Hitler Plans to Purge Nazi Foreign Service; Wants Loyal Diplomats

More Officers Face Further Army Cleanup

Hitler, Von Ribbentrop Confer Secretly In Bavaria

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler and his newly elevated foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, are believed to be considering a clean sweep of the German diplomatic service to put nazis of unquestioned loyalty at all pivotal posts.

This impression was gained from reliable foreign office circles as von Ribbentrop was closeted today with der fuhrer at his mountain home at Berchtesgaden in Bavaria.

Even Ulrich von Hassell, recalled ambassador to Rome, is regarded as "too reactionary," these sources said, and consequently would not be sent to London as von Ribbentrop's successor. It had been assumed universally he would get that post.

Army Purge

According to the best information available a further purge of the army as well as a diplomatic cleanup will take place. The army changes will not take the form of arrests but discharges like those of the 13 generals who were dismissed in Hitler's startling assumption of direct control Friday of the armed forces and the foreign office.

Of the army changes the new task assigned to Gen. Walter von Reichenau is assuming more and more interest.

His appointment to succeed Col. Gen. Werner von Fritsch as commander-in-chief seemed so certain last Friday it was disclosed unofficially by government sources to some foreign correspondents.

Instead, he was placed in charge of the fourth army group with headquarters at Leipzig but with jurisdiction also over Bavaria where he previously had commanded at Munich.

Retard Defense Of Wright By New Testimony

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7 (AP)—

As a prosecution witness, Mrs. J. E. McBride of Detroit, Mich., gave testimony today at variance with several angles of defense evidence in the trial of Paul Wright, accused of murdering Mrs. Evelyn McBride Wright—her daughter and his wife—and John Kimmel, his friend.

Mrs. McBride said Wright told her in Detroit in 1934 he had undergone a sterilization operation. She said he, in the course of the conversation, told her:

"I don't want any more family—Helen (the Wrights' baby daughter) is enough to take care of."

Wright has testified he underwent the operation while they lived in Chicago to avert danger of further childbirth to Mrs. Wright, then afflicted with serious kidney trouble. The defense also had introduced medical depositions to this effect.

Mrs. McBride said her daughter had no miscarriage on a visit home in March, 1933, as Wright testified. At the time, she said, Mrs. Wright had consulted a physician, who reported there was no evidence of pregnancy and it all turned out to be a matter of functional irregularity.

Grand Jury Begins Hearing of Evidence

The grand jury for the February term of the Johnson county district court began hearing evidence yesterday afternoon at the Johnson county courthouse.

William H. Droll, John Grabien, Frank McKray, Ed Wall, C. K. Wolfe and John Wrede were the members of the grand jury which was impaneled yesterday afternoon. Judge James P. Gaffney selected Glenn Hope as foreman for the jury.

George Keller Will Address WPA Officials

Seven-State Convention To Open Today In Old Capitol

The seven-state convention of the directors of the WPA education program will open at 10 o'clock this morning in Old Capitol with an address of welcome by Prof. George J. Keller, WPA administrator for Iowa.

The four-day conference in cooperation with the state departments of education will bring together administrative officials from North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota and Iowa to discuss the work of the WPA in parent education and nursery school operation.

At a luncheon meeting of the conference Friday at 12:15 p.m., Dean George D. Stoddard of the graduate college, who devised the original plan for the WPA, will address the group.

The WPA officials will discuss four topics at their meetings. Tuesday the discussions will be on "Plans and Methods for Developing and Using Curriculums, Units of Study and Other Teaching Materials."

Wednesday morning the group will take up "Community Organization and Planning and Relations with Public Schools and Other Agencies." The third topic, which will be discussed Thursday, is "The Improvement of Teaching Through Supervision and Teacher Education." Friday the conference will deal with "Some Special Phases of the WPA Education Program."

Dr. R. W. Tallman, state director of the WPA education program, said at present more than 200 unemployed teachers are teaching in WPA schools in Iowa. These schools reach more than 8,000 adults and 600 nursery children with their studies, he added.

"Since its beginning in 1933, the WPA program has given work to more than 1,600 unemployed teachers," he continued, "the peak was reached in 1935 when 823 instructors were teaching approximately 50,000 adult students."

Quints Up Again

CALLANDER, Ont. (AP)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo allowed the Dionne quintuplets to get out of bed yesterday for the first time in more than a week. The physician said the famous sisters were almost completely recovered from head colds which have kept them confined.

Leahy Denies Alliances

Work for Full 'Hitlerization' Reorganization of Government Is Pointed To Speed War Preparations

MOSCOW, Feb. 7 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's reorganization of his nazi government was characterized today by the newspaper Pravda as a move to speed "preparations for war which are being carried out not only along military but economic and diplomatic lines."

Making the first authoritative Soviet comment since the drastic shakeup Friday, the organ of the communist party declared the ac-

Kai-Shek Takes More Direct Command of Northern Forces

SHANGHAI, Feb. 8 (Thursday) (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was reported today to have taken direct command of Chinese forces making a desperate stand in north central China to prevent the Japanese from taking the important Lunghai railway.

Chinese advisers said Chiang had arrived in the Tientsin-Pukow railway zone, northwest of Nanking, and taken over the leadership of the two Chinese armies, one holding back the Japanese north of Suchow and the other blocking the invaders to the south.

Heavy fighting was reported going on along the Hwai river, 90 miles south of Suchow, where the Japanese made important gains last week. Chinese asserted, however, they had blocked Japanese efforts to cross the river.

U. S. Navy To Act for Itself, Admiral Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The house naval committee heard Admiral William D. Leahy state flatly today the navy has "no foreign commitments" and has neither sought nor offered cooperation with other powers.

"The navy expects to solve naval defense problems that may confront the United States in the navy's traditional way, without alliances," the chief of naval operations said.

"It expects to stand on its own feet in providing protection to the United States and it expects to succeed."

He had scarcely concluded, however, before Senator Johnson (R-Cal.), introduced at the other end of the capitol a resolution asking the secretary of state to tell the senate whether:

"Any understanding with Great Britain exists or has been considered.

Any agreement has been made to use the navy in conjunction with any other nation.

Any understanding has been reached that the navy should police particular waters.

Despondency Blamed For Kellogg's Death

CHICAGO, Feb. 7 (AP)—Business disappointments, a coroner's jury decided today, caused John L. Kellogg jr., 27, grandson of the Battle Creek, Mich., cereal manufacturer, to "commit suicide while temporarily insane due to despondency."

Bar Association Elects New Officers

Four new officers were elected by the Johnson County Bar association at a dinner meeting last night in the Jefferson hotel.

Three of the newly-elected officers are (from right to left) Attorney Carl S. Kringel, secretary, Attorney Burke Carson, treasurer, and Attorney Ingalls Swisher, president. The fourth new official, Frank Messer, vice-president, was not present at the meeting.

Japan Retains Naval Program

Ministers Say Decision Held for Study Of Question

TOKYO, Feb. 7 (AP)—The foreign minister and the navy minister declared today no decision had been reached on answers to formal queries from the United States, France and Great Britain about Japan's naval building program.

Both Foreign Minister Koki Hirota and Admiral Mistumasa Yonai, navy minister, told questioners in parliament the question still was being considered.

The United States and Great Britain asked in notes Saturday Japan inform them by Feb. 20 of any plans to build battleships exceeding the 35,000-ton limit set by the 1936 naval treaty between the two powers and France. A similar note was delivered by France today.

A foreign office spokesman denied Japan planned to build "capital ships of 43,000 tons," but did not say whether ships of over 35,000 tons were being built.

Declining to say what sort of reply might be made to Washington, London and Paris, Hirota told parliament:

"I can say there has been no change in Japan's fundamental policy repeatedly announced at the time of the London naval parity." (He referred to the 1936 naval conference from which Japan withdrew, refusing to enter into any limitation of the size of warships unless it was accompanied by an agreement on limitation of total tonnage for each country based on Japan's principle of a "common upper limit"—or parity.)

