League Keeps To Principles Of Founding

Three Major Powers Stage Rededication To Founding

GENEVA, Jan. 27 (AP)—Great Britain, France and Russia—the only three major powers remaining in the League of Nations—today rededicated themselves to the principles of international cooperation on which it was founded. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain, however, admitted the league's field of action had been restricted inevitably by withdrawal of "some of the league's most important members"—Japan, Germany and Italy. The declarations generally were considered an effort to keep the league alive by a tacit understanding of the punitive power to impose sanctions under article XVI of the covenant would not be invoked. Smaller nations have indicated they would leave the league rather than be drawn into conflict with their larger neighbors who have quit Geneva. Thirteen of the 14 council members pleaded their faith in the basic principles of the league covenant. The 14th was Poland, whose Foreign Minister Joseph Beck made no pledge to uphold the covenant but said his country remained faithful "in the real sense of international collaboration." Until all nations once again have been brought into international cooperation and a better plan devised, Eden suggested the compromise course of showing faith in the league by using it "for all purposes for which it is fitted."

Win On Anti-Lynch Filibuster

Defeat for the bitterly-fought Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill in the senate was forecast when efforts of the bill's sponsors to have the senate vote drastic cloture or gag rule to close debate and force an immediate vote was outvoted, 51 to 37. At the same time, victory for the small band of Dixie senators, who resorted to a long filibuster to fight the bill, seemed certain. Three of the senators who led the filibuster into its third week are pictured. They are, left to right, Senators Walter F. George of Georgia, Tom Connally of Texas and Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee. The other photo shows the lighted dome of the capitol in Washington, indicating congress in night session during the filibuster.

Loyalists Drive Against Rebels On Two Fronts

HENDAYE, France, at the Spanish frontier, Jan. 27 (AP)—Government armies drove against insurgent communications on two eastern Spanish fronts tonight in a surprise offensive to relieve the pressure on Teruel.

Bombing and strafing planes, tanks and armored cars made the fighting some of the worst of the civil war. The insurgents were trying to retain their lower Aragon foothold. The government was struggling to crack the siege of Teruel laid five weeks ago by the insurgents when they were driven out.

Government - held Madrid, about 135 miles west of Teruel, was shelled for an hour starting at noon while government artillerymen bombarded Toledo, about 45 miles southwest of Madrid.

Economic Pact For All World, Belgian Urges

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—A world economic pact should be negotiated to remedy economic maladies, Belgium's ex-Premier Paul Van Zeeland, suggested today. Under the agreement, democratic and authoritarian nations alike would collaborate to remove trade barriers, stabilize currencies, consolidate international debts and open up colonies.

Van Zeeland stated his program in a report made under mandate from the British and French governments and forwarded by them to this government. The Belgian, who came to Washington last year and saw President Roosevelt in the course of his investigation preliminary to the report, urged a conference of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy to prepare the economic pact.

He predicted the agreement "would impart to the world the impetus which it is awaiting in order to recover its confidence in the pacific destiny of nations." Van Zeeland confessed frankly his investigation had not given him too great hopes nations would accept his ideas, but he believed the situation was so acute a reaction in the direction of collaboration might be possible.

Secretary of State Hull commented Van Zeeland had made a valuable contribution to solution of the problem with which he was attempting to deal.

Hitler Cancels Convention Of Reich's Solons

Believe Meeting Unwise For Statement Of Foreign Policy

BERLIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler tonight ordered cancellation of invitations for Sunday's session of the reichstag. It was believed the reason for the sudden change lay in his opinion that, after careful study of the international situation, it would be inopportune at this time to make any statement on foreign policy. The chancellor was said to have decided that time was working for Germany and she can await developments calmly without again laying her cards on the table. To confine his speech before the reichstag to remarks on the domestic situation on the other hand, it was said, would not be in keeping with the importance he attaches to the body as a sounding board for pronouncements calculated to stir the world. It was stated authoritatively if he should reconsider tonight's decision it would mean he has an announcement of first magnitude to make. The present outlook was that exercises on Sunday in honor of the fifth anniversary of Hitler's coming to the chancellorship would center around the traditional torchlight parade past the chancellery. Hitler's speech before the reichstag had been expected to be an appraisal of the five years of nazi government. The reichstag has not met since last Jan. 30.

New Appeal For Mooney Reaches Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—A new appeal for freedom for Thomas J. Mooney, serving a life sentence after being convicted of participating in a 1916 preparedness day parade bombing, reached the supreme court today. Through his attorneys, the prisoner asked the high tribunal to pass the California supreme court's refusal to grant a writ of habeas corpus. Mooney is now in California's San Quentin penitentiary. He contended he had been convicted on perjury testimony.

Coroner Says Kenney Death Fall Accidental

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The fatal fall of Representative Edward A. Kenney, New Jersey democrat, from a sixth-floor hotel window today was accidental, Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald declared.

Kenney, best known in congress for his advocacy of a national lottery, had attended the annual congressional dinner given by the New Jersey chamber of commerce last night at a hotel near the White House.

He fell from the window of a bedroom where he had spent the night with a fellow guest at the dinner.

The coroner decided an inquest would not be necessary. Kenney's secretary, John M. Stewart, said investigation indicated Kenney had arisen to dress and go to his office and had fallen while attempting to adjust a large French double window.

Stewart said the window sill was about 14 inches from the floor, that the casements opened outward and that there was no screen. Stewart said the stocky, white-haired congressman had been suffering from high blood pressure and mild heart trouble.

Mine Workers Threaten Riot

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Furious delegates to the United Mine Workers convention threatened to mob Hyden Smith, Negro delegate from Raleigh, W. Va., when he acknowledged today he once was a deputy sheriff. Smith had arisen to demand "autonomy" for the southern West Virginia district of the union. Van A. Bittner, president of that district, interrupted to ask whether Smith had not been a deputy at a time when representatives were "not allowed to go into the district." "Send him home!" many delegates shouted.

Statement Charges Japanese Sentry Slapped U.S. Diplomat's Face For 'Insolent Attitude'

'Honeymoon Bridge' Crashes Into Falls Workers Unhurt as 1,200 Foot Arch Breaks Before Ice Pressure

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 27 (AP)—America's famous "Honeymoon bridge" which for 39 years arched across Niagara's dizzy gorge, crashed in an ice jam late today with a roar that drowned out Niagara itself. The sound of the 1,200 foot black steel arch smashing on ice far below drew crowds running from all parts of this honeymoon resort. The bridge fell so swiftly that throngs on the rim of the gorge scarcely saw it go. Other thousands who rushed up saw only the wreckage of the gossamer steel frame, now lying torn and crumpled on the ice 200 feet below. Concern at first was felt for a dozen workmen who had been trying to protect the foundations from ice but an hour later the International railway company, owners of the bridge, formally announced all workers were safe. For two days the spidery arch which had one end in Canada and one in the United States had wavered before one of the greatest ice jams that ever thundered over Niagara Falls. Motorists and pedestrians were barred when the span began to tremble and "groan" yesterday. Today, besides surrounding the bridge piers, ice appeared to have all but enveloped the Ontario Hydro Electric commission's million dollar generating station at the foot of the falls. A United States border official, who would not give his name, was standing on the ice 200 feet from the bridge when it fell. "I had just looked at my watch," he said. "It was 3:10 1-2 p.m. (CST). I heard groaning steel, and then the webs of steel above the American pier buckled and clipped."

Allison Used Insolence, Jap Statement Says
"Was Outspoken Critic Of Japanese Army Practices"

SHANGHAI, Jan. 28 (Friday) (AP)—A Japanese statement today charged a Japanese sentry slapped the face of John M. Allison, ranking United States diplomat at Nanking, after the American adopted what was called an "insolent attitude."

This incident was reported to have occurred Wednesday in Nanking and a second American, whose name was not given, was said to have been manhandled also by Japanese soldiers at the same time. The statement, carried by Domei (Japanese news agency) and attributed to a Japanese military spokesman as his account of the episode, alleged: "The case arose from the insolent attitude adopted by Allison who sought to deal with Japanese soldiers as a policeman would treat a law breaker."

"It must also be attributed to an attitude by Allison characterized by outspoken criticism of Japanese army practice which he engaged in notwithstanding his official status."

Domei (Japanese news agency) said Japanese authorities had apologized and were trying to settle the incident locally. Allison protested immediately to the Japanese consulate general after the assault Wednesday. Allison is third secretary to the embassy.

(The state department at Washington Thursday made public a sharp American note, presented to Japan Jan. 17, protesting continued "flagrant disregard" of American rights by Japanese troops at Nanking and other Chinese cities.)

(The note, strongest since the Japanese sinking of the American gunboat Panay, said the disregard of American rights could not be reconciled with previous Japanese assurances American interests would be respected and demanded the assurances be enforced.)

Prof. Lee Travis Resigns As Psychology Department Head

To Take Effect At End of Year

Dean Kay Recommends Acceptance of Move By President

Prof. Lee Edward Travis last night submitted his resignation as head of the psychology department, Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts announced.

Dean Kay recommended to President Eugene A. Gilmore that the resignation, to take effect at the close of the present academic year, be accepted.

Professor Travis has been serving as head of the psychology department since last July and has been a member of the university faculty since 1927. No reason for the resignation was given.

Dean Kay's statement in full follows: "Prof. Lee Edward Travis, professor and head of the department of psychology Thursday night tendered his resignation to Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, the resignation to take effect at the close of the present academic year. Dean Kay has submitted the resignation to President Gilmore with the recommendation that it be accepted."

Professor Travis has also been serving as director of the psychological and speech clinic. He succeeded the acting head of the department, Dean Emeritus Carl E. Seashore, last summer.

Among his contributions to the psychological field is the discovery of "brain fingerprinting," a method of identifying a person by his brain waves.

In 1927 he was appointed assistant professor of clinical psychology and the next year became professor of psychology and director of the clinic. From 1924 to 1927 he was a national research council fellow.

Besides writing many articles for magazines and scientific journals, Professor Travis is the author of "Speech Pathology," psychology textbook, was a contributor to the handbook of Child Psychology in 1933 and editor of the 34th yearbook of the National Society for the Study of Education.

He is a member of numerous national organizations, including the American Psychological association, American Physiological society, Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, National Association of Teachers of Speech, National Society for the study of Education, Acoustical Society of America, American Speech Correction association, Sigma Xi, Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Pi fraternity.

Japan Needs $1,800,000,000 To Continue War With China

TOKYO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Japan's fighting forces today prepared a budget estimated as high as $1,800,000,000 to carry on the undeclared war against China for another year.

(This, with previous appropriations, would bring to approximately $3,000,000,000 the cost to Japan of the first year and a half of the war which started last July.)

The tentative army and navy estimates now being worked out were expected to amount to between four billion and five billion yen — $1,160,000,000 to $1,450,000,000.

These latest figures will be known as the provisional arms account of the supplementary budget will be added to the regular army and navy budget of $360,000,000 already approved by the cabinet.

