Upset Plans On Secret 10 Point Recovery Idea

Group of Senators From Both Parties Ready For Broadcast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Premature publicity upset today the secret arrangements of a small group of republican and democratic senators to outline a 10-point recovery program in an "address to the people of the United States."

Some of those who participated in the movement were highly resentful toward senators they suspected of making public the document, which they had intended to issue only after persuading a large group in both parties to subscribe to it.

Senator Bailey (D-NC) was the first to acknowledge a part in preparation of the "address," which urged tax revision and other measures to encourage investment of private capital.

Senator Austin (R-Vt) also said he had participated, but Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), who was reported to be one of the authors, still regarded the matter as being so confidential he would not discuss it.

Vandenberg issued a statement, however, subscribing to the program.

"I have nothing to say about the origin or the personnel of the confidential meetings of men who are interested in their country without regard to party," he said.

"But I am more than glad to once more endorse the view that like minded Americans should work together in this emergency and to subscribe without reservation to the general doctrine tentatively outlined in the published draft of what was intended to have been an address to the American people."

Vandenberg's reported participation had lent significance to the document because of his frequent proposals in the past for a coalition political movement.

'In the Hope that St. Nick'

Marie and Christina de Kiewiet are taking no chances on missing St. Nick by not having their tree up. The two daughters of Prof. and Mrs. Cornelis de Kiewiet, 435 Magowan avenue, spent all of yesterday afternoon hanging the colored balls and gay streamers.

Justice Parsons Dies in Capital; Rites Tomorrow

DES MOINES, Dec. 16 (AP)—Last rites for Iowa Supreme Court Justice James M. Parsons, the self taught lawyer who made himself a legal authority, will be held here at 1:30 p.m., Saturday.

Parsons, in ill health for the last two years, died in a hospital here today of an infected kidney and complications. He was 79 years of age.

The funeral will be Masonic, in charge of Capitol lodge 110 of Des Moines. Supreme Court Justice Richard F. Mitchell will read the eulogy. Burial will be in the Masonic cemetery here.

Members of the state supreme court and Attorney Earl C. Mills, Parsons' former law partner here, will be honorary pall bearers.

The active pall bearers, all Des Moines attorneys, will be Paul Hewitt, Gib Holliday, Morton Adler, Volney Dilitz, Carl Stephens and Earl Wisdom.

A. F. of L. Demands Alteration Of Wage-Hour Bill By House

Bill's Backers Double Efforts After Proposal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—A new demand by the American Federation of Labor that the administration's wage-hour bill be shunted back to a house committee for overhauling forced the measure's backers to redouble their efforts today.

William Green, president of the A. F. of L. wired his views to every house member. The A. F. of L. objects particularly to a provision giving an administrative agency wide discretion to fix minimum wages and maximum hours.

Legislators reported officials of the federation also were busy presenting their objections by telephone, and some expressed opinion they were making headway.

However, the A. F. of L. failed last night in an effort to get the house to substitute a federal bill for the administration measure.

While these developments were attracting attention, the house rejected a second proposed substitute, saw a third ruled out on a point of order and then took up the bill for amendment.

A vote appeared imminent on a major question: whether the labor standards should be administered by a five man independent board as proposed by the senate or by a one man administrator in the labor department, as urged by the house labor committee.

'We Must Not Surrender'

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek States As Japs Prepare Triumphal Entry Into Nanking

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17 (Friday)—Japan's army and navy commanders today prepared for a triumphal entry into China's fallen capital, Nanking, while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, somewhere in the interior, broadcast this message to the Chinese nation: "We must not surrender."

A little cortege of American, British and Japanese gunboats, bearing the dead, and the wounded and other survivors from Sunday's sinking of the United States gunboat Panay and destruction of three Standard Oil vessels was on the last lap of its voyage to Shanghai.

The American Oahu, British Bee and Japanese Hodzu anchored last night off the Kiangyin boom, 90 miles east of Nanking, expected to steam at daylight for Shanghai, where they were due late today.

Night travel on the mine-infested Yangtze, from which all navigating aids had been removed during the fighting, was considered too dangerous. Japanese mine sweepers preceded the flotilla.

Countess 'Babs' Gives Up U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Countess Barbara Hugwitz-Reventlow, who as plain "Babs" Hutton inherited some 20 million dollars of the great fortune founded by F. W. Woolworth, the 5-and-10-cent stores man, has renounced her American citizenship to become a subject of Denmark.

Announcement of her action was made late today by the law firm of White and Case.

The countess, who is 27, was married in May, 1935, in Reno to Danish Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow. They have one child, a son, Lance, born in February, 1936.

Through her marriage, a statement of the law firm said, the countess became a Danish citizen under Danish law, although under American law she retained her American citizenship.

"Her dual nationality," the statement said, "has resulted in various legal complications affecting her status as well as that of her child, and she has finally felt obliged, as in the case of a number of other American women similarly situated, to forego her United States citizenship in order to alleviate this anomalous and unsatisfactory situation. She sincerely regrets that these circumstances beyond her control compel the taking of this step."

Stock Values Rise As Slow Recovery Favors Industrials

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Buyers extended their year end shopping in the stock market today and bid many shares up for gains ranging to 3 points or so, favoring steels, coppers and other industrial issues.

Despite a letdown in the final hour, which shaved advances, a slow recovery dominated trading and expanded moderate gains in the preceding session. Dealings continued quiet, totaling 1,033,830 against 929,610 shares yesterday.

Lewis Indicates Slight Peace Hopes Between C.I.O., A.F. of L.

Labor Head Criticizes Congress' Action In Speech

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16 (AP)—John L. Lewis, in a speech to a tumultuous convention of steel workers, asserted today congress was ignoring problems which menaced America and indicated there was slight hope for peace between the warring CIO and A. F. of L.

"Mills and plants throughout the nation are closing down and turning men out," the militant CIO chief told more than 900 delegates representing 1,080 SWOC lodges in the United States and Canada.

"There are no adequate arrangements made for relief and no prospects of other employment," he said.

"Something must be done, but no suggestion has been put forward except from the house of labor, and those suggestions so far have not been heeded or recognized or adopted.

"Congress mills around and engages in its petty political bickerings and ignores the problems that America is menaced with now to a greater degree than ever before. The only way you are ever going to be heard is to organize. . ."

