ITALY LEAVES LEAGUE OF NATIONS

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING TO TOWN

Just 11 more shopping days and the younger generation is getting its shopping done early. Or perhaps they're just collecting information for letters to Santa Claus. At the upper left, it's window shopping that's being done. Windows are chilly these slow days, but that doesn't keep eager young noses from flattening against them when on the other side are treasures to fill an army of Christmas stockings. The noses for toyland news in the picture belong to Joan Bauer, daughter of Mrs. Olive discussing the relative merits of scooters and automobiles. The mutual conclusion seems to be that either or both would be welcomed under the Christmas tree. Barbara Lee, at lower left, beams fondly on the dolly she couldn't resist rocking for just a minute. But Joan, lower right, hasn't been able to make up her mind so easily. "Does my dollhouse need parlor furniture most or should I have a bedroom set?" she wonders. "It's a problem, but she's not worrying much. Santa will solve it for her when he comes down the chimney Christmas eve."

Jap Guns Fail to Breach Capital Walls

GOING HOME Inmates Leave School For Christmas

MERIDEN, Conn., Dec. 11 (AP)—Inmates of the Connecticut school for boys, a juvenile correction institution, are going home for Christmas on their honor.

After four days' leave beginning Dec. 23, the 165 chosen boys confined to the school under court orders, are expected to return voluntarily.

Soviets Claim Reich Wants Iran Territory

MOSCOW, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Soviet press today accused Germany of having colonial designs on Iran (Persia) in reporting the visit of young nazis to Tehran, headed by Balduur von Schirach, reich youth leader.

Tools Cost Less Than a Cent Now

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 11 (AP)—Otto Jabelmann, assistant to the president of the Union Pacific, exploded today the old myth that it costs the railroad 75 cents every time the engineer whistles for a crossing.

Jabelmann said he figured out the average tool lasts six seconds, uses 1.22 pounds of coal, and, at current prices, costs about one-eighth of a cent.

50,000 Crows Die In Dynamite Blasts

CHEYENNE, Okla., Dec. 11 (AP)—A salvo of 150 dynamite bombs left the carcasses of 50,000 crows scattered in their roosts today as the state game and fish department renewed warfare on the crop pests.

Nanking Army Prepares City's Inner Defense

NANKING, 10:05 a.m., Dec. 11 (8:05 p.m., Friday C.S.T.) (AP)—Heavy Japanese artillery which began pounding Nanking at daybreak had not succeeded in breaching the city's massive walls by mid-morning, but had forced the Chinese defenders to rush preparations for a defense stand within the city.

During the night two divisions of Cantonese troops, which had been opposing the Japanese right wing as a rear guard, fell back into the city and this morning were setting up their field pieces inside the walls.

Stalin Confident Of His Election

MOSCOW, Dec. 11 (AP)—Joseph Stalin, the Soviet Union's communist leader, acknowledged tonight his own election to the supreme council of the union in tomorrow's election was a foregone conclusion.

Addressing the nation on the eve of its first secret, direct election, Stalin thanked his constituents for the confidence they placed in him and said he willingly accepted responsibilities of office.

Nazi Strengthen Grip
BERLIN (AP)—The Nazi regime strengthened its control of Protestant churches yesterday with a decree vesting all administrative power over the German Evangelical church in a church chancellery.

FUNERALS Party Could Use Some, Speaker Says

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Attorney Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, son of the former President William Howard Taft, suggested jestingly today some funerals would do the republican party no harm.

"I think one thing my party needs is some well-placed funerals," he said during a speech on neutrality before the American Farm Bureau Women's federation. "But I can assure you I won't particularize."

Later he said: "I was speaking generally; I had no individuals in mind."

New Deal Merry-Go-Round Went Round and Round—Then Broke Down, Jests Club to Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt saw his new deal flattened tonight in a mad whirl of jests that depicted the break down of a merry-go-round for which business had paid the fares.

And now, the members of the Gridiron club sang to him, the new dealers feel very blue and talk of cutting taxes because their merry-go-round broke down when business went broke again.

That was the key in which the club pitched the skits for a hilarious semi-annual dinner to which some 400 distinguished guests had been invited.

Two skits featured the performance.

In one, the Ku Klux Klan discovered one of its members had become famous in a place where his opinions were held in high respect, but that since becoming famous he had abandoned the Klan.

The curtain fell upon this song: "K-K-K—Klansman, "Beautiful Klansman, "You're the same old K-K-K—Klux I knew before. "When the M-M-M—M—Moon shines, "Over the White House, "We'll be watching at the K-K-K—K—K—Kourthouse door."

In the other skit Charles Michelson, the publicity director for the democratic national committee, told Charlie McCarthy he had a job for the dummy.

"You see, we're running out of stooges," said Michelson.

"Is that so?" replied McCarthy. "That's become of Dan Roper?" "Stop it. If it were not for me like Dan Roper, where would this country be today?" "Well, where is it? pertly inquired McCarthy.

President Hoover's Passengers Awaiting Rescue from Islands

MANILA, Dec. 11 (AP)—Passengers of the broken, helpless luxury liner President Hoover huddled together on two small, sub-tropical Japanese islands in the far western Pacific tonight awaiting arrival of four rescue ships.

The $8,000,000 liner was reported "bumping heavily" on the rocks of Hoishoto island, where she ran ashore early this morning. A skeleton crew presumably remained aboard, attempting to keep her from breaking up.

Three American destroyers and the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia were nearing the scene, a volcanic sparsely inhabited bit of land 500 miles north of here, just off the east coast of Formosa.

Radio messages received here during the late afternoon said "all passengers" had been taken ashore and emergency headquarters set up on the island.

From Shanghai the Japanese navy reported one of its cruisers had taken 200 of the President Hoover's first class passengers to Hayake island.

Advices still disagree as to the number of passengers involved. Dollar line headquarters in San Francisco figured there should have been about 300 first class and about 300 steerage passengers aboard. She carried a crew of 108.

Captain E. Stepnach of the German freighter Preussen, which stood by the liner for several hours and then proceeded toward Manila, said the ship was in a dangerous position.

Czech Police Identify Man Who Offered To Kill Foreign Minister

PRAHA, Dec. 11 (AP)—A man who offered to assassinate Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos of France today was identified by Czechoslovakian police as Franz Havel, one-handed newspaper vendor. Havel said he made the offer only to attract attention.

Authorities said they found numerous code letters in his home and the draft of a letter warning Delbos not to come to Praha next week on his tour of central European capitals.

A postcard message, in which he volunteered to assassinate Delbos, brought his arrest when French police intercepted the message addressed to Koloman Budai, an Hungarian now in custody in Valenciennes, France.

Hope For Vote On Farm Bill By Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Plodding debate propelled the senate farm bill ahead today, with leaders hopeful of a vote by Wednesday.

As the drudgery of considering scores of committee amendments neared an end, administration leaders said prospects had brightened for passage of housing legislation immediately after the farm measure is out of the way.

The senate held a week-end session in an effort to hasten action. The house rested until Monday when it will take up wage and hour legislation. The house farm measure was passed yesterday.

The senate's session brought several new amendments to the farm measure, including one by Senator Borah (R-Idaho) to require the agriculture department to consider freight rates in computing the yardstick under which it will make payments to farmers.

Il Duce Makes Announcement As Mob Cheers

Follow Other Fascist Nations' Lead In Departure

(By The Associated Press)
ROME, Dec. 11—Italy withdrew tonight from the League of Nations but announced her determination to continue to collaborate for peace.

The action, decided upon at a seven-minute meeting of the fascist grand council, was proclaimed by Premier Benito Mussolini from the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia.

One of the greatest crowds ever assembled in the vast square in front of the palace, despite a heavy rain, roared its approval.

"Now we are on our own," he shouted, "and depart without regrets from the reeling ship where they do not work for peace but are preparing for war."

Follows Germany, Japan
Italy thus followed in the footsteps of Germany and Japan, with whom she is joined in an anti-communist pact, among leading nations to depart from the league.

Membership in the league will not end until two years after formal notice of withdrawal but Italy for more than a year has pursued a "policy of non-cooperation" with Geneva.

This estrangement dated to May 11, 1936, when the Italian delegation walked out of a meeting of the league council after it had voted to continue sanctions against Italy because of the Ethiopian war.

Arraigns League
Arraigning the league in a vigorous attack, he declared: "It is necessary to choose whether to be in the league or out of it."

Then he tried the question: "In it?" "No!" answered the multitude. "Out of it?" "Yes!" responded the throng. Boes resounded when Il Duce (See LEAGUE, Page 6)

Jackson Says Business Must Reduce Prices

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—"Big business" was blamed for the economic recession tonight by Robert H. Jackson, assistant U. S. attorney general.

Jackson, in a speech prepared for a consumers' protest meeting against the "high cost of living," declared the government's attempt to taper off expenditures last spring was "spoiled by the failure of private enterprise to realize that the consumer could not be gouged without serious effect upon the survival of private enterprise itself."