Authoritative sources said it was based on the probability that actual hostilities or wartime conditions would last through 1938.

(Japan's entire budget for last year amounted to only slightly less than $800,000,000 of which about half went to the fighting services. Before the end of 1937, however, supplementary budgets had increased war appropriations by more than $760,000,000.)

Two Teams Advance
SIOUX CITY (AP)—Worthington, Minn., and Emmetsburg advanced to the second round of the Hawkeye junior college conference basketball tournament here last night by winning first round contests.

La Guardia Dissects Dime Sandwich To Illustrate Lecture

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 27 (AP)—Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York, stood before an Illinois farm audience tonight and dissected a ten-cent ham sandwich to illustrate his advocacy of stabilized prices for agriculture.

"We want the American farmer to be prosperous," the stocky mayor told the convention of the Illinois Agricultural association.

The ham sandwich was pulled from his coat pocket as La Guardia advocated actual cost of producing farm crops be established so that fair stabilized prices can be paid.

Explosion Kills Six In Scottish Factory
STEVENSTON, Scotland, Jan. 27 (AP)—Six persons were killed today by two explosions at the huge Noble's explosive works where 3,000 employees were at work.

The blasts, which came 10 minutes apart, occurred in the mixing house of the blasting department where the workers were handling nitroglycerine.

Sen. Steiwer Quits; Returns To Law Office

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 27 (AP)—Frederick Steiwer, one of the few republican senators to survive the "Roosevelt landslide" in 1932, resigned today to return to his law practice after next Monday.

Steiwer previously had announced he would not seek a third term, but it had been reported he would serve out his present term ending Dec. 31, 1938.

Gov. Charles Martin, a democrat, said he would appoint a successor, perhaps within 48 hours, but gave no hint as to whom he was considering.

Among those mentioned as possibilities were Mayor Joseph K. Carson of Portland; former Gov. Oswald West, and D. O. Hood, a former state budget director.

The governor said he intended to appoint a person who would not seek election at the November polls, leaving the field open to candidates already announced or weighing a decision. The appointee thus would serve only some 11 months.

It was generally assumed that the appointee would be a democrat, breaking the long tenure of Oregon republicans in the senate. The state's senior senator is Charles McNary, republican leader.

In announcing his planned retirement last fall, Steiwer said he wanted to return to private law practice and duties both less costly and less wearing upon his health. In 1936 the senator underwent a serious abdominal operation in Denver.

Men's Hope Blasted

A Vision Which Materialized

CORA BUSSEY Hillis had an idea. She had the courage and the persistence to see it materialize into the Iowa Child Welfare Research station. The first of its kind ever to be established, the station today ranks among the highest anywhere in all phases of study in child development.

Thirty years ago Mrs. Hillis was called visionary. She believed in the study of psychology of children. She believed it as important to Iowans as the study of pork and beef physiology. She believed, too, that such a study had a place in a state university.

No one agreed or disagreed with her, particularly. The idea then was whimsical. What was there to study about children? They always managed to grow up without any studying. Let them alone, Mrs. Hillis was unsupported in her ideas of the rightness of a state school, financed by state taxes and taking time to study children.

Twenty-five years ago, the persistence of Mrs. Hillis brought her plan to the minds of her friends and associates. Children were thought of as possible important cogs in the machinery of living. Maybe there might be something to the idea that physically and mentally adults are the products of childhood experiences.

Club women became interested in, and then gripped by, the persistence of Mrs. Hillis. A movement toward the recognition of the necessity of child study was on its way.

But leaders in the field of education did not share the enthusiasm of Mrs. Hillis. Not until she presented her hopes to Dean-Emeritus Carl E. Seashore did she get any active cooperation from either psychologists or educators.

Twenty-one years ago, with the cooperation of Dean-Emeritus Seashore, and the persistent drive of Cora Bussey Hillis became a reality. By an act of the general assembly on April 12, 1917, the state board of education authorized a station whose sole purpose was the study of the development of children.

Today, Iowa's pioneer station is the model of all other stations. Children have come into their own not only as subjects of research, but as physical and psychological entities with a right to develop into healthy, intelligent men and women who are able to adjust themselves to whatever changes the times may bring.

One vision at least has made the world a better place for children to learn to grow into something more than physical adults.

sit in the senate chamber even though he has officially been sworn in.

If Milton's record is found to be blameless, he should be given his rightful place in the senate; if not, he should be rejected.

In any case, one irony of fate stands out. We mean Senator Milton's surname—John. It is the same as that of another John Milton who lived his life in England many centuries ago.

That John Milton addressed to the English parliament these words: "Give me liberty to know, to utter and to argue freely according to conscience, above all liberties! Though all the winds of doctrine were let loose to play upon the earth, so true be in the field we do not injuriously, by licensing and prohibiting, to misdirect his strength. Who ever knew truth put to the words in a free and open encounter?"

To England's Milton, as much perhaps as to any one man, we owe the first amendment to our Constitution—article 1 of the Bill of Rights—with its guarantees of freedom of speech, of press, of peaceful assembly.

The true irony of the situation lies in the fact that the present John Milton is such a close associate of a man who believes the liberty of all those who disagree should be restricted. On such principles no government but dictatorship can be born.

Lost—An Opportunity: THE NEWS that the once infallible Mrs. Post, the Mrs. Emily Post, in some unbelievable manner spilled her berries at a banquet has come and gone. For a day it made the front pages, was the topic of discussion throughout the land, and is now almost forgotten.

It is not that we regret this dwindling interest, for there is nothing more disillusioning than the sight of a fallen heroine. It is the attitude that most people have taken towards a really serious matter that has amazed us.

Had we the spirit of our forefathers, such a thing would undoubtedly have led to a casting off of the shackles by which Emily has bound us.

It would have marked a revolt to the "give me plenty of elbow room, shove me the spuds, and toss me a hunk of bread," type of feeding—sane, healthy, hearty—but hardly up to the pre-berry Postian standards.

Not so today. There is no sound in the land of peas rolling off knives into wide mouths, no evidence that pie is being eaten once more with fingers, no gulping noise as hastily chewed food slides down gullets whose owners have at last rebelled. Instead there is only sorrow that Emily slipped, and a firm determination to abide, nevertheless, by the ideals for which she so steadfastly stood in her better days.

Yes, it was an opportunity lost, but we cannot say the incident has been without value to anyone. For henceforth little children, reminded by their mothers that really nice people don't get oatmeal on the tablecloth, can always come back with that most crushing of retorts: "But mamma, Emily Post once spilled the berries."

THE INTIMATE STRANGER

The American lad who was born Joseph Rinehart but lived almost all of his 19 years as Fung Kwok Keung, the adopted son of a Chinese family in China, is back now in his native city to be transplanted again and educated as an American.

He speaks no English; neither does he read or write it. His manner and outlook are Chinese. He is far more a stranger here than his foster father, Fung Dong, who keeps a Chinese restaurant at Far Rockaway. It might be said that the only thing American about him is his blood.

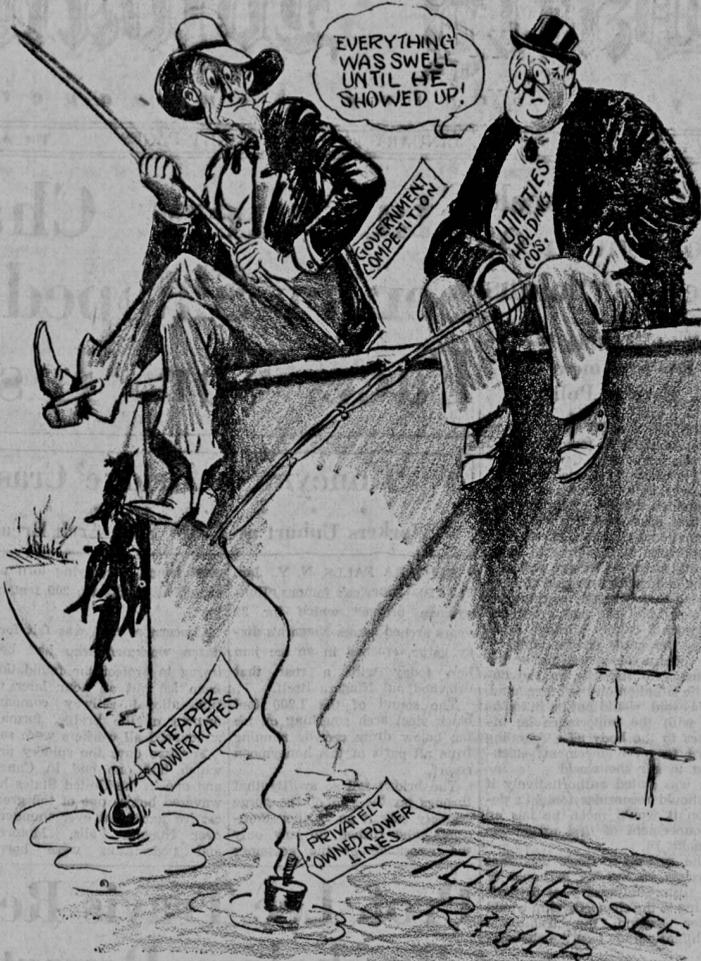

No doubt his heart will go back often to the village of Nam Hoi, near Hongkong, now shattered by bombs, and to his friends there living and dead. If the academic sociologists could only segregate him his case history and future responses would yield many a thesis.

But he is not here to become a laboratory guinea pig; neither is he primarily an idea for novelists. He is not even seeking his fortune in a land of promise. Smarting from the Japanese invasion, he says now that his life is dedicated to China and to the people there who have become his.

At 19 it is all a question mark before him, in his case a bigger question mark than usual. If his life pattern doesn't take the line of repose at least it should make him cosmopolitan. Certainly there's many another immigrant newcomer in the past under less favorable circumstances than his who has made the city yield much of what he really wanted.

THE DISCOURAGED FISHERMAN

Blind May Lessen Handicap To Some Extent—Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

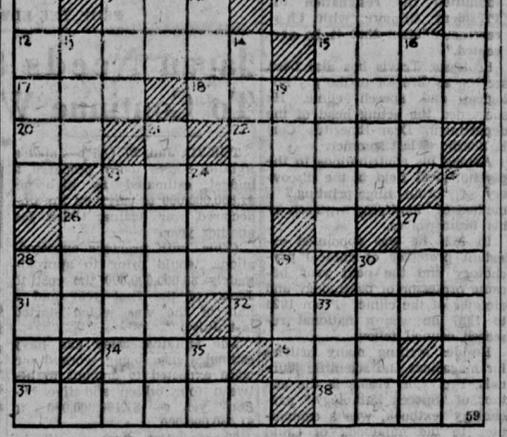

I visited last summer an institution for giving massage and other similar forms of physical therapy where all the treatment was given by blind persons. It was a real joy to note how deftly and gracefully the hands of these blind people moved about their work, and how much happiness they themselves got out of it. The hands of a blind person become as sensitive as eyes, and make them especially adapted to this sort of employment.

