Raging Torrents Force 600 Families to Flee; Cold Weather Welcome

Illinois, Iowa And Wisconsin Traffic Slowed

One Person Drowned; Many Call For Assistance

ROCKFORD, Ill., Jan. 24 (AP)—A sudden upsurge of icy waters forced more than 600 families from their homes in three states today.

One life was lost and dozens of persons endangered. Highway and railroad traffic was seriously impeded by rivers and creeks which swelled out of their channels in northwest Illinois, southern Wisconsin and eastern Iowa.

More than two inches of rain fell over most of the area. A sharp drop in temperature turned the rain to snow, however, and key cities in the harassed areas reported the streams had begun to recede.

The weather outlook was for much lower temperatures and clear skies by morning, heartening the army of rescue workers.

Schoolboy Drowns

The death victim was Eddie Proctor, 6, caught in a murky swirl as he attempted to ford a normally dry run en route to school at Arboy, Ill.

Streets, highways, country roads, bridges and fields were inundated.

Rockford was the hardest hit city in the distressed region, which reached as far south as Peoria county in north central Illinois and into eastern counties of Iowa and southern counties in Wisconsin.

The situation was not alarming in the neighboring states, however. Police rescued some 50 families from flood-menaced homes at Beloit, Wis., where two inches of rain hiked the Rock river and Turtle creek.

Four families needed assistance at Janesville, Wis., where some streets were four feet under water. The road to Beloit was cut off.

Water surged about a cabin near Clinton, Iowa. Four occupants were rescued. Elsewhere in that state streams left their banks, flooded fields and interrupted highway travel.

Approve More Building Work

The city council last night authorized additional work costing $3,087.90 on the Iowa City Community building. The vestibule, lobby, foyers, auditorium and American Legion quarters in the building will be plastered, floored and trimmed.

Additional fire insurance valued at $15,000 was approved for the incomplete project. It, with the former $10,000 fire insurance, will expire Feb. 11.

Ordinance Puts More Positions In Civil Service

An ordinance which will place all appointive municipal officers including deputy clerks and deputy bailiffs, under civil service, was adopted by the city council last night.

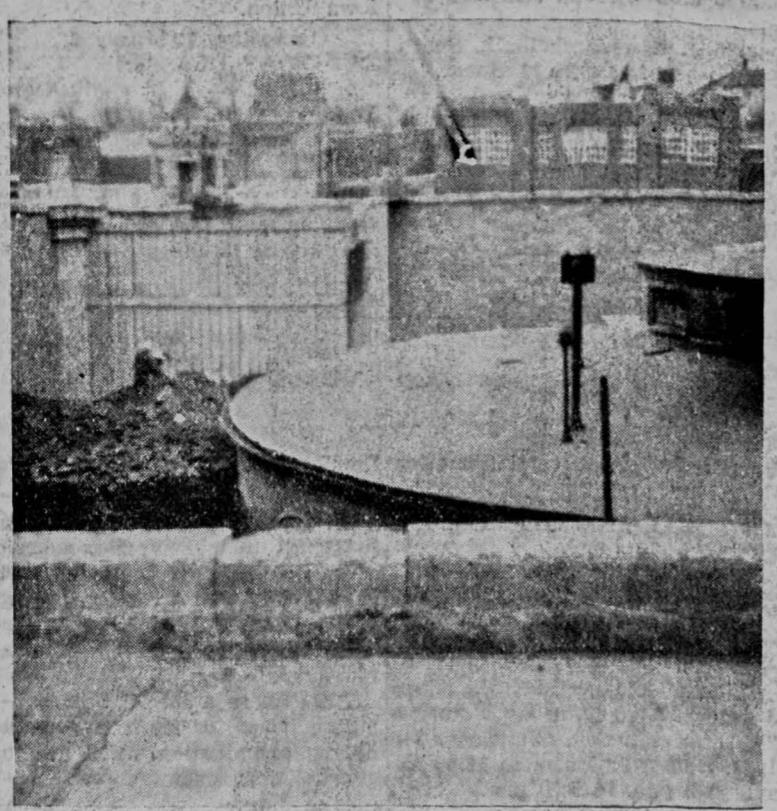

Positions which will not be affected by the ordinance are city clerk, attorney, assessor, treasurer, auditor, engineer, health officer, elective officers, commissioners, mayor's secretary, unskilled and casual laborers, it states.

Five proposed ordinances, including three which would regulate sanitary conditions, were given their second readings last night.

The health ordinances would create a city health department, regulate food dispensers and demand reports of communicable diseases.

The others would allot $1,200 a year for the maintenance of the new Iowa City armory, and place the National Hybrid Corn company property within the business district.

