

Huge War Bill Sent to House

Measure Calls For Air Craft Appropriations

Leaders Say Approval Seems Certain To Come Soon

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—A $447,808,555 appropriation bill for 1939 war department requirements, emphasizing aviation and material, went to the house today for immediate consideration.

LONDON, March 23 (AP)—Informed sources said today a two-way race is on to supply arms to warring factions in Spain.

They pictured Italy and Germany as rushing munitions to Spanish insurgents, and Soviet Russia, and to a lesser extent France, sending arms to Spanish government forces.

United States ranks first among the powers in naval aviation, and will rank second only to Great Britain in total air strength when army and navy planes, already ordered, become available.

More than half of the increase over last year's bill—$18,000,000—will be spent in expanding the army's air force to 3,302 planes. The bill authorizes 476 new craft at a cost of $19,000,000.

The committee urged that virtually all of President Roosevelt's recommendations for $16,880,000 worth of new material be approved. Mr. Roosevelt requested $8,800,000 for anti-aircraft material, $6,080,000 for manufacture of gages, dies and the like, and $2,000,000 for ammunition.

The committee said these figures would not provide an "adequate military defense" but would accelerate replenishment of essential supplies.

The recommendations called for an increase of $1,355,737 in the national guard fund to permit its enrollment to be expanded from 200,000 to 205,000 and $2,275,000 for citizens' military training camps.

The committee called special attention to a statement of Gen. Malin Craig, chief of staff, that $1,000,000,000 would be necessary to bring the army to a strength sufficient to "respond effectively in an emergency."

Federal Agents Uncover Heart Of Slave-Ring

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 23 (AP)—The district attorney's office said today federal investigators had uncovered evidence that a white slave ring of nation-wide proportions had been using Quincy, Ill., as one of its operating points.

With 15 persons already under indictment for violation of the white slave traffic act, federal officials indicated department of justice agents would make a thorough probe in an effort to smash the alleged vice ring.

The announcement was made after 11 persons pleaded innocent to the white slave charges before Federal Judge J. Leroy Adair, who set their trial for April 4 at Quincy. Among those electing to stand trial was Virgil Mayberry of Moberly, Mo.

Assistant District Attorney George Kennedy said department of justice agents probably would extend the investigation as far west as Salt Lake City and in several eastern states.

The indictments returned thus far largely involved the transportation of women to Quincy from Missouri and Iowa for immoral purposes.

Activities of the ring were exposed by Cleo Miller of Kansas City, 15-year-old "child bride" after she was taken to Quincy. She has been sentenced to one year at the state school for girls at Geneva.

Tanks Lose Favor Of Committee As Weapons of War

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Armored tanks have lost much of their terror, a house committee report indicated today.

It quoted Chief of Staff Malin Craig as testifying that tanks in Spanish operations of the past year had failed to give a satisfactory account of themselves.

The United States, General Craig explained, would continue reasonable development of the tank as a war weapon but at the same time would stress the building of intermediate caliber anti-tank guns. He said weapons of this type had "very notably restricted the scope and effectiveness of tanks" in the Spanish operations.

General Craig testified at a hearing on the army appropriation bill. He asked for $900,000 to build 18 medium tanks equipped with armor heavy enough to overcome the "vulnerability" difficulties being experienced by European tanks.

He said speed would be sacrificed to make United States tanks the sort of impenetrable rolling fortresses which they were intended to be in the World war.

Cabinet's Plan Defeated, 17-2

Committee Turns Down Finance Measures Despite Blum

PARIS, March 23 (AP)—The conservative senate finance committee today turned down a cabinet financial plan despite the personal appeal of Premier Leon Blum.

It was a defeat for the second people's front government in its first test in the senate, which caused the fall of the first people's front ministry last June 21 in an issue over emergency powers over finance.

The cabinet submitted two measures, the first to provide 5,000,000,000 francs ($150,000,000) in new loans from the Bank of France to the treasury and the second to assign 3,149,000,000 francs ($94,470,000) surplus from the stabilization fund to the defense fund.

The committee, by a 17-2 vote, rolled the two bills into one and cut the total to 5,000,000,000 francs ($150,000,000) despite Blum's personal appearance and half-hour speech in defense of the two bills.

The committee proposal will be submitted tomorrow to the senate where opposition to inflationary measures has created the possibility of a new cabinet crisis that might lead to further efforts to form a national union—all party government.

Senators emerging from a meeting of the foreign affairs committee reported a heated debate between Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour and former Premier Pierre Laval. Laval, they said, urged that France regain Italy's friendship by recognizing her conquest of Ethiopia.

Stock Market Hits New Low

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—A selling wave plunged stock prices to new lows for a year or more today.