Agents Arrest Drug Suspects

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7 (AP)—Federal narcotics agents today reported the confiscation of $50,000 worth of narcotics and the arrest of a man and his wife in raids here.

Joseph Bell, supervisor of the northwest district office of the United States narcotics division, said the suspects, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson, had been conducting a mail order business in narcotics throughout the country. Packages that Bell said contained a narcotic ready for mailing were found in a bakery and a large quantity of the material was seized in the apartment where the pair were arrested.

The mail order business, Bell said, was operated through the bakery, which Mrs. Nelson had inherited from a former husband.

GRIM REAPER 14 Americans Die In War-Torn Spain

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 7 (AP)—A Canadian member of the George Washington battalion fighting with government forces in the Spanish war today said at least 14 American volunteers in the battalion had been killed last month resisting an insurgent counter-offensive on the Teruel front.

Sundsten Arvid of Toronto, held in a local jail on a charge of violating a French expulsion order, also criticized the Spanish government for using international volunteers "as the spearhead of attacks" with consequent heavy losses.

Rebels Occupy Territory Won; Drive Seaward

HENDAYE, France, at the Spanish Frontier, Feb. 7 (AP)—Insurgent troops today completed the first stage of reducing the government threat against their eastern communications with the occupation of 385 square miles in the northern sector of the Teruel front.

Insurgents reported the only government position inside this area was a mountain fortress in the Sierra Palomera range where a small garrison was holding out. The insurgents planned to clean up the entire conquered zone, about 30 miles long and 12 miles wide, before continuing their drive toward the sea in an effort to cut Catalonia off from the rest of government Spain.

An insurgent spokesman estimated the government had lost 15,000 men through casualties, captures and desertions during the three days of the offensive north of Teruel. He said the government had rushed 60,000 troops to that sector.

Dispatches from Barcelona admitted a government force was surrounded in the Sierra Palomera mountains, but asserted the position was a strategic one since it dominated the new insurgent lines.

Two Rescue Ships Fight Ice, Wind In Race to Explorers

MOSCOW, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two Soviet rescue vessels fought ice and wind tonight as hopes mounted for a successful race to reach four Russian scientists adrift on an imperiled floe 50 miles off the east coast of Greenland.

Radio reports that a jam in the Arctic ice field threatened to engulf the floe bearing the North Pole weather observation camp, caused a third vessel, the Yermak, to prepare to join the rescue efforts.

Firestone Dies Of Blood Clot

Death Comes to Leader In His Florida Mansion

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—Harvey S. Firestone, a farm boy who built one of the largest rubber businesses in the world, died of a blood clot near his heart as he slept early today.

The 69-year-old industrialist met a peaceful end in the great mansion of the ocean front estate he acquired in 1924.

Of his large family, only a son, Russell A. Firestone, was reported to have been on hand at the time. Mrs. Firestone and their four other sons were believed to be in the north and a daughter, Elizabeth, at Smith college, where she is a senior.

The funeral will be in Akron Friday.

The body will arrive in Akron Thursday morning to lie in state at the Firestone home, Harbel manor. The Rev. Walter F. Tunks, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will officiate at the funeral in the home at 10 a.m. Friday.

Burial will follow in the village cemetery at Columbiana, Ohio, near the farm where Firestone was born.

Firestone's death was unexpected. He attended services at the Miami Beach Community (Congregational) church Sunday, as was his custom, and went for an automobile ride in the afternoon with a niece, Mrs. M. E. Ake.

After dinner he complained of indigestion. A local physician was called. But the complaint apparently was not considered serious. The cause of death was coronary artery thrombosis, the coronary artery being one of two main vessels leading from the heart.

Probes Theory In Lee Slaying

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga., Feb. 7 (AP)—Coroner J. D. Baldwin of Glynn county announced tonight he would investigate thoroughly a theory that Rev. Dr. Charles Lee's outspoken views against vice might provide the motive for the slaying of the clergyman at his home here Saturday night.

A bullet fired through a window killed the 71-year-old rector of historic Christ Episcopal church as he sat in his study working on a sermon.

Regulation Of Farm Products Basis of Plan

Charges of 'Gag Rule' Hurled at Upholders Of Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Amid cries of "gag rule," house leaders decided today to try to pass the administration's revised crop control bill in five hours tomorrow.

The rules committee voted to ask the house to limit consideration of the draft prepared by a joint senate-house committee.

Representative Martin (R-Mass), assistant minority leader, charged the administration was "afraid to let the people know what's in the bill."

"It's a gag rule," he said. "They are trying to shut off debate in one day on a bill we don't know much about yet."

On the other side of the capitol, Senator Frazier (R-ND), who served on the senate house committee, predicted trouble in the house if the leadership tried to pass the measure quickly.

"It's impossible to understand the bill in one day," Frazier said. Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Tex) predicted, however, the bill would be passed "by a good majority." Without it, he said, "the country would be in chaos" because farmers would not know how to proceed with their spring planting.

Controls over production of major crops are provided in the bill. They would be carried out through a system of benefit payments and loans on stored crops. When supplies reached abnormally high levels, the marketing of crops would be controlled, it two thirds of the farmers voting in referendum approved.

3 Lewis Labor Unions Ousted By A. F. of L.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor announced today the complete ouster of three big unions affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization, pressuring intensified warfare between the two rival labor organizations.

The A. F. of L. charters of the United Mine Workers, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and the Flat Glass Workers were revoked, opening those fields for A. F. of L. affiliates. The charters of these and other C.I.O. unions had been suspended by the A. F. of L. a year and a half ago but the latest action severed their last ties.

John L. Lewis, head of the mine union and of the C.I.O., issued a statement at Washington saying "the action is unimportant and without significance" and said he would have no further comment.

The A. F. of L. executive council exercised the power given it at the Denver convention last October and voted to recall the charters last Friday, but the move was not announced until today pending receipt of a certified copy of proceedings at the miners' convention in Washington last week.

The ouster resolution also charged A. F. of L. efforts "to effect unity and peace in the ranks of organized labor have been frustrated by the arbitrary and dictatorial action of the officers of the U. M. W. who, by reason of the financial support given to the C.I.O. have had from the very beginning the complete veto power over all its policies and decisions and have been in actual and absolute control of its leadership."

BULLETIN

LONDON, Feb. 8 (Tuesday) (AP)—Reuters (British news agency) in a Moscow dispatch today said 13 persons were killed in the crash of the Russian dirigible V6 on a practice flight in the Kandalaksha district, above the Arctic circle and near the Finnish frontier.

Three others were injured. Three of the crew of 19 escaped unhurt.

Romance Gets A Setback

IN FAR-OFF Graustarkian Albania this week there is a happy man. King Zog, ruler of the little Balkan country, has at last found someone who is willing to share his somewhat risky throne.

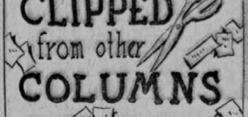

In a way we suppose it is very nice, since the king has been hunting a wife for a good many years. He sought the hand of an American millionaire's daughter, an Italian princess and an American dancer in Vienna before finally obtaining the promise of Countess Geraldine Apponyi of the Hungarian nobility and seller of postcards in the Budapest national museum.

In other times there might at least have been a romantic air about the engagement of an impoverished seller of postcards to the ruler of a nation, even though that ruler is an ex-farm boy and the country which he rules is notorious for its warring clans and quick-tempered mountaineers.

But Wally and the Duke of Windsor spoiled all that for us last year. Now a royal romance doesn't seem truly romantic unless a king at least gives up a few titles and half a kingdom to obtain his bride.