"Big business jerked prices up as soon as volume began to go up," he said. "It acted on the theory that under the competitive system business had the right to charge what the market could bear. Results show big business misjudged the market and charged more than the traffic could bear."

Shop Early
WASHINGTON (AP)—A faster flow of Christmas merchandise across the nation's retail counters contrasted with continued industrial irregularity last week.

Nude Model 'Dresses Up' Wisconsin Co-Ed Is Now Waitress After Posing Is Forbidden

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 11 (AP)—Miss Jeanne Smith, New York co-ed and artists' model, who was forbidden to pose nude before the University of Wisconsin life drawing class, will dress up for her next job in the garb of a waitress.

Friends revealed she has accepted employment in a restaurant after Prof. William H. Varnum, head of the art department, ruled she no longer could serve as an undraped model.

Although she had been a professional model in New York and took her work before the art class as a means of livelihood without embarrassment, Miss Smith fled today from the publicity that followed the department's action.

She left the campus and went into seclusion over the week-end. Prof. Varnum said he could not understand why so much "fuss" had been raised over the episode. He said the use of co-eds as nude models is strictly prohibited and that this was merely a case of university regulations preventing the girl from following her profession.

Death Sentence Given Kidnaper

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Dec. 11 (AP)—Arnett A. Booth, 46-year-old pardoned convict, was convicted by a jury today of kidnapping Dr. James I. Seder, 79, who died four days after finding his way out of an abandoned coal mine.

The jurors deliberated 58 minutes before returning the verdict without recommendation of mercy, thus making a death sentence mandatory.

What About The Other Three Legs?

WE JOIN with those of our confused countrymen who are waiting hopefully outside the smoky congressional inferno for the emergence of some kind of farm bill. That such a bill will appear in due time, we have little doubt. Meanwhile we admit our middle-western point of view and confess our belief that the farmer should get something at least approaching a parity price, a price comparable to what he pays for manufactured articles.

Last month the price index of what the farmer sold dropped to 117 according to the Iowa State college at Ames. This was the lowest figure since June of 1936. On the other hand, the price index of what the Iowa farmer purchased during the month remained at 128. A little arithmetic is sufficient to show that the farmer's dollar received in exchange for agricultural products would buy only 91 cents' worth of manufactured goods. Obviously, in justice to the farmer and in the interests of an adequate food supply, something should be done.

The answer, we hope, will be found in the forthcoming farm bill. This measure, however, must not be regarded as a panacea for all agricultural ills. Even before a definite measure has taken shape a second bill threatens to nullify the effect of farm legislation by rising industrial costs and consequently the prices of industrial goods.

If this threat is overcome, other factors must be adjusted. Transportation is already asking for concessions which will directly affect the farmer. Last week railroad interests, supported by RFC Chairman Jesse H. Jones, declared that they must have a 15 per cent rate increase or succumb to government operation. The American Truckers' association announces that if railroads receive this increase, truckers must be allowed the same rates while intercoastal ship operators make similar demands.

This does not mean that the farm bill is responsible for the proposed wage increases nor for the demands of the transportation group. It does mean, however, that these demands will tend to raise the price of what the farmer buys to a still higher level. Congress might well consider these factors before it passes a measure which may be out-dated before it can be put into operation.

We think it fitting and right that congress try to place a block under the short leg of the economic table. But if it is content to allow labor, transportation and other interests to lengthen the other three legs, the table is still going to be wobbly.

July Leaves

The League

IN A dramatic announcement Mussolini yesterday gave notice to the world of Italy's withdrawal from the league of nations—a withdrawal which finds Italy following the path of the other two members of the anti-communist pact, Germany and Japan.

At a first, snap judgment it may seem to many that here is a finishing blow to a league which has long been tottering upon its heels, and has within the last two years proved itself particularly powerless to enforce its will upon stubborn member nations.

Let us be on our guard against those who scream "red." People misled by these shouts will land right in the lap of fascism. VICTOR TEICH, Vice-president, Liberal Student Alliance.

which the withdrawal of any one nation can not greatly hinder.

But in the realm of world politics the withdrawal may and may not be as momentous as Mussolini himself believed when he called it "an event of great historical significance which has attracted world attention."

It probably means that: 1. Italy, Germany and Japan have determined to make their anti-communist pact an effective force in international relations.

2. Other members of the league will have at last to face the fact that a re-organization giving much broader powers than it now has is necessary before it can hope to enforce its decisions.

3. Mussolini has at last completely contradicted himself by disavowing any idea of international control while urgently advocating strong national governments. As a matter of theory if a strong government is necessary to control individuals, then a super-government is necessary to control nations.

In any case Mussolini has not greatly weakened further the power of the league, having but given formal expression to what has been for more than a year an established fact.

A Few Suggestions For Christmas

Let the Christmas season come and go without achieving any more tangible results than a bunch of neckties given in exchange for a flock of handkerchiefs, we hereby offer the following suggestions which we think would do much to make this truly a season of peace and good-will.

1. Hailie Selassie and Mussolini. If Mussolini won't relent and give Selassie his kingdom back to play with, (which he won't) then it would be nice for Selassie to at least send a card wishing Mussolini luck in his civilizing endeavors.

2. Chiang Kai-Shek and Emperor Hirohito. Perhaps it would be well for Chiang to suggest that the emperor give all the Japanese soldiers a Christmas vacation at home; if not, he might as well tie a ribbon around China and deliver it to him as a Christmas gift.

3. General Franco. We think that if Franco is killing fellow Spaniards because he loves them so and hates to see them become reds, he might well violate the Christmas spirit and love them a little less.

4. William Green and John L. Lewis. After all boys, you used to be friends and if you're not careful some capitalist may put something over on you while you're busy fighting each other.

5. President Roosevelt and the supreme court. The president really ought to show in some way that he doesn't think the nine old men are so old after all by a gift of some kind or other. It should be a little more mature, however, than teething rings. Perhaps a baseball bat would do. Then they could have a team.

6. Dizzy Dean. If Dizzy is still mad at anybody—which he probably is—we say, shift your wad to the other cheek, Dizzy, and forgive them.

Well it's a great idea, this forgiving and forgetting business, but far too few practice it. The persons mentioned above probably won't either, but we still think following our suggestions would transform the world overnight.

Our Readers' VIEWPOINT

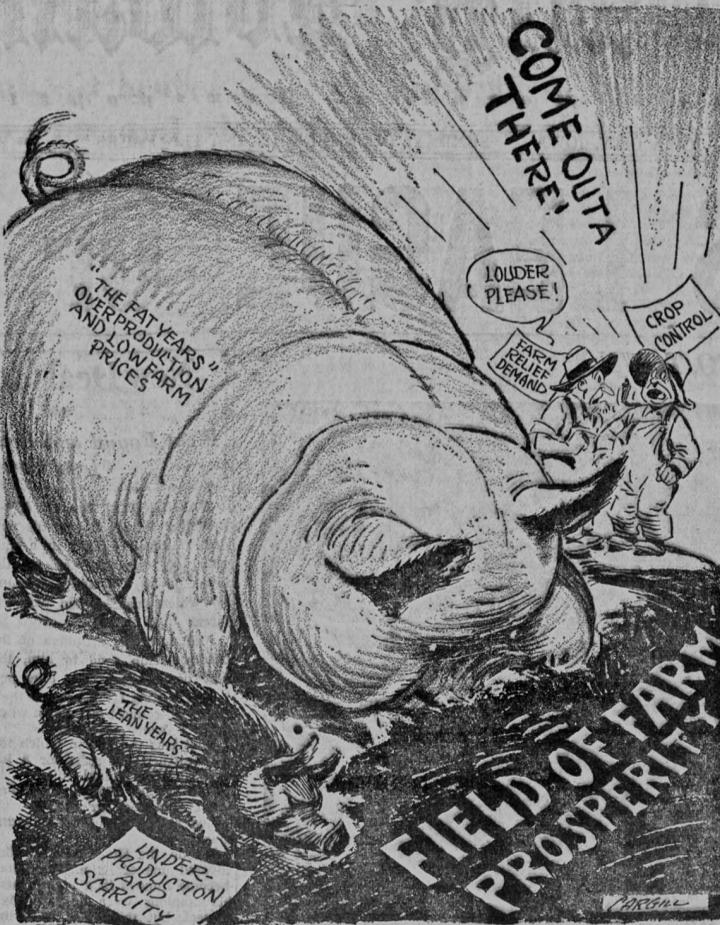

Letters must be signed and should not exceed 250 words. Opinions expressed by our readers do not necessarily reflect our views.

Editor, The Daily Iowan: Sometime between Friday night and Saturday morning some vandal defaced posters announcing a meeting of the liberal student alliance on the still vital Spanish situation. Our fanatic enemy scrawled in crude letters the epithet "reds" on the poster, using red crayon as added subtlety.

