FHA Takes First Step To Aid Little Business; Will O. K. Plant Loans

Agency to Back Bank Lendings Up to $10,000

'Expect Great Volume Of Business Under New Plan'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Federal Housing administration revealed today that partial insurance of plant improvement loans would be the administration's initial effort to solve the loan problem of small business. Many other solutions of the problem, whose importance was stressed by the thousands small business men who met here in the last week, also are being studied by the administration. The "little men" recommended government insurance of "loans for all necessary purposes," and direct government loans if banks failed to cooperate.

The FHA policy, authorized in an almost completely unpublicized section of the new housing act, which President Roosevelt signed Thursday night, covers loans up to $10,000. If a bank can be induced to make the loan for periods ranging up to five years, the FHA will guarantee 10 per cent of it.

"We expect to do a great volume of business under this plan," a spokesman said.

Other proposals still are in the study stage. President Roosevelt has announced the topic is scheduled for "early study," and officials of the federal reserve board, treasury, securities commission, reconstruction finance corporation and commerce department all are thinking about it.

One official suggested the government encourage private investors to form investment pools for the purpose of buying stock in small enterprises. His idea was that only large capital pools which could average good investments against bad investments would be able to take the risks involved in providing capital for small business. His proposal also would enable small firms to get new working capital, he said. The FHA policy covers only financing of property improvements.

Soviets to O.K. U. S. Visit With Mrs. Rubens

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP)—A representative of the United States embassy will visit Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens Monday, it was disclosed today, in the hope of solving the mystery of her trip to Russia and subsequent arrest.

Mrs. Rubens, an American citizen, has been held incommunicado since she was arrested Dec. 9 on suspicion of espionage. Soviet authorities agreed today to let a United States diplomatic representative talk to her, but the visit could not be arranged before Monday because of the Sunday holiday.

Unexpected Mining Hazard Interrupts 3 Coal Workers

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Feb. 5 (AP)—Three workers at the Gunn coal mine were incapacitated today after an encounter with an unexpected mining hazard.

When a coal cutting machine was started, the miners saw a small animal scurry from it. Thinking it a rat, they pursued. Too late, they found out it was a polecat.

The entry had to be cleared while the mine's fresh air pump was worked overtime.

Herring Urges Radio Review

Iowa Senator Suggests That Stations Submit Programs to Federal Board

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Herring (D-Iowa) proposed today, as a step toward "cleaning up the air," that radio stations submit their programs voluntarily to a federal board of review.

The Iowan said there "isn't a broadcaster in the country who wouldn't be glad to submit his program, before delivery," to such a board.

Herring said he would introduce legislation to set up the review board within the federal communications commission. Appointed by the president, the board would report its conclusions to the communications commission which, Herring said, already has authority to suspend the license of a station for use of obscene, indecent or profane language.

Radio stations would be prohibited under Herring's proposal from using their facilities for material "contrary to public interest, convenience or necessity."

He called his proposal a means of "locking the door to harmful programs before they are given, not afterward."

Herring first expressed determination to "clean up broadcasting" at the time the F. C. C. began an inquiry into a program featuring Mae West, but he said his action was not prompted by that incident.

This week he wrote to sponsors of a Sunday night program for the script used by Boris Karloff of the movies. He said that program was typical of the "horror and blood and thunder plays going out to our children through the radio."

Investigate Cruel Treatment In Case of 5-Year-Old Girl, Hidden in Farmer's Home

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 5 (AP)—Humane agencies today investigated the strange case of a five-year-old girl who, they charged, had been hidden from the outside world in the upstairs room of a farmer's home since infancy.

E. M. Smith of the western Pennsylvania humane society, said the child, crippled and undernourished, had been found tied to an old chair in a storage room on the second floor of the home of David Harris, about 17 miles from Uniontown.

Smith brought charges of negligence to a minor against Harris and his daughter, Martha. Both will receive a hearing Monday before a justice of the peace.

Smith quoted Harris as saying the child was illegitimate and had been kept in a room as "a sort of punishment" for his daughter's "second sin."

Smith asserted the girl had been imprisoned in an attic, without windows or ventilation for two years, and then kept for three years in the storage room on the second floor. Martha, he reported, said she "fed and cared for the child."

State Hospitals Need 5 Million

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Cost of bringing Iowa's mental institutions up to standard will be at least $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 figures indicated today.

When the legislature meets next January, it must face the problem of rehabilitating the state's hospital system.

The mental hospital survey committee reported to Governor Kraschel this week that there is a combined shortage of 2,200 beds at the four state hospitals and two state schools for feebleminded.

The committee, which based its report on information obtained by Dr. Joseph E. Barrett in a period of residence at each institution last summer, would meet part of this shortage with a new 1,500 bed hospital in the western part of the state, "somewhere between Des Moines and the Missouri river."

Democratic Countries Seek Japanese Naval Construction Program

U. S., Britain, France Unite To Issue Note

Indicate Willingness To Cooperate On Limitations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The United States, together with Britain and France, presented to Japan today a formal threat to build battle ships bigger than 35,000 tons unless Japan says definitely she is not exceeding this limit.

In a formal note presented to the Japanese government by Ambassador Grew at Tokyo, the United States gave Japan 15 days until Feb. 20 to reply.

Failure to reply will be construed officially as an admission Japan is building or intends building battleships beyond 35,000 tons and cruisers beyond 8,000 tons, and the United States will do likewise.

Consultation between the two countries for limitation of battleship sizes must be completed by May 1, the American note said. The 15-day limit for the Japanese reply was set because this government must assemble its fleet estimates in time to communicate them to Britain and France, other signatories of the London naval treaty of 1936, before May 1.

Apparently refusing to accept repeated statements of official Japanese spokesmen that Japan is not building or contemplating building bigger battleships, Secretary Hull told Japan:

"There have for some time been persistent and cumulative reports, which in the absence of explicit assurances from the Japanese government that they are ill-founded, must be deemed to be authentic, that Japan has undertaken or intends to undertake construction of capital ships and cruisers not in conformity with the above-mentioned limits."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The federal reserve board reported tonight that the nation's business halted its decline during January and is now no worse, at least, than in December.

Discussing in its monthly bulletin the recession which in about four months wiped out the gains in industrial production of three years, the board made no prediction about the future.

The index of industrial production, based on 1923-25 as 100, stayed at the December level of 84 during January, the board reported. Retail sales, as measured by department store business, also held up to December levels, considering seasonal differences between the months.

In the industrial field, the board found slightly higher output in January than in December for steel, automobiles and shoes. Textile production showed little change and mineral production declined.

January figures were available yet on factory employment and payrolls.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The four Soviet Arctic campers riding the ice from the North Pole tonight reported their floe had drifted 20 miles farther from Greenland's east coast in 24 hours while the temperature continued to drop.

News of the falling temperature heartened rescuers who had feared the small floe might break up before the campers could be reached if recent warmer weather prevailed.

Alumni Talk Things Over

Iowa district directors are seen as they met to consider plans for carrying out the 10-year program of proposed alumni activities yesterday afternoon. Directors present at the meeting are Benjamin F. Butler of Waterloo, Donald F. Holdoegel of Des Moines, Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, executive secretary, President Clyde B. Charlton of Des Moines, John C. Eichhorn of Oskaloosa, Harry L. Johnson, assistant executive secretary, Carl C. Riepe of Burlington and Dr. Walter A. Anneberg of Carroll.

The plan providing for sub-directors in the counties in each district to aid in carrying out the 10-year program of proposed alumni activities was accepted by seven officers of the University of Iowa alumni association in its meeting yesterday afternoon.

The plan was presented by Benjamin F. Butler of Waterloo who has experimented with the plan in his district since the adoption of the 10-year plan at the Homecoming meeting of the board of directors.

The sub-directors provided for in the accepted plan will serve as an advisory council to the board of directors in carrying out the campaign to arouse interest in the university, preceding its celebration of the centennial of its founding Feb. 25, 1947.

In its first stages the plan adopted yesterday will direct attention to a campaign to secure more annual members of the association to furnish a working budget. Organization of all alumni of the university into localized groups will follow to carry out the 10-year plan.

The directors and their wives, President and Mrs. Eugene A. Gilmore, Prof. and Mrs. Bruce E. Mahan and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Johnson were guests of Clyde B. Charlton of Des Moines, president of the board, at a dinner in Iowa Union after the meeting. Following the dinner they were guests at the Iowa - Ohio State basketball game.