King Zog has done his best and means well. But, after all, the spectacle of a monarch finding a fiancée only after a 10-year shopping expedition does strike a new low in the love tales of royalty. Wally and Eddie and Hollywood have taught us to expect so much more from kings.

The leaning tower of Pisa, Italy, is leaning farther than it ever has, according to a news dispatch. At last, Mussolini's ego should be satisfied—he has even Pisa's tower bowing before him.

CRUISE OF THE PANCAKE

THE RUSSIANS "stay" at the North Pole has been anything but that. They have been on the go ever since they arrived. So much so that the Great Northern Sea Route administration's intrepid company of weather researchers are now halfway down the Greenland east coast.

No Arctic adventure since the amazing quest of the Swedish balloonist, Andree has made such a startling impact upon people as that of those roving stay-behinds whom Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, chairman of the Great Northern something-or-other, planked down on the polar ice last May.

Wind and tide have whittled away their vast white world into a teetering island of brittle ice measuring some 160 feet on its longest shore. Since they struck the southerly set of an east Greenland current, the cruise of the pancake has been alarmingly fast. Each sputtering broadcast from the Russians is charged with suspense as their radio reports their spectacular plight.

Not all the drama of this far northern adventure is confined to the drifting castaways. A great rescue drive is being enacted under the dynamic direction of Dr. Schmidt, bearded overseer of Russia's arctic domains. Ice-breakers are steaming to intercept the southerly set of the Russian castaways. Aboard these speeding rams, men are ready with dogs, sledges and stores to carry on should the ice pack block the rescue ships.

At the beginning of the polar undertaking, the Monitor added a speculative voice to the widespread comment the Russian quest evoked. "Building a permanent depot on the ice appears out of the question because the ice surface is subject to a steady drift due to a marked easterly set in the ocean currents. This is proved by records of the six-year drift of the Melville-Bryant cask set loose in Bering sea and which subsequently fetched up in Spitzbergen. The wreck of the Jeanette, crushed in Bering sea, drifted 3,000 miles in three years."

Latest radio reports from the Russian ice floe place them in 74 north latitude. The fact that they started from ninety north in May means they have drifted approximately 1,000 miles in eight months. Already they have worked well down the latitudes of Spitzbergen. And judging by the rate and direction of their present drift, the "cruising" Russians may soon be hoisting their signals for the Iceland pilots.

Will the strong currents they are now encountering set them in on the southeast Greenland shore? Or will it set them south between Jan Mayn island and the outlet of historic Scoresby sound in seventy north to the shores of Iceland or beyond? These are the questions anxious relief parties do not intend to leave to time and chance. It is full steam to the rescue. And the heartfelt hopes of a watchful world go with those Russian ice-breakers.

Develop Air-Conditioned Beds; Coil Springs Best for Sleeping

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. Speaking of whether it is advisable to sleep on the sleeping porch these winter nights or not, as we did yesterday, calls to mind a notice we saw recently that the United States patent office has just granted a patent to Michael Batick of Cold Spring, N. Y., for an air-conditioned bed. A pipe full of small holes goes across the bottom of the bed on the same level with the sleeper. Through the pipe is pumped air which blows directly on the sleeper. I have no doubt the reading of this paragraph will cause a great many to have cold chills go up and down their spines.

The kind of bed that is healthiest, whether hard or soft, etc., is, like the question of the sleeping porch, a matter of choice. Most people, I believe, sleep better on a hard mattress. Although it is a general principle that for best rest the sleeper requires hardness, or resistance, where the weight and contours of the body need it most, on the contrary he requires softness and resiliency where the body pressures on the mattress are the least.

The principle of any inner spring mattress at present, assumes that the head, the feet and the mid-section weigh substantially the same because the same counter pressure is provided throughout, which principle, says Dr. Norman D. Mattison, may in time be considered more old-fashioned than are hair mattresses today.

On the types of bed springs Dr. Donald Laird, of Colgate university, believes that the woven wire type or fabric type should not be used by anyone who weighs more than 40 pounds. He goes even farther to say that after one's first birthday, one should sleep on no spring but the coil type.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It now seems patent that "Tobacco Road" is a Frankenstein bent on destroying its progenitors. This is an unlovely but exciting drama which is saved from the level of the cesspool by a glittering vein of buffoonery, and it has now entered into its fifth year on Broadway.

After the novel came out Jack Kirkland dramatized it for the Broadway stage, and, beating the handicap of indifferent reviews, got it away in true dark horse fashion until it became a show-town legend.

In the original cast was Sam Byrd, who achieved great success in the character of Duke Lester, the half-wit son. Mr. Byrd made a name for himself and a lot of money, and he was deeply impressed with what appeared to be Broadway appetite for intimate details of rural family life in the Deep South.

With this in mind, and most of us probably would have obeyed the same impulse, Mr. Byrd left the cast of "Tobacco Road" and became a producer in his own right. He chose an unappetizing thing called "White Man," which dealt with a Negro who carried in his veins a strain of white blood. It was a tragic, unlovely drama and it was summarily dealt with by the critics.

Meanwhile, Mr. Kirkland, still drawing royalties from "Tobacco Road," tried his hand a second time with a novel by John Steinbeck. This was "Tortilla Flat" which was described by the critics as ruthlessly depraved, and replete with uncalled-for filth.

Unperturbed by these tokens of a changing public opinion and by the failure of his first venture, Mr. Byrd went back to the original fount of his affluence and chose another novel by Mr. Erskine Caldwell, which similarly was concerned with low, depraved characters out of the rural South. This was the novel "Journeyman," now dramatized for the stage by Alfred Hayes and Leon Alexander.

If this survives the killing fire of the reviewers it will be a greater miracle than the original "Tobacco Road," and this doesn't seem to be in the cards. Meanwhile Frankenstein, like Tennyson's brook, goes on and on.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—J'accuse. In a bewildered, plaintive bleat, I accuse the movie dress designers of unfair, unethical, corrupt practices. They permitted their representative to strike behind my back. That wily gentleman, telephoning, would have no words with me. Ah, no, he must speak to the head of the house.

"Mrs. C," said the blackguard, "the leading studio designers are having a style show. . . . You will come—and bring Mr. C?" So Mr. C sat, squirming in prehistoric tux, trying to make his Adam's apple choose between upper and lower berth on a tight wing collar. Mr. C sat, while the models marched and the music (happily Paul Whiteman's) played and the honey-toned commentators "described" and the Coconut Grove echoed with polite applause and the ebb of "Oh!" and the flow of "Ah!"

And then, drat it all, Mr. C suddenly realized that he had something there. A vital problem: Do clothes make the star or vice versa? A Matter of Importance Here were the stars' clothes, spectacular, theatrical, and mostly too-too, parading around without the stars in them. And yet the garments—beg pardon, creations—were beautifully filled by lovely youth. Inevitable conclusion: Clothes have a goddamned lot to do with it, even when you don't notice them on the screen.