Such vandalism is doubly dangerous today because it is the universal tactic of those who wish to bar any progressive activity in the United States. Using the "red" cry as their shield, reactionary groups in America attack President Roosevelt, Mayor La Guardia of New York City, the Committee for Industrial Organization and other progressive individuals and groups in order to distract attention from the real issue, the preservation and extension of democracy in the face of growing fascist aggression.

The liberal student alliance is proud to be in the company of those individuals and groups mentioned above, as well as many other progressive groups in America. But like these above, the liberal student alliance points out that it is not a "red" organization, but that it is a union of progressive American students, united for the one purpose of preserving American democracy in the face of present perils. Despite the hysterical attacks of those who wish to obscure issues in order to cover their own dishonest tracks, we continue our progressive policies of working for peace, freedom, security and equality for American students.

Heartburn Not Necessarily Caused by Digestive Disorders

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The symptom which usually is called heartburn consists of a burning sensation at the lower part of the esophagus and the throat, with the regurgitation of acid gastric juice into the back of the mouth. It is a common symptom in many digestive disorders, and is generally thought to be due to an excess amount of gastric juice.

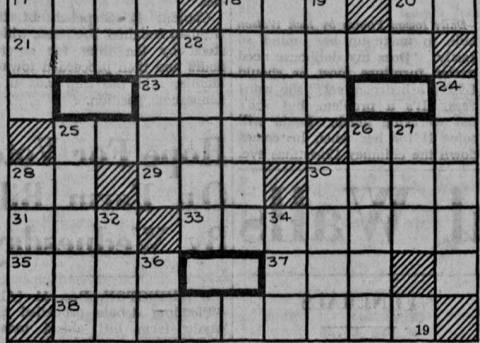

However, it may be present without digestive disease at all, simply as part of a neurotic temperament. In fact, studies made by the Bowen scholar of the New York Academy of Medicine, on a series of patients suffering with this symptom, showed that it was present in several instances when the gastric juice was deficient in hydrochloric acid, and was secreted in less than the normal amount.

Carrying the experiments further, it was found that when a dilution of hydrochloric acid was injected into the lower part of the esophagus it sometimes caused a burning sensation and sometimes it did not. Other substances, however, cause just as much burning. For instance, brandy, when it is allowed to pour over the lower part of the esophagus, makes people more uncomfortable than hydrochloric acid itself.

Need Not Cause Alarm It is, therefore, not a symptom which need cause any alarm. I say this because patients are usually frightened at the onset of this symptom, so that aside from the mere uncomfotableness of it, it always makes people unhappy. If it does become annoying or uncomfotable, it can easily be relieved in most instances by the use of baking soda, sodium bicarbonate, in small doses, three or four times a day.

Certain foods are likely to provoke it, among them white bread, tomatoes, spices, pickles and sour things generally.

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

One of the world's great new voices will be heard by an American radio audience for the first time when Galliano Masini, leading tenor of the famous La Scala opera in Milan, appears as guest star on the Ford Sunday evening hour, tonight. The broadcast will be heard over the Columbia network at 8 o'clock. Hailed as a successor to the great Caruso, Galliano Masini has been sensationally acclaimed since his debut Nov. 10 with the Chicago civic opera company as Edgar in "Lucia de Lammermoor."

Alexander Gray, well-known baritone, closes a long engagement at Chicago's Palmer house today to return to New York for final negotiations and auditions for a new commercial series. Gray, who has been headlining the floor show at the Palmer house since last summer, will be heard in a series of network radio programs based on familiar musical comedy and operetta scores. A radio "regular" a few years ago, he lately has been devoting his efforts to personal appearances.

Joe Penner will add a repeat show for Pacific coast listeners after Jan. 2 and will be heard at 10 p.m. Heretofore the Penner programs have been heard across country at 5 p.m., CST.

At 4:30 this afternoon Guy Lombardo and his orchestra will offer a musical menu made up of the best tunes of today and yesterday. The program will be heard over WABC-CBS.

Alexander Woolcott, author, drama critic, sometime actor and raconteur par excellence, will be the subject of Kathryn Craven's "News Through a Woman's Eyes" broadcast tomorrow. Her view of the radiator will be heard at 1 p.m. over CBS.

Kenny Baker has signed a 26-week contract with Jack Benny's program and will continue to be heard with the famous comic.

It won't be long before the indoor dog show season gets under way in the eastern states and Don Voorhees, "Cavaleade of America," maestro, will be busy presenting some of his blue ribbon winners. Don is a long time dog fancier and devotes much of his spare time to breeding pups at the Voorhees kennels in New Jersey.

Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART WASHINGTON, D. C.—Speaker William B. Bankhead of the house of representatives is being considerably criticized by congressmen, who blame him for trying to influence legislation.

Undoubtedly he has tried to do so. Specifically the speaker believes in compulsory control of crop production — maybe not compulsory control of all kinds of crops, but compulsory control of cotton production, anyway. Hailing from Alabama, he naturally is particularly interested in cotton.

There are three schools of thought on the subject of crop control. School No. 1 favors penalizing farmers for producing above a certain designated limit—penalizing them by crushing taxation upon any excess over that limit. Adherents of this school would even penalize buyers of the so-called over-plus.

School No. 2 does not favor penalization, but it does favor rewarding farmers who keep their production down to the governmentally-prescribed maximum. School No. 3 opposes any limitation whatever.

The point is that Speaker Bankhead worships in No. 1's temple. Speaker's Position: Now, the fact is that Speaker Bankhead is under no obligation to be impartial, except to give free rein to debate in the house of representatives. He is perfectly entitled to his vote and to his influence among his fellow lawmakers — as one of them. By virtue of his speakership, his influence unquestionably is greater than the influence of the rank-and-file of their number, but that does not serve to muzzle him. It is as much his right to call a temporary substitute to the chair and make a speech on the floor as it is the right of any other representative.

One complainant has said, "The speaker has thrown off his judicial robes"—to fight for compulsory crop control.

Schmeling Set for Chicago Slugger Thomas in Campaign For World Heavyweight Title

'Der Schlager' Is 2-1 Broadway Favorite For Fight

By Eddie Brietz
NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Max Schmeling is all set to launch another campaign for the world heavyweight title in a 15-round match with Harry Thomas, rugged Chicago slugger, in Madison Square Garden Monday night.

Notwithstanding the fact it will be his first ring appearance since he stunned the fistic world by knocking out the present champion, Joe Louis, 18 months ago, "Der Schlager" was a 2 to 1 favorite in the Broadway spots tonight.

There are those who think the hard-hitting Thomas who never has been knocked of his feet, has a chance to spring a surprise and upset the German, but not many are saying so with money.

Promoter Mike Jacobs predicted a crowd of 16,000 and a gate of $75,000 despite a boycott of the fight by an anti-Nazi society. Other sources estimated the gate would be around $50,000. A sell-out would mean a crowd of 18,500 and receipts of close to $100,000.

Schmeling, who came here expecting an easy fight apparently has taken the Thomas "build up" seriously. Those close to him say the Teuton has never worked harder preparing for a battle. Since pitching camp at Summit, N. J., 20 days ago, Max boxed 116 rounds and used up eight sparring partners. He wound up work today with four snappy rounds.

Thomas loafed at Pompton Lakes, N. J., where he conditioned. He is in tip top shape and hasn't put on the gloves since Thursday. Both fighters will remain in their camps until Monday morning when they'll motor into town to weigh in before the New York state athletic commission in the Garden.

Thomas has been fighting since 1922. He has had 56 fights. He won 43 of them by knockouts, eight by decisions, drew in two and lost only three. He can hit with either hand and in his workouts has shown he can absorb punishment as well as deal it out. He knocked out Jorge Brescia of the Argentine in one of the preliminaries to the Bradock-Louis championship fight in Chicago last June. He has fought six times this year, losing only to Roscoe Toles.

Buckeyes Win From Huskers As Hull Stars

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 11 (AP)—A fast, aggressive Ohio State university basketball team defeated Nebraska, champions of the Big Six, 41 to 31, here tonight in an inter-sectional game.

Forward Jimmy Hull led the Buckeyes with 14 points. Nebraska took the lead at the start and the game was a see-saw battle for the first 10 minutes with the Cornhuskers leading 6 to 5. From then on, however, the speedy Ohio State team began clicking and never was headed.

Alton Werner, Nebraska forward, was high man for the visitors, scoring six points.

'WILD BILL' INJURED Victorious Season Ends For Austin High

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 11 (AP)—Chicago's Austin high champions completed an undefeated and untied season here today with a 13-0 inter-sectional football triumph over Jackson, Tenn., in a game marred by the injury of "Wild Bill" De Corvont, sensational Austin back.

Five thousand spectators, chilled by below-freezing weather, looked on as De Corvont sped around his left end in the first period—the first time he was called upon to carry the ball—and raced 37 yards for a touchdown.

