'Little Business' Tells President Of 23 Proposals

Special Group Talks of Plans With Executive

Conference Resolutions Lose Antagonism To New Deal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—'Little Business' finally told President Roosevelt what it thought of the government today.

A series of recommendations based on resolutions adopted at yesterday's tempestuous meeting of small business men was carried to the chief executive by a special committee.

The resolutions had lost some of their anti-administration vehemence in the committee's hands.

F. R. Comments

A general discussion ensued in which Mr. Roosevelt said a large number of the proposals were constructive and possible of fulfillment, but that others, while they sounded well, were to his mind impractical.

First and foremost the committee put a recommendation that the government provide little business men an easier method of finding capital, or obtaining loans for their enterprises.

"Enable the American banking system to make insured loans for all necessary purposes," said recommendation number one. "Set up a government agency to render this service wherever financial institutions are unable or unwilling to function."

23 Proposals

Others on the list of 23 included: repeal the undistributed profits tax modify the capital gains tax, investigate the administration of the Wagner act, hold the employer and employe equally responsible for carrying out labor agreements, enforce the anti-trust laws, broaden the income tax base and simplify tax return forms.

The resolutions on which these proposals were based were formulated by subdivisions of the little men's conference, in many cases after stormy and protracted sessions. They were approved at a gulp yesterday by the conference as a whole, although some members protested vigorously.

New Tactics Add Terror For Madrid

MADRID, Feb. 4 (AP)—High angle artillery fire which produces a deadly parallel to an air raid is being trained on Madrid by Spanish insurgent forces entrenched in the outskirts of this long besieged city.

With the newly developed tactics the besiegers get virtually the same results without risking their war planes within the range of Madrid's reinforced anti-aircraft guns.

Through the high-angle firing, the insurgents lift their shells and the projectiles fall almost straight down in much the manner of bombs released from raiding planes.

The similarity is more pronounced with the use of nine inch shells, as has been the case frequently during this week's resumption of heavy bombardment after a period of comparative quiet.

The proximity of the insurgent guns, which in some cases are only two miles from downtown Madrid, permits this kind of shelling. Accuracy sometimes is sacrificed but the general terroristic effect is increased.

Insurgent air raids virtually ceased eight months ago with the strengthening of the city's anti-aircraft defenses.

Council Has Reading Awning Ordinance

An ordinance which would forbid Iowa Citizens to operate awnings or signs which overhang sidewalks, streets and alleys, without first obtaining a permit, was given its first reading last night by the city council.

Ickes Lives, He Declares

Absence From Print Brings Inquiries On His Final Rites

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Secretary Ickes personally put an end today to rumors he had gone to glory.

It seemed many persons here suddenly jumped to a dread conclusion about the stormy cabinet officer's recent absence from the public prints, and started inquiring where final rites were planned.

Ickes, after receiving solicitous telephone calls, cried out in lone travail. Big Mike Straus, his press relations chief, pounded to his side.

"You go tell 'em I ain't dead," the secretary bawled.

"He was right, too," loyal Mike blushed, "for sure enough there he was."

Patient Kills 4 Sleeping Men

Runs From Bed to Bed Firing at Inmates Of Hospital

TEWKSBURY, Mass., Feb. 4 (AP)—Firing as he ran from bed to bed in the crowded wards of the Tewksbury state infirmary, a giant inmate today killed four fellow patients and critically wounded one other with a mail order pistol.

Three hours after he clambered down an infirmary fire escape, John Mack, 79, who stands six feet three inches, was picked up by police in Lowell, three miles from the hospital.

Three charges of murder were placed against him. Police quoted him as saying he was enraged because the five victims called him "bad names."

He kept the weapon which he had purchased by saving his "to-bacco money" buried in a tin can on the infirmary grounds, Stokes said, until the opportune moment arrived.

Police and hospital attendants reconstructed the killings as follows:

Early today Mack dressed quietly and feigned sleep until the ward attendant left for a moment.

Seizing the pistol, he shot Joseph O'Donnell, 55, in the back. He ran lightly across the aisle and fired a bullet into the abdomen of James Magee, 78. John Lewis, 76, in a bed adjoining Magee's, was the next victim.

Without pausing to see the effect of his shots, Mack ran to an adjoining ward, where he fired upon Michael O'Keefe, 68, and Edward Mercier, 70.

The pistol blasts awakened the 80 men in the two darkened wards. Attendants rushed in as Mack disappeared down a fire escape.

U. S. Reduces Asiatic Forces

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—The United States government decided today to reduce the number of American armed forces in North China.

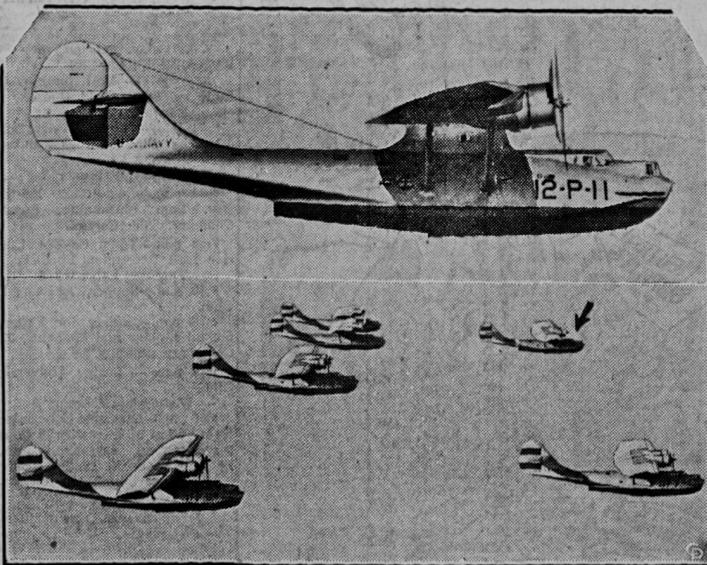

The state department announced withdrawal of the 15th infantry now stationed at Tientsin and the transfer to Tientsin from Peiping of two companies of marines. This will leave at Peiping two companies of marines.

The action, officials said, is in line with "the principle of effecting the withdrawal of such forces whenever the situation so develops as to warrant the view that withdrawals can be effected without detriment to American interests and obligations in general."

Seeks Freedom

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—O. C. Sigman of Ft. Dodge, Ia., held here in connection with the $1,000 robbery of Harry Lavine in November, 1936, sought yesterday to gain his freedom through a writ of habeas corpus.

Type of Navy Planes in Spectacular Collision

Here is the type of naval patrol planes which crashed in mid-air high over the Pacific ocean off San Diego, Cal., killing at least 11 men and seriously injuring four others. At the top one of the planes involved in the collision, the 11P4, is shown by arrow in flight maneuvers. Below is a close-up of the type plane. Each bomber carried seven men and was engaged in tactical maneuvers.

Hitler Takes Direct Control of Army

3 Powers Join To Crush New Piracy Outbreak

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Italy, under pressure from Great Britain and France, agreed tonight to their program for stamping out pirate attacks on Mediterranean shipping.

Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to Great Britain, gave Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden Italy's consent to the Franco-British proposals which were understood to include drastic measures. Two British ships have been sunk within the past five days.

The Italian embassy announced "The Italian government concurs with measures which the British government intends to adopt in the zone of the western Mediterranean reserved to the British naval patrol. At the same time the Italian government proposes to adopt similar measures in the zone entrusted to the Italian naval patrol."

Italy, France and Britain are the major powers in the Nyoon anti-piracy accord drawn up last September to protect shipping from attacks growing out of the Spanish civil war.

Rebels Destroy English Boat Off Barcelona

BARCELONA, Feb. 4 (AP)—The British freighter Alcira was pounded into a flaming hulk and sunk today off Barcelona by two Spanish insurgent bombing planes.

The ship's officers said the Alcira displayed five British flags besides the European non-intervention pennant attesting her neutrality.

The 1,387-ton vessel was the second British craft to be sunk within five days in an attempt to run the insurgent blockade off the government coast with a load of coal—legitimate cargo under the 27-nation non-intervention accord.

Most of the Alcira's crew of 25 and an observer for the non-intervention committee—all British—abandoned ship in lifeboats, but several seamen were hurled into the sea by concussion of one of the bombs.

All were picked up and brought to Barcelona by a Spanish coast guard vessel and fishing boats.

Heads Say Approval Crop Control Evident

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Administration leaders predicted today congress would give speedy approval next week to new crop control legislation.

Members of a senate-house committee reached final agreement today on all provisions of the "agricultural adjustment act of 1938," which is a compromise of house and senate versions of the "ever-normal granary."

2 Bank Robber Suspects Killed In Surprise Gang Hideout Raid

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 4 (AP)—Two bank robber suspects were killed and five persons, including three detectives, were wounded in a bullet-blazing police raid on a gang hideout here today.

The dead were not identified immediately. Police Lieutenant Otto Kaffits and Captain George Mingle of the Ohio state highway patrol at first identified one of the victims as Charles Bird, notorious bank robber, but police said later information indicated Bird was not involved.

