About These

So-Called Defects

IN THE adjoining column The Daily Iowan is publishing a letter of protest to the activity book plan now being considered on the campus. We think that Gustafsson and Marcus are justified in their complaints, but we also believe that the plan is fundamentally sound. In answer to these gentlemen, then, we make the following observations from our own knowledge of the situation.

1. No one expects all 5,000 students to attend every theatrical production, concert, lecture and debate. But every student that wants to will have the same opportunity as he has now to attend those University lectures which are given free and there has been no special difficulty in satisfying students with them. As for the seating capacity of the theater, plays could and would be repeated as long as people wanted to see them.

2. The average student has laboratory work at some time or other, and the total cost of the fees would be insignificant anyway. As a matter of fact, the cost of the fees will not come out of the activity allotment but from the university itself as a special concession toward uniform tuition.

3. Nearly every male student has to take military in his freshman and sophomore years, so it should make little difference whether he pays the expense over a two-year period or a four-year period. The U.W.A. assessment for girls will balance the amount for military so there will be no discrimination between men and women.

4. Students who live in the co-operative houses are as hard-pressed financially as any group in school, yet they have been enthusiastic in their support of the plan, indicating that they are willing to spend both the time and the money.

5. The plan is workable now, and as definite as it can be until approved by the finance committee of the state board of education. For a semester cost of from $10 to $15, every student will be relieved of all little fees and deposits; granted admission to all local athletic events, plays, concerts, lectures and debates; given the Hawkeye for four years with this picture included in his junior year; allowed one week's hospitalization every year without cost. Amounts will also be set aside for Iowa Union development, for student aid and as a reserve for other activities which may be added later.

6. The only club rates now available are in the form of season tickets, and all reductions made possible in the activity book plan are being figured from the cost of season tickets.

7. We think it quite possible for students to attend all of these activities and still keep up their scholastic work. Every student should have recreation and these activities will provide a convenient as well as cultural way for him to obtain it. We know many students who attend most activities, actively engage in many others, and who still keep up their scholastic standards. Quite frequently, too, these activities will tie in with class work.

8. The vote is being taken by group method as the most efficient method of reaching every student. Every student lives in a fraternity, sorority, dormitory or in town. By polling these groups, including the town students, everyone will be reached. And a majority is a majority whether the students are reached singly or by groups.

Congress Goes to Town

MONDAY THE nation's communications system fairly hummed with the startling news that emanated from Washington—congress had burst into action!

For weeks weary tax-payers and citizens have sat back and watched congress get nowhere fast. Congressmen had fought themselves nearly to exhaustion. The opening filibuster was followed by quarrel and delay. The farm bill was deadlocked. Congress was a wrangling stalemate.

A bitter battle raged over the wage-hour bill. The chambers of the capitol rang with howling, protesting speeches. Lag, delay—nothing but quarreling; the taxpayer sat at home wringing his hands.

But Monday—how different things were! A bill was introduced in the house. In a flash it was passed! The vote was overwhelming! Hardly had the ink dried before the senate considered it! The senate passed it with almost unanimous vote! There was no debate!

Immediately the bill was rushed to President Roosevelt for his signature! Nothing could stand in the way of congress now! Congress was no longer a delaying, bickering group, but a steam-rolling, unified body. The tax-payer gasped for breath. Congress could show the country that it still had the same old stuff!

Oh, yes—the bill they passed was the one which appropriates their traveling expenses—now they can go home for Christmas.

Now comes some expert or other to say that the fox really isn't a smart animal. He's certain to be smart—or he couldn't give such an excellent imitation of smartness.

France now has a Ku Klux Klan organization. Imagine on a dark night, meeting a traveling bed sheet—with a French accent!

Only Italy and San Salvador recognize Manchukuo as a state. We don't know how Japan will "save face" on that—for 1,500,000,000 snubs can't be wrong.

The average husband, before Christmas, worries himself sick on the problem of what to get the wife. After Christmas, he worries over how he's going to pay for it.

The Housing Administration wants to know whether a kitchen may be properly called a room. Call it anything you like, fellows, but, for gosh sakes, don't eliminate it!

President Roosevelt is given only 18 lines in the new British "Who's Who", while Haile Selassie gets 32 lines. F. D. R. probably doesn't care—he's kept HIS job.

American Museum of Natural History expedition in British Guiana looking for a meteor which knocked down 30 miles of jungle growth. When they find it, it may turn out to be just another Sunday driver.

Our Readers' VIEWPOINT

Letters must be signed and should not exceed 250 words. Opinions expressed by our readers do not necessarily reflect our views.

Editor, The Daily Iowan: A plan has been sweeping through the dormitories for an activity ticket plan, which we believe they are endorsing without proper consideration. Here are the defects as we see them.

1. How do the sponsors expect to allow 5,000 students to see such activities as theatrical productions, concerts, lectures, Iowa Union activities and debates considering the seating capacity, especially at the theater?

2. There is the unfairness of making students who have no laboratory work pay for the laboratory fees of others.

3. Why should upper classmen and those exempt from military science be required to pay a part of these fees?

4. We are not denying the value of these activities but it is impossible for students who are working their way through school to attend these activities and it is on them that the financial hardship will be imposed.

5. Before a plan of this character is submitted to the vote of the students, it should be fashioned into a workable and definite plan instead of vague ideas.

6. All these activities operate more or less under a club manner now, and it is possible for the student to obtain reduced rates on these activities in which he is interested.

7. It is quite impossible for a student to keep up his scholastic work and attend all of these activities.

8. We do not feel that taking a vote by group method gives the whole student body a voice in the proposal.

Thyroid Gland Influences Way All Body Organs Move, Work

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. It must occur to anybody who thinks of the manifold activities of any human body, that a central correlating force is necessary. A body is much like a highly organized modern city—the people walking through the streets on their various tasks can be represented by the blood cells; the telephone wires resemble the nerve fibrils which carry communications between every cell; the body has a water works which cleanses its organs and carries away waste products. Etcetera, etcetera. I need not carry the simile any further. As a matter of fact, I am a little stumped to think of anything that represents the heart in a modern city.

But what controls the whole thing? Who is the mayor and the common council?

Glands Responsible Modern research seems to point to the fact that the thyroid gland is probably more responsible than anything else. Unless it is the pituitary gland. Thyroid and pituitary together, let us say. But it is worth while to study the functions of the thyroid.

This small bit of tissue carries with it the most enormous potentialities for anybody's life. It secretes the chemical into the blood stream which controls weight and growth, appetite, emotions, muscular action and a number of other things. We have learned about this partly by isolating the chemical and injecting it into animal bodies and noting the physiologic changes that occur, but principally we have learned about it because the thyroid is subject to diseases, and in some cases the secretion is increased and in some cases it is decreased.

It's rumored on radio row that Fred Allen is going to get exactly what he wants for Christmas. Jack Benny in his holiday stocking! The Yankee wife's invitation to the Waukegan jester calls for the latter's appearance on "Town Hall Tonight" Dec. 22.

Spencer Bentley, who plays "Bob" in "Betty and Bob," lives in an apartment house where the doorman is missing from his post during Bentley's broadcast. The doorman joins the janitor in the cellar to hear the program and the apartment manager recently scolded him for so doing.