Iowa district directors present at the meeting were Carl C. Riepe of Burlington, Richard E. Romey of Mason City, John C. Eichhorn of Oskaloosa, Dr. Walter A. Anneberg of Carroll, Donald F. Holdoegel of Des Moines, Mr. Butler and Mr. Charlton.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Further departure from the administration's original regional planning bill appeared likely today when Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) of the house rivers and harbors committee, proposed national planning instead.

Three Decades Of Scouting

POG: GOES OF IT. And the man was a stranger in London. Suddenly out of the thickness came a youthful voice. "Can I help you sir?" And thus, by a purely routine good turn, William D. Boyce, the man who brought scouting to America, was introduced to the Boy Scout movement in England. That was 30 years ago. Today, on the 28th anniversary of the incorporation of the Boy Scouts of America, membership has passed the five million mark. Scouts are also found today in 73 civilized countries of the world. In spite of such mushroom growth, however, scouting remains the same vigorous program that Boyce found flourishing under Lord Baden-Powell in pre-war England. Scouts and scouting are an asset to any community. Their influence as character building forces are everywhere recognized. As long as men believe that the future welfare in terms of morality, prosperity and achievement depends upon youth and the training it receives from the hands of the preceding generation, just so long will the scouting program receive the approval and support of every thoughtful man and woman everywhere.

Plot to kidnap Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig of New York Yankees revealed. Wouldn't have been any use—with Joe McCarthy, Bill Dickey and the others on the payroll the Yankees would win the pennant anyway.

Echoes Of 'I Do'

SINCE HELEN first left Hellas for the bright lights of Troy, lovely women have been bending men to their whims and, at the same time, raising the very deuce with the affairs of states and statesmen. Erika Gruba merely said "yes" and Hitler was forced to take over command of the Reich's armed forces, shake up a new cabinet, withdraw ambassadors from Rome, Tokyo and Vienna, secretly arrest several of his generals, and postpone a courtesy meeting of the reichstag.

Erika is married now and presumably happy in Capri. Hitler, if reports are to be believed, it is not so pleasantly situated. The week has shown that the 66 million German people are not quite so single-minded in their devotion to Nazism as the dictator would like to have the world believe. Six years ago in the "free election" which placed him in power, a majority of 18,500,000 is supposed to have voted against Hitler. Under pressure of censorship and repression, it is impossible to ascertain whether the opposition has increased or diminished since that time. In any event, the action of army spokesmen in demanding a return to Christian doctrines shows that it has not disappeared. Observers have reported a growing opposition in military circles to making the army a part of the state, and von Blomberg's resignation was merely the opportunity for this sentiment to appear on the surface. Hitler's move in taking over military leadership personally will probably relieve the situation, but it alone will hardly be sufficient to override opposition to neo-pagan doctrines and to smooth over the prosecution of the Rev. Martin Niemoeller which begins this week. Because the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller is acknowledged to be a genuine patriot with an enviable war record and because he voices the general anti-pagan sentiment of the army, the trial is dangerous to Nazi tranquillity—particularly at this time. Until the trial is over and its issues met, Hitler in streamlining his cabinet has done little more than to throw a silk handkerchief over the lack of opposition in his dictatorial chair. Small wonder if, while he sits there waiting, he prays that the remainder of his staff be eternally free from the wiles of future Eriksas.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

"THIS LITTLE FIG—" When Lewis Carroll wrote "Alice in Wonderland" he penned not merely a tale for the amusement of children but also what many regard as a profound satire on his times. Similarly, it now begins to appear that the author of the familiar nursery rhyme about five little pigs, some of whom went to market and some of whom stayed home, wrote not mere fantasy but with remarkable presence of fact legislation in 20th century America and specifically the Boileau amendment to the farm bill.

This amendment provides that acres diverted from the production of cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco or rice shall not be used for the production of any other agricultural commodities to be sold on the market. Such land—if used at all—must be set apart for the production only of items to be used on the farm by the farmer's family, his hired help or his work stock. This was the dairy states' idea of a way to protect their farmers from increased acreage for pasture or forage crops.

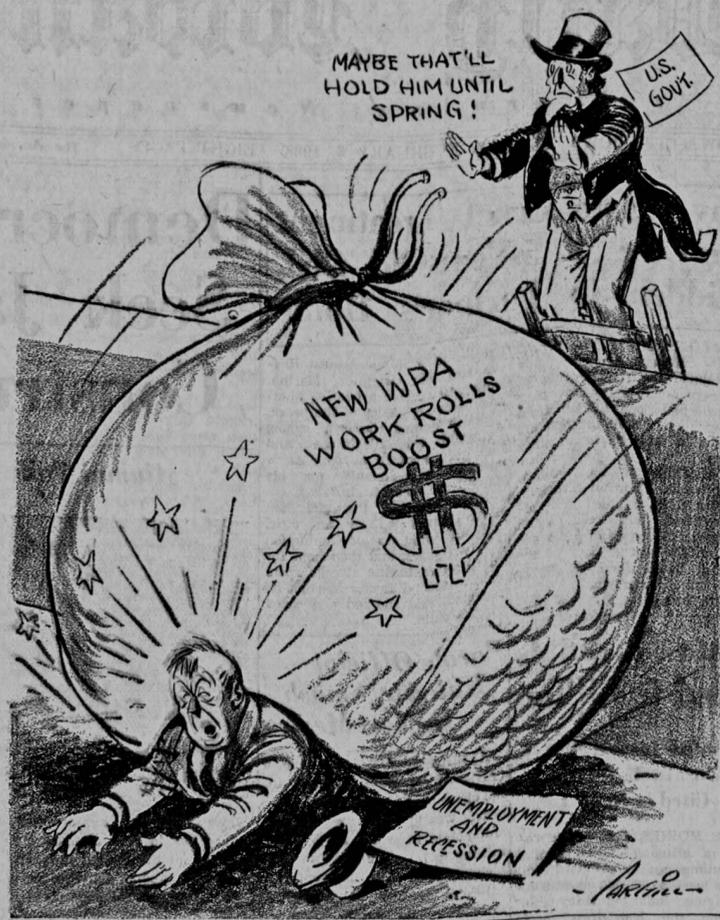

Supposing a farmer has retired from cultivation a former cotton or corn field in order to collect soil conservation benefits on it, he would be forbidden to sell, trade or even give away any of the produce of that patch, and he must not sell, trade or give away any poultry or livestock that has ranged on the forbidden ground or been fed with grain or roughage from it. If a cow breaks through into that field, it is as if her milk were tainted; it must not be sold to the creamery. If a chicken flies over the fence into that field and picks up a few grains of barley, neither that hen nor her eggs can be given to the neighborhood parson for his Sunday dinner. When one sheep of the farmer's flock finds its way under the fence, you will just say good-bye to the year's wool crop—if you know sheep. And as for the pigs, let us return to the nursery rhyme: "This little pig went to market—" One of the litter successfully avoided all the pitfalls of the Boileau amendment and was actually received into the slaughter pens for its good behavior. "This little pig stayed home—" Ah, too bad! The hired man forgot one day and gave that little piggy a few wisps of alfalfa out of the wrong corner of the barn loft, the hay that was grown on the forbidden field and intended only for the horses.

"This little pig had roast beef—" Well, let us say turnip greens instead. No, naughty piggy, you shall not go to market! Don't you remember when you strayed last summer into the turnip patch that had been planted explicitly for the kitchen? "This little pig had none—" So perhaps there is one more shot among the five that can be sold or traded for a cream separator.

"This little pig cried 'Wee, wee!' all the way home." Ah, now there is the most touching story of all. For this little pig in good faith went to market thinking he had minded all the "don'ts" and would make really acceptable pork chops. But at the gate a steely-eyed inspector looked at him sharply—oh, yes, there must be inspectors; in fact, many, many inspectors. The inspector looked him over closely and said, in that grim, tight-lipped way: "Aren't you the little pig I saw rooting up acorns on the edge of the field that wasn't planted to cotton this year?" So, there you have it; that is the true story of why the fifth little pig went home crying and heartbroken.