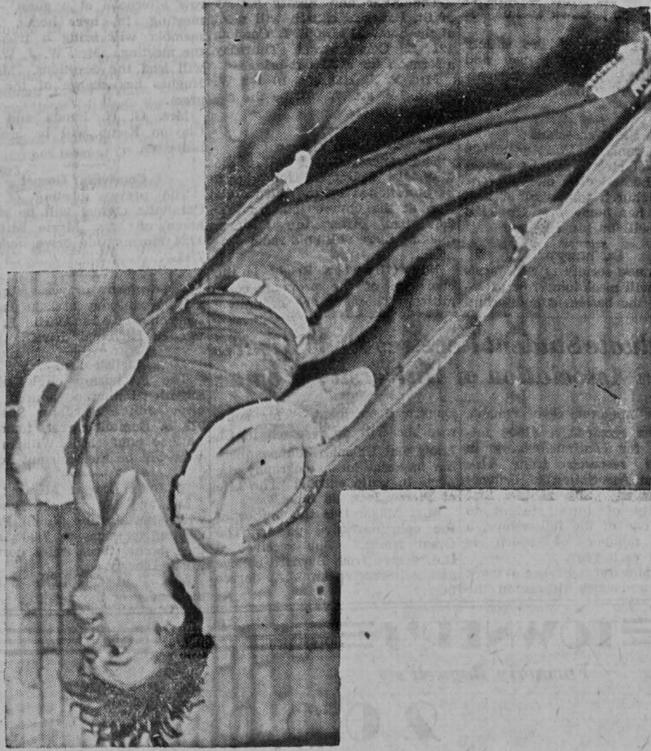

To an old abandoned previewer these masterpieces of Adrian, Royt, Orry - Kelly, Vera West, Milo Anderson, Gwen Wakeling—did I skip anyone?—should have come from recent pictures yet all were news to me. Inevitable conclusion: A star's a star for 'a' that. Now where was I? Oh, yes, at a style show. All the stars aren't here, in fact not one in a Groveville. . . . They have sent stock players, stand-ins, professional models. . . . That Edith Abel, modeling the Kay Francis stuff, knows how. . . . The Brewster twins, wearing Alice Faye's, so delectable and demure. . . . Janet Shaw, so pretty!

Knock-Out Frocks A sample description: "Presenting-g-g-g-g-g. . . . stunning flamingo dinner ensemble in black crepe roma and monkey fur. . . . Note fringe and simply DIABOLIC use of sequins at neckline. It would not be complete without the WICKEDLY long black gloves."

Minnesota Downs Hawkeyes, 28-26

"He Floats Through the Air—"

Howard Stuart, shown above, who placed third on the flying rings and high bar in last year's Big Ten meet and fourth in the National intercollegiate meet will lead a powerful Minnesota gym squad against Iowa and Nebraska gymnasts at the fieldhouse tonight to open the Iowa gymnastic season. Stuart was a member of the squad that gave the Hawkeyes its only defeat last year, and which lost to Iowa in another tilt and was second in the Big Ten championships at Iowa City which gave Iowa its only Big Ten title.

Hawkeye Gym Team Opens Season Tonight

Meets Huskers And Powerful Gopher Squad

Defending its Big Ten title with only one veteran, Coach Albert Baumgartner's University of Iowa gymnastic squad opens its season at the fieldhouse tonight at 7:30 against the Minnesota powerhouse, fresh from a string of three meets on a road trip, and an unknown quantity from Nebraska.

Capt. Don Dodge, senior side-horse man from Oelwein, with a group of green sophomores will cope with a well-balanced and highly experienced squad headed by Howard Stuart, who placed third in last year's Big Ten meet and fourth in the Nationals on the high bar and rings.

Iowa will match Stuart with Adam Vogel, Milwaukee, Wis., sophomore who will compete in four events.

Other stars on the Minnesota roster are Paul Johnson, James Ronning and Curtis Lynum, who will contend with Dodge, Vogel, and Roy Lipoti, Jersey City, N. J., sophomore, on the side horse. Nebraska will be represented in that event by Cadwell and Glass.

On the tumbling mat Walter Reitz will duel with John Smith, Minnesota star tumbler, and Kreisler of Nebraska. John Morgan and Elmer Jones will support Reitz's tumbling. The Hawkeyes have not lost a tumbling or side horse event in Iowa City in three years.

Morgan, Vogel, Bob Brown and Millard Storeund will do exercises on the parallel bars for Iowa, and Vogel, Brown and Ed McCloy will match quartets from Minnesota and Nebraska on the flying rings.

Vogel, who has been tutored by Eugene Wettstone, Hawkeye winner of the conference all-around title last year, will be Iowa's ace on the high bar. John Hill and Brown are the Hawkeye secondary forces in the event.

Nebraska's coach is Ed Reynolds, last year's Rocky Mountain champion and fourth best all-around man in National intercollegiate competition, who replaced Miller as the Cornhusker coach.

Hoosiers Defeat Wisconsin Five In 47-44 Contest

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 7 (AP)—Indiana university slapped a 47 to 44 basketball defeat on Wisconsin's Badgers here tonight in a game in which the count was knotted three times in the last half before the Hoosiers finally pulled away.

Indiana grabbed a 28 to 23 lead in the first half with Andres scoring 10 points. Shortly after the start of the final period, George Rooney began pitching in one-handed shots for Wisconsin and the Badgers went ahead, 31 to 30. The score was tied at 32, 33 and 35 before Johnson, McCreary and Platt again shot Indiana into the lead.

Johnson accounted for 15 points during the game, Andres for 14 and Rooney for 13.

With him Coach Reynolds brings a squad of five men. Profitt, Kreisler, Leask, Cadwell and Glass.

The Minnesota squad will be on equal terms with Iowa's in numbers. Each will have ten men, but the Gophers will have three place-winners of the team which finished second to Iowa last year, favoring Minnesota in the three-way meet.

Baseball Drills Attract 30 Men On First Day

Nearly 30 varsity baseball candidates answered Coach Otto Vogel's call to the initial baseball practice of the 1938 season yesterday afternoon in the fieldhouse. Immediately after reporting the squad was divided up, the batting cages came down and the Iowa hurlers, who have been working out most of the winter, started chucking the ball to the hitters. All the men were given a chance at the plate during the practice.

Ken Reid, lanky southpaw from Rose Hill was the only veteran pitcher to report as Howard Miller, who hails from Bennett, and who was an Iowa star two seasons ago, has not reported for duty as yet. The other pitchers reporting last night were Hal Haub, Jim Knipe, Jim Cook, Matt Faber and Keith Wymore.

Capt. Eddie Kadell, Mapleton senior, heads the remaining list of lettermen. The complete roster of sophomores and veterans includes: Elmer Bratten, Waterloo; William Seiler, Clinton; Russell Busk, Clinton; Dan O'Malley, Glenn Ellyn, Ill.; Bill Kelly, Chicago, Ill.; Stephen Cox, Keokuk; Emil Klumpar, Cedar Rapids; Andy Kantor, Missouri Valley; John Vogt, Ft. St. Pat's Five Loses Center

Scholastic Ineligibility Bars Fitzpatrick From Squad

Another severe blow was dealt Coach Harry Ryan and his St. Patrick's basketball squad yesterday when it was learned that lanky Glen Fitzpatrick, first string center for the Shamrock quintet, will probably be ineligible for the remainder of the season.

Fitzpatrick is definitely out of tonight's encounter with St. Wendeslaus at Cedar Rapids, but may become eligible later if scholastic difficulties can be ironed out. This makes the second member of Coach Ryan's starting five to be lost this semester, Jay Walden having switched schools at the mid-year point.

The Parlor City aggregation holds an early season victory over the local Irish, and are given a slight edge in tonight's meeting. Coach Ryan has concentrated his defensive net to tie up "Big Bill" Sedlak, who registered 17 points in the last battle between the two schools. If Sedlak proves too tall for the diminutive St. Pat's guards, Paul Scannell may be inserted to aid in the defensive department of the Green and White machine.

The game started slowly, the score being a 1-1 deadlock at the end of five minutes of playing time as the result of free throws by Kundla and Drees. Maki then connected from the corner for the first field goal of the evening and the winners maintained a slight edge during most of the first half, holding a 13-9 advantage at the midway mark.

Kundla opened the second half scoring with a basket, followed by Addington's gratis shot on a foul by Nile Kinnick to boost the Gophers' lead to 16-9 but the Hawkeyes, led by Kenny Suesens, fought back desperately and assumed a 20-19 lead with the second period half gone.

