb Cormack's freshman-sophomore candidates spent most of the evening sharpening their basket eyes. The Red and White youngsters practiced short shots from the free throw line, as well as tip-in and follow shots. Virgil Parker, one of the steady performers on the frosh-soph quintet, is slowed up with an injured hand. Parker has a torn cartilage in his left hand.

King and Parker handled the first string forward positions last night, with Laughlin at center, and Fetig, Goldberg, Lillick and Lewis alternating in the rear court.

Both City high teams play their first conference game of the year at Davenport Friday.

'Sand Bowl' Added As Football Reward

WILDWOOD, N. J., Dec. 1 (AP)—Mayor Doris W. Bradway added the "Sand Bowl" as a New Year's day reward for a successful collegiate football campaign today when she asked Pittsburgh, Villanova, and Fordham to participate in a game here.

Miller Lost To Bluehawks For Wellman Tilt

The chances of the University high basketball team in their game with Wellman tomorrow suffered a serious setback yesterday when it was learned that their captain and regular forward, George Miller, may not be able to play because of an attack of ptomaine poisoning.

Miller, who has played regular forward for the Bluehawks for the past two years, was feeling ill Tuesday, but reported for practice although he did not take part in the scrimmage. He was not in school yesterday and it was learned that his illness was caused by ptomaine poisoning and that he may not be in condition to play tomorrow.

Should this be the case, the Blue and White squad will not only lose one of its main scoring threats but it will leave them in dire straits for reserve strength. As they have a first squad of only eight men, the absence of Miller would leave them with only two substitutes. The rest of the squad with the exception of Ham Ries have had no varsity experience to speak of outside of their lone game this year.

In their practice game with Riverside yesterday, Coach William R. Wood worked Bruce Alderman, Ernie Krogh and Murray Dawson at Miller's forward post. None of these men have had any varsity experience outside of the game they played in last weekend. Krogh received a slight knee injury in the game, but it was not thought to be serious.

The U-high team looked impressive as they romped through the fighting Riverside team. Alderman, who was playing at Miller's post, looked impressive as he scored 10 points. The other starters were Ed Burns at center, Ham Ries and Duane Carson at the guards and Bob Carson at the other forward post.

The Blue and White sophomore squad played a practice game with the Riverside second squad. Don Fiestler, sophomore coach, started Don Welt and Clarence Highshoe at the forwards, Owen Morgan and Chuck Means at the guards and Henry Pelzer at center.

New Yorkers After Flatbush Mound Artist

Chicago Cubs Also In Market For Loop Strikeout King

By EARL HILLIGAN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 1 (AP)—One of baseball's most famous "bad boys," the temperamental Van Lingle Mungo of the Brooklyn Dodgers, bobbed up today as the "monkey wrench" which held to a standstill the major league's buying and selling machinery.

As the minor leagues formally opened their convention, the name of Mungo, one of the greatest fast ball pitchers in the National league, suddenly highlighted a reported Dodgers-New York Giants deal expected to touch off a burst of major league trading activity.

The Giants, according to rumor which sizzled through every hotel lobby in the city, are willing to give Hal Schumacher, pitcher, Gus Mancuso, catcher, and either Johnny McCarthy, first baseman, or Hank Leiber, outfielder, for Mungo and one other player, brilliant young Buddy Hassett, Dodger first sacker.

Cubs Also Want Van

The Dodgers, with Mungo and Hassett their two best pieces of saleable "ivory," also are reported to be asking a chunk of cash—the amount of which is holding up the transaction. Also, after Mungo are the Chicago Cubs, and the tip was out that Owner P. K. Wrigley was ready to loosen up the purse strings to get the big right handed hurler, who squabbled constantly with Manager Burleigh Grimes last season and seems definitely to be in for a change of scenery.

As other trade rumors circulated, it was learned that a Chicago Cubs-Pittsburgh deal involving Shortstop Arky Vaughan had fallen through. The Pirates demanded either Bill Herman, ace second sacker, or Frank Demaree, who practically constituted the entire Cub outfield, and Manager Charlie Grimm was quick to turn thumbs down on the proposition.

Tigers May Get Cain

Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox went into a huddle during the day with Pilot Mickey Cochrane of Detroit, with Detroit reported on the verge of buying Merritt (Sugan) Cain, Sox pitcher. The White Sox, according to Manager Jimmy Dykes, still are after Harland Clift, St. Louis Brown's infielder. The Dykesmen and Washington Senators also were dickering with the possibility of buying Buddy Myer, Senator infielder, might go to the Sox.