'Poor' Kitty Pet Dies Without Will, Leaves $49,441

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 16 (AP)—Kit-cat, house pet who inherited $10,000, died a month ago from high life and lazy living and today it was revealed relatives of Mrs. Linnie Claycomb Beneke, its late mistress, were waging a court fight over the estate.

Three persons claiming to be first cousins of Mrs. Beneke filed suit seeking to set aside the will dividing $49,441.63, of which $32,000 was in money, on the grounds Mrs. Beneke was insane.

They were John Stephen Claycomb and Mrs. Blanche Claycomb of New Orleans and Mrs. Gertrude Claycomb Lebaron of El Paso, Tex.

Eleven persons named to receive the residue of the estate replied Mrs. Beneke was in her right mind.

In addition to the bequest to provide a warm bed, choice food and medical care for the cat, the will left $15,524 in homestead stock to J. J. Miranne of New Orleans and made him guardian of the cat, the contest suit stated.

Jap Navy Announces Plans To Honor U. S. Citizens Who Died in Attack on Gunboat

Quadrangle Approves Activity Plan

Union Board Votes 'Yes' on Idea; 'No' on Present Activity Book Plan

Residents of the Quadrangle, university men's dormitory, by a vote of 60 per cent last night upheld the idea of the activity ticket but favored a reduction in cost. The majority of the 700 men believed that the fee should be decreased to approximately $10 a semester per student, a reduction of $5.

Union Board in a meeting last night passed a four-fold resolution calling the idea "commendable" and the proposed plan "too inclusive, vague and possibly unjust to many."

In the dormitory balloting each student indicated whether or not he favored the activity plan and what he thought the cost should be per semester.

Harlan E. Wilson, M4 of Woodburn, president of the Quadrangle, in a statement last night said, "I am very pleased with the action on the matter, and I know we will be wholeheartedly behind the plan of the student activities fee."

Union Board passed the following resolution:

1. That the student activity book idea in itself is commendable.

2. That the proposed plan is too inclusive, vague and possibly unjust to many.
3. That any plan should be more restricted, more definite and so designed as to enable each student in the ordinary course of his university interests to receive value for the additional tuition charge.
4. That inasmuch as the idea has been presented to the student body for approval, a plan as a definite working proposal should also be submitted to the student body for approval before it may become operative.

Formal Salute Will Be Fired Above Nanking

Rear-Admiral Recalled To Japan; Blamed For Bombing

TOKYO, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Japanese navy today announced it would take action without precedent in its recent annals to ease tension arising from the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay by Japanese warplanes.

The navy ministry announced a formal salute, called one of the highest honors one nation could render another, would be given the four persons killed in the attack Sunday on the Panay and three Standard Oil boats.

A company of bluejackets was ordered to fire the salute of honor to the victims at the spot on the Yangtze river above Nanking where they were killed and the Panay sank with flags flying.

The navy announced Rear-Admiral Teizo Mitsunani, chief of naval air forces in China, had been recalled to Japan as the officer responsible for the attack.

Admiral Mitsunasa Yonai, navy minister, was received in audience by Emperor Hirohito. Naval officials declined to say whether it was in connection with the Panay incident, which President Roosevelt requested be called to the emperor's personal attention.

A high government official said Japan would meet the demands made by the United States for indemnities, apologies and guarantees, and there would be no recurrence of the attacks.

The official said, however, "the negotiations at present are entirely between the governments and, therefore, his majesty has no part in the picture."

Two Convicts Escape

'RECESSION' Hoover Says New Word Easier to Bear

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Former President Hoover likes "this new word 'recession'."

He so stated in an address before the Economic club tonight and elaborated:

"It is no doubt easier to bear than those old English words 'slump' or 'depression.' It no doubt softens the pain from falling off the roof if you call it a 'recession.'"

"I can be wholly objective on this depression because certainly I did not create it."

Missing From Alcatraz Island

WARDEN, GUARDS BEGIN HUNT FOR RUNAWAY PRISONERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Two desperate criminals were missing tonight at the Alcatraz island federal prison.

Whether the convicts were hiding on the rocky island, covered by a dense fog, or had risked their lives in attempting to swim through rough waters to the mainland was not known.

Warden James A. Johnson and guards began a hurried search of the 12-acre island when it was discovered that Ralph Roe, 29, of Duncan, Okla., and Theodore Cole, 23, of Stroud, Okla., were missing.

Six coast guard boats put out to search the bay waters and police were asked to watch the mainland should the convicts accomplish the seemingly impossible task of reaching shore over a mile away.

An unusually strong ebb tide swept the rocky slopes of the island and the men would have drowned unless they obtained a boat or logs in some manner.

The tide rushed past Alcatraz at seven miles an hour. Ferry line pilots said they had not observed any strange boats near the prison, nor had they sighted anyone swimming in the choppy waves.

The acting agent in charge of the federal bureau of investigation here said he was informed that Roe and Cole had escaped over a stockade while heavy fog hid them from the constant watch of guards on high towers.

PROTESTS NBC Indicates Apology Forthcoming

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Mae West's broadcast with Don Ameche in the Charlie McCarthy broadcast last Sunday night is to bring a statement from the National broadcasting company, it was indicated late today.

The reason therefore centers in the protests pouring in by mail and otherwise. These haven't been counted, but they are described as a "lot."

Jury Finds 14 Sailors Guilty In Mutiny Trial

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP)—A sitdown strike aboard ship in a foreign port is mutiny, a federal jury decided today, convicting 14 seamen of the government-owned freighter Algic on both counts of an indictment charging conspiracy and attempt to revolt.

Each count carries a possible maximum sentence of five years imprisonment, $1,000 fine, or both.

The jury, instructed by District Judge W. Calvin Chestnut that seamen have no right "to strike against the laws of the United States at any place, at any time, or under any conditions," required only an hour and 54 minutes to reach a verdict.

None of the sailors, sitting with bowed heads, looked up as the jury foreman, Henry A. Lowry, president of the Seaboard Steel and Iron corp., Baltimore, read the verdict.

Defense attorneys said a petition for a new trial would be filed Saturday or Monday.

Reynolds May Ask Senatorial Depression Probe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Senator Reynolds said today he is considering asking a senate investigation to find out whether wealthy industrialists have willfully precipitated the economic recession because of "hatred" for President Roosevelt.

