Nazis Reassure Czechoslovakia Of Friendliness

Reich Declares Union Of All Germans Not Complete

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, March 14 (AP) — Germany evidently is convinced that Sudeten (southern) Germans in Czechoslovakia can be taken under the wing of the Nazi eagle without intervention by Germany. Such confidence apparently explained tonight how the Reich would assure Czechoslovakia she had no hostile intentions and, at the same time, proclaim that the union of all Germans under Fuehrer Hitler still was incomplete. Madly joyous Berlin was drained of its luminaries, as the retinue following Hitler's triumphal homecoming to nazified Vienna grew. And with it grew the importance of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, left behind to play a unique role as Hitler's deputy Fuehrer.

In the absence of Joachim von Ribbentrop, Goering, Germany's No. 2 Nazi, even took over the functions of the foreign minister. He was wielding the chief executive power virtually alone.

This gave rise again to the general belief that Hitler will entrust Goering permanently with the active running of the government, even as chancellor or prime minister, while der Fuehrer himself plans a future "reich of all the Germans."

No sooner had the German minister to Praha reported yesterday that German military planes had flown over Czech territory than Goering summoned Dr. Vojtech Mastny, the Czech minister.

Goering assured Dr. Mastny the flights were all a mistake, that they would not happen again and the Czechoslovakia need fear nothing from Germany who has no hostile designs on her little eastern neighbor.

Yet, Germany declared the union of all Germans by no means was accomplished by the absorption of Austria. Nor, she says, has the problem of territorial expansion been solved either by way of colonies or Germany's dreamed-of march "drang nach Osten,"—onward to the east.

Broker Admits $105,000 Theft Before Court

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—Richard Whitney, 49, five times president of the New York stock exchange, pleaded guilty today to first degree grand larceny in the theft of $105,000 worth of securities from a trust fund in which his wife and her sister were the chief beneficiaries.

"I fully realize the gravity of what has been done, and the penalty must be paid," the noted Wall Street financier said, in a voice husky with emotion.

Reading from a prepared statement, Whitney recited a three-page list of speculations far exceeding the charges leveled against him in a grand jury indictment by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

"I make this statement," he said, "in accord with my purpose to do all in my power to right the wrongs which have been done."

Simultaneously, Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., announced he would seek a second indictment against Whitney tomorrow, accusing the head of the bankrupt Richard Whitney & Co., brokerage firm of misappropriating $109,384 worth of securities owned by the New York yacht club. Whitney was formerly treasurer of the club.

United States Fleet Begins 1938 Pacific Maneuvers In Secrecy

SAN PEDRO, Cal., March 14 (AP) — The United States fleet started its secret war games of 1938 today on a real war-time basis.

A grim patrol was established off the harbors of southern California and the fleet Commander-in-chief, Admiral C. C. Bloch, imposed censorship of silence upon all forces. Never before has the United States fleet operated on this basis in its annual maneuvers.

His spokesman had announced that the main battle units would

As 2,645 Voters Cast Their Ballots

The largest number of voters ever to cast ballots at a school board election in Iowa City, 2,645, filed into the city hall council chambers yesterday. Part of the line which came up to the stairway to the second floor, is shown above. Five registrars were added to the 10 election officials early in the day when it became apparent the crowd would be more than they could handle. Registrations were checked before voters were allowed to pass to the four enclosed voting booths. Approximately 1,000 voted before noon, and the remainder in the afternoon and early evening.

to reelect Dr. George Maresh and Verne R. Miller.

Dr. Maresh polled 1,448—more than 54 per cent—of the 2,645 votes cast. The board president defeated his nearest opponent, Dr. E. G. Gross, by 301 ballots. Miller won over David R. Thomas, 1,410 to 1,127, and the incumbents' total vote, 2,858, was 584 more than their opponents.

Dr. Gross and Thomas, backed by the central school site proponents, polled enough votes to win an ordinary school election, but Iowa Citizens living in the fourth and fifth wards—near the Morningside site—mustered strength at the polls to defeat them.

Dr. Maresh and Miller will be sworn in at the board's reorganization meeting Monday. Their three-year terms will start that day.

The city school board will proceed with plans for erecting the $725,000 high school on the Morningside site in East Iowa City. The huge general construction program will be let early in April.

The campaign was carried on quietly, but the size of the vote indicates its intensity. Until the results were announced last night, each side was in doubt as to the winner.

Opposition to the Morningside site crystallized after the Nov. 4, 1937, bond election in which a 52 per cent majority favored the purchase of a $90,000 central site.

The board selected the eastern site, because the measure lacked the 60 per cent approval necessary for validity. Since then, central (See ELECTION, page 7)

Austrian Jews Are Harassed

VIENNA, March 14 (AP)—Jews in Vienna felt the sharp sting of Nazi wrath today and heard the worst was yet to come.

Thousands fled the city on advice of leaders who felt the day's series of plunderings, beatings, arrests and dispossessions were only a forerunner of more drastic persecution.

The Leopoldstadt district—which amounts almost to a ghetto—was an area of fear.

Jews tried to hide themselves in their homes, but frequently heard the relentless tramp of Nazi storm troopers' boots on the stairs and the knocks of rifle butts on their doors.

That meant one of two things: arrest or a summons to open their stores to Nazis in need of shoes, clothing and food.

Jewish shopkeepers in "Judengasse," (Jews' Alley), in downtown Vienna, were roused from their beds and taken to their stores where armed youths wearing swastikas seized their stock.

Reports Indicate U. S. Will Look to Germany To Assume Austria's Obligations to America

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — The United States government will look to Germany to assume Austria's obligations to this country and to guarantee American rights in Austria, informed students of diplomatic affairs said today.

They predicted the state department would not announce this position, however, until it was notified officially that Germany had taken over Austria. Such notice may not be forthcoming

Chamberlain Calls All Britain To Back New Defense Plans

France Backs Czech Integrity

PARIS, March 14 (AP)—Socialist Premier Leon Blum's day-old government tonight stood ready to use force, if necessary, to maintain European order. Blum and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul - Boncour reassured Czechoslovakian Minister Stefan Osusky that France would take military action as promised under the Franco-Czech treaty if the Nazis attempted to extend their sway to Czechoslovakia. The fourth people's front ministry gave France a cabinet after four leaderless days amid one of the greatest European upheavals since the World war. But opposition developed in financial, political and diplomatic quarters. The franc sagged to a new low compared with the dollar and pound as a result of what financial quarters called Blum's "half-hearted" assurances there would be no exchange control and their fear that his government could not last. The franc was quoted at 32.50 to the dollar (3.07 cents) at the bourse closing. Political observers said most members of France's conservative senate were bitterly opposed to the cabinet. The regarded a national union government—of all parties—essential and believed only Edouard Daladier, minister of war and defense, or Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber of deputies, could form one.

Fails to Pledge Czechoslovakia Any Protection

Admits Deadly Blow To His Program For Peace

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
LONDON, March 14 (AP) — Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today pointed Britain's manpower toward full wartime footing to check Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's thrusts at central Europe. He bluntly rejected Germany's sharp contention Britain had "no right" to interest herself in Austrian independence but failed to give any pledge for safeguarding Czechoslovakia.