The End of the 'Last Mile'

Convicted Slayers Die on Gallows at Davenport One Buried on Chamness Farm

FT. MADISON, Iowa, Jan. 24 (AP)—The body of John Milton Mercer, 29, already had been committed to earth at West Branch, Iowa, tonight after a double hanging at dawn today in the Iowa penitentiary here.

The state choked off the lives of Mercer and Allen D. Wheaton, 21, on twin gallows in a pelting snowstorm before 100 witnesses. Mercer's body was claimed by Mrs. Ida Chamness, West Branch Quaker church worker. Funeral services were held this afternoon and burial was on Mrs. Chamness' farm. Before his death Mercer accepted the Quaker faith. Mrs. Chamness called him her "son in the spirit."

At Rapid City, S. D., today, Mrs. Eva Wheaton said private funeral services would be held for her son in Deadwood. S. D., his birthplace. Walter Wheaton, older brother of the youth, was expected to reach Rapid City with the body Wednesday.

The men paid the supreme penalty for gun murders. Mercer shot and killed Robert Sproat, Tipton, Iowa, vigilante while he, his brother and another accomplice were fleeing from the scene of a Davenport, Iowa, drug store.

Neither of the men slept during his last night alive, prison officials said. Warden Glenn Haynes said three other "death row" prisoners were shaken by the executions. They were visibly unmoved.

Two women, Mrs. Joe Perry, wife of the sheriff of Pottawattamie county, and Mrs. Leo P. Woolworth, wife of a Ft. Dodge railroad official, were among the witnesses to the executions.

At Des Moines, Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel, who does not believe in capital punishment, arose before dawn "to catch the phone in case it should ring" with news of additional facts which might have a bearing on a possible last minute commutation. The governor several days ago denied clemency pleas from both prisoners.

It's Birthday Ball Time

IT IS PLEASANT to know that once every year Americans prove they are Americans, that they can forget party politics, personal enmities and bitterness, coming battles and cooperate to give Roosevelt Birthday Balls throughout the nation.

Partisan politics are not a part of the parties; both republicans and democrats are on the committees and "old deal" as well as "new deal" democrats are represented.

Agree with him or not, most of us have to give credit to Franklin Roosevelt for initiating the idea of fighting by dancing to aid present sufferers of infantile paralysis and prevent more.

Franklin Roosevelt's own life has been an example of the courage and energy that many of the sufferers possess; he is a living symbol proving it can be done.

We do disagree with some details of the party plans this year. As we understand it, all the money is being sent to national headquarters for research at the Warm Springs Foundation. In the past, only a part of the funds were sent to the center office. A part was kept locally for sufferers in each community. We believe the old method was better.

But on Jan. 29, republicans or democrats, liberals or conservatives, we will be at the armory building to dance at the Birthday Ball — to dance and also to help those who cannot.

The new spring millinery for women feature wide brims, according to a fashion article. That may make some husbands happy — their wives again will be wearing hats that look like hats.

Mussolini's estimate of Mussolini has reached a new high. Italian school children receiving free lunch must thank Il Duce by name while saying grace. And even Julius Caesar wasn't called a God until he was dead!

A Britisher obtained a new job just after his 100th birthday. Wonder if his new boss assured him the position was a permanent one?

One of Europe's fascist countries now claims the world's railroad speed record—126 miles an hour. The dispatch didn't say but we'll bet the train was headed toward the border.

Causes of The Spanish War

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three editorials on Spain's civil war. The others will follow in succession.)

THE HISTORY of Spain is largely a record of force and violence. Political persecutions, internal wars and foreign invasions have periodically swept over this small European peninsula and subjected its people to untold hardship and oppression. We commonly conceive of the Spaniard as highly emotional individual who is strongly addicted to cruelty. Witness his great love of bull fights and his supposedly passionate way of living. But this is hardly an adequate explanation of past Spanish history nor of the present civil war.

The Spanish war is largely rooted in the feudal character of Spanish institutions which were completely out of line with modern 20th century society. Spain was still steeped in feudal tradition at the time when other western peoples were enjoying the full benefits of world industrialization and its attendant political democracy. The Spanish republic was established in 1931, fully 150 years after democratic freedom was first achieved in America. The republic overthrew a reactionary monarchy and tried to bring about greatly needed political and economic reforms. For the next five years Spain sought vainly to bridge the gap from a feudal society to a modern political state—the present civil war is the climax of this effort. It represents the growing pains of modern Spain.

Before the outbreak of the war,

Spain had a population of 23,000,000 inhabitants. Amazing as it may seem, 45 per cent of these people were illiterate, showing the backwardness and medieval condition of this peninsular nation. Furthermore, the greater majority of the people were poverty-stricken. They were chiefly peasants who tilled a country poor in natural resources. Industry was localized and the urban population was small. The wealth of Spain was held by the feudal grandees and the Catholic church. These facts were the raw material conditions which produced the civil war.