You would think it might be hazardous to allow a blind person to operate an electric diathermy machine, but they learn all the frets and stops by running their fingers over the keyboard, and never make a mistake.

In the interesting series of detective stories about the blind detective, Max Canados, there is one in which is described the manner that the blind man detects the fact that a coin handed to him is a counterfeit simply by feeling, smelling and tasting it. A great deal of skepticism has been expressed about this stunt, but there are plenty of authentic records of such feats.

Blind Man Becomes Professor: Nicholas Sanderson, LL. D., F. R. S., was born in Yorkshire in 1882, and lost his sight from the smallpox at the age of 12 months. He did not let this spoil his life, for he was graduated at Cambridge and became Lucasian professor of mathematics there. Among his lighter accomplishments "He could, with the greatest nicety and exactness, perceive the smallest degree of roughness or defect of polish on a surface; thus in a set of Roman medals, he distinguished the genuine from the false, although they had been counterfeited with such exactness as to deceive a connoisseur who had judged from the eye."

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

Bob Burns will star on "Hollywood Hotel" over CBS tonight at 8 o'clock when the program presents a preview of his latest picture, "Radio City Revels." This will make Burns' second appearance this month in addition to his regular "Music Hall" airings.

Arthur Godfrey, Washington, D. C. radio personality, is being heard over CBS on Mondays and Fridays at 6:15 p.m. He has held 38 jobs and started out by being called "The Warbling Banjoist" when he made his radio debut.

Nadine Connor, who has sung on many of the Jeannette MacDonald Sunday programs while the film star has been absent, will guest star on "The Song Shop" over CBS tonight. She will come from Hollywood to do the broadcast in New York and will be heard at 8 o'clock.

Practical advice for young people beginning in business will be given by the National Vocational Guidance association when the American School of the Air starts its series of lectures on "job-hunting." The program will be heard over CBS at 1:30 this afternoon.

"Views and News of South America" will be the first in a series of talks by Dr. Roland Hall Sharp over NBC. Dr. Sharp, who is flying 20,000 miles from Boston around South America and returning through Central America, will be heard at 5:15 this afternoon.

Fred Allen has never been known to leave the studio after his air show and register the slightest degree of satisfaction with his performance.

Ted Collins is one of the very few producer-directors to have such mastery of his music cues that he can stay onstage throughout the whole Kate Smith hour without having to consult the production chart.

National Highlights: 12:45 p.m. — NBC — Heinz and Robert Scholz, concert pianists. 5:15 p.m. — NBC — "Views and news of South America," Dr. Roland Hall Sharp. 6:15 p.m. — CBS — Arthur Godfrey with John Sals, organist. 7 p.m. — NBC — Cities Service concert with Lucille Manners, quartet, Rosario Bourdon's orchestra. 7:30 p.m. — CBS — Paul Whiteman's orchestra, Oliver Wakefield, Connie Boswell, guest. 8 p.m. — "Hollywood Hotel" with Frances Langford, Jerry Cooper, Louella Parsons, Raymond Paige's orchestra. 9 p.m. — CBS — "The Song Shop" with Frank Crumit, Reed Kennedy.

General Notices

Registration for Second Semester 1937-1938: A. Liberal Arts, Education and Commerce Students: 1. Registration Materials: to be procured, Saturday January 22, in the Registrar's Office, room 1, University Hall. 2. Registration Days: Monday, January 24, to Saturday, January 29, and Monday, January 31, 1938. Hours: 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. 3. Order of Registration: To facilitate registration because of space and time limitations, students registering in the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Education and Commerce must specify the day on which they wish to register when they call for their registration materials. A number will be issued permitting registration on that day, if numbers for that day are still available; and registration forms must be filed with checkers and fee assessors in the Registrar's Office on that day. Students who fail to complete this portion of their registration on the days specified by their numbers will be assessed the late registration fee. Numbers are limited to a maximum of 600 per day for Liberal Arts, Education and Commerce students, therefore it may not be possible to accommodate you in your first choice of a registration day if numbers for that day have been exhausted.

Students who have received defer registration cards on account of the possibility of failure in one or more of their courses will register as soon as the Dean of Men (or Women) approves and signs their registration cards; but not later than Saturday, February 5, to avoid the late registration fee.

Students who are permitted to postpone the payment of tuition fees beyond Monday, January 31, by the Committee on Scholarships and Loans must complete all of their registration, except the payment of tuition fee, on the days specified by their numbers to avoid the late registration fee. All students must pay their tuition fees by 5:00 p.m. Monday, January 31, to avoid the late registration fee except those granted extensions by the Scholarship and Loan Committee and those with defer registration cards.

Graduate students will receive registration materials as directed for Liberal Arts. Graduate students must have completed all of their registration, including tuition fee payments, during the period January 25 to January 31, to avoid the late registration fee, unless authorized by the Dean of the Graduate College to defer registration beyond January 31. Registration Procedure: as indicated on pages 3 to 6 in the Schedule of Courses, which you will receive with your registration materials, for both undergraduate and graduate students.

Course Correction: The course entitled Homer in English on p. 16 of "Schedule of Courses" should read Greek Drama in English, with 2-3 credits. DORRANCE S. WHITE. Correction: In the schedule of courses for the second semester the course History 82 should read "Medieval History" instead of "Ancient History." The latter was offered the first semester. W. T. ROOT

Employment and Class Schedules: All students seeking employment for the second semester are to report their new class schedules immediately. Our success in assisting you to secure work is dependent upon our knowledge as to when you are free for employment. Also, those interested in substitute board, or temporary work during examination week are to give us their examination schedules at once. LEE H. KANN, Manager

Opening of Second Semester: The regular classroom and laboratory work will be resumed as follows: A. In the colleges of law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy and engineering, and the school of nursing—Monday, Jan. 31, 8 a.m. (Students in the colleges of pharmacy and engineering who are registered for certain courses in the college of liberal arts will begin their work for these courses Tuesday morning.) B. In the colleges of liberal arts, education, commerce and the graduate college — Tuesday, Feb. 1, 8 a.m. Monday is not a holiday. It is to be employed for the completion of registration primarily of students who received defer registration cards.) H. C. DORCAS, Registrar

Library Hours: The Library reading rooms will close at 5 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29, and will be open from 8:30 a.m.-12 m. and from 1-5 p.m. Monday, Jan. 31. The medical library will close at 5 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29, and will be open the usual hours, from 7:50 a.m.-10 p.m. beginning Monday, Jan. 31. Special hours for all other departmental libraries will be posted on the doors. GRACE VAN WORMER, Acting Director

Cosmopolitan Club: The Cosmopolitan club will hold its regular monthly meeting Sunday evening, Jan. 30, at 6 p.m. in the Iowa grill. Mr. Masuoka will speak on "How the Japanese View The Other Races in Hawaii." All members and friends are cordially invited. SECRETARY-TREASURER: MRS. E. K. MAPES

Pershing Rifles: Pershing Rifemen who have been ushering at the basketball games, will report for the game Monday night at 6:30 p.m. B. BLAINE RUSSELL, Captain, Pershing Rifles

Band Try-outs: Try-outs for concert and variety bands will be held in room 15, music studio building, by appointment, from Monday, Jan. 24 to Saturday, Jan. 29, for those who have not been members of university band organizations during the first semester. C. B. RIGTER, Director of Bands

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There have been some hilarious anecdotes about the great and the near-great in the theater, but this story concerning Jane Cowl, who is one of the theater's better actresses, seems to me funnier than the rest.

There was another actress who told of an opportunity to appear with Miss Cowl in a play. "I'd think it over," a friend warned her. "When Jane Cowl is on stage everybody else is secondary. You won't get much of a chance."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the girl. "Jane told me she likes to mix it up—one night she's the star and the next she carries a platter."

"Listen," the friend said, "any platter Jane carries will have to have on it the head of John the Baptist."

It is Joe Penner who puts in his 2-cents worth with this one—the one about the comedian who became so affluent that he sent his poor old father a $125 coat. But knowing his dad's conservative nature he said that the coat cost only $25. Next week he was horrified to receive this note from his father: "Rush six more coats of the same. Just sold the one you sent me for $35."

Doris Humphrey, who gave that dance recital with Charles Weidman the other day and inspired a lot of friendly chatter in the papers, might decide to become a style designer, some of these days—if the mood strikes her.

She has ample reason for believing she would succeed in such adventure. On a tour several months ago one of those annoying little matters that plague show people rapped solidly on her door. They had arrived in a strange city and her trunks were lost. Every stitch of costume she possessed was in those trunks; so you may well believe that Miss Humphrey turned pale and caught hold of the door for support.

Between then and curtain time that night Miss Humphrey designed and put together a dozen costumes. And the papers unanimously acclaimed her "unique and ingenious costumes." Fortunately, they held together throughout the performance—and her trunks arrived early next morning.

But this dancer is still toying with the idea of fashioning new styles in clothes for women.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS: HOLLYWOOD — The set of "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" was tightly-closed against visitors the other day. Reason: Claudette Colbert, enacting a sequence in a bathing suit, insisted on privacy.

There are virtually as many reasons for "closed sets" as there are stars who demand them. Best publicized is Garbo's, the Swedish lady's shyness. Any star who makes a habit of excluding observers is forthwith labeled as "pulling a Garbo."

Katharine Hepburn, for some time now, has been "pulling a Garbo." Although she came from the stage, where players are supposed to like audiences, Katie will have none of them in the sound stages.

Joan Crawford used to like visitors. Now she usually sweeps to her dressing room at the click of the latch. Any star, beset by rumors of domestic trouble, is likely to act this way. Denying gossip becomes monotonous.

Kay Francis shies from strangers, sometimes bars friends to avoid the former. Fred Astaire, certainly an unassuming fellow, asks privacy when he gets fussed and bothered with his work, which is intricate enough at best. Edward G. Robinson, usually expansive, likes to "die" unobserved. Carole Lombard, lately, has been avoiding most women reporters, chats freely with men. Mae West, with a few exceptions, likewise shuns the feminine pen. Their sets, however, are seldom closed.

Paul Muni likes being watched, occasionally likes to talk to visitors, but is extremely "choosy" in picking them. He's the sort of actor who gets wrapped up in a role and doesn't want to be jarred out of it by time-of-day stuff.

Operatic stars you'd expect to be temperamental don't live up to the name. Grace Moore comes closest, although she's never been anything but gracious when I've been around. It's after the observer leaves that Grace speaks her mind, if it so happens she didn't want visitors that day. Lily Pons is as friendly as a child, and it's not at all where Gladys Swarthout is concerned the whole world could watch her work — and welcome.

Blue Devils To Risk Unbeaten Slate Tonight

Locals Keyed to Stop Powerful Offense of Invaders

Probable Starting Lineups:
IOWA CITY DAVENPORT
McLaughlin F Siegel
Covert F Lorenzen
Hirt C Spencer
Devine G Dohse
Burger G Bender

A keyed City high basketball club will aim squarely at Davenport's immaculate record when the two teams meet on the local court tonight at 8 o'clock. Davenport will come to Iowa City fresh from a 22-18 decision earned last night over the strong St. Ambrose quintet of Davenport.