Speaking before a packed and tense house of commons, the angular prime minister, in a hoarse voice, demanded the support of the legislators and the country's 47,000,000 citizens for tremendous new defense steps which might include conscription.

That sounded like the first faint thunder of conscription. Semi-official spokesmen however hastened to say he did not mean military conscription was an imminent possibility.

Influential British conservatives for some time have been campaigning for a Nazi-like "compulsory national service" for all Britons, perhaps labor camp training.

Chamberlain, who only recently reaffirmed a pledge by Lord Baldwin, when he was Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, against conscription in peacetime, told the house: "We must consider the new situation clearly but with cool judgment and with confidence that we shall be supported in asking that no one, whatever his particular preconceived notions may be, shall regard himself as excluded from any extension of national efforts that may be called for."

Hushed but Seething
He confessed to the hushed but seething commons that Germany's absorption of Austria had struck a deadly blow at his newly-chosen policy of trying to satisfy the dictator states through peaceful negotiations.

Chamberlain spoke out almost at the same moment that Hitler rode into Vienna like a conquering Wagnerian hero. His statement, paralleled by one in the house of lords by Foreign (See CHAMBERLAIN, page 6)

Arrested? Reports Schuschnigg Under Guard

VIENNA, March 14 (AP)—The commandant of the state police said tonight former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg was under close arrest in his nearby Belvedere palace apartment.

Schuschnigg heretofore had been variously reported to have fled abroad, to have suffered a nervous breakdown in a Vienna hospital and to have been made a free man in Vienna.

President Wilhelm Miklas, Austria's other fallen official who held out against the Nazis and, was confined to his home. Although Miklas, who resigned yesterday on the demand of the new Nazi government, was not under arrest, he must hold himself at the disposition of the police.

The commandant said Schuschnigg's departure from Austria was not under consideration, but storm troopers and secret police still watched his every move. "Nazi leaders said the report Schuschnigg was abroad was circulated to protect him.

Victim's Wife Sees Kidnaper For First Time

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP)—Mrs. May Ross confronted John Henry Seadlund, the man who kidnaped her husband, Charles S. Ross, 72, for the first time today in a federal courtroom where a jury will decide whether Seadlund must die for the crime.

Quietly dramatic, the meeting produced no visible recognition between the two.

Seadlund stared intently at Mrs. Ross when, clad in black and in quavering voice, she testified as the first witness in the trial to determine, not the guilt or innocence of Seadlund, but whether the extreme penalty shall be imposed.

Seadlund had pleaded guilty to the $50,000 ransom kidnaping last Sept. 25, after which Ross was slain at the abductors' cave hideout near Spooner, Wis.

Mrs. Ross identified ransom letters sent to Harvey S. Brackett, Williams Bay, Wis., an old friend of the Ross family. She also identified four snapshots of Ross sent from a hideout near Emily, Minn., by the kidnapers.

Florence Freihage, 44, former secretary to Ross, a retired greeting card manufacturer, testified she and Ross went to Sycamore, Ill., for dinner the night of Sept. 25 and said their sedan was stopped in suburban Franklin park upon returning and Ross was kidnaped.

Hitler's Balcony Appearance In Vienna Stirs Enthusiastic Mob Into Acclaim of 'Pan-Germany'

Der Fuehrer to Talk To New Subjects This Morning

VIENNA, March 14 (AP) — Adolf Hitler returned to Vienna the master of all he surveyed.

No ancient despot could have exercised more control over a people than did Hitler when he stood on the balcony of the Imperial hotel and proclaimed of his new Pan-Germany:

"No force on earth can shake us!" His words were a challenge and a warning to the wide world which a fantastically enthusiastic crowd acclaimed with deafening roars.

Certainly no less than a million worshippers, probably more, shouted "Heil Hitler!" to the man who turned from this once proud capital as an obscure artist and came back in triumph.

Frenzied throngs jammed the broad Ringstrasse for six blocks, cheering with a zeal that amounted to religious fervor. Women wept because the great leader at last had arrived. Strange men embraced.

Standing on the balcony of his hotel, Hitler—one face in a sea of faces—seemed insignificant until a huge searchlight picked him out with a pencil of light in the dusk. Der Fuehrer, apparently, had not intended to speak until tomorrow at 11 a.m. Then he will address Vienna and the German world from the Heroes' square.

But for three hours the crowds demonstrated before his hotel, calling him back to his balcony again and again. Officers with Hitler said they never had seen such an unbounded release of joy. It surpassed even that of the early Nazi days in Berlin.

Finally he raised his hands for silence in answer to the clamor for his voice and a hundred thousand persons in the noisy street became silent.

F.R.'S INCOME TAX President Hasn't Filed Report Either

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — President Roosevelt was in the same fix as many other citizens tonight. He had waited until the eleventh hour to fill out his income tax blank.

Aides said this afternoon he would devote the whole evening to figuring out how much he owes Uncle Sam on his $75,000 salary, and whatever other income he has.

The deadline for filing is midnight tomorrow.

Admirers of Clarence Darrow Pass Before Unadorned Coffin

CLARENCE DARROW

Famed Lawyer Is Dead Following Long Illness

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP) — Hundreds of admirers of Clarence Darrow, who fought for and saved the lives of criminals because he hated capital punishment, today filed by his bier in a funeral establishment where his body lay in a coffin unadorned by flowers.

Tomorrow the body of the famed lawyer who died Sunday of a heart ailment, will be removed to Bond chapel on the campus of the University of Chicago. There it will lie in state from noon until 2 p.m. (CST) when memorial services will be held. The only speaker will be Federal Judge William H. Holly, Darrow's former law partner. Cremation in Oakwoods cemetery will follow.

Death which came after a long illness, apparently held no terror for the 80 year old Darrow, an agnostic, who spent much of his life fighting in the courts for those he considered "underdogs." Once he said:

"This world is all a big bug-house. I'll be glad to leave it."

Austrians Confused By New Nationality

VIENNA, March 14 (AP) — Many Austro-Germans without radios awoke today believing they still were Austrians.

There were early callers at Vienna milk stores and bakeries who thought that the talk about Anschluss (union) was just another of the many rumors of recent days.

Clarence Darrow Won His Reward

"IT'S ALL A big bughouse," Clarence Darrow once said of the world in which he lived. "I'll be glad to leave it."

He did, Sunday night—a month and five days before his 81st birthday. Proud to be known as the world's most famous and outspoken agnostic, this man was a philosophical pessimist and skeptic. But he also had tolerance and great tenderness of heart.

When he was a child he nursed back to health a hen which had been injured on the road, only to see it killed for the dinner table. He refused to eat it and never touched chicken meat again.

At the age of 37, Clarence Darrow gave up his job as general counsel for a great railroad to take up the defense of Eugene V. Debs who was leading the American Railway Union strike. The criminal conspiracy charge against Debs was dismissed when a juror's illness halted the trial, but the rest of the jury reported itself as 10 to one for acquittal.

"The decision to defend Debs," said Darrow, "led me away from the world of wealth to that of wretchedness and misery. For making it, I've had no regrets."