Chicago was ahead 19-11 early in the second half when Graf and Amsden led a sudden Marquette rally that tied the score. The score was still tied 21-all when Eggemeyer and Lounsbury cut loose with 10 points between them to send the Maroons safely ahead.

Williams Puts Men Through Hard Practice

Iowa Cagers Prepare To Meet Washington U. Tomorrow

Again becoming the stern taskmaster, Coach Rollie Williams sent his University of Iowa cagers through a short, strenuous workout Saturday afternoon in preparation for the fray Monday night with Washington university of St. Louis.

The first part of the afternoon was spent in ironing out the mistakes pointed out in the blackboard session Friday. The usual regular five of Stephens and Johnson at the forwards, Drees at center, and Kinnick and Suesens at the guards were put through several drills against defensive freshman combinations in an effort to smooth out the floor play and improve the ball-handling and passing, two departments of play which were especially faulty against Carleton. Bratten, Van Ysedyk and Lind also worked with this combination. In an attempt to emphasize the necessity of efficient passing, Williams drilled several variety combinations in the use of set plays against various types of defenses. The rest of the evening was spent in scrimmage.

An encouraging factor in the Hawkeye camp was the return of Dick Evans, promising center from Chicago. Evans has been recovering from a severe cold. He appeared none the worse for his experience, however, engaging in the scrimmage and conducting himself in a pleasing manner in the offensive drills. He should be in shape for play Monday night.

Word from the Washington camp indicates that the Bears employ a fast breaking attack the center of which is Tomlinson, six foot, two inch guard, and captain, and Adolph Uhlemeyer and William Ferfucky, a pair of fast, small forwards.

The game Monday night begins at 7:35. The probable lineups are as follows:

Washington to Battle Chicago For National Pro Crown

Bear Squad Favored In Title Conflict At Wrigley Field

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—The cocky Washington Redskins battle the tough Chicago Bears for the national professional football championship at Wrigley field tomorrow on a gridiron that probably will be frozen as hard as concrete.

Between 40,000 and 44,000 fans, a thousand or more from Washington alone, will see the title conflict, judging from the record advance sales, despite near zero weather which has prevailed all week. Should the temperature return to normal of 30 degrees tomorrow, as indicated, a record breaking crowd will be in the stands.

The kickoff will be at 1:15 p.m. to assure finishing the game before dusk.

The field, having been protected by a 12 inch covering of hay and tarpaulin, will be in fair playing condition although frozen, and the players probably will be forced to wear tennis shoes, with rubber soles, so they will have solid footing.

Despite the spectacular rush of the Redskins to the eastern championship, the Bears, with the toughest line in all football, will go into the game a slight favorite. They represent the west with 9 victories, one loss and one tie, while Washington, the hope of the east, won 8 and lost 3.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Dec. 11 (AP)—Pittsburgh's undefeated Panthers were ranked today as the nation's most powerful football array under the system originated by Dr. Frank G. Pittsburgh, which won nine games and tied one compiled a point total of 22.84, Fordham, which tied Pittsburgh and won its other seven battles ranked second a fraction of a point behind at 22.54. Dartmouth, undefeated but tied twice ranked third place at 22.50.

Alabama, victorious in nine straight contests followed with 21.97, a shade better than Nebraska which had 21.12. Yale ranked sixth with 21.07, to 20.82 for California.

Board Refuses to Tell Names of Eight Men on List

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 11 (AP)—Fielding H. Yost, athletic director, and Ralph W. Aigler, chairman of the board in control of athletics at the University of Michigan, said today they expected to leave within a few days on trips to interview candidates for the football coaching berth at Michigan.

Harry Kipke, head coach for nine years, was notified Thursday his contract would not be renewed when it expires June 1, 1938.

Yost disclosed yesterday the board has prepared a "preferred" list of eight names of men they consider well qualified for the job. Aigler will interview four of the men and Yost the others.

They have steadfastly refused to disclose names on the list and have said the "field is wide open" for other applicants.

On the Michigan campus a boom for George Veenker, athletic director at Iowa State college, was reported. Veenker was an assistant football coach and basketball coach at Michigan from 1927 to 1931.

Support for candidates has developed among Michigan alumni groups in various parts of the country. Detroit alumni are booming Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, teammate of the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, who has had strong teams at the University of Detroit.

New York alumni yesterday indicated they favored consideration of Benny Friedman, one-time Michigan All-American, now coaching at City College of New York.

Veenker Rumors 'News' in Ames

AMES, Dec. 11 (AP)—Dean M. D. Helsler, chairman of the Iowa State college athletic council, said tonight he has "heard nothing" about the report that George Veenker, Iowa State athletic director, is being considered as a successor to Harry Kipke as Michigan football coach.

"It is the first I've heard of it," Helsler said tonight. "We certainly would be sorry to lose him," he added.

Blair Converse, head of the journalism department and a member of the council, said the reports were "news to me."

Veenker was reported to be in Minneapolis today attending a conference of WPA recreational officials.

Veenker came here in 1931 from Michigan where he had been head basketball coach and an assistant in football. He promptly earned the title "miracle man" by producing a winning football team.

He retired as head football coach last year to devote his full time to the athletic directorship.

A graduate of Hope (Mich.) college, Veenker started his coaching career in 1916 at Grand Prairie seminary in Illinois.

Western League Is Topping; Finish May Come Today

DES MOINES, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Western league, the oldest minor circuit in organized baseball, may disband tomorrow, but Des Moines and Sioux City officials indicated tonight they might fight a dissolution.

Representatives from the five cities which finished the 1937 season—Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Waterloo, Davenport and Sioux City—will meet here tomorrow to discuss the situation. E. Lee Keyser, president of the Des Moines club who was willing to withdraw from the circuit a week ago, said tonight he has changed his mind and will vote against the proposal to disband.

Fred Ring of Sioux City said he wasn't going to the meeting with the idea of withdrawing, at present at least.

Waterloo, Cedar Rapids and Davenport, however, were ready to desert the Western for a merger with the Three-I loop, forming an eight-club organization. Moline, Decatur, Springfield and Bloomington, all Illinois cities and Clinton were mentioned in the proposed merger.

D. U. Comes From Behind; Overcomes Phi Delt, 20 to 14

Winners Score Touchdown In Closing Minutes of Touch Grid Game Played Yesterday

By FRANK BRANDON
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

In an exciting contest with rapidly changing score, the Delta Upsilon team yesterday afternoon came from behind in the last two minutes of play against the Phi Delta Theta fraternity to make a touchdown and win the interfraternity touch football championship for 1937, 20-14.

Playing with the temperature hovering around 15 degrees above zero and on a snowy field that made footing uncertain, the D.U.'s, trailing most of the game, proved that they could not be licked.

As the game opened, the Phi Delt kicked off but soon took the ball when Justus Wells intercepted a pass to start Phi Delt on a drive down the field.

Willis Newbold tossed a pass to Louis Naeckel for nine yards. Newbold hit the center for a first down. Wendell Delzell caught a pass from Newbold for eight more yards and Naeckel went off tackle for a first down, putting the oval on the D.U. six yard line. Newbold passed to Delzell for four yards and on the last down Naeckel threw a pass to Delzell in the end zone for the score. Naeckel tossed again to Ted Landsberg for the point after touchdown and the Phi Delt went into the lead 7 to 0.

D.U. Threatens
Only once in the first half did the D.U.'s seriously threaten but they had the ball on the Phi Delt one yard line when Frank Murphy intercepted a pass preventing them from scoring.

Early in the second half Dar Hine heaved a 35 yard pass to Dick Hine which put the ball on the Phi Delt two yard line. Two rushes by the D.U.'s failed but then Dar threw to John Hemminger who touched the ball down.

Outstanding Play
The outstanding play of the game came a few minutes later when the D.U.'s received a kick and reeled off a 50 yard run with three men contributing. Dick Hine received the ball and passed to Hemminger who ran 15 yards and passed to Jenkins waiting on the goal line. Jenkins scored on the play but the point after touchdown failed and the Phi Delt led by one point, 14-13.

With three minutes of play remaining the D.U.'s opened up with a series of passes which brought them to the Phi Delt six yard line. After two plays had failed Dar Hine threw a short running pass to Dick Hine who went over for the last and winning tally of the game. Dar tossed another to King for the point and the score read 20-14 in favor of the D.U.'s as the horn ended the game.

The Phi Delt, despite their loss, won second, and Phi Kappa Psi third in interfraternity touch football ended for this year.

The lineups were:
D.U. King, LE; Saunders, LT; Jenkins, C; Estey, RT; Jordan, RE; Dick Hine, FB; Hemminger, HB; Dar Hine, QB.
Phi Delt Landsberg, Murphy, Wells, Geerdes, O'Malley, Naeckel, Delzell, Naeckel.

Slammin' Sammy Snead

Revolta Shoots Sub-Par Round To Tie Snead

Score 139 at Half-Way Mark in Miami Biltmore Open

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP) — Johnny Revolta, former P.G.A. champion, overtook Sam Snead at the half way mark in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open today with his second sub-par round, a 70, for a 36-hole tie at 139.