The North Carolina democrat, a member of the senate banking committee, said there had been numerous instances of wholesale cancellation of orders for goods and that stop-orders came from wealthy manufacturers in widely scattered sections.

"I would certainly like to know why all these people found it necessary to defer commitments all at the same time," he asserted, adding:

"There is something funny about the situation, because otherwise there couldn't logically be this concentrated action on the part of industry to impede the progress of recovery."

Hamilton Names Program Heads

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 16 (AP)—Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the republican national committee announced tonight a partial list of members of a "committee on program" which will draft a new declaration of principles for the once-dominant party.

The list included only those appointees whose acceptances had been received thus far and did not contain the name of the chairman of the committee.

Authoritative sources said the chairman would be either James Truslow Adams, historian and writer; Glenn Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin, or United States Sen. Frederick Steiwer of Oregon.

Hutton to Have 'Full Authority'

DES MOINES, Dec. 16 (AP)—Governor Nelson G. Kraschel tonight announced a change in the policy of the state conservation commission, by which Director M. L. Hutton will have "full authority" over the personnel of the department, including the power to employ and discharge at his discretion.

The governor also announced the appointment of Verne H. Petersen of Clear Lake as state boat inspector and Thomas L. Manley of Bondurant as field assistant in the lands and waters division. Each position pays $1,800 a year.

The conservation commission was in session all day at conservation department offices with the governor.

Kraschel said that the commission would continue to approve the directing acts as directed by law, but he explained the new arrangement gives the director more authority to effect "changes in duties" of the employees "to meet new conditions."

The governor said no changes in personnel are contemplated.

"But there may be some adjustment of duties, and the uncertainty of the director's power is eliminated," he added.

Kraschel declared politics is not involved in the change.

Fail to Silence Baker on Radio

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 16 (AP)—The government lost another round today in its fight to silence Mexican radio stations broadcasting medical advertisements to the United States.

The circuit court of appeals here voided the conviction in the northern Texas federal district court of Norman Baker and E. R. Rood, officials of station XENT of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

The government charged they violated the communication act of 1936 by recording programs at their office in Laredo, Tex., and then broadcasting the programs from Mexico, just across the Rio Grande.

The court here said the law might have been drawn to prohibit such action but "the intention is not expressed with the clearness that is required in a penal law."

Baker had been given a four months prison term and a fine of $2,000. Rood drew the same term and a fine of $500.

Soviet Admits Arresting Pair On Spy Charge

MOSCOW, Dec. 16 (AP)—Izvestia, organ of the Soviet government, indicated today a missing man and woman with American passports had been arrested on suspicion of espionage.

While the newspaper refrained from stating definitely the mysterious "Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson" of New York were under arrest it said "measures have been taken" to arrest them.

This was interpreted in American circles to mean they had been under arrest since their disappearance and were being questioned. Robinson was reported missing by his wife Dec. 2, and a week later, she dropped from sight.

The Izvestia announcement only served to deepen the mystery, since Mrs. Robinson was quoted as saying they had been in the Soviet Union three times.

Soviet authorities were reported to have questioned the validity of the Robinson passports when American officials first made representations concerning their disappearance. This led American circles to suspect from the beginning Russian officials had known more than American officials about the couple and the means by which they had obtained their passports. The real identity and nationality of the pair remained undisclosed.

Concerning An Iowa Road Map

MANY STUDENTS will be driving home today, and most of them will feel that psychological release after their last classes and speed to make the journey shorter. Going by the records of the last three years, at least one student—possibly two or more—will be killed in an auto accident.

How these students will be killed—and we hope none are—we cannot say. Probably, however, the records will show the accidents could have been avoided. We realize, of course, that our feeble warning and the warnings of the state highway commission will have little effect on students' driving.

We would like to remind students, just the same, of the pathetic little map we saw in the Iowa highway patrol office at West Liberty last week—a tiny square representing Iowa's roads and dotted with some 530 white-capped pins. Each pin represents the death of one or more motorists.

The number of death pins so far this year already far exceeds that of 1936—and 1937 is not yet over. Tomorrow there will, no doubt, be another pin. Whose death will it mean? Yours?

Items In The News

HIDDEN AMONG the stories of international intrigue, of capital politics, and death and war came two, apparently unrelated news stories last night. The first announced that Barbara "Babs" Hutton, the poor little rich girl who inherited some 20 millions of dollars when she became of age, has renounced her American citizenship in favor of that of her husband, Danish count. To Denmark with "Babs" will go her 20 millions.

The second item declared that New York employees of the F. W. Woolworth five-and-ten stores are threatening strike because of "starvation wages and unfair hours." Incidentally, it was from Woolworth that "Babs" inherited her Danish-bound fortune.

Some Legal Angles To Drunken Driving

TIME AND time again we have read of cases where an individual has been charged with drunken driving only to learn later of his acquittal. This obvious repetition is due, we believe, more to statutory or legal shortcomings than to the big-heartedness of easily swayed juries.

In Iowa a person is said to be drunk when "he is so far under the influence of liquor that his passions are visibly excited or his judgment is impaired." In actual practice this is far from an adequate definition to apply. Hence we argue in court as to whether the first drink produces drunkenness or whether the car must weave menacingly along the road. Until that technical point can be determined by some test or tests, both legal and practical, the definition as it stands on the statutes of Iowa law is ineffective.

Assuming that it is possible to determine what constitutes drunken driving, a system whereby the proof of the driver's condition may be legally presented to the court must be worked out. Scientists have perfected a process by means of which the state of drunkenness may be determined by either a blood test for alcoholic content or a respiratory test. But these tests must obviously be carried on while the driver is suspected and the law, maintaining that he is thus forced to incriminate himself, declares such evidence cannot be allowed in court.

Even if there does exist an adequate definition to apply and scientific tests to point to as evidence, there still remains the problem of presenting the evidence so that it will stand up in court. The jury must not have to go on vague allusions, shaky testimonies or the creative imagination of clever attorneys. Hard, cold scientific facts must be there, leaving no doubt in the minds of the jury as to the guilt or innocence of the accused individual.

Unless legal obscurities are cleared up and a proper definition of what constitutes a drunken driver, is applied in court, it will continue to be difficult to obtain convictions on this charge. Needless to say, here is a goal that must be reached if we are to curb the alarming increase of auto accidents and deaths.