The young Spanish republic sought to achieve the Herculean task of reform through peaceful measures. But it came face to face with the static weight of the medieval economic and political Spanish system. The entrenched Catholic hierarchy, the royal army and the powerful landowning nobility obstructed all attempts to build a new Spanish democracy based upon the principle of individual liberty.

The country seethed with unrest as the impasse between old and new Spain became more sharply defined. The feudal rulers would not give up their power without a struggle. On July 17, 1936 they took the initiative and tried to overthrow the Spanish republic by military force. The country was plunged into civil war. The issue was put squarely before the Spanish people. It is now in their hands to make the final choice.

An Australian squirrel is said to be able to leap forward and backward great distances at fast speed. Strangely enough, the animal has never entered politics.

Astronomers report new holes seen in the surface of the sun. However, up to press time the Japanese government hasn't sent an apology to Old Sol for the poor marksmanship of their gunners in China.

DRIVING COURSES

No industrial organization would put expensive machinery in the hands of untrained workmen. A railroad chooses its engineers after years of training. But the streets and highways carry the most congested fast traffic in the world. It is in the hands of a generation of drivers who learned their fundamentals by the method of an afternoon with a motor car salesman.

If we hope for a future generation of better drivers it is apparent that it should receive a better and sounder course of training at the outset. It is in answer to this need that the practical drivers' training courses have begun to appear in the high schools. Now they have been introduced into all the high schools of Colorado as a state program.

The advocates make a special point of establishing the right driving habits and a sense of responsibility from the outset. The absolute accuracy and dependability required of the student should be reflected in his driving many years later.

For the generally accepted course the start is in a classroom with desks equipped like the instrument board of a motor car.

Motion pictures carry the pupils through busy street and intersection scenes. Their reactions are indicated by lights on a signal board at the front of the room.

The driving, itself, starts on a practice lot where the student is required to handle the car with accuracy and precision. He is given instruction in mechanics so that he will better understand the effect of pulling a lever or stepping on a pedal. Finally the instructor and pupil conclude the course on the streets and boulevards.

Since most high schools offer other "non-solid" courses there should be little difficulty in substituting a term of driving for a term of manual training, drawing, home economics or what not. The most likely objection in many schools will be the expense of the equipment and teachers. Against that objection will be heard the arguments for a better generation of drivers, trained by experts instead of by parents and motor car salesmen.

Clendening Says Blushing Due To Dilation of Blood Vessels

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

We discussed yesterday the recent work on the influence of the brain centers on those actions of the body commonly thought of as automatic. A good example is that phenomenon, so generally interesting, especially to young people, of blushing. Blushing is due to a sudden dilation of the blood vessels of the face. It is, as everyone who is bothered with too frequent attacks of it unhappy knows, beyond voluntary control. Yet certainly it is caused by impulses which affect the very highest center of the brain—the mention of a sweetheart, a name, a denial, the hint of a clandestine appointment—it is nature's own lie detector.

I have before me a quaint old book, printed in 1839, called the "Physiology or Mechanism of Blushing," by Thomas H. Burgess, M. D. It describes the different varieties of the blush—the true blush, the blush of feeling, the false blush, the deceptive or legal (sic) blush, the blush or flush of rage, etc. All of them are involuntary but distinctly associated with mental states, and for the comfort of those who are afflicted to their embarrassment with this habit, let me quote the author who says, "This clearly proves my former assertions that the blush is evidently a result of reason, and cannot take place without its impulse, else why is the congenital idiot incapable of exhibiting this phenomenon?"

May Be Discovered

In the light of the latest researches into the functions of the nervous system, we must assume that somewhere in the frontal lobe of the brain are nerve cells that have connections with the cells of the sympathetic nervous system, controlling the movements of the blood vessels of the face. It may be that any day now such a center will be discovered.

One of the few times a Royal Canadian Mounted police officer has faced the microphone on a nationwide hook-up will occur today at 7:30. Sergeant Sidney Clay, who policed the border during the Yukon gold rush, will appear on Edgar Guest's "It Can Be Done" program and tell how, in living up to the slogan that the mounted policeman always gets his man, "it can be done." Many of his vivid experiences will be re-enacted during the broadcast. The music of Frankie Masters and his orchestra will also be a feature of the broadcast.

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Putting two and two together and getting four:

Reval... News that aged Jim Braddock licked young Tommy Farr threatens to empty the old folks homes of worn out fighters. Reports are Jim Jeffries and Battling Nelson are ready to announce comeback campaigns. Old wrestlers, broken down race horses and all players from the handlebar mustachio days have been stirred by Braddock's victory. It's so catchy the ancient Cy Young is convinced he's got his fast one back and is ready to report to a baseball camp.