Revolta's deadly chipping kept him under par while the game of the big belter from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., fell apart on the second nine and he wound up with a one over par 72 for the second day.

Horton Smith of Chicago shot the lowest round of the day for a two under par 69 and projected himself very much in the running with 140. Also one stroke back of the leaders was Jim Turnesa of Providence, R. I., who turned in his second 70.

Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and Tony Penna of Dayton, Ohio, came next on the list with identical scores of 70-72-142 for the two rounds.

Seventy professionals with scores of 151 or better, qualified for the last 36 holes. Not a single big-name golfer failed to make the grade.

Iowa Mermen Begin Final Week of Swimming Drills

Charley Gehringer, Detroit Infielder, Wins American League Batting Crown

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP) — Charley Gehringer, the ace Detroit Tiger second baseman and long known among baseball men as "the ball players' player," officially became the American league batting champion for 1937 today.

Gehringer, long one of the game's greatest fielding and hitting stars, finished with a plate mark of .371 according to final statistics, becoming the sixth straight infielder to capture the junior circuit slugging honors.

By slamming out 209 safe blows in 144 games, Gehringer made it a fifth straight year in which he has notched more than 200 hits. Of his safeties this past season, 40 were doubles, one a triple and 14 home runs.

Tigers Failed
Although the Tigers failed to overhaul the New York Yankees in the pennant race, they won numerous honors during the campaign. Detroit led in team hitting with a mark of .292, with the Yankees third. In addition, Rudy York set a record of 18 homers in August and Gerald Walker, since acquired by the Chicago White Sox, had the longest consecutive game hitting streak of 27 games, being stopped by Buck Newsom at Washington May 24.

Lou Gehrig, baseball's iron man, drove in 159 runs, played out the full quota of 157 games and finished second to Gehringer with a slugging average of .351.

DiMaggio Leads
Joe DiMaggio, the youthful New York Yankee outfielder, led the circuit homers with 46, with total bases, 418, and in runs, 151. The leader in hits was Roy "Beau" Bell of St. Louis, who made 218. Hank Greenberg, Detroit's first baseman, led in doubles with 49. Two Chicago players, Dixie Walker and Mike Kreevich, who batted .302, tied for triples honors, each having 16. Ben Chapman, in 35 games with Washington and 113 with Boston, stole 35 bases.

To Go South For One Week

Participate in Forum At Ft. Lauderdale In Southland

The University of Iowa swimming squad will begin its final week of workouts previous to their departure for the sunny land of Florida for an intensive seven-day training period under southern skies and participation in the American Swimming Forum, conducted annually at Ft. Lauderdale during the holidays.

Coach David Armbruster has been working his mermen during this past week, after a week of irregular drills because of the team having to catch up on studies after strenuous work and time spent on the Dolphin show.

Ray Walters, Coach Armbruster's ace free styler who is counted on for firsts in Big Ten swimming meets next spring, has been confined to the university hospital, and it has been reported that he may not make the trip to Florida. About 16 swimmers and Coach Armbruster will make the southern trip, with the Dolphin club paying their transportation expenses. Last year the squad went south to the forum and Coach Armbruster took part in the program, which includes nationally famous coaches from all over the country. This year he will lecture on the crawl flutter kick.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 11 (AP)—A nice rally in the last 10 minutes gave the University of Minnesota basketball team its third straight non-conference victory of the season, 41 to 30, over a tall, scrappy Carleton college team of Northfield, tonight.

Except for a 10-minute period in the initial stanza and the last 10 minutes, Carleton always was within striking distance and it was not until Johnny Kundla, forward, and Paul Maki, guard, took matters in their own hands that the Gophers were sent on their way to victory.

Relative Reinterprets One Mad Act of Booth, Lincoln Assassin

Author Says Thespian Escaped, Lived In Exile to 1879

"THIS ONE MAD ACT" by Izola Forrester. (Hale, Cushman and Flint, 1937, $3.)

This is the story of John Wilkes Booth's one mad act, told by his granddaughter who has grown up to think of him always with love. It is the unknown drama of the tragic Booth family and its greatest tragedian, the man who shot Lincoln.

With simplicity and sympathy, Izola Forrester tells for the first time the truth, as nearly as 40 years of research can determine, of the last mad act which the young Thespian played with a shocked nation for his audience.

Facts From Records
His character she pictures through the eyes of those who suffered most from his crime—the wife who loved him and the son and daughter who cherished his memory. Her facts come from family and government records—Booth's diary and his wife's story of their romance, tarnished emblems of the Knights of the Golden Circle and a few fragments of bone—from the stories of her mother, grandfather and uncle and from voluntary contributions made by responsible persons after learning of her relation to Booth.

She reaches three conclusions, startling contradictions to the rascally history-book assassin, who was alone in his crime of revenge and who died in a burning barn at night. Booth, contrary to common knowledge, was married before the Civil war and lived in the Shenandoah valley. Lincoln's assassination was instigated by men high in the order of the Knights of the Golden Circle, said to have been a branch of Freemasonry, flourishing in the north as well as the south.

Booth Not Shot
And most amazing of all is her evidence that Booth was not shot in a barn at all, but escaped from the Garret farm through the aid of the Knights and lived in exile until 1879.

His granddaughter never shrank from admitting her relationship to him as did his children, in spite of their love. Her story is tempered with the sane perspective of a generation removed from the bitterness of wartime and softened by the atmosphere of love and sorrow for her grandfather and in which she spent her childhood. All through her early life in her grandmother's home and traveling later in the theater with her mother, Miss Forrester was aware of a strange force binding her family together, apart from the rest of the world. She wondered vaguely about the handsome grandfather she had never known, for whom there was so much devotion and about whom so many family tempests raged.

Uncle Suffered Most
The author's description of the mother she adored, the grandmother whose life was built on memory and the sensitive uncle who suffered perhaps more than the others from the crime of his father are particularly charming. They form a subtle background for the climax of her story, the black night of the assassination.

The hurried events before the murder, the tragedy at the theater, the wild chase through the night and the hunted days that followed are told with a directness and vividness that are literally breathtaking.

Traces Rumors
In her last pages the author relates her activities tracing the legends and rumors, probing countless files and reports, talking with persons who had known Booth or known of him. She has acquired a fascinating wealth of material, much of it conflicting but a gratifying amount falling into line. She presents it in a clear and fascinating manner to arrive at her conclusion that Booth was not alone in his crime, but was as his wife so often said "the tool of others," and that he escaped from his pursuers and lived for years in exile.

IZOLA FORRESTER

Sculptor Is A Cellini

'Testament' Shows Edstrom As Rival Of Great Italian

"THE TESTAMENT OF CALIBAN" by David Edstrom. (Funk and Wagnalls company, 1937, $3.)

"Move over, Benvenuto Cellini, and make room on the narrow shelf of great autobiographies for this self-life by David Edstrom, a rival of your genius in sculpture as in the revelation of himself and of the amazingly various people he has met." Thus aptly speaks Rupert Hughes in his preface to this strangely fascinating book.

For never in the history of time could there have been another artist so like, in temperament and experience, the immortal Cellini. If Edstrom never killed a man, it was not for lack of effort. Cellini was a man of many women, but he hardly surpasses David Edstrom. Engaged to two women, in love with another already married, having an affair with his model and carrying on other casual flirtations, he proposes to still another and it is only his luck which prevents an immediate acceptance.

Walked With Kings
Benvenuto Cellini walked with the kings and rulers of Europe—so did David Edstrom, and the great and near great of his acquaintance number in the hundreds. But David Edstrom trod not always in the artistic and upper crusts of society. The story of his life is as varied as it is amazing.

From his birth in Sweden, it takes us through a boyhood in the river towns of Iowa, through work in an Ottumwa slaughter house, through tedious stoking in the hold of an ocean freighter; through the squalor of struggling student days in Stockholm; through extensive travel from the frozen tundras of the arctic circle to flowery Firenze, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, London, Havana, New York and finally Los Angeles.

Smashed Statues
Critics and fellow artists have acclaimed Edstrom as a great sculptor. Striving always for independence and originality, it is a toss-up whether his creative or destructive genius is dominant. He would make beautiful statues—then smash them according to his mood, and breaking with them his patron's heart. Fortunately enough of his work has survived to provide a convincing reference of his ability. Besides his driving, egotistical ambition, there were two important factors in his life. One was religion—and the other was woman. His grandmother was a fierce Nordic pagan and his father a devout, though sometimes errant, Christian minister, but Edstrom himself is not so easily classified. His was mostly a personal theology, although he toyed with Catholicism and was once converted to Christian science. He credits this conversion with saving his life and he married his converter only to discover that she herself was insincere. That was Cora, his second wife, who was born in Dubuque but whom he met in Paris.