The Little Hawks will have an added inspiration in the Hilltopper contest, as their captain and defensive mainstay, lanky Wayne Putnam, watches the game from the sidelines. Putnam was out of bed yesterday for the first time since Sunday, but was left weak by the throat infection which has kept him under doctor's care for several days. Although the Hawklet pilot may dress for the Davenport game, he will probably see little service.

Playing his first year of varsity basketball, George Devine has been assigned the tough task of filling Captain Putnam's vacant position in the Red and White rear court. Devine has a sharp basket eye from far out on the floor and should add considerably to the home team's scoring attack.

Coach Moon's aggregation will be playing their first game without the services of Ernie Maas and "Jockey" Mahoney, regular forward and center, respectively. The two Hilltoppers will be lost to their team through the ninth semester ruling of the Iowa High School Athletic association.

Coach Herb Cormack's freshman-sophomore proteges will face a rejuvenated Davenport yearling quintet. Probable starters for the Cormackmen include Parker and King in the front court, Lewis at center, and Culbertson and Lillick at the guard posts. Goldberg, regular center of the junior Hawklets will be used sparingly in tonight's encounter because of a severe cold.

Only two holdovers from last semester's first string of the little Blue Devils will take the floor against the local frosh-soph. Coach Clem Bridge, dissatisfied with the showing of his team, has switched his lineup to include three new faces. Iowa City will be seeking a first place tie by virtue of a win over the Davenport youngsters.

Whizzer White Is Offered $15,000 To Play Pro Football

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27 (AP)—A contract calling for $15,000 for one season's play with the Pittsburgh Pirate pros was in the mail today addressed to Byron "Whizzer" White, all-American quarterback at the University of Colorado.

The Pittsburgh club of the National Professional Football league drew White in the draft a month ago and Coach Johnny Blood was reported then to have offered him $15,000 for the two seasons, but to have been turned down. White has obtained a Rhodes scholarship and said he would not play pro football.

Secretary John Mayer of the Pirates said the club mailed him a contract yesterday, nevertheless, offering $15,000 for one season.

Indiana Ace Lost

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., (AP)—Malcolm Hicks, crack quarter miler of the Indiana university track team, was forced out of action for the season yesterday when he injured his knee in a fall on concrete at the I. U. fieldhouse. His knee was lacerated so badly twelve stitches were required to close the cuts.

Down The Sports Trail

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Like a man trapped by licking flames, an irate mother-in-law and an unreasonable sheriff, Frankie Frisch is reported to be in the throes of utter despair these days when all big league managers should be full of nothing but good food and hope.

Van Lingle Mungo, the truant fireball act of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is the cause of Onkel's alarm. As salesman Larry MacPhail holds huddle after huddle with Onkel's boss, Branch Rickey, Onkel is deeply worried lest the Cardinals be the eccentric Mungo as a companion headache to Dizzy Dean. That would be something like giving the father of 23 unruly kids a set of quinquets.

Since the Mungo-to-St. Louis negotiations have warmed, Onkel, like all great men, has kept a discreet silence. But when a practical joker first suggested such a deal, he looked sadly beyond the potted palms of a hotel lobby and said:

"Diz and Mungo on the same ball club, no, that couldn't happen—even to me."

Manager's Nightmare

Mungo and Diz are great baseball pitchers when they want to be. Between them, if they willed, they could pitch the Gashouers right into the Promised Land of the world series. But if they didn't care to do so, life would be unbearable even for Mr. Frisch, who fears the worst. Can you imagine those two poppers-off on the same club?

Now that awards are being handed out to ball players, managers and clubowners for all merits, someone should strike off an annual gold medal and present it each year to the "most patient manager or player." Frisch would be a cinch to win it. For five years, Frankie has been all but leading the illustrious Diz by the hand, boosting, pleading, cajoling and roaring at and with his big pitching act.

Never a Dull Moment

Awards for stamina also should be offered the weary writers who journey with the Gashouers. Those merry fellows never give their mothers cause for fear when they travel with the Gashouse Gang. All they have time for is their baseball beat. They can't even go to a movie and relax. As sure as they try it, someone pops off and excitement prevails that makes news.

"Nice, quiet evenings with a dinner, a show and a cigar are not for me when I'm traveling with this outfit," said Martin J. Haley, baseball writer with the St. Louis Globe Democrat. "Usually, we have to eat dinner in our rooms right near a telephone."
"Never a dull moment on this club," is one of Onkel Frisch's standard wisecracks.
And if Mungo joins up, Onkel can change the tempo of his wisecrack to "never a dull second."

Freddie Steele To Defend Ring Crown

CLEVELAND, Jan. 28 (AP)—Matchmaker Joe Lewis announced today he had received signed contracts for a middleweight championship fight at Cleveland public auditorium Feb. 19 between Titledholder Freddie Steele, of Tacoma, Wash., and Carmen Barth of Cleveland.

Steele's contract designates his 160-pound championship will be at stake in a 15 round bout, Lewis said.
He announced Steele was scheduled to meet Bob Turner in a tune up fight at Richmond, Va., Feb. 7.
Barth won the 160 pound Olympic boxing championship at Los Angeles in 1932.

Blues Host To Anamosa Five Here Tonight

Visitors Favored Over Locals in League Contest

Probable Starting Lineups
U-High Anamosa
Burns Trevarthen
Krogh Westphal
Miller Blayney
D. Carson Ireland
Ries Robertson

7:00—U-high sophomores vs. Anamosa second team.
8:00—U-high vs. Anamosa.
When the league leading Anamosa basketball team faces the University high school quintet on the latter's floor tonight, the Prison City lineup will be to a man the same as it was when the Blue-hawks defeated the visitors on the Anamosa court last year.

Greatly favored to win, the Anamosa team will be seeking its eighth straight victory and its fourth Little Eight conference win in as many starts. The U-high cagers, undefeated in conference competition until Monticello downed them last weekend, need a victory in tonight's game to keep them in the conference running. The Blue and White team has won three out of four loop contests.

Hoping to strengthen his team's offensive against the zone defense that he expects Anamosa to use, Coach Wm. R. Wood has shifted his sharp-shooting center, Ed Burns, to forward. This move will enable the Bluehawks to take advantage of the rangy center's ability to connect from mid-court as well as close in.

Leading the list of veteran Prison City stars is Harold Westphal. He is about 5' 11", exceptionally fast for his size and has averaged well over 10 points a game this season. His running mate at forward is John Trevarthen, who is also a fast man although somewhat smaller than Westphal.

In the backcourt, Anamosa has Larry Robertson, who is rated as the fastest guard in the Little Eight conference. He is an excellent guard and a dependable offensive player.
Anamosa has an impressive defensive record for the season. Only one team has pierced its tight zone defense for more than 20 points and that was the powerful DeWitt quintet, which handed the Prison City five their only defeat of the season. The game went two overtime periods.

200 Golfers In Oakland Meet

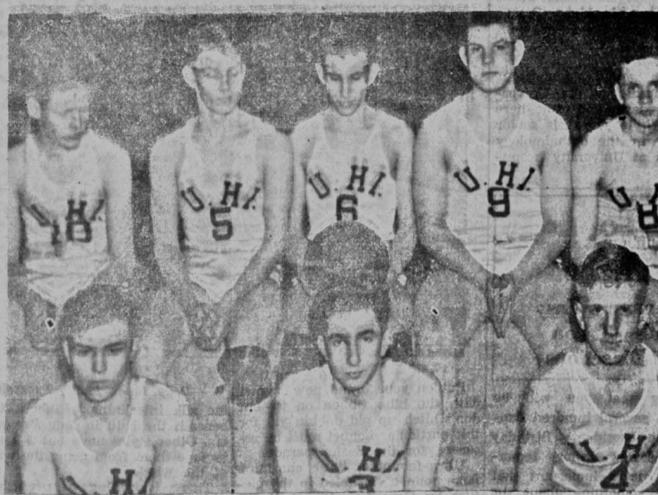

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 27 (AP)—Professional members of a golfing club will fire opening shots tomorrow in the $5,000 Oakland 72-hole open championship.

The more than 200 entries numbered most of the country's link notables, fresh from a swing in southern California.
Favoritism was confined to defending champion Sam Snead, Jimmy Thompson, Henry Picard, Byron Nelson, Horton Smith, Harry Cooper and Lawson Little, the ex-amateur titledholder.
Snead, who won last year's Oakland open with a two-under par 270 for the 72 holes, has set the pace this year in the Nassau, Miami and Del Mar tournaments.
Thomson captured the recent $8,000 Los Angeles open with a new course record of 273 for the 72 holes. In the later Pasadena open he was just edged out by Picard.
The 160 leading scorers after tomorrow's opening round will qualify for Saturday's 18, and the low 60 thereafter will fight it out in Sunday's 36-hole finals.

Rightsaire Signs

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Everette Rightmire of Sioux City, Ia., yesterday signed for a 10-round bout here Feb. 4 against an opponent yet to be chosen, the winner to meet Henry Armstrong, the Los Angeles featherweight sensation.

Bluehawk Team That Meets Anamosa Tonight

Pictured above is the University high school varsity basketball squad. Having already proven themselves one of the most powerful teams in the Little Eight conference by winning three out of the four conference games they have played, the Bluehawks must defeat the league-leading Anamosa quintet tonight to retain a high standing in the conference. The players are: front row (left to right), Duane Carson, Capt. George Miller and Ernie Krogh; back row, Murray Dawson, Ham Ries, Bruce Alderman, Bob Carson and Ed Burns.

St. Mary's Ramblers Travel To Wilton Junction Floor Tonight

Paul Hennessey Is Still On Sidelines With Injured Knee

Probable Starting Lineups

Chadek F Grings
J. Bock F Atkinson
Schmidt C Blenke
Holubek (c) G Whitmer
Cole G Hage

In an attempt to give local teams a clean sweep in Iowa City-Wilton Junction contests, the St. Mary's Ramblers will travel to Wilton Junction tonight to meet the Wilton Beavers, who last week lost a bare one-point decision to the Iowa City St. Patrick's quintet. The Marians, having quelled the Irish attack by a decisive score, are expected to bring home another victory tonight.

A week of intensive drill has been dished out to the St. Mary's cage squad as Coach Francis Stueppel sought more accurate basket shooting and a more aggressive style of play. Coach Stueppel indicated his dissatisfaction with the team's showing against Oxford Monday by filling several first string berths with substitutes in practices this week.
Ray Cole has replaced Bill Bock at a guard post, receiving the promotion as a reward for his good work in drills since the Oxford encounter.

Although he will probably make the trip tonight, it is not likely that Paul Hennessey, high-scoring guard, will be called upon for much work in the Wilton game. Hennessey's activities in practice sessions this week have been confined to basket shooting and ball-handling. His injured knee is responding slowly to treatment and it is not definitely known how soon the crippled Rambler guard will be able to resume his first string position.