Thank heaven for that news item which predicts the current style of women's hats will soon pass. We've exhausted the supply of jokes we've been able to think up about them.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

PROBLEM FOR CONGRESS

For at least one member of congress the explanation of the present recession of business is really very simple. "This is a revolution of big money." Powerful financial and industrial interests are deliberately creating a psychology of fear in order to stampede congress into scuttling the administration's policies. "The whole cry is evade the purpose of this special session, forget our fundamental problems of unemployment and recovery, blindly and hurriedly repeal the taxes on the wealthy and big corporations, and let the people of the country slide back into the abyss." According to this theory the steel industry, which was operating at 84 per cent of its capacity in mid-September and which is now operating at 41 per cent of its capacity, has deliberately entered into a conspiracy to destroy its own present prospects of making money, apparently for the sake of achieving in the future a situation in which the people generally are so deeply sunk in the abyss of poverty that they can buy no automobiles or other products in which steel is used, and the steel industry will get no orders.

American business men have fully as much reason as the government to desire a genuinely prosperous country, with a constantly advancing standard of living, and so much purchasing power available in all walks of life that no part of the nation will need to be ill-clad, ill-nourished and ill-housed. There are, and in a democratic country probably always will be, wide differences of opinion as to the best methods of achieving this objective. But the objective itself is a common one for both government and business. And particularly at this time, when it is highly desirable to check a recession of industry before it has reached the proportions of a real depression. Government and business are logically partners rather than adversaries.

The government needs a recovery of business (1) because recovery automatically brings with it greater comfort and security for the country as a whole; (2) because the treasury's revenues vary directly with the state of business, and its present estimates of revenues are based on a higher level of business activity than that which now prevails; (3) because the Roosevelt administration is properly interested in achieving social reforms, and because experience has shown that it is far easier to introduce such reforms during a period when the national income is increasing than during a period when the country is mired in depression.

Meantime business, on its side, and for its own protection, needs intelligent and far-sighted regulation by the government, shaped in the interest of the general public. It needs specifically regulation of such activities as the issuance of securities, trading on the stock exchange, the interstate sale of electric power, and trade practices in all industries which tend to create monopolies. No really far-sighted business man believes that it is either possible or desirable to abandon such controls in the complex modern world in which we live. But what can properly be asked is that controls which were established in great haste be so modified as to encourage the investment of private capital in industry, with a reasonable expectation of satisfactory profits. What can be asked, in short, is that controls which are essential be made workable.

This is the essence of the present problem. Considering the extent to which both business and the government need a resumption of the recovery movement, there is no inherent reason why the problem should be insoluble.

ANOTHER "LIVING CHRISTMAS TREE"

How Angina Pectoris Is Diagnosed, Treated

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The form of heart disease which kills suddenly due to affection of the small blood vessels of the heart muscle itself, variously called "angina pectoris" or "coronary thrombosis," is probably increasing more rapidly than any other form of heart disease. People are easily frightened by pains in the heart, however. Of about 60 patients who complained of heart pain, over half of them were not found to have any real angina, and even with real angina, the psychologic attitude has a great deal to do with the attacks.

In the same series of cases 21 of the people were subject to mental attacks and disturbances and psychologic upsets, such as anxiety states and anxiety hysteria. I have heard that angina pectoris is practically unknown among the Chinese, although they have every other form of heart pathology. Physicians who have practiced there state that they have never seen a case of angina in a Chinese person. This interesting observation shows that the emotional character of the Chinese mind probably keeps them from worrying about angina, if it occurs, and therefore they do not complain about it.

Our methods of diagnosing and treating angina are improving regularly. A patient may have very severe heart pains and yet have no change in the size of the heart or in the blood pressure or in the sounds of the heart as examined by the stethoscope, but if the disease is really present it will show up in a heart tracing—electrocardiogram.

Another method of diagnosis which has been developed is the observation of the reaction of the patient to exercise. True angina can usually be brought on by exercise. False angina, due to tobacco usually, on the contrary goes away with exercise.

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist WASHINGTON, D. C. — Not one of the special investigating committees, set up by the 74th congress, has stuck closer to its text than the one of which Sen. Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin is chairman—the civil liberties committee.

Furthermore, there is none which has worked, and is working, harder at its job, covering more ground or adding more evidence, under the broad powers enjoyed by a congressional inquiry.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Quotations: "Many of the theater's most erudite and glamorous pageants produced by reputable managers have been backed by men who should be in Sing Sing!"

"It is a matter of public record that highly lauded Manhattan politicians were in the habit of breaking bread with unlawful characters who were later to embarrass them considerably."

"Repeal has improved the art of dining, the art of winning and practically every other phase of fine living with the exception of waiters. The hold-over influence of large tips from prohibition still finds them laggard and arrogant."

"Not all 'gun molls' are girls reared in a criminal atmosphere or whose environment has brought them into contact with criminals. Young women of education and good family have been drawn into the life of the gangs under the spell of excitement and awe. Girls who love, or imagine they love, can forget every warning and every argument of reason and good judgment. The police know the misery and tragedy of their lives."

"What I want of the theater—that glorious but transient art—is to be in the audience when the play reaches its full stride, when the acting and scenery and the play itself and the lighting and the direction all concur in one supreme moment of living climax. I want to be there, living it and loving it, as the curtain falls."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Some time ago 10-year-old Bennie Bartlett, or his musical daddy or both, got an idea.

There had been a profusion of child orchestras — they reasoned — but there'd never been a child orchestra that played in true. If there had, the Bartletts pere et fils had never heard of it, which amounted to the same thing.

They held auditions, suffered through hundreds of tortured solos on fiddle and horn while earcocked mamas beamed. At length they found 14 youngsters who could really play.

"And I mean play," says Papa Bartlett, who can really play too. "Not just a violin or toot a horn with gasping noises."

Followed more months of rehearsals, under the exacting tonal of Maestro Bennie, whose idol is Benny Goodman and whose creed is Swing. Papa Bartlett (whose name is Arthur) did all the arrangements, plus a bit of quiet beaming too.

Professional perfection realized at last, Bartlett and gang were ready for engagements—such engagements as would not interfere, of course, with schooling. Meaning the movies.

So what happens? Studio people hear a few numbers, see the gang at work, applaud and applaud, and say: "They're too good—if we put 'em on the screen nobody'd believe we weren't dubbing in the sound."

There are times in Hollywood such as this, when perfection is folly. But the Bartletts, undaunted, are still perfectionists. The condition, they assure me, is not temporary.