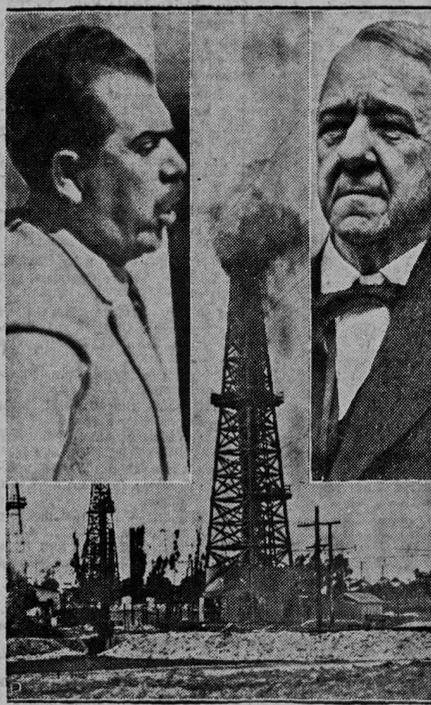

Many losses in actively traded shares ran from $1 to around $4 a share.

The slide was very rapid early in the day, with the ticker lagging some three minutes behind transactions on the floor of the exchange, as traders awaited President Roosevelt's speech at Gainesville, Ga.

When the address was read around noon, prices tended to retrace some of the lost ground and turnover slackened. Many brokers said they felt the speech, while showing no disposition to relent on some policies not to the liking of Wall street lacked surprises on administration attitudes toward business.

Activities of the ring were exposed by Cleo Miller of Kansas City, 15-year-old "child bride" after she was taken to Quincy. She has been sentenced to one year at the state school for girls at Geneva.

Mexican Oil Seizure Protested

Lazaro Cardenas Mexican oil fields Josephus Daniels U. S. ambassador

While President Lazaro Cardenas sought to reassure Mexican business, shaken by his decree expropriating the properties of 17 American and British oil firms valued at $400,000,000, the U. S. pressed for a modification of Mexico's move. Secretary of State Cordell Hull expressed the serious U. S. concern over the possibilities that might arise from the seizure in a long telephone conversation with Ambassador Josephus Daniels in Mexico City. Cardenas, defending his seizure of the petroleum industry as an "imperious necessity," said business had nothing to fear and invited the companies to file claims for indemnization. The Mexican law under which the expropriation was carried out provides for payment of properties, but the United States contends this should have been done under receivership.

Brown Defends 'Administration Lobby' During Senate Debate

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—The senate, debating the reorganization bill, heard Senator Brown (D-Mich.) defend the "administration lobby" today.

Some senators accused the lobby of applying "pressure" to get the reorganization measure passed but Brown said he saw "no harm" in the administration activities. He added that he had no difficulty in saying "no" when he was besieged by telephone calls from government departments urging him to support the legislation.

Senator Copeland (D-N. Y.) also defended efforts of outside groups to defeat the bill, which would give the president board powers to shake up government bureaus and agencies.

"This effort is all right," Copeland declared. "It is done by good citizens because they are good citizens. I resent the efforts to besmirch and besmear those groups who are trying to work for constitutional government."

Although Copeland mentioned no names, he obviously was referring to the committee to uphold constitutional government, sponsored by Frank E. Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher. The senate lobby committee has been questioning that organization's executive secretary.

Opponents of the reorganization measure debated at length a proposal by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) to amend the bill to preserve the comptroller general's office, which otherwise, would be abolished.

Chinese Repel Japs' Advance

SHANGHAI, March 24 (Thursday) (AP)—Chinese declared today they had repelled a Japanese attempt to reach the south shore of the Yellow river at Fengkiu, in northern Honan province.

Fengkiu, just north of Kaifeng, is about 40 miles west of Chengchow, junction of the east-west Lunghai and north-south Peiping-Hankow railroads. It is the spearhead of Japanese forces attempting to break vital Chinese communications on the central front.

Chinese said more than 3,000 Japanese had been entrenched at Fengkiu within the past three days for a new thrust down the Peiping-Hankow railroad to Chengchow. They said the Japanese had been driven back from all other positions on the north bank of the Yellow river.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek himself was said to be in command in the Chengchow sector where a Japanese victory might collapse the corridor of wheat-growing plains between Japan's conquests in north and central China.

On the eastern, coastal, side of the corridor, Japan's drive to cut the Lunghai at Suchow, its junction with the north-south Tientsin-Pukow railroad, still was stalemated after nine days of bitter fighting.

Removal of TVA Head Raises Stormy Protests in Congress

Chamberlain Asks Organized Labor's Cooperation to Speed Up England's Rearmament Plan

New Policy In Will Disclose Britain's Europe

LONDON, March 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain tonight asked organized labor support to speed up rearmament before disclosing to an expectant Europe tomorrow Britain's new role in a Europe upset by dictators.

There were indications the premier had received the general support of the cabinet for a declaration of policy which would include no promise of aid to Czechoslovakia.

Virtually every London newspaper predicted he would reaffirm Britain's intention to fight if France or Belgium were the victim of aggression, but refuse a similar guarantee to the Czech republic, now half surrounded by Hitler's greater Germany.

For the second successive day Chamberlain consulted the cabinet on the foreign policy he will announce to the house of commons tomorrow.

Then he called in the general council of the trades union congress, organized labor's "cabinet," in an effort to win labor cooperation and perhaps some sacrifices in spurring Britain's rearmament.