'Airgead Sios' Race Favorite

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—A brilliant little chestnut gelding with a bad heart, Sir Francis Towle's Airgead Sios, today was made one of the favorites to win the grand national when the 78 horses were allotted weights for the classic Aintree test, March 25.

Airgead Sios (Gaelic for Money Down) was given a handicap of 168 pounds, seven less than was assigned H. Lloyd Thomas' Royal Mail, last year's winner, and two more than Paul Mellon's Drinmore Lad, top weight among the seven American-owned en-

7:00—St. Pat's reserves vs. Solon reserves.
8:00—St. Pat's vs. Solon.
Looking forward to reentering the win column after dropping a close 17 to 13 decision to the strong Immaculate Conception five Wednesday night, the luckless St. Patrick's cage club will play host to the inexperienced Solon quintet on the local south side court tonight.

In a previous meeting with the Solonites Iowa City's Fighting Irish sifted through the Solon defense for numerous set-ups and close range shots to run up a one-sided score. The invading quintet, composed largely of freshmen and sophomores, has had tough sledding throughout the current campaign. St. Mary's of Iowa City holds a pair of triumphs over Coach Roy Eastwood's men.

Hod Demery, sharp-shooting backcourt man for the Green and White club, has suffered a scoring slump in the last few games. However, the scrappy guard has now recovered from his badly bruised hip and is expected to resume his leading role in the scoring department tonight. Hod Love, having shown signs of a sharpened basket eye in the Cedar Rapids tilt, is being counted upon to help along in scoring duty.

Glen Fitzpatrick, one of the two Shamrock cagers to score from the floor in Wednesday night's defeat, should add his share to the total score of the home team. Under the basket the Irish mainstay will be Jay Walden, who turned in a good defensive performance against the Cedar Rapids team.

Pepper Martin OK's One Year Card Contract

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—John Leonard (Pepper) Martin, the "wild horse of the Osage," signed a one year contract with the St. Louis Cardinals today and said he was "rarin' to go."
Martin, who will be playing his eighth season with the club in 1938, was called from his Oklahoma home for a salary conference but apparently he and Eranch Rickey, vice-president, had little difficulty. Terms of the contract were not announced.
Before the conversation between the two, Martin presented Rickey with a gift of venison.
A knee which handicapped the outfielder in 1937 no longer bothers him, Martin said, explaining he had "rested" it through the off season. Then he proceeded to tell of his many activities during the fall and winter:
"I have built a fence, did some interior decorating in my home, attending midget automobile races, hunted and handled my heavyweight boxer, Junior Munsell, in some of his fights. And say, that guy is getting better all the time. I think he's developing into a real title prospect. He drove here with me and maybe we'll be able to get him a bout around here."

Poffenberger Agrees To Detroit Terms

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 27 (AP)—Cletus (Boots) Poffenberger, Detroit rookie hurler who turned in 10 victories against five defeats for the Tigers last season, said today he had agreed to 1938 salary terms calling for 25 per cent increase over his first year's pay.
Poffenberger, who said recently he had returned such a contract, commented only that he had "changed his mind."
He said he will sign the contract within a few days.

Cagers Go Back to Work After Taking Time Out For First Semester Examinations

South Dakota Comes To Local Fieldhouse On Monday

Only two more practice sessions remain for the University of Iowa basketball team before the Hawkeye non-conference season is ended. Faced with the task of stopping Maynard Ingalls and his South Dakota teammates Monday night in the fieldhouse, the Hawks will open their first hard drills of the week today in an effort to polish off the rough spots incurred during the lay-off forced by semester exams.

Last night Coach Rollie Williams scrimmaged his men against the freshman squad and used two combinations against the yearlings. On one group Williams had Johnson and Stephens at forwards, Hohenhorst at center and Suesens and Van Ysseldyk at guards. On the other quintet the Iowa mentor had Kinnick and Lind at forwards, Prasse at center and Hobbs and Ely at guards.

The team looked better as a whole yesterday than it has in recent drills but the men appear to be a bit stale from their enforced lay-off. The entire squad did not report but the missing men are expected to turn out for drill tonight as the hard work gets under way.

Following the South Dakota contest Monday night the Hawks will prepare for the eight Big Ten games that will finish their season. Ohio State will be the first conference foe to be played, coming to the Iowa fieldhouse Feb. 5. Two days later the Hawkeyes will travel to Minneapolis to take on the Minnesota Gophers.

Bob Feller's Dad Predicts 20 Wins For Famous Son

ROCHESTER, Minn., Jan. 27 (AP)—W. H. Feller of Van Meter, Ia., here for a physical checkup, predicted today his famous son, Bob, who accompanied him, will pitch the Cleveland Indians to 20 victories next season.—If he is lucky.

Neither would discuss how much Bob will be paid this year—the figure has not yet been included in the contract he signed, they said—but both indicated it would be considerably more than $17,000.

Feller said he has been amusing himself rabbit hunting and helping with the chores this winter. He has been ordered to report for spring training at New Orleans Feb. 27.

Selkirk Signs 1938 Contract

Believe Slugger Receives Substantial Raise From Yanks

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Yankees announced tonight George Selkirk, their slugging outfielder, had signed a contract for the 1938 season. Though no figure was announced, it was believed the Rochester "strong boy" had received a substantial raise.

When he first received his contract some days ago Selkirk announced he was a holdout, but it required only a 15-minute conversation with Secretary Ed Barrow here today to change his mind. Barrow wouldn't say whether the Yankees had hiked their original offer, but it was considered likely, because Selkirk caught a return train for Rochester, smiling broadly.

Selkirk was leading the American league in home runs until he dislocated a shoulder early last season. It's no secret the Yankees expect him to give Joe DiMaggio a hard race for distance hitting honors this year.

The Yanks also announced they had received the signed contract of Kemp Wicker, second-string pitcher.

Events continued to move smoothly for the Giants with the receipt of Mel Ott's signed contract. He was the third regular to get on the line, Pitcher Carl Hubbell and First Baseman John McCarthy having beaten him to it by a few days. Ott for the first time is on the club roster as a third baseman this season.

Gym Team To Open Schedule On February 8

The University of Iowa gymnastic team will open its 1938 schedule in the fieldhouse, Feb. 8, in a triangular meet with Minnesota and Nebraska instead of Feb. 12 as previously announced. Coach Albert Baumgartner said yesterday.

In spite of the fact that the Hawkeyes won the 1937 Big Ten conference meet, Iowa will start the season as the underdog. Coach Baumgartner is starting almost entirely from scratch with a crew consisting for the most part of untried sophomores and juniors from which to pick his varsity squad.

University Club to See, Hear Program of Music, Sculpture

Musical Selections Split Into 3 Historical Sections

Mrs. Edward F. Mason, Mrs. Alexander Ellett and Mrs. Maud Whedon Smith will present a program of portrait modeling and music at the University club supper Sunday at 6 p.m. in the clubrooms in Iowa Union.

The program has been presented to many women's clubs. The last performance was at Whittier Jan. 6.

Mrs. Mason will choose a subject from her audience to sculpture while Mrs. Ellett sings soprano solos accompanied by Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Ellett will present a program of American music divided into three sections—early American music, dating from 1788 to 1855; mid-nineteenth century selections, dating from 1860 to 1900, and 20th century music dating from 1900 to 1937.

Costumes
While she presents the early American group of songs Mrs. Ellett will be costumed in an authentic copy of a Martha Washington gown. The dress has a hoop-skirt fashioned of yellow taffeta with revers of blue over a rose-colored petticoat. The sleeves and vest are of cream-colored chiffon. The dress is decorated with rows of pink rosettes.

During her presentation of the second group of songs, Mrs. Ellett will wear a frock from the trousseau of Bessie Lane Ellett. The dress is fashioned of fawn-colored seersucker with an all-over floral pattern and is made with a basque waist, leg-of-mutton sleeves, tight skirt with a slight train, and lace at the throat and wrists.

Lierle, Mrs. Rollin M. Perkins, Mrs. Arthur Steinler, Mrs. Clarence Updegraff, Mrs. J. Van der Zee and Mrs. Earl Waterman.

Mrs. Walter A. Jessup of New York, a former member of the club, was an out-of-town guest.

Virginia Grone, Dr. K. C. Swan To Wed Feb. 5

The engagement and approaching marriage of Virginia Grone, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. Grone of Portland, Ore., to Dr. Kenneth Carl Swan of Iowa City, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Swan, also of Portland, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents. The marriage will be solemnized Feb. 5 at the Kountz Memorial Lutheran church in Omaha, Neb.

Dr. Roderick McDougal of University hospital and Mrs. Roy Seivers of Omaha will attend the couple.

Both Miss Grone and Dr. Swan are graduates of the University of Oregon. Miss Grone is affiliated with Alpha Omega Pi sorority and Dr. Swan with Sigma Chi and Nu Sigma Nu fraternities.

Dr. Swan served a year's junior internship at the University of Wisconsin and came here July 1, 1937, to serve his senior internship in the ophthalmology department at University hospital.

Sober, Steadfast, Demure? Just Like the Girl in the Poem? Well, The Hat Says She Is

Put on your brand new bonnet with the blue ribbon on it—but don't hitch up old dobbin yet for this particular bonnet must be reserved for the Easter parade.

Ultra-feminine, these charming poke bonnets, modeled in the picture by Genevieve Campbell, A.I. of Des Moines, are particularly flattering to young faces. They make their owners as demurely alluring as those dashing young ladies of a century ago who danced the Virginia reel instead of the Big Apple.

Beautiful as Martha Washington herself is the college girl whose bonnet is made of black straw with a crown sloping to a circle in center back. A wide poke brim lined with finely stitched rose satin provides a picturesque frame for her face. A blue ribbon fastens at the sides and ties in a small bow under her chin.

Another color combination might be chosen by the queenly soul. It is of royal blue milan straw with a brighter shade of blue for the silk interlining. Ribbons tie beneath the chin in long streamers. Other styles have but a band to save them from going the way of the wind.

There is veiling in profusion on these fashion revivals of colonial days. It may be worn to cover the hat and fall in soft folds almost to the shoulders, or it may be thrown back off the face to dangle in back.

Black is the chosen color, but just as attractive are those in pastel shades, adding a dash of color to one's fur coat. Pastels are especially good to wear with suits, and it's smart to match them with blouses.

Tailored versions of the hat are shown in soft felts both in conservative and lighter colors. Tiny bows at the back give them a touch of frivolity. Some pokes have the suggestion of a flip in front to satisfy those who are reluctant to depart from the old campus standby.

How To Get There

New Armory Easy To Find—if You Follow Directions

Assuming that you will be among the several hundred dancers at the President's Birthday Ball in the new armory tomorrow night, it is important that you know something about the armory—including its location.