Bennie, meanwhile, is continuing his individual film career. It was partly his inability to obtain musical roles in films that inspired the orchestra's creation.

When Agent Flo Browne, who didn't like child clients, was persuaded to take Bennie she got him first on the air, singing, and then into pictures. But that ended his musical career — on the screen.

Published Two Songs This abrupt termination of in-born musical turbinast was, of course, unthinkable where the Bartletts were concerned. Why, at four years of age Bennie had "composed" his first song, and the same year he had conducted a band. He was master of the trumpet, drums and piano, and he could sing and write songs. They just had to do something about it.

The two published songs of Bennie Bartlett, 10, which are in the repertoire of the orchestra, ages 5 to 14, are "Old - Fashioned Mill" and "Hannah." Creation, with Master Bennie, is no hair-tearing struggle.

"Aw," he says "I can be playing football outside when all of a sudden an idea hits. But I've gotta run right in and write it down, or I forget. Or I can be humming and singing, just riding along in the car, and all of a sudden it just hits me. But fifteen minutes later, if I don't put it down, it's gone..."

Iowa Basketball Team Leaves Today on First Road Trip of Campaign

Hawks Play 4 Games in Five Days on Jaunt

Iowans Open Against Butler Tomorrow; 13 Make Trip

Coach Rollie Williams and a squad of 13 men will leave this afternoon at 2:40 for Indianapolis, Ind., where they open their first road trip of the year against Butler University tomorrow night.

"They have a very smooth fast team," he said, "capable of giving any team in the middle-west a good battle."

The Butler attack is built around a fast-breaking forward wall with the plays originating from the center position.

Not in the line of sports, but anyway—Two inmates of an insane asylum were left to their own devices one Sunday evening.

When the Hawkeyes tangled with Toledo university on their road trip they will meet a certain Mr. Chuck Chuckovits, who plays forward for the Mudhens.

Two varsity combination alternated in working, first against a defensive group and then an offensive team.

The return of Stephens, who has been out for several days with a charley horse, added considerable speed to the front line attack.

The 13-man squad is as follows: Capt. Sam Johnson, Joe Van Ysseldyk, Benny Stephens, Erwin Prasse, Tom Lind and Elmer Bratton, forwards; Jack Drees and Dick Evans, centers; Nile Kinnick, Lawrence Benetone, Fred Hohenhorst, Kenneth Suesens and Howard Ely, guards.

The Hawkeyes will leave Indianapolis Sunday for Cincinnati, Ohio, where they meet Xavier Monday.

Having only one day to recover from their fracas with Wilton Junction, the fighting St. Patrick's quintet will meet another strong foe in St. Wendeslaus of Cedar Rapids Tuesday.

Because of the bad basket eyes shown by his men in the Wilton tilt, Coach Ryan sent his tired cagers through a short offensive drill last night which consisted of easy setup shots and free throws.

The starting lineup will be, Demery and Carlton at guards, Scannell in the pivot position, with Bradley and Love holding down the front-court duties.

The publication likewise accused Kipke of falling to "organize his coaching associates" and of lacking their confidence and respect.

As national and Wimbledon champion, Davis cup hero and generally the world's top-ranking star, Budge was bound to keep his place at the head of the list.

Think those Purdue players don't handle a basketball as if they were born with one in their hands? For the first 13 minutes of their game with Indiana Teachers there wasn't a held ball.

The Purdue quintet trounced Xavier Monday, 56-32. The Hawkeyes meet Xavier in the second game of their four-game road trip beginning Saturday.

By HOWARD GROTHE Daily Iowan Sports Writer WEST BRANCH, Dec. 16 (Special to the Daily Iowan)

Displaying a near perfect defensive game, the University high basketball team fully established itself as one of the most powerful teams in the Little Eight conference tonight when it disposed of West Branch, its second loop rival this week, by a score of 35 to 20.

The Blue and White team started out the first half and played air-tight defensive ball, as they kept West Branch from scoring until four minutes before the first half closed.

The winning team's defense slipped considerably in the second half, when Ed Burns, high-scoring center, was forced to leave the game on fouls.

Ed Wiggins and Johnny Graves lead other Meet Scorers

The University of Iowa fall indoor track season came to an end yesterday as Ed Wiggins capped the varsity sprint event while John Graves took the distance classic in the all-university sprint sextathlon and the running quadrathlon held in the fieldhouse.

Ed Wiggins led the varsity sprinters with a total of 36.1. Fred Teufel was next with total time of 36.5, while Ed Duane placed third with 38.1.

In the distance run, John Graves registered 3:15.2 for the four events to lead his two competitors.

In the sextathlon, the various events were the 30-yard, 40-yard, 50-yard, 60-yard and 80-yard dashes, the total times of these figuring in the final sprint sum for each runner.

In the quadrathlon runs the times of the 220-yard, 330-yard, 440-yard, and 660-yard distances figured toward the run total.

A traveling trophy will be awarded to the winners of the sextathlon and the quadrathlon championships.

Wilson House Routs Manse To Win Co-op Title

The powerful Wilson House team, undefeated champions of Co-op dorm touch football, swept over Manse, 43 to 17, last night to end an undefeated cage season.

The gold-medal winners, who will enter the all-university basketball tournament after the Christmas vacation, have averaged more than 40 points a game in all their athletic clashes with league opponents this year.

The league title was practically cinched last week when Wilson defeated the high-ranking Whetstone quintet, 18-12 in a slow, defensive game.

Strangely enough, the final Co-op basketball standings are nearly identical with the touch football seasons, with Wilson undefeated, while the luckless Jefferson outfit has not won a game all year.

In spite of their lop-sided athletic success this year, the good sportmanship of the Wilson team stands as a challenge to the entire intramural system.

The most embarrassing moment the boys have had, they say, is when only three of the boys happen to be around when the phone rings. All present go for the phone but they

The boys really have created a problem for themselves because with phones being so rare, they have created a haven for caller-uppers who make the room a main thoroughfare.

Prof. Wright Cora Whitley Write Articles

Prof. Luella M. Wright of the English department and Cora Call Whitley of Hampton are the authors of the two articles appearing in the final issue of the Palimpsest for 1937, which will be released today.