It brought him many renowned victories in the defense of his social views and theories. He fought capital punishment and won sentences of life imprisonment for Loeb and Leopold. He was a valiant supporter of freedom of thought and saved John T. Scopes from punishment for teaching evolution. He was a crusader in the cause of labor and gained many more victories after his successful defense of Debs—one almost causing his death when he pleaded with a physician at his side.

He fought all his life for the underdog and he generally won. Only seldom did he make any money, but he didn't care about that. "The greatest reward a man can receive," he would say, "is the approval of his conscience for following the law of his being."

War Clouds Over Czechoslovakia

MOST frightened of all the European nations yesterday as Hitler entered Vienna to further cement the Austro-German union was little Czechoslovakia, now threatened on three sides by Nazi militarism.

Today Czechoslovakia is the question mark of central Europe. Only her own somewhat feeble forces, indefinite Russian backing and reiterated assurances of French aid stand opposed to Hitler's steamroller.

That Hitler would like control over her there can be little doubt. Ever since he came to power his actions and speeches have pointed toward an ideal of a nazified central Europe—something which he can not attain without the subjugation of Czechoslovakia.

In many respects the situation is similar to that which existed before the World War. The same balance of power has been developing. The same kind of German-Italian accord which existed before the war is in force today. Germany and Austria are united in even closer bonds. There is also a new anti-communist treaty with Japan. In a loose, opposition union are almost the same countries which made up the balance of power in 1914—France, Russia, England and the central European countries of Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia essentially the same as the anti-German element of 1914.

Part of the failure of the League of Nations is in its not preventing the development of this balance of power, for internationally as in any other balance, something eventually tips and the result is usually war.

It is a picture which would look rather ominous were there not many compensating factors. Germany and her confederates, despite an impressive man-power total, do not have the military strength they had in 1914. Japan is busy with a war in China and is not likely to meddle in European affairs for some time yet. Then, too, Germany must have learned from bitter World War experience just how much Italy is to be trusted as an ally.

So long as Hitler holds aloof from Czechoslovakia, the outlook for peace is good. But as soon as he attempts to take that country into his Nazi camp, he is certain to have war with the French and quite likely with the English and Russians too—a prospect which even a puffed-up, self-appointed hero such as der fuhrer can not regard as pleasant.

Representative David Lewis of Maryland unintentionally exposed a principle of Washington political action when, in the course of the house debate on the corporation tax bill, he exclaimed: "Let's not surrender to the middle classes by striking out this surtax." The house vote did strike out this particular surtax from the bill, although it was one of the administration's "must" items in the measure. It was intended to reach a particular type of corporate organization of which the stock is not widely held.

One thing to be noted in the remark of Mr. Lewis was his acceptance to the fact that at last, for purposes of political action, the American people have been divided into classes which are to be officially dealt with. We have felt heretofore that whatever the inequalities of American life might be there was no political stratification and there was nothing to be recognized by government which separated one man from another.

The people themselves have never been conscious of official gradations in worth and political standing. Classes and castes could be found elsewhere, where government was based upon a recognition that a man in one station was not as good as a man in another, where legislation could take these differences into account, dealing with peasantry, the upper and lower middle classes, and the nobility.

To destroy classes you must first establish them. America has been the despair of the social revolutionary because it did not have classes or class consciousness. The people stood side by side and saw eye to eye. Politically and socially one man was as good as another. The person who fancied he inherited a superiority would soon be put in his place.

Or late there has been a good deal of political talk about classes and an attempt to create class consciousness and antagonisms. What does not exist must first be created; but it is hopefully thought by the agitators that in hard times malice, hatred, and envy can be aroused by appeals to prejudice and that gradually classes to be destroyed can be created. In fact, political action based upon assumptions of class conditions has been directed against the moderately well to do people, not the rich who can take care of themselves, but against people who work, save, and try to make provision for the education of children and the security of old age.

These people constitute the majority of Americans and they are all investors. They invest in life insurance, in homes, in savings accounts, and in fraternal organizations. All of them have been deeply injured. The value of their savings has been depreciated, their earnings have been reduced, their costs have been increased and their security has been jeopardized. A heavy burden of taxation, direct or indirect, falls on them. The policies of government are all calculated to make life more precarious and hazards more dangerous.

The independence of the majority is threatened by inflationary programs. The earnings of the people's savings are disappearing, and with this loss goes the reliability of their own social security arrangements. Their tenure of employment and their profitable enterprises are threatened. Their property values decrease and their burdens increase. A reckless government can wipe them out and it will be no satisfaction to them that such a government, by destroying what supports it, may also destroy itself.

STUFFED BALLOT BOX

Single Case of Smallpox May Cause a City-Wide Epidemic

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A young lady, hostess in a taxi dance hall in Detroit, danced continuously night after night, with partner after partner. One morning she woke up with headache, backache and fever and, in the course of time, a rash all over her skin, which turned out to be smallpox.

Naturally, the news of this eruption was somewhat disquieting to all of her partners, as well as her companion hostesses in the dance hall. She was certainly close enough to all of them to have communicated the disease. Smallpox is carried by contact, and from this dance hall nobody knew how many contacts had spread out over Detroit's population. Certainly several thousands. Detroit was in for a good scare, as all cities are when such a thing happens, because nowadays we all blithely assume that smallpox does not exist; that everybody has been vaccinated and that it can't happen here.

It was found out in Detroit that a good many people who had been in actual contact with this patient during the period of incubation, which is the most contagious period, had never been vaccinated at all. Many others had not been re-vaccinated.

In the news dispatches it was stated that "vaccination may provide protection for only five years." This is not strictly in accordance with the most authoritative conclusions. In general, it can be said about vaccination that while it is not 100 per cent protection against smallpox, it is nevertheless very nearly complete, particularly when a successful vaccination has been comparatively recent. In the great majority of instances a successful vaccination in infancy, an immune reaction at six years.

Tuning In

with Betty Harpel

There's a rumor going around that Tommy Dorsey's program Wednesdays at 7:30 over NBC is going to dedicate a broadcast to the university. They will take a poll of popular songs on this campus and will play the campus favorites.

We seem to be getting a bit psychic. Last week our bets were placed on "Tipti Tin" for a winner, and this week we are ready to collect, because, lo and behold, we find it out in front in the campus' choice for popular songs.

"Loch Lomond" is still doing itself proud and easily takes second place honors. That is, unless, "Thanks for the Memory" would be considered a contender for second. However, many of the people interviewed seemed to be tired of this oft-plugged tune. Strange, too, when the movie featuring it is in town.

Most lavish fan gift of the week was received anonymously by Don Voorhees, the "Cavalcade" maestro—a pair of platinum cuff links, notes of music being etched thereon in sapphires.

Bob Ripley has one of the world's finest collections of dolls, most of them from the Orient. He collects them with a view to the accuracy of the costumes and for their historical value.

Kate Smith is probably first of four million New York women to visit a beauty parlor on Thursdays, her broadcast day. Up at 7, she is let in by the watchman at a Fifth avenue salon long before the shop opens and her hair is in the first suds of shampoo by 8:15.