It also gives an intimation of how some thousands of conscientious farmers will tear their hair and perhaps rend buttons off their work jeans trying to keep farm animals from disqualifying themselves for the market and to keep the fodder for the work stock from becoming mixed with that for the milk cows, if the Boileau amendment remains in the farm bill. Fantastic? Yes. But this is just an example of how attempted farm regulation can complicate itself when it gets started. And can nothing be done about it? Possibly not at this session, but the conference committee is studying the possibilities of a technicality that arises from the fact that the amendment was attached to different sections of the bill in the two houses. This may offer an opportunity for reconsideration. —Christian Science Monitor

BOOSTER'S MILLIONS

Determine Exposure Amount By Whether or Not You Like It

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. Several of my friends have asked me lately whether I believe they should sleep on an open porch during the severe weather. There is no absolute standard of health about it. I noticed a story the other day in a little German magazine about health which had, to me, quite a sensible lesson. Two friends were taking a walk on a cold winter evening, one tall and slender; the other short and stocky. Their breath hovered around them in the frosty air like smoke, and one of them wished he had taken a taxicab instead of walking the 20 minutes' walk from the station. He complained that the air was cold and his friend thought the air was fine and invigorating. "Who would be such a frozen turnip?" The thin man was ashamed of this; his stocky friend, who seemed to be in his element, said the cold never bothered him, reached out his fleshy hand and thrust it into the cold fingers of his companion. "Thought He Was Abnormal" So the thin man decided he was abnormal and discarded his heavy winter clothing and decided to pay no attention to the cold. In order to try to harden himself, he exposed himself to the danger of pneumonia and a severe cold. There was no reason why he should try to emulate his stocky companion who was full bloated and robust, and whose circulation always made him uncomfortable in a warm room. The same thing is true of a sleeping porch in winter. Naturally elderly people, thin, asthenic people and very young children should not be exposed to such rigors. The best way to determine the question is purely on the basis of whether you like it or not. If you feel better after a night on the sleeping porch than you do after a night inside, that is the healthful thing for you to do. Yawn Yawnson says he has a nephew who has just quit his job with a flea circus. The youth, it seems, had an itch to do bigger things.

Little Known Facts: Charlie McCarthy has a brother! Said brother's name is Charlie, too, but, unlike most brothers, these two have the same first name and different last names. Charlie O'Brien was whittled by Frank Marshall, McCarthy's chiseler. Several years ago, Bergen while playing in Omaha had a dinner at the home of Carlson, O'Brien's voice. During the evening Charlie McCarthy and Charlie O'Brien traded knees and even swapped voices. O'Brien is heard with Hugh Cross and His Radio Pals over WLW at 7:15 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. Hot rumors from the coast list Eddie Cantor as being slated for a new sponsor in March when his option expires. Reports persist that he has a deal on for a one-hour show for the sponsor of the current Jack Oakie airing. Robert Taylor goes on the Jack Benny program Feb. 13, and Jack Benny is reported set on the MGM "Good News" broadcast Feb. 17. Deal is also on for a similar arrangement between Phil Baker and Metro for Taylor to do a swap for Baker's nemesis, Beetle, who has been haunting various shows. The lad who took the part of Charlie Butterworth at the age of 16 on a recent "Hollywood Mardi Gras" show was none other than Jack O'Keefe, younger brother to Walter. During rehearsal of Bob Ripley's recent program dramatizing the Curse of the Hapsburgs, an agency official noticed that the script said Count Ludwig Batthyany was hanged, although it later stated he had been shot. The matter was brought to Ripley's attention for correction. A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Your correspondent bit off more than he could chew today: 40,000,000 hamburgers. A man who knows about such things was saying that never in history were such vast quantities of ground up meat inserted in split buns as during 1937. One chain of bite-and-run commissaries alone reported selling 40,000,000 separate and distinct hamburgers. Most of them with mustard. The man who knows about such things said your correspondent could go right on from there, adding the hamburgers of other restaurants of chain or independent variety. He said he could not tell exactly how many there were altogether without his crystal ball, but he wouldn't be surprised if there were about five hundred million of them. That is a lot of hamburgers, especially with mustard. The Hot Dog: George Rector, who writes generally about cuisine of a somewhat higher social status, was telling his readers only the other day that he believed the most popular food in New York and America was the hot dog. Mr. Rector plainly called them hot dogs. More fastidious literatures might have said frankfurter sandwiches—but Mr. Rector believes in calling a dog a dog. The famous food authority made no attempt to be statistical about the matter, but your correspondent has no compunctions about hazarding an opinion; and it seems reasonable to believe that if Americans swallowed half a billion hamburgers in 1937, they also made away with at least a similar quantity of hot dogs, with mustard. Now we've got a figure that looks like something—a billion sandwiches. Even Hollywood will go a long way before it can dig up a billion of anything. Certainly anything with mustard. What does this vast hamburger-hot dog glutty portend? What is its social significance? You've got me there, pal. Jimmy Walker used to make all the first nights, but he hasn't done much premiering in recent months. His wife soon opens a new flower shop on Madison avenue, featuring orchids. George M. Cohan, an old pal, has asked for permission to buy the first orchid.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD—Three segments of American history dominated the preview screen in January. The cameras looked at Old Chicago, Old Louisiana, and Old California. For its 25 minutes of spectacular fireworks, I found "In Old Chicago" worth a second inspection, and would not mind a third. The only thing that could top this screened catastrophe for realism, terror, and scope would be a filmed version of the end of the world—which some producer doubtless will undertake in the future, goaded by the success of Zanuck's blaze. Well Knit Yarn: Aside from the fire, "In Old Chicago" offers a well-knit yarn of an interesting family in an interesting setting: the fictional O'Learys in a muddy, lusty, gaudy, hell-bent-for-election, typically American town of the 1870s. The picture catches the bustle and excitement and color of a big town a-growing, yet never forgets to keep the camera focused on its principals—as human beings—for all the turmoil and restlessness of which they are a part. It flits from pathos to comedy and back again with an agility that has never failed to please audiences, and yet manages to remain a smoothly flowing tale. Not a great story in the strict sense, it is still something more than an excuse to sound the historic fire alarm. Miss Brady Acts: The performances of Alice Brady and Alice Faye will surprise those who have forgotten that Miss Brady is an actress, those who never expected Miss Faye to become one. Tyrone Power and Don Ameche, Brian Donlevy, Tom Brown and Andy Devine will deliver as expected—youth Power succeeding remarkably well in a character that must be pleasant while it is despicable. Shining in a large supporting cast is Madame Sultewan, playing Miss Faye's maid. Henry King, who directed, wisely let the story take its course, refrained from "touches," although that opening scene has a "feeling" to set it apart from any other introductions.

Cyclones Take Five Matches From Iowans

Nead Retains Unbeaten Record by Pinning Howard Buck

By BOB SCHAAL
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
Iowa State's Cyclones swept through their fifth successive Big 10 wrestling opponent of the year yesterday afternoon before a large crowd at the Iowa fieldhouse when they defeated the fighting Hawkeye grapplers, 19 to 11. The victory over the Hawkeyes left the Cyclone victory string intact in the six meets they have wrestled in for the year.

Iowa won three of the eight matches between the two state schools, winning one on a fall by Capt. Wilbur Nead in the heavyweight division, and decisions in the 118 and 175 pound classes. Iowa State garnered their 19 points on two falls and three decisions.

Nead Pins foe
Iowa's two veterans, Nead and Carl Vergamini, and one of the five sophomores on the team, Ed Lybbert, were responsible for all of the Hawks' 11 points. In the heavyweight class, Capt. Nead remained in the undefeated class and added his fourth successive fall to his record by throwing Howard Buck, Cyclone sophomore, with a half nelson and body scissors in five minutes and 19 seconds of their match. Buck replaced Al Stoeker, Big Six champion in the bout. Nead defeated Stoeker in their meeting last year at Ames. Vergamini decided Guy Henderson in the 175 pound class in what proved to be one of the outstanding matches of the afternoon. Lybbert led Kenneth Stewart all the way in their 118 pound match and won a referee's decision to hand the latter his first setback of the year.

Kingsbury Thrown
In the 135 pound division, John Kingsbury of Iowa State threw Kenneth Kingsbury of Iowa with a double bar arm and body press in 3:55 to administer Kingsbury's first defeat this season. Frank Linn, Iowa State captain, retained his unblemished record by throwing Howard Krouse of Iowa in 5:15 with a reverse head lock and body scissors.

The summaries:
118 Pounds—Lybbert (I) defeated Stewart (IS)
126 Pounds—Larson (IS) defeated Millen (I)
135 Pounds—Kirstein (IS) threw Kingsbury (I), Time—3:55

HOD SHOTS

By G. K. HODENFIELD

Edward McCloy carried on an old family tradition last night when he was awarded one of the scholarships cups by the board in control of athletics. McCloy was one of 10 sophomores who were honored between the halves of the Ohio State-Iowa cage tilt for having the highest grade point average of any numeral-winner of their respective squads during their freshman year.

