AUSTRIA SURRENDERS TO HITLER

Worried France, Italy Watch Perilous Situation in Austria

Rome-Berlin Axis Strained; Contacts Kept

Fascist Grand Council Meets to Watch New Picture

ROME, March 11 (AP)—The turbulent situation in Austria put the Rome-Berlin axis under heavy strain tonight as Italy's fascist grand council reconvened. An official announcement acknowledged that Rome was in contact with Berlin, keeping close watch on the rapidly changing picture.

The ministry of popular culture, however, declared the contact merely was normal diplomatic intercourse. Its spokesman said Italy was exercising "very diplomatic reserve."

The arrival of German troops in Austria loomed over other matters on the council's agenda.

Precarious Place
Foreign circles saw Italy on the horns of a dilemma and herself in a precarious diplomatic position because of the Austrian situation.

Until ties between Italian and German foreign policy grew close, the preservation of Austria's now-impelled independence had been a major point of Italian diplomacy. But since the development of the Rome-Berlin axis, diplomatic sources pointed out, any appearance of Italian intervention on behalf of Austria would antagonize Hitler; Premier Benito Mussolini would be forced to abandon either Austria or Germany.

Isolated by Break
Italy, not having concluded her peace-making negotiations with Great Britain and having few other European ties, therefore would face the peril of isolation should the axis break now, these quarters said.

Italian protection of Austria in 1934 impelled her to rush troops to the Brenner pass as a warning against any Nazi coup after the assassination of Austria's Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

Massing of Italian troops at the frontier now, however, was considered "most improbable." (In Paris, Italy was said to have rejected a French suggestion of joint action.)

No Troop Movements
The culture ministry spokesman said his office would make no statement on possible Italian troop movements. Reports from Bolzano, near the Italo-Austrian border, however, said no unusual movements were observed.

Chief of TVA Defies F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of TVA, bluntly defied President Roosevelt today and declared himself not a participant in a hearing called by the chief executive to determine "the fact" behind TVA's bitter internal row.

Face-to-face with the president and in the presence of his opponents on the TVA board—Vice-Chairman Harcourt A. Morgan and Director David E. Lilienthal—the chairman criticized the inquiry as "an alleged process of fact-finding" and repeated his plea for an "impartial, comprehensive and complete" investigation by congress.

He accused the president of withholding full cooperation in correcting what he considered grave conditions within TVA, asserted the other directors were given adequate advance information of what today's hearing would involve, while he was not, and once he asked the president to stop interrupting him.

Emphatically, he declined to answer Mr. Roosevelt's questions as to what factual basis he might have for the charges of bad faith and malfeasance he has hurled at Harcourt Morgan and Lilienthal. He referred the chief executive to a brief prepared statement asking for a congressional inquiry.

Czech Cabinet Views Austrian War Situation Calmly in Special Session

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, March 11 (AP)—The Czechoslovakian cabinet met in special session tonight to consider the general situation in connection with events in Austria.

President Eduard Benes presided. The cabinet was represented as viewing the situation calmly. The impression prevailed in some quarters that the nazification of Austria was not the private concern of that neighboring state, but a matter affecting all western powers. In other words, a European affair.

Reports from Bratislava, on the Austrian-Czechoslovakian border about 40 miles from Vienna, said trains and automobiles arriving there were filled with refugees from Vienna.

Sleuth Finds His Sherlock
Spends Four Days On the Trail, But—Holmes Knew All

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP)—Sherlock Holmes was found today by a sleuth.

Detective James McGurk was assigned to the search last Monday when G. W. Lambert, cashier of the Ripon, Wis., state bank and trustee of an estate, asked the Chicago missing persons bureau to locate Holmes to inform him he had been named a beneficiary.

The faithful McGurk spent four days on the trail. He located him, broke the goods, but... Well, Sherlock—he would know all about it. It seems he saw a piece in the papers about the case and communicated with the Ripon bank.

McGurk reported Holmes was to receive the income from $6,000 in real estate bonds left in trust by a sister-in-law whom he did not name.

Supporters In Mooney's Case May Fail Again

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 11 (AP)—Lawmakers sympathetic toward Tom Mooney encountered new signs of opposition today as they renewed their effort to give him a "legislative pardon."

Police Captain Charles Goff, veteran officer who assembled the evidence on which Mooney was convicted of the San Francisco preparedness day dynamiting 22 years ago, received permission to address the state assembly, before which the pardon move was pending. He will be heard later.

A pardon measure failed of passage by only two votes in the assembly early this morning after Mooney had appeared personally to declare his innocence.

Supporters of the pardon measure, confronted with the possibility of challenges as to its competency even if passed, took the position that the matter of legality and effectiveness could be determined after enactment.

New Storm Hinders Search in California For Missing Plane

FRESNO, Cal., March 11 (AP)—A new storm today all but halted the search for the transcontinental and western air liner which vanished near here in a downpour the night of March 1 with nine persons aboard.

Fliers who had planned to scan once more a mountain area in Calaveras county, 130 miles north of here, where a plane was reported heard the night the liner vanished, kept to ground because of storm conditions.

Many searchers have expressed belief the big craft was buried by heavy snows which fell after it disappeared, and that the wreckage may not be found until after the spring thaw in the mountains.

Blum Expects To Get Unified Cabinet Today

Faces an Internal Upset Besides European Powder-Box

PARIS, March 11 (AP)—France, without a government and rebuffed by Italy on a proposal for joint efforts to save Austria's independence, stood helpless tonight as Nazi Germany proceeded to take power in Vienna.

Foreign office officials announced that the French and British ambassadors in Berlin had made a joint protest to the German government over Nazi steps in Austria.

Confident
At the same time, Premier-designate Leon Blum, confronted with a threat to the peace of Europe, let it be known he was confident of forming a national union government—of all parties from communist to extreme right.

Sources close to the socialist leader said the cabinet would be organized by early tomorrow and would be ready to deal with events in Austria.

Hurries Consultations
Blum hurried consultations with political leaders, striving quickly to rally support. Besides the critical situation in central Europe he was confronted with a difficult financial problem and labor unrest at home.

Although the people's front showed signs of cracking under the strain of events in Austria, its three main components—socialists, communists, radical-socialists—as well as socialist-republicans all agreed to the national union.

Communists in Cabinet?
If Blum succeeds, communists will enter a French cabinet for the first time.

An official foreign office announcement said the joint Anglo-French protest to Germany was framed in "energetic" words and warned the use of coercive measures in Austria must bring "gravest reactions, of which it was impossible to foretell the issue."

Chances Slim
The chances of France taking any direct steps in Austria appeared slim, however.

In the breach, ministers of resigned Premier Camille Chautemps' government remained in power.

Reverberations in Czechoslovakia of Nazi power in Austria was the chief concern of France. But the nation also was alarmed over effects of Germany's increasing might in central Europe.

Author, Press Retract Charges Against Du Pont

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—A public retraction of statements imputing fraud to E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company, appearing in the first six printings of "America's 60 families," was issued tonight by Ferdinand Lundberg, author of the book, and the Vanguard press, publisher.

As a result of "this vindication," the company said it was withdrawing a $150,000 libel suit against the author and publisher.

In a statement to the readers of the book and the public generally, the letter said, in part: "Upon reference to certain public records, we have found that the charges made by government investigators against the du Pont company as to war contracts, the sale of bodies of its employees, and kindred matters, were refuted by evidence later adduced, and that this company was exonerated in a confidential letter written by former Attorney-General Sargent to the war department."

U. S. Keeps 'Hands-Off' Hull Confers With Roosevelt on New Central European Developments

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Officials anxiously studied developments in Austria and central Europe tonight but maintained a "hands off" attitude.

Taking their lead from Secretary of State Hull, they refrained from placing the United States in the position of taking sides.

The secretary said he had conferred with the president in the last two days on the situation in central Europe, but without formulating a special policy.

He denied emphatically a rumor that the United States had urged Germany in a friendly way to moderate in her treatment of Austria.