Three detectives were wounded, two critically, as they sought four men who robbed the Hilltop office of the Ohio National bank of $3,500 five hours earlier.

Two suspects were captured, one of them wounded slightly. The wounded were Detectives Robert Cline, William Danner and Leo Phillips; Carl Boetscher, 32, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Mary Violet Watring, 38, of Columbus.

Cline was given a blood transfusion and was reported near death. Danner's condition also was serious.

The man reported as Bird fell in a room of the two-story, yellow rooming house, where the gang had been trailed by an alert motorcycle officer, Lawrence Tucker. The second victim died in a hospital.

Glenn Hoffman, assistant chief of detectives, asserted he was certain the four trapped in the house were the Hilltop bank robbers. The Hilltop branch of the federal loan association also was robbed of $2,200 only 45 hours earlier.

The telephone call received wide publicity, and Phillips was busy at his home here opening "fan letters" sent him by admirers from all over the nation.

Council Gleanings

The city council last night decided that City Engineer Fred Gartzke should draw up a 1938 street paving program and present it at the March meeting.

The River Products company was last night authorized to haul 950 tons of stone at a cost not to exceed $294.50 to municipal airport.

The stones, between one-half and one and one-half inches diameter, were purchased with PWA funds.

To insure against departmental deficits in the sanitary and general funds, money was reappropriated within the funds last night.

Within the general fund, $1,648.90 was reappropriated, and $475.77 was reappropriated in the sanitary fund.

A resolution last night authorized the finance committee and the mayor to place insurance on the Iowa City Community center project. Present insurance expires Feb. 11.

Senate Blocks Attempt To Kill Lynching Bill After Stormy Session

'Soda Ash' Johnny Ends Run 100-Year-Old Milwaukee Emloye Was Oldest Active Railroader in Nation

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 4 (AP)—"Soda Ash Johnny" Horan, the nation's oldest active railroader and one of the proudest, came to the end of the run today. He was 100 years old.

Horan died at his home, less than two weeks after officials and fellow workers of the Milwaukee road joined in celebrating his birthday. He had been suffering from influenza and failed steadily after the party.

Horan, the road's supervisor for boiler washing when he died, won his nickname by introducing soda ash in compounds used to wash scale from locomotive boilers.

Born in Burlington, Vt., Jan. 23, 1838, John Michael Horan came to Milwaukee as a boy. He joined what now is the Milwaukee road in 1855, piling wood for the old wood burning locomotives.

"Mine has been a contented life," he often said. "Plenty of work, but that's what life is made of. Oh, I'd like to be rich, but I was never so happy as when I had my own little family."

Horan demonstrated the depth of his feelings on those things two years ago. His son, William, 66, and in ill health, applied for a county old age pension. "Soda Ash" went into court, declared that as long as he could work "no boy of mine is going on the county," and with a nephew arranged for William's support.

Spurns Motion Of Considering Appropriations

Other Measures Pile Up As Long Talks Take Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—The senate blocked today, 52 to 34, the first attempt of the session to pigeon-hole the anti-lynching bill.

The vote came on a motion by Senator Glass (D-Va.), chairman of the appropriations committee. He asked the senate to take up the $1,400,000 independent offices appropriations bill instead of the anti-lynching bill.

Southerners have kept up a steady flow of oratory against the bill since the session started, meeting charges they were filibustering with statements they were only engaging in "free debate." Meanwhile other measures have been piling up on the senate calendar.

Republicans and northern democrats largely opposed Glass' motion today; southern democrats were almost unanimous in supporting it.

The roll call found 30 democrats, three republicans and one independent voting to shelve the bill and 41 democrats, nine republicans, one farmer laborite and one progressive voting to keep it before the senate.

Southern leaders said they were confident the measure would be tossed aside next week and would not be resurrected this session.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the democratic leader, has served emphatic notice the senate could not "waste or consume the entire session" on the anti-lynching bill. He said he was ready to pigeon-hole it any time the senate decided it had seen enough of "futile debate."

Barkley voted against Glass' move today, however, saying he did not believe the senate was yet ready to suspend consideration of the bill.

FHA Officials Slash Cost Of Home Building

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—The federal housing administration slashed the cost of government-insured financing for small homes tonight under terms of the new housing legislation signed by President Roosevelt last night.

Simultaneously, Stewart McDonald, housing administrator, appealed for "whole-hearted cooperation" of lenders and the building industry.

The administration sent about 7,000 letters to lending institutions, notifying them new FHA regulations for mortgage insurance on more than $50,000,000 of large-scale projects alone.

Eliminating reductions in the cost of financing homes with government-insured mortgages, McDonald said.

The annual service charge of one half of one per cent, which lending institutions have been permitted to charge under FHA regulations, will be discontinued on all mortgages approved for insurance hereafter.

Council Allots $1,200 To Support Armory

An ordinance allotting $1,200 April 1 for the maintenance of the Iowa City armory was approved on its third reading by the city council last night.

It gives the council's claims committee charge of the money power to incur debts and pay bills.

Paulson Drowned
STUART, Fla. (AP)—K. O. Paulson, 50, president of the Citizens State bank, Neche, N. D., drowned when he was swept overboard from a fishing boat at St. Lucie inlet yesterday afternoon. The body was recovered.

11 Cities Join Fight to Stem WPA Work Cut

CHICAGO, Feb. 4 (AP)—Mayors of 11 middle western cities, seeking to stem a sharp curtailment of relief employment, urged congress and the president tonight to approve a $400,000,000 deficiency appropriation to the works progress administration.

The officials, voicing alarm at the prospect of 150,000 workers being dropped from WPA rolls in the midwest region March 1, submitted their appeal in a resolution drafted at the conclusion of a lengthy conference.

Citing a "drastic decline" in industrial employment with mounting demands for relief work, the mayors contended that in order to maintain the present WPA quota to the end of the fiscal year and also "give aid to those in desperate need of work relief," the appropriation was needed for the nation as a whole.

State Attempts Thought Phase In Wright Trial

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4 (AP)—The state attempted to show, in a 50-minute session of the Wright murder trial today, that Paul A. Wright may have "been thinking in a previous state of consciousness" about killing his wife and his friend, John Kimmel.

Dr. Samuel Marcus, a psychiatrist who yesterday answered "yes" to an 80-minute hypothetical question propounded by Wright's counsel, Jerry Giesler, in which he asked if Wright might not have been mentally unconscious when he shot—was today's only witness.

In an effort to refute Wright's defense that he was dazed when he discovered Mrs. Evelyn Wright and Kimmel in an unnatural intimacy last Nov. 9, Prosecutor J. Miller Leavy using, as an illustration, football players, badly injured when tossed on their heads but continuing in the game although groggy.

"Wouldn't these players," Leavy asked Dr. Marcus, "have gone through their plays simply because it was automatic with them—because they had done it so often?"

Dr. Marcus admitted the plays would be automatic.

Coroner Exonerates Train Crew in Wreck

More Power Is Given to Self Control Over Foreign Affairs Tightened; Cabinet Shaken

BERLIN, Feb. 4 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler assumed direct command of all Germany's armed forces tonight and tightened his immediate control of the ministry of foreign affairs.

Hitler concentrated more power in himself and a chosen few subordinates to consolidate his regime and hasten the fusion of the nazi party and the German state.

The blonde, "socially impossible" bride of the ousted war minister, Field Marshal Verner von Blomberg, precipitated the most drastic cabinet shakeup in the five years of nazi rule.

In a swift series of decrees, liquidating the crisis caused when the army forced von Blomberg to resign because of their opposition for undisclosed reasons to Erika Gruhn, a carpenter's daughter, Hitler:

1. Assumed direct control of the armed forces, appointing a deputy to take over the active functions formerly exercised by the war minister;

2. Created a secret cabinet council on foreign policy, naming Baron Konstantin von Neurath its chairman and promoting Joachim von Ribbentrop, the champagne salesman who became ambassador to London, to succeed von Neurath as foreign minister;

3. Not only withdrew von Ribbentrop from London but recalled Ambassadors Ulrich von Hassel from Rome, Herbert von Dirksen from Tokyo and Franz von Pappen from Vienna without indicating either their new assignments or successors;

4. Summoned the reichstag to meet in Berlin Feb. 20 for what was believed to be an important announcement of international policy.

Air Line Tests Special Plane

CHICAGO, Feb. 4 (AP)—Benjamin Howard, United Air Lines research engineer, landed a specially equipped transport plane here at 10:31 p.m. (CST) after an experimental flight from Los Angeles.

The plane, powered by two new supercharged motors, left the west coast city at 12:35 p.m. (CST), landing here in the elapsed flying time of nine hours, 56 minutes.

Plans to establish a new distance record for transport planes were abandoned at Denver, Col., where a landing was made to change radio frequency.

United Air Line officials here said the plane would be given further tests in Chicago before it was sent to Dayton, Ohio, where army air corps engineers would check its performance.

ion. The nations have always got what they prepared for—war. The merry-go-round is spinning fast, and no one seems willing or able to slow it down. Every state is on it and engaged in a furious race. How much further have we to go before the merry-go-round crashes and the race ends? Perhaps Mars knows the answer. . . He usually does.