Six years ago, William McCloy, Ed's brother, was presented a scholarship cup for his scholastic work while performing as a member of the freshman swimming team. During his sophomore year he was named an All-American diver and to prove he was as good scholastically as athletically, he graduated in three years, ranked at the top of the entire college of liberal arts. He is now a professor of art at Drake university.

Robert McCloy was the next in line. He was presented with a cup for having the highest grade average of any member of the freshman gymnastics team and three

WILLIAMSBURG, Feb. 5 (Special to The Daily Iowan) — Piling up a commanding first half lead, Iowa City high school's cage quintet coasted through to a 29-24 victory over a determined, but luckless Williamsburg five here tonight. The Little Hawks also hold an early season advantage over the home team.

With O'Neil, smooth - working pivot man, acting as sparkplug, the Raiders burst forth with a 13 point rally in the final heat, but found the Hawkeye lead too great to overcome. The superior passing attack of the Iowa Citizens gave them opportunities for numerous close-in shots, on which they scored practically all of their points. The losers, however, were forced to take most of their field goal attempts from far out on the court, as they were unable to penetrate the tight defense net strung up by Gabby Burger and Capt. Wayne Putnam in the Red and White rear court.

Purdue Stays In Big 10 Race

Jewell Young, Anderson Lead Winners To Triumph

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 5 (AP) — Purdue's Boilermakers came up from what seemed sure defeat here tonight to nose out Indiana university, 38 to 36, and stay right behind Northwestern in the Big Ten basketball race.

The Boilermakers looked like anything but championship contenders for almost three quarters of the game tonight and then, trailing, 24 to 32, they suddenly came to life. Without allowing the Hoosiers to count a point, they tied the score at 32-all with six minutes to play and then Pat Malaska, guard, put the Boilermakers out in front.

Purdue's new field house was filled to its capacity of 8,500 for the game.

Cardinals Acquire Benge, Guy Bush

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5 (AP) — Two veteran right-handers, Guy Bush and Ray Benge, were added to the pitching staff of the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Vice-President Branch Rickey announced the purchase of Bush from the Boston Bees and the signing of Benge, a free agent, "to take care of our reserve pitching until we see how things shape up."

Bush, 34 years old, won 176 games and lost 135 in 15 seasons in the National league. Benge, a year older, won 100 and lost 129 games in 11 major league seasons, including parts of two years in the American league.

Joe Bowman Signs
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joe Bowman, the righthander whose pitching slump in mid-summer last year helped depress the Pittsburgh Pirates, returned his signed contract yesterday with the announcement his physical condition was much improved.

Losing Team Scores 3 Baskets In Final Minute

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 5 (AP) — Northwestern's basketball team staved off Bradley's last minute rally to hand the Braves their first defeat of the season Saturday night by a score of 28 to 26.

Trailing 28 to 17 with four minutes left to play, Bradley engineered a drive that netted nine consecutive points, two short of tying the score.

Capt. Carl Schunk opened the rally with a free throw and Ted Panish added two more charity tosses. With less than a minute left, lanky Dar Hutchins hooked a field goal from the side. Les Getz followed with a basket from close in and Paul Nunes hit from far out as the final gun sounded.

Michigan to Pick Coach Next Week

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 5 (AP) — Athletic and administration officials of the University of Michigan said tonight announcement of a football coach to succeed Harry G. Kipke may be expected next week, probably Friday when the board of regents meets.

Selection, an authoritative source said tonight, will be made from a list that includes Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, Princeton; George Veenker, Iowa State; Lieut. Tom Hamilton, former Navy coach; Dick Harlow, Harvard; Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt; and Jack Blott, Wesleyan (Coon.)

Buckeyes out in Front By 27-26 Margin At Halftime

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
Ohio State's crimson cagers staged a brilliant last-half rally to knock the Iowa Hawkeyes from their fifth place standing in the Big 10 last night, 51-43, before nearly 9,000 fans in the Iowa fieldhouse.

The game, the roughest and fastest on the Iowa floor this year, saw 31 fouls, 18 on Iowa, called by the officials. The Buckeyes took advantage of the Iowa miscues and chalked up 13 free throws to establish their margin of victory.

Blazing Benny Stephens and Nile Kinnick set the pace for the Iowans as they scored 33 points between them. Stephens pushed in eight field goals and two free throws for 18 points and Kinnick flipped in seven field goals and one charity toss for 15.

Nip and Tuck

The game was nip and tuck all the way until the last two minutes of the game. At the half the Buckeyes led by the smallest of margins, 27-26. The two teams were on even terms most of the second period and with only two minutes to go the score read 47 to 43 for the Buckeyes. Boughner and Prewitt counted on long shots at this point to ice the game for the visitors.

Kinnick put on a great one-man exhibition of the way baskets should be made in the first half as he poured in four straight buckets from all over the court to help bring the count to 19-all after the Ohio Staters had led, 16-9.

Iowa Scores First

The Hawkeyes broke the ice at the start of the game when Drees made a free throw on McDonald's miscue. He missed his second shot and Kinnick took the rebound in the corner and made a beautiful basket. A basket by Hull and charity tosses by Schick, Baker and Boughner put the Bucks ahead, however, and they were never headed except for a brief period in the initial stanza.

Bucks Grab Rebounds

Ball-hawking by the Buckeyes was the greatest factor in their victory-drive as they took the ball off both backboards time after time. Only Kenny Suesens seemed to be able to snare any number of the rebounds for the battling, but out-batted, Hawks.

Cleveland Takes Steps

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — C. C. Slapnicka, vice-president of the Cleveland baseball club, said here he had authorized release of any claims by the club on the services of Louis Boudreau, University of Illinois athlete, if it will bring about his reinstatement.

Tomorrow night the Hawkeyes meet Minnesota's up and coming cagers at Minneapolis. The Gophers are tied with Iowa for sixth place in the conference standings.

On the flying rings Iowa has Bob Brown, Ed McCloy and Vogel to garner points. The Hawkeyes will depend on four men on the parallel bars, John Morgan, Brown, Millard Store-sund, and Vogel. Jones, Morgan and Walter Reitz will do the tumbling.

The scores were 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

'Kansas Flyer' Equals Record

Cunningham Wins Mile From San Romani By 12 Yards

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — Glenn Cunningham captured the classic Wanamaker mile tonight for the fifth time in six years, equalling the meet record of 4:11 as he scored decisively over four rivals in the feature event of the 31st Millrose A.A. games.

A capacity crowd of 16,000 spectators cheered the famous "Iron Horse," as he galloped home a dozen yards in front of his Kansas challenger, Archie San Romani, after rocking the rafters with applause for the sprint exploits of Columbia's Ben Johnston, who twice cracked the world indoor record for the 60-yard dash.

Cunningham took complete command of the mile after San Romani and Indiana's Don Lash shared the pace-making for the first three laps.

The veteran holder of all listed world records successively fought off challenges by San Romani, Gene Venzke of the New York A.C. and Charles Fenske of Wisconsin.

'Winter in April' Gives Calm Charming Anti-Fascism Story

Author Writes Fantasy On How to Find Peace in Life

'WINTER IN APRIL' by Robert Nathan. (Alfred A. Knopf, 1938, $2.)

If you love realism, you probably ready know that Robert Nathan does not. He is renowned for his fantasy.

"Winter in April" is delightful and placid. It's one of those intimate, first-person novels that enchants the reader. This particular one says, "Where is this world going? It makes me believe in God. . . youth is so delightfully annoying."

Sinclair Lewis once wrote an anti-fascist novel called "It Can't Happen Here." It was a furious, realistically make-believe story about fascism in America. "Winter in April" is also an anti-fascist novel. But it isn't furious. It's calm and philosophical. It's "comforting and consoling." You believe at the end that maybe in Germany or Russia there'll be a happier world—and in America, too.

Here is mostly the story of Professor Pennifer in the evening of life; mostly of Ellen who wants to grow up; mostly of Eric who by honor must fight for the old Germany.

Here is the philosophy of a man who lived in the peaceful past, a youth who lives in a chaotic present—and of a little girl who hadn't lived—but wanted to dreadfully. Professor Pennifer (who drank too much sherry once) finds a modicum of peace in his philosophy. Eric wants peace, so goes to Spain to fight. And Ellen just wonders: "Isn't there any place for young people any more in the world?"