Distrusts Woman
In spite of his two wives and countless romances, David Edstrom appears fundamentally as a misogynist. He distrusts woman because, as he says, "She is not the weak and needy one which chivalrous tradition makes of her... Women have equal rights with men and still wear all the fine plumes, yet hold grimly to all the advantages of male chivalry." Far be it from us to suggest further unchivalric thoughts, but we just wonder if Mr. Edstrom hasn't a good point there.

He refers to himself as Caliban because a bust he made of himself bore a startling resemblance to that legendary figure. We will not say that Edstrom is completely Calibanesque, but we promise that if you enjoyed the autobiography of Benvenuto Cellini you will find this one equally delightful.

From 1931 to 1935 the percentage of illiterates in Mexico was reduced from 71 per cent to 57 per cent," Prof. Ise P. Laas told 60 members of the American Association of University Women at a luncheon meeting yesterday in the University clubrooms in Iowa Union. The subject of Professor Laas' talk was "Mexico Looking Forward."

Professor Laas particularly stressed Mexico's progress in education, and the position of women in Mexico. She described President Cardenas and told about the close personal touch which he keeps with the people, citing reforms accomplished in government, education, public health and other fields.

His government has paid special attention to the education of the masses, and there has been a great increase in the number of rural schools, she explained. "Only a few years ago," Professor Laas said, "high school education for women was rare. Now all schools are co-educational and 40 per cent of university students are women."

Great attention is paid to athletics in the schools. The government supervises all schools very closely, and there is much interest in art education.

"Women are on the verge of getting the vote," Professor Laas said, "but one of the difficulties in the way of educational progress and woman suffrage is the fact that 80 per cent of the population are either pure-blooded or partly Indian, and a large proportion uses the Indian language only."

Professor Laas discussed other aspects of Mexican life also and said that much of the land and other national resources are owned by foreigners. Now an effort is being made to change this condition, either by nationalization or otherwise.

Following Professor Laas' talk Mrs. C. A. Ruckmick led a round table discussion.

Women are on the verge of getting the vote," Professor Laas said, "but one of the difficulties in the way of educational progress and woman suffrage is the fact that 80 per cent of the population are either pure-blooded or partly Indian, and a large proportion uses the Indian language only."

Professor Laas discussed other aspects of Mexican life also and said that much of the land and other national resources are owned by foreigners. Now an effort is being made to change this condition, either by nationalization or otherwise.

Laas Talks On Life in Mexico

Professor Speaks To Women's Group In Union

From 1931 to 1935 the percentage of illiterates in Mexico was reduced from 71 per cent to 57 per cent," Prof. Ise P. Laas told 60 members of the American Association of University Women at a luncheon meeting yesterday in the University clubrooms in Iowa Union. The subject of Professor Laas' talk was "Mexico Looking Forward."

Professor Laas particularly stressed Mexico's progress in education, and the position of women in Mexico. She described President Cardenas and told about the close personal touch which he keeps with the people, citing reforms accomplished in government, education, public health and other fields.

His government has paid special attention to the education of the masses, and there has been a great increase in the number of rural schools, she explained. "Only a few years ago," Professor Laas said, "high school education for women was rare. Now all schools are co-educational and 40 per cent of university students are women."

Great attention is paid to athletics in the schools. The government supervises all schools very closely, and there is much interest in art education.

"Women are on the verge of getting the vote," Professor Laas said, "but one of the difficulties in the way of educational progress and woman suffrage is the fact that 80 per cent of the population are either pure-blooded or partly Indian, and a large proportion uses the Indian language only."

Professor Laas discussed other aspects of Mexican life also and said that much of the land and other national resources are owned by foreigners. Now an effort is being made to change this condition, either by nationalization or otherwise.

Cheers and Sneers

(The opinions expressed below are those of contributors and do not necessarily represent the Daily Iowan's views.)

It is disgusting to watch the supine indifference and self-congratulatory back-patting with which various factions on this campus have received the news of the abolition of Pan-Hell, Ltd., in favor of an all-fraternity organization. It seems to be taken for granted that all this is a beautiful gesture of universal amity.

The old adage is: "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." At the student election last spring, the Pan-Hell boys found that they couldn't lick the rest of the campus; they discovered that a coalition of non-Pan-Hell groups and dormitories was far stronger and that not even the dirtiest kind of political chicanery could beat it.

Now that the fraternities have united their organized strength, they will be very nearly unbeatable. Unaffiliated students (the well known and pitiable unorganized majority) may just as well keep their names off the ballots.

Not that I blame the fraternities for this clever piece of politics. But I hate to see the rest of the campus sit back and murmur something sweet about "little birdies in their nests agree."

..... D.H.

This activity book proposition has an angle no one seems to have taken into account. The state legislature has been wanting to increase the tuition here for years, and if they see in the papers that the student body has agreed to increase the tuition by $15 a semester, they are going to think it a heaven-sent opportunity to do that very thing. So vote for it, if you want to. Personally, I think it is too inclusive, and has too many evident discrepancies. The total cost to those who do not have fees is more than if they were to buy all the books and other things separately. I am not in favor of it and I don't care who knows it.

LOVERS OF fine things are appreciating STRUBS more and more each year about the time Christmas rolls around again. This year STRUBS have a bigger and better selection of love-ly and colorful gifts than ever before! Municipal Light and Power Case Will Re-open Tomorrow

Judge H. Evans To Preside At Trial In Court

Expect Two Days For Completing Jury Selection

Selection of a jury to hear the $11,554.60 damage suit against the city of Iowa City — brought because plans for a municipal light and power plant were abandoned last summer — will start at 10 a. m. tomorrow in district court here. Judge Harold D. Evans will preside.

It will take about two days to select the jury and the case is expected to occupy the greater portion of next week.

The Burns and McDonnell Engineering company of Kansas City, Mo., is asking $11,554.60 which it claims is due under terms of a 1935 contract for preparing plans and specifications for a proposed municipal light plant.

The project — long an issue in Iowa City — was officially abandoned Aug. 6 by the city council. The contract with the engineering firm had been drawn up when the MOL council was in office.

The CNP party — running on an anti-municipal ownership platform — ousted the MOL's in an election last spring and the project was abandoned last summer.

Judge Harold D. Evans ruled yesterday that the engineering company cannot make the mayor and city council a party to litigation brought against the city. The firm wanted to bring action against the city officials for an alleged wrongful act. The two matters must be tried separately, the judge ruled.

City Attorney Robert Larson and Attorney Will J. Hayek will represent Iowa City, and Attorneys Kenneth Dunlop and D. C. Nolan will represent the plaintiff.

Wallace Fined $25 for Passing Car on Curve

On a charge of passing a motor vehicle on a curve, Ben P. Wallace was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Police Judge Burke N. Carson.

Wallace was arrested by Sergeant E. C. Faber of the state highway patrol. Faber said that Wallace had passed a car and a truck on a blind curve, narrowly missed crashing head-on with an approaching car.

Solo parts will be carried by Maxine Tipton, soprano; Mrs. Grace Martin, contralto; John Hughes, tenor and Keith Weeber, baritone.

The Rev. Llewelyn A. Owen, pastor, extends a cordial invitation to all men and women of Iowa City to attend this service of Christmas music.

200 Kids Have After-School Rendezvous

Recreational Center Favorite Spot for Iowa City Boys, Girls

The Iowa City Recreation Center headquarters, 121 Iowa avenue, is the favorite after-school spot for more than 200 boys and girls.

That number has registered since the headquarters was opened several weeks ago. They may register—without charge—for many of the winter sports—basketball for the boys, or tap-dancing for girls—and other games.

Approximately 35 girls practice tap-dancing twice a week after school. Frances Jones, A4 of Iowa City, instructs two classes of the girls' favorite recreation.

Two basketball leagues—one for boys less than 14 years old, and another for boys between 14 and 18—are being organized. Six teams in each league have been formed, and boys may register this week for membership in the remaining four teams.

Play in the younger boys league will start Saturday morning with three games, and another will be played during the week. Four games will be played each week in each league.

About two-thirds of the boys' registration is in the basketball league. Eugene Trowbridge, director, said. Each team numbers only five or six players to insure a full recreation program for all the boys.

Handicraft Program
A handicraft program, which will be under the supervision of Clifford Williams, federal recreation worker from Des Moines, will also be organized soon.

There is a handicraft room in the headquarters which has not yet been equipped with tools. A boys' manual training room may be installed.

A separate game room includes ping-pong tables and other small informal games, and a library includes current books and periodicals.

The office of the recreation center is also at the headquarters. Trowbridge is assisted by several university students from the women's physical education department and the social administration department. Part- and full-time NYA and WPA workers round out the staff.

"Between 40 and 50 boys and girls play at the headquarters every day after school, and more than 50 younger boys play basketball Saturday mornings," Trowbridge said. Approximately 30 older boys are out for basketball practice every night.

The recreation program's budget is controlled by the executive board of the Iowa City Recreation Center. Mrs. A. V. O'Brien is president of the board, and Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon is chairman of the activities program.