Professor Wright's article, "Cheers for the D. & S. C.," pictures the entrance in 1861 of the first railroad into Cedar Falls after seven years of waiting. "Everybody seemed to realize that the initial arrival of the iron horse symbolized the end of an epoch of pioneering and the beginning of a new era for the Cedar Valley — the end of isolation and the beginning of closer contacts with the east," Professor Wright writes in her articles.

In contrast to the manner of approach of the latest models in trains, Professor Wright describes that first arrival. "The snorting iron horse came bounding into town as if conscious of its triumph over difficulties and disappointments. With brakes screeching and steam hissing and the bell ringing, the engineers brought the locomotive to a noisy stop."

Mrs. Whitley, the author of the second article, "A Pioneer Christmas Tree," tells of the unifying effect of a community Christmas tree, such as the one Franklin county had in 1868. "This was not an outdoor celebration, for that would have seemed preposterous with snow lying deep all over the country, yet it was truly a community tree."

It's simple arithmetic that the more cars General Motors sells the greater this organization grows. And the solid fact back of that growth is this: General Motors cars must continually offer more in terms of extra value to win those sales. It is only because General Motors is great that it can maintain the research and improvement program responsible for such modern betterments as the Turret Top, the Unisteel Body, No Draft Ventilation, Knee-Action and advanced Hydraulic Brakes.

Going Down? Everyone Will Slip Up Now and Then

Icy walks certainly bring out the contortionist and acrobatic in all of us! Have you watched the gyrations performed by some of our more sedate citizens when they feel themselves sitting?

The apprehensive walk is one of the most familiar sights. This stride is achieved by crouching down as though you were almost sitting down already. Probably it comes from an urge to get as close to the pavement as possible to decrease the falling distance.

The toddler is often seen, too. He puts his trust in taking short steps and manages a faintly Chinese appearance.

Another common tendency is to scuff the feet along as though you were skating. This walk does little to maintain balance and is obviously hard on your overshoes.

Walking gracefully over glazed ice is at best a perilous proposition, but there are right and wrong methods of attacking the problem.

First of all, don't wear high heels! You want to get as close to the difficulty as possible. Be sure that your galoshes have good treads on the soles to aid traction.

Keep your toes curled with the sensation of gripping the ground; this too will increase your sticktiveness.

Beware of putting your arms out when you lose your balance. There is a chance that with clever manipulation you may keep from falling, but the odds are that you will try to save yourself from a hard knock by staving off the ground with your arms and in so doing break a bone.

The best way to fall is to relax and just let yourself slither to the ground. You may be rewarded by a few bruises, but no serious damage will be done.

The University of Iowa was host to the new organization at the playing of special concert and contest material by the university concert band yesterday afternoon. The band directors were honored at a dinner last night in Iowa Union.

The second meeting of the group will be Jan. 17 at Fairfield.

A great volcanic explosion on the island of Sumbawa, near Java, caused 1816 to be known as "The Year Without a Summer" in the United States.

Commercial airplanes now make the 6,000-mile flight from Miami, Fla., to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in 72 hours.

The combined tension of springs on a concert grand piano is approximately 30 tons.

Other books included in the recent addition are "Pittsburgh—The Story of a City," Leland D. Baldwin; "The Common Stock Theory of Investment," Chelcie C. Bosland; "Famous Libraries of the World," Margaret Burton; "Death Valley," Willie A. Chalcraft; "My New World," Ernest Dimmet.

John W. Heller Speaks Before Eagles Lodge

A steady increase in the membership of the Eagles lodge is vitally necessary to the continued success of that organization's social welfare work, grand worthy president John W. Heller Jr., of York, Pa., told a large audience last night at the Eagles lodge.

Declaring that man-power is responsible for the fraternity's success in past social welfare activities, Heller said that, in turn, the order's sponsoring of humanitarian movements is also responsible for the fraternity's steady growth.

"We do not hold with the economists who believe that depressions are inevitable," Heller maintained in his address. "We believe that they can be prevented, and we think that our plan to stabilize employment will go a long way toward realizing this ideal."

Heller is making a tour of the 1,187 lodges in the Eagles organization. He has been a member of the organization since the founding of the first lodge in York, Pa., in 1901.

Forty-six candidates were initiated into the local lodge at last night's meeting, at which guests from lodges in many surrounding towns were present.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK R. J. Scott

Christmas Shopping's A Scream If You Go Beyond Your Depth

Every Christmas there are persons — rather well-to-do persons — who think nothing of giving presents that cost a small fortune. We thought you might be interested in how much you could spend if you, too, let yourself go, so we sent Charles (Average Citizen) Norman to shop for the most expensive articles he could find. Finding was not keeping in this case, however. His story explains.

By CHARLES NORMAN AP Feature Service Writer NEW YORK — Shopping for presents you can't afford is lots of fun.

For years I was content to plunge boldly into department store crowds, battling my way to counters to make a few modest purchases.

This year I shopped for presents other people are giving. I am ready to report it is less of a strain and more economical.

1. When you shop in the higher brackets, the path to the counter is clear.

2. You don't buy anything — at least, I didn't — for reasons that will be obvious.

A Mere $250,000

The first place I went into was a famous Fifth Avenue jeweler's. A clerk took a ring from the safe very ceremoniously, with the other clerks standings at attention, like setlers pointing.

"The finest large emerald in the open market," said the clerk waiting on me.

The market is still open. This is why—

"How much?" I asked bluntly when I had looked long enough.

"Two hundred and fifty thousand," said the clerk. When he saw the expression on my face he suavely suggested a more modest number, like a diamond bracelet that was only $20,000, although he added quickly that he had one that cost $40,000 if I cared to look at it.

"Not today," I said and made for the street. What — look at $30,000 bracelets after seeing that $250,000 emerald ring? What did the clerk take me for?

The Teltale Overcoat

After that I went around in a trance. To be sure, once in a while I quailed under a supercilious clerk's gaze when I thought he had guessed the state of my finances from the looks of my last year's overcoat. But I am naturally made of stern stuff and nearly always gave him a contemptuous look, followed by a quick flanking movement of the left or right, out of his view.

My next experience was with the manager of a swanky fur shop.

"I would like to price a good sable coat," I said, for I had heard of such things.

"Well," he said, "a coat of Russian sable could be assembled for about $75,000 — if you looked very hard."

I thought he was looking pretty hard at me.

"Why do you have to look?" I asked — "for the sables, I mean."

"The Russians have stopped trapping," he said, and shrugged his shoulders.