"Because we won't be young forever; and if there's no place left . . ."

And like the rest of us, Ellen says, "I guess maybe I don't want to grow up so hard. But I guess maybe I'd better." —J.F.F.

Amelia Earhart Lives in Story Of 'Last Flight'

"LAST FLIGHT" by Amelia Earhart. (Harcourt, Brace and Company, 1937, $2.50.)

"Last Flight" is the remarkable story of Amelia Earhart's world flight which ended in oblivion somewhere between New Guinea and a pin point, Howland Island, in the south Pacific last summer.

You won't find it an entrancing story. It's just another adventure book like Byrd's "Discovery" or Lindbergh's "We." But you'll want to read it, as I did, to answer the questions in your own mind about Amelia. You'll search for proof of George Palmer Putnam's "I think, somehow, she knew." Strange little phrases and sentences will appear to you as answers.

Remembering the Amelia Earhart who lectured on this campus less than two years ago, you'll seek to find in her uncompleted novel fuller and truer revelations of that personality which captured the public conscience. There is probably not a reader but shares a fantastic hope with George Palmer Putnam that she lives. She undoubtedly does live, in a sense, through the pages of "Last Flight."

This is her own story of the climax of a career that ended as she wished—quickly, and in her plane. It is the story she began before her last flight, continued to write at each landing and sent back with the plane's log and records.

It is reassuring to find that the last flight was not just a stunt—but was undertaken to test scientifically "some human reactions to flying."

Published last November, the book is still on best-seller lists. "When time has smoothed out somewhat the rough sorrows of the present," her husband has promised, "there will be another book—the full story of Amelia Earhart's life. That's a project for a tomorrow of retrospect." —J. F. F.

Tomorrow With WSUI

Stories

Stories from "the land of cotton" will be told by Peggy Reagan, A3 of Pt. Arthur, Tex., on tomorrow night's story hour at 7 p.m. Daily at this time, Maidia Dryden, G of Hoisington, Kan., brings a different story teller and a different type of story to the mike.

Around the State
What editors of Iowa newspapers think in regard to state problems is the theme of the Around the State With Iowa Editors program which will be introduced over WSUI at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. The program is written by Philip Norman, A4 of Ames, and presented by Jack Chase, A3 of Ames.

On The Campus

With MARVIN TAUB

The dramatic art students are planning a summer stock company again. The other night, at one of the local cafes, they received the idea with screams of delight. Not even the fact that about $2,000 would be needed to back the venture could dull their enthusiasm. A scout tells me that they have been planning similar ventures for the last several years, and as yet, nothing has ever come of it.

Larry Zuccolo, Iowa track man, who was recently declared ineligible because he flunked a two-hour course, has better than a B average in his other subjects.

A card on the university hall bulletin board states: "Wanted: 12-tube radio. Must have foreign reception. Am willing to pay up to five dollars."—Maybe he wants it gold-plated too!

Bird Chaser
One of the most amusing of sights occurred recently when "John" down at Iowa Union, tried to chase a sparrow out of the main lounge. Students watched fascinated as "John" chased the sparrow from one chandelier to another. It was a sort of game with one student remarking, "Let's see who gets tired first, John or the bird!"

Breathing heavily and ready to drop, "John" finally chased the bird out after about an hour of avian "puss in the corner." It wasn't exactly the bird that "John" was worried about—it was the new rug.

And who is the blond Fred Astaire screwball who was tap dancing on one of the tables in the sun porch of Iowa Union?

Egomaniac
A certain student on this campus, with initials H. Z., has such a bad case of egomania that he stares at his reflection in the mirror for hours on end. Incidentally, he also has the affected habit of bowing and clicking his heels when making new acquaintances.

Were you at that local theater when some hoarse-voiced member of the audience lost his head during a detective melodrama? One of the scenes has the murderer asking in feigned surprise, "who murdered her?" And at that moment our emotional movie-goer forgot all restraint and shouted, "You did!"

Williams to Speak On Temperament

Prof. Harold M. Williams of the psychology department will speak on "A New Theory of Temperament" at a sociology club meeting Tuesday noon at Smith's cafe. The club will meet at Smith's cafe for luncheon.

Club Will Hear Professor Daley Tomorrow at 8

Prof. Clara M. Daley of the history department will address a meeting of the political science club tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the home of Prof. and Mrs. John E. Briggs, 336 Beldon street. Professor Daley will discuss "A Woman Reformer."

The committee in charge of the meeting includes Prof. and Mrs. George F. Robeson of the political science department and Prof. Fred E. Haynes of the college of commerce.

Barnes Is Author Of Time, Motion Article in Magazine

"How to Teach Motion Study Methods" is the title of an article by Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the college of engineering which has recently appeared in the English magazine, Industry Illustrated. The article deals with motion and time study as it is taught undergraduates and graduates at the University of Iowa. It particularly emphasizes the motion and time study laboratory which is located at the university.

Leader in Religious Movement Will Speak at Vesper Service

N. Y. Episcopal Pastor Also to Conduct Round Table

The Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker of New York, one of the leaders in the Oxford movement, will be the speaker at the university vesper service tonight at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union. His topic will be "God's Answer in the Modern World." The program will be broadcast over station WSUI.

Recognized as one of the leading spokesmen for the Buchman movement, the Rev. Mr. Shoemaker is rector of the Calvary Protestant Episcopal church in New York. He is the editor of the new religious magazine, Rising Tide, explaining the movement and its development.

He will also conduct a round table discussion of the Oxford groups tomorrow at 4:10 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Presiding at the vesper service tonight will be President Eugene A. Gilmore. The string group of the University symphony orchestra will play "Arioso" by Bach-Franco, and the University women's chorus will sing "Ave Verum Corpus" by Despres.

The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Richard E. McEvoy, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church. The hymn, "God of Our Fathers," will be sung by the audience.

The Rev. Mr. Shoemaker was honored at a reception yesterday at 4:30 p.m. at the home of Prof. and Mrs. M. Willard Lampe, 120 Fairchild street.

Handcraft Club To Start Semester By Fashioning Articles

The Handcraft club of the Women's Athletic association will begin its second semester program Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the women's gymnasium.

Work will be started on articles made from pewter, copper, aluminum and tin. A variety of articles such as plaques, aluminum buttons, dishes and book ends can be made from this material. New and old members are invited to attend the meeting.

Mrs. P. Risley To Speak at Meeting

Mrs. Paul Risley will discuss "The Japanese Exclusion Act" at a meeting tomorrow of the government and foreign policy study group of the League of Women Voters. The group will meet at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Dr. Zella White Stewart, 1010 Woodlawn.

Make Your Entry Now!

Annual Table Tennis Meet Announced By Iowa Union Board

All male table tennis players in the university may now make their entries at the Iowa Union desk to the annual tournament deciding the university championship, Union Board announced yesterday. Entries will be open until noon Saturday. There is no entry fee. Equipment will be furnished and cups awarded.

Those entering will be notified of their first round matches by mail, and matches must be played at the Union game room during the time specified. The time of subsequent matches will be posted in the game room. The tournament will be conducted on afternoons between 4:30 and 6:00; evenings 7:30 to 9, and on Saturday afternoons.

The official rules of table tennis govern all play in the tournament.

Director of Recreation Center Speaks for Better Facilities

Says Attendance Large Despite Present Conditions

Eugene Trowbridge, director of the Iowa City Recreational center, stressed the need for a new building to carry on recreational activities in his speech at the Child Study club meeting at Iowa Union yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Trowbridge expressed his belief that the present building is inadequate for recreational use. Not only are necessary facilities lacking but the building itself is in bad condition and does not present an attractive appearance to children, he said.

In spite of these conditions the attendance has been large, he asserted. Approximately 25 boys have been present every evening that the center has been open. The first week in January, he stated, brought 275 in attendance, the second, 312, the third, 425, and the last week, 536, showing an ever increasing attendance.

The program, he explained, is not in any sense of the word a formal program. Ping pong, table games, boys' basketball, girls' tap dancing and craft work offer a variety of activities for an informal program. A junior baseball league has been organized, and craft work for boys is now underway.

Mr. Trowbridge outlined plans to establish recreational activities on three playgrounds this summer. The games will be arranged especially for smaller children under 12 years of age. This program, he said, will call for more leaders to carry on the work.