Prethuis, a sub forward for Minnesota, put the Gophers back in the lead by tipping in a rebound but the speedy Kinnick came through with a nice shot from the side to present the Hawks with a 22-21 advantage. Maki tied it up with a free shot on Drees' foul but Iowa forged out in front again when Stephens and Addington tied the score for the last time and set the stage for Kundla's victory-providing basket.

COWBOY 'Actor' Lou Gehrig To Talk Contract

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—That old cow hand, Lou Gehrig, is due to hitch his cayuse in front of Colonel Jack Ruppert's brewery at 10:30 in the morning and talk contract. The Yankees' owner has laid in a stock of brown paper cigarettes and had some of the better known cattle brands burnt onto his office walls so Two-Gun Lou will feel at home.

Browned by a western sun and still squinting from gun smoke, Lou got back today from Hollywood, where he just completed his first horse opera. He called Ruppert and told him his trigger finger was itching to get hold of a fountain pen, so the colonel invited him to call around.

Lou, who was the highest paid player in baseball last year at $36,000, is expected to say how about $40,000 for the coming season. Ruppert has offered Lou the same wages as last year, but the expectation was he would go a little higher to, say, $37,500, and that they would come out of the brewery office smiling.

The only thing that might make Lou a trifle stubborn this time is the situation surrounding his young teammate, Joe DiMaggio, who asked for a $40,000 contract when he visited the brewery some weeks ago.

Gophers Clinch Game in Last Minute of Play; Iowans Drop To Eighth in Conference Race

Stephens Garners 10 Points to Lead Hawkeyes

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 7 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Forced to the limit by a scrappy band of cagers from the University of Iowa, Minnesota's speedy Gophers eked out a narrow 28-26 victory over the Hawkeyes here tonight after the lead had changed hands several times in a hectic second half. With less than two minutes to play the score was tied at 24-24 but at this point Kundla came through with a basket and Maki added two free throws to provide the winning margin, while Kinnick was cashing in a foul by Maki.

The victory, Minnesota's third in a row in the Big 10 race after dropping the first three, shot the Gophers into a tie for fifth place in the conference standings with Wisconsin, who lost to Indiana. The loss shoved the Iowans into eighth place with a record of two victories and four defeats.

Technical Called on Gophers Kundla fouled Ben Stephens with slightly more than a minute left and objected to the decision so strenuously that the official awarded the visitors a free throw on a technical foul. An uproar by the crowd led to the awarding of another charity toss to Iowa, Suesens connecting on one of the attempts while Stephens was missing his to establish the final tally at 28-26 in favor of the Minnesotans.

The game started slowly, the score being a 1-1 deadlock at the end of five minutes of playing time as the result of free throws by Kundla and Drees. Maki then connected from the corner for the first field goal of the evening and the winners maintained a slight edge during most of the first half, holding a 13-9 advantage at the midway mark.

Stephens Makes 10 Benny Stephens of the visitors and Kundla, lanky Gopher forward, tied for top honors in the scoring department, each with 10 points, scored on four buckets and two charity tosses. Nile Kinnick, sophomore forward, Jack Drees, elongated center, and Ken Suesens, veteran guard played well for the Iowans while Gordon Addington, diminutive speedster, Kundla and Maki were outstanding for the winners.

The Hawkeyes will resume their conference schedule Saturday night in a game with Chicago at Chicago.

Francis Bloom Wins in Meet

Cedar Rapids, Feb. 7 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—A frenzied crowd of 2,200 watched the Cedar Rapids gladiators strike three of Iowa City's boxing entrants from the list in the first round of the state boxing tourney at Memorial coliseum in Cedar Rapids tonight. Coaches Otto Vogel and Francis Cretzmeyer will place seven local boys in the second round tomorrow night.

Only Francis Bloom, clever little Iowa City lightweight, came through with a win after overcoming Van Phelps's unorthodox style.

Booes and Jeers filled the auditorium and bewildered occupants of the press box looked to the judge's stand when reverse decisions were handed Jim Tate and John Moresa, two local battlers. Tate, a veteran with three years experience, came back strong in the later stages of his fight with Cedral Maioli, of Maquoketa, but was beaten. Del Smith, Cedar Rapids, won from Moresa despite an early knockdown. Chester Pluga, 175 pounder, failed to cope with Bill Wyatt, Ottumwa champ, and lost a gory decision.

J. Hopkins Oil Paintings Here

Exhibit Work of Head Of Fine Arts At Ohio State U.

Opening today in the main lounge of Iowa Union is an exhibition of oil paintings, the work of Prof. James R. Hopkins, head of the fine arts department at Ohio State university.

The exhibition of 20 pictures shows his development from early impressionistic work, through Japanese influence, to his character studies in the Cumberland mountains.

Professor Hopkins, an American artist, studied in the Art academy of Cincinnati under Frank Duveneck and later in Paris for 10 years. He was an instructor in the Cincinnati academy from 1914 to 1919 and has been at Ohio State since 1923.

He is known internationally for his fine portrait and figure paintings of women, his excellent character studies of mountain folk, fishermen, children and for his delicate impressionistic landscapes.

Professor Hopkins is a member of the National Academy of Design and the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts, Paris.

His best known work is the mountaineer series, some of which are included in the current exhibition. Professor Hopkins became interested in painting Kentucky mountaineers through a chance visit to the Kentucky mountain region. He spent several summers in the mountains and brought back a series of pictures which have since become famous as portraying an American type.

Group to Talk About Changes In Music Plans

New angles of public school music, including methods of developing entrants for the state high school music festival, will be set forth at the seventh annual conference of teachers and supervisors of music here Friday and Saturday.

The conference, one of the largest in the university's series, will include lectures, demonstrations by selected high school small ensemble groups and performances by the Iowa band, orchestra, glee clubs and chorus.

Special features of the conference will be the clinical concerts by small vocal, string, woodwind and brass ensembles. In addition to the performances by each of these groups as separate units, short concerts will be given by the combined ensemble in each division.

Prof. Lloyd Loar of Northwestern university will give a demonstration-lecture on applied acoustics, and the Wermelin clarinet quartet will appear in concert Saturday afternoon.

The university symphony orchestra, conducted by Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will present a complimentary concert in Iowa Union Friday at 8 p.m., featuring Esther Payne Muenzer, pianist, as soloist.

The university chorus, conducted by Prof. Herald Stark, and the University concert band, conducted by Prof. Charles B. Richter, will appear in a joint public concert at Iowa Union Saturday at 8 p.m.

Prominent parts in the program have been reserved for demonstrations by high school vocal, brass, string and woodwind ensembles. More than 150 pupils from 24 schools will participate, and a chorus of 60 junior high students from Cedar Rapids also will perform.

Among the formal speakers will be Prof. Roland Searight of Iowa State Teachers college, L. E. Waters of the Des Moines schools, Supt. P. C. Lapham of Charles City, Supt. W. Dean McKee of Shenandoah and Professor Loar and Glenn C. Bainum, both of Northwestern university.

Church Sorority Entertains At Valentine Party

Kappa Phi, Methodist sorority, entertained at a Valentine tea yesterday afternoon at the Methodist student center, its first rushing party of the second semester. Mrs. Claude J. Lapp and Mrs. Robert Hamill, patronesses poured.

A program was presented by candlelight before the fireplace. Cynthia Ash, A2 of Des Moines, sang "The Florian Song" and "Marguerite." Margaret Lang, A3 of Wilton Junction, played two piano selections.

Symphony Of Lights and Shadows

Hanya Holm, concert dancer and educator in the field of modern dance, is shown above as the central figure in the group of five dancers from her group. She shows here her fine use of the individual against the group and her effective line groupings. This is the second year that the group has been on tour. The first year was brought to a climactic conclusion last year at the Bennington festival where she presented "Trend." She will be presented here tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the women's gymnasium by Orchestra, university dance organization.