Officials doubted that any question regarding American recognition of the new Austrian government would arise. They believed it would be an internal change that would not call for a specific recognition. Such was the case when Kurt Schuschnigg, the anti-Nazi Austrian chancellor who has just

Bloodless Revolution Nazifies New 'State' as German Troops March In; New Cabinet Formed

No Desire to Have Austria a Part of Germany, Nazi Circles Say; Schuschnigg Resigns Under Severe Pressure

By The Associated Press
VIENNA, March 12 (Saturday)—Austria has capitulated to Adolf Hitler in a bloodless revolution which converted this nation into a Nazi state.

Faced by a German ultimatum threatening armed invasion unless the government were reorganized as Hitler wished, the government gave up its five-year fight against the German Fuehrer.

The bloodless revolution came after two days of violence throughout Austria. It was accomplished in eight hours. Swept out of office by Germany's demands was Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, who had fought to preserve Austrian independence in the old course of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, who was assassinated in a Nazi putsch July 25, 1934.

Succeeding him as chancellor and Austria's man of the hour was Austria's Nazi leader, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, political friend of Hitler.

Seyss-Inquart immediately formed a new cabinet, all but two of whom were Nazis.

Apparently Wilhelm Miklas still was president. The government radio told Vienna and other Austrian cities—where Nazis went wild in jubilant demonstrations—that Seyss-Inquart had been appointed by Miklas.

But the president, who through his years in office had supported Schuschnigg, made no announcement to the Austrian people.

Also swept out of office was another leader of the old regime—Mayor Richard Schmitz of Vienna.

His city staged a demonstration that was probably without precedent.

Crowds who heard radio announcements that German troops were on their way into Austria stamped through the streets. Swastikas appeared by the thousands.

All Vienna seemed to be shouting: "Heil Hitler!"

Schuschnigg himself, who yesterday called out 100,000 reserves and 30,000 guardsmen to supplement his regular army of 70,000 in the face of German troop mobilization, told Austria of Germany's ultimatum.

In an address last night he declared that "we are not minded at any price to shed German blood" and ordered his troops to withdraw "in the case of invasion" by German forces.

There was concern in Vienna throughout the night over reports that German troops already were on Austrian soil.

The reports were contradictory. One said motorized units had reached Linz, Nazi stronghold 40 miles from the Austro-German frontier. It was indicated, however, that these reports may have been founded on mistaken belief that marching Austrian or S. S. (Nazi guard) troops were German soldiers.

Defeat of Schuschnigg's dream of an independent Austria was foreshadowed yesterday afternoon. Then Schuschnigg postponed indefinitely the plebiscite he had ordered for Sunday to register Austria's opinion on independence or submission to Nazi demands.

It was Schuschnigg's sudden announcement Wednesday that the plebiscite would be held which precipitated two days and nights of turmoil throughout Austria.

House Defeats Administration On Two Counts as It Passes Tax Bill by a Large Majority

Chamber Declines Levy As Proposed By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The administration suffered two clear-cut defeats in the house today before the chamber passed the tax revision bill by a vote of 294 to 98.

At one end of Pennsylvania avenue, President Roosevelt told reporters this morning that a proposed tax on closely held and family-owned corporations was not punitive and that it was designed to erase special privilege existing under the tax laws.

At the other end of the avenue, two hours later, the house flatly declined to put this levy in the tax bill.

Across the street from the White House, Secretary Hull criticized an excise tax on imported pork on the grounds it would be disastrous to the American corn and hog industry. He intimated it would result in retaliation by other countries.

At the capitol, the house refused, 201 to 182, to eliminate the pork tariff-tax from its bill.

There was no angry debate in the chamber—all that had been left behind yesterday. Members merely went through the routine of ratifying their previous tentative decisions, then wrapped up the bill for delivery to the senate.

Before the lop-sided vote for passage, they refused to take out an amendment to raise the tax on hard liquor from $2 to $2.25 a gallon.

Balloting along almost rigid party lines, they scuttled a republican motion to return the bill to the ways and means committee—a motion intended to obtain complete repeal of the undistributed profits tax and imposition of a flat 12-1/2 per cent tax on capital gains instead of the graduated levy the bill provides.

Boy to Girl 'George' Learns New Life-Role

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11 (AP)—High heels are one of the big problems in the metamorphosis of Katherine "George" Vine. But compensating is the big thrill of having "boy friends."

For nearly 17 years Katherine was the "only boy" in the family of Nicholas Vine of (3142 Broadway) Chicago. But three months ago an observant school nurse became suspicious and Katherine's masquerade was at an end.

Now the attractive young girl—who still "can't answer naturally to the name Katherine"—is in San Francisco learning all about high heels, dresses and "boy friends."

"The high heels are rather tricky," Katherine said today, "but when I go out with an escort on each side I get along all right. The smaller shoes hurt my feet, too."

The Situation At a Glance

By The Associated Press
VIENNA — Germany nazifies Austrian government, sending in troops and reorganizing cabinet with Arthur Seyss-Inquart personal friend of Hitler, as chancellor. Kurt Schuschnigg driven from office by German ultimatum threatening invasion.

BERLIN — Hitler reported closed with all members of new Austrian cabinet except Seyss-Inquart as his troops march into Austria; German move provoked by Schuschnigg's call for plebiscite on "free Austria"; Nazis maintain country will remain "independent."

LONDON — British and French governments protest in "strongest possible terms" against German action. Hitler's move seen as bitter if not fatal blow to new British "realistic" foreign policy; cabinet to session today (Saturday).

PARIS — Austrian crisis catches France without cabinet; Premier-designate Leon Blum expresses confidence he can form new national union government. Italy refuses joint action with France and Britain to save Austria.

ROME — Fascist grand council reconvenes; Italy exercises "diplomatic reserve" on Austro-German developments; massing of Italian troops on frontier facing Austria considered "most improbable."

ZARAGOZA — Insurgents drive to new gains in eastern Spanish offensive designed to cut government-held territory in two.

SHANGHAI — Japanese report launching offensive in Shensi province, communist stronghold; Chinese guerrillas inflict heavy casualties on Japanese.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., March 11 (AP)—A $2,980 horde of $20 gold pieces at first mistaken for washers in the cellar of a vacant house today had four claimants.

The latest, J. E. Hipple, of Pierre, S. D., said the money might have been buried by a relative who once owned a home there.

Others claiming the money are E. R. Beers, owner of the house, and John Johnson and George Hill, workmen who "struck gold" while deepening the cellar two weeks ago.

Beers, to whom Johnson turned over 57 of the 149 double eagles, said his ownership of the property entitled him to the entire find.

Johnson, whose shovel struck the gold, deposited 92 of the gold pieces in a bank and retained an attorney to help him keep the money.

world, the democracies, will undoubtedly be further alarmed by the illegal extension of fascist power. Yet the real blame belongs to those victorious powers which framed the Versailles treaty—a treaty which put Germany under restrictions that no nation could endure, which Austria little more than a suburb of Vienna with little economic life possible except through trade with Germany—a form of co-operation which the League of Nations laterer frowned upon.

These were the conditions which made inevitable the growth of fascism. Stupidity and a blundering refusal to see things as they are have created a militant Germany and a helpless Austria. And it is too late now to undo the wrongs of the last 20 years.

Only time, during which the seeds of self-destruction, the seeds of hatreds and jealousies born in all forms of tyranny, can grow, will overthrow Hitler and his nazis. Time alone can do this, but in the meanwhile it will go hard with the persecuted and helpless people under nazi control.

Great Britain and Italy are carrying on a terrific radio "war" to win the confidence of the Arabians. If that once popular tune were written today the title probably would be—"The Shriek of Araby."

The Reverend Gerald L. K. Smith announces his "Committee of One Million." The man at the next desk wants to know how, in order to hold a meeting, the Reverend will ever get a quorum together.

Committing Suicide For Your Country

BESIDES the poison gases, stronger airplanes and other death-dealing devices which have been invented or improved upon since the World war, comes a new type of war boat. It was first demonstrated before the world's naval strategists in 1918 and called the "suicide boat." Mussolini launched it when he constructed a fleet of 300 in 1935.

The "suicide boat," a small craft carrying but one large torpedo beneath its hull, is aptly termed because of the slim chance it has of ever returning to port. The boat, being merely offensive, must be within close range of the enemy ship to insure a direct hit. Because it is small and must be so close to the enemy before firing, the chances for escape are limited.