Meanwhile, Joe Louis is going around town claiming he won't reach his peak until 1962.

Though many ring smarts believe Farr won and was merely the victim of sentiment Friday night, Braddock gets more awing with the years. A few hours before he climbed into the ring with Tony Sandy Tommy, Jim was ready to quit to become matchmaker of the Chicago stadium. Now he's actually convinced he can cap his Cinderella man career by becoming the first ex-heavyweight champion in history to regain his title. Don't laugh too hard. The ring game today is just that. And Joe Louis rapidly is losing its stuff.

Farr the Surprising

But a greater wonder is Mr. Farr. He is getting a great reputation without winning a fight over here. He doesn't even have manager in a day and age when most boxers have at least two plus lawyer.

Dough and Joe... Probably the most popular ball player in the game today is Joe DiMaggio. Yet his demand for $40,000 to hit home runs in 1938 fails to get much sympathy from the fans and experts, who think he's taking Col.

Ruppert at too fast a pace.

This corner's advice to Giuseppe is: Get it while it's there. The colonel is enough dough to pay you 100,000 a year the rest of your life and still have plenty of hay in barn."

Snead Criticized

Pickup... Sam Snead, ex-West Virginia hillbilly, is being censored because he exercised a golf duffer's prerogative. Slammer Sam, seven shots over par for his first 11 holes in the Pasadena open, got so sore when he banged his tee shot off bounds on the 12th that he paid off his caddy and quit the tournament. Everybody's hollering—some even called him a quitter of the yellow hue—and the P.G.A. is reported to be framing a severe code of censure.

Since when can't a player, star duffer, pick up? Almost every golfer has done so without a fit of the yelling that has Sam worried man. Those critics who now say Sam has no backbone should study his record. Backbone is what he's got plenty of. Anyway, the best part of golf is that you can pick up although that long walk back—alone—to the clubhouse takes courage.

Oakland Still Battling

Credit... Oakland City college, Indiana, gave up football after failing to win one game in three years. But they still can play basketball. Mr. John Paul, student athletic manager for the Oakland city, telegraphs they scored new triumph by beating their bragging rivals" from Evansville College, 50 to 41. Evansville, in case you forgot, didn't score a point football last season but they haven't quit the pigskin pastime. Dizzy din... Frank Winchell of Tampa, promoter of the first fight between baseball writers Jack Foley and Irv Kupcinet last winter, is interested in importing talent for the coming month. "Tell the boys to hold all punches," offers Winchell. "Dizzy has commissioned me to accept all offers or a battle royal next month. Now that he's a holdout again, Diz is looking for spare change, if not fight."

Stick to pitching those balls, Diz.

Henry Picard Wins Pasadena Golf Tourney

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 24 (AP)—Henry Picard, clipping eight strokes off par for the 72-mile distance, won the $3,000 Pasadena open golf tournament today with a score of 276.

Outshooting Jimmy Hines

Garden City, N.Y., his nearest rival by two strokes, the "Chocolate Soldier" from Hershey, Pa., marched through today's final 18 holes with a 69 for a par 71 course at Brookside park.

It was good enough to outrun Jimmy Thomson, the husky Hawkeye-on-the-Delaware, Pa., who kicked away a one-stroke advantage held going into the last round and win $700 first prize money.

Picard's round of 70-66-71-69 set a new record for the Pasadena event, formerly held at 78 by Craig Wood.

Michigan Hangs 29-26 Defeat On Buckeyes in Close Game

Wolverines Grab Third Place in Big Ten Standings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The University of Michigan retained its place among the leaders in the Big Ten basketball race, defeating Ohio State 29 to 26 in a nip and tuck battle before 5,715 fans Monday night.

The victory, Michigan's fourth in six conference starts, gave the Wolverines undisputed possession of third place in the conference standings. Ohio State has won two and lost three.

Starting slowly, Michigan started functioning in the middle of the first half and, at the intermission, held a 17 to 14 advantage.

Lanky Johnny Townsend, Michigan captain, scored 10 out of the 17 points and added two more points in the second half to capture individual scoring honors.

Old-Fashioned Grand March Will Begin 1938 Birthday Ball Festivities Slated for Saturday

Swishers to Do Honors At Opening; 'Big Apple' Planned

Promptly at 9 p.m. Saturday the 1938 President's Birthday Ball will begin with a grand march led by Attorney and Mrs. Ingalls Swisher. State Representative and Mrs. Leroy S. Mercer will share the honor with the ball chairwoman and his wife.