Our Readers' VIEWPOINT

Letters must be signed and should not exceed 250 words. Opinions expressed by our readers do not necessarily reflect our views.

Editor, The Daily Iowan: If there should be those who would presume to criticize the opinions about to be expressed, the writer warns that he will contend that after all, self preservation is the first law of human nature and that he has acted and spoken purely on natural impulses.

On a recent broadcast, sponsored by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, the "University Metropolis" was depicted as a progressive city, fairly teeming with industry and permeated with an unquenchable desire for all that is considered modern.

It is well to advertise—and certainly praise, when deserved, is to be encouraged. The writer, however, wishes to offer the following observations that were not included in the broadcast mentioned above: Two members of a popular sorority today sustained painful injuries—one a fractured pelvis and the other a broken collar bone; one member of the writer's own fraternity today incurred a broken nose; a prominent university athlete recently suffered a concussion of the brain; last year, a friend of the writer's was forced to lose a semester's work because of a fractured knee. All these incidents, varying in their severity, occurred as results of falls on Iowa City's icy sidewalks. One in particular happened on a busy downtown street in front of a well known establishment. Again, they are only the few incidents that have come to the writer's casual attention. Investigation would doubtless reveal many others.

It might be appropriate to include in this connection a mention of the ridiculous designation "Iowa's Slick Spot," as applied to Iowa City by current traveling men. It has been a personal observation that contiguous cities and even small towns have been able to keep their streets free of ice when Iowa City was suffering from "glaciation."

Are we to suppose that the city officials receive pensions?—Or is it unfair to consider them salaries, and to hope to be able to venture out on the sidewalks without fear of mortal injury?

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

A SYMPHONIC LEAGUE The goal of the Philharmonic Symphony League, as announced yesterday, is a membership of 10,000—as large a number of members as there were men taking part in the famous anabasis concerning which Xenophon left a lasting story. But it is an army of peace and should soon be recruited. Its purpose is not to raise money for the Philharmonic-Symphony concerts or sell tickets but to promote a greater interest in symphonic music.

It was reported not long ago that what is believed to be the oldest musical instrument in the world has been found in Czechoslovakia—a musical pipe made of a lion's tooth 30,000 years ago—farther back than the staghorn flute, pierced with holes, found in Poland, which, as Sidney Lanier said, hinted that man "commenced to hum for music about the same time as for bread."

We have in these years gone far beyond the dream of Lanier, the flute-playing poet who played sometimes in a symphony orchestra in Baltimore, and who predicted that the time would come when the home of the orchestra would be in America. Not only are its profound symphonic messages now heard in all the great cities and the lesser ones alike, but even in villages and isolated homes—wherever there is a musician.

Deems Taylor estimates that every Sunday afternoon the radio thinks Mr. J.B. Uncle Sam sees things in the same light that his neighbor John across the ocean sees them. He will feel much safer now with a dozen submarines to discourage any evil attacks by an ill-intentioned neighbor.

And so today we find every nation arming to the teeth and flexing its muscles. The arms race is gradually picking up speed but the contestants are merely running around in a vicious circle. They are on a gigantic merry-go-round which will not cease spinning until it meets its inevitable breakdown.

Arms races in the past have only been terminated in one fashion.

Art of Apothecary Dates Back To Very Early Biblical Times

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. Do you see that man over there in the white coat, coming to the door of his shop to direct that woman to the street car that goes to the postoffice? He looks spruce and clean and modern, but he has been doing business, there or somewhere in some capacity, for ten thousand years. He is the corner drug store.

He was a fixture in the life of the world long before there was a court of law. Before there was a president or a constitution or a king or a government, even. Because they tell that the most primitive race on earth, who live in a social system that is not even tribal, have a special tree, the leaves of which are used to put on wounds to make them heal. In Exodus it is written, "The Lord spake unto Moses: Thou shalt make it in an oil of holy ointment, an ointment compounded after the art of the apothecary." And if that wasn't the corner drug store, what was? The druggist at the corner drug store used to go out and gather his own herbs. In fact, for many years the best drug stores were associated with monasteries, and the monks grew in their gardens the plants which they used for drugs and cosmetics, so the cosmetic counter of a modern drug store is a logical part of that institution.

Employs World Resources The pharmacist of today does not collect his own samples personally—he has the resources of the world at his disposal through the organization of the large manufacturing drug companies—but he has other responsibilities and is trained better than any of the pharmacists of the old days. It is well that he has this responsibility and training, because you have to depend on him just as much as you do on the doctor, for an honest product.

Anti-Terrorist Group Organized by Arabs JERUSALEM (AP)—An organization of Arab vigilantes has sprung up in Palestine to combat black-hang gangs of terrorists. Murder and blackmail was so widespread that the Jaffa municipality appointed a "civil guard" of 250 men armed with truncheons and whistles to protect citizens. The guards are expected to supplement regular police work, and their field has been limited to their special duties. In the same spirit, the Arab village of Mallu, near Nazareth, voluntarily appointed four "ghaffirs," or native policemen, for protection against gangs.

Wishing to bring about some more satisfactory manner of presenting intramural cups and medals and creating a livelier sense of competition among campus groups, Coach Dave Armbruster yesterday afternoon at a meeting of fraternity athletic managers presented his plan for an all-university sports dinner to be held sometime late in May. Plans were made for winter sports other than basketball, including boxing, wrestling, badminton, handball and volleyball. The latter will commence on Feb. 10.

Where Business Fails We have had intervening booms, too, but they have been as dangerous as their succeeding slumps have been painful. Yet business has not been able to recognize a boom as a boom while said boom actually was booming. We had a post-war boom. It lasted so long that it puzzled me. My idea was that we should have had a terrible, prolonged depression after so terrific a conflict. I got an interview on the subject with Herbert Hoover, then secretary of Commerce. I took him to be pre-eminently a business expert. He assured me that that thing was not a boom; that we were living in a new age of the world; that what I called a boom was, in reality, our modern "normalcy." We know what followed before the end of his presidential term.

Since then I never have had much confidence in a business judgment. Now, contrast business' inefficiency with government's inefficiency! Business does have a certain authority about it. A business boss gives orders and they are obeyed or somebody gets fired. A governmental boss gives orders and his subordinate, if he has political influence, may defy them successfully. All sorts of confusion results, naturally.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The first big kick out of a new magazine is feeling it in your hands and looking at the cover and wondering what's inside. There is always an anticipatory zing to wondering what the lead story is about and what the illustrations will be.

You may be disappointed, angered, or merely indifferent when you see it, but, to me at least, that first split-second turning the first page is gratification of a high order.

The other day the new issue of a weekly magazine came and the first illustration was a horse race. I don't like stories about horse races, and I turned by. There followed 15 minutes of seeing just who wrote which story and who the illustrators were. To me these go hand in hand. I suppose we all have favorite authors and will read anything they write; I know I am that way. The name of Stephen Vincent Benet above a fiction story is to this magazine-thrasher an irresistible lure.

Kenneth Roberts is another. Richard Sherman, Ernest Haycox, Katharine Brush and McKinley Kantor are others. I can't pass anything under their signatures.

Roberts Writes Kenneth Roberts writes mostly of the Revolutionary period and Indian fighting, and I am a push-over for anything like that. For such matter I like Mat Clark's illustrations. He can portray a wintry forest and a lurking savage better than a man with a camera. If it's a sophisticated tale of this modern world, then John Lagatta is your man. For me he draws the most beautiful women in the world. Ernest Haycox is the last word in the world of western novels—pageants of empire building in which you are choked both by alkali dust and honest heart tugs.

Stephen Vincent Benet seems able to write entertainingly on any subject, and McKinley Kantor has a powerful imagination for events of the Civil war. Perhaps his best trick is understatement.

Richard Sherman, who became famous when he wrote "To Mary With Love" is a realist who doesn't hesitate for one moment to let his heroes and heroines bump into tragedy.

Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist WASHINGTON, D.C.—A reader raises this point: "Do you really believe that business is any more efficient than the new deal?" Yes, I do believe so. But, if I believed the new deal to be more efficient than business, I still do not think I would be paying much of a compliment to the new deal, for business does not seem to me to be efficient enough to be hard to beat, by even a very small modicum of efficiency.

As Stewart Sees It Business, if efficient at all, certainly ought to be sufficiently so as to keep a country's economic status reasonably stable—to maintain tolerably good times as a regular thing, and also to keep them improving, gradually. It hasn't done it. As far back as we can remember we have had about three major depressions per century, with one or two minor depressions per interval.

SWIMMERS WIN TRIANGULAR MEET

Cagers Meet Ohio State in 'Crucial' Game

Iowa Tanksters Chalk Up 76 Points to Capture First Place; Gophers Grab Second With 61

Hawkeyes Take Seven Out of Nine First Places to Win

By NEIL NAIDEN

Daily Iowan Sports Writer

After spotting the University of Minnesota a short lead in two events, the Iowa swimmers splashed back to the top and steadily increased their lead to win a triangular swimming meet at the fieldhouse pool last night.