"But, boss," protested the doorman, "I gotta. The guest is always right, ain't he? Courtesy demands I hear Mr. Bentley every day!"

True to the Bing Crosby-Bob Burns tradition, an offer of a regular series was made to Douglas Fairbanks Jr., it is reported, after he had spent an evening running with the two ace smoothies. Another recent guest star, but from the Bergen-Eddy hour, who is being talked about plenty as A-1 material is suave Herbert Marshall.

Lucille Manners has the absent-minded habit of leaving her sheet music in the studios after rehearsals, but the NBC page boys, aware of the habit, do the collecting for her. So far, the soprano star has yet to lose a manuscript, for each one is clearly monogrammed "L. M." and the page boys know exactly what belongs to her.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Most actresses have to climb to success. But not Joan Davis—she fell there. Now Joan is weary of falling. She's almost sore about it. In several places. Chasing the rich Indian in "Life Begins at College," was more like it, she says, except for that unfortunate incident involving the sit-down in a wash tub. But then—

Waits For Chances Joan is the girl who did that eccentric dance, with the face-first fall, in "Wake Up and Live." She's contributed, also to "Millions in the Air," "Sing and Be Happy," and "The Holy Terror." "I started out doing serious dancing, playing straight," she says. "But the first night I appeared on the stage it fell flat. So I decided something was wrong. Next night, I went on in a loud-striped dress, clowning through my dance. I fell flat—but the act went over. I've been at it ever since."

Ever willing to take a tumble, Joan couldn't get one from Hollywood for two years. Finally Ray McCarey took a chance on her, and she clicked in "Millions in the Air," singing and dancing. It was some time after that before she got a chance to act, too.

Hubby Helps Joan's husband, Cy Wills, an actor turned writer, helps her pad her screen roles for comedy. But when she takes a fall, no padding is allowed. They'd rather not protect her shape than ruin it. Her falls are done with mirrors. They take enthusiasm, aplomb and a prayer. She hasn't been hurt yet by a fall when she meant to take one. But not long ago she slipped on a stage floor, and her back still hurts. "I'm tired of falling," Joan complains. "It isn't good to stick to one thing too long." Especially when the one thing is the floor!

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK — The Waldorf-Astoria, New York's skyscraper hotel, sends down each morning for its mail in a horse cart. I. Mortimer Block, whose murals depict the lives of peasants in European countries, is a graduate of the Imperial Academy of Arts in Russia. He was once a member of a secret revolutionary group, but shelved these activities when several of his companions were seized and shot. Time Marches On: They're still singing the Merry Widow waltz, but it has been 30 years since "The Merry Widow" opened in New York. The success of that song has never been duplicated, and the vogue it created in the mad Balkan whirl! is still in favor. Ironically, the girl who originated the role and became the embodiment of the Viennese femme du monde was Ethel Jackson — an American.

George Brent Basil Pomeen, the orchestra leader, is a cultured Russian who speaks half a dozen languages fluently and who would rather live in Greece than any other place except New York. When you mention his career in the Russian army he always clarifies his position with "White army, sir. I was in the White army."

George Brent was born in Ireland. He is the only member of his family identified with the theater, his ancestors having been army people and (God help them) newspapermen. Jane Bryan's name is really Jane O'Brien. Olivia de Havilland was born in Tokyo. When he began his theatrical career Charles Pratt was advised to adopt a more impressive name; so he chose Boris Karloff. Another name-changer is Craig Reynolds the film actor, who was born Hugh Enfield.

Christmas Trees In a day or two workmen will build huge corals up and down West street, New York's largest thoroughfare. But they will not be designed for cattle. They will hold hundreds of thousands of Christmas trees which are to be retailed into a million homes in the metropolitan area. Most of these trees are gobbled up by small distributors, but individuals may purchase any tree desired at prices ranging from 60 cents to $100. Some of the trees are 50 feet high.

Appropriations of $9,500,000 for farm tenant aid will be spread among about 2,100 tenants who want to buy their own land, under tentative plans of the farm security administration.

8th Grade Reading Ability?

Survey Shows Typical University Class Tends To Memorize Lesson

Do you read well? Most university students think they do, but actually 10 to 20 per cent of university freshmen have the reading ability of an average eighth grade student.

In a recent survey made of a typical university class only 67 per cent knew the title of the text they were reading in American government, 15 per cent knew the title of the chapter and only one and one-half per cent knew all the chapter divisions; 51 and one-half per cent of the class couldn't name a single one of the divisions of the chapter!

Robert Larsen, G of Spencer, reached these conclusions while working in the reading clinic, which is designed for those persons "smart in everything but book learning."

Great Weakness

"The reason," he said, "is that, in the main, students don't know how to prepare an assignment. The greatest single weakness is the fact that students tend to memorize what they read rather than reading to understand."

Individual Attention

In the clinic the student is given individual attention. Here he is trained in methods of study, in recognizing central ideas, in organizing in a clean-cut, precise manner material which is presented to him, in securing a total unity, in drawing definite and logical conclusions and above all in adapting his reading to the situation at hand. With these training factors, it is only natural that the clinic should be concerned with visual and auditory difficulties as well as emotional factors which affect reading ability.

Prof. A. Miller Speaks Tonight

Will Discuss Geological Trips in Baconian Lecture at 7:30

"Geological Excursions in Soviet Russia" will be discussed in a Baconian lecture by Prof. A. K. Miller of the geology department tonight at 7:30 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The lecture will be illustrated with 25 slides of photographs which Professor Miller took on a 19-day geological field trip to the Ural mountains last summer to study the relationships between the Permian rocks and fossils of the Ural mountains and those of the United States.

Professor Miller attended the International Geological congress at Moscow and Leningrad, Russia, as an official delegate of the Federal government. He presented a paper at the congress on his geological work in northern Mexico during the previous summer.

The Geological Society of America is at present publishing a large monograph by Professor Miller on "American Devonian Cephalopods." He is also author of 40 shorter papers on paleontological and geological subjects published in various scientific journals of the United States, Canada and Switzerland during the six years he has been here.

Professor Miller received a B.A.

PROF. A. K. MILLER degree in 1924 and an M.A. degree in 1925, both from the University of Missouri, and a Ph.D. degree in 1930 from Yale university. He was an instructor at the University of Missouri from 1927 to 1929 and at Yale university from 1929 to 1930. The Home Economics club will again provide its annual Christmas celebration for one of Iowa City's needy families.

Every year the club adopts a family and collects food, toys, clothing and household equipment for it. This year's family has five children ranging in age from 13 months to eight years.

Any contributions for this project's success should be brought to room 102, Macbride hall, by next Wednesday.

Major League Meeting Ends in Definite Balk

Two Circuits Meet Jointly

Other Matters Taken Up During Session Before Judge Landis

By EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP) — The duller major league baseball meeting in recent years ended yesterday with both the National and American circuits pulling a "balk."

There were no "hands across the table" as the two leagues met jointly before Commissioner K. M. Landis. Club owners did not even discuss their surprisingly divergent actions of their individual seasons — the American league's decision to retain the "rabbit" ball next season after the senior circuit had voted for a heavier and slower sphere.

Failing to get together on the ball question, after President Ford Frick of the National league had said both circuits agreed a year ago to use a slower pellet, the majors wound up their session by parting with a lot of money — something most clubs failed to do through an extremely dull "ivory" market. The majors appropriated $100,000 for baseball's centennial celebration in 1939 and renewed a $20,000 sum to the American Legion to sponsor junior tournaments.