"Those Russians," I said, and shrugged mine.

Elephantine Figures

An ultra-ultra tobacconist shop, where the clerks wear frock coats, and the uniformed doorman says "Thank-yo" when he lets you in, offered a few novelties worth their weight in gold. At least, that's how they were charging for them. There was a 14-kt. cigarette case, with name and address engraved in your own handwriting, for $450. In silver, it was only $165. A "handy" pocket lighter was $185. A cigarette case and lighter combined, set with rubies and diamonds, was $550.

In a sporting goods shop I thoughtfully examined an elephant gun that probably could kill an elephant if you shouted the price at him — $1,200. Of course, by the time you fixed yourself up for a safari on which to use such a gun, you could spend 10 times the price. I didn't have time to go into it.

In a fashionable men's shop I looked at a fitted dressing case full of toilet articles — it was very pretty leather. It cost $275, but you could have tucked it away in an overcoat pocket. A suitcase to put it into—because you really don't tuck a dressing case into your overcoat pocket, unless you're leaving in a hurry—cost $110.

Yachts? Too Obvious

A pipe, reposing on a velvet cushion—straight grain and very shiny—was $100. I always like to take a pipe along when I'm traveling.

I didn't shop for a yacht because yachts are too obvious. Besides, even if I could afford to give one, it wouldn't occur to me to saddle a friend with the expense of running it the year 'round. One has to be thoughtful.

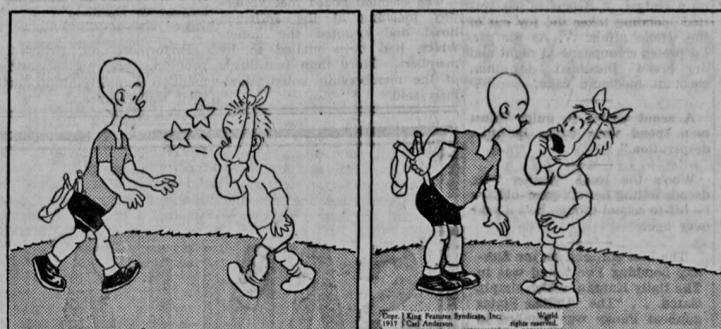

I came away from my shopping spree with my head full of gleams and glitters, like the people who swallow radium and glow inside for years.

"Our American Cousin" was the play being presented at Ford's theater in Washington, D. C., when President Abraham Lincoln was shot.

Jury to Receive City Case Today as Counsels Summarize

Attorneys May Present Final Arguments In Court Today

Cross Examination Of Thomas E. Martin Closes Trial

Attorney Thomas E. Martin, former mayor, was the last witness to testify in the $11,534 damage suit brought by the Burns and McDonnell Engineering company of Kansas City, Mo., against the city of Iowa City as both counsels rested their cases by 4:15 p.m. yesterday.

Attorney D. C. Nolan late yesterday afternoon asked Judge Harold D. Evans for a directed verdict in favor of the plaintiff, and should Judge Evans deliver the verdict this morning, the jury will be dismissed.

Otherwise closing arguments will be delivered to the jury by Attorney Nolan, representing the engineering company, and Attorney Will J. Hayek, counsel for the city, when court re-convenes at 9 o'clock this morning.

Various documents and records were identified by Attorney Martin, who appeared as the last witness for the defense. Earlier in the day, as a witness for the plaintiff, Attorney Martin testified that the former city council paid $10,663 to the engineering company for services.

Upon cross examination former Mayor Martin stated the plaintiff firm had engaged him as a counsel shortly after he went out of office last spring. He said that he turned the case over to Attorneys D. C. Nolan and Kenneth Dunlop, never having appeared on record as a counsel for the engineering company.

Other witnesses yesterday were C. K. Mathews and R. E. McDonnell, both of whom are connected with the Kansas City firm. They corroborated testimony given earlier in the trial and identified records pertaining to the alleged contract entered into with the city May 3, 1935.

After the closing motions and arguments are presented the case will go to the jury.

The engineering company is seeking damages on the grounds that a contract was drawn up calling for technical services in connection with the proposed municipal power plant and later was not carried out by the city.

The M.O.L. (Municipal Ownership League) council was in office at the time the contract was allegedly entered into. The C.N.P. (Citizens Non-Partisan) council, which came into office last spring, abolished plans for a municipal light plant last August.

Chorus Group Sings Sunday

The community chorus under the direction of Mrs. Paul Olson will participate in a Christmas candlelight service at the Unitarian church Sunday at 4:30 p.m.

Leave Town, Says Judge; Drops Fine

Police Judge Burke N. Carson fined Edward A. Carroll $100 and costs yesterday on an intoxication charge and then suspended the fine on the condition that Carroll leave town at once.

Jacob Hosteller's fine of $10 and costs for leaving the motor running while the car was unattended was suspended by Judge Carson.

'Fashionable' Dogs Pick Bright Colors For Winter Wear

The Iowa City dog population has caught the ski-suit craze.

Due to the size and form of dogs, the local canines have had to revert to more simple styles and materials than those used by their prototypes, the human feminine group.

Nevertheless the canine group has surpassed the owners as far as colors are concerned. Red is the predominate color with contrasting stripes. Blue is second choice. Since wool materials are difficult on the complexion, dogs have insisted on soft jerseys and knits. The necklines are rather high, and many are of turtle-neck style.

One local member of canine society has diverted from the general type of winter garment. He belongs to the cocker spaniel group, and as a member he insists that only the upper part of winter apparel should be worn to enable one to run.

Although many of the local dogs approve of the ski-suits, the most prominent section of dogdom, the hound, has refused to take it up. The hound insists that this type of garment is not practical and too "sissified."

Louis Reports Kodaks Stolen

Missing from Display After Young Men Leave Store

Three cameras were stolen yesterday morning from the display stand in front of the Louis Drug store, Henry Louis reported to police.

Louis said that the cameras, two Kodak senior six-20's valued at $19.50 each and a $5 Kodak vest-pocket model, were still packed in their original carton.

Two young men, 20 to 22, with dark complexion and hair and wearing dark coats and hats, loitered around the store after purchasing some lights. Louis told police. It was shortly after they left that the cameras were discovered missing.

Merchants Ban Inflammables

Most of the local merchants have removed all inflammable material from their Christmas displays due to the ban issued by Fire Chief James J. Clark Wednesday afternoon after the fire at the Leno and Clegg Hardware store.