Mr. Trowbridge condemned the view of the center as a meeting place for near-delinquent boys. "It is not just a cure for delinquency; it is a preventive," he declared. He stressed the need for material for a variety of ages and types.

Other speakers included four of the founders of the club who gave short talks on its origin. They were Mrs. Ernest Horn, Mrs. Rudolph Kuever, Mrs. Frank E. Horack and Mrs. Frank A. Stromsten.

Add Novelty Act To 'Showboat,' Vaudeville Show

A novelty act by Walter Cleland, assistant university band leader, has been added to the program of "Showboat," vaudeville presentation sponsored by the Iowa City high school music auxiliary.

Mr. Cleland will play a group of numbers on a jug, accompanied by Leo Cortimiglia on the accordion.

"Showboat" will be presented in the Iowa City high school auditorium Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p.m.

Rainbow Girls To Have Party

Chaperons Named For Informal Dance February 25

Plans for a dance and a potluck supper were discussed at a tea meeting of the Order of Rainbow for Girls yesterday afternoon at the Masonic temple.

Announcement of the chaperons for the informal dance to be given Feb. 25 was made. The chaperons include Dr. and Mrs. Ray Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Beckman, Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Leighton, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rummells.

Bob Williams and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing at the party from 9 to 12 p.m. in the river room of Iowa Union. All university Rainbow girls will be invited to attend the dance.

General chairman in charge of the affair in Gwendolyn Rummells. She will be assisted by Mary Margaret Lee, Florence Rohrbacher, Dorothy Smith, Jean Boysen and Eileen Cochenour.

March 5 has been tentatively set as the date for a potluck supper meeting. Barbara Mezick and Jean Kurtz were named co-chairmen of the event.

Hostesses at yesterday's meeting were Helen Beye, Patricia Trachsel, Joan Freund, Dorothy Rankin, Verla Bales and Mrs. Gardner.

An offer of a $5 bounty on wildcats has made hunting them a popular sport in Cape Girardeau county, Missouri.

TIPS on the Shopping Market

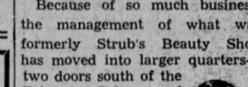

By Marion Lamar

FEB. 14th! You must not forget—just one week left to make your Valentine Selection from Piper's Fresh Made Candies. Piper's two stores—by the Englehart and Iowa Theatres. Piper's Box, Wrap and Mail Your Candies.

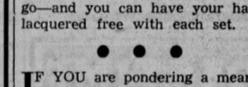

Alky Selzer is superstitious—He can't start to school unless it's a Monday. He had to putter away a whole week before he began this semester.

Because of so much business, the management of what was formerly Strub's Beauty Shop has moved into larger quarters—two doors south of the Princess Cafe—and will be known as EDWIN'S BEAUTY SALON. Miss Bessie Smith, graduate masseuse is with them, so if you are feeling a bit sluggish, or if a pound or two extra is troubling you, stop by and let her fix you up. For the newest waves, EDWIN'S is the place to go—and you can have your hair lacquered free with each set.

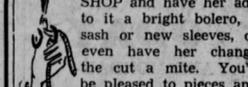

IF YOU are pondering a means of making that good looking black dress look more spring-like, here's the solution. Take it down to MRS. G. F. DEHLER'S RESTYLE SHOP and have her add to it a bright bolero, a sash or new sleeves, or even have her change the cut a mite. You'll be pleased to pieces and no one will recognize it for the same dress.

Pleats—Pleats! Eat at the PRINCESS CAFE everytime you eat out. They have wonderful food and their service is super-fine. You'll be sure to make a hit if you bring your friends to such a spot. P. S. They have meal tickets at special prices, too.

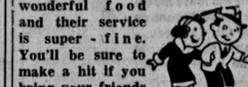

We've found a real Valentine and something new in useful, clever gadgets! TOWNERS have the grandest little MARIONESS purse kit. It holds a compact, lipstick, comb, handkerchief and all the other little necessary things. You pack it up and simply switch it from one purse to another when you change costumes—any girl would love it for a Valentine.

Kevin Kronin, N. Y., N. Y., is swaying Kappaward—to be specific, Winslow-ward and Kraft-ward.

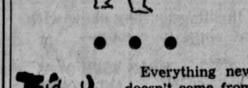

WE'RE all pepped up about seeing HANYA HOLM and her group dance at the Women's Gymnasium Wednesday night at eight. We know that she is one of the foremost artists of the modern trend of the dance—angles and impressionism—and we are going to be sure not to miss it. An orchid to ORCHESIS for bringing her here!

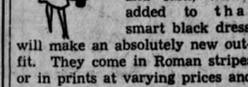

The Spanish influence prevails. The BOOKSHOP is showing the most wonderful line of valentines—everything clever, from the real McCoy in old fashioned lace hearts to clever little Suzy-Q cards with cute modern verses. By the way, when you stop in to see them, have a look at Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs in stuffed editions—they're the real Walt Disney.

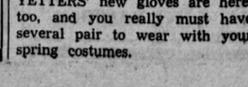

I know something I'm sure going to tell—it's MAIDRITE with coffee and it really hits that cold hungry spot. Right across from Schaeffer Hall—or if you want to hug the fireside you and your gang call 4595 and they'll deliver a man-sized sandwich to you for only a dime each.

Ed Calahan Jr. threatened to leave us and Iowa to hit New York books—but he's still here.

Add a spring-like touch to your costume. A new bonnet from TOWNERS from their newest line of light and bright colored snap brims, poke bonnets and salad bowl models will turn the desired trick. It is time, too, to be considering a black or navy straw. TOWNERS have just the thing and two times out of three it is garnished with a web-like veil. You'll be intrigued.

Do you like to get your hair done in a hurry? If you want a quick shampoo and set, and a slick one to boot, try the STAR BEAUTY SALON. They have all the newest ideas on waving and styling, and their driers are so fast that it hardly takes any time out of your busy day. If you are busy all day, you can make an appointment at the STAR in the evening on Thursday and Saturday.

Ace Cameraman Julien Bryan To Show Pictures of Turkey

University Lecture Will Include Scenes Of Constantinople

Julien Bryan, ace movie cameraman and roving reporter for the March of Time, will show his pictures of modern Turkey and speak to a university lecture audience Thursday at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union, under the auspices of the senate board on university lectures.

JULIEN BRYAN

Admission to the lecture will be by tickets which may be secured at the Union desk Tuesday and Wednesday. Tickets which have not been taken by faculty members or students will be released to the general public Thursday.

Bryan has won for himself a wide reputation for his candid motion pictures of the making and makers of history throughout seven countries of Europe and Asia.

He is an exponent of the documentary motion picture, a type of film which has gained enormous popularity throughout the world in the last two years. Instead of presenting mere travelogues he endeavors to highlight the human interest and social element in whatever he is presenting.

His motion picture lecture, "Modern Turkey," is the first complete motion picture record of what has been accomplished by the new order under the leadership of President Ataturk, formerly Mustafa Kemal. The film shows scenes all the way from the historic city of Constantinople, now Istanbul, to Ankara, formerly Angora, now the impressive modern capital of Turkey.

Education, the Bryan film points out, is the keynote of the new Turkish program. It pictures schools of every kind and variety - kindergartens, schools for older students, mechanical and trade schools, commercial schools and teacher-training schools. Coeducational institutions have come into existence for the first time in Turkish history.

Bryan has been interested in travel and photography since he was 12 years old. After taking part in the World war as an ambulance driver in the French army, he returned to the United States and was graduated from Princeton university in 1921. Since then he has traveled extensively and made more than 200,000 feet of motion picture films of out-of-the-way lands. During the last few months he

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE
Young Bill Jordan is sent to prison for ten years when he accidentally kills a man in a night club brawl. For six years he works in the prison jute mill and he is on the verge of a breakdown when Mathews, the district attorney who sent him up, made warden of the prison. Mathews takes Bill from the mill and makes him his chauffeur. Bill falls in love with the warden's daughter, Elizabeth. There is a prison break, one of the convicts squeals and another prisoner is killed. Later, when Elizabeth has gone away for a visit, Bill witnesses the murder of Runch, the "squealer", by another prisoner. Despite the fact that he is up for parole, Bill refuses to tell what he knows about the murder. Mathews sends him to solitary for a week while he tries to solve the murder. Elizabeth returns and hears about Bill. She tells her father she loves him and Mathews sends her to solitary to have Jordan brought to his office. Hawkins, the prisoner who killed Runch, overpowers a guard, takes his pistol and gets into solitary to free Bill. He is holding the guards at bay when Mathews arrives.