There was not a single deal of importance during the major meetings. As Frick was given a vote of confidence by senior circuit magnates in being renominated president for three years, managers roamed hotel lobbies and succeeded in creating nothing more than rumor "smoke" which continued to drift about as the delegates packed bags for departure. The Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, it was reported, still were dickering, but Cub officials indicated there was little likelihood of any action.

The American league, which previously had agreed to award radio broadcasting privileges to one sponsor, will work out regulations and pay scales for the six clubs which will participate. New York and Washington do not sponsor broadcasts of home contests.

The National league did not make a single trade deal of importance throughout the minor or major meetings.

Hod Shots

By G. K. HODENFIELD

Rollie Williams, genial coach of the University of Iowa basketball team, yesterday gave me some pointers on what to look for in tonight's doubleheader with Carleton and I'll pass it on to you for whatever it's worth.

The Carleton team, coached by Marshall Diebold, who graduated from Wisconsin a short time after the Hawkeye coach, uses a short pass offense with three men going down the floor. On defense they use the sliding, man-to-man system.

This is in contrast to the Iowa type of offense which features both a fast break and the short pass. On defense the Hawkeyes use a straight man-for-man system. The northerners offense is fast and deliberate whereas the Hawks are coached to use a fast break wherever possible.

It will be interesting to see how the new rule eliminating the center jump will affect the Hawkeye style of play tonight. The speed with which the game progresses depends entirely upon the players themselves and it may be that spectators will see a "race-horse" type of game.

Joe Van Ysseldyk, who has performed as a guard for the Hawkeyes during the last two years will start the first game tonight as a forward. Williams is taking this means of giving the Iowa senior a chance to try out the new position before the conference season starts. The new style of play will make it necessary for all the men to be able to play different positions during the game, depending upon the style of play used by the opponents.

The Hawkeye offensive and defensive maneuvers will vary during the season according to which team they are playing. For instance, a straight man-to-man defense will not work so well against a faster team. All in all this should be an interesting year for Iowa basketball fans.

Marks Set By Pro 'Freshmen'

Baugh, Tinsley, Hutson Record Individual Performances

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — National football league "freshmen" accounted for or shared in three of the four new individual records set during the 1937 season, according to final statistics released today.

The two recruits, just one year out of college, were Slingin' Sam Baugh of the Washington Redskins, who met the Chicago Bears for the league title on Sunday, and Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals.

Baugh, pitching passes with even greater proficiency than in his college days at Texas Christian, set a new standard of 81 completed aeriels. His performance topped by four the previous mark set a year ago by Arnie Herber of Green Bay.

Tinsley Sets Record
Tinsley, former Louisiana State end, set two pass catching records. His 675 yards gained on pass catches bettered the 1936 record of 526 yards set by Don Hutson of Green Bay, while in last Sunday's final game, against the Bears, he was on the receiving end of L.S.U. teammate Joe Reed's aerial for a total gain of 95 yards, 12 better than the Herber-Hutson long distance mark set in 1934.

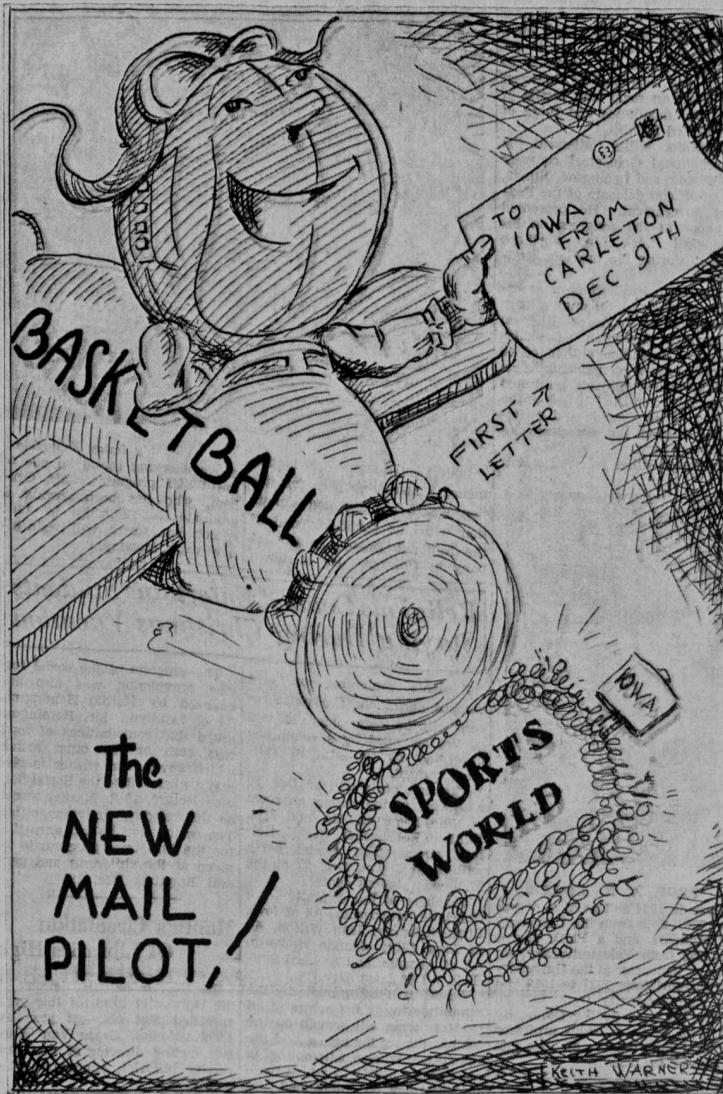

Hutson was responsible for the other new record when he caught 41 passes to improve on his own record of 34 last year.

Manders and Hutson Repeat
Only two of the 1936 individual leaders, Hutson and Jack Manders of the Bears, who topped the field goal kickers with eight, were able to repeat.

The new pace setters were: Ground gaining: Cliff Battles of Washington, whose 874 yards in nine games was the second best performance in league history and made him the first player to win this title twice. He first led the league in 1933.

Scoring: Manders of the Bears, with 69 points, 24 on field goals. Yards gained by passes: Baugh, whose 81 completions in 171 attempts gained 1,127 yards.

Passing efficiency: Bob Monnett, Green Bay, 50.6 per cent. Ed Danowski of the New York Giants, with 66 completed of 134 for 49.2 per cent, was tops among those throwing more than 100 aeriels. Best ball carrying average: Ernie Caddel, 429 yards in 76 attempts for 5.6 yards per try.

Iowans To Begin Season With Doubleheader Against Carleton As Williams Uses Entire Squad

Olson, Leading Scorer For Carls, Out Of Tonight's Tilt

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

The University of Iowa basketball team will open its 1937-'38 season in the Iowa fieldhouse tonight at 7 o'clock when it takes the floor in the first game of a doubleheader with Carleton college of Northfield, Minn. The second game will start at 8:15.

News from the Carleton camp indicates that the visiting team will be hampered by the loss of their leading scorer, Oscar Olson, who will not play because of a head injury suffered in the South Dakota game last Monday night.