Two other pitching aces figured in a possible deal which developed late in the day. Manager Dykes of the White Sox made Cleveland a straight offer of Vernon Kennedy for Hurler Mel Harder. Dykes would like to make a straight trade of Kennedy to the Browns for infielder Clift, but the Browns are asking that the Sox also toss outfielder Dixie Walker into the transaction and Dykes won't go for that.

Big 10 Athletic Directors Meet To Fix Schedules

A Hawkeye delegation of 10 men will represent the University of Iowa Friday and Saturday at the Big Ten meeting in Chicago, Director of Athletics E. G. Schroeder announced yesterday.

Upon appointment by President Eugene A. Gilmore yesterday morning, Dean Rudolph A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy and member of the board in control of athletics will represent Iowa at the meeting of conference faculty representatives.

The major item of business, of course, will be the arranging of winter and spring schedules. It is expected that more than fifty events will be booked in seven sports, including dual and title affairs.

Director Schroeder will attend the sessions for the directors and Coach Irl Tubbs and Ernie Nevers will be present at the football coaches' meeting. This is the first December schedule meeting in which Mr. Schroeder has headed the Iowa contingent. He was appointed to the athletic and physical education directorship last January.

The coaches who will draw up the 1938 schedules include George Bresnahan, track; Otto Vogel, baseball; Mike Howard, wrestling; David Armbruster, swimming; and Charles Kennett, golf. Charles Galhier, business manager, will book the contests in gymnastics and tennis.

Irl Tubbs And Staff To Represent S.U.I. At About 20 Dinners

Coach Irl Tubbs and his staff of assistants will represent the University of Iowa at about 20 dinners in various parts of the state this year. The Iowa mentors, according to an augmented list released yesterday, will speak in a score of Iowa cities before Christmas.

High school gridders at Keota, Forest City, Denison, LeMars and Belle Plaine will listen to speeches by Coach Tubbs during the month of December. Assistant Coach Pat Boland will talk at Osage, Anamosa, Mason City, Lyons, Forest City, Denison and LeMars.

Ernie Nevers, backfield tutor for the Hawkeyes, is scheduled to appear at Anamosa, Clinton, Hampton, Denison, LeMars and Dixon, Ill. At Hampton, Denison, LeMars and Anamosa, Glen Devine will be one of the guest speakers.

Mattes Installed As Member Of Elk's Board of Trustees

Pusateri And Taylor To Attend Conference Of Association

Matt Mattes was installed as a member of the board of trustees of the Elks lodge at the bi-weekly meeting last night. The installation was made by W. P. Russell, past exalted ruler, assisted by Charles Chansky, who acted as esquire. Mattes will complete the unexpired term of Philip D. Ketelsen, who died recently.

Members last night authorized the entrance of a bowling team in the Iowa City fraternal league.

It was also voted to sponsor an Elks chorus under the direction of Stephen Fowler, G of Sioux City. The committee in charge of arrangements is Jack Swamer, chairman, Martin Shoup and John Eppel.

Gus Pusateri, exalted ruler, and M. E. Taylor, Elks secretary, will attend the mid-winter conference of the Iowa State Elks association at Cedar Rapids Dec. 11 and 12 as official representatives of the Iowa City lodge. Charles Spencer Hart, grand exalted ruler, will be the principal speaker at the meeting. The Cedar Rapids conference will be Hart's only visit to Iowa this year.

A buffet lunch was served following last night's meeting.

Chapter One

"But why can't I use my own name?" The shorter of the two men gazed as they neared the elevator. Jim Guthrie, tall, blonde, and deeply tanned, took him by the arm. "Because I say so," he retorted. "Come on, get into the elevator." He pushed his reluctant companion into the car. The door closed and the elevator started its dizzy ascent. "A fine thing," Jim's companion gumbled. "Here I've been away from New York for five years and the first time I come back you make me change my name. What if some of my old buddies meet up with me? What'll they think?" Jim Guthrie puffed his cigarette impatiently. "Listen," he said, "I'm only changing your name to impress this Kane guy. To him you're going to be Pancho Brownale if it kills you. After we finish up here you can go over to South Brooklyn and be Pete Brown or — or Babe Ruth if you want." The newly christened Pancho nodded. "Yeah," he said, "but what do I say to this guy, Kane?" "You don't say anything," Jim replied. "You're just here as a witness. I'll do the talking." "But won't he think I'm kinda dumb?" "I'll simply introduce you as Senor Pancho Brownale, an associate of mine from Buenos Aires," Jim went on. "If you must say something, say, 'I agree with Mr. Guthrie.' Understand?" "But what if I don't agree with you?" Pancho demanded.