Another guard came hurrying up with more guns. Mathews grabbed one. "This is your last chance, Hawkins," he cried. "I'm going to turn the tear gas loose."
There was silence for a moment before Hawkins answered. "Okay," Hawkins called, "I'm coming."
"Throw your gun out first," Grady ordered.
"Yeah!" was the derisive answer, "an' get shot when I come out."
"You won't get shot," Mathews said. "I promise, Hawkins."
"Okay, Mathews, I trust you." A moment later he came out slowly, arms in the air. Grady advanced to handcuff him. He stooped to pick up the gun Hawkins had thrown out. In a flash, Hawkins disarmed him and held him as a shield from the guards' guns.
"I've been waitin' to get this guy for a long time," Hawkins muttered. "Listen, Mathews, I killed Runch. I'll burn for that so I'm gonna make this a doubleheader. The Jordan kid didn't know nothing about the Runch killin' so don't hold it against him. But now I got a score to settle with Mister Grady here. He's the guy who sent me up here — framed me — twelve years ago, so he's gonna follow that other rat, Runch." There was a smothered pistol report and Grady slumped to the floor. Almost simultaneously, Mathews' gun barked out and Hawkins, too, crumpled.

"Everything's going to be all right now."
(Posed by Jean Parker, Walter Connolly and John Howard.)

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Chapter Six
"Jordan wasn't in this," Captain Grady explained. "They were leading him out when it happened." Mathews sighed with relief. "Hawkins!" he yelled down the stairs. "You'd better come out. You can't get away with this."
"Too bad, Mathews," the prisoner called back. "I'd like to for you, but it's too late now. And tell Grady not to get gay with his tommy gun. Remember Jordan's here, too. He didn't have anything to do with this."
THE END.

Will Construct Rest Building

City Park Board Says Station Will Be Modern

The construction of a $2,700 comfort station at the city park will begin early this spring, Dr. E. J. Anthony, chairman of the Iowa City park board, announced yesterday.

In outlining plans for the structure, Dr. Anthony said that the station will be located about 50 feet south of the park administration and will be 33 by 20 feet. The entrances are to be on the west and east side of the one story brick building.

The building which will be modern in every detail, is being planned with an emphasis on light and ventilation. A cupola on the roof will provide scientific ventilation and walls and floor are to be tile or terra cotta to facilitate cleanliness and sanitation.

The public, Dr. Anthony stated, will be urged to cooperate in keeping the structure clean. Fiske and Ruth, architects, are preparing plans for the modern structure which will replace the men's and women's toilets near the river bank.

The construction contract will be let soon. Other members of the board are Dr. William Rohrbacher and Charles A. Beckman.

Boys to Enter Local Tourney

A series of city-wide table tennis tournaments will be conducted at the Iowa City Recreational Center to determine local entries for the all-Iowa table tennis tournament in Cedar Rapids, March 5 and 6, Eugene Trowbridge, director, announced yesterday.

Winners of the Iowa City contests will be awarded trophies, and entry fees and transportation costs to the state tourney will be paid.

Any Iowa City boy between eight and 18 years old, is eligible to participate in the city-wide contests. He may play in the junior or senior single matches or the senior doubles.

The junior division will be for boys from eight through 14 years and two senior contests will be for boys 15 through 18 years old. Seniors are asked to register in pairs for the double matches.

There will be no entry fee for the contests, Trowbridge said. Contestants are required to register name, age, address and telephone number at the center, 121 Iowa avenue. Entries will also be received by phone—dial 4350.

A minimum of 30 players must be registered in each division before play begins. A large entry list is expected, Trowbridge said, since a large number of boys have been practicing regularly at the center.

The center's game room is equipped with three ping-pong tables of regulation dimensions. Any boy entering the tournament may practice at the center.

AROUND THE TOWN

With TOM JOHNSON

For pluck and perseverance, you'll have to hand it to Roger Hospers. He drove all the way to What Cheer this morning to see his girl.

It's been this way for almost a year. He's been driving his car over all kinds of roads, through all kinds of weather, and just get there every Sunday.

And let I forget, he's a roommate of the irrepressible Willie Lutwack. You've heard of him.

It's been foggy in Iowa City for the last two days. I like it that way. Some day I'll attempt to explain, but not now.

And a friend tells me slumber parties are unknown in the classes of Prof. Kirk Porter.

It's claimed his physical force and vitality in delivering lectures rivals Billy Sunday at his best.

A political science graduate student claims that if Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh didn't wear red neckties, none of the other profs in his department would.

They're saying Professor Shambaugh's middle initial stands for "Franklin".

And that Prof. H. C. Harshbarger's name is "Henry Clay."

Joe's place and Donnelly's will settle a feud of long standing in Play-Mor alleys at 12:30 this afternoon.

There's been more coaching and scouting for this contest than for any Big Ten game.

Now that the ice is melting, and water is flowing in Iowa City streets, have passing cars and busses splashed some on you?

The city's Saturday night dancers usually go to Maid-Rite's during intermission. And unless the passer-by times his entrance, he'll never get a seat there about 11 o'clock.

Last night's gripe: Paying an extra nickel for an extra cup of coffee. In a downtown restaurant, too.

to obtain contributions for the painting.

400 Give

More than four hundred alumni gave contributions, and each will receive a photograph of the portrait. The "Percy Bordwell" dinner will be the culmination of their efforts.

Professor Bordwell first came to the university in 1910. A graduate in arts from the University of Missouri, he received a law degree, a graduate degree and a Ph.D. degree from Columbia university. He is known both nationally and internationally as an authority in property law, and a specialist in the field of international law as the author of the book, "The Law of War."

"The Law of War" was written before the World war, and when the crisis came, every copy of the book was sold. During the war he was a major in the army, and while in France was the inspector general of the 88th division.

Interests

Among his greatest interests are travel, baseball and his red shepherd dog, Huckleberry.

His traveling has led him to study the various battlefields of the Civil war, resulting in a careful study of the military movements.

Although strict in his classroom teaching, Professor Bordwell has been skillful in seeing that his classes do not conflict with the World Series and never with a university baseball game.

When the law college had interfraternity baseball games, he was one of the star infielders.

Professor Bordwell's constant companion is his dog—at home, in the law college, his office and even in classes.

John A. Klein Dies Suddenly

Will Announce Funeral Plans for County Pioneer

John A. Klein, 65, 1721 Muscatine avenue, died unexpectedly at 6 p.m. yesterday of heart failure. Mr. Klein had been ill for a year. He had been confined to his bed for three weeks, but his condition was not considered serious.

Mr. Klein is survived by his widow, four daughters: Mrs. Frank Zeman, 918 E. Bloomington street; Mrs. Roy Avis, 1717 Muscatine avenue; Mrs. Paul Kouba, 521 E. College street, and Mrs. Leo Weineke, 717 Jefferson street, and one son, Laurence Klein of Glenwood. He is also survived by three brothers, Henry, John and Joe Klein, all living near Hills. A son, Leo, preceded him in death.

Mr. Klein was born April 13, 1871, in Sharon township and spent his life on a farm until moving to Iowa City 15 years ago.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body is at McGovern's funeral home.

Mayor Walker Will Speak On Foreign Affairs

Mayor Myron J. Walker will address members of the Reserve Officers corps of the United States army and guests at a banquet in observance of National Defense week at 6 p.m. Thursday in the Blue room of the Iowa grill.

The announcement was made yesterday by George Barte, president of the Reserve Officers association.

Mayor Walker, a retired naval commander, will discuss the foreign problems of the United States. He has had wide experience with international relations. Reservations for the banquet may be made with Dr. Edward C. Patton, 232 Dey building.

Dr. E. W. Paulus Discusses Merits of County Health Plan

Public health conditions in Johnson county are becoming increasingly important, says Dr. E. W. Paulus, city health officer.

The practical breakdown of the town-township organization, together with the aroused interest in control of venereal disease, tuberculosis, and other communicable diseases, has brought to the fore the county-wide board of health plan long sponsored by the United States public health service, the state department of health, and interested Johnson county people.

According to Dr. Paulus, existing laws in Iowa provide for either of two plans for the administration of public health programs. The plan now in effect, termed the town-township plan, provides for a health board and official in each town and township.