Coach Rollie Williams will start Elmer Bratten and Joe Van Ysseldyk at forwards in the first game with Tommy Lind and Fred Hohenhorst at guards and Dick Evans at center. Evans has been confined to his bed for the last two days with a sore throat but will be able to start in tonight's tilt. Bratten and Van Ysseldyk are letter-winners from last year and the other three men are sophomores.

Second Game Lineup
In the second game the Iowa lineup will have Jack Drees at center, Capt. Sam Johnson and Benny Stephens at forwards with Kenneth Suesens and Nile Kinnick at the back court positions. Kinnick is the only sophomore in this group.

The starting lineup for the Carls in the first game will have Minkin and Nelson at forwards, Jackson at center, and Captain Martin and Leonard at guards. Only 13 men are making the trip for the northerners and Coach Diebold will substitute freely throughout the game. A Big Ten rule, stating that a western conference player can compete in only 20 games during the season will limit the Iowa substitutions.

First Game For Iowa
The two games tonight will be the first appearance of the Hawkeyes this season. The Carleton team, on the other hand, already has two games under its belt, losing 53-23 to Northwestern and winning a close one from South Dakota, 30-28.

In last night's practice session, the last before their season's debut, the Iowa cagers went through a short passing drill as Williams directed most of his attention to the reserves.

The Iowa mentor has promised an interesting team to represent the Hawkeyes this year although he refrains from making any prediction of the team's final standing in the conference race. Michigan and Minnesota promise to be title contenders and Purdue and Indiana are always tough teams to beat.

Sophomores Important
Success of the Hawkeyes this year depends a great deal on the performances of the sophomore members of the squad. With the elimination of the center jump, except to start the two halves this year, the day has passed when a team can go through the season with only a handful of players. The game has been speeded up to such an extent that fresh men must constantly be sent into the fray and with this in mind, Williams has prepared his men to be ready to take over any of the positions on the team.

The Iowa mentor expects to use all of his varsity men in one of the two games to give them game experience before the conference season starts after the new year. The officials for tonight's twin bill are Lawrence Whitford of Iowa State Teachers college and W. W. Hartzell of Simpson.

Jack Alderdice Wins Gordon Broad Jump Event With Leap of 21 Feet

Jack Alderdice won the annual Gordon broad jump yesterday at the field house with a leap of 21 feet two inches. John Phillips, Des Moines sophomore, took second with 20 feet five inches and John Graves, varsity half-miler from Cherokee, was third with 19 feet 11 3/4 inches.

The event was the tenth in a series of all university intramural track and field events and was named for Ed Gordon, whose 25 feet 6 inch jump in 1932 still stands as the all-time all-university broad jump record. A travelling trophy and gold medal were given the winner and second and third place winners received silver and bronze medals.

The meet was held under the direction of assistant track coach Ted Swenson.

U.S. Military Academy Adopts New Athletic Eligibility Rule

Army Accepts 3-Year Policy For Next Year

By ALAN GOULD

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP) — Revision of the United States military academy's athletic eligibility code, to be effective with the start of the new year and embracing the so called "three year varsity rule" for the first time, climaxes a five year "de-emphasis" program aimed especially at Army football.

Coupled with the adoption of the "freshman rule" ten years ago and a subsequent ban on athletic proselyting, the new policy follows a course calculated to put West Point's standards on the same basis as those generally accepted by leading civilian colleges, as well as the naval academy.

Chief effect of the new code will be to limit an athlete's varsity competition to three years in any sport, inclusive of play in college as well as at West Point. Any athlete with three years of varsity experience in any college sport, prior to entering the academy, automatically will be barred from further varsity activity in that sport. This rule will apply to cadets now enrolled here.

Vogel Faced With Big Job Of Rebuilding Iowa Hurling Staff

Sulek, Manush Trying Out For Positions As Pitchers

If the average Hawkeye baseball fan who attends the home games and who knows Ed from Emil or Art, would step into the fieldhouse some afternoon and watch the baseball men as they zip the horsehide sphere about, while the old mercury hovers around zero outside, he might be amazed at Coach Otto Vogel's "winter pitching squad."

Mr. Average Fan would gasp at the information that Art Manush, hard-hitting sophomore outfielder last year and Emil Sulek, veteran infielder, are trying their hand at "serving them up."

Perhaps he does not realize that Ken Reid, Rose Hill southpaw, is the only returning moundsman. Although Capt. Lowell Gbaser was the only member of last year's hurling staff to graduate, be worked out with the sole idea of "putting Army athletics on the highest possible plane."

Conference Unaware
The Big Ten conference, which last week lifted its ban against playing Army teams, was unaware of the change in Army's eligibility code before taking action, Colonel Bevers said.

One of the problems involved in drawing up the new code will be to define the college group to which the three year varsity rule will be applied in its effect on West Point eligibility. It is likely junior colleges and teachers colleges will be omitted from this definition.

Navy's threefold regulation, on this point, now specifies that the institution concerned must provide a four year course giving a baccalaureate degree, require 15 "Carnegie units" for entrance, and have an enrollment of at least 100 male students.

Army will continue to welcome college gridiron stars, even though they will no longer be eligible to play for West Point if they have had three years of varsity football. Under the new restrictions, Bill Guckeyson, ex-Maryland ace and now a plebe, will be barred. So would Vanderbilt's All-American captain, Carl Hinkle, who contemplates entering the academy.

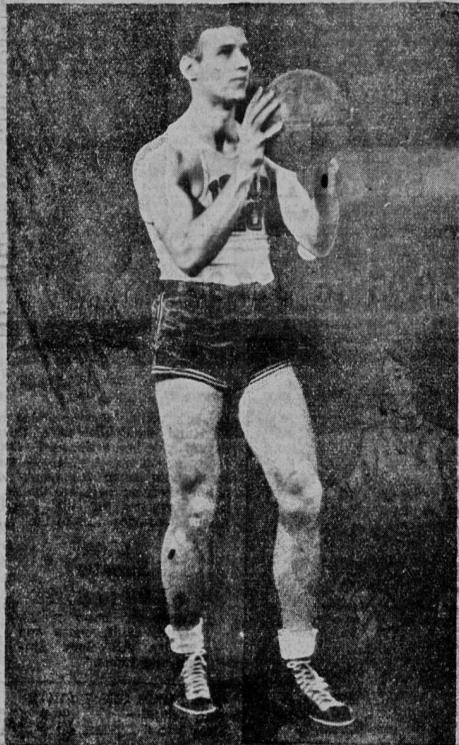

Howard Miller, Gene Hinrichs and Harold Manders have strayed from the Hawkeye fold.

With exception of the holiday vacation, the battery men will work out daily through the winter until Feb. 2, when the rest of the squad will heed Coach Vogel's call to assemble for the initial group practice of the spring season.

Charles McClenahan, Marvin Kaplan and Wendell Winders, all backstops and Capt. Eddie Kadell are working out with Sulek and Manush.

The group of sophomore candidates taking the "kinks" out of their arms at present are: Jim Krnie, Keith Wymore, Matt Faber, Jim Cook and Dan Sherman.

Leads Iowa Tonight

Performing in his first game as captain of the Old Gold cagers, Sam Johnson (above) will lead Iowa's Hawkeyes into the fray tonight against the Carleton invaders in a basketball doubleheader. Johnson has always been noted for his aggressive style of play and is all set to make this year, his last, a banner one.