It's a rare thing when Lum 'n' Abner get into the make-up of the aged Arkansas storekeepers. The wrinkles and whiskers which add 30 years to their looks take two hours to apply.

Work Begins A midnight rain over Burbank, specifically, brings these results: Almost certainly, the first man it will awaken is Tenny Wright, production manager at Warner's, probably because all production managers are light sleepers when they sleep at all. At the first pitter-patter Tenny Wright reaches for his bedside telephone and dials. "Hear the rain?" he asks the sleepily answering voice. "Uh-huh," is the reply, "I'll put in the early calls. Goodnight." Wright makes two more similar calls and then, probably, puts on his robe and slippers and goes out to make sure his pigeons are well protected. Pigeons are his hobby. We now leave him with his pigeons and carry on from there. The unit managers—those he telephoned—get to work. The rain was not entirely unexpected. Rain in Hollywood and vicinity usually gives warning. If not, the weather man does. Already, "cover sets" have been arranged for all picture shooting. A "cover set" is one to which the company can retire if the weather for bids proceeding outdoors. NEW CAST Called Still, shifting from an exterior to an interior set may require different actors. For inside scenes, an entirely different cast may be needed. The unit manager has to call these people, who may have planned to sleep late, and notify them to be in make-up not later than 8 o'clock. Property men—who sleep with ears alert to rain, anyway—like-wise are awakened by the unit manager. They have to get to the studio hours before their usual time, to make sure that all necessary "props" are on hand for the "cover set."

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—It was a coldly damp night in Manhattan, with fitful gusts of rain sweeping through the streets... To escape drowning I ducked into the Chez Firehouse, a mad sort of nightclub where mellow old ten-jerkers of the 1830 Music Hall variety, frankly burlesqued, are followed by smart supper shows. When I got there the show was in progress and a lone young man held the spotlight... In sharp, crisp scenes he was interpreting the eternal triangle after the manner of Eugene O'Neill, Noel Coward and other contemporary authors... The audience sat spellbound... Only the Hollywood adjective "terrific" could describe the impression he produced. "Who is that fellow?" I asked Jane Miller, a pretty Texas girl. "He's John Hoyrsadt," she told me. "He is with the Mercury Theater Group, and he has important roles in 'Julius Caesar' and 'Shoemakers' Holiday.' He comes over here every midnight."

After this I made a point of dropping in on his other acts, each of which seemed cleverer than the last, and finally I went up to him and said, "Say, John, what about yourself? Why don't you jot down some stuff so I can tell people what you are like?" He thought that over for a moment and said, "All right, I will... Thanks." And this is what he jotted: "My name is Dutch. Vergamini Is Selected To Captain Wrestlers

Junior Star To Lead Team In Next Campaign

175-Pound Matman Has Record of 5 Wins, Three Losses

Carl Vergamini, junior from Council Bluffs, was elected captain of next year's wrestling team yesterday afternoon at the fieldhouse by the unanimous vote of the members of the mat squad.

CARL VERGAMINI

Vergamini, the only veteran on this year's team to finish the season, was one of the most consistent winners on the squad as well as being an outstanding performer last year as a sophomore.

With the exception of Wilbur Nead, this year's captain, who had a record of four falls in as many matches before being overtaken by illness, Vergamini was tied for the lead in scoring with George Smith, 155 pounder.

The Council Bluffs 175 pounder had a record of five victories and three losses during the regular season. Smith won four, lost twice and drew twice.

Five Victories
Victories were scored by the captain-elect over Janelli of Northwestern, Fidler of Nebraska, Blue of State Teachers, Henderson of Iowa State, and Trahm of Minnesota. He lost to Reynard of Kansas State, Mutter of Illinois, and Plaketic of Wisconsin.

When the Big 10 entries were named Vergamini was one of the three men entered for the Hawkeyes. He was expected to give a good account of himself and make a favorable showing against the 175 pounders of the conference. He probably would have gone far in the championship bouts if he had not had hard luck after he reached the meet.

Breaks Finger

Vergamini will be one of two seniors on next year's squad as Wilbur Nead also will have another year of competition.

Along with his wrestling ability Vergamini mixes football and was good enough to win a minor I on last fall's grid squad as a guard.

Frosh Track Squad Completes Half Of Indoor Postal Meet

Completing the first half of an indoor postal meet with the Wisconsin freshmen, Iowa's yearling tracksters ran off the dash and hurdle events last night at the fieldhouse. The field and distance events will take place Thursday.

The Iowa frosh thinned squad has a lone victory in three postal meets to date, winning over Notre Dame while losing to Chicago and Minnesota. However, Coach Ted Swenson is looking forward to a victory this week, since he expects his proteges to reach the high point of the season's competition to brighten a somewhat disastrous season.

Temple Owls In Finals of Cage Tourney in N.Y.

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP) — Using their height to a good advantage, Temple's basketball Owls entered the final of the national invitational tournament in Madison Square Garden tonight with a 56-44 defeat of Oklahoma A. and M. before a crowd of 12,000.

The eastern intercollegiate conference champions took a lead after four minutes of play and never were headed. They held a 26-17 advantage at the half and pulled away in the last 10 minutes of the final session after the Aggies had reduced the margin to five points, 33 to 28.

Braddock Burned
NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (AP) — Former Heavyweight Boxing Champion James J. Braddock suffered slight burns on his hands yesterday in extinguishing a minor fire in his home. Members of the family said window draperies were set on fire by a short circuit in a lamp cord and that Braddock was burned in pulling them down.

Baseball Men Drill Outdoors

Coach Vogel and Players Take Advantage Of Sunshine

For the second time this year Coach Otto Vogel yesterday sent his University of Iowa baseball men outside to the diamond. With the footing fairly firm and the weather agreeable, Vogel is taking every advantage of every opportunity to give his squad the benefits of the out-of-door drills and ball hawking as the first series of the season, a two-game clash with Bradley Tech is less than three weeks away.

The Hawkeye baseball schedule which was announced by Vogel yesterday will draw opponents from nine different states. Three new schools, Concordia Seminary, Missouri and Millsaps have been added to the card of the new Hawkeye opponents this year.

When the Hawkeyes swing south April 8, on their annual spring training trip, the first opponent that they will encounter will be Concordia Seminary at St. Louis April 9. After their jaunt into Louisiana and Mississippi and games with Louisiana Tech and Millsaps the Hawkeyes will play at the University of Missouri Tigers at Columbia, Mo., April 18 on the last game of the southern road trip.

The Old Gold diamondmen will open their conference schedule with the Northwestern Wildcats at Evanston April 22 and will close the season with two game series with Minnesota here, May 30 and 31.

The Complete Schedule:
April 1, 2—Bradley Tech at Peoria, Ill.
April 9—Concordia Seminary at St. Louis, Mo.
April 11, 12, 13—Louisiana Tech at Ruston, La.
April 14, 15, 16—Millsaps at Jackson, Miss.
April 18—Missouri at Columbia.
April 22, 23—Northwestern at Evanston, Ill.
April 25, 26—Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind.
April 29, 30—Michigan State at Iowa City.
May 4—Luther at Decorah.
May 5—Carleton at Northfield, Minn.
May 13, 14—Wisconsin at Madison.
May 20, 21—Chicago at Iowa City.
May 27, 28—Ohio State at Iowa City.
May 30, 31—Minnesota at Iowa City.