"It will be an old-fashioned grand march like those seen 25 years ago," promised Attorney Swisher yesterday. He said that two orchestras will provide the music for the grand opening in which several hundred couples will take part.

Another feature of the benefit ball will be the popular "Big Apple" dance directed by Attorney Will J. Hayek. Attorney Swisher said this event will begin at about 10:30 p.m.

The ticket committee has announced that 270 more tickets have been put on sale making a total of 1,870 tickets to be sold for the county-wide benefit.

The first check-up on sales will be given by the committee today, but Attorney Swisher said yesterday that the tickets—one dollar each—are going fast.

The proceeds of the ball will be sent to the national fund created to fight infantile paralysis throughout the country.

The following patrons and patronesses have been named by the committee for the Saturday ball at the new armory:

Mahan Announces 10-Year Program to Aid Needy Students

Alumni Association Will Also Campaign for New Members

Directors Formulate 10 Point Program Of Activities

A 10-year program, designed to aid worthy, needy students by way of scholarships and employment, and a campaign to secure more members for the alumni association, has been organized at the University of Iowa. Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, executive secretary, announced yesterday.

The expansive program contains 10 distinct proposed alumni association activities, formulated by the alumni group's board of directors. It looks ahead to the centennial of the founding of the university Feb. 25, 1947.

The program will include:

1. A campaign to secure more annual members of the alumni association in order to furnish a working budget, with more emphasis upon the life membership and endowment project to meet needs of worthy students.

2. Organization of an active alumni club in each Iowa county and in each city throughout the nation where the number of graduates warrants it.

3. An alumni inventory of each town and city in Iowa and of each city outside of Iowa with a local club.

4. Cooperation with university, state and federal employment agencies in placement of Iowa graduates.

5. Encouragement of superior high school graduates to enter the university.

6. Establishment of scholarships by local clubs or individuals for superior high school graduates, based upon competition or merit scale.

7. Enlargement of contacts between university and Iowa communities through university speakers at alumni and other meetings.

8. Preparation and maintenance of a mailing list of former students similar to the present list of graduates.

9. Development of an organized plan to obtain gifts, bequests and endowments for the university.

10. Cooperation with faculty and students in carrying to all parts of the state the knowledge, thought, ideals and spirit of the university.

County Makes Relief Request

Asks State to Supply
40% of Payments
To Be Given

Johnson county has requested the state emergency relief administration to aid relief work by supplying 40 per cent of the payments which will be made.

State aid will be necessary to keep 6.3 per cent of the population on relief rolls, the county emergency relief committee notified state officials today in a resolution.

Monthly relief payments were raised from $19 to $24 by the county board of supervisors last week, the communication stated, and an estimated 286 families will receive relief funds during February. Relief will be needed until June, it said.

The state relief board is expected to decide this week whether Johnson county shall receive state aid. Frank J. Krall and C. W. Lacina, supervisors, and Mrs. Frances Wilson, relief director, requested funds last week in Des Moines.

Rural Students

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester 1937-1938

Saturday, Jan. 22, 8 a.m., to Saturday, Jan. 29, 12 m., 1938
The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the owing semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the room in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, and G, as shown in the form below: and Speech (1), (2), and (3)

The program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation from this schedule, in the case of any examination—except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification on the student's written petition, filed in ample time and supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of completing examinations earlier will not be permitted.

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card.

In the cases of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the Schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below, meet for examinations during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double vertical line.

Unless students are reasonably sure that their semester's work, including final examinations, is successful they are requested to call (within the 2d 24-hour period following the conclusion of their final examinations) at the offices of the deans of men and women, appropriately, in order to learn whether any of their instructors have reported Fd. for them; and if any student has reason to suspect that Fd. will be his record for one or more courses, he is requested not to register until he learns that he has passed.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) This instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour Jan 17 or 18; if possible Jan 10 or 11.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T, Th, S at 9. The first meeting ple, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8—and the class will meet for examination Monday, Jan. 24, 2-4, according to the tabular form above. Again, physics (125) meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Friday, Jan. 28, 2-4.

N. B. All sections of freshman Speech (1), (2), and (3) will meet during the examination week on the days and at the periods meet during the examination week on the days and at the periods designated below. Consult the bulletin board in room 13, Schaeffer Hall, for room assignments.

Saturday, January 22—Section H, 8-10; Speech (2), 8-10.
Monday, January 24—Section A, 1-3; Section E, 3-5.
Tuesday, January 25—Section I, 8-10; Section G, 1-3; Section

Thursday, January 27—Section I, 8-10; Section C, 1-3; Section G, 3-5; Speech (3), 3-5.
Friday, January 28—Section D, 10-12; Section B, 1-3; Section F, 3-5.
Saturday, January 29—Section J, 10-12.
"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday, or which meet "as arranged," will be organized for examination as announced.

meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from January 22 to January 28 inclusive.