Autos, Trucks Licensed Early

A sharp increase in the sale of 1938 license plates over the same period of 1937 has been noted by County Treasurer W. E. Smith since the rush for plates began Dec. 1.

Seven hundred forty registrations had been completed Friday as compared to 647 for the same period last year.

Truck registrations have shown a corresponding increase with sales of 80 truck plates recorded Friday — an increase of 15 over the 65 for early registration last year.

Anderson Returns From Conference Of Auto Dealers

G. L. Anderson of the Anderson Pontiac company — one of 27 dealers to attend the December dealer merchandising conference of the Pontiac Motor company in Detroit, Mich.—has returned to Iowa City.

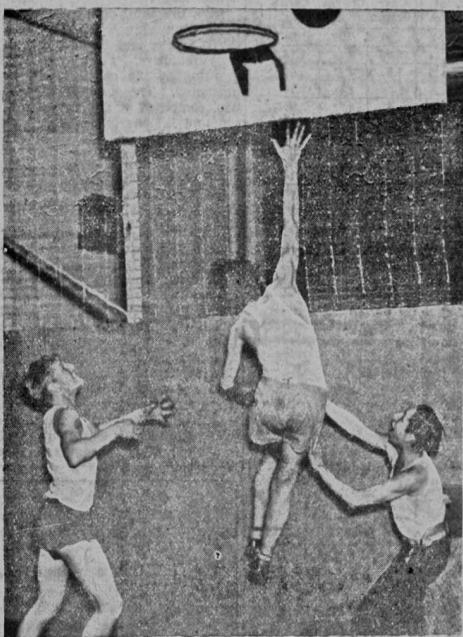

Anderson represented the Des Moines zone, including Iowa, Nebraska and eastern South Dakota, at the conference.

The mechanics of advertising and sales promotion were discussed at one session, and H. J. Klingler, general manager, and C. P. Simpson, general sales manager, led a round table discussion of the parts and accessories program at another.

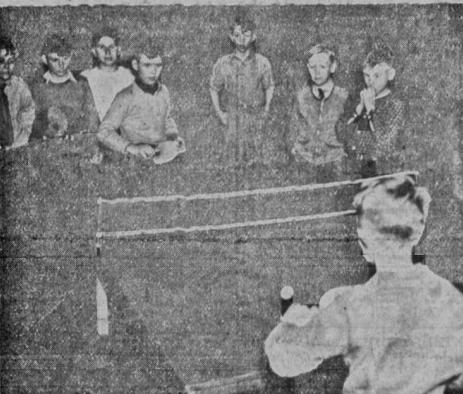

The dealers inspected the Pontiac factory, and a banquet at the Book-Cadillac hotel concluded the meeting.

Two hundred boys and girls use the ping-pong tables in the recreation center's game room every day. The game, (above) which develops the players' physical reactions, is fast and attracts many spectators. The center may sponsor a ping-pong tournament during the winter.

Thirty-five youngsters are learning how to tap-dance (above) at the recreation center gymnasium. Frances Jones, A4 of Iowa City, is the instructor and class periods are Wednesday and Friday at 4 p. m. Tap-dancing is the leading activity for girls.

Plans for the recreation center's heavy winter program are discussed (above) by Eugene Trowbridge (left), director, and Clifford Williams, federal recreation worker from Des Moines. Williams will supervise the handicraft program, and Trowbridge is general director of the activities.

Author of 'The Bubble' Will Spend 11 Days in County Jail

Charles Morgan, 76, Unable To Pay $35 Fine

Seventy-six-year-old Charles Morgan — who claims to be the author of "The Bubble, A Surprise in Literature," was sentenced yesterday afternoon to 11 days in the county jail when he was unable to pay a $35 fine for soliciting without a license.

When Morgan was arraigned before Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday afternoon, his subscription blanks showed that nearly $300 has been solicited from Iowa Citizens.

Many persons, including university officials and employees, had given Morgan money ranging from 50 cents and $3, according to police.

Morgan was arrested yesterday after police learned that he had solicited funds for the book 20 years ago in Pella.

The aged author's fingerprints were sent to the state bureau of investigation in Des Moines last night.

Morgan began writing his book — which deals with evolution, atheism and other topics — in 1907 and finished the work in 1914, he told police.

Since then, it is claimed, he has been attempting to raise funds to cover the book's publication costs.

Morgan told Police Judge Carson that he did not know Iowa City required a license for solicitation.

75 GO ICE-SKATING

Scouts Clear Snow Off Lagoon

More than 75 Iowa Citizens went ice-skating yesterday afternoon on the city park lagoon after Boy Scouts had cleared the ice of snow earlier in the day.

Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel, who supervised the scouts' "daily good turn," said that the ice was satisfactory for skating.

The entire lagoon, with the exception of the north side and a few rough spots, was used yesterday.

Fire Chief James J. Clark said yesterday that the rink will not be flooded, to provide a smoother surface, until the ice has been cut up by the skates.

National President of Eagles To Visit Local Lodge Thursday

John Heller to Discuss Social-Welfare Movement

John W. Heller Jr., of York, Pa., national president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be guest of the Iowa City Eagles lodge Thursday, it was announced yesterday.

Heller is making an official tour of the Eagles lodges in Canada, the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines. He will discuss the Eagles social-welfare movements.

"From June 1, 1936 to June 1, 1937, 125,847 new members joined the Eagles lodges of the nation," John Lemons, worthy president, said. "This was the greatest number of men ever to come into the fraternity in 12 months' time."

The activities of the lodge are now concentrated on the stabilization of employment. "It is our belief," said Lemons, "that if the working man has a steady job at a saving wage and the honest investor has security for his investment, most of our economic troubles will be solved."

Heller will speak on this latest phase of the order's work to improve the status of the American workingman and his family. He will also speak upon the social security laws which the fraternity has sponsored in the past.

A large crowd is expected to attend the special meeting Thursday. A committee of local Eagles are in charge of the program, to which members of the Eagles lodges from nearby cities have been invited.

Boyhood's Classic Christmas Wish

 person. And if that train whizzes round his tree Christmas morning, he'll beam as happily as all the other young engineers who find that Santa answers his letters.

Christmas Cards—Let's Send Different, Attractive Designs, Forms This Year!

By EULALIA KLINGBEIL
 Ever since that friendly old English gentleman, Sir Henry Cole, resorted to a decorative card painted with holiday scenes as an apology for forgetting to send his Christmas letters, the sending of Christmas cards has been a world-wide custom.

Christmas greetings still may be sent in the form of a personally written message, and this year there is Christmas stationery with hand-painted letterheads of holly wreaths and lighted candles. The stationery may be obtained in letter, note or card size.

Attractive and popular this year are the Christmas cards designed by American artists. Colorful reproductions of winter landscapes, portraits and Christmas scenes make these cards a lasting greeting, for they are gifts of art as well as sentiment.

So-called studio designs are an innovation this year. Boldly stencilled in gay colors on hand-made novelty papers are Santa Claus, Christmas trees, holly wreaths, poinsettias and the simple wish for "a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Facsimiles of Carols
 Facsimiles of Christmas carols are printed on many of the religious cards this year. What could be more appropriate to send the music lover than a card with "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" written in old English style?

Although humorous cards are not as much in evidence we do find stick figures, paper dolls, playful baby bears, snowmen and caricatures punning their Christmas wishes.

Individual are hand-blocked Christmas cards. It's fascinating to design, make a linoleum cut and print it on heavy, hand-made paper. If you've not time to gather the material and make your own cut you can by a complete set and all you have to do is to print it. If you decide to print your own, be sure to select a simple design; it will be much more effective.

FUNERAL HOME

Puzzled? Suggestions Help You Buy Her Gift

By SUE RUNNER
 For men only.

Perhaps the banality of another orgy of Christmas gift suggestions will be forgiven by that man who is still wondering how to approach the problem, "What would she like?"

You may not be in the market for an $18,500 Russian sable evening cape, but you can please her just as much if you find a gift to answer her most particular whim. She'll be flattered to think you noticed.

If she gads, with holiday parties in the air, give her an evening bag with a bright jeweled clasp. They can be had in a variety of styles and materials. One of the smartest is of brocade fitted with compact and coin purse.

If she primps, give her a charming feminine set of brush, comb and mirror in pastel enamel with imported handcut crystal handles.

For Dressing Table
 If she knits or embroiders, a handsome knitting bag would be worthy of her finest work. Get one large enough to hold all her wools and needles.

If her dressing table is fastidiously neat and dainty, give her a heavy glass tray standing on crystal ball feet to hold her perfume bottles and makeup boxes and jars.

If she'd like to feel audaciously young, she'd love a printed blouse of pure dye silk crepe with a shirred front and little buttons. It's made in a daisy pattern on a dark background. Fetching!