On The Campus With MARVIN TAUB

There are a great many stories about that football player on the campus known affectionately to his pals as "the black snipe of Gary," but the latest is by far the best. It seems that this hefty gragger was rushing to class one brisk morning. Entering a campus building, he mounted to the top floor huffing and puffing like an old steam engine with cracked boiler plates. At the very top he glanced at his watch and emitted a gasp of triumph, "Hot dog! I made it!"

But as he tore into the classroom a sudden look of bewilderment appeared on his face; then came a groan. "Gosh, I'm in the wrong building!"

Bill Mangold, sophomore from Sioux City, says that he could manage somehow without books in college, but that he would hate to try to get along without a motor car.

A personal survey of the campus shows that sophomores as a group tend to be the most studious. The freshmen are too fascinated by college life; the juniors have become wise to themselves, and the seniors are out to enjoy college life in their last year. But the sophomores, bulldozed by all the emphasis on high grades, burn the midnight oil. Incidentally, "sophomore," means foolish in one of the classical languages.

A bigger navy was inevitable, I guess, because they just can't go on showing the same old battle-ship in the Dick Powell musicals.

And my nomination for this week's "hard luck Joe" goes to Victor Sabatini, Iowa trackman and junior from Rochester, N.Y. Vic broke his glasses three times within eight days.

The hunt for the proverbial needle in the haystack is a very simple affair in comparison with the task of trying to locate a drop light in the middle of a large, dark room. If you have ever bumped your shins on the chair during the process, you know what I mean.

A local waiter tells me of a fellow who comes into the restaurant every night for a midnight snack wearing a pair of slippers, socks, an overcoat, and apparently nothing else!

And I read in the papers where Columbia university gave away a $200 scholarship to the best student agitator. The purpose is "to inspire them to bigger and better revolts!" Maybe several Iowa campusites will soon be leaving us.

Campus Pest No. 2: The fellow who sneaks in the Iowa Union sun porch and turns on the pressure at the statue-fountain, causing the water to squirt all over.

Students, Faculty May Obtain Tickets to Bryan Lecture Now

Tickets to the Julian Bryan lecture, "Modern Turkey," will be released today and tomorrow to students and faculty members, and Thursday to the general public at Iowa Union desk. The lecture will be at 8 p.m. Thursday in the main lounge of Iowa Union under the auspices of the senate board on university lectures.

Known widely as the roving camera reporter for the March of Time, Bryan has made the first complete motion picture record of what has been accomplished by the new order in Turkey under the leadership of President Ataturk who was formerly Mustapha Kemal. He has also made candid motion pictures of the making and makers of history throughout seven countries of Europe and Asia.

The film which Julian Bryan will show here to illustrate his lecture opens in the historic city of Constantinople. Here views are presented of the majestic St. Sophia's and the Blue Mosque of Turkey's three principal crops, tobacco, figs and raisins.

The last stop is at Kayseri, home of the new 38,000,000 textile factory, where 22,000 men and women have been trained in the production of cotton materials.

Crafty Bow A New Archery Club Is Organized

Local archery enthusiasts are demanding an early open season in indoor archery this year, with the result that an archery craft club, a new feature on the campus, is being organized under the direction of Prof. Claude J. Lapp of the physics department, one of Iowa's outstanding bowmen.

Members of the club will meet from 4 to 6 p.m. on Fridays to make their own bows and arrows. Katherine A. Pesek, A3 of Cedar Rapids, the new president of the club, invites all who wish to learn to shoot or desire help, to come to the recreation period in the mirror room of the women's gymnasium every Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. This period will be under the direction of Ellen Mosbek of the women's physical education department.

90 Alumni Clubs Asked to Observe Iowa Anniversary

Requests for meetings observing the 91st anniversary of the University of Iowa's foundation have been mailed to the presidents of the 90 alumni clubs.

The organizations, located in about 60 Iowa counties and in 29 cities of some 20 other states, will rally to hear the half-hour broadcast from the university at 8:30 p.m., over the NBC-blue network.

In addition each club head will receive a copy of an official summary of the university's forward progress within the last year. He will present this material to the group.

Meanwhile, formation of the program was progressing at the university and it soon will go into the rehearsal stage. Its broadcast will be the first of a sustaining program on a coast-to-coast scale from the university.

1,000 Tobacco Farmers Bank on His Judgment

IN THE warehouses Mr. Pinnix has managed in Georgia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, 46,000,000 pounds of tobacco have been sold. Farmers travel many miles to bring their crops to Mr. Pinnix's warehouse for sale. Reason is that they respect his tobacco experience and business integrity. So surely Mr. Pinnix's views are worth your respect, too.

"At every market I've ever attended," says Mr. Pinnix, "Lucky Strike has bought the ripest, mellowest tobacco offered. That's why I've smoked Luckies ever since I first became a warehouseman 20 years ago."

Mr. Pinnix's statement is borne out by sworn records which show that, among independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers, and warehousemen—Luckies have over twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO? When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "toasting" process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

Explains Main Principles Of Oxford Group

A 'Christian Revolution' Says Shoemaker Of Move

The Buchman movement is really a Christian revolution," the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker of New York declared in a round table of the Oxford groups yesterday afternoon in Old Capitol.

The movement has nothing new about it, he said, but is an attempt to regain the fundamentals of early Christianity. "The main purpose is to unite the Christian people of the world to form a spiritual front against the atheism and materialism of the world." The religion is based on four principles — honesty, purity, unselfishness and love.

The Rev. Mr. Shoemaker listed six imperatives of the religion which he said were formed from experience and action. The movement is a "fellowship between people of different churches."

The six imperatives as given by the Rev. Mr. Shoemaker were "change," God can change human nature; "listen," listen in prayer to God instead of talking; "obey," obey the commands of God; "combine," unity of Christian people; "demonstrate," don't use arguments but deeds to convince others, and "lead," influence or lead other people to join.

never had needed it before," the Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker said at the university vespers Sunday, "and the answer must be a spiritual one."

According to the New York minister the Oxford groups are trying to fulfill this spiritual need. The central theme of the Buchman movement is "let your life be controlled and guided by God," he said.

If people would act according to the four principles of the Buchman movement — honesty, love, unselfishness, and purity — it would have a great influence in industry, domestic affairs, racial problems, world difficulties and even in the church itself, the minister maintained.

Name Petersen To Committee On Conservation

Dr. William J. Petersen of the Iowa State Historical society has been appointed to the project committee for state conservation, it was announced yesterday. He served as representative of the state and local history groups at a meeting of those interested in the appreciation and conservation of Iowa parks in Des Moines Saturday.

Sixty-one representatives from various organizations including Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, 4-H groups, college groups and other organizations were present.

Three other committees were formulated to carry on the work of the group through youth recreational programs. They are the advisory committee to the state conservation committee, the program committee and the education and publicity committee.

Ware Speaker At Physics Colloquium Yesterday Afternoon

Prof. L. A. Ware of the college of engineering was the speaker at a physics colloquium yesterday afternoon. He discussed the mathematical analysis of the transients which occur in complex electrical circuits as the result of a voltage pulse.

He also considered applications of the theory to the practical question of stability of feed-back amplifiers.

The exact date of William Shakespeare's birth is not known.

Today With WSUI

On The Set

When William Roberts, A3 of Iowa Falls, takes the place on the set of the WSUI Little Theater of the Air, his specialty is the "character" part. On his list so far are the roles of the affected designer of women's clothing, smooth detective for an insurance company and the eccentric hired hand on a dust-bowl farm.

As the first show in the second semester series is broadcast tonight at 7:30, Mr. Roberts will take the part of an urban doctor in the play "American Blues" by Thomas Williams, A4 of St. Louis, Mo.

Others in the cast of the play are June Sherman, G of New York, Louis Garfin, A4 of Mason City, and Rodney Erickson, A3 of St. Louis, Mo., also director of the show.