Iowa scored 76 points, Minnesota totaled 61, and Chicago's hapless Maroons made 23.

Minnesota broke the national intercollegiate record by winning the 300-yard medley, one 100-yard lap of free style, back stroke and breast stroke, in 3:12.6 over the 50-yard course.

Brandt, Sahlman and Laggard constituted the trio which nosed out Iowa by a yard on the last lap. Laggard, the Gopher free styler, pulled away in the last few yards to touch out Switzer, the Hawkeye anchor man.

Break Three Records

Iowa smashed three university records and tied one over the 50-yard course.

Husky Bob Reed splashed out the 100-yard free style in 56 seconds flat, breaking the old university standard of 57 seconds set by Jacobsmeyer in 1934.

Brandt, the Minnesota star, again proved his mettle in the 150-yard back stroke in a duel with Tony Bremer of Iowa.

Brandt's time of 1:44.1 was just one-tenth second better than Bremer's time of 1:44.2, a new university record.

Christians Comes Through

Capt. Bob Christians, after winning the 220-yard free style in a close race with Elling of Minnesota, came back in the last lap of the 400-yard sprint race to hand Iowa 10 points and first money after a thrilling race.

Switzer swam first for Iowa and finished a yard short of Minnesota's Jablonski.

Kershaw and Reed stuck close to the speeding Gophers and when Captain Christians was touched off Ackerman of the northern crew was enjoying a two yard advantage.

"Chris" picked up a yard in the first 50 and as they came out of the turn he poured it on, and Ackerman just couldn't stay with him.

Bob Allen and Arn Christen turned in sterling performances in their respective events, Allen defeating Sahlman and Jerome of Minnesota by 2 and 3 yards respectively, and Christen swamping all the other diving entrants with 128.43 points.

Stark also upset Minnesota's Klun in the diving with 106.06 to Klun's 101.

300-Yard medley relay—Won by Minnesota (Brandt, Sahlman and Laggard); Iowa, second; Chicago, third. Time—3:12.6 (new national intercollegiate long course record).

220-Yard free style—Won by Christians (I); Elling (M), second; Peisch (M), third; Van de Water (C), fourth; Gerber (I), fifth. Time—2:27.6. (Ties University of Iowa record).

50-Yard free style—Won by Kershaw (I); Jablonski (M), second; Homs (C), third; Reed (I), fourth; Ackerman (M), fifth. Time—25.1.

Diving—Won by Christens (I); Stark (I), second; Klun (M), third; Perry (M) fourth; Bostick (C) fifth. Points—128.4.

100-Yard free style—Won by Reed (I); Jablonski (M) second; Kershaw (I) third; Ackerman (M) fourth; McCollum (C) fifth. Time—56.5. (New University of Iowa record).

150-Yard backstroke—Won by Brandt (M); Bremer (I) second; Ryan (I) third; Green (M) fourth; Stein (C) fifth. Time—1:44.0. (Bremer's time of 1:44.2 new University of Iowa record).

200-Yard breast stroke—Won by Allen (I); Sahlman (M) second; Jerome (M) third; Anderson (C) fourth; Lowry (I) fifth. Time—2:44.5. (New University of Iowa record).

Featuring an excellent passing game that resulted in perfect team work, the City high cagers coasted through to an easy 33-22 triumph over Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids on the local floor last night.

Coach Francis Merten used reserves throughout most of the final period, as he rested his first stringers for the Williamsburg encounter there tonight.

Leading by a 5-4 count at the end of the first quarter, the Little Hawks gobbled up the points greedily in the next frame as they walked off with a 17-6 advantage at the halftime recess.

The two teams played on even terms in the final halves.

The green Roughriders, weakened by graduation losses, were unable to keep pace with the smooth attack of the Hawks.

Making most of his points on difficult follow shots, Russell Hirt snared top honors in the scoring division with 11 markers.

The remainder of the Red and White points, however, were evenly distributed.

Spurring ahead in the home stretch, the City high frosh-soph quintet rolled in with a 21-15 victory over the young Roughriders to clinch third place in league standings.

The yearling fracas was close all the way, the score standing at 15-13 favoring Iowa City coming into the final stanza.

Bob King led the scorers of the junior teams with six points.

Patty Berg Wins Southern Tourney

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP)—Patty Berg, the freckled Minneapolis redhead, continued merrily on her sweeping conquest of the winter golfing circuit today by defeating Mrs. Jane Cochran Jameson of West Palm Beach, Fla., 4 and 3, in the 36-hole final of the Miami Biltmore tournament.

It was the third consecutive time she had won the Biltmore and her third straight tournament victory this winter.

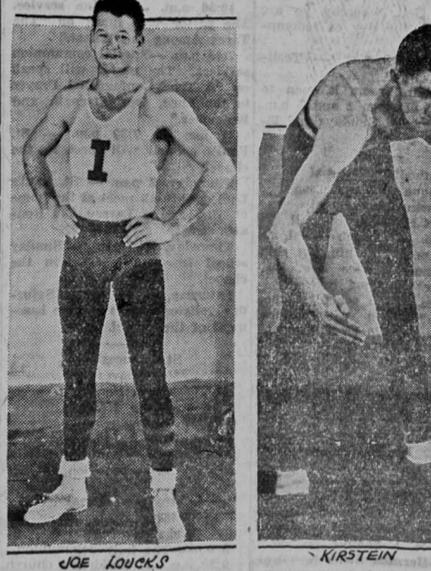

She recently won at Punta Gorda, Fla., after capturing a medal play event at Augusta, Ga.

Score at half, University High 19, St. Patrick's 11.

Referee, Davis (Iowa); Umpire, Lannholm (Coe).

Smooth teamwork and a strong defensive game won over the "shoot and pray" system last night as the University high basketball team handed St. Patrick's a 36-17 defeat in an intra-city game played on the U-high court.

The game was unusually rough—a total of 25 fouls being called on both teams.

The Irish were completely outclassed by the Bluehawk cagers all the way. The River team's defense was so close that the St. Pat's cagers did not score once on shots from close in.

Offensively, the U-high quintet functioned exceptionally well. They had little trouble working the ball in for set-ups through the Irish team's zone defense.

Capt. George Miller copped individual scoring honors for the evening. The Blue and White captain made good on six free throws and two field goals for a total of 10 points.

Bruce Alderman also played a powerful offensive game for the Bluehawks at forward, where he tipped in four field goals and a free throw for nine points.

Diminutive Donnie Black started for the losers. He scored five of his team's points and played an outstanding floor game at a guard position.

In the curtain raiser, the U-high sophomores were nosed out by Ladora, 26-19.

Another chapter of the age old rivalry between Iowa and Iowa State will be added to the books this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Hawkeye gym when the Cyclones bring to Iowa City an undefeated wrestling team to take on the green, but promising, Old Gold grapplers.

The Iowa team completed a week of strenuous practice last night with a light limbering up workout in preparation for the matmen of Iowa State.

After having conducted some tryouts for several men who became eligible at the beginning of the semester, Coach Howard found that the eight men used at the beginning of the year were still his best bet for the meet.

Hawks at Full Strength

As none of Iowa starting wrestlers were declared ineligible in the official eligibility list released yesterday and Clarence Kemp, who suffered a gash over his right eye in an exhibition bout between halves of Monday night's basketball game, appears to be in shape for competition, the Hawks will be at full strength.

The only changes from last semester's lineup will be the weight exchanges involving the 118, 126, 155 and 165 pound divisions.

Philip Millen, formerly the 118 pound performer, will be shifted to the 126 pound class and Ed Lybbert, formerly 126 pounder, will fill in at Millen's old spot.

Kemp and George Smith are involved in the other change with the former moving up to the 165 pound class and Smith taking over the 155 pound position.

Nead versus Stoecker

The outstanding matches of the afternoon should be in the 135, 145 and heavyweight divisions.

Kenneth Kingsbury, one of Iowa's two undefeated wrestlers, will tangle with John Kirstein, second in his conference last year, in the 135 class.

Howard Krouse, Hawkeye sophomore, will exchange holds with the undefeated Iowa State captain, Frank Linn, in the 145 pound class and Capt. Wilbur Nead, Iowa's other undefeated performer, will meet Al Stoecker, Big Six champ, in the heavyweight division for the second successive year.

Last year Nead was victorious in his match with Stoecker.

Iowa defeated the Iowa State team the last time they came to Iowa City in 1936 and last year the Cyclones were victorious in their meet at Ames.

Adamick Seeking New York Fight

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—Led by Manager Jack Kearns, who shouted that his fighter was greater than Jack Dempsey, Jimmy Adamick arrived in town today and immediately was promised plenty of action, possibly against Ben Foord, South African heavyweight.

If it can be arranged, Promoter Mike Jacobs said he would match the Michigan heavyweight against Foord for a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden, April 1.

Failing in that proposed bout, Jacobs said he would give Adamick a chance against either the winner of the Joe Louis-Nathan Mann or Max Baer-Tommy Farr fights.

Against Louis, the match would be for the title.