Speaking of consistency, the Iowa mermen haven't finished below third place in the Big Ten meet in the last six years. The 1936 victory was the first time that the Hawkeyes have ever taken a conference aquatic crown.

The Ohio State swimmers were so happy after winning the meet last Saturday night they threw their coach, Mike Peppe, into the deep end of pool. Peppe didn't mind much, however. He splashed around the water and yelled louder than any of his men.

Tracksters Third
The third place in the Big Ten meet gathered in by the surprisingly strong Hawkeye track men was the highest place the Iowa cindermen have been able to climb since they won the meet in 1929.

Coach George Bresnahan has always turned out a good dual meet team at Iowa but hasn't had the material to garner a conference championship in the last nine years.

If Bush Lamb can repeat his performances of two years ago with the javelin and if he continues to improve in the hurdles, the Hawks are going to be worth watching when the outdoor season gets under way.

Phils Ready For Game With Indians
NEW ORLEANS, La., (AP) — Jimmy Wilson brought his Phils into the Crescent city yesterday for their exhibition bout with the Cleveland Indians today.

Wilson said he would shoot three veteran pitchers — Claude Passeau, Al Smith and Bill Hallahan — at Oscar Vitt's crowd in the hope of breaking into the win column. The starting lineup will otherwise be the same that lost three games to the Giants.

Wild Life Expert
Disappointed Merman
Highest Since '29

Whatever else he may be an expert at, Bill Frey, trainer for the various University of Iowa athletic teams, isn't saying much these days about wild life.

Driving back from the Big Ten track meet at Chicago Sunday, Bill got in an argument with Henry Luebecke about the identity of an animal lying in the road, victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Bill insisted the animal was a fox; Luebecke said it was a pig. The two argued until the car got about half a mile down the road and to settle it Bill decided to drive back and prove to the giant football player that he was right.

With a 10-cent bet between the two men hanging upon the outcome of the "investigation," Bill turned the car around and headed for the scene of the crime. As they approached the animal, the two were still arguing whether it was a pig or a fox.

It was a possum.
Cramps
There wasn't a more disappointed swimmer in Chicago than Capt. Bob Christians after the 440-yard free style event in the conference meet. After leading the field for nearly 400 yards, and with his parents right behind the finish line cheering him on, Christians suffered a severe attack of cramps and fell back to fifth place in the last 25 yards.

Royal Mail, '37 Winner, Favorite In London Race

LONDON, March 14 (AP) — Royal Mail, the 1937 winner, regained his position as undisputed favorite for the grand national steeplechase today as two more American-owned horses were scratched from the March 25 renewal at Aintree.

Royal Mail, purchased at public auction Saturday by Mrs. Camille Clifford Evans, was held at 100 to 8 at the Victoria club after the scratching of Paul Mellon's American-owned Drinmore Lad left Evan Williams available to ride last year's winner. Williams rode Royal Mail last year.

The withdrawal of Drinmore Lad and F. Ambrose Clark's La Touche reduced to four the American representation in the classic four and a half-mile race. The quartet include Mrs. Marjorie Scott's Battleship, a son of Man O' War; J. B. Snow's De-Jachance; Robert Lehman's Dioric, and F. M. Gould's What Have You, an offspring of Tryster.

Capt. I. J. Anthony, trainer of Drinmore Lad and La Touche, said he withdrew Mellon's jumper on the advice of a veterinarian. An examination showed Drinmore Lad was in no condition for the grueling test of speed and stamina. Anthony considered the racing strip too hard for La Touche.

Final acceptances for the race will be announced tomorrow.

Fraternity Wrestling Matches Yesterday Dominated by Falls; Eight Grapplers Pin Opponents

Wins by falls dominated yesterday's wrestling matches at the fieldhouse in the fraternity section of the university wrestling tournament. Eight of the 12 bouts resulted in falls while only three forfeits were chalked up. Only one match went the full route.

Matches went fast with the Greek-letter men wasting little time in winning or losing their bouts. The wrestlers went into their contests with determination, but good nature existed between the contestants throughout the afternoon's matches.

Down The Sports Trail

SARASOTA, Fla., March 14 (AP) — Baseball has lost its prize "sucker" with the big bankroll. Tom Yawkey, after spending more than a million and a half dollars for fancy ball players without getting anything better than a second division club, has turned smart, leaving the ivory slickers to thumb their way back home.

It took five years, headaches, unjust ridicule and enough dough to build a bridge for Tom to learn that you cannot buy a pennant outright. But he's learned his lesson as fully as the little kid who played too often with matches.

From now on the wise guys must look to fresher fields. Tom's days of gold brick buys are behind him, and henceforth you can keep your eye peeled on his Boston Red Sox.

For the first time since young Mr. Yawkey came out into the open with his big bankroll some four years ago and caused financially harassed clubowners, particularly Connie Mack, to turn handsprings of delight, there isn't a new high-priced castoff in camp. His only deal in the winter market, where he used to spread so much joy, was outfielder Joe Vosmik, whom he obtained from the St. Louis Browns. But Tom didn't take many layers off his roll to get Joltin' Joe, sending but a few chips and three ball players, who weren't doing the Red Sox much good, in exchange for him.

Like so many fellows who get trimmed in the big city, Yawkey has gone back to the farm. Taking a tip from Branch Rickey and the other farm-minded men who must keep thinking of new stuff to keep one jump ahead of the devil, Tom has gone in for baseball farms in a big way. Today, the Red Sox claim totals nine and the results are beginning to show. It isn't correct to say the Red Sox have a flock of budding Joe DiMaggios or Lefty Groves in camp, but the brand of newcomers talent appears far above the average of farm baseball produce.

Foremost of the rookies obtained by Yawkey this spring is young Jim Bagby, son of the old Sarge Bagby who won 31 games for Cleveland back in 1920. Young Jim, a streamline pitching husky standing six feet two and only 22 years old, appears to be quite a catch. Old timers claim he looks even better than the old Sarge with plenty of speed and a vast amount of horse sense so often missing in kids who try to follow in their father's footsteps as baseball stars.

Young Jim has been pitching professionally for only three years. He did just so-so with Charlotte in 1935 and with Rocky Mount in '36, but with Hazleton of the Eastern league last year he suddenly found himself. He won 21 and lost 8, struck out 112 batsmen and batted .330, winning the most valuable player award of his league last year. Homey as mud as beauty goes is young Jim, but one of the sweetest looking prospects out on that mound that we've seen in many a moon. In his first test yesterday, he stood the Cincinnati Reds on their goggles with a no-hit, no-run performance over three innings he worked.

Young Jim has learned when to take advice and when to toss it away. Though he recognizes his father was a great pitcher, he refuses to listen too much to his father's advice.

"This," says young Jim, "is 1938. My dad was great some 15 or 20 years ago. Times and baseball have changed. I gotta do everything on my own."

Should Make Grade
If Bagby makes the grade to stardom—and he should—he will be one of the few sons of former major league stars to turn the trick. The roster of failure is jammed with sons who couldn't do what their papas did.