Jefferson Five Wins, 31 to 14

The Jefferson Five-niners, minus the services of two valuable men, fell before the smooth-rolling Madison Mad Caps, 31 to 14, in an important intramural town league game played last night in the fieldhouse. By virtue of their victory the undefeated Mad Caps clinched at least a first place tie in their section of the loop.

Slim Olson led the victor's attack with 14 counters while his teammates, Joe Ferrel and Dakota Greenwald contributed some sparkling floorwork. Gene Van Horne and Basler looked good for the losers.

Rubert Haight's high scoring North Central outfit was all set for another victory but Central failed to appear. In section two, Southern and Western kept pace in their fight for second place by forfeit victories over Northeastern and Southeastern respectively.

In one of the most hotly contested prep basketball games seen in Iowa City this year, George Chadek, St. Mary's forward, breaking perfectly, made the field goal in the second overtime period which enabled St. Mary's to defeat University high 23-21, in a game held in the City high gym last night.

Approximately two minutes of the last overtime period had elapsed when Chadek broke loose to score the winning basket.

The teams went into the first overtime period with the score tied at 20-20. Jack Brock capitalized on a gift shot to give the St. Mary's team a 21-20 lead. With but five seconds to play of this extra period, Duane Carson was fouled while attempting to shoot and made one of his gift tosses to tie the game up again.

U-high Leads At Half

The game was even most of the way with University high having a slight lead until the score was tied up in the fourth quarter.

At the halftime the Bluehawks had a 15-12 lead. Paul Hennessey opened the attack in the third quarter for St. Mary's by sinking a looping one-handed push shot. His teammate, Jack Bock, gave St. Mary's a one point lead a few seconds later as he made a nice shot from the side. As the scoring ended for the quarter, Duane Carson broke up an enemy pass to dribble down and make an unmolested set up which gave U-high a 17-16 lead as the quarter ended.

Ed Burns started the scoring in the fourth period when he made a free throw shot good to give U-high a two point lead. Ham Ries completed the river team's scoring for that period with a beautiful one-handed push from the side. A pair of field goals by Hennessey and Bock tied the game up and sent it into the first overtime period.

Jack Bock, St. Mary's forward, led both teams in individual scoring with eight points and may be named as one of the outstanding players of the game because of his good floor play, in addition to his scoring activities.

The most impressive performer for the losers was Capt. George Miller, forward, who repeatedly repulsed enemy scoring opportunities with his ability to out-manuever them and hawk the ball. Miller was taken out of the game in the first overtime period because of four personal fouls.

Upper B Retains Top Rung In Quad Basketball League

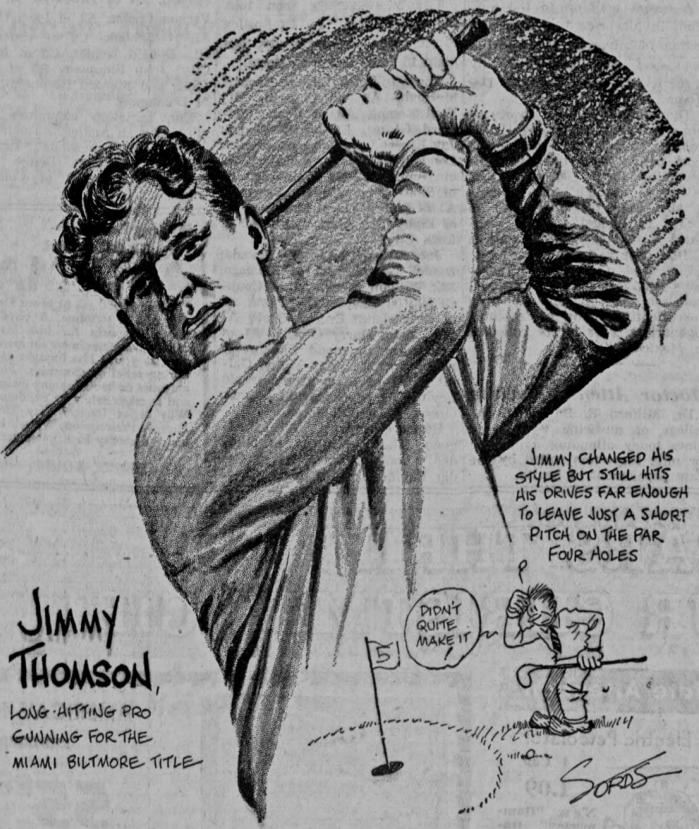

Upper B retained their lead in the Upper league of the Quad basketball tournament and set a team scoring record in their 40 to 19 conquest of Upper A last night at the fieldhouse.

In contrast to the offensive display put on by Upper B and Upper A, Upper D waged a defensive battle with Upper C and nosed them out 20 to 19 in a rough and tumble game. Upper D took over second place in the Upper league as a result of the win. Bob Kelly and Hal Born paved the way for Upper D's victory with Harold Skow and Wayne Cox looking best for the losers.

Upper B now has four victories and one defeat in the standings with their closest rival, Upper D, having won three and lost two games.

Lower D, leaders of the Lower league, will play Lower B Friday in the determining game for the championship of the Lower league. The final games of the season will be played next Wednesday with three games scheduled for that night.

Following the close of the season a playoff between the league champs will be held to determine who will represent the Quad in the all-university tournament. Last year the Quad representative, Upper C, won the university championship.

City High Five Big Six Grid Mentors Relax Practicing For McKinley Tilt

Iowa City high's basketballers will literally "shoot to kill" when they meet the McKinley cagers on the local court Friday. In every practice session so far this week Coach Francis Merten has been concentrating on the basket eyes of his candidates, as he watched them shoot from every angle of the floor.

Joe McGinnis, junior guard, was slightly injured early in last night's practice and was withheld from the scrimmage that followed the shooting drill. McGinnis' injury was not serious, however, and the Little Hawk back-courtman is expected to be in shape for the Cedar Rapids game.

Coach Merten used the scrimmage for a combined defensive and offensive drill although the offensive work was given most attention. Throughout the evening the Red and White mentor alternated his men, using the ten players who have seen considerable action in games thus far. There is almost no distinction between the two quintets used by the Hawklet tutor.

New Offensive Drills

The new offensive formations dished out by Coach Merten this week call for perfect timing and deft ball-handling. The concentrated drills this week should make the Little Hawks a dangerous opponent for any foe. With their defense already functioning in mid-season form, the Red and White quintet needs only a potent scoring punch to make it an outstanding basketball machine.

Coach Herb Cormack is also strengthening the scoring department of his freshman-sophomore five this week. The junior team is improving with experience and should soon develop into an effective cage unit. Cormack's proteges will be out for blood as they attempt to avenge last week's wallowing at the hands of Davenport.

Play in the Mississippi Valley conference having begun last week, all league teams except West Waterloo will have entered conference competition by the end of this week. In almost every case, league teams this year have won or lost by close scores.

Strong Defensive Play

Clinton edged out Wilson by a 32 to 27 score last week, while McKinley made 13 points to Roosevelt's 11 and Davenport defeated Iowa City 15 to 20. The defensive play of all teams has been unusually strong this season.

In opening league activity most of the coaches have found it necessary to substitute freely throughout the duration of play in order to have enough "kick" left for the last quarter. This is undoubtedly due to the speeding up of the game by elimination of the center jump.