2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, since for such "odd" classes these five examination periods will be found quite available.

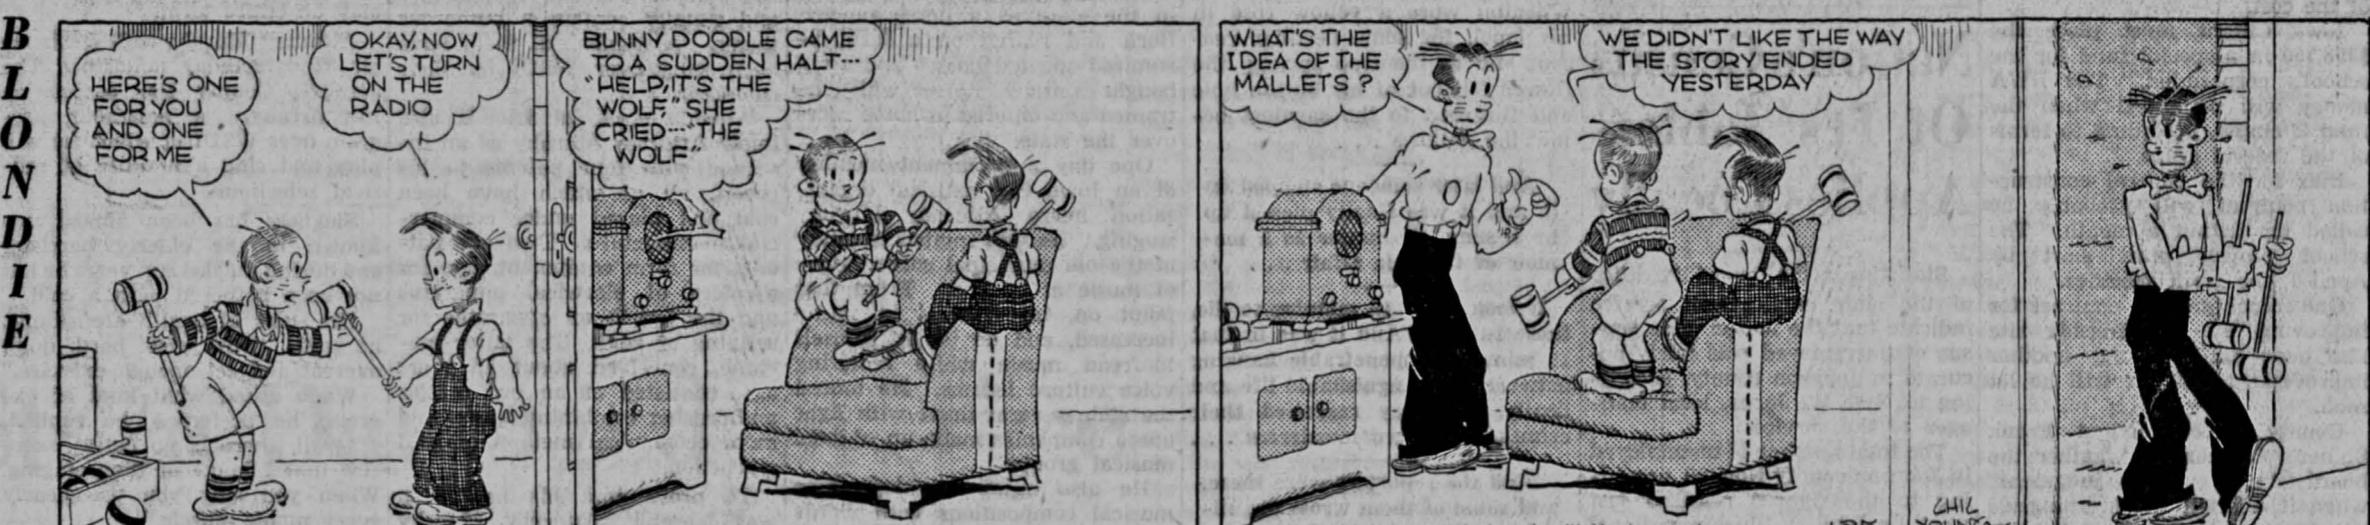

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at the same time, but it is not good practice to do so.

once class at any of these times.—If no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