With Dubuque and Washington streets as a starting point proceed south on Dubuque nine blocks—Benton street is the last cross street. At the end of Dubuque you turn in to the spacious parking lot to the east of the huge new $65,000 structure.

The entrance is on the east side of the building, and there are several cloakrooms and lounges for the convenience of guests.

The huge first floor, which will be turned into a ballroom for the gala event tomorrow night, measures 105 feet in length and is 75 feet wide. The hardwood floor—never yet used for dancing—should meet the requirements of the most polished dancers.

Two orchestras, Dusty Keaton and Peggy Fuller, will keep up a continuous melody of popular tunes from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., curing which time the dancers will be able to get soft drinks at a stand conveniently located.

The ball will begin with a grand march which promises to remind the older generation of the "good old days." A highlight in the festivities will be a demonstration of the popular Big Apple dance by Attorney Will J. Hayek and company.

More than 1,800 tickets are on sale throughout the county.

Prof., Mrs. Kurt Lewin Send for Furnishings From Germany

Having completed a satisfactory sea voyage is but one of the distinctions of the interesting furnishings in the home of Prof. and Mrs. Kurt Lewin, 1141 E. College street.

Especially designed and built for their beautiful home in Berlin, Germany, these furnishings were shipped to Iowa City this fall.

They were designed by Marcel Breuer, well-known architect formerly connected with Walter Gropius of the Bauhaus Dessau architectural house in Berlin. He is now a member of the faculty at Harvard university.

Upon entering the living room of the Lewin home, one is particularly impressed by a long black table at one corner of the lounge. Its entire top is of shining black glass. A companion-piece to the table is a bookcase with black glass shelves and chromium rods for the sides. Its shelves are lined with German books from Professor Lewin's library.

Rust predominates in the living room color scheme. Floor-length drapes, woven by the Bauhaus Dessau house, harmonize with the lounge of the same color tone. A black lounge chair in one corner of the room is of ribbed wool material with tan and black cord trim. It is a chair from the home of Mrs. Lewin's grandmother in Silesia, Germany.

The front room rug is a modernistic French creation by Hans Arp of Paris. Large black and red designs relieve the sombre taupe background. On the walls of the rooms hang attractive paintings, all done by Germany's famous artist, Erik Richter.

The dining room is almost breath-taking in its beauty. A light maple buffet with a glass platter top stands against one wall. A china cabinet against the adjoining wall contains behind its solid glass doors a set of genuine Bohemian china dishes in dainty floral design.

Tiny glass goblets almost one hundred years old are set upon the second shelf. They, too, are a heritage from Mrs. Lewin's grandmother.

The dining room set is also of light wood. A rug made in Morocco, Africa, covers the floor. It is a brown, tan and gray mixture. Potted plants form an attractive and colorful arrangement in the dining room window.

In the hallway are two large cherry-wood cabinets, one on each side of the entrance.

The upstairs of the home contains three interesting rooms—the children's nursery, Professor Lewin's study and a bedroom charmingly furnished in modernistic patterns. Royal blue satin coverings on the beds provide an attractive contrast to the pale furniture.

In the study is a large library, a study table and other convenient pieces. Especially interesting are some of the professor's treasures. Among the most valuable is a Kwannon Chinese god. It is a relic of an old Korean tomb and is reputed to be about one thousand years old.

Another of the professor's choicest possessions is a Japanese Kioto doll. It was presented to him as a token of appreciation by a group of Japanese students when he left the University of Tokyo where he had been lecturing.

Prof. and Mrs. Lewin, with their two children, Miriam, 6, and Daniel, 4, have lived in Iowa City three years. Prof. Lewin is a professor of child psychology in the university. He was formerly a member of the faculty at the University of Berlin in Berlin, Germany.

Members of the home department of the Iowa City Woman's club will meet at 1 p.m. Tuesday for a potluck luncheon at the home of Mrs. F. S. Witzgman, 1519 Center avenue.

Following the luncheon the women will exchange recipe ideas.

Mrs. R. G. Busby, Mrs. A. F. McMahan and Mrs. Irving King have planned the programs for the home division for the year.

Thursday at 2:30 p.m. a one-act play will be given at the meeting of the Woman's club drama department in the city hall.

The cast for the play includes Mrs. H. H. McCarty, Mrs. A. W. Bennett, Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, Mrs. W. F. Merriam, Mrs. Roy Plickinger, Mrs. E. W. Chittenden, Mrs. J. V. Blackman, Mrs. H. R. Ferguson, Mrs. W. P. Mueller Jr., Mrs. H. A. McMaster, Mrs. Edna Harter and Mrs. Leona Pearson.

Mrs. C. H. Smoke will give a thumb-nail sketch of Helen Hayes.

The committee in charge of the meeting includes Mrs. James Lons and Mrs. M. M. Crayne.

The public welfare department will spend Friday afternoon sewing at the Mary O. Coldren home. They will meet there at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. G. F. Robeson is chairman of the committee for the affair. Her assistants are Mrs. G. W. Buxton, Mrs. H. S. Ivie and Mrs. E. F. Wickham.

Fifteen members of the garden department of the Woman's club met yesterday with Mrs. I. A. Rankin, 714 E. Burlington street, to discuss spring gardening plans.

Each woman brought a seed catalog and told what plants and seeds she would buy this year for her garden.

Mrs. J. W. Jones gave "Magazine Highlights" in which she discussed how to pick out a garden plant. Mrs. J. W. Howe read excerpts from "Seeds, Their Place in Life and Legend," by Vernon Quinn.

Mary Ann Bowman Weds Ray Kutcher

Mary Ann Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Bowman of Riverside, became the bride of Ray Kutcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kutcher of Oxford, yesterday at 9 a.m. in St. Wenceslaus church. The Rev. Edward W. Neuzil performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kutcher of Oxford served as attendants. Ushers were Gerald Grace and Robert Lenz, both of Iowa City.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was given at Youde's inn. After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside on a farm east of Oxford.

Mrs. Kutcher attended Iowa City high school. The bridegroom has been farming with his father.

Women Voters' League to Meet

The group of League of Women Voters' members studying the far Eastern question will meet at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the home of Dr. Zella White Stewart, 1010 Woodlawn avenue.

Mrs. George Martin will be in charge of the meeting, at which Mrs. Avery Lambert will present a paper on the open-door policy of the United States. Following the report there will be a period of open discussion.

Local D. A. R. To Hold Party On Its Birthday

To Commemorate 40th Anniversary Here February 12

Pilgrim chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will commemorate the 40th anniversary of the founding of the local group at its annual luncheon Feb. 12 at the Jefferson hotel. The charter was granted Feb. 19, 1898.

Following the luncheon a play, presented by students of the dramatic arts department under the direction of Prof. Vance M. Morton, will be given. Mrs. T. Dell Kelley will present to the chapter a three-tiered birthday cake in honor of the event.

Members of the club will be telephoned for reservations. Any member who is not reached is asked to call Mrs. Lloyd A. Howell or some other member of the social committee. Members of the committee are Mrs. Charles B. Crain, Mrs. Paul C. Packer, Mrs. Charles H. Foster and Virginia Adams.

Charter members of the local group were Mrs. Eleanor Startzman Biggs, Mrs. Adelia Shrader Carder, Dr. Ida Holson Bailey, Mrs. Elizabeth Gardner Cox, Mrs. Ella Lyon Hill, Dr. Ailene Holson Seifert, Ella Frances Johnson, Dr. Leora Johnson, Mrs. Ella Jayne Lindsay, Mrs. Martha A. Marshall, Mrs. Fannie Fracker Startzman, Winifred Startzman and Mrs. Kate Shrader Palmer.

The regent of Pilgrim chapter since 1935 has been E. Belle Durant. During this time 48 members, new or reinstated, have been added to the club membership.

Two new groups have been organized. The juniors, a group of younger women, and a contract bridge club meet separately, but join with the chapter for monthly meetings.

The Iowa juniors' present state project is the education of a young woman chosen from the school supported by the D. A. R. at Tamassee, S. C. She is receiving a four-year college course at Iowa State college.

Dancers to Hear President's Speech At Birthday Ball

A radio will be installed at the Iowa City armory Saturday night for reception of President Roosevelt's address to the persons attending the birthday balls, it was announced yesterday by Attorney Ingalls Swisher, chairman of the Johnson county ball. President Roosevelt will thank the many persons attending the birthday balls throughout the country for joining the fight against infantile paralysis. The broadcast will be between 19:30 and 11 p.m.

More Than 130 To Receive Degrees At Convocation Tuesday

With final examinations scheduled to end tomorrow, more than 130 students will approach the conclusion of their careers at the University of Iowa.

Those who complete all requirements will receive their degrees at the mid-year convocation Tuesday evening. The number of men and women receiving degrees will be one of the largest in mid-year convocation history.

Applications were received from 148 persons, but the actual number to receive awards probably will not be known until Monday when reports of all examinations are tallied.

Station WSUI will broadcast the entire ceremony from Iowa Union, beginning at 8 p.m. The broadcast will follow the graduate dinner at which Prof. Bartholow V. Crawford of the English department will be guest speaker.

The convocation address will be given by Dr. George H. Gallup, a distinguished alumnus of the university, and director of the Institute of Public Opinion in New York, N. Y.

Myron Drake To Replace Miller On Broadcast

Myron Drake, A4 of Marshalltown, will succeed Merle Miller, A3 of Marshalltown, as radio reporter on The Daily Iowan of the Air news broadcast heard over station WSUI at 8:45 p.m.

Miller will leave tomorrow to begin four months' study of radio broadcasting with the British Broadcasting corporation in London.

Drake will begin his new broadcasting period tonight. During the last semester he has presented the news program heard at 5:50 p.m. Summer Beck, A4 of Danville, will take Drake's place on the afternoon presentation.

Beck has been presenting the Campus Activities program every Tuesday and Thursday since last fall. Both he and Drake are members of the class in radio news taught by Prof. Charles Sanders of the school of journalism.

Two Alumni Visit Mrs. George Walker

Mary Johnston of Topeka, Kan., is visiting Mrs. George Walker, 318 E. Jefferson street. Miss Johnston, an alumna of the university, received an M.A. degree in 1937 and has been conducting psychological testing in the Topeka schools.

James Maddox, assistant director of the speech clinic of Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., is also visiting in the home of Mrs. Walker. He received an M.A. degree here in 1937.

Iowa Engineer Group to Meet Here in March

Varied Program Will Mark Anniversary Of Society

The Iowa Engineering society will convene for its 50th anniversary meeting at the University of Iowa, March 9 and 10, with several hundred engineers participating in varied technical sessions, Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering announced yesterday.

This will be the first meeting of the organization held at the university for many years.

Technical programs will be conducted in the various branches of the profession under the leadership of outstanding engineers, Dean Dawson said. They will include reports on new methods and discoveries and discussions by society members.

Also on the program will be discussions in the fields of civil, electrical, mechanical and hydraulic engineering, as well as soil conservation.

The meeting is being arranged by members of the Iowa City Engineers' club, of which Prof. Joseph Howe of the college of engineering is president and Nolan Page is secretary.