Games this week will find Duquaque at Davenport, McKinley at Iowa City, East Waterloo at Roosevelt and Clinton, in a non-conference game, at Sterling, Ill.

Big Six Grid Mentors Relax To Enjoy Happy Christmas

By WHITNEY MARTIN

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 8 (AP)—The silence may be ominous, but there was every reason to believe yesterday that Big Six football coaches could pay a few weeks rent in advance and enjoy the holidays with some degree of certainty that they wouldn't awaken some dawn to learn they had been amputated from their jobs.

In fact, two new mentors—Biff Jones and Tom Stidham—practically welded themselves to their positions, and any hint that they might leave Nebraska and Oklahoma, respectively, would be cause for legislative investigation, no less.

Last year there was a 50 per cent turnover, and it was a turnover, not an overturning, as the three coaches who resigned did so without a shotgun at their backs, and with genuine regret all around.

Money Tempts Bible

Biff Jones quit at Oklahoma as army duties took him elsewhere, Dana Bible resigned at Nebraska as Texas pelted him with dollars, and George Veenker stepped out at Iowa State to devote his time to athletic directing.

Stidham, an assistant, moved up to succeed Jones at Oklahoma. Nebraska promised the Biffer a better future than the Army, so he succeeded Bible. Youthful Jim Yeager was moved up to succeed Veenker.

As for Jones and Stidham, their 1937 records speak for them. Oklahoma, which finished in second place and was rated by many the best team in the conference, enjoyed its best season in 11 years. Biff Jones virtually won the Big Ten title as well as the Big Six crown for Nebraska.

Wilson House Takes 52-11 Victory From Gables Basketeers

Wilson house, champions of co-op dorm touch football, moved a step nearer the basketball title last night as they crushed the Gables quintet, 52 to 11. In two games the powerful Wilson offense has amassed 108 points against league foes.

The Wilson five which is now tied with Whetstone for the loop lead, got off to an early lead and was ahead 26 to 0 at the half. Boyd Walker who counted 14 points, and LeRoy Robinson, Don Kladsrap and Burdell Marshall, who scored eight points apiece, led the Wilson scoring. Francis Wall and Lyle Austin stood out for the losers who were playing their last loop game of the year.

Manske, which has a mathematical chance of winning the title, kept in the running as they won on a forfeit from the Jefferson team.

Standings	W	L	PCT.

Former Heroes For Sale Baseball Managers Keep the Best; Can't Give Away the Bad Ones

By PAUL MICKELSON

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—On the big league player market there are first and last men's clubs. Every manager has one man he "must" trade and another he wouldn't for the price of a couple ball parks—if he had his own personal way.

It's rather unwelcome business, this dealing in baseball flesh. Heroes of yesterday are but unwelcome pawns today. This is the roll call of the first and last to go:

American League

New York Yankees: Outfielder Jake Powell was the hero of the 1936 world series, yet he's the one man the Yanks bring up first when trades are talked with them. But they won't even talk about selling Joe Di Maggio.

Detroit Tigers: "What will you give for Infielder Flea Clifton?" is the first trade talk of the Tigers. "Rudy York? Don't make us laugh."

Peller Not For Sale

Cleveland Indians: The Injuns have Infielder Roy Hughes on every counter but they'll scalp you for talking Bob Peller.

Chicago White Sox: Anybody want Infielder Boze Berger? Nobody can get Shortstop Luke Appling, the apple of Jimmy Dykes' eye.

Boston Red Sox: The gold plated boys will swap outfielder Fabian Gaffke and give you a great deal. They'll chill you if you mention Joe Cronin, their manager and shortstop, who cost Tom Yawkey a quarter of a million.

Washington Senators: Once American league batting champion and the toast of the town, Buddy Myer can be obtained cheap. Last to go will be Buddy Lewis and Cecil Travis.

Philadelphia Athletics: Old Con-

St. Louis Browns: Rebuilding with not too much money to spend, the Browns, too, will shoot the works but will hang on to the last ditch for the grand Beau Bell and Harland Clift.

National League

New York Giants: Every time Colonel Bill Terry talks deals, the name of Pitcher Hal Schumacher is first to pop up. The last—I don't care what you've read—is little "hot foot" Mel Ott.

Chicago Cubs: "We'll give you Tuck Stainback and—" always begin the Cubs. "Frank Demaree? If anybody says he's traded, tell him he's cockeyed."

Pittsburgh Pirates: Gone are the great pitching days for Charles Fred "Red" Lucas, now located on the front counter over there but other managers waste their breath trying to land Pitcher Russ Bauers.

St. Louis Cardinals: Mustache and all, Frenchie Bordagaray can be had for a tune. That million dollar price tag of Branch Rickety's on Ducky Medwick is a lot of coin, but it'll take plenty to get the Gas Housers to part with their great Ducky Wucky.

Breese Keeps Turner

Boston Bees: Who wants Rabbit Warstler? They can't have Pitcher Jim Turner.

Cincinnati: "Paul Derringer and two other players," the Reds always offer. "Listen, mister, you can't get Pitcher Lee Grissom."

Brooklyn: Who wants Van Mungo—for plenty? Last bit of property to go will be the Brooklyn ball club itself. They've been trying to buy it for years and we'll believe its sold when New York moves to Wahoo.

Philadelphia Phillies: There's only one important player on the Philly futurity farm, and that's Joe Cash, only important guy on the club. And why not? So far, Owner Gerald Nugent hasn't had to hire extra gate keepers to keep the crowds in check.

Bierman, Noble Linked In Deal At Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 8 (AP)—A prominent official of the Mississippi State Alumni association, who declined to permit use of his name, said today that the football coaching post at State would be offered either to Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, or Dudley Noble, State freshman coach.

The official said Bierman, who formerly was head coach at Mississippi State, would consider returning there largely because his wife wished to return to the South in the interest of her health.

The question of picking a successor to Lieutenant Colonel Ralph Sasse, will be discussed at a meeting of the alumni association here tomorrow.

Monmouth Wins

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP)—Monmouth college defeated Iowa Wesleyan 33 to 26 here last night in a game that demonstrated how the new rule discarding the center jump speeds up the game. Both coaches found it necessary to use two full teams, making frequent shifts to allow men to rest.

Irish Pointing For Game With Cedar Rapids 5

With a victory over Solon tucked under their belts, the fighting Irish from St. Patrick's went through a spirited drill yesterday afternoon in preparation for a battle with Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids here tomorrow.

In the Solon tilt a new star was born in Glen Fitzpatrick who slipped in five field goals before the game ended.

The blonde scoring ace, Hod Love, returned to the Irish camp yesterday, recovering from the attack of flu which kept him out of the Solon encounter. His presence in a scrimmage against the alumni added power to the Southsiders offense.

Junior Bradley, who has been going great guns in practice, has failed to find his basket eye in the first two contests. Being a polished ball-handler and a good defensive man, Bradley will be one of the most valuable men on the team if he regains his last year's basket eye.

It looks like a three cornered battle between Glenn Fitzpatrick, Paul Scannell and Paul Holland for the center post. All three of these men possess height and are capable scorers.

Charge Against School Election Will Be Heard

Hearing Date to Be Set Within Five Days, Snider Says

The date for hearing charges that Iowa City's recent school election was "void" will be set within five days, Frank J. Snider, county school superintendent, said last night. Excerpts from the minutes of all school board meetings since Oct. 13 will be filed today with Snider by Charles S. Galiher, board secretary.