Daily Iowan Engraving

Dick Baker, shown above, may be a real thorn in the side of the University of Iowa cagers tonight when the Hawkeyes clash with the Ohio State Buckeyes.

Baker, Buckeye forward, scored 25 points against Toledo university last week and is Ohio's leading scorer when he has an 'on' night.

Doped to lose but determined to win, the University of Iowa cagers will resume their Big Ten competition tonight against the Scarlet Scourge from Ohio State university in the Iowa fieldhouse before a crowd that may reach 10,000 if driving conditions are favorable.

The outcome of the two Western conference games tonight, will have a great bearing on the Hawks place in the conference dog fight.

The Iowans may end the evening in third, fourth, sixth or seventh place.

Should Iowa beat Ohio State and Indiana topple Purdue the Hawks will be in a three-way tie with the Boiler-makers and Wisconsin for third.

Should Iowa and Purdue win the Iowans will find themselves in fourth place along with Wisconsin.

Should the Buckeyes take the Hawkeyes into camp and Indiana win from Purdue, Iowa will be in a tie with Minnesota for seventh place honors.

The only other combination, with Ohio State and Purdue winning, will leave the Iowans deadlocked with Minnesota in sixth position.

Purdue Has Edge

Purdue will have the edge over the Hoosiers as the game will be played at the home of the Boiler-makers and the Purdue quintet is especially hard to beat on its own stamping grounds.

Coach Rollie Williams has spent the week in a determined effort to bring his men to a peak in the hope that they will avenge the 48-29 defeat suffered at the hands of the Buckeyes at Columbus, Ohio, several weeks ago.

Williams has indicated that he will start Howard Ely at one of the guard posts along with veteran Kenny Suesens.

Ely, a senior, has not seen much action this year but he has been improving rapidly during the last two weeks.

Johnson to Start

Capt. Sam Johnson will start the game at forward, playing opposite Nile Kinnick.

This combination will give the Hawkeyes a pair of rugged front court men to battle the rough and ready Buckeyes.

Benny Stephens will be on the bench at the start of the game, ready to go into action at any time.

Johnson has always been at his best when the going was roughest and indications are that the game tonight will be one of the roughest of the season on the local court.

McDonald is a football-playing guard and is one of the best defensive men in the Big Ten.

If the Iowans can gear their attack to elude Mr. McDonald they may be able to shake loose for the game winning points.

Holoubek, veteran of the Iowa City quintet, directed the floor play, steadying the over-anxious yearlings.

The latter's inexperience was demonstrated at various times throughout the game however, when members of the Central quintet pulled them out from their defensive position, to make easy setup-shots.

Ragged at First

Both teams opened the contest with ragged ball handling.

The Ft. Madison five, using a set zone defense held the St. Mary's quintet at bay throughout the major portion of the first half.

During the initial quarter, Coach Suplee's men were only able to score from the free throw line, and only twice during the second period were they able to penetrate the Ft. Madison defense.

McCannon, who did not start the game for the Maroons because of an injury, entered the game in the last moments of the Wearing a white satin, floor-length gown cut on princess lines, Eleanor Balluff, pictured above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Balluff, 419 N. Dubuque street, will become the bride of John A. Carran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carran of West Branch, this morning at 8 o'clock in St. Mary's church. The bride's gown is buttoned down the back and has a wide border of pearls around the neckline. Her long white veil is crowned with a cap of pearls. Miss Balluff will wear a gold cross, presented to her by the bridegroom, and will carry a shower bouquet of white killarney roses. Her sister and matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Person, will be gowned in yellow taffeta and will carry an arm bouquet of yellow roses. She will also wear yellow roses in her hair. The bride was graduated from the university at the convocation exercises last Tuesday. After a short wedding trip the couple will live in Rock Island, Ill. Mr. Carran, a former student at the university, is now employed at John Deere and company in East Moline, Ill.

Bursting seams and raveling hem lines are but other indications that their wearer is a bit slovenly, probably in more ways than one. A pin can never take the place of a snap successfully. It is better to insert a zipper if sewing snaps is one of your pet aversions.

A button missing where one should be can ruin an otherwise perfect picture. Who can tell it might be the unmentioned reason for your losing a prospective job. Collar and cuff sets which are supposed to be fresh and crisp are better not worn at all than when they are soiled and messy.

A blouse, to do anything for you, must be the essence of cleanliness. Speaking of cleanliness, it is better that you carry the fragrance of soap and water than that of a cheap perfume.

Wrinkles convey an impression of carelessness. If a skirt is too tight it is best to have it refit or, if that is not possible, discard it. You may be sure that it looks worse to other people than it does to you.

Spots on your clothes are inexcusable in this day and age of efficient and speedy cleaners. In the first place, a little extra care can avoid them. Slip off your dress as soon as you are home. A housecoat or simple wash frock is much better to relax in than one's street clothes, anyway.

The loveliest pairs of chiffon hose are not pretty if seams are not straight or if slantwise heels have been walked into your shoes. And slippers, no matter how stunning they may have been in the shop window, lose their chic when propelled by an ungainly stride. Failure to visit the cobbler regularly with worn heel caps can make your best shoes look as if they had gone through the Chinese lines.

When you dress to go to class or work for the day, save a second or two for a last-minute inspection before a full-length mirror. Do you look like poured into your clothes? If not, there's a reason. Find the answer and profit by it.

St. Rita's Guild To Give Potluck Supper

St. Rita's guild of St. Mary's church will have a potluck supper Monday at the assembly hall at 6 p.m. The officers will be in charge of the supper.

A business meeting will follow the meal and the rest of the evening will be spent socially. Each member is asked to bring sandwiches and a covered dish.

Former University Student, Mt. Vernon Girl, Wed Tuesday

Opal Stearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dana L. Stearns of Mt. Vernon, became the bride of Everett Beatty, son of Mrs. Mae Beatty of Shellsburg, Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Beatty is a graduate of Cornell college. She has also attended the University of Iowa and Northwestern university. For the last few years she has been an instructor in Mt. Vernon high school and a Cornell summer school.

Mr. Beatty also attended the University of Iowa, where he was affiliated with Delta Chi fraternity. He is now manager of the Shellsburg Grain and Lumber company.

Local Persons Fete Guests At Social Events

Prof. and Mrs. J. Scott, Mrs. F. T. Mavis Give Parties

Prof. and Mrs. J. Hubert Scott, 701 Bayard avenue, entertained nine guests at dinner Thursday evening. Dean Francis M. Dawson and Mrs. Elton T. Riley received prizes as high scorers in the bridge games which followed the dinner.

The color scheme in the decorations and place cards was carried out in yellow.

Mrs. F. T. Mavis, 15 Woolf avenue, entertained 40 guests at a tea yesterday honoring Mary Trembley of Hutchinson, Kan., who is visiting in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Potter, 807 E. Burlington street.

The tea table was decorated with spring flowers and lighted tapers.

Assisting Mrs. Mavis were Mrs. John Russ, Mrs. R. B. Kittredge, Mrs. Emery Lane, Mrs. Ralph Barnes, Mrs. R. G. Kasel and Mrs. Carl Menzer.

Mrs. Blaine Williams, 430 E. Bloomington street, entertained a group of friends at bridge Thursday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at her home.

Those present were Esther Schlu, Hildreth Johnson and Sarah Libby.

Mrs. Harold Weeber, a recent bride, was honored at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. George Klaus and Frances Maier Thursday at the latter's home on the Black Diamond road.

Those present included Mrs. Mary Maier, Mrs. Woodrow Weeber, Mrs. Harry McCreedy, Mrs. Burdette Stover, Mrs. William Maier, Mrs. Andrew Duttlinger, Mrs. John Mellecker and Mrs. Clara Pate.

Song, Magic Hold Sway Silver Shadow Will Present Variety Of Entertainers Tonight

There will come, not a rabbit out of a hat, but an uncanny suspension of liquids in the air when Leroy McGinnis, L1 of Iowa City, performs mysterious feats of magic at the Silver Shadow tonight.

"There are tricks in all trades, but our trade is all tricks," is the slogan of Mr. McGinnis and his assistant, Mary A. Means of Iowa City. The amazing behavior of liquids will have its first showing in Iowa City tonight at the Silver Shadow.

A story behind the writing of a news column will be revealed, and silk tricks will be performed without slipping the silks from the hat, for this magician will wear no hat!

By popular request, the Quadrangle chorus will return to sing for the dancers. Hugh Cockshoot, A4 of Wilton Junction, will direct the chorus in "Finiuili Finiuili," "Stout Hearted Men" and "Dear Land of Home."

The singers include Jackson Livesay, M4 of Toledo; Robert Livesay, A4 of Toledo; Morris Johnson, A1 of Ottumwa, George Sudimack, A4 of Bayonne, N. J.; Arthur Conely, A2 of Moline, Ill.; Ludwig Armerding, A4 of Fanwood, N. J.; Deming Smith, A1 of Toledo, and Owen Babbe, A3 of Council Bluffs. Ralph Deal, A4 of Des Moines, will accompany the singers.