One of the features of the program will be ceremonies in observance of the 50th anniversary of the foundation. The president of the society is Dean Thomas R. Agg of the division of engineering at Iowa State college.

Looking Glass Reflections

By VERA SHELDON

Winter has released its cutting lash of penetrating wind with renewed vigor. Foreseeing that its rebound will be short-lived, smart women will freshen up dowdy wardrobes with a bit of spring adornment.

Here are some things to help you face this trying in-between season with more enthusiasm. Dark dresses, so often black or navy blue, will continue to be worn as long as weather is chilly. But even they can take on a surprising newness.

Contrast dark dresses with a print trim for color. Try using a bit of embroidery, braid or ruching for a bright-on-dark contrast on bodices, collars and cuffs. Shop for a new blouse or jacket in a light color. Bolero jackets are at the top of the fashion list. Find one that will go well with several dresses.

Bright neckwear is advised to add cheer to a drab outfit. Scarfs are pretty in prints and bright colors. Choose several in shades which are flattering to your complexion and eyes.

A leading style magazine recommends the use of a "plastron" as part of a new dress or an accessory to an old one. So-called because they resemble a breast plate or stiff front, they are very smart and feminine.

Find a new dress with light "lingerie" trimmings—cream with navy, white with black or pastel trimmings of a lace texture. Rows and rows of fine creamy lace make a flattering collar and very feminine sleeves with which to dress up an old dress of another season.

Add color to your spirits as well as to your clothes by wearing jewelry—pins, clips, bracelets or strands of pearls. Wear gold clips that spell your name and step forth occasionally with a neat bouquet of artificial flowers on your dress or suit lapel.

There's nothing like a new spring hat to make the world a better place in which to live. Find a gay one piled high with flowers or a pastel felt to brighten your fur coat.

The scheme to follow in accessories is simple. Match your coat with shoes and add one or two accessories of the same dark color. One or two others may be matched to the foundation color of the dress—gloves alone, perhaps, or gloves and handbag.

S.U.I. Alumnus Makes Amateur Film Chosen Best Among World Entrants

"Moulage for Masks," a dental teaching film made by Dr. James E. Bliss of Western Reserve university, Cleveland, a graduate of the University of Iowa's college of dentistry, has been chosen by the Amateur Cinema league as one of the 10 best amateur movies in the world.

Dr. Bliss is the son of Mrs. Annette Bliss of University library.

The picture illustrates the procedure used in producing the facial masks which guide the operator in making dental restorations. By comparing the mask with the patient's face after extractions have been made, the operator is enabled to construct dentures that will maintain the original contours of the face.

Selected from 4,600 The film was selected from competition with movies entered by 4,600 league members representing 60 different countries.

Dr. Bliss does most of his photography and editing out of teaching hours and carries on his work as assistant professor of prosthetics at the dental school.

The first reel he edited was a reel of Adelbert college life taken in 1936. Due to the instant popularity of this reel, Dr. Bliss was besieged with requests from the various schools for films of all sorts. After conferring with the president of the university, plans for an institution called the "Cinema Laboratory" were formed and Dr. Bliss became head of the laboratory when it began active operation on Jan. 1, 1937.

In preparation in the laboratory are several pictures including "Builders of Tomorrow," a color reel showing classroom subjects as they are taught. This reel will be released for the school of architecture.

Color Series In the school of dentistry, Dr. Bliss has started a color series for the crown and bridge department. The title of the first is "Technique for the Construction of an Anterior Fixed Bridge."

"Flip Flops," a two reel picture, will be titled sometime this week and released for rent or sale. A student who is a former Olympic tumbler and three all-scholastic winners perform intricate routines for a final show portion after students viewing the movie have gone through a preliminary training course in the film.

Dr. Bliss said that all of this work started as a dream of his based upon the idea that motion pictures made by educators for educators and available to all of the departments would be a contribution to teaching.

Fewer Fights? Parliamentary Course May Stop Them

There may be fewer arguments and stormy sessions in women's business club meetings in the future as result of the special course in parliamentary law and practice which is being conducted exclusively for women.

The course, which starts Tuesday in the political science department, has been described as non-technical and designed primarily to give the students a practical knowledge of how to organize and conduct meetings.

Prof. Frank E. Horack of the political science department will conduct the course twice weekly. Some of the registrants in parliamentary law will be given an opportunity to apply their knowledge at group meetings on the campus.

Ask Revamped N.Y. Exchange, Paid President

Reorganization Group Proposes Drastic Alterations

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The most drastic and far-reaching revamping of administrative machinery in the 146 years of its existence was proposed today for the New York stock exchange by a committee of brokers and business men who have been studying its problems at the request of its president, Charles R. Gay.

The governing committee of the exchange met late today, received, and held for further action proposals which included replacement of the present non-salaried member president with a paid "outside" chief executive; abolition of the existing law committee, which has been regarded as the real policy-making body of the exchange, and admission of representatives of the general public to the board of governors.

The committee, headed by Carle C. Conway, chairman of the Continental Can company, presented its recommendations simultaneously to Gay, in New York, and to Chairman William O'Douglas, of the sec. in Washington. The latter last fall issued a virtual "reorganize-or-else" ultimatum to the exchange.

Douglas, in Washington today, said of the report:

"It does credit to the committee and the New York stock exchange. If adopted by the exchange, these recommendations would create a framework upon which could be developed a truly effective system of self-regulation under government supervision."

SINGS FOR TAX

Woman, 81, Pleas For Reduction

DES MOINES, Jan. 27 (AP)—"Little Tommy Tucker sang for his supper" but today the Des Moines city council heard Mrs. Lemuel Wright, 81, sing to induce the commissioners to cancel her tax bill.

"A hundred years hence, what a change will be made," she sang in shrill soprano, "in politics, morals, religion and trade." She said there are many more stanzas just like this one.

The council was willing to forget about this year's levy, but said it cannot remit taxes which have gone unpaid more than one year.

Thomas Edison predicted in 1926 that talking pictures would never come into general use because the public would not support them.

Farmers Grain Dealers Seek End of Policy

Association Dissatisfied With 'Economic Isolation'

DES MOINES, Jan. 27 (AP)—The 34th annual convention of the Farmers Grain Dealers association of Iowa demanded abandonment of the policy of "national economic isolation" and reversal of the practice of imposing "excessive tariff barriers and quotas."

More than 800 farmers and elevator operators attended the three-day convention here which re-elected Oscar Heline of Marcus, president, and Fred W. Nelson of Nevada, vice president. The term of Donald E. Edison of Fort Dodge, secretary, does not expire until next summer.

Heline, Nelson and Lenhart Holden of Ottosen, the association's three directors who were up for reelection this year, were reelected.

A joint committee of the association and the Farmers Elevator Service company was appointed to meet with the board of the Iowa Cooperative Grain company Feb. 7 to discuss the grain company's future plans.

The Iowa Cooperative Grain company was a member of the Farmers National Grain corporation which voted recently at Chicago to dissolve.

Gaffney to Preside At February Term Of District Court

Judge James P. Gaffney, who has been holding court in Iowa county during the November term, will preside at the February term of the Johnson county district court which convenes Feb. 7.

Judge Harold D. Evans will return to Marengo for the February term of the Iowa county district court, which starts there Monday, Jan. 31.

Petitions and trial notices must be filed today to be heard during the February term, Clerk of Court R. N. Miller announced.

Temperature Near Zero

19 Degrees Below Normal During Day; 7 Mile-an-Hour Wind

Iowa City temperatures, in the wake of the week's record breaking cold winds, were approaching zero last night and the lowest reading, 2 degrees, was at 7 p.m.

During the day, the warmest temperature was 19 degrees below normal as the thermometer read 9 degrees between 1 and 4 p.m.

The average wind velocity yesterday was 7 miles an hour and the highest was 20, municipal airport weathermen said.

On Tuesday, a checkup of the hydraulics laboratory anemometer revealed, 489 miles of wind had turned it. The 1938 record-breaking average was 20 miles an hour.

The following day, 389 miles of wind was recorded and only 163 miles yesterday. Anemometers are placed on the ground where only the slowest winds are recorded.

Kaiser Fetes 79th Birthday

Celebrates by Reunion; Swamped With Greetings

DOORN, The Netherlands, Jan. 27 (AP)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany today celebrated his 79th birthday with a reunion with his sister, his children and grandchildren.

It was the first time since his 75th birthday all his family were present for the anniversary. Joined with today's celebration was the presentation of the Grand Duchess Kira Kirillovna of the house of Romanoff as the fiancee of Wilhelm's favorite grandson, Prince Louis Ferdinand.

The family's present to the famous exile was an outlay of "everything from the garden" tools for his favorite pastime.

New Crop Bill May Provide For Insurance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Two sponsors of the administration's crop control bill conferred with President Roosevelt today regarding advisability of including crop insurance in the measure.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the house agriculture committee, said he and Senator Pope (D-Idaho) told the President the insurance for wheat would cost about $6,000,000 "at the start."

"We've got a darned good bill now," Jones said after his call at the White House. "I expect to have it ready to submit to the house about Tuesday. We will decide soon on the insurance program."

Relief Load Up In Great Plains

Regional Director Says Destitution 'Erodes Humans'

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 27 (AP)—"Human erosion" was the term Cal A. Ward, regional director for the farm security administration, applied tonight to farm destitution in the great plains he said is shown by increased relief grant figures for the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas.

He cited a grant case load in the four states of about 80,000 families and said it represents double the load last July and is far greater than the 60,000 which was estimated to be the winter's peak load before present needs were felt.

North and South Dakota alone, Ward pointed out, are eating up four-fifths of all the rural grant money being spent in the United States by the FSA.

"These figures represent human erosion on an appalling scale," he commented. "It isn't generally realized what years of drought and short crops have meant, but it becomes clear when you think that 60-70 per cent of the entire population is receiving grants in a dozen counties of the Dakota."

Grocery in Small Town Holds Place As Social Center

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—The small town grocery is still the social center for rural America, Mrs. Raymond Sayre of the Farm Bureau, Ackworth, Ia., told 200 grocery executives today.

"Every grocer," she said, "if he is to cultivate successfully the farm woman's trade, must be, above all, friendly and sympathetic." Mrs. Sayre spoke at a baking products marketing conference sponsored by the Independent Grocers Alliance of America.

The petition states that Wildman is now in the state penitentiary for assault with intent to commit manslaughter.

Mrs. Wildman asks alimony and court costs.

Indifferent to Army Opinion

Ray Uninterested in Officials' Skepticism About His New Machine Gun

John W. Ray, who financed Ora C. McNamer's invention — a 3,400 shot-a-minute machine-gun — said last night that "I'm not interested in United States army officials' skepticism toward it."

Military officials yesterday morning said "it would be impossible for a machine gun to fire so rapidly — three times faster than our guns."

Ray said that a private company, which he refused to name, is now testing the gun. Six of the seven models are in the company's laboratories, "and are standing up under the most rigid tests."