mined her niece will sing in Paris and I'm afraid that settles it," Kane pointed to a picture on his wall of Madame Della — an imposing looking woman in the armour of the "Opera-hilde."
"I've seen her picture in the opera house at Buenos Aires," Jim said. "She sang there years ago."
Kane shook his head. "She rules Elsa Terry with an iron hand," he said. "She's a combination of the worst features of Gibraltar and Vesuvius."
During the following week Jim Guthrie staged a determined campaign to meet Elsa Terry. He bombarded her apartment with flowers, candy, fruit, books and notes asking for an interview. Much to the disgust of Pancho, they attended the opera each night that Elsa sang. But it availed him nothing. All of his presents were returned unopened.
Not that Elsa wasn't intrigued by all this attention. Young and beautiful and thoroughly bored with the sheltered life her aunt insisted that she lead, Elsa spent much time wondering about the man who was trying so desperately to meet her.
"Forget about him," the aunt counseled. "He's either a playboy or he's crooked."
As a last resort, Jim went to the apartment building where Elsa Terry lived. Inquiring for any vacancies, he learned that the apartment directly across the hall from Miss Terry's was vacant. The tenant objected to the opera star's constant practicing and wanted to sublet. Jim took the apartment sight un-

"Forget about him. He's either a playboy or he's crooked." (Poised by Grace Moore and Helen Westley)

Jim ignored that one and pushed Pancho from the elevator into the waiting room of William Kane, artist representative. The walls of the room were decorated with pictures of Kane's clients and the room was filled with several opera singers, for that was Kane's business, managing the business affairs of opera stars. Jim sent in his card and was ushered in immediately to Kane's private office. Kane greeted them pleasantly and showed them to seats.
"I received your wireless, Mr. Guthrie," he said. "This is an unfortunate business."
"You're putting it mildly," Jim replied with some feeling.
"I haven't made the slightest progress with Miss Terry and her aunt," Kane continued.
"Progress?" Jim replied. "We already have a signed contract with Miss Terry that calls for her to sing at the opening of our new opera house in Buenos Aires."
"But her aunt insists that she sing in Paris," Kane said. "Obviously she can't sing in Paris and Buenos Aires at the same time. She's not a ventriloquist."
"Then we'll sue her," Jim said. "I should think, though, that we could appeal to Miss Terry's sense of decency."
Pancho nodded vehemently. "I agree with Mr. Guthrie," he said. Kane sighed. "Yes," he agreed, "if you could get to see her. But she never sees anybody. She's not allowed to."
"In any case," Guthrie said firmly. "I will not go back to Buenos Aires without Miss Terry. I induced my friends to sponsor this season of opera and without her it will be a failure. We have a right to insist on the fulfillment of this contract."
Kane said. "You're absolutely in the right. But Madame Della is deter-seen and moved in the next day. A few days later, while he was loitering in the lobby hoping that Elsa would come downstairs, an excitable little man strode up to the desk.

"I am Rene Ginard of the Paris Municipal News," he announced to the clerk. "I have an appointment to interview Mademoiselle Terry."
Jim dashed to the elevator while the Frenchman was being announced and when, a few moments later, Ginard left the elevator at the sixteenth floor Jim was waiting to greet him.
"Monsieur Ginard?" Jim asked blandly.
The Frenchman nodded. "Oui. That is me."
"I am Miss Terry's secretary," Jim explained. "Won't you come in, please?" Jim ushered Ginard into his own apartment and quickly shut the door.
"Miss Terry will see you in a few minutes," Jim continued. "Meanwhile, allow me to introduce Signor Pietro Kiro Brownale, Miss Terry's accompanist."
Ginard bowed respectfully to the bewildered Pancho.
"Play something for M. Ginard," Jim said to Pancho, "while I inform Miss Terry that he is here."
Jim left Ginard in the company of the protesting Pancho and strode quickly across the hall to Elsa's door. A maid answered his knock and Jim mustered a phoney French accent.
"Mademoiselle Terry — she is in?" he inquired.
The maid nodded. "Mademoiselle Terry — she is in there," she replied emphatically.
Jim crossed his fingers for luck and walked into the living room of Elsa Terry's apartment.