Do You Hunt?

Know Your Rifle—this is the hunter's motto which furnishes the theme for Sylvanus J. Ebert, WSUI operator, on his outdoor sports program this evening at 8:15.

Library To Be Meeting Place

Mrs. Milton Remley To Review Novel By Willa Cather

Members of the literature division of the Iowa City Woman's club have planned a meeting this afternoon at 2:30 in the public library.

Mrs. Milton Remley has charge of the program and will review "Not Under Forty" by Willa Cather.

Mrs. T. R. Reese, Mrs. H. C. Dorcas and Mrs. Myron Walker comprise the literature department's program committee.

A program on "Music and Rhythm of Colonial Days" was presented to 30 members of the music department of the Woman's club at a meeting in commemoration of Washington's birthday yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. W. Chittenden, 1101 Kirkwood avenue.

Mrs. Chittenden read a paper on "Early Colonial Music," and Mrs. Merton Tudor presented one on "Rhythm and Dancing from Colonial Times to the Present Day." Mrs. Maud Whedon Smith played two minuets and the "President's March," to which Mrs. C. A. Hawley sang the accompanying song, "Toast to the President."

Accompanied by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hawley sang three other songs, "Waydown Traveler" and "Beneath the Willow's Shade" by Francis Hopkinson and "The Mansion of Peace" by Samuel Web.

Mrs. Mimi Youde Wurru presented a dance in Colonial costume to the tune of "Minuet in G" by Paderewski, played by Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith accompanied her dance in Japanese costume with the music of "Two Fans."

Mrs. Chittenden was in charge of the musical part of the program and Mrs. Tudor of the rhythm.

Samuel Goldwyn PRESENTS DEAD END

The play that thrilled the nation becomes an even greater film, starring SYLVIA SIDNEY and JOEL McCREA, with Humphrey Bogart... Released through UNITED ARTISTS...

Fictionized by VIRGINIA WARREN HASTINGS

Chapter One

As Mulligan the cop made his early morning rounds on that stifling June day his gaze wandered abstractedly from the haughty towers and terraces of the East River Apartments to the dingy tenements which squatted alongside, lining the street. He took perfunctory note of the Italian grocery, the tailor shop, Pascaigl's saloon, the warehouse, the sandhopper, the garbage cans; irresistibly his eyes moved toward the docks and the river, from whence the sounds of early river traffic claimed his attention. This was Dead End, his beat. Slowly the street was coming to life. The fat janitress in number 45 emerged to empty her slops into the already overflowing garbage pail on the stoop. The Italian grocer was arranging his tired vegetables.

A group of tough, dirty, ragged little boys had gathered on the bulkhead of the river. They stripped to trunks and splashed into the slimy water amid gleeful shouts and gurgles. Tommy, the eldest of the six, arrived last. He was, by virtue of having licked all the rest, their acknowledged leader.

"Hi, Angel. Hi, T. B."

"Hi, Tommy." T. B. returned as he pitched pennies into a crack.

"Want to pitch? Boy, I get a crack all the time."

Spit and Dippy were engaged in a playful scrap. Spit had backed Dippy close to a railing and was making a swipe at him.

"If you want to belong you got to have a quarter."

"Two for flinching," he shouted belligerently, two for flinching. "I did not," denied Dippy hotly. "Ya did so."

"Choose him for it," suggested Angel, who was bored.

"They chose, and Dippy lost. Spit grabbed a rolled newspaper and banged Dippy twice on the head with all his might. Dippy screamed in protest.

"Why don't you pick on a kid who can fight back?" said Tommy. And as Spit proceeded to whack away, he yelled preemptorily, "Dingy it."

Tommy's attention was diverted by something across the street. It was the new kid, Mitty, wheeling a baby carriage. "Hey, kid," Mitty nervously approached. "Want to belong to our gang?" Mitty eagerly indicated his willingness. "Then you got to have dough. You got to be initiated. If you want to belong you got to have a quarter."

"A quarter?" repeated Mitty incredulously. "I got three cents. But where am I going to get a quarter?"

"From your old lady. You know where she keeps her money, don't you?" The question of rightful possession of Mitty's three cents precipitated a free-for-all. The six boys piled up on the loudly protesting Mitty. Drina, Tommy's sister, arrived on the scene and pushed the boys aside in a business-like fashion. She was pretty and young and tough.

"Aw, scram, will ya, Drina?" said Tommy, resentful of her interference. Drina looked up from the scuffle into the faces of two strange men.

"What are you doing, seeing life in the slums?" she asked acidly. "Is it funny? Why didn't you stop them?" The shorter and more dapper of the two smiled blandly.

"Lady," he said, "you're scaring me."

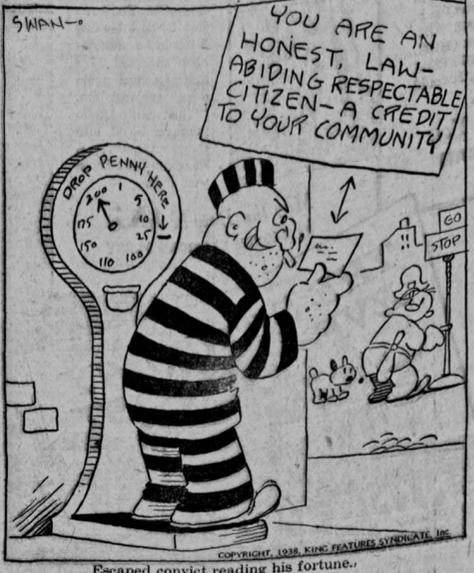

Drina turned her attention to Mitty, who was pulling up his pants and crying. "Did they hurt you?" she asked him kindly.

"They took my three cents," he sobbed.

"Tommy!"

"I ain't got it."

$20,000 Needed to Complete Remodeling of Legion Building

Group Studies 3 Projects For Raising Funds

Mayor Walker Reports Money From Bond Issue Spent

Three plans to obtain $20,000 to complete the remodeling of the former American Legion building occupied the attention of community organization leaders at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the city council chambers.

Mayor Myron J. Walker reported the proceeds of the $35,000 bond issue have been spent and that reconstruction of the building cannot proceed unless new funds become available.

The building has been roofed. With present funds the auditorium will be completed with a dance floor and the American Legion quarters will also be finished.

Estimates indicate that $20,000 is needed to complete the reconstruction of the gymnasium and various office and meeting rooms.

Mayor Walker presented three possibilities for procuring the necessary $20,000, and invited comments and suggestions. The plans are, first, issuing city bonds; second, having funds advanced by interested persons to underwrite the work; and third, having civic organizations that will occupy the office rooms pay their rent five years in advance.

Reconstruction costing $64,000 was planned when the city took title to the building a year ago. A $35,000 city bond issue was approved then, but an application for a $29,000 PWA grant was refused by federal officials.

Doubt was expressed whether an additional bond issue would be approved. The time necessary to float the issue, three months, would also delay construction until the busy season when building costs are higher, it was said.

Legal complications would interfere with the plan of private interests underwriting the project, it was pointed out, because the building is a city property.

The third plan, to secure advance rentals from civic organizations, was dubiously received by representatives of organizations that operate on an annual budget. They saw no way to secure funds to prepay rental.

Suggestions that banks might advance the funds, taking notes from organizations to be paid off within five years, or that service clubs and individuals might raise the funds which would be advanced for rentals and repaid from annual budgets, were also made.

There would be 15 rooms in the building available for use by civic organizations under this plan, if the building is wholly completed, the mayor said. Rent varying from $10 to $50 a month, paid five years in advance, would furnish adequate funds to restore all parts of the building for community use.

Maintenance and service of the building will be paid by a tax levied by the city council. Organizations using the auditorium or other parts of the building will pay nominal rental, although it is not intended that the building shall be self-supporting, the mayor continued.