If she'd like a perfect bathrobe, give her one of velvety, washable wide-wale chenille with the new Vionnet sleeve. It comes in lovely shades of dusty pink, raspberry or French blue.

Slippers

If she likes to tuck her toes into something warm, surprise her with fur-trimmed slippers made of the same soft stuff as her powder puff.

If she's aesthetic, give her the lovely white Madonna With the Beautiful Hands. It is made of blanc de chine faience.

Try a Book

Don't rule out the idea of giving her a book just because she has a book. "The Citadel" by A. J. Cronin, the best-selling novel in England, would please her.

Maybe she'd like "Cleopatra" by Emil Ludwig. It's a fascinating reconstruction of the past.

If she's scientifically inclined she'd be interested in "Madame Curie," a biography of the great co-discoverer of radium by her daughter, Eve Curie.

Fined $1

For operating a car without properly displaying a registration card, Ed Jones was fined $1 by Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday.

Swaner's dairy and Jesse Moon each paid $1 fines for using the streets for storage.

Betrothed

Helen Denzler, A3 of Marengo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Denzler of Marengo, has announced her engagement to Harold Craig, A2 of Aurora, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Craig of Aurora. Candy was passed Friday night at a dinner party in Miss Denzler's honor at the Alpha Xi Delta chapter house. She is affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority and is a member of Y.W.C.A. and Gavel club.

Marine to President

Mt. Holyoke's first male president

To the lone society of two men who are presidents of eastern women's colleges, has now been added Dr. Roswell Gray Ham. An ex-captain in the U. S. Marines, he has been selected to head Mt. Holyoke College, the first male president in its 101 years. It began as a female seminary in 1836, today is pioneer among schools to offer higher education to women.

It took almost a regiment of Marines to overcome the opposition to Dr. Ham's appointment. He personally was under no harsh scrutiny. He had taught in Woman's College of Albertus Magnus and had faced co-eds at the Universities of California and Washington. It was just that under woman's hands, notably those of retiring 74-year-old President Mary Emma Wooley, Mt. Holyoke had grown to an eight-and-a-half million endowment. During her 37-year administration, enrollment has doubled, the faculty quadrupled.

Dr. Ham is 43, six-foot-three, a native of California. For 16 years he taught at Yale, a good part of that time as professor of English. He is much younger than Smith's William Allan Nelson and Vassar's Henry Noble McCracken, who have learned to delight their girls with clowning.

FEAR 91 KILLED

House Begins Struggle Over Wage-Hour Bill

Opposition Will Attempt Delay Of Legislation

Republicans, Democrats From South Try To Defeat Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—A house split into sectional and economic blocs finally began consideration of the wage-hour bill, and the opposition frankly concentrated upon an effort to defeat the legislation by sending it back to committee.

The extent of its success obviously will be determined by the nature of the changes made in the bill when the time for offering amendments is reached tomorrow. If the measure can be made objectionable to certain voting groups, the opposition's chances will be greatly enhanced.

Thus, with the opposition coming principally from republican and southern democrats, the problem of the administration leadership is to keep in line enough votes to outnumber that combination at all times. It counts on some southern support, but just now much remains to be determined.

The house turned to this long-pending domestic controversy, while the senate abandoned the farm bill long enough to debate vigorously the disturbing foreign situation arising from the bombing of an American gunboat by the Japanese.

Japan's Profound Apologies

Officers Fear Gunboat Sinking May Nullify Friendly Efforts Toward U.S.

TOKYO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota today personally called at the American embassy and presented the Japanese government's "profoundest apologies" to Ambassador Joseph C. Grew for the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay.

As soon as news was received of the warplane attack on the American warship, acting as rescue vessel in the Chinese-Japanese war, high government officials hurried to a conference with members of the imperial headquarters at Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye's residence.

The war and navy ministers also apologized to Ambassador Grew.

There was obvious dejection at the navy ministry as high ranking officers expressed fear their efforts to cultivate friendship with the United States had been nullified.

News of the bombing apparently stifled Tokyo's joy over the announced capture of Nanking, Lantern parades which had been scheduled were cancelled. Although great celebrations long had been prepared, the streets were abnormally quiet.

A brief version of the Panay sinking was broadcast shortly after nightfall and caused widespread dismay. Officials and private citizens anxiously asked their American acquaintances what the United States' attitude would be.

Earlier, publication of the story had been suppressed and the incident generally was unknown except for rumors on the stock exchange, where stocks reacted slightly.

A.F.I. Favors 'Idea' of Activity Ticket; Opposes Present Plan

Town Coeds Disapprove Project; Sigma Nu Votes Approval

While the student activity ticket is being considered by almost every group on the campus, A.F.I., senior men's honorary society, yesterday voted "in favor of the idea behind the movement" but went on record as opposed to the plan as it now stands.

Town Coeds, non-affiliated women's organization, last night turned down the proposal by a vote of 12 to 7, and Sigma Nu fraternity approved the measure.

"We believe that the idea of an activities ticket is a good one, that it would do much to help deserving activities and to promote school spirit," Jack Drees, president of A.F.I., said in a statement yesterday.

"But we believe that it should be limited to activities and a subscription to the Hawkeye and exclude payment of fees. As to supporting other worthwhile organizations, we do not think this is needed on this campus. The outstanding groups in the university are self-supporting, and in this we may refer specifically to the two honorary groups, A.F.I. and Mortar Board."

The Town Coed group opposed the plan on the grounds that the ticket is "too expensive and too inclusive."

The activity ticket will be considered by two other campus organizations today, the Women's Athletic association and Gavel club, undergraduate speech organization. W.A.A. will meet at 4:15 this afternoon in the social room of the women's gymnasium.

A parliamentary discussion on the question will be conducted at a Gavel club dinner tonight at 7:30 in the north conference room of Iowa Union. Baker Waterman, A4 of Des Moines, will preside.

'LOVE' WINS FIGHT

Driver Whips Bandit To Save Money

LOUISVILLE, Ky. Dec. 13 (AP)—J. J. Love, 40, a taxi driver, showed a bandit today how to "come up fighting."

The bandit entered Love's cab as a fare early this morning. After a drive of a dozen blocks the fare slugged Love three times on an attempted hold-up.

Love told police the first blow made him "sorta dizzy," the second "put him out," but the third worked him up fighting mad so that he routed the slugger and saved his money.

Cuts on Love's head required several stitches.

Report Unrest In Haiti Rising; Wound Guards

CUIDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Dec. 13 (AP)—Travelers from Haiti today reported a revolutionary movement of President Stenio Vincent.

An insurgent group was said to have attacked the presidential guard resulting in wounding of a major and captain.

Martial law was declared, these sources said. (The Dominican dispatches could not be confirmed in Haiti immediately. Repeated cable inquiries brought no reply from Port-au-Prince.)

Report 8,000 Killed (Some unrest has been reported in Haiti in recent weeks due to tension over Haiti-Dominican frontier clashes in which President Vincent estimated 8,000 Haitians were killed).

Town Organization Will Petition to Join Phraeteres Society

Town Coeds, non-affiliated university women's organization, last night voted to petition the Phraeteres society, national women's college organization for membership.

The group also elected Rena Koster, A4 of Rock Valley, president to succeed Miriam Palmer, A2 of Newton, who has resigned.

Jean Wilson, A4 of Iowa City, was appointed advisor to the group.

10 American And Foreign Dead, Missions Rescue Parties Search Banks of Yangtze For Victims

By The Associated Press SHANGHAI, Dec. 14 (day) (AP)—Ninety-one people were reported dead or missing today after a grim 36-hour search for survivors of the four American vessels destroyed Sunday by Japanese airplanes.

One American seaman on the sunken gunboat Panay was reported killed. Fifteen of the 69 known survivors were wounded, at least of them seriously.

Eight Americans and other foreigners aboard the Panay, C. H. Carlson of the cargo Meian and 81 Chinese crew of the Meian and two Standard Oil company boats unaccounted for. There was indication any large number of the missing Chinese were still alive.

Report Carlson Killed (A cable to the Socony-Vac corporation in New York from China offices expressed hope Capt. Carlson was killed.)

While Japan's highest official in Shanghai, Tokyo and Washington accepted full responsibility and offered deepest apologies for the bombing, rescuers from the British gunboats combed the banks of the Yangtze river.

Although American authorities hoped for the best, the reports from the Bee, first vessel to reach the scene, apprehension concerning number possibly killed drowned.

Japanese Watch Bombing The Bee radioed to the U.S. flag ship Augusta at the count of the bombing which Japanese troops lined the side, 27 miles above Nanking watch Sunday's tragedy.

The Bee reported she had rescued 10 Americans, seven of Panay seamen, three European officers of the Standard Oil and heard of two other passengers safe ashore.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Chairman John D. M. Hamilton struck sharply at his tonight as the republican legislative committee tackled a "three day job" of selecting committee of 100 to increase the party's 171 votes.

In a formal statement Hamilton dedicated himself to "the making of the new deal by a deal."