Says Tom Cameron in the Los Angeles Times, "Almost with the development of warships and their long-range guns, men dreamed of evolving a small boat which could be maneuvered close aboard and unleash mines or torpedoes sure to cripple if not torpedo enemy ships." And now they've done it.

As evidenced in the last war, men are not afraid to give their lives for their country. On the front and in the trenches, men died for a cause. They at least had a 50-50 chance of returning home.

The man who steps into a "suicide boat" says an almost sure good-bye to home. There's one good thing about the new war toy. Only countries with unlimited population will dare use it.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

EXPECTANT FATHERS FOR SOME inscrutable reason buried deep in the folklore of the race, the plight of the man who expects to become a father is supposed to be funny. Of course it isn't anything of the sort, but that apparently doesn't matter. The picture favored by the jokesmiths and the cartoonists is of a terribly worried fellow, jittery and in need of a drink, who paces feverishly up and down hospital corridors (sometimes, heaven help us, accompanied by his mother-in-law) bothering people, making foolish questions and driving himself crazy. All right. Leave it that way.

Now the Western Hospital association has opened an exhibit space in San Francisco "to articles designed to help the worrying male through hours of anxiety." It is said that most hospitals provide no regular quarters where prospective fathers can "smoke, read or walk the floor in relative comfort." Let them do all this sort of thing they like, and it still will have little effect. The spurious notion that a man about to become a father is a comic figure will not die so easily.

This idea appears to have become so ingrained in people that even doctors and nurses, who surely ought to know better, usually enter into the spirit of the hollow jest and have a whale of a good time for themselves. Not all the "comfortable smoking rooms" in Christendom can change it.

—New York Herald-Tribune.

No Wine—But Women and Song

THE STUDENTS were skeptical at first and so was the faculty. Their reasons were different but they united in looking slightly askance at the notion.

Not so any more. If halfway through your house party the rooms begin to echo, try the Silver Shadow. The party has probably moved over there. And when you join the crowd, you might even step on an occasional faculty toe, hunting a spare inch on the dance floor.

When dancers celebrate the formal closing of the Silver Shadow's second season tonight, there will be no more doubt that the university can support a dry night club.

The idea was originated by Jess Gorkin, a former editor of "The Daily Iowan." He watched it grow in the first year from a timorous youngster to the belle of the ball. At the end of its second year, the skeptics who said a night spot with university approval and supervision would be a dull affair weren't objecting any more. They're dancing instead.

Some faculty members were inclined to veto the project for fear that the mere idea would create adverse comment in a state that always views its institution of higher education—particularly its non-educational features—with a watchful eye.

The comment was forthcoming, but it wasn't adverse and it wasn't confined to the state. At its second birthday carnival tonight, Iowa's promising youngster may take a bow.

Hitler Triumphs Again in Austria

ANOTHER triumph for fascism, another blow to democracy and the forces which make for international law and order—those are unwelcome but inevitable interpretations which must be given to yesterday's assumption of power by the nazis in Austria.

At present it appears that only a revolution, which would bring the might of Germany's armed forces down upon the helpless Austrians, or armed intervention from the outside, which is highly improbable, can save Austria from Hitler's thumb.

The plebiscite which observers expected to show 80 per cent of the Austrians in favor of the nazis has been postponed. It will continue to be postponed until the nazi leaders can establish in Austria those conditions which make German elections so farcical.

Germany and Austria belong together, as Hitler says, but it is extremely unfortunate that their union has been forced by a form of international banditry. They have no sharp, geographical dividing lines. They have a common culture and a common language. And yet, under the circumstances, such a union can only be a tragedy. It will give ruthless fascists greater self-assurance. It will subject a large part of the Austrian population to the persecutions which Germany has known since Hitler first seized power.

Treat Child's Cyclic Vomiting By Calming Nervous System

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

There is a peculiar condition that occurs not uncommonly in children of the class more often seen in private practice than in dispensary work. It is called "cyclic vomiting," and it has been said that to define the disease is to describe it.

The vomiting comes on in attacks, beginning at the age of about two, three or four years. The child begins to vomit in the morning and keeps it up when evening food is given. Thirst soon develops and the child cries for water, but all water taken by mouth is vomited.

The attack lasts for a day or two in most instances, but may go on for some time. There is rapid loss of weight and dehydration is extreme. The child's condition may become very alarming.

The attack ends as abruptly as it began. The child asks for food, takes it and retains it no matter what it is. The thirst is relieved by copious drinking, and recovery rapidly ensues, and health returns until the next attack, which may be in a month or six months or a year.

Migraine, like cyclic vomiting, comes in attacks, abruptly ushered in, may show predominantly digestive symptoms (they are often called by the victim bilious attacks) and leave abruptly. A number of children who had cyclic vomiting have developed migraines in adult life. (Also premature graying of the hair, an observed fact in migrainous people, without any explanation.)

In treatment, the migraine theory of cyclic vomiting yields practical results. The attempt to treat an attack by supplying water by vein or under the skin is fruitless. Administration of alkalis and glucose are both of little help.

But if the treatment is directed towards calming down the nervous system, as if it were in a state of explosion, the results are very different. A sedative, such as the bromides, will often abort an attack in a few hours. Bromides are very good medicines for any form of functional or nervous vomiting.

Washington World

By CHARLES F. STEWART WASHINGTON, D. C.—The U. S. government is said to be flirting with the idea of encouraging North American farm colonization in promising South American agricultural areas. It is suggested that, for one thing, no free land remains in this country, with the result that great numbers of folk who ought to be leading rural lives are being forced into our cities, creating unemployment. Secondly, the South American republics have, in spots, large German and Italian populations, making for Nazi and fascist sentiment. The theory is that North American settlements would counteract this tendency, democratizing our New World neighbors. And, in a general way, the argument is that such a movement would bind our two western hemispherical continents together, in the face of a mightily unpleasant trend almost everywhere else on earth. Now, not so many years ago, I ran a farm in Argentina, perhaps naturally the richest agricultural realm on this globe, acre for acre. Many newspapermen hope to get back to the land, and I got there. I stayed as long as my money lasted, which wasn't long, and then returned to newspapering. I am cured, as to the Argentine or anywhere. It is entirely a misconception that plenty of land is available in the vicinity of South America's important centers, where crops can be marketed. These belts are thickly settled. Tenancy is as prevalent within their limits as in the United States. Their soil is worn pretty thin, and takes a lot of expensive fertilizing. An Iowa tenant would be a sucker to migrate, say, to Santa Fe province, Argentina—and he could do it only as a tenant. "We Are Too Soft!" The truth is, we civilized folk cannot survive a sure-enough state of nature. We are too soft. We have to have telephones, sanitary plumbing, et cetera. South America can be chewed at only by degrees. The edge of it may seem edible. The continental interior is not necessarily so digestible.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In the uncertain shadows behind the footlights are often brief moments of drama so sharply drawn that one remembers them long after the plays themselves are forgotten. These are the bright, vivid vignettes of the theater, and while they may be no more than fleeting scenes between minor characters or tricks of staging by the authors and directors, they stay at you like flashes of summer lightning and impress you so that you never forget.

The first one that really got hold of me this season was the death scene in "Murder in the Cathedral." Three characters come on the stage and murder a high dignity of the church. Suddenly, for the first time, they become aware of the audience's presence. They are momentarily nonplussed. Finally one turns to the audience: "Do not judge us too hastily," he pleads. "There are just reasons for this deed. We realize you may have different ideas, and that appearances are against us. But there are two sides to every question. At least hear our side, and be patient while we explain why this man had to die."

"Casey Jones" I am quoting freely in an effort to convey something of the profound awe that gripped the audience when these men suddenly stepped out of character and attempted to make the audience an accessory to the crime. The buzz of a fly would have sounded like the drone of an airplane motor. It was trick theater, pure and simple, but it was effective, and you remember it.

Another moment not likely to be forgotten was the locomotive scene in "Casey Jones." To achieve realistic sound effects the producers went out on the New York Central lines and recorded hissing steam valves, screeching boilers, whistles, and all the accumulated noises of a great railroad locomotive. Then the designers constructed a locomotive on the stage, authentic in every detail. . . . There is the slow gathering of speed. . . . There is fire and smoke and steam. . . . The cab begins to sway, and the countryside races past at breakneck speed. . . . It is certainly the most realistic "stunt" on Broadway.