Yawkey hasn't seen young Bagby in action yet down here, but will be on hand soon. When he does, some of the boys are planning to stand close by for any emergency.

"If Tom finds out that he finally got a good young pitcher," said one wag, "the shock's liable to be too much for him. We gotta have an ambulance on deck 'cause you can't tell what'll happen."

HOT NEWS From The Grapefruit League

Umpire Is Detroit's First Casualty
LAKELAND, Fla., March 14 (AP) — The Detroit Tiger camp reported its first casualty of the spring training season today — Umpire Lou Kolls.

Kolls, training with the Tigers for his job of calling 'em in the American league, romped around unofficially at shortstop and met a mild disaster. A bad hop on a drive by Ray Hayworth broke Kolls's nose.

Charley Gehring and Tony Piet, the latter obtained in the trade with the Chicago White Sox, worked out today for the first time.

Umpire Kolls was an Iowa City visitor a few weeks ago.

Senators Need Utility Man
ORLANDO, Fla., March 14 (AP) — President Clark Griffith was worrying out loud today about Washington's need of a utility catcher to understudy Rick Ferrell, regular Senators' backstop.

Manager Bucky Harris indicated he had little hope of any of four rookie catchers at the camp would make the grade. They are Mickey Livingston, Bill Beard, Alfred Evans and Jake Early. Ferrell was a frequent injury victim last season. Walter Millies, his relief then, is now managing Chattanooga.

Boston Bees Win From Cards, 7-5
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14 (AP) — Bill McGee, the third of four Cardinal pitchers, was the only one able to hold the Boston Bees in check this afternoon as the Red Birds lost an exhibition game, 7 to 5, to Casey Stengel's team.

The Cardinals made only six hits, three of them in the eighth when a pass and an error helped them score four runs.

Lon Warneke was pounded for nine hits in three innings, Howard Krist yielded four in three and Ray Harrel, who worked the ninth, yielded a run on two hits. Milburn Shoffner, the Bees' 32-year-old "recruit," was the winning pitcher.

Pitt Pirates Get Hard Workout
SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 14 (AP) — Pittsburgh's Pirates engaged in a strenuous workout today, with southpaw Marvin Webster Duke getting much attention from Manager Pie Traynor.

Duke's smooth pitching reminds you of the old master Wilbur Cooper," remarked Coach Hans Wagner.

Browns' Holdout Troubles End
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 14 (AP) — Holdout troubles of the St. Louis Browns were at an end today as outfielder Sammy West and utility infielder Roy Hughes signed 1938 contracts. Catcher Billy Sullivan ended his holdout campaign last night.

Bartell Signs '38 Contract With Giants
BATON ROUGE, La., March 14 (AP) — Dick Bartell, the New York Giants' star shortstop and last of the "regular" holdouts came to terms with Manager Bill Terry today and signed his 1938 contract. Bartell, who had been demanding an increase in salary, was reported to have accepted $17,000, the same figure he received last year.

The signing of Bartell left only Leslie Horn, a rookie outfielder, unsigned although pitcher Clydeell Castleman, who first was reported to have asked for a $1 a year contract, has not made an appearance in camp.

Cub Regulars Win 4th From Rookies
AVALON, Cal., March 14 (AP) — The Chicago Cub rookies could collect only three hits off Charley Root and Clyde Shoun today and were defeated, 2 to 0, by the regulars.

The veteran Root allowed only one, a single by Jim Asbell, in the first three innings. Of the two safeties granted by Shoun, one was of the scratch variety. It was the fourth straight victory for the regulars in the intra-squad series.

Frosh Center Injures Finger; Lost to Squad

Bruno Andruska May Not Report For Six Weeks

The calendar says that March 21 is the first day of spring but the Iowa football team jumped the gun on the weather man yesterday by holding its first outdoor grid drill of the year on the practice field south of the stadium. The workout added another name to the Iowa injured list as Bruno Andruska, freshman center from Chicago, suffered a compound fracture of the index finger on his left hand. Andruska will be lost to the squad for at least six weeks and possibly for the remainder of the spring drills.

Yesterday's casualty was the second to hit the Hawkeyes in the last few days. Warren Junge, backfield prospect from Davenport, crashed into a tackling dummy Friday and broke a rib which punctured his lung. Junge will not be able to report again until next fall.

Light Drill
Yesterday's session was confined mostly to signal drills and running through plays. Coach Tri Tubbs and his assistants, Ernie Nevers, Pat Boland and Jay Kistler shifted their men about all through the workout, giving every man a chance to get into action.

The outdoor drills will be continued until late in the spring when the annual intra-squad game between the "Blacks" and the "Golds" will climax the spring work.

Buffet tables in each room will be decorated with centerpieces of spring flowers and tapers.

Sorority housemothers will chaperone the party. They are Mrs. M. H. Anderson, Kappa Alpha Theta; Mrs. C. A. Brown, Zeta Tau Alpha; Ada Culver, Alpha Xi Delta; Mrs. Lida Mae Filkins, Delta Delta Delta; Mrs. Nina Jaisman, Gamma Phi Beta; Mrs. A. E. Kepford, Chi Omega; Mrs. E. R. Lane, Phi Mu; Mrs. J. J. Recreation Room in Dr. Rohrbacher's Home Presents Many Diversions for Younger Set

It's become almost a watchword in grade school, high school and college circles when a party is in the air — let's have it in the Rohrbacher recreation room.

Picture yourself sitting before a huge gray stone fireplace on a windy March evening toasting marshmallows over hot coals or just listening to the crackling of dying embers, and you will see the most interesting part of the recreation room in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Rohrbacher, 811 E. College street.

The fireplace extends from the floor to the ceiling. Lining the ledge above the hearth are a variety of gourds in all colors, shapes and sizes with sprays of bitter-sweet among them. To the right of the fireplace is a huge iron kettle filled with logs.

Comfortable Chairs On each side is a wooden bench which might be drawn closer at the crucial point in a good ghost story. A group of comfortable chairs encircles this setting. Near the lounge on the left is a radio, and along the east wall is a piano for those who play and sing. There is also a victrola. To the extreme right of the fireplace is a long table surrounded by chairs and spread with a red and white cloth, ready for a hungry troop of hikers or just a snack at the close of the evening.

Ping-Pong Table Near the front of the room is the ping-pong table, attractive to college and school friends of Charlotte, Florence and Betty Rohrbacher. At the far end is a book case containing parlor games. On top of it sets a pair of wooden shoes.

The basketball hoop on the door of the east wall offers possibilities for an improvised game. The double doors open to reveal a place for target shooting. Whether it's a dance, a party with games and marshmallow toasting or a ping-pong game in a spare moment, Iowa City's younger sets gravitate toward the Rohrbacher girls' recreation room.

Celebrities Stalk Campus

Impersonator Says Listeners Critical Of Roosevelt Imitations

By LUTHER BOWERS

Many students do not realize that Lionel Barrymore, George Arliss, Roy Atwell and other celebrities — yes, even President Roosevelt make frequent visits to this campus, not formal visits via the lecture platform, but informal appearances at clubs, plays, and entertainments.

