BOWA, IOWA, DEC. 14, 1937 — Japanese communists today released a dispatch to American newsmen in Tokyo which said Nanking, the capital of Japan's only province, was captured.

WADDINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP) — It was announced in Tokyo today that Nanking, the capital of China and seat of the Nanking provincial government, had been captured.

The dispatch stated that Nanking had been captured by the Japanese forces after a fierce battle with the Chinese forces. The dispatch added that the Japanese forces had occupied the city and that the Chinese forces had surrendered.

The dispatch also stated that the Japanese forces had captured many Chinese soldiers and that the Chinese government had fled the city.

The dispatch further stated that the Japanese forces had occupied the city without resistance and that the Chinese government had surrendered.

The dispatch concluded by stating that the Japanese forces had occupied the city without any loss of life.

In other news, the dispatch stated that the Japanese forces had captured several Chinese cities and that the Chinese government had fled the country.

The dispatch also stated that the Japanese forces had captured several Chinese cities and that the Chinese government had fled the country.

As the dispatch was released, the Japanese forces were seen advancing on the city, and the Chinese government was seen fleeing in all directions.

The dispatch was released by the Japanese government and was received with joy and excitement by the Japanese people.

INGURATING THE COASTING SEASON

Tongue Condition May Show State of All Digestive Organs

By LOGAN CLEMMING, M.D.

In the all-important diagnosis of disease, the tongue is one of the earliest and most reliable indicators of the general condition of the body. The tongue has been looked upon as an organ which is not only sensitive to the various conditions of disease, but also capable of showing them in its structure and function. The tongue condition may therefore be used as a means of diagnosing the state of all digestive organs.

As for the three visas issued, the men were heard to say:

"We do not believe anyone could have been more interested than were the men present. They were present for an hour or more and were very attentive. The men were interested in the stories and seemed to appreciate the effort made by the speaker to make them understand the difficulties involved."

If this statement is true, the men were not only interested but also appreciative of the speaker's effort. They were present for an hour or more and were very attentive. The men were interested in the stories and seemed to appreciate the effort made by the speaker to make them understand the difficulties involved.

The Tongue is a very primitive organ, and its condition is often an indication of the general health of the body. It is a powerful and sensitive organ, and its structure is often a reflection of the general condition of the body. It is a powerful and sensitive organ, and its structure is often a reflection of the general condition of the body.

Tuning In

With Margie Fontenot

Tune in every evening, 8 p.m., to the Call Boy show, sponsored by the Daily Iowan. Each week, the programming will be determined, and the articles about the show will be written by a different student. The show is called "The Call Boy." The Call Boy is a character in the Daily Iowan, and he is known for his unorthodox views on current events. The show is broadcast from the Daily Iowan studios, and it is a great place to listen to the latest news and opinions.

Tongue Condition May Show State of All Digestive Organs

H. L. D. L. (London) - There is a theory that the tongue condition may be a good indicator of the state of all digestive organs. The theory is based on the premise that the tongue is a reflection of the health of the digestive system. The tongue is divided into three main areas: the back, the tip, and the sides. The back of the tongue is the most sensitive area, and it is said to be the most closely related to the stomach. The tip of the tongue is said to be related to the small intestine, and the sides of the tongue are said to be related to the large intestine.