UNION STAFF

Sigma Delta Chi will meet Saturday noon at the S. P. C. S. hall. Carl Menzer, director of station WSUI will be speaker. ARTHUR SNIDER, President. Law Scholarships: The college of law is prepared to award a number of scholarships to qualifying students from the college of liberal arts and the college of commerce for the academic year 1938-39. Application for a scholarship should be both in writing and in person. The applicant should seek an interview with each member of the law scholarship committee: Prof. George P. Roberson of the political science department, Prof. C. Woody Thompson of the college of commerce, and Prof. H. J. Thornton of the history department. Written applications should be addressed to the chairman of the committee. All applications, together with supporting recommendations, should be in the committee's hands by April 12. PROF. H. J. THORNTON, Chairman. Recreation Archery: Recreation archery will be held in the mirror room of the women's gymnasium from 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock, Saturday, March 12. Beginners as well as experienced archers are cordially invited. KATHERINE PESEK.

Washing World

By CHARLES F. STEWART WASHINGTON, D. C.—The U. S. government is said to be flirting with the idea of encouraging North American farm colonization in promising South American agricultural areas. It is suggested that, for one thing, no free land remains in this country, with the result that great numbers of folk who ought to be leading rural lives are being forced into our cities, creating unemployment. Secondly, the South American republics have, in spots, large German and Italian populations, making for Nazi and fascist sentiment. The theory is that North American settlements would counteract this tendency, democratizing our New World neighbors. And, in a general way, the argument is that such a movement would bind our two western hemispherical continents together, in the face of a mightily unpleasant trend almost everywhere else on earth. Now, not so many years ago, I ran a farm in Argentina, perhaps naturally the richest agricultural realm on this globe, acre for acre. Many newspapermen hope to get back to the land, and I got there. I stayed as long as my money lasted, which wasn't long, and then returned to newspapering. I am cured, as to the Argentine or anywhere. It is entirely a misconception that plenty of land is available in the vicinity of South America's important centers, where crops can be marketed. These belts are thickly settled. Tenancy is as prevalent within their limits as in the United States. Their soil is worn pretty thin, and takes a lot of expensive fertilizing. An Iowa tenant would be a sucker to migrate, say, to Santa Fe province, Argentina—and he could do it only as a tenant. "We Are Too Soft!" The truth is, we civilized folk cannot survive a sure-enough state of nature. We are too soft. We have to have telephones, sanitary plumbing, et cetera. South America can be chewed at only by degrees. The edge of it may seem edible. The continental interior is not necessarily so digestible.

Six Trackmen Qualify; Mermen Get Seven

Lamb Registers Best Time In Hurdles Event

Tenfels, Wiggins, Lyle Come Through In Preliminaries

CHICAGO, March 11 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Exhibiting the most impressive display of the trials, Iowa's track team earned six qualifying places in the preliminary heats of the Big Ten indoor track meet here tonight to lead the pack of Western conference competitors.

Qualifying men for the Hawkeyes included: Ed Wiggins and Fred Teufel in the 60-yard dash, Carl Teufel in the quarter-mile, Co-captain Jimmy Lyle in the half-mile, and Co-captain Bush Lamb and John Collinge in the hurdles.

BUSH LAMB

his heat in the hurdle trials in 38.7. Both Michigan and Indiana failed to qualify a man in the 60-yard dash. The Iowa trackmen placed at least one man in each of the four events in which the preliminaries were held.

The Hoosiers lived up to expectations by packing most of their early punch into the middle-distance events, placing two men in the quarter-mile, and three performers in the half-mile. Illinois, Purdue and Wisconsin accounted for four places each, while Northwestern and Ohio State each took three, and Chicago and Minnesota two apiece.

The qualifiers: 60-yard dash — Davenport, (Chicago); Wiggins, (Iowa); Smith (Wisconsin); Verran (Minnesota); Lemen (Purdue); Wedding (Illinois); Lehmann (Illinois); F. Teufel (Iowa); Lewis (Ohio State); Delaney (Northwestern); DeLong (Purdue); Kaufman (Wisconsin). Best time, 6.4 seconds by Davenport and Lehmann.

440-yard run — Elliott (Indiana); Hayes (Michigan); Miller (Indiana); Sulzman (Ohio State); Howells (Ohio State); C. Teufel, (Iowa). Best time, 50.3 seconds by Howells.

70-yard high hurdles — Smith (Wisconsin); Collinge (Iowa); Lamb (Iowa); Kobak (Chicago); Gedeon (Michigan); Brunton (Illinois); Kelly (Michigan); Robinson (Illinois). Best time, 8.7 seconds by Lamb and Gedeon.

Marion Miley Wins Florida Golf Meet

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 11 (AP)—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball and an ardent golfer, presented the Belleair women's open golf championship trophy to Marion Miley today shortly after the former Lexington, Ky., girl defeated Patty Berg of Minneapolis 2 and 1 in their final match.

For the fourth time this week, Miss Miley was under women's par. Today she scored 74, six strokes better than women's par and only three over men's on the difficult No. 1 course. She constantly outdrove Patty from 15 to 25 yards.

DIMAGGIO Comments PRESNO, Cal. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio observed yesterday: "I suppose it will wind up with the ball player signing the contract, as he usually does."

Gym Squad To Defend Crown At Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 12—(Special to The Daily Iowan)—The University of Iowa gymnasts arrived here last night to take part in the conference to be held in the Gopher gym today.

The Hawkeyes are given little chance to retain their Big Ten championship although several of the performers may be able to bring back individual placings for Iowa.

The battle for team supremacy will probably take place between the golden Gophers of Minnesota and the highly talented tumbler of Illinois. Both teams are well supplied with superior veterans and man for man are quite evenly matched.

Although the Iowans will not figure in this year's meet, Coach Baumgartner believes his squad will have gained enough experience this year to cause their rivals plenty of worry next season.

Smith Still In Grappling Meet

155-Pounder Is Solitary Iowa Wrestler In Semifinals

EVANSTON, Ill., March 11 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—George Smith, lone senior on the Iowa wrestling squad, remained as the lone Hawkeye in the Big 10 wrestling meet which started here this afternoon in Northwestern's Patten gym.

Smith, wrestling in the 155 pound class, won two matches, one this afternoon and one this evening to stay in the running. In the first bout he won a decision over Lynch of Illinois and later came back strong in his second encounter to throw Ferguson of Northwestern in five minutes and 29 seconds.

Of the other three performers entered from the Hawkeye crew only Clarence Kemp and Carl Vergamini wrestled. Kemp, sophomore 165 pounder, lost his opening bout with Weiss of Northwestern while Vergamini, junior veteran, was decided by Traicoff of Indiana in his initial struggle.

Illinois and Indiana were tied for the lead at the end of the day's matches. Illinois is the defending champion.

126-pound class — Saporra (Illinois) pinned Berkheiser (Purdue). Time, 8:05. Duffy (Indiana) defeated Cameron (Mich.).

135-pound class — Thomas (Mich.) defeated Malton (Minnesota); Deutschman (Illinois) defeated G. Finwall (Chicago); Newbury (Wis.) defeated De Caprio (Northwestern).

145-pound class — R. Finwall (Chicago) pinned Werner (Illinois). Time, 6:54. Nichols (Mich.) pinned Peterson (Northwestern). Time, 4:00. Leterman (Wis.) defeated Weiss (Ind.).

Budolfson And Mates Register Easy Triumph

Ida Grove Stages Great Second Half Drive To Win, 31-27

DES MOINES, Ia., March 11 (AP)—Ames, Rolfe and Ida Grove, three class A teams, and Diagonal's little band of class B battlers remained in the running for the Iowa high school basketball championship tonight after the smoke had cleared from the second round firing.

Rolfe and Ida Grove joined Ames and Diagonal in the select quartet with victories over Ute and Mitchellville, respectively, tonight. The other semi-finalists moved ahead with triumphs this afternoon, Ames routing Burlington and Diagonal eliminating the favored Franklin team of Cedar Rapids.

Ida Grove tonight turned in the most remarkable comeback of the tournament. The lanky northwestern Iowa team, behind 6 to 21 at the half, swung into a torrid scoring streak which caught the previously undefeated Mitchellville team in the fourth quarter. Ida Grove won out in the closing minutes, 31 to 27.