Also returning to the Silver Shadow will be Glenna Wesenberg, A3 of Iowa City, piano accompanist. Miss Wesenberg will play "Two Guitars" and "After You're Gone."

John Mason Brown Reviews Plays Before Two Audiences

Goes Down Broadway Entertaining With His Humor

By MILDRED HOLLY (Daily Iowan Campus Editor)
 Julius Caesar, in Austin Wells' modern, anti-fascist version of Shakespeare's classic, has ceased to be the "darling of the college board of examiners," John Mason Brown, noted Broadway critic, declared in his rapid-fire interview of the current play season in New York.

He kept two audiences, 500 persons each, entertained continuously at two performances yesterday afternoon and evening in the dramatic arts building as he delivered the third university lecture.

This year's "Julius Caesar" is more than an experiment—it is a reinterpretation of Shakespeare's tragedy so that the audience may see yesterday's headlines actually come to life, Brown said.

'Shoemakers Holiday'
 Thomas Decker's "Shoemaker's Holiday," a lusty play of the streets, he termed one of the first democratic comedies in the history of the theater, and also the first in which the sit-down strike is used.

"The play was written for the purpose of creating mirth, and that quality of mirth is made contagious," the critic said as he termed the play one of the most entertaining of the season.

"The Star Wagon," Maxwell Anderson's latest contribution, Brown says, is the "kind of a play you could enjoy a great deal, but by which you could never be fooled."

"His play has told a lie, because we know somebody has been stuck with the rich girl," Brown said.

Lillian Gish, the reviewer said, has never employed her aggressive innocence to such advantage as in "The Star Wagon." The other star of the play, Burgess Meredith, he called the best of the younger, male actors of the stage.

Turning to the federal theater he called "One-Third of a Nation" an "admirable statement of the anguishingly real tenement problem in Manhattan."

'Susan and God'
 "A competent character sketch, but extremely interesting as such" was his evaluation of Rachel Crother's "Susan and God." As Susan, Gertrude Lawrence is "joy to watch," Brown declared.

The dramatization of John Steinbeck's novel, "Of Mice and Men," is the kind of play which will be either very good or very bad, Brown said. "The play has amplitude that even the novel does not have," he said.

'Of Mice and Men'
 "Few people have equalled for veracity and pungency the dialogue that Mr. Steinbeck has written for 'Of Mice and Men.' Never is he led astray by romantic tendencies, as is Clifford Odets."

He concluded his discussion with a brief consideration of Broadway musicals. "Virginia," he called the "longest distance without any point."

80 Play Casts Enter Festival

The largest state play production festival ever held at the University of Iowa has been assured by the entry of 80 casts for competition, the extension division announced yesterday.

The old record was broken by a margin of 10 when 55 high schools, 15 community groups and 10 junior colleges entered the festival to be held next month.

A change in the schedule has been made which will set the junior college contest on March 19 instead of April 1 and 2. The high schools will give their plays March 9 to 12, and the community groups will appear March 17 and 18.

The high schools entering in class A are Muscatine, Davenport, Lincoln of Council Bluffs, Ottumwa, Chariton, Franklin of Cedar Rapids, Ft. Madison, Keokuk, East Waterloo and Atlantic.

Class B high school entrants are Sumner, Wilson of Cedar Rapids, Bloomfield, Marion, Spirit Lake, Sac City, West Liberty, Jesup, Missouri Valley, West Des Moines, Strawberry Point, Manson, Anamosa, Nevada, Mapleton, West Union, New Hampton, Manning, Postville and Waverly.

The largest group, in class C, including Webster, Andrew, Baxter, Stanley, Dunkerton, Delmar, Hudson, Danville, Guttenberg, South English, Manilla, Keosauqua, New Providence, Lone Tree, Whiting, West Branch, Hazelton, Eldon, Winfield, Traer, Ocheyedan, Wilton Junction, Oxford, West Chester and Thompson.

Five casts entered in community class C are the Davenport Masquers, two casts from the Iowa City Woman's club and two casts from the Mask and Candle of Des Moines.

Bloomfield, Red Oak, Creston, Waukon, Chariton, Osceola, Muscatine, Lenox, Mason City and Burlington are the junior colleges which will compete for honors.

Brown's Banter

Here are a few quips John Mason Brown offered his audience in his university lecture last night:

"Tallulah Bankhead played her role with a definite warmth, or to be more to the point, with heat. In fact, one would think she'd swallowed an acetylene torch."

"Romeo and Juliet are two young people who meet at a dance and suddenly exchange fraternity pins. . . The love affair of Antony and Cleopatra was that of people older than Romeo and Juliet—they suffered from longer exposure."

"In her role of Cleopatra, Tallulah Bankhead was the sort of person who spent most of her time going to proms at Princeton. And if the asp had had any critical intelligence, he would have refused to bite her."

"The puns in the first act of Julius Caesar are so bad that even Ed Wynn would refuse to use them. Ed Wynn's the man who suggested milking cows on their backs so that the cream would come to the top."

"If the dreamy young novelist in Priestley's 'Time and the Conways' is as good a soothsayer as the play portrays her, she could get a job any time in Delphi."

"I'm no authority on the Oxford movement. The only incident I can recall regarding it is when Eshel Merman was shining mying on the stage and another actor asked her if that was the Oxford movement."

"Don't let the quotation, 'Please, God, make me a good woman!' detract from your interest in the play, 'Susan and God.' It merely tells the people of New Jersey that it's time to go home."

"The dialogue of John Steinbeck's 'Of Mice and Men' is vocal velvet."

"I am a re-actor, not an actor."

"An actor is either an act of God or an act of the devil."

"There is no reason why I shouldn't turn to the federal theater. After all we are all shareholders in it."

"After seeing 'Virginia' I am convinced that 'White Horse Inn' really deserves the Nobel prize."

"Walter Winchell was deeply hurt because Snow White had to send the seven dwarfs away merely because she'd met Prince Charming. At least, she could have kept them for bookends."

"It was also Ed Wynn's idea to make silk lace by crossing silk worms and moths."

Righter Names Music Leaders

Supervisors to Conduct Groups Here From High Schools

High school music supervisors who will direct the selected small ensemble groups in demonstrations before the sessions of the University of Iowa's music conference have been announced by Prof. Charles B. Righter.

They will appear here next Friday and Saturday with the groups from some 24 high schools as one of the new features of the annual conference.

Paul C. Dawson of Council Bluffs will handle the brass ensemble program while Thomas C. Collins of Davenport will be in charge of the woodwind groups. The string ensembles will be conducted by Dorothy Baumle of Burlington and the vocal aggregations by Delinda Roggensack of Newton.

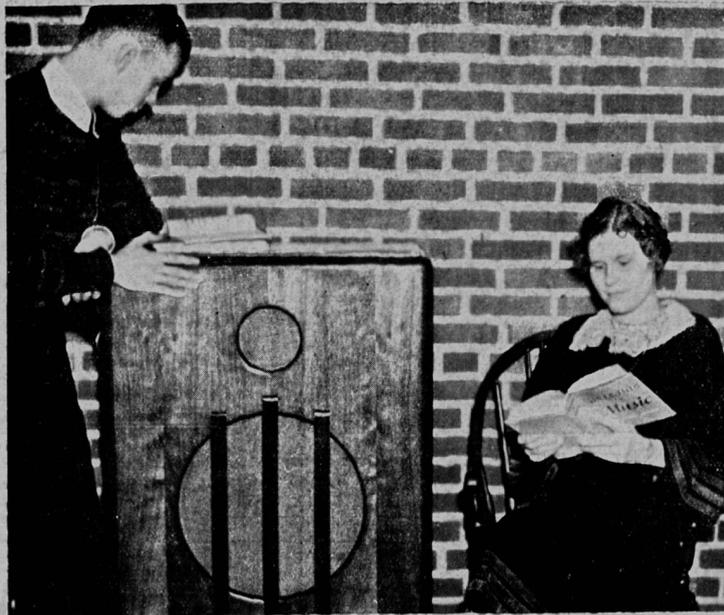

Professor Righter also said that Glenn C. Bainum, director of the Northwestern university band, would serve as guest conductor of the Iowa varsity and the concert bands.

Davenport Woman's club, Sigourney Drama club, Ida Grove Junior Woman's club, Cedar Rapids Woman's club, Iowa City Woman's club, Elkader Little theater, West Liberty Community players and the Creston Woman's club.

Five casts entered in community class C are the Davenport Masquers, two casts from the Iowa City Woman's club and two casts from the Mask and Candle of Des Moines.

Bloomfield, Red Oak, Creston, Waukon, Chariton, Osceola, Muscatine, Lenox, Mason City and Burlington are the junior colleges which will compete for honors.

Music Lovers Enjoy New Library

"Music hath charms" — that's what many University of Iowa students are finding out these days, as they take advantage of the new music room in Iowa Union. Here Arthur Weinhardt, A2 of Ft. Madison, is shown beside the new two-unit recording machine as he studies the score. Mrs. G. O. Dean, Iowa Union librarian, is reading one of the new books added to the library.