Snider, who will preside at the hearing, must set the date within five days, according to school law. Galiher was authorized last night by the city school board to file the excerpts.

The date of the hearing will not be set until Snider confers either today or tomorrow with the attorneys. Herbert J. Ries represents the city school board, and Attorney D. C. Nolan the 12 Iowa Citizens who are appealing the election.

Galiher will file excerpts from school board meetings of Nov. 8, 10, 12 and Dec. 1. Snider's communication that a notice of appeal had been filed with him, was received by the board last night. It was filed with Galiher Tuesday.

Down With Pedestrians

Iowa City Residents Find Slipping Easy But Landings Hard

Slips come before a fall, many of Iowa City's sliding and slipping pedestrians have noted this week. Resembling old-fashioned charades, the quaint acrobatics calculated to protect ankles and elbows from a serious fall, seldom achieve their purpose.

Injuries range from scratches and bruises to broken limbs. Cautious individuals, tip-toeing with outstretched arms to preserve a semblance of balance, succumb with as much force as the careless person. Pedestrians are advised to "relax into a fall" instead of resorting to unnecessary motions to keep their balance.

No one is immune from the inevitable hazard. Wary oldsters and galloping children have already fallen.

Headless cyclists racing through the downtown thoroughfares, and automobiles revolving around the same spiral for an endless minute, add to the many worried faces.

It has been found that gravel and salt strewn over the walks and roads provide that extra grip for slipping wheels and feet. Many home owners and storekeepers have given their neighborhoods the benefits of this service.

Public School Teachers Will Receive Checks

Teachers in the Iowa City public schools will receive their salary checks Dec. 17, before leaving on their Christmas vacation, it was decided last night by the city school board. The instructors are always given their checks before the regular pay-day during the holidays.

Oliver, Robinson Talk At Regular Meeting Of Civil Engineers

Evans to Try $6,728 Damage Case In District Court

The jury will be drawn in district court at 10 o'clock today to hear the $6,728 damage suit brought by Glenn Fitzpatrick, through his father, L. C. Fitzpatrick, against George Hills. Judge Harold D. Evans will preside.

Fitzpatrick asks damages for an auto crash which, he states, occurred about two and one-half miles east of Iowa City on the Rochester road Sept. 17, 1934. He alleges that he received permanent bodily injuries from the crash.

Attorneys Frank Messer and D. C. Nolan are representing Fitzpatrick in court. Hills will be defended by Attorney Kenneth M. Dunlop.

Arthur Matthes Confesses To Unsolved Theft

Iowa City's only unsolved auto theft case since April was cleared up yesterday, when the federal bureau of investigation notified Police Chief William H. Bender that a confession of the theft had been made by Arthur Matthes.

Matthes is confined in a federal penitentiary in Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. He is serving a three-year sentence for stealing a car here and selling it in Rock Island, Ill.

Matthes said he stole the car of Dr. Kate Daum of the college of medicine from a University hospital parking place and sold it in East Toledo, Ohio for $150.

A federal agent was here yesterday to obtain the stolen car's description. An attempt will be made to recover it.

'Stop' Signals To Be Placed

Looking Glass Reflections

By VERA SHELDON

Would you welcome a dowager's hump for Christmas? Are you waiting for a double chin? Foolish as these questions may seem, you are probably giving these things to yourself, unless you are one of the few who are posture-conscious.

If you want to keep fit and look the part adopt a short program of exercises for a going-to-bed routine. Laborious as they may seem at first, they will relieve the tension which blinds tired muscles, quiet jangled nerves and do wonders for your spirits as well as your figure.

The effectiveness of exercise lies in its regularity. Spend a few minutes a night; make them a pleasure instead of a task, and they will soon become a habit.

Try this series. The first one is designed to relieve the muscle tension at the back of the neck and is also good for double chins. Lie flat on your back with arms straight out from the shoulders. Retract your chin until the back of your neck approaches the floor. Then lift your head as far from the floor as possible and lower again slowly. Repeat this exercise six times.

If you find yourself slumping, it may be that those back muscles are weakened. To exercise them lie flat on the floor and place your hands along the edge of your floating ribs. Holding this position, take four or five very deep breaths, then relax. Repeat four or five times. This is a splendid way to flatten the middle back and raise the chest, two essentials of a good posture.

Large hips, the bane of any woman's existence, are often due to poor standing positions. Stand with abdominal muscles pulled in and the lower back flattened, not curved inward. Lie flat on your back with knees up and feet flat on the floor. Flatten the lower back until it touches the floor and at the same time raise hips upward.

Begin another good exercise by lying on your back with arms across the chest. Pull your head and knees up as far as possible. Now imagine yourself as a rocking chair, rocking as high as your hips will come off the floor. Do this 20 times.

By this time you probably feel ready for a good night's sleep. Take these exercises lightly at first, allowing for a slight increase each time. There are countless others which are good and will serve to vary the routine.

Laas Will Talk To A. A. U. W. About Mexico

"Mexico Looking Forward" will be the subject of a talk which Prof. Ise P. Laas of the Romance languages department will give before the American Association of University Women at a luncheon Saturday at 12:15 p.m. in the University clubrooms of Iowa Union.

The talk will be followed by a roundtable discussion.

Fourteen More Shopping Days

By VERA SHELDON

Who'll have the freshly laundered bed covers turned down for you when you arrive home next week? Who'll have the turkey basting in the oven before you are up Christmas morning and the house as warm as toast? That's mother, of course!

Your gift to her must be the finest one of all. Show her that you appreciate all the things she does for you.

Insignificant as it may seem she'd probably appreciate a little vacation from household duties more than anything. Why don't you serve the Christmas dinner? Or give her the gift of a week's vacation from meals and dishes while you are home? Family appetites may suffer, but you will have gained good experience, and your mother will be grateful for your thoughtfulness.

And now for more concrete gifts which you may take her. Has she a scarf to wear with the new fur coat that is Dad's surprise? There's a white tufted one woven to look like wool that might suit her fancy. Or you may choose gloves if you know the size. She'll be delighted at the novelty of the pair which is half-fabric and half-kid. They zip on from the center.

To brighten her new black dress get her a couple of hand-painted handkerchiefs from California. Others are applied in felt and they wash! She would like a bag—a fitted, daytime bag of calf or suede with a clever compact inside. A novel one is made of redwood with a handle that moves clockwise.

She'll surely succumb to the jewelry craze. Tailored clips

Mrs. Winbigger Tells of Spain At Club Party

Generosity and courtesy are two very prevalent characteristics of the Spanish people," said Mrs. Donald Winbigger in her talk entitled "My Personal Experiences in Spain" which she gave before the University club at a luncheon in the clubrooms in Iowa Union yesterday noon.

"In trains it is the custom for the poorest workman to offer his meagre lunch to everyone before taking a bite himself, and he will feel very much hurt unless you sip some of his wine or eat a little of his food," she explained.

Mrs. Winbigger said that when she first went to Spain she was badly frightened by men who would approach her and speak to her in Spanish which she did not understand. Upon inquiry, she found that they were paying her compliments, as it is the custom to compliment Spanish girls one meets on the street.