Kuhl Stars

Milton Kuhl, Ida Grove's rangy center, was the key man in the victory. He poured in five field goals, one of which came in the exciting finish fight for the lead.

Rolfe's speedboys had no trouble eliminating Ute, 36 to 16 as Al Rudolfson and his mates took turns in piling up the score. Rolfe will play Ida Grove in the second semi-final game tomorrow.

Diagonal earned a shot at Ames with its 36 to 24 victory over Franklin. The Cedar Rapids school led, 16 to 15, at the half, but Marsh Davenport led a second half Diagonal drive which bewildered Franklin.

Ames Looks Good

Ames, probably the smoothest working team in the tournament, had too much class for Burlington and the central Iowa conference champions won, 30 to 19.

Less than 6,000 persons saw tonight's games compared with the capacity 7,500 last night. Apparently would-be spectators heeded the advice of authorities to stay at home unless they had tournament tickets.

Maxie Decisions Farr Along Comeback Trail

Baer Annexes Eleven Rounds

Former Champion Gives Game Welshman Bad Drubbing

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Max Baer, former heavyweight champion, took long strides along the fistie comeback trail tonight by giving Tommy Farr, British titleholder, a thorough drubbing in a sizzling 15-round bout before a near-capacity crowd in Madison Square Garden.

Baer weighed 212 and Farr 208 1-2. Only the Welshman's gameness and a jaw that must have been made of cast iron enabled him to go the distance.

The former California playboy, down to serious business for the first time since his days on the throne, had the man who stayed 15 rounds with Joe Louis on the floor three times.

Baer won 11 rounds on the Associated Press scorecard. Farr was given three and one was called even.

Already licked by Louis and James J. Braddock, another former champion, the defeat tonight virtually eliminates the Britisher from the championship picture and puts Baer in a commanding position to demand first shot at the winner of next June's battle between Louis and Max Schmeling, "the Slugging Schlager" from Germany.

Displaying most of his old time punching ability, Baer sent Tommy to the deck for a count of one with a stinging left to the jaw in the second round, then just to show he is a versatile mauler revealed in the third, with a right to the jaw. This time Farr took a six count. The third knockdown came in the 14th from a short right to the jaw.

The former champion started out like wildfire, tired somewhat during the middle stages but rallied gamely to capture the last three rounds after a four-round spurt by the Welshman had the crowd of 18,222 customers, who paid $74,409.22 to see the bruising battle, on their feet.

Farr won only one of the first eight rounds, and this was taken away from him by Referee Arthur Donovan because of a low punch. This was the fourth, when Tommy made his best showing of the evening. Baer was beginning to pay the penalty for the sizzling pace he set at the start and Farr, who was in superb condition, banged him about no little.

More than once it appeared the Californian would knock Tommy out. Not many heavies could have stood up under Baer's terrific punches in the earlier and closing rounds of the fight.

Wetstone Linked With Gym Coaching Job at Penn State

Rumors from a reliable source last night linked Eugene Wetstone, one of the greatest gymnastic stars in Hawkeye history, with the head gymnastic coaching job at Penn state college in the east. Since his graduation last spring, Wetstone has been working on his master's degree in physical education besides helping with the coaching of Iowa's inexperienced gym troupe.

When questioned as to the authenticity of the rumor last night, Wetstone, who has been known to have turned down several coaching bids from small colleges remarked, "Although I have not signed any contract with Penn state no one would be likely to turn down an offer from such a wonderful school for athletics."

Wetstone, who was Big Ten all-around champ last year, is well-known in the east, having competed on prep, Y. M. C. A. and A. A. U. teams of national importance in New Jersey.

Regardless of any rumors, Wetstone said that he and his wife, who is in Des Moines now, would leave for Waukegan, Ill., the first part of June where Wetstone has been director of athletics for the last two summers at Lake Villa, a boys camp.

Warrensburg Five In Finals of Tourney

KANSAS CITY, March 11 (AP)—Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers, the only early favorite remaining, marched into the finals of the national intercollegiate basketball tournament tonight by defeating Washburn college of Topeka, Kan., 44 to 23.

The rugged, slam-bang style of the Kansans held the taller Warrensburg quintet in check during the first half.

Fancy diving qualifiers

Ohio State's powerful mermen, determined to win the first conference swimming title in Buckeye history, led a parade of brilliant performers here tonight in the annual Big Ten meet. The unbeaten Buckeyes placed 14 men in tomorrow's final events.

Michigan, the defending champion was close behind with 13 men qualified. Iowa was third with seven men placed and Northwestern followed with five.

Besides individual performers all four leaders qualified in the 300 yard medley relay. One record went by the boards in tonight's preliminaries as Captain Edward Kirar of the Wolverines clipped one tenth of a second from the 50 yard free style mark by covering the distance in 34.3.

Three Hawks in Backstroke Iowa's entries in tomorrow's finals, besides the 300 yard medley and 440 yard free style were Christen, diving; Capt. Bob Christians, 220 yard free style and 440 yard free style; Francis Heydt, Al Armbruster and Tony Bremer, 150 yard backstroke; Bob Allen, 200 yard breast stroke.

For the Hawkeyes it was a tragic story of "just missed." In the 440 yard free style Bob Reed and Bill Tesla just missed placing in the finals by the barest of margins. Reed also was nosed out in the 100 yard free style.

Ed Ryan swam a beautiful race in the back stroke event, only to miss placing by less than a second. John Stark was eighth in the diving group, less than two points behind the last eligible man.

The meet, held in the spacious new Trier township high school natatorium, saw brilliant performances turned in by Ohio State's colorful divers, Patterson and Patnik and Haynie, durable Michigan spurt star.

Fancy diving qualifiers—Patnick, Ohio State, 132.70; Patterson, Ohio State, 123.28; Christen, Iowa, 122.74; Perstenheld Michigan, 119.20; Wolin, Michigan, 117.64; Staley, Michigan, 115.40; North, Northwestern, 114.2.

Medley relay qualifiers—Ohio State (Neunzig, McKee, Quayle), Michigan, Northwestern, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin. Best time, Ohio State, 3 minutes, 6 seconds.

220-yard free style qualifiers—Haynie, Michigan; Johnson, Ohio State; Zehr, Northwestern; Christians, Iowa; Lowe Illinois; Brandt, Ohio State. Best time, Haynie, 2 minutes, 19.5 seconds.

50-yard dash qualifiers—Kirar, Michigan; Sabol, Ohio State; Farnsworth, Michigan; Tomski, Michigan; McCollum, Chicago; Wolfson, Northwestern. Best time, Kirar, 23.3 seconds. (New Big Ten record. Old record, 23.4 seconds, Flackman, Illinois, 1935).

100-yard free style qualifiers—Kirar, Michigan; Quayle, Ohio State; Tomski, Michigan; Sabol, Ohio State; Wolfson, Northwestern; Howell, Ohio State. Best time, Kirar, 53.7 seconds.

150-yard backstroke qualifiers—Neunzig, Ohio State; Heydt, Iowa; Brandt, Minnesota; Rieke, Michigan; Armbruster, Iowa; Bremer, Iowa; Best time, Neunzig, 1 minute, 39.4 seconds.

200-yard breast stroke qualifiers—McKee, Ohio State; Higgins, Ohio State; Allen, Iowa; Haigh, Michigan; Gustafson, Ohio State; McKee, Michigan. Best time, McKee, 2 minutes, 30.7 seconds.

440-yard free style qualifiers—Haynie, Michigan; Zehr, Northwestern; Brandt, Ohio State; Lowe, Illinois; Christians, Iowa; Howard, Ohio State. Best time, Haynie, 4 minutes, 55.8 seconds.

Music Department to Honor Professor Clapp With Oratorio

To Give Work Composed By Iowa Alumnus

'Judas Iscariot' Deals With the Betrayal Of Christ

A dramatic oratorio, "Judas Iscariot," written by an alumnus of the university and dedicated to Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will be presented April 6 at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union under the auspices of the music department, it was announced yesterday.

The oratorio, composed by Dr. Arthur A. Berdahl of Fresno, Cal., deals with the betrayal of Christ by Judas. It opens with Christ's prophecy that one of His disciples will betray Him and therefore it depicts a number of scenes in the lives of Christ and Judas.