Answering a question regarding the purpose of the building, the mayor pointed out that it is to be community center for the use of all civic organizations, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Recreation center and others, and a place where groups and organizations can hold meetings and conventions. A building commission is in charge of the administration of the building.

Mayor Walker invited all members of the group to discuss with their organizations the plans suggested, and to bring out any other plans or ideas they might have for accomplishing the completion of the community building.

Another meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the council chambers, when the various plans and ideas will again be canvassed. Leaders of civic organizations and others interested are invited to be present.

John Ise's definition of "boredom" — "an uncomfortable consciousness of cerebral innocuous guesstude," I find quite boring. Must we begin the study of semantics?

It isn't quite as wordy as the phrase "hallucinatory prognostication," I glimpsed in a district court document recently.

Let's imagine a student illustrating his classroom comments with the same sign... and his semester grade.

Johnson county republican nominees will make their announcements at the rally and Lincoln day dinner in the Jefferson hotel Saturday night.

Mayor Myron J. Walker's jibe, "They wouldn't have — if it had been an election year," at yesterday's community center project meeting, is also worthy of note.

The mayor had just told of PWA's refusal in 1937 to grant funds to reconstruct the American Legion building.

Modern Marriage. Approximately 175 students are enrolled in Prof. Moses Jung's "Modern Marriage" course this semester. The large enrollment indicates the class will be sectioned soon.

Elect Swisher Local County Bar President

Group Chooses Carson, Messer, Kringel As Officers

Attorney Ingalls Swisher was elected president of the Johnson County Bar association by a unanimous vote at a dinner meeting of the association last night in the Jefferson hotel.

Other officers elected include Attorneys Frank Messer, vice-president; Carl S. Kringel, secretary, and Burke Carson, treasurer.

Attorney W. F. Murphy, retiring president, was unable to attend because of illness and Attorney Swisher presided at the meeting.

A quartet composed of Attorneys Paul Toomey, Swisher, Kringel and Carson sang. The remainder of the program consisted of accordion solos and the reading of humorous valentines addressed to association members.

Burglars Take Chickens, Ring, $500 in Check

Thieves entered the home of Mrs. A. J. Boarts, 416 Reno street, between 9:30 and 11 a.m. yesterday and took a diamond ring and a $500 check that were hidden in a trunk. Four chickens were taken from a coop in the rear of the house.

Mrs. Boarts reported the loss to police who are investigating.

County Receipts Exceed Spendings; $70,016.25 Collected in License Fees

Receipts in County Treasurer W. E. Smith's office during January exceeded disbursements by $28,425.22 a report filed with County Auditor Ed Sulek showed yesterday.

Auto license fees of $70,016.25 made up the major item creating the balance of receipts. Receipts for the month totaled $117,882.08 and disbursements amounted to $89,456.86.

The receipts included those for the current year, $27,781.07; delinquent, $4,300.65; special assessments, $556.83, and miscellaneous collections, $85,243.53.

Disbursements included warrant payments, $8,200.07, and miscellaneous payments, $81,256.79.

Current year items consisted of general state fund, $2,290.28; poor, $1,461.89; county road bond reduction and interest, $1,296.21; school districts, $8,998.80; corporation funds, $4,284.16; emergency, $955.10; secondary road maintenance, $3,301.66; county, $1,461.89, and soldier's relief, $236.82.

Those listed for delinquent years included school districts, $1,421.93; corporation funds, $769.23; emergency, $118.67; secondary road maintenance, $328.99; general state revenue, $355.38; county, $189.37 and head tax $15.50. Special assessments included paving $461.52, and sewers, $78.13.

Miscellaneous collections included gas taxes $5,310.49; general state fund, $1,724.07; auto sales tax, $973.66, poor $1556.31, and secondary road maintenance, $807.68.

Warrant payments made consisted of court expense, $2,933.72; soldier's relief, $705.76; bovine 'T. B., $437.25; state share of gas taxes, $4,252.37; domestic animals, $1,444.96 and county $8,611.20.

Miscellaneous payments were old age pensions, $1,897.63; auto sales tax, $1,687.64; auto fees due state, $2,770.29; school districts, $46,449.24; corporation funds, $20,751.85; homestead credit, $1,393.80; paving, $3,776.17; sewers, $431.71, and road bond reduction, $321.25.

Kiwanis Will Hear Talks About China

Three Iowa Citizens who have been in China will discuss the present Chinese situation at the noon meeting of the Kiwanis club today in the Jefferson hotel.

Mayor Myron J. Walker, Dr. Andrew Woods, director of psychopathic hospital, and Col. George F. N. Dailey, head of the military department, will be in the symposium.

Mayor Walker was formerly affiliated with a naval patrol on the Yangtze river in China. Dr. Woods was for many years the head of a Chinese hospital, and Colonel Dailey has also seen military service in that country.

The symposium will follow the weekly Kiwanis meeting. President H. J. Dane will preside.

Dr. Keil to Preside At Annual Meeting Of Country Club

Members of the Iowa City Country club will elect officers for 1938 at the annual meeting this evening in Spencer's Harmony hall.

Dr. W. B. Keil, retiring president, will preside. Other officers who will retire are: Attorney F. B. Olsen, first vice-president; P. L. Hamborg, second vice-president, and Dean-Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters, Prof. G. W. Stewart, Prof. H. L. Rietz and Dr. A. W. Bennett, members of the board of managers. E. S. Rose, secretary-treasurer, holds an appointive office.

There are 12 members of the board elected for a three year term. Three members go out of office each year.

In addition to the election of officers, reports from the finance, house and greens committees will be heard.

Makes Known His Candidacy

Attorney E. A. Baldwin, in obtaining his nomination papers yesterday at the county auditor's office, announced he will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for county attorney at the June 6 primary election.

A practicing attorney in Iowa City, Attorney Baldwin served as the state representative from Johnson county in 1916 and 1917, resigning to enlist in the World war.

He served as county attorney of Johnson county from Jan. 1, 1935 to Jan. 1, 1937, but was defeated for re-election by County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark.

Other county officials who have taken out nomination papers for renomination for democratic candidacy at the June 6 primary are Dan J. Peters, chairman, and Charles W. Lacinia, members of the county board of supervisors; Ed Sulek, county auditor; R. Nelson Miller, county clerk; Sheriff Don McComas and Dr. George D. Callahan, county coroner.

Porter to Talk Before Forum Tonight at 7:30

Persons interested in foreign affairs are invited to the third meeting of the Iowa City public forum at 7:30 this evening in the city council chamber.

Prof. Kirk H. Porter of the political science department will speak on "International Law or International Anarchy." The audience may ask questions and bring up points for discussion.

Joseph Peach Dies At Home Sunday Morning

Joseph Peach, 72, who lived in Iowa City most of his life, died at 8:15 a.m. Sunday in his home, 1310 Cedar street.

Born in Iowa City March 3, 1865, Mr. Peach was the son of Frank and Anna Peach.

He is survived by the widow; a son, Edward Peach, San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. George Griswell, Iowa City; a brother, Frank Peach of Iowa City; and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Edward Sybil, 1310 Cedar street, and Mrs. Clyde White of Los Angeles.

The body is at the Hohenschuh mortuary. Funeral arrangements will be made when Edward Peach comes from San Francisco.

County Board To Take Bids

Contracts for the improvement of four and a quarter miles of county trunk highway will be let Feb. 23, Dan C. Peters, chairman of the county board of supervisors announced yesterday.

The stretch of road to be improved extends from Shueville to the intersection of the Solon-Ely road on county trunk road 1. Bidders will be asked to base their estimates on grading, draining and incidental improvements. Notice of the proposed project is being sent to the state highway commission at Ames for circulation to contractors.