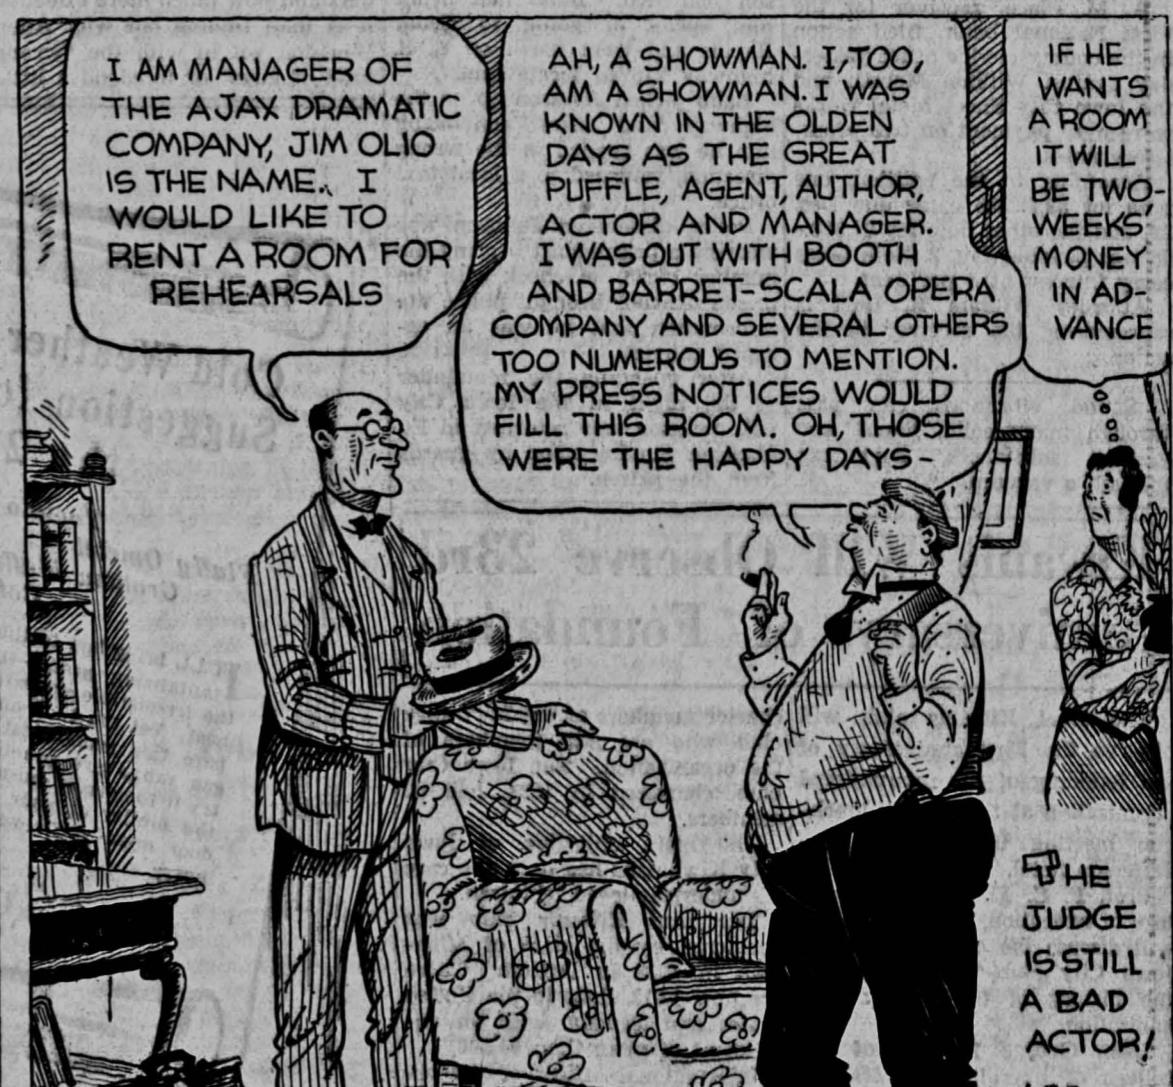

According to one clause in the formal action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported as "Aba"; unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final

Sixty Major Bond Houses Will Bid for School Bond Issue

Companies Will Make Bids This Morning for Issue of $398,750

Sale Will Be One Of Largest Made In Iowa City

Representatives of 60 major bond houses throughout the middle west and from New York city, will bid for the $398,750 Iowa City high school bond issue at 10:30 this morning in the high school administration building.

Sealed bids will be opened and oral bids delivered to the city school board for consideration. It will be one of the largest bond sales ever made here.

Iowa Citians voted by a 3 to 1 majority Nov. 4 to bond the sum to supplement $326,250 PWA grant for construction of a new high school building.

The Iowa City independent school district is out of debt and repayment of the bonds will be over a 20-year period.

The bond issue represents 55 per cent of the high school's estimated cost, $725,000. The PWA allotment will cover 45 per cent of the cost.