Musical Accompaniment
The university chorus and symphony orchestra will take part in the production. The chorus will alternate between the part of commentator and crowds.

The story will include the scene of Mary Magdalene's anointing the feet of the Saviour and Christ's agony in the garden of Gethsemane. It ends with Judas realizing too late his evil actions and viciousness which cause him to hang himself.

Study of Judas
The entire performance is a study in the psychology of the character of Judas and has been drawn from the conception created in the Passion Play at Oberammergau. That is—that Judas is inherently a weak person drawn into his crime by the spirit and aid of the mass rather than being a real villain.

The text for the oratorio was drawn from the scripture by the Rev. David A. Johnson. The principal players include the part of the Saviour to be portrayed by Prof. Herald I. Stark of the music department, tenor; and Judas Iscariot, by Hugh Cockshott, A4 of Wilton Junction, baritone. Mrs. Annis Stark, soprano, and Margaret Brandt, G of Hastings, Neb., alto, will sing the incidental solo passages. Professor Clapp will direct the performance and Prof. Addison Alspach, also of the music department, will have charge of the chorus.

Taught at S.U.I.
Berdahl, the composer, was graduated from Augustana college at Sioux Falls, S. D. He came to the university in 1927 as a graduate student in composition and in 1931 received an M.A. degree. While studying for a Ph.D. degree he served as graduate instructor in the department.

Before receiving the degree, he went to the State Teachers college at Fresno, Cal., where he was in charge of the orchestra and the band and taught theory instruction. He received a Ph.D. degree in 1936 and served as instructor of the summer session music staff and conductor of the orchestra. In 1936 he returned to Fresno and organized a Teachers college group for the Fresno chamber of commerce as a nucleus for a civic orchestra. He did the studying towards his degrees under Professor Clapp.

Engineers Will Hold Field Day During Mecca

An all-engineer field day as a part of the Mecca activities will be held in the field house next Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m. and continuing until 4 p.m.

Tournaments in basketball, volleyball and touchball will be held with various departments in the college of engineering contesting. The students will also participate in a tug-of-war. A tennis tournament has been arranged for the members of the engineering faculty.

Individual contests will be given in horse-shoe pitching and hand ball and there will be swimming at any time during the day in the men's pool in the field house.

One of the events of the day will be the kittenball game in which members of the college of engineering will play the students of the various departments of engineering.

The committee in charge of athletics includes Harold Gibbons, E2 of Burlington, chairman; Merlin Armbruster, E1 of Iowa City; Arnold Christen, E4 of Hammond, Ind.; and Henry Hardaway, E2 of Shepherdsville, Ky.

One-room museums with displays, maps and pictures portraying Montana's history will dot its highways this summer.

Malamud Will Speak Tuesday At Club Meeting

Dr. William Malamud of psychopathic hospital will speak on "The Present Status of Treatment of Schizophrenia" at a Philosophical club meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Prof. Beth Wellman, 508 N. Dubuque street. He will also discuss recent experiments in the use of insulin treatment.

Helene Margaret, G of Omaha, Neb., will present a special program of her own poetry.

T. Z. Koo Will Talk at Vesper Service Here

Lecturer for Sunday Night Will Discuss View of Life

T. Z. Koo of China will speak on "A Christian Looks at Life" for a university vesper service March 20 in the main lounge of Iowa Union at 8 p.m.

Acclaimed as one of the most interesting and capable Orientals to visit America, Mr. Koo is a leader in church, education and state affairs. He has spoken on "The Undeclared War in the Orient," "The Christian in International Relations" and "Basic Elements in a Personality" in university centers, conferences and assemblies.

A graduate of St. John's university, Shanghai, he was for nine years an official in the administrative department of the Chinese railway service. He joined the staff of the national committee of the Young Men's Christian association of China with special responsibilities for colleges and universities.

In recent years Mr. Koo, as secretary of the World's Student Christian federation, has been in contact with university, civic and church leaders of Asia and Australia, New Zealand, Europe, Canada and the United States. In 1937 he came from New Zealand to address and participate in the world conference in Oxford, England.

Tickets for the vesper address will be available to students and faculty at the main desk of Iowa Union next Thursday and Friday.

Dean Wiley Rutledge, Prof. Mason Ladd Talk at Bar Meeting

Dean Wiley B. Rutledge and Prof. Mason Ladd, both of the college of law, were guest speakers at a legal institute for the fifth judicial district bar association in Adel yesterday. This was the second of a series of legal clinics held as a part of the state bar association program of group consideration of current legal problems.

Professor Ladd talked on "New Developments in the Law of Evidence" and afterwards conducted a round table discussion. After the dinner Dean Rutledge addressed the group on the subject of "Unauthorized Practice of the Law."

An exhibit of handcraft works will be shown from March 24 until March 26, and a collection of photographs will be featured until March 31.

Two separate exhibits of both ancient and foreign pipes will be on display until April 4.

Ruth Walker, A4 of DeWitt, a member of Union Board, is chairman of the show.

Iowa Doctors To Meet Here

Series of Eight Weekly Symposiums Starts Next Tuesday

Approximately one hundred Iowa doctors have registered for the postgraduate course offered by the college of medicine, Dr. W. M. Fowler, secretary of the Johnson county medical society, announced yesterday. The opening session will be Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the medical amphitheater of University hospital.

A symposium on malignancies will be the program for the first session of the course, with Dr. H. D. Kerr of the college of medicine as acting chairman.

Faculty members of the college of medicine taking part in the symposium are Dr. W. M. Fowler, Dr. Frank Peterson, Dr. E. D. Plass, Dr. N. G. Aicock, Dr. D. M. Lierie, Dr. O. R. Hyndman, Dr. K. Nomland and Dr. H. D. Kerr.

The complete course will consist of a series of symposiums on various subjects to be given each Tuesday for eight weeks. Any practicing physician in the state of Iowa is eligible to register.

In former years the present course was conducted by sending out faculty members of the college of medicine to speak in towns throughout the state.

Conference To Meet April 8

Dr. L. Gilbreth to Give Principal Speech On Program

Motion pictures and actual exhibits will be features at the management conference in Iowa City April 8. The conference, devoted to the consideration of methods of wage payment and motion and time study, is for plant managers, supervisors, foremen, industrial engineers and all those interested in better management in industry.

The college of engineering, the tri-cities section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Iowa Manufacturers Association and the Society for the Advancement of Management are sponsoring the conference.

Dean Dawson to Speak
Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering will give the welcome address, and throughout the day many speakers will speak on problems confronting managers and industrial engineers in the middle west.

General topics to be discussed are "The Payment of Wages," "Motion and Time Study," and "Skills and Satisfaction." The conference will close with an informal dinner in the Triangle club ballroom of the Iowa Union. President Eugene A. Gilmore will give an address at the dinner meeting and Prof. H. O. Croft will act as toastmaster.

Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the college of engineering will speak on "Research to Make Work Easier."
Dr. Lillian Gilbreth and Allan Mogenson, both internationally known in the field of motion and time study, will be the principal speakers at the conference. Dr. Gilbreth's lecture will be open to the public.

—Daily Iowan Engraving
Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the college of engineering has been elected vice-president in charge of industrial engineering of the Society for the Advancement of Management. In this capacity Professor Barnes will assist the editor, Orday Tead, in publishing the A. S. M. Journal, the official publication of the society.

Hillcrest Nears Completion

Fall Reservations Now Being Accepted For New Men's Dormitory

When the University of Iowa begins its next academic year in September, a new dormitory for men—Hillcrest, located just northeast of the Quadrangle overlooking the Iowa river, will be ready for occupancy.

All men now enrolled in the university may now make room reservations in the new and modern $325,000 structure, W. H. Cobb, university business manager, announced yesterday. Reservations should be made with Robert E. Rienow, dean of men, any time before May 15.

Double rooms will rent for $100 and $115 yearly, while single rooms will be $150, according to the rates announced yesterday by Mr. Cobb. Table board will be $6 a week, and meal books will be sold for $4.50 with a 10 per cent discount.