The first model of the gun — dismantled and minus three main parts — is now on display in Roscoe Hall's tavern. The gun is designed on the new principle of an air and chemical cooling chamber built by McNamer.

"Not foreseeing the rapid fire possibilities, McNamer started work on a jamless trench raider gun about four years ago. When we realized the speed we were developing we began to work on it alone and now have it perfected," said Ray.

"Not only will the gun fire 3,400 rounds a minute of 45 caliber shell, but the basic principles of the gun can be applied to fire shells up to three inches," Ray continued.

"The only difficulty we encountered after we developed the speed of the gun was to keep the barrel from melting," said Ray. "It will not jam and is not a multi-barreled gun."

Army officials said yesterday that the gun "might be some variation of a plan already employed by the army for simultaneous, synchronized firing of several guns by the same operator."

"The gun has 71 parts, seven of which are movable," said sponsor, Ray served with the American forces in the Spanish-American war and McNamer is a World war veteran.

'No Such Thing as Bad Nation,' Rotary Founder Declares

300 Rotarians From 32 Cities Hear First President Speak

Iowa Alumnus Is Guest Of Honor at Dinner Held Here

Vigorously voicing his conviction that there isn't any such thing as a bad nation, Attorney Paul P. Harris, founder and first president of Rotary International, spoke to almost 300 Rotarians from 32 Iowa and Illinois towns at a dinner in his honor in Iowa Union last night.

The Chicago attorney, who first put into operation the principles of the Rotary club in Chicago in 1905, reviewed the history of the international organization and spoke of the principles upon which it has existed for the past 33 years.

"Rotary is a sort of common denominator," he said. "Contrary to the beliefs of early critics of the idea, Rotary clubs have spread rapidly to 80 nations in the world today. The idea has grown as well in foreign nations as in the United States," the speaker emphasized.

There are more than 400 clubs in Great Britain, 70 in Chile, and successful clubs in Cairo, Singapore, and in every section of the world, he said.

Americans Not Superior
In speaking of the people of the other nations, well known through wide travel, Attorney Harris pointed out that Americans are not superior to the citizens of other nations—they are only different from them. "All we need to do to appreciate the people of other nations is to know them," he said.

Attorney Harris spoke of the Chinese-Japanese situation and of the successful Rotary clubs which function there, carrying out the clubs' ideals of friendliness and understanding in spite of international strife.

"He concluded by speaking of the 'fuller life' sponsored by the Rotary movement, pointing out that Rotarians form an aristocracy—not of money, but of friendliness, kindness and love. Judge Benjamin C. Hilliard of Denver, Colo., a former University of Iowa classmate of the guest of honor, spoke in tribute of Attorney Harris. Referring to him as 'a man among men who strives to make the world understand the world,' Judge Hilliard spoke of the part played by Attorney Harris in supplanting thoughts of war and struggle in the world with feelings of friendliness through Rotary International.

Classmates
Three classmates of Attorney Harris, students in the college of law in 1891, were present at the dinner. They were Judge J. S. Tutill of Waterloo, W. C. Scrimbeur of Belle Plaine, and Judge Jesse Miller of Des Moines.

Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the college of law introduced the speakers, classmates of Attorney Harris and past district governors of the Iowa City district. Albert C. Fuller of Cedar Falls, Roy Loudon of Fairfield, Charles Rinehart of Dallas Center, and Clyde Hulsizer of Des Moines, past district governors, were also present. Dean Rutledge also acknowledged letters and telegrams from Rotary clubs throughout the state, and classmates of Attorney Harris in all parts of the nation.

A portrait of Attorney Harris was presented to the university by District Governor William Brandon of Davenport. President Eugene A. Gilmore, who accepted the portrait, spoke of the presentation as a tribute to the university itself—a recognition of that fact that from the halls of the institution has emerged a leader.

Wheel Presented
A Rotary wheel, emblem of the organization, was presented to the local club by Harold Hudachek, Boy Scout representative of the troops in the Iowa City area council.

Prof. Hans Muenzer of the school of music, played three violin selections, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Muenzer.

Donald R. Mallett, director of the university housing service, sang and directed the group singing.

J. J. Swamer was chairman of the committee on arrangements and other members were Roscoe Taylor, Attorney Dan Dutcher, Dean Francis M. Dawson, Roland Smith and Harold Hands.

To Hold Rites For Mrs. Brandstatter

Strange Interlude
Next time I hear them say—as they're sure to—that everyone can get a college education "if he really wants one," I think I'll remember John Barr—that isn't his name—who probably won't be in the university next semester—or ever again, it appears.

He's flunking three - fourths his courses; so it doesn't appear worth-while for him to re-register.

And so John will go home next semester, home to what he doesn't know. . . Maybe a $15 - a week job as a truck driver—and then oblivion.

And that, then is democracy. . . I mention John because he isn't the ordinary sort of fellow at all. . . He never has been. . . In high school he was an honor student, was graduated with top honors in a class of several hundred.

He also played on the football team as halfback, not sensationally but well, and was solo trombonist in the school band.

And it was only natural that he come to the university with visions of a career as a doctor because, as he has told me, he "likes helping people." . . . That was in September.

Part-Time
And they say anyone who wants a college education can get it. . . Well, John got part-time board job at the hospital; and to pay his other expenses—books, clothes, room and incidentals—he got a $6-a-week chance in a local store, 35 hours a week.

Studying time came in between—in the nooks and crannies of spare moments. . .

Some nights I knew he was up until 3 and back to work again at 7. . . One week he had 20 hours of actual sleep. . . But that was unusual. . . He usually manages about 5 or 6 hours a night. . . He is 17. . .

Unfortunately he hasn't the type of mind that snaps knowledge up like a cat drinking cream. . . He learns slowly but thoroughly. . . Abraham Lincoln, as I remember it, was much the same type. . .

So the work began piling up, and the delinquents came slowly but rather consistently. . . He explained "there just wasn't time"—a day having only 24 hours. . . And this week, other student help of longer standing obtaining the privileges, John was forced to work 45 instead of the usual 35 hours. . . There has been little time for studying for exams; so the grades are discouraging. . .

No Time
And next week John plans to go home; he's confided in me that he's not in school to learn how to wait tables or sell merchandise but to become a doctor. . . Unfortunately, there's been too little time. . .

And I know a dozen other chaps who aren't quite flunking their courses; they're thanking their lucky stars for a skin-of-teeth "C" or "D." . . So far as I

Rotarians Honor Founder

To the left of President Eugene A. Gilmore of Cedar Falls, past district governor of Rotary International, is (right) is Judge Benjamin C. Hilliard of Denver, Col., a speaker at the banquet and an 1891 college of law classmate of Harris.

Swisher Announces Possibility Of Delegation to Washington

In an effort to get a $100,000 grant from the national foundation for the fight against infantile paralysis carried on by the orthopedic department of Children's hospital, a local delegation led by Attorney Ingalls Swisher may go to Washington, D.C., next week, Attorney Swisher, general chairman of the President's Ball announced yesterday.

Accompanying Attorney Swisher will be Attorney William R. Hart, Mayor Myron J. Walker and Prof. Bruce E. Mahan. Whether the trip is made or not, applications for the grant will be made, Attorney Swisher said.

All proceeds from the President's Ball tomorrow night at the new armory will be sent into the national fund established to facilitate a country-wide drive to combat infantile paralysis. If the committee is going to get the additional grant of local purposes, it is necessary that the people of Johnson county give the benefit dance their utmost support, Attorney Swisher advised yesterday.

Orthopedic research and practice in Children's hospital is under the direction of Dr. Arthur Steindler, international authority. If the grant is obtained, Dr. Steindler will confer with foundation authorities concerning appropriations for research, necessary additions to the hospital, and maintenance of present equipment including the hydro-therapy pool.

Attorney E. A. Baldwin and Ed Bryan after a tour of all the towns in Johnson county reported that large delegations will be at the ball tomorrow night.

More than 1,800 tickets, costing one dollar each, are on sale and may be purchased at the armory tomorrow night, it was stated yesterday.

President Roosevelt from the White House will broadcast late tomorrow night his personal thanks for the support of those who have joined the nation-wide fight by their purchase of entertainment and ball tickets in celebrations throughout the country.

Funeral Service For Mrs. Kriel Will Be Today

Funeral service for Mrs. Mary Shimon Kriel, 93, 928 E. Davenport street, will be at 9:30 this morning in St. Wenceslaus church and burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mrs. Kriel, who died Wednesday, was a resident of Johnson county for 56 years.

The ones like John without money who could make better use of what colleges offer, be of more service to the community and to themselves, sometimes give up. . .

I believe higher education should be for those who can best profit by it, and only after them those whose claim is just "I can pay for it." . . . The day may come, I hope it will, when democracy prevails here as well in government. . .

It may be, then, that colleges will be for those in search of an education—not a degree. . .

Katheryn Stewart Files $3,500 Suit Against City, Bank

Katheryn Stewart yesterday filed a $3,500 damage suit against the city of Iowa City and D. W. Bates, receiver of the Iowa City Savings bank, alleging that she incurred permanent injuries when she fell on the icy sidewalk beside the bank building.

Mrs. Stewart alleges that she has permanently lost the use of her right arm.

The action is brought against the city under the ordinance providing for the removal of snow and ice from the sidewalks if the adjoining property owners fail to do so.

Iowa Will Aid County Relief

Two highway districts have been established in Johnson county where automobiles have been limited to a speed of 35 miles an hour, the Iowa highway commission announced yesterday.

The districts are on highway 6, five miles east of Tiffin and west of Coralville and at two points north of Iowa City on highway 18.

Red Cross to Solicit Funds for Civilians

Solicitation of funds for suffering civilians in China will begin this week in Iowa City, Mrs. Martin Pederson, secretary of the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross society, announced yesterday.

The sum of $1,000,000 is the goal of the Red Cross in the United States. The funds raised will be allocated to relief agencies and hospitals already existing, and a committee of American business men in China, appointed by American Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson, will be formed to distribute the fund.

Wyland to Talk At Dinner Here

National Scout Officer To Address Group Tomorrow

Ray O. Wyland of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America will speak at the annual meeting of the Iowa City area council at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the dining room of the Masonic temple. Wyland is educational director and director of relationship of the national council.

This is the first time a representative from the national council has lectured here. Wyland was appointed director of relationships in 1924 and educational director in 1930. He received a Ph.D. degree at Columbia university in 1934.

As director of relationships, Wyland supervises the cooperative contacts of the Boy Scout movement with Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and other religious bodies, and all scouting relationships with educational institutions which sponsor troops.

Wyland, as educational director, supervises all leadership training for volunteer and professional scouters. More than 400 colleges, universities and theological seminaries are offering courses on scouting methods of education.

Besides leading other phases of scouting, Wyland is an active member of the Rotary club of New York City and of the National Educational association. He is editor of "Principles of Scout-mastership" and author of "Scouting in the Schools."

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained at the scout office.