Ronald VanArsdale, G of Greenwood, Ind., is the magician who at a moment's notice can conjure up any one of 20 or so notable personages. By a sweep of the hand through his hair, a characteristic pose and the appropriate vocal adjustments he is transformed from a graduate student in speech and dramatic art to the personification of a well-known character.

VanArsdale, who has been doing impersonations since his senior year at Butler university four years ago, says the trick is "to study the subject and then apply the coordination of mind and muscle to create the facial expression, voice qualities and muscular activities of the character."

"I've got to be the person," said VanArsdale in explaining how he completely subjugates his own personality and characteristics to those of his subject. "For instance," he went on, "in impersonating I have to have a visual image of the subject and hear his speaking voice a fraction of a second before I speak."

He pointed out that President Roosevelt is particularly difficult to impersonate because the audience is more critical — his voice and mannerisms are known so well. The "My friends and neighbors" introduction must be "hit" perfectly or the effect is lost from the start.

VanArsdale considers Lew Lehr the most difficult subject physically. Lew means "15 minutes of exercise packed into three minutes."

Among his repertoire is the current stage and screen sensation, Charlie McCarthy — oh yes, Bergen is thrown in for good measure. Charlie presents a difficult problem aside from the fact that he's a dummy, for as VanArsdale says, "I don't hear him often enough. Fifteen minutes out of an hour program each week is scarcely time to study a character."

Developing an impersonation takes long periods of intense study, for every facial twitch, every characteristic gesture, every idiosyncrasy must be sought out and studied. Practicing before a mirror is of some help, admitted VanArsdale.

In the case of movie stars, he said, "I attempt to reflect the personality as the actors personality is reflected to us on the screen." At present VanArsdale is working on Jimmy Durante, but how to develop the "schnoz-zola" is a bit perplexing.

VanArsdale started his work with an Indianapolis, Ind., radio station. Before coming to Iowa City he carried on a "kid" program over a Cincinnati station, acted in a program from Richmond, Va., and returned to Chicago's WJJD. There he put on a "three in one act" — writing directing and acting in a children's program. During the last two summers he taught dramatics at the Limerlost camps at LaGrange, Ind.

This is VanArsdale's second year at Iowa where he is devel-

Big Three Among University Women

U.W.A., Y.W.C.A. and W.A.A. Heavy Contributors to Campus Activity

All University of Iowa women are members of University Women's association, and all of them may take an active part in it tomorrow when they choose the officers who will direct the university women's self-government system next year. At the same time members of Y. W. C. A. and Women's Athletic association will elect their new officers.

The new heads of the three prominent women's groups on campus will be chosen in an all-day election from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow in Iowa Union.

University Women's Association
University Women's association is an organization of all the women registered in the university, governed by a central council. Its council includes a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and a senior, junior and sophomore representative. The first-class woman chosen as freshman representative becomes each year as she is promoted the representative of her new class. Also on the council are the heads of the projects which U. W. A. carries on during the year.

Freshman orientation, a program of acquainting freshman women with each other and with campus life, is a U. W. A. project and is represented by its director on the council. Another activity is the point system by which the number of activities in which university women engage is regulated for their benefit and for the good of the organizations to which they belong.

Each year University Women's association entertains at the Spinsters' Spree, an informal girldate-boy dance. Among its other projects are cooperation in the University Sing, and vocational guidance; a two-day vocational conference with an out-of-town speaker was sponsored this year for the first time.

A series of coffee hours at which faculty members of various departments are informally introduced to the students is one of the most popular projects of U. W. A.

An innovation this year is a scholarship award made by U. W. A. to the senior, junior and sophomore woman, enrolled in the college of liberal arts or commerce, with the highest scholarship average. The scholarships will be presented tonight, and each year hereafter, at Mortar Board's annual Smarty Party.

A representative of Town Coeds has a place on the council. Another new feature this year is the membership of Y. W. C. A., Women's Athletic association and Mortar Board on the council.

U. W. A. is financed by a 50-cent addition to the tuition fee paid by each woman registering.

Y. W. C. A.
"For the 20 years that I have known Y. W. C. A., it has been a real power on the university campus, influencing college girls in their thinking and living and training them for Christian social service," such is the opinion of Prof. Estella M. Boot of the English department.

Y. W. C. A. was organized on this campus in the fall of 1886. Its purpose is to unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God; to have a part in making this life possible for all people, and in this task to seek to understand Jesus and follow Him.

Before any physical education department was established in the university, Y. W. C. A. carried on all the work of that kind that was done. In 1904 the first advisory board was formed, and in 1906 the local organization became a charter member of the national group. Since 1912 work has been done at the University hospital, Oakdale sanitarium and the Old Ladies' home. The highest local membership was reached in 1921 when it totaled 700.

The working committees for 1937-1938 include social, office, membership, publicity, freshman, community service, community leadership, hospital service, upperclass women's discussion, conference and a finance council.

Women's Athletic Association
The purpose of Women's Athletic association is to promote an interest in sports and recreational activities and to further desirable qualities of sportsmanship in the women of the university.

Eleven clubs are sponsored by W. A. A. for the three seasons during the school year. In the fall, canoeing, archery and hockey are offered. The winter sports are handcraft, basketball and badminton. In the spring, canoeing and archery are again offered with the addition of tennis and golf.

The all-year sports in which campus women are active are Seals, the swimming club, Orchestis, the dancing organization, and the Outing club.

The executive board is made up of the president of each club, the publicity manager, intramural manager and the four executive offices of W. A. A., president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Among special events during the year for university women is the play day for the entering freshman and transfer students. The various clubs make special trips to other colleges and universities for play days.

Hanya Holm and her group of modern dancers was brought to the campus as a special attraction this spring. W. A. A. sponsors beginning, intermediate and advanced classes in social dancing for the students. The social room at the women's gymnasium is kept open and furnished for the use of students.

Each club has its own special projects which are introduced at definite times in the year.

Blarney Stone to Return to Iowa Campus For Engineering Smoker

Begorra and shure now where is the old Blarney Stone — the one that the engineers used to kiss in the days when baby kissing was popular. The 50-pound stone is on its way back to Iowa after an absence of 26 years.

The Blarney Stone was brought to Iowa in 1910 and used in initiating engineering seniors into the mystic order of the Knights of St. Patrick. It was taken back to Ireland in 1912.

The same Michael Kelly who went to Ireland as the representative of the class of 1910 to secure the stone will bring it from Chicago Thursday afternoon. When it is delivered into the hands of the waiting delegation of engineers it will be taken to the engineering laboratory where it will be used in a ceremony at the smoker for all engineering students that evening at 7:30.

In the previous rites, the stone was hidden from view except on special occasions, and a letter of directions on how to find the Blarney Stone was delivered every St. Patrick's day to the president of the senior class. Whether the former custom will be revived is unknown, but kissing the Blarney Stone which is symbolic of good luck, health and happiness will probably be done on the sly.

To Choose 1938 Pep Queen From Pi Epsilon Pi Auxiliary

Jamboree's Committee Announces Plan, Elects Chairman

The university's Pep Queen, chosen by Pi Epsilon Pi to reign over the annual Pep Jamboree, will be chosen from the Pi Epsilon Pi auxiliary this year, it was announced yesterday afternoon by the Pep Jamboree committee.