"If the men's compliments are objectionable to you, you can have the offenders arrested," Mrs. Winbigger was told, "but after the judge has finished sentencing them, he will probably turn to you with a compliment."

Nominating Committee of Six Will Select C. of C. Candidates

Will Choose Six New Directors From List of 12

Jay McNamara, Prof. Elmer Hills, D. Tom Davis, Ben Whitebook, George Trotter and M. B. Guthrie are members of the nominating committee which will select 12 candidates for the election Dec. 16 of six new directors for the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

The nominating committee will probably meet the latter part of this week. The chairman will be selected at the committee meeting.

The board of directors for the chamber is composed of 12 members. Each year six new directors are elected for a two-year term.

City Prohibits Taxicab Parking Out of Stands

Chief of Police W. H. Bender yesterday said that Iowa City taxicabs are prohibited from parking outside their stands just as motorists are not allowed to park in the cab stands.

By city regulations each cab office is allowed to have two parking stalls in front of the station. Only two cabs are permitted to be parked in the stand at any one time, the chief said.

Two charges against the Varsity Cab company of parking outside its stand were dismissed yesterday by Police Judge Burke N. Carson.

What Makes Them Tick?

Joseph Barborka Fashioned Two Familiar Iowa City Clocks in 1882

The clocks in the bell-towers of two Iowa City landmarks—St. Mary's church and the city hall—were built and installed 57 years ago by Joseph Barborka, a Bohemian craftsman who brought the old-world trade to this area.

Both clocks were designed and finished in Barborka's jewelry store near Washington and Dubuque streets. The huge metal pieces had been cast in Chicago, Ill.

St. Mary's 17-bell carillon was played for several years by Vasco Barborka, the clock-maker's brother. Today, the dusty carillon room in the tower is a neglected tribute to the Bohemian craftsman.

Rotted leather bell-straps and rusted, bent weight-shafts tell of the carillon room's disuse. And 100 feet above the ground, many of the bells are rusted fast to their axles.

Several rotted ropes hang high in the tower, lying on the flywheels of the big bells. Only one bell can now be tolled. The other 16 are immobile—unused.

Barborka fashioned a 600-pound weight to raise—through an intricate set of levers—a striker on the carillon's hour bell. Three similar systems ring the quarter-hour chimes.

A 250-pound weight—operating the clock—descends slowly into a shaft in the corner of the tower, while 50 feet above this mechanism, the clock faces are located. Each face is turned toward a cardinal point of the compass.

A quarter-inch shaft transmits the clock's power to the table movement, and gears turn the hour and minute hands. A fifth clock face was installed in the rear of the church, but it was later replaced by a stained glass window. The clock is wound only once every eight days.

The city hall clock is similar to the one in St. Mary's church, except that it strikes only the hours. When electric lighting came to Iowa City, the wooden face was replaced by glass.

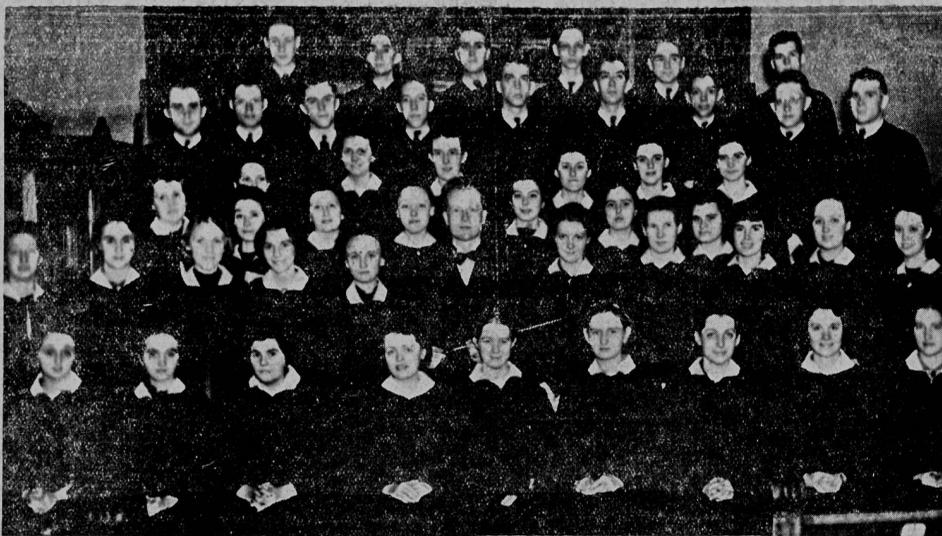

"What makes the city hall clock stop?" has been answered by John Struble, 422 N. Dubuque street, a son-in-law of the clock-maker, as "the freezing of snow and sleet between the hands of the face."

Mrs. Struble, Barborka's daughter, proud of her father's craftsmanship, has told of the accuracy of the clocks.

"A clock he made for the Rock Island, Ill., railroad station was under a contract that called for the time-piece not to lose more than 10 seconds of time during the first month," she related.

"At the end of the first month, my father's clock had lost only three seconds—far below the loss expected," she said.

Westminster Choir of First Presbyterian Church to Present Service

The Westminster choir of the First Presbyterian church, above, will present a concert Sunday evening in which 61 persons will participate. Levi O. Leonard, 82, who is the oldest living former choir member, will be the guest of honor.

The program will begin with the Mendelssohn selection "Prelude and Fugue in C Minor" by the organ. This will be followed by the processional, "Rejoice, Ye Pure in Heart." The Rev. Iliot T. Jones will conduct the invocation and the benediction. The choir will sing the following songs: "How Shall I Fitly Meet Thee" (from the Christmas Oratorio) by Bach, "Built on a Rock" by Christiansen and "Hear My Prayer" by James. The quartet will follow with "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" by Shelley. "Sunbeam Out of Heaven" by Christiansen, "Incline Thine Ear" by Arkhangel'sky, and "Praise Ye the Lord" by Tchajkovski will follow by the choir. The organist, Prof. H. O. Lyte, will then play "Prelude to Parsifal" by Wagner, "Jesu Bambino" by Pietro Yon, and "Toccato in D Minor" by Alphonso Maily. The choir and the audience will then join in singing "Joy to the World" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear." In concluding the program the choir will sing "Lullaby on Christmas Eve" and "Praise to the Lord," both by Christiansen.

Third row: Wilma Gibbs, Lois Godlove, Dorothy Hoops, Margaret Brandt, Francis Parker, Virginia Barber, and Marguerite Huey.

Fourth row: Helen Fischbeck, Mary Virginia Adams, Martha Spence, Pauline Fiers, Mary Keefe, and Annabel Savage.

Boys May Register in Three Remaining Basketball Squads

Boys between the ages of 14 and 18 are urged to register at the Iowa City Recreation Center to complete the formation of a winter basketball league, Eugene Trowbridge, director, said yesterday.

Five teams have been organized, and only three more squads will be formed in the older boys' division, he said.

A cage league for boys less than 14 years will be organized at 9 a.m. Saturday, Trowbridge announced. All youngsters wishing to play should register then. Only five or six boys will play on a team, giving all the players an opportunity for recreation. Players are requested to bring their own shoes and other equipment.

The physical education program will be under the direction of a federal recreation agency worker from Des Moines. The athletic director will probably arrive here during the week. The older boys' league will start play Monday at 7 p.m.