Iowa Citians must place the $398,750 in a special fund for the school's corporation. The PWA money will be added when the fund is empty, according to terms of the federal grant.

Bids for the general construction contract will probably be called for within a month. The school project must start by April 1, the grant specifies.

One minor grading contract for improving the Morningside site has been fulfilled and another improvement contract will be let soon.

County Superintendent Frank Snider's decision on whether the board "used good judgment" when it selected the Morningside site for the school is expected this week.

The hearing of Lewis L. Smith Sr.'s petition for a writ to restrain construction of a school on the Morningside site and to restrain the board from contracting for a new school will be during the February term of court.

Lantz Files Suit Asking Divorce

Charging cruel and inhuman treatment, Donald Lantz filed suit for divorce from Clara Walton Lantz in the county clerk's office yesterday.

The couple was married at North Liberty Nov. 26. Attorney Will J. Hayek is representing Lantz.

Thief Loots Office Here; Escapes With Dimes and Stamps

A thief, who broke into the law office of Wilson, Clearman and Brandt sometime between Saturday night and yesterday morning, took $4 in dimes and half of a $15 roll of postage stamps, according to a report made to police yesterday.

After an investigation, police said the thief climbed to the third floor by the fire escape and walked down the stairs to the office on the second floor.

The stamps which were taken have a wide margin on the left side, the report said.

Bank Receiver Files Action Against Two On Promissory Notes

A. M. Place, receiver for the First National bank, filed action in the county clerk's office yesterday against William Maresh and the Iowa City Sheet Metal works to recover payment on two promissory notes.

According to the petition, one note for $2,485.58 came due Dec. 22, and the other note for $1,822.06 was payable Jan. 2. Both notes carry interest at 8 per cent.

Attorney William R. Hart is representing the receiver in the action.

Kiwanis Will Observe 23rd Anniversary of Foundation

The local Kiwanis club will observe the 23rd anniversary of the founding of the international organization at the weekly luncheon meeting this noon in the Jefferson hotel.

Prof. F. C. Ensign of the college of education, today's speaker, will discuss the objectives of the Iowa City club, its history and the history of the national organization.

Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, 1937 Kiwanis president, is one of 14 international offices of the organization are located in Chicago.

AROUND THE TOWN

MERLE MILLER

An Eye for an Eye—
Yesterday at Ft. Madison they killed two men, and it was all right . . . It was legal, and those responsible for their deaths won't die; instead they got paid, and it's nice work—if you can get it . . . It was such good fun, the whole affair, that more than 100 persons went for the entertainment of it; it was only a little difficult; they didn't exactly relish getting up so early . . .

There's some talk there may be a bill in the next session of the legislature to help this situation and set executions ahead an hour or so . . . Then more people would like to come . . .

When he walked to the gallows Wheaton wore a yellow rose in his lapel, for some peculiar reason; and as the trap sprung, the flower fell out of his button hole and fluttered to the sawdust below the gallows . . .

And later someone stepped on it, and it was finally picked up by a souvenir hunter as a memento of the gala affair . . .

It took them 16 minutes to die, those two . . . And it was in that 16 minutes, impenetrable hanging between indistinguishable life and death, that they regretted their crimes, those two murderers . . .

And the reporters were there, and some of them wrote beautiful stories about the event, how the rope jerked taut, how the blood "oozed from Mercer's white shirt front, staining it crimson . . ."

But that was all excepted, and the newspaper men were too busy watching . . . The only witness visibly affected by the hangings was an Anamosa state reformatory guard . . . He nearly fainted.

He apologized when a Des Moines newspaper man picked him up . . . "It's my first hanging," he said. "I'll be all right." You get used to such things, it seems . . . Remember the women who, in those savage, ugly days of the French revolution, took their knitting to the guillotine when it did its work? . . .

A Des Moines newspaper had three of its best men there, and last night it told the story in full detail, blood and all . . . Also there were printed stories on "How I Went Wrong" from both the men . . . Allen Wheaton, who was 21, wrote:

"I just got in with the wrong kind of guys . . . Tell the kids that little crimes lead to big crimes. Tell them not to start ever." . . . He was dead when the story appeared, and that enhanced its impression . . . Little children will not now ever go wrong, none of them; instead those little fellows—and girls too—who go under-fed and under-loved in the slums and poverty that, some say, produce crime will picture 21-year-old Allen Wheaton swinging on the gallows of Ft. Madison and therefore will not kill or commit crimes . . .

It's a preventive measure as well, you see . . . Can't you understand how much more effective it is than finding out why Allen Wheaton got in with the "wrong kind of guys" or to spend a little time . . .

Attorney Will J. Hayek filed the petition.