With MARVIN TAUB

A tramp mooched a dime from me the other day and hearing him speak with a southern accent, I pumped him about the south. After a while we got to talking pretty chummy and he told me he used to be a telegraph operator.

"You know," he said, "lynching is passing out as a sport in the south. Thirty years ago it was such familiar news that the press telegraph operators leg made an addition to the Phillip's code, the XYZ sign, which meant 'a posse is after the Negro, and if caught he'll be lynched.'"

Hancher Virtually Assured Of Alumni Presidency for 1938

Mahan Announces Only One Candidate For Head Position

Virgil M. Hancher of Chicago, announced yesterday that he will be unopposed for the presidency of the University of Iowa alumni association in the 1938 election, thereby assuring him of the post.

Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, executive secretary of the association, announced yesterday that the majority of the nominating committee favored this move.

The unusual situation was caused when W. Earl Hall of Mason City withdrew as a candidate after he had been nominated. He declined because of his membership on the state board of education.

It was pointed out by Professor Mahan that voters may write in a name if they so desire, but it is doubtful that many of the alumni will make this move.

Ballots will be issued in a four-page supplement to the February issue of the University of Iowa News Bulletin which goes to all alumni. Voting will occur by mail between Feb. 25 and April 1, and the 17 new officers will assume their duties in June.

The four nominees for the two vice-president positions are Karl Loos of Washington, D. C., Arlo Wilson of Stanford, Conn., Walker D. Hanna of Burlington, and Dr. Gordon F. Harkness of Davenport.

Other officers to be chosen include four regional directors, five district directors and a five-member nominating committee. Two candidates have been nominated for each of these offices.

Alum Officers To Meet, Study Ten-Year Plan

Plans for carrying out the 10-year program formulated by the university board of directors will be discussed when seven officers of the University of Iowa alumni association meet this afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock in the Triangle club rooms of Iowa Union.

President Clyde B. Charlton of Des Moines and Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, executive secretary, will be in charge of the session.

Attention at the meeting will be directed to a campaign to secure more annual members of the association to furnish a working budget. With this plan more emphasis will be placed upon the life membership and endowment project to meet the needs of worthy students.

The group, together with President Eugene A. Gilmore, will be guests of Mr. Charlton at

C. A. Phillips To Start Duties

Assumes Job as Head Of $175,000 WPA State Project

Dean Chester A. Phillips of the college of commerce will begin his duties soon as superintendent of a $175,000 WPA state planning board project to collect data on urban real property transfers and mortgages. The state-wide survey will use more than 250 WPA workers.

Citizens Shun 'Untouchable' Indian Mayor

BOMBAY (AP)—Election of India's first "untouchable" mayor has brought triumph to Mohandas K. Gandhi, but tragedy to J. Sivashanmugan Pillai, the mayor.

Pillai in fitting climax to Gandhi's 10-year campaign in behalf of these Indian "damned" was chosen mayor of Madras.

His duties are not arduous. He is chairman of the Board of Councillors, and otherwise, he spends his time opening flower and baby shows and laying cornerstones.

But in the minds of millions of the people of Madras and India the very touch of an "untouchable" will bring misfortune to any enterprise.

High-caste Indians won't sit anywhere near Pillai in conference or meetings; caste Hindu clerks won't handle documents he has signed and even caste subordinate menials refuse to pay him ordinary courtesies.

It is his duty to inspect the city, but as an "untouchable" many portions are theoretically closed to him.

Even Lepers Are Better Off Madras is a stronghold of caste prejudice. To have been born in one of the "untouchable" families in Madras means a life of misery.

There still are millions of people in Madras (and many other parts of India) who are not permitted by caste rules to walk along certain roads, drink from ordinary wells, send their children to ordinary schools, wear shoes, carry umbrellas, use anything but earthenware utensils in their homes, stay in public rest-houses, travel in public conveyances, wear clean clothes, adorn themselves with flowers or jewelry or walk within sixty yards of a temple.

These depressed classes, or "untouchables," have been officially called "the damned of the earth." And in legal courts caste Indians have fought to uphold their "rights to treat the untouchables as pigs."

Lepers, brigands, and beggars may use the King's Highway, but not the untouchables.

Can't Pollute Temples Caste families who unwittingly associated with untouchables have been sentenced by the caste council. During such a sentence, shopkeepers may not sell them goods, barbers may not shave them, postmen may not deliver mail, water-carriers may not take them water, sweepers must not remove their garbage, school-teachers must not allow their children inside schools, bus drivers must not carry them or their families, and neighbors must not assist them, even in sickness.

Gandhi's campaign and his denunciations of those who refuse to let untouchables worship at the temples resulted only in half a dozen or so inconsequential temples being opened to them.

Brahmin priests still bar them from mixing in religious worship of Hindus of all castes.

The Maharajah of Travancore has issued a proclamation throwing open all temples in his state to all classes. But this only has produced a dangerous dispute with the neighboring Indian ruler of Cochin.

It also has unsettled the untouchables themselves, who still feel they will be eternally damned if they "pollute" the temples.

Club Will Hear H. Feigl Tuesday

Prof. Herbert Feigl of the philosophy department will discuss "Current Misconceptions of Scientific Methods" at a meeting of the Philosophical club Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Reports on the three outstanding articles of the month in the fields of psychology, child welfare and philosophy will be given by Marie Skodak, G. of Lorain, Ohio, Helene Margeret, G. of Omaha, Neb., and Porter Horne, G. of Maplewood, N. J.

The meeting will be at the home of Prof. and Mrs. C. H. McCloy, 526 W. Park road.

Today With WSUI

Something New
A recent innovation in the WSUI policy of broadcasting news is the addition of women to the regular radio reporters of The Daily Iowan of the Air broadcast at 8:30 a.m. daily except Sunday.

This morning's report will be given by Marjorie Young, A4 of Watertown, Mass. Miss Young also gives the report on Wednesday morning.

Jane Ballard, A4 of Waterloo, broadcasts on Monday and Thursday and Alice Whisner, U of Iowa City, on Tuesday and Friday. All three are members of the radio news class taught by Prof. Charles Sanders of the school of journalism.

Yea Team!
For the pre-game excitement and color of the meeting with Ohio State tonight the radio report of the game will start 10 minutes before the tip-off with Bill Sener, G of Chicago, Ill., at the mike at 7:25. Preceding the broadcast a program of pep songs of different schools will be played from the studio at 7:15.

Frank Huber, C3 of Davenport, will assist Sener in the between-quarter summaries.

Commission Hears Plan for Merger Of Two Railroads

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—The interstate commerce commission heard a plea today that it give immediate consideration to the possibilities of merging the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific and the Chicago and North Western railroads.

William Wakefield, technical advisor to a committee of Milwaukee preferred stockholders, suggested the possibility of consolidating the two roads.

He said he was authorized to speak for a committee of preferred stockholders of the Chicago and North Western as well as the Milwaukee committee.

He cited extensive paralleling of lines and duplication of services by the two railroads. He said the two preferred stockholders committees had begun studies of the possibility of consolidation, but that they had not been completed. He said he believed the ICC, however, was in a position to investigate the situation more fully.

Oliver E. Sweet, ICC finance director, made no comment on Wakefield's statement.

Sweet adjourned until March 21 further hearings in connection with the Milwaukee reorganization. He denied a plea by Robert T. Swaine, attorney for the Milwaukee management, that the hearings be postponed until July.

Prof. Reuter Goes To Chicago Meeting

Prof. Edward B. Reuter of the college of commerce, left for Chicago last night to attend a two-day meeting of the American youth commission of the American council of education.

Trucker Fined For Parking

Carson Fines Another For Not Stopping On Signal

Erwin Mann of Cedar Rapids was given a suspended sentence of $25 and costs yesterday by Police Judge Burke N. Carson for violating Iowa City's new truck ordinance. Mann was arrested for parking a semi-trailer in the business district.

Arnold Christen was fined $3 and costs for failure to stop at a signal. On a charge of operating without a driver's license, a fine of $5 and costs against Christen was suspended by Judge Carson on condition he produce his license.

C. Forsen Will Help Residents

Income Tax Advisor To Be at Office Of R. Jones

Charles Forsen, state income tax advisor, will open his office in the office of County Recorder R. J. "Dick" Jones Monday morning.

Forsen will assist residents of Johnson county in filling out their income tax returns. Income tax returns blanks will be available at the office.

The deadline for filing the state income tax returns is March 31.

More Barber Restrictions Is Topic of Talk

An ordinance which would place more stringent sanitary regulations upon Iowa City barbers was given its first reading by the city council last night.

It would demand all barbering, manicuring, massaging, hair dressing or chiropody establishments sterilize all equipment liable to come in contact with the skin.

Hot and cold running water would be required in these establishments, and no persons would be allowed to work there if they had communicable diseases.

All such establishments would be licensed, and a fee required for a sanitary license. The ordinance would provide for a fine of between $1 and $100 for violation.

City Heads Act Later on Birth Of Department

The city council last night took no action on the proposed ordinance which would create a city health department. It was to have been given its final reading, but the council desired to consider more fully its wording.