All the experience in university dormitory service is going into the creation of Hillcrest. Comfortable, attractive men's furniture will be put in every room, and special consideration is being given to the problems of adequate desk space, proper lighting, ventilation, sound-proofing and sanitation.

The lounge will be paneled in oak, with a large fireplace built into one wall. The walls will be lined with book shelves, which will include the best-sellers of the day, biographies and current magazines.

Among other conveniences will be complete service accommodations—laundry, cleaning and a sub post office.

Two plans of dining service will be offered—table board and a la carte orders. The lunch counter and soda fountain will be open all day until late evening.

Following the university's general policy, self-government will be the rule, with only a limited amount of faculty supervision. Extensive programs of recreation, athletics and social activities will be arranged by the residents.

Judges to Announce Awards In High School Festival Today

Five-Day Play Contest, Largest in History, Nears Finish

Closing five days of dramatic presentations the annual Iowa high school play production festival will be climaxed today with the announcement of awards in the three classes. Results in class A schools will be announced tonight, class B awards this afternoon, and class C awards this morning, all in the dramatic arts building at the conclusion of class competition.

Judges for the festival, the largest in Iowa's history, are Dr. Lowell Lees, director of the university theater of the University of Minnesota, class A; Prof. Earl Siegfried, head of the drama department at Washburn college, Topeka, Kan., class B; and Marcus Bach of the dramatic arts department of the University of Iowa, class C.

The class A plays will be given this morning beginning at 9:15. Class B productions will take place this afternoon starting at 2 o'clock, and at 7:30 this evening the final class A session will end the festival.

J. Van der Zee Sets Date For Rhodes Entries

Four From District Will Win Scholarships To Oxford

Applications for 1938 Rhodes scholarships to the University of Oxford, must be submitted to Prof. J. Van der Zee, secretary of the state committee, not later than Nov. 5, 1938. Four of the 32 appointments assigned to the United States will be selected from this district.

Each appointment will be made for two years with a possible third year for those whose record at Oxford and plan of study make such an award advisable.

A candidate to be eligible must be a male citizen of the United States and unmarried, be between the ages of 19 and 25 on Oct. 1, 1939, and have completed at least his sophomore year by the time of application.

The competition was established according to the will of Cecil John Rhodes. Selections will be made by state committees Dec. 13 and 15, and by district committees Dec. 17, 1938.

Scholars elected in this competition will enter the University of Oxford in October, 1939.

Violin Popular, Muenzer Says

"The violin, the queen of all musical instruments, is the most popular instrument of our time," Prof. Hans Muenzer of the music department said last night in a Baconian lecture on "The Violin."

"The choice and quality of the wood and varnish are the most important factors which are influential in producing a fine quality of tone," Professor Muenzer said. Great care is shown in the choice of wood and in the drying process which usually consists of the exposure of the wood to the sun and air for at least six years.

"Every line of the violin's graceful body, the measurements of all parts, the form and design of the bridge, the position and size of the sound holes, are not the whim of an artist just to please the eye, but the results of careful experimenting by a great genius and his predecessors," the university musician said.

The greatest of the violin makers was Antonio Stradivarius, an Italian who brought the violin to perfection. The importance of position of sound holes or "f" holes, position and thickness of bridge, and the care and precision in measurements and construction of the various parts of the violin were stressed by Professor Muenzer.

A comparison was made with the aid of slides between the violins of such great violin makers as G. P. Maggini, Guarneri del Gesu, Jacob Stainer, Nicola Amati and Stradivarius.

The history of the violin is essentially that of the stringed instruments in general. The first lyre was constructed from the shells of turtles. The influencing factors of the stringed instruments and the later development of the violin from the first lyre in Egypt and Greece up to the violin of modern times were traced by Professor Muenzer—the gradual changing of the shape of the instrument, the variety of number of strings and the first appearance of the bow in India.

Methodist Church To Serve Supper For Members Tuesday

A cafeteria supper will be served Tuesday at 5:45 p.m. in the Methodist church social rooms for the benefit of those who wish to attend the Lenten service at the church Tuesday evening. There will be a social hour after supper and before the service. Mrs. Clare McFarland is chairman.

A Tradition in the Family

Concerning her interest in the Women's Relief corps of which she is president, Mrs. W. P. Mueller Jr., pictured above in her home at 421 Oakland avenue, explained that membership in the organization is a tradition in her family dating back to the Civil war days. "My grandfather," she said, "is a Civil war veteran and I was brought up with the idea of some time belonging to the Women's Relief corps." Besides carrying the responsibilities of the presidency of the Iowa City chapter, Mrs. Mueller is state chairman of child welfare for the corps. During her five years of membership she has been senior vice-president and patriotic administrator for the club. Perhaps her main interest outside of her home and the corps is dramatic art, Mrs. Mueller said. She is a graduate of the University of Iowa where she majored in dramatic art. She is active in the dramatic department of the Iowa City Woman's club and coaches other dramatists on the side. She has been of assistance especially in directing plays given by church groups and recently coached a group of St. Wenceslaus players. Besides these many activities Mrs. Mueller found time recently to knit three dresses.

- (1) Budget.
- (2) Read the advertisements.

Keep a strict, accurate account of every dollar. You spend so much for food, for rent, for clothes, for amusement. Write it down. And stick to the budget!

The second idea is a favorite plan of thrifty buyers. Each day, go over the advertisements in this newspaper carefully. Find out in advance what things will best serve your needs, where you can buy them, what you must pay. The advertisements give you that news regularly!

Life is too short to worry any more than you can help about financial problems. Get the budget-advertising habit now!

Spring Turns Young Man's Fancy To Love But Young Women Think of Hats

No telling how long this balmy spring weather will last, but while it does, it's turning young men's fancy to thoughts of young women and young women's thoughts to thoughts of new spring hats. This year hats seem to have been designed by understanding souls who realize that tricky headgear can do much for a woman's outlook on life, because all of them are entertaining, not to say amusing. For a change, the authorities are letting us go definitely feminine—even aggressively so—although here and there we still see a tailored classic. Veils, veils, veils is the watchword everywhere! The newest wrinkle on the veil question is to have yours besprinkled with multicolored pastel dots or with pastel dots of only one tone. The bonnet is very good this year. It makes one look charmingly young and innocent and yet has a veil to add a contradictory

James Aldous, Fred Stevens Receive Jewels

Jewels were presented to James Aldous and Attorney Fred L. Stevens in recognition of their 25 years of membership in Corinth Lodge No. 24 at a dinner of the Knights of Pythias Thursday in the K. Education of Drivers Needed

Highway Improvement Solves Traffic Problems Declares Sheriff

"The real solution to the traffic problem lies in the improvement of the highways and in the education of drivers," Sheriff Don McComas asserted last night, when he appeared as the fifth speaker on the American Legion highway safety broadcast over WSUI.

"Drivers should watch warning signs and crossings as carefully as locomotive engineers do," he said in response to a question asked by H. I. Jennings, local safety chairman, who interviewed the speaker.

"Do you think a large number of accidents are caused by a small percentage of violators?" Jennings asked.

"As a rule, one accident will cause a driver to be more careful," the sheriff replied, "although there are repeaters."

Must Report Accidents
McComas discussed the law requiring citizens to report all accidents in which damage of more than $25 has been incurred. "Of the group involved in an accident," he said, "there is usually at least one person familiar with this law."

Many accidents occur on side roads, rather than on the public highway where there are narrow bridges and steep hills. "In most cases the drivers are responsible for such accidents," he said. "They don't expect to meet people and are less careful than on the main roads." Three or four persons have been killed in sideroad accidents in the past two years in Johnson county, the sheriff estimated.

The sheriff and his two deputies, even with the assistance of the state highway patrol, cannot adequately patrol 1,408 miles of public highways in the county," McComas pointed out. "We make an effort to investigate every serious accident which is reported to us," he stated, "and almost all such accidents are reported."

Education or Punishment?
"Do you think that stiffer punishment would be a good way to cut down the number of accidents?" Jennings asked. "No," was the sheriff's reply. "When all drivers have reached the stage when they understand the warning signals and obey them, highway accidents will be cut to a minimum," he asserted.

The program was under the direction of Don Davis, chief de gare of Forty and Eight, honor legion society which sponsors the broadcasts.

Judge James P. Gaffney will speak on the program next Friday, Davis announced.