Candidates must be active members of the organization. A special initiation ceremony will be held at 7:45 tonight in Iowa Union for those who missed the last ritual.

The Pep Jamboree committee had its first meeting yesterday afternoon and began formulating plans for the university party which will be held this year on April 8.

site advocates have provided action.

John G. Fink appealed the board's selection of Morningside site to County Superintendent Frank J. Snider. After a three-day hearing, Snider ruled Jan. 27 that the board had acted in the best interests of the people.

Lewis L. Smith Sr. then demanded an injunction to restrain the board from proceeding with construction on the Morningside site. Preliminary grading and excavation contracts have been fulfilled.

Smith's action will be heard by Judge James P. Gattney in Johnson county district court Monday morning. Smith alleges the site was purchased illegally by the board.

Dr. Maresh and Miller last night joined in thanking voters for their support. They pledged they would continue to act in the best interests of the school, and to direct the school affairs competently.

The election judges yesterday were John Dvorak, Esther Yeslinek and William Weeber, and clerks were Fern Ranshaw and Mrs. George W. V. Miller.

The five registrars selected to aid when the many voters arrived were Vera McMinnery, Nell Kennedy, Libby Novy, Irma Gartzke and Mabel Fitzgarrald. Other registrars were Mrs. A. G. Dirksen, Mrs. Vera K. Findly, Mrs. Charles Gill, Kathryn Novak and Nelle Kinney.

Iowa City Woman To Play Selection Over Mutual Chain

Five Discussion Groups to Meet

Cafeteria Supper Will Precede Talks At M. E. Church

Five groups will have discussions at the church night program of the First Methodist Episcopal church at its second weekly session this evening. A cafeteria supper at 6 o'clock will precede the discussions, which will be at 7 o'clock.

Prof. Claude J. Lapp will review the recent study of social conditions in the south from the book "Caste and Class in a Southern Town" by Dollard, for the third group. The fourth group will study the journey of Paul through Galatia, Corinth and Athens and his two letters to the Thessalonian church, under the leadership of the Rev. Robert H. Famill. The Rev. Edwin E. Voigt will lead the fifth group in a discussion of "What Can We Believe?"

Following the meeting of the study groups, the Wesley players will present "The Bishop's Candiecticks," a one-act play based on Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables."

15 Years Ago

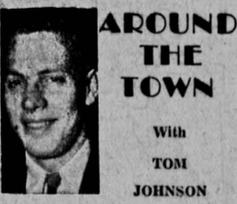

One of our customers came to us to have his watch repaired. We repaired it and made a record of it. Later this watch was stolen.

Yesterday—some fifteen years since this customer came to us with this watch—we checked it with our records to prove his claim to it.

Only through our records could this man prove his ownership of the watch.

This incident reflects upon this stability of our business. Our guarantee to give the finest service—like our records—will stand supreme through the years.

FUIKS

AROUND THE TOWN

Iowa City's school board election is finished. Outwardly, there had been no campaign, but the record-breaking total for a board election indicates differently.

Last year, a comparatively quiet year, only 677 votes were cast. This year, with the injection of the site question into the campaign, nearly four times that number, 2,645 were deposited.

Iowa Citizens are taking this question of a site seriously. Four months ago, when the ballot asked whether to bond $398,750 and $90,000, nearly 3,200 voted. The total vote this time—and there wasn't half-a-million dollars at stake—was only 555 less.

Many of the voters, observers claim, were from the fourth and fifth wards—near the site of the new building. It, of course, would be most affected. Property values, for instance.

Workers must have done their best to get out the vote. Last night, as the crowd stood in the city hall waiting for the first returns, an odd story was being told.

It concerned a fifth ward resident. Ill, he hadn't been outside the ward for five years. But yesterday he cast his ballot—and it's a long way to the city hall!

Shortly before the results were announced, Attorney D. C. Nolan had some good luck. Attorney Ingalls Swisher had a dollar that said Gross and Thomas would win, and Nolan took him up.

Attorney Nolan, of course, is Lewis L. Smith's lawyer in the demand for an injunction against the school's construction. It'll come up in court Monday morning.

When Maresh and Miller were declared winners, both attorneys were quite gallant about paying the wager. Lou Mueller, central site supporter, jokingly urged Nolan to take the bet, "For the cause."

Downtown last night, some people were saying, "Well, now that the voters have shown they approve the board and the Morrison site, it would be the right thing for the opponents to drop that demand for an injunction. The issue seems settled, once and for all."

The central site boosters, though, probably have no intentions of dropping that suit. For all practical purposes, however, the question seems out of the voters' hands.

The issue, if there is anything left to it, will rest before Judge James P. Gaffney Monday morning.

Club Members Will Hear Prof. Thornton Tomorrow Evening

Prof. H. J. Thornton will speak at the family night meeting being sponsored by the Johnson County Junior Farm Bureau tomorrow evening in C. S. A. hall.

Following Prof. Thornton's talk, Jean Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Irwin, 619 N. Governor street, will present several dance routines. There will be special musical entertainment and an old fashioned spelling bee.

2 Table Tennis Finalists Play This Afternoon

James Hoak to Oppose Cochrane for Union Tourney Crown

"Quick as a dog and fast on the feet—that's how the expert players win," says Banford Cochrane, A2 of Chicago, who will play in the finals of the annual Union board table tennis tournament this afternoon at 4:15 in the main lounge of Iowa Union against James Hoak, A2 of Des Moines.

Mr. Hoak believes that good eyes and practice are fundamental requisites of a good player. Going further in explanation, Mr. Cochrane points out that the game should be played for fun—that a player has to love the game and play it often.

Winner of the tournament last year, Mr. Cochrane ranked 15th in the national tournament in Chicago in 1935 and 12th in the Illinois state division in 1932. He won the single and doubles in the Chicago Union American tournament in Chicago and other local matches.

Mr. Hoak won the city tournament in Des Moines in 1935 and won the Polk county championship. A table tennis player for 12 years, he was defeated in the semi-finals of the tournament last year.

Both of the players today have defeated four men to reach the finals. Cochrane defeated Walter Berns, A2 of Chicago; Louis Oppenham, A1 of Des Moines; Abe Anapol, A1 of Chicago, and Charles Volger, A3 of Muscatine.

Hoak defeated Larry Milch, A2 of New Brunswick, N. J.; Stanley Woodhouse, D2 of Vinton; Granville Steele, A3 of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Robert Wollenweber, A1 of Keokuk.

Police Chief William H. Bender yesterday warned motorists to check up on their driving lights immediately. He said that an extensive campaign in which the state highway police will cooperate with local officers will be carried on soon.

Cars will be checked for headlights and tail lights. Chief Bender reminded motorists that tail lights must be on all cars parked in residential sections after sunset, according to a city ordinance.

"We're also going to get after stickers and labels plastered on windshields and rear windows," he said. He pointed out that visibility is impaired by stickers and labels. Stickers on the side windows do not constitute so much of a nuisance, he said.