Chief Clark said yesterday that he appreciated the prompt cooperation of the merchants in removing cotton and similar inflammable materials.

Xmas Shoppers Watch Firemen Put Out Blaze

While a crowd of Christmas shoppers gathered, firemen extinguished a fire in the Christmas tree on the lamp post in front of Whetstone's 1 at 2:45 p.m. yesterday.

A short circuit in the wiring of the decorations on the tree was blamed by Fire Chief James J. Clark for the fire.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

Refutation

And, by coincidence, yesterday's Chicago Daily News contained a blistering front-page editorial in almost direct refutation of this commentator's remarks of yesterday. . . "None but fools want war," it begins. "But—

"What is equally important—none but fools think to escape war by announcing in advance that, no matter what the provocation, they won't fight.

"... There comes a time when a nation's patience ends. . . Some flagrant, deliberate defiance puts spark to the tinder, and overnight the face of that nation changes. . . It loses its easy-going tolerance, and the nation faces a possible foe—united behind its chosen leader and ready for what comes. . . The United States is NOT a peace-at-any-price nation. . . It never has been. . . It never will be.

"We are an extremely volatile people. Our patience is not inexhaustible. We will go along peacefully enough up to a certain point. Then LOOK OUT."

Worse

The editorial continues, painting the Sunday bombing of the Panay as much more serious than at first thought and declaring it never would have happened if the Japanese had not believed "the numerically insignificant group of peace-at-any-price pacifists represented a true cross-section of American public opinion."

Which statements, agree or not, are probably the best possible propaganda Col. Frank Knox could issue to create a general war-feeling in the country.

Time Saver

Half-filled with bitterness after a week of exams, I'm wondering if a lot of time wouldn't be saved should professors throw away all pretense and admittedly give grades to the persons with the best cribs—not the ones who know the most. . . Seems to me at least 60 per cent of all those about crib in tests—when they can get by with it. . . And they generally can.

Chicago

For those who'll be Chicagoing it during the Christmas recess, my personal recommendations to the Ruth Gordon performance in "A Doll's House," the ever-running "You Can't Take It With You" and the soon-to-close "Brother Rat." . . . Reviews indicate, in addition, that a view of the Theater Guild's pre-viewed "Wine of Choice" is an eye-ful.

And recommendations for the smartness of the intimate Hotel Chicagoan bar where a pretty youngster named "Gertrude" plays the piano beautifully and sings whatever you request—in a manner suggestive of Helen Morgan at her best.

A passing hiss to the Sunday night Chase and Sanborn hour which I found the lowdest and most unfunny radio hour I've yet heard. . . And praise for Mac Carey, whose campus performances I've always enjoyed, and his stand-out work in the Friday night

"First Nighter" programs from Chicago.

I'm told Prof. Philip Clapp can quote bus and train schedules to the minute for almost every good-sized point in the nation. . . Seems in practice for his memory which must retain difficult musical passages he learns railroad and bus time tables.

In passing, I find it hard to sympathize with those who vacation on a budget. . . Seems to me limited spending takes the joy out of the whole affair. . . As for me, I'd prefer champagne at night and dry bread the next day than constant mediocre cake.

A scout writes to quip, "Most men spend their wives in quiet desperation."

Who's the local mother who dreads letting her six-year-old son be off to school though he's a year over age?

The best editorial on the Sunday bombing I've found was in The Daily Kansan, which simply stated. . . "The United States gunboat Panay was bombed in the Yangtze river Sunday. . . Some observers were of the opinion that if it had not been there it would not have been bombed."

Stove Starts Fire At Gasoline Station

A smoking stove caused the fire department to be called to the Skelly Oil company station at the corner of Gilbert and College streets at 2 a.m. yesterday.

Fire Chief James J. Clark said the stove used to heat the station had been closed up too tightly and had filled the room with smoke. There was no damage.

High Priced Hacks in 1900 Cab Service Costs Ranged from 25 Cents to 3 Dollars

In the horse and buggy days of 1900 luxurious hacks, ranging in price from $1,500 to $3,000, furnished Iowa City with its mode of transportation. Buses were used to bring the traveling salesmen and mail from the stations to the hotels. And A. J. Hanley, operator of the local hack and bus line, did a flourishing business.

The regular cab service cost 25 cents a person but on special occasions, such as a university dance, the prices were raised to $3 a couple for the round-trip. On such occasions Hanley was often operating until 4 a.m. cabbie his customers home.

The hack seated four persons excluding the driver, and all were enclosed. The hack and bus barn was located on the corner of what is now College and Capitol streets.

Hanley operated the line for 20 years, but by 1910 he began to realize that the horseless carriage was going to replace his hacks. So he sold his line and stepped aside to let progress pass.

Chamber of Commerce Votes Six New Directors to Board

W. T. Hageboeck, John Nash, Dr. H. R. Jenkinson, Prof. E. W. Hills of the college of commerce, V. W. Nail and E. C. Gardner have been elected to the board of directors for the chamber of commerce, C. A. Bowman, secretary, announced yesterday.

The election board met yesterday morning at the Jefferson hotel and counted the ballots which had been mailed in by members. More than two-thirds of the membership voted, Bowman said.

The board of directors is composed of 12 members. Once each year the chamber elects six new directors to hold two year terms. Holdover members of the board of directors are W. R. Hart, Prof. George Haskell of the college of commerce, C. O. Ingersoll, Roland Smith, L. D. Wareham and Lyman C. Burdick.

Performers on British radio programs are not permitted to mention commercial products by their trade names.

Candidates Receive Patriarchal Degree At Tonight's Meeting

A class of candidates will receive the patriarchal degree at the bi-weekly meeting of the Good Samaritan Encampment at 7:30 tonight in the Odd Fellows hall. John Frenzen and Walter J. Nerad, co-captains of the degree staff, will conduct the ceremony.

An auditing committee of three will be appointed at tonight's meeting and plans will be discussed for the semi-annual installation of officers early in January. O. E. Patterson and John Frenzen, members of the refreshment committee, will supervise a lunch following the meeting. Oscar Wiese, chief patriarch, will preside.

Viola Schuessler, R. Kile Get License

Raymond Lee Kile of West Liberty and Viola Arlene Schuessler of Lone Tree were granted a marriage license in the Johnson county clerk's office yesterday.