J. Watkins Found Guilty of Contempt By Judge Gaffney

John Watkins was found guilty on four counts of contempt—four missed alimony payments—yesterday by Judge James P. Gaffney and sentenced to 120 days in the Johnson county jail. Judge Gaffney said the payment of $35 on the $80 back alimony before Friday will prevent Watkins from being jailed.

Mrs. Catherine Watkins, from whom Watkins was divorced March 23, 1937, filed the citation last week. Judge Gaffney ordered him to pay $15 a month to settle the back alimony.

Judgment Granted

A judgment of $19.80 on a six-year old promissory note was given Catherine Mullin yesterday by Judge James P. Gaffney against W. H. T. Wellons.

Receives Divorce On Cruelty Charge

Mrs. Theresa Wagner was granted a divorce yesterday from Glenn Wagner by Judge James P. Gaffney. Mrs. Wagner charged cruelty. She was given the right to use her maiden name, Theresa Fullerton.

Judge Fines Three Cedar Rapids Men

E. A. O'Neal, Edgar Stewart, and C. J. Dunn, all of Cedar Rapids, were each fined $25 by Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday for soliciting without a permit. The fines were suspended on the condition they leave town.

Rodney C. Stewart was fined $3 on a speeding charge. Braverman and Worton Auto Parts company paid $2 for street storage. Jesse Moon was fined $1 for parking with the left wheel to the curb.

U-High Play Plot Thickens

Four-Act Comedy Sees a Blackguard Brought to Justice

By CLARA BARATZ
The audience in University high school's auditorium last night applauded the playwriting of Prof. M. F. Carpenter, and the fine acting of his special English class in its full-length comedy, "Murder At Play Practice."

The four-act play, originated by Professor Carpenter and his students at rehearsal some time ago, was cast into literary form and presented with almost professional poise.

The plot deals with the poisoning of Septima Courtney, a high school actress, played by Dorothy Keppler. Miss Courtney brings the poisoning upon herself when she "swipes" a dose of brain-food pills from the desk of Miss Scrope, an instructor.

The brain-food, it turns out, has been replaced by poisonous narcotics, intended, of course, for the detestable Miss Scrope. Reva Wilson played the ungracious school-marm's part with relish.

Who, among all of Miss Scrope's enemies, could have been the killer of the innocent Septima? After a variety of crime motives, and suspects who act their over-suspicious parts very well, it is discovered that the smooth detective pretending to solve the crime, was the murderer, and with real intent to kill Septima, because he thought she knew of his questionable past.

Bruce Blackstone, as Charles LeClaire, portrayed the slick detective-criminal. Donald Spencer as Jim McBain, the harassed police chief, John Mattill as the twinkling-eyed minister, Paul Bordwell, as the Honorable Henry Bastrop, who also seems a bit of a villain, and Bill Boljer as Capt. Andrew, alias Sherlock Holmes, played their parts with force and poise.

Irene Waters, as one of the suspects and Elizabeth Spencer and Dorothy Pownall, as meddling schoolgirls, also played their roles well. An able supporting cast, and a stage crew headed by Darwin Cox added to the effectiveness of the production.

Iowa Basic R. O. T. C. Team Holds Two Point Lead

BOONVILLE, Mo., March 11 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—University of Iowa riflemen and the Iowa City high school girls' rifle team led their fields at the end of the first days competition in the ninth annual Little Camp Perry team event matches on

Last year Kenneth Smith, A1 of Iowa City, as captain of the Iowa City high school boys' rifle team, took first in the grand aggregate individual scoring out of a field of more than 900 entrants.

Kemper Military school's indoor range here today. Ruth Voelckers of Iowa City topped the girls' grand aggregate field with 196. Eugenia Andrews and Carol McEachron, both of University City, Mo., tied with 195.

The Iowa City girls' team scored 389, University City, 382, and Immaculate of Leavenworth, Kan., shot 372.

Kenneth Smith, Iowa freshman, was first in the college grand aggregate with 278. W. L. Kent of Kemper was runner-up with 277. L. L. Millen of Oklahoma A. and M., third with 276.

The Iowa basic R.O.T.C. team led by two points today, scoring 732, and leading squad No. 1 with 730, and Kemper squad No. 4 with 698.

The firing will continue tomorrow. Thirty-three high schools and colleges from eight states are represented in the shoot.

Board Will Let 2 Contracts For Building Monday

Two contracts for construction of a building to house men and women's rest rooms in city park, will be let Monday night at the office of the architect, H. L. Fisk, 120 1-2 E. Washington street, Dr. E. J. Anthony, chairman of the city park board said yesterday.

One contract will include construction, the other plumbing fixtures. The brick buildings will be 30 by 20 feet. Work is expected to be completed by May 31.

Shortly after his appointment as Austria's provisional chancellor last night, Seysz-Inquart announced he would "talk to the nation."

The means a speech in any language — and over there, the speeches run long. Hitler's was three hours, and his Austrian Charlie McCarthy's will be nearly as long as that.

It won't be as long, you see, because Hitler is still THE nazi — and it just wouldn't do for an underling to approach his record.

Need for Earmuffs
So, the world will look forward to Seysz-Inquart's declamation, and after that, there'll be long wordy declarations by (1) Neville Chamberlain, (2) Mussolini, (3) Stalin, (4) Chautemps, and (5) Roosevelt.

There'll be spine-tingling talk about "quarantining" rabid nations, but believe you me, there'll be no one desirous of nailing a quarantine sign on them.

Question of Values
Yesterday's best quip came from Nyle Jones Jr.: "What with the national debt being what it is, it's no compliment to tell a girl nowadays she looks like a million dollars."

Cloudy Crystal
I lunched with a Cedar Rapids salesman yesterday, and between mouthfuls he told me of his plans for the week end.

"I'll arrive in Des Moines tomorrow night," he gloated, "just in time to see Rolfe play Franklin for the championship."

I hope he enjoyed his supper.

Hope for America

Johnson County Must Pay Off $120,000 in Bonds During '38

Poor Fund Is $5,000; County and Primary Roads $115,000

Johnson county bonds totaling $120,000 must be paid off during 1938, according to figures contained in the report of the bond account. Poor fund bonds are $5,000, and county and primary road bonds are $115,000.

The total bonded debt of the county on December 31, 1937, was $909,731.39, compared with $979,989.61 a year ago. Payments during 1937 totaled $141,258.22. Bonds issued during 1937 were $71,000 for the poor fund, compared with $21,000 issued during 1936.

Bonds outstanding by funds are Bridge fund, $34,931.39; poor fund, $236,800; county road fund, $349,000; primary road fund, $289,000.

35% of Treasury For Roads in 1937
During 1937, $197,733.64, almost 35 per cent of the total warrants drawn on the Johnson county treasury, were for the maintenance of Johnson county and trunk highways, according to the annual financial statement being compiled by County Auditor Ed Sulek.

Road construction accounted for another $100,382.13. Total warrants drawn amounted to $572,115.77.

Many have taken advantage of the week of lowered prices and have replaced obsolete, inefficient, unreliable vehicles with reconditioned ones.

Elimination of unsafe cars and their replacement by good used ones will increase the general safety of the traffic movement immeasurably. The car that is beyond economical repair constitutes an extreme accident hazard every minute it is on the streets. Its brakes, lights, steering mechanism and general structural condition make it impossible for even a careful driver to operate it safely.

General industry is expected to be stabilized by aid of the National Used Car Exchange week. Since directly or indirectly the employment of more than five million persons depends upon the motor industry, and many were thrown out of work last fall, the removal of an excess used car stock from the market and the resultant selling of new stocks will mean re-employment this spring.

By the week of bargains in used cars throughout the nation, dealers and manufacturers are striving to return the automobile industry to a more normal field of employment and purchasing.

Remodeled Weather Station Near Finish

H. J. Monk Reports

Iowa City's weather station, remodeled by the city and United Air lines, is finished except for the painting, City Inspector H. J. Monk said yesterday.

The station to be used by the United States Weather bureau, has been moved to a new concrete foundation.

The cost of weather apparatus, furniture and maintenance of the station will be paid by the bureau.

Apparatus will be installed when F. B. Flocken, weatherman, arrives from Jacksonville, Fla.