Under the new proposed plan, there will be established a county board of health of not more than 11 members to be appointed by the county board of supervisors. This board will direct the policy of the county health work and will employ the health officers who will take charge of the actual work.

All members of the board of health will serve without pay. Three members of the board must be physicians and the remainder will be chosen because of their interest in or fitness for public health work.

The administrative officials of the work will be a county health officer, a full-time, specially-trained man, who will take full charge of public health work in the county.

He will have under his direction a county nurse and a sanitary engineer. In addition, existing health officials, such as the city nurse, public school nurse and elementary school nurse will work under the direction of the county health officer.

All persons connected in an administrative capacity with the county health board must have the approval of the state department of health and the United States public health service. Trained personnel, full-time workers with no private interests, is the keynote of the plan.

The activities of the health board

L. F. Barrer Funeral Service Is Tomorrow

Funeral service for Leonard F. Barrer, 59, native and resident of Iowa City for many years, will be tomorrow in Oakland, Cal., where he has resided for the last 30 years.

Mr. Barrer died Friday night at a hospital in Oakland. He was employed by the Pacific Pipeline company.

He is survived by a brother, Victor Barrer of Blackfoot, Idaho, and two sisters, Mrs. Glen Lantz of Iowa City and Mrs. O. J. Jenks of San Francisco. His wife died four years ago.

First-Aid Class Begins Monday

Registration and explanation of basic first-aid principles will be made at the first session of the Red Cross first-aid course which starts tomorrow at 7 o'clock in the city council chambers.

C. I. Conover, chairman of the county first-aid committee, will instruct the two-hour classes which are expected to meet for 15 weeks.

No charge will be made for the classes, the instructor has announced.

Mercer to Ask For Reelection

State Representative LeRoy Mercer of Iowa City yesterday requested nomination papers for reelection, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Des Moines.

Mercer, a democrat, has represented Johnson county in the state legislature since 1933. He served two terms on the city council before going to Des Moines.

Boy on Bicycle Struck by Car

Preston Eibeck, 14, In University Hospital, Termed 'Fair'

Preston (Paul) Eibeck, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Jones, living south of the Iowa City airport, is in University hospital with injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile driven by L. E. Wilson of Washington, Ia. The accident occurred on U. S. highway 218 near the airport about 6 p.m. yesterday.

The boy was riding his bicycle on the highway toward his home. The Wilson car, traveling toward Iowa City, struck him when the driver turned to pass another car. Paul suffered a broken leg, and a three-inch gash on the left side of his head. His glasses and wrist watch were smashed. The hospital reported his condition fair at 10 p.m. yesterday.

The boy's bicycle was equipped with lights but it is not known whether they were lighted at the time of the accident. Wilson took the boy to University hospital and reported the accident to police.

Judge Gaffney To Open Court

February Term Starts With Impanelling Of Jury

Judge James P. Gaffney of Marengo will open the February term of the Johnson county district court tomorrow morning at the courthouse.

At Marengo, Judge Harold D. Evans, who adjourned the November term of the Johnson county court yesterday, will open the February term of the Iowa county district court.

The first session of the local court will be taken up the impanelling of the grand jury.

County Bar Group To Elect Officers At Dinner Meeting

The Johnson County Bar association will meet for its annual election of officers at a 6:30 o'clock dinner meeting tomorrow evening in the Jefferson hotel.

The entertainment will include musical numbers by a quartet made up of bar members, accordion solos and a short skit.

The outgoing officers are: W. F. Murphy, president; Ingalls Swisher, vice-president; A. O. Leff, secretary and H. W. Vestmark, treasurer.

P. J. Donohoe Funeral Service Held Tomorrow

Funeral service for P. J. Donohoe, 70, of Holbrook, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning in St. Michael's church at Holbrook. Burial will be in Holbrook cemetery.

"Pat" Donohoe, nationally known cattle raiser and lifelong resident of Holbrook in Iowa county, died Friday in University hospital following long illness. The body was taken to his home Saturday afternoon from the Hohenschuh mortuary.

Craft Project Begun for Boys

Iowa City Recreational Center Inaugurates Class of 20

A group in boys' crafts met at the Iowa City Recreational Center yesterday morning.

The class of 20 boys, led by Clifford C. Williams, A4 of West Liberty, decided its initial project would be glass-paintings. Crayon outlines were begun on plate glass yesterday.

Work will be continued tomorrow and Wednesday afternoon at 4 p.m. Any boy who did not attend the class yesterday or who is not yet registered at the center, may come to the craft group tomorrow, Eugene Trowbridge, director, said.

Conwell Burial Services to Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral service for Mrs. D. W. Conwell of Grand Junction, former Iowa Citizen, will be at the Hohenschuh mortuary tomorrow.

Mrs. Conwell died at 2 p.m. yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Gatens, in Williamsburg.

She is survived by her husband, her daughter, Mrs. Gatens; three sons, Dr. R. E. Conwell of Iowa City, Owen F. Conwell of Goodell and Dr. D. V. Conwell of Halstead, Kan., and a sister, Mrs. W. S. Binford of Davenport.

Why Take Cod Liver Oil?

We hear so much about vitamins these days that people wonder how their ancestors ever lived without knowing about them. There is a good reason.

Perhaps two of the greatest contributing factors to the need of supplementing our daily diet with vitamins are: Depleted foods, and our modern, high speed methods of living. Until the era of great mergers, standardization, mass production, and present means of transportation changed our methods of distribution, food processing was more or less a local problem. However, today processing is done on such a huge scale that a great deal of the food which we eat is actually devalued.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are shipped long distances in refrigerator cars and ripened artificially by gassing. Modern canning methods destroy a large portion of the vitamin content in fresh vegetables, and even ordinary cooking destroys most of the water soluble vitamins present. When butter is churned, vitamin "A" is destroyed by hydrogenation. Take the so-called "staple of life," wheat; the germ is milled out of the wheat berry in order to produce better looking and tasting flour. All of these factors play an important part in an average daily diet, and are some of the many reasons why vitamins should be taken in separate form. Grandmother and grandfather may not have needed special vitamins but their grandchildren do.

Those who are constantly tired out from our normal daily routine and haven't the time for enough out-of-door exercise to build up surplus energy must either eat more energy-producing foods, which may increase weight, or take something to restore normal vigor and vitality.

Speaking generally, nothing quite takes the place of a high-grade cod liver oil. This is especially true in the case of children. In it we have a natural balance of vitamins "A" and "D" as well as unsaturated fatty acids and other ingredients which are essential to proper development in the child.

Adults, too, usually need something in addition to their regular food diet—especially during the winter months. Cod liver oil is equally beneficial to adults.

There is a vast difference in cod liver oil. The quality cannot be detected by the looks, the taste or the odor. Even the price is not necessarily a determining factor. The cod liver oil sold at is the highest grade obtainable. It is assayed both abroad and in America by one of the leading importers and is guaranteed to be as good as any of the advertised brands. More than 130 barrels of it have been sold in Iowa City since 1920, contributing in a large measure to the health of the community.

Boerner's Prescription Pharmacy

A NOTABLE YEAR FOR THE National Life of Vermont

THE YEAR 1937 has been notable in the experience of the company for many reasons.

The new insurance paid for shows an increase of 3.29% over 1936.

The insurance in force increased $14,174,100, the largest increase since 1930, bringing the total amount in force to $533,955,109.

Assets increased $8,196,533, thereby continuing a steady upward trend maintained every year during the depression. The total gain in assets since 1929 is $65,418,000 or 50.1%.

Policy loans were reduced nearly 4% during 1937.

The mortality was 52.81%, resulting in a saving of $2,891,865. This is the lowest mortality in eight years and with one exception the lowest since 1926.

Total dividends paid policyholders increased approximately 2% over the year 1936 and aggregated $3,567,580.

The net interest earned was 3.62%. This makes possible a continuation through 1938 of the dividend scale adopted for 1936 and 1937, even though interest returns on high-grade securities continue low.

The actual market values of our bond and preferred stock list were $1,603,420 in excess of the values carried in our statement.

Our favorable interest earnings in these times of low money rates were made possible by a net increase of $13,351,804 or 36.5% in our city mortgage loan investment, upon which we averaged to earn 4.56%. Of this increase, $8,455,524 or 63% was in carefully selected loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

These loans have proved to be a very satisfactory and profitable investment for the company, and made it possible to maintain a favorable interest earning under current investment conditions.

On request a more detailed statement of the Company's business will be supplied.