It will be discussed at an adjourned meeting at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

No action was taken on the proposed ordinance which would place further sanitary regulations upon restaurants. It was to have been given its third reading.

Unitarians Plan Vesper Services

A series of vesper services during February will be substituted for the regular morning services of the Unitarian church, it is announced by the Rev. Evans A. Worthley, pastor.

The regular services will be resumed at the beginning of the Lenten season.

The first of the evening vesper services will be tomorrow at 5 p.m. at the church. The young people of the church will conduct the meeting. Tomorrow is young people's Sunday throughout the Unitarian denomination.

Chi-Shing Bang, L3 of Shanghai, China, will speak on "The Japanese Invasion of China and Its Possible Outcome."

Tea will be served in the fire-side room following the vesper service.

Suit for $855 Due On 6 Year Note Started Yesterday

A suit asking $855.30 allegedly due on a promissory note signed by S. A. Schriver, was filed at the office of the clerk of the district court yesterday by D. W. Bates, state superintendent of banking, receiver for the Iowa City Savings bank.

Attorney R. C. Davis, Attorney Frank F. Messer and Attorney J. M. Otto, who represent Bates in the action, state in the petition that the amount is due on a promissory note given the bank Dec. 19, 1931.

AROUND THE TOWN

With TOM JOHNSON

And one who knows told me last night it had been definitely decided Herbie Kay and his orchestra will play in Iowa Union for an informal dance before spring.

The collegians sponsoring the affair have been trying like mad to get Dorothy Lamour, who sings for Kay's band, to appear here with the outfit.

And so far, it's been no go—the songstress is all tied up with Charlie McCarthy's skit and night club bookings.

Kay will stop here enroute to play an engagement in the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, but I'm betting the Iowans can still entice Miss Lamour to be here with Kay, who, by the way, is her husband.

Petition
A petition circulating around town and fast gaining signatures, demands Iowa's open season on migratory birds be from Oct. 20 to Nov. 20.

And last night's city council meeting lasted exactly four hours. It was easily the longest of the year.

Announced as a public hearing for several ordinances, there were no Iowa Citizens present, except city officials.

Off-the-record notes: Police Chief W. H. Bender's regular report of arrests listed the cabalistic letters, O.A.M.V.W.I. and O.A.M.V.W.P.

Mayor Myron J. Walker called for an explanation and learned they were abbreviations for "operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated" and "...without permission."

And Fire Chief James J. Clark's report announced that the fire department has 5,650 feet of hose — over a mile.

Much of it, the council learned, is nearly obsolete, so steps will be taken to acquire 1,200 more feet of hose.

And when the mayor ran across the statement, "Routine work keeps us all busy," in the monthly report from the sewage treatment plant, he dropped the best quip of the night — "That's what they're getting paid for."

All such establishments would be licensed, and a fee required for a sanitary license. The ordinance would provide for a fine of between $1 and $100 for violation.

It will be discussed at an adjourned meeting at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

No action was taken on the proposed ordinance which would place further sanitary regulations upon restaurants. It was to have been given its third reading.

Judge Gaffney To Open Court

Judge James P. Gaffney of Marengo will open the February term of the Johnson county district court Monday at the court house. Judge Harold D. Evans, who will adjourn the November term today, will open the Iowa county district court at Marengo Monday.

During the first session of the court Monday, the grand jury will be impaneled. Tuesday the court docket will be read and the first court calendar will be set.

Center Starts Craft Projects

Glass Painting, Work With Jig-Saw To Start Schedule

The addition of boys' craft groups at the Iowa City Recreational Center and new voluntary instructors, has resulted in a modified recreation schedule.

The boys' craft group will meet for the first time at 9 o'clock this morning, under the direction of Clifford C. Williams, A4 of West Liberty. The craft program will begin with glass painting and jig-saw wood work. The class will also meet Monday and Wednesday from 4 to 5 p.m.

The girls' craft group will continue its glass painting project. At a Valentine's day party next Saturday, the girls will make their own valentines. The following week, the class will begin plaster molding under the direction of Williams. The girls' group meets Thursday at 4 p.m. and Saturday at 3 p.m.

Tap-dancing classes for girls between eight to 18 years, will be Mondays and Wednesdays under the direction of Marian Smalley, A4 of Muscatine.

The game room will be open every week day afternoon for boys and girls. Ping-pong and billiards may be played and library books and table games will be available.

Chicagoan Says Work Here On Week Ends Stimulating

Edward D. Nix of Chicago, who will begin his seventh year teaching a course in advertising principles and procedure in the college of commerce today, says teaching stimulates his work as an account executive in the Chicago office of Erwin Wasey and Company, limited.

Every other Friday night during the second semester of the school year, Nix comes to Iowa City to teach four hours on Saturday and then return to his office.

He said that he looked forward to the week ends he spends at the university because they serve as a vacation from his duties with the advertising firm. The visits also give him opportunity to ascertain the effect of advertising campaigns in this section, he added.

"My hardest work," Nix said, "comes when I have 60 persons in a room to rehearse a radio program. Because the account executive is responsible for the entire program, I have to quiet some persons, be sure the commercials are read effectively and keep the soloists and the director of the orchestra on good terms."

Among the accounts which he handles is the Carnation Contented Milk campaign. This account includes a radio program each week besides newspaper and magazine advertising. In the absence of his radio continuity writer, Nix wrote the entire script for the program which will be heard the evening of Feb. 28 in two hours and 15 minutes Thursday morning.

He said that he aims to teach his students the principle of advertising, and then through actual case work to show the procedure necessary to realize this principle. Nix uses actual advertising campaigns for illustrative material to supplement the texts. By motion pictures he shows his class the entire handling of nation-wide advertising campaigns.

Nix began his work with newspapers at the age of 11. He sold papers on the street from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., played a violin at a theater until 11 p.m., and worked three hours after that in the office of the Joplin, Mo., Daily Globe. He said, "I slept my way through high school."

Washington university in St. Louis awarded him a B.A. degree in 1917. During the war he said he turned down an offer to write a syndicated column to join the infantry unit of the United States army.

He has held the position of advertising manager for the Corno Mills company, assistant sales manager for the 3-Minute Oats company and with the Gardner Advertising company of St. Louis.

Before he accepted his present position with the Erwin Wasey company, Nix taught a course at Washington university in addition to making the trip to Iowa City every two weeks.

'Hedgerow' Actors Work No Salaries and No 'Stars' Is Method Used By Theater That Seats 156

MOYLAN, Pa. (AP)—A 37-year-old former chautauqua player's dream of a successful theater unshackled by orthodox Broadway stage traditions is coming true in this southeastern Pennsylvania village.

Ann Harding, who quit a stock company job to help found the tiny playhouse in an old mill 15 years ago, dubbed it "Hedgerow" for the shrubbery dotting the landscape. That's the only name it ever has had.

The company includes about 100 persons. On the stage they're actors; off the stage they're stage hands, decorators, carpenters, cooks and janitors.

They draw no salaries. There are no "stars." Everything is on a strict cooperative basis. The players live in a nearby dormitory and when they are not acting, they're likely to be peeling potatoes or hammering away on a stage alteration.

On a Sunday morning in 1923, thin, dark-eyed Jasper Deeter stalked from a chautauqua stage in a nearby town during an argument. With $9 in his pockets and his head full of ideas about a theater dedicated to repertory, he retired to this wooded valley near Philadelphia.

Ann Harding, playing on the same circuit, came along. They rented the 150-year-old mill, installed a stage and the career of "Hedgerow" had begun.

Today the tiny theater with a seating capacity of 156 is a permanent, year-around institution. Recently it passed its 2,500th performance.

Here actor-director Deeter has made his dream a reality. In the professional theater, says this man who created "Smithers" in O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones," he never could have seen his way clear to the sincerity he wanted.

He has no "star" because, he says, when the star dies, or quits, then the show collapses. Stage scenery is held to a minimum. Says Deeter:

"Scenery adds nothing to the play. It merely aids the sluggish audience."

The company boasts a wardrobe of 8,000 costumes and prides itself on having more than 120 plays in its repertory. The most versatile member, Harry Shepherd, who came to "Hedgerow" 10 years ago, can play any of 76 roles.

The "waiting list" at the little theater is long. Deeter himself selects the members. In one two-month period in 1937, he received more than 500 applications.

Some Now Famous
"I get my actors from everywhere," he says. "They come from bad dramatic schools. They read for me. I feel so ill when I see what they have paid good money to learn that I know, if they are gifted, that they must have an opportunity to unlearn this diploma-getting stuff."

Ann Harding, John Beal, Morris Carnovsky and Ferd Nofe—among others now well known to the American stage—once worked at "Hedgerow." Miss Harding, during her motion picture work at Hollywood, made regular visits to the little colony.

Once a year part of the company embarks on a 10,000-mile tour, playing small towns and overnight stands.

Deeter takes great delight in playing before audiences whose contact with the stage has been limited, finding them often more responsive to the effectiveness of his sometimes unorthodox productions.
