BIG BUSINESS M A N  INDICATES BETTER COOPERATION; TENSION WITH GOVERNMENT MAY EASE

ATTITUDE LEAVES MUCH TO BE DESIRED

Says-Magill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) - A business man indicated today that there was much to be desired in the business man-government relationship.

"There is something in the air that indicates that the government is not really interested in the welfare of the business community," he said.

"On the other hand, I think there is a tendency toward a more cooperative attitude on the part of the government," he added.

"I believe that the government is becoming more aware of the importance of the business community," he concluded.

MOSCOW, Oct. 24 (AP) - "Soviet leadership is a bit uncertain these days," a businessman said today.

"There are some indications that the leadership may be considering a more cooperative approach," he said.

"However, there is also a feeling that the leadership may be preparing for a more confrontational stance," he added.

"It is difficult to say what the future will hold," he concluded.

NIGHTMARE

Seymour Gillis, 54, Animals, Birds

A businessman who had been involved in the international animal trade for many years, today described a nightmare he had had last night when a large animal appeared in his dreams.

"It was a nightmare," he said. "I saw a large animal, and it was..."

"I don't want to describe what it was," he continued. "But I know it was something..."

"I don't want to say anything more," he concluded. "But it was a nightmare."

How Eastern Plagues Are Kept From Entering United States

By Logan C. Anderson M.D.

The United States has been successful in keeping out the plague because of its strict quarantine laws. The government has been organized in such a way as to detect any possible cases of plague as early as possible. The plague is a disease that spreads quickly, and if not detected early, it can cause a great deal of suffering and death. The government has taken measures to ensure that any cases of plague are detected early and isolated, preventing its spread.

Elida Airways Players Again Show Ability

Largely Play, "Prize and Prejudice," Sometimes Dull, Bad Comic

In connection with their annual meeting of the local chapter of the National Players, Elida Airways Players, will present "Prize and Prejudice," a play by George Bernard Shaw. The play will be presented at 8 p.m. in the college's auditorium. The play will feature a variety of musical styles and compositions, including classical, folk, and contemporary music.

Altho' the production was dull and many of the actors were not up to the mark, the play was successful in its portrayal of the characters. The acting was good and the play was well received by the audience.

Guests To Be Offered Party For National League Managers

By PAUL HICKELSON

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP) - Colonel William Harold Terry, Iowa's football captain, was so incensed at the news of his team's defeat by Northwestern that he threatened to quit the team and go out for a year.

Colonel Terry's ire was aroused by the fact that he had to go out and pick up his high school football team after his college teammates had deserted him.

The Iowa coach was furious at the news that his team had been defeated by the Northwestern Wildcats, 53-23.

"I'll tell you what," said Colonel Terry, "I'm through with this team. I'm going to quit and join the high school team."

The Iowa coach was so upset that he went on to say that he would never play football again.

"I don't want to hear any more about this team," said Colonel Terry. "I'm going to quit and join the high school team."