An official statement said the prime minister made no specific proposals but asked labor's good will. He explained "he wanted leaders in different sections of industry" to discuss among themselves the best means of speeding the arms program. The T. U. C. leaders were noncommittal but promised to give his views early consideration.

Chamberlain also invited the national confederation of employers to meet with him shortly on the same subject.

There was a possibility tomorrow's statement would revive criticism within the prime minister's own conservative party.

Winston Churchill, key member of world war cabinets, Robert J. G. Boothby and other conservatives as well as impatient opposition members were keeping their powder dry in case Chamberlain disappoints them.

The government was believed to be seeking labor's permission to admit unskilled employes to rearmament work by waiving seniority clauses in labor contracts.

Seized by Nazis

Dr. Sigmund Freud seized in Vienna

Nazi police have confiscated the passports of Sigmund Freud, 82-year-old world-famous psychoanalyst, and his wife in Vienna and impounded all their ready money to prevent them from leaving the country. Dr. Freud, who is Jewish, never has been active in politics but he shares to a certain extent ardent Zionist and anti-Nazi views, observers say.

At the same another insurgent column further south struck out across the Ebro river and took two small towns near Quinto giving them positions on the north side of the river just below Zaragoza.

Pope Pius Appeals to Franco To Exercise War Moderation

Pontiff's Second Plea Brings Answer Of Reassurance

VATICAN CITY, March 23 (AP)—Pope Pius, grieved by air raids in the Spanish civil war, has appealed to insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco for "moderation." L'osservatore Romano reported today.

The Vatican newspaper said the pope had appealed twice to Franco, once in February and again March 21 after new bombardments of Barcelona.

The newspaper disclosed that the pope in February urged a halt in "aerial bombardments of open cities," appealing to Franco while "other powers intervened with the republican government."

It said he sought "moderation and mildness to diminish to the greatest extent possible the horrors of war" and received from the insurgent leader "a reassuring reply."

The paper said the Vatican, on its own initiative and independent of other powers, had intervened a number of times to reduce the sufferings of the Spanish war. But while doing so, it added, "new, cruel and sanguinary wounds have come to it."

It spoke of previous Spanish civil war victims and continued: "To such victims are added others caused by recent air bombardments of Barcelona: innocent victims whom the Holy See mourns more than ever and, faithful to its mission, it continues to give words of moderation and to counsel mildness to diminish to the greatest extent possible the horrors of war."

It said Franco answered the pope through Monsignor Idebrando Antonutti, the Holy See's representative in Salamanca, with "filial and reassuring explanations and declarations."

Britain and France asked the pope to join in appeals after the Spanish insurgents last week launched a wave of air raids on Barcelona, the government seat, and threatened to continue them until the city surrendered.

Democrats Stop Inquiry Moves In Morgan Case

Investigation Desirable Barkley Admits As Battle Grows

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt's removal of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan from the chairmanship of TVA stirred up a tempest in congress today and produced more emphatic demands for a thorough investigation of the power agency.

Democratic objections, however, blocked two efforts in the senate to set an inquiry going immediately, although one of the objectors, Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, asserted there was no question of "the desirability" of such an investigation.

Increases Controversy A message to congress in which President Roosevelt cited reasons for dismissing Dr. Morgan served only to increase the controversy, for it was accompanied by an opinion from Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson, asserting the president was vested with authority to remove members of the TVA board from office.

This proved a highly disputed point. Critics of TVA were quick to contend the supreme court had declared the president powerless to take such action. Others argued that the tribunal, while preventing presidential removal of certain officials with quasi-judicial authority, left him free to dismiss officers like Morgan.

Morgan in Chicago The center of the TVA row, Dr. Morgan himself, was in Chicago. He told reporters he intended to discuss the TVA situation with friends, "some of them attorneys." Many expect that he will eventually combat the removal orders in court. But, he said today: "I have made no decision and I have nothing to say now whether I will attack the legality of the ouster."

Demands Consideration The senate had hardly convened when Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) was on his feet with a demand for immediate consideration of his resolution for a joint congressional investigation of TVA. Barkley objected, asserting that the inquiry should not be conducted by "partial investigators." (Bridges has openly asserted that he wishes to be a member of the investigating committee.)

The New Hampshire senator charged that President Roosevelt had convicted an "innocent man" at a "sort of drum-head trial" which did not get at "any of the facts."

Richard Whitney declared at a bankruptcy hearing today that the assets of his suspended Wall street firm would "far exceed" the liabilities "if properly administered."

Whitney, who said he owed his brother nearly $3,000,000 and had borrowed $950,000 from other sources during the few weeks that preceded his firm's suspension from the New York stock exchange, asserted Richard Whitney and company still had "the ability to borrow" when it filed a bankruptcy petition on March 8.

Toward the end of a long recital of financial maneuverings that culminated in his expulsion from the exchange and his plea of guilty to two grand larceny indictments, Whitney was asked when it was that he first believed his firm to be insolvent. He replied that insolvency was "a legal question."

Bertram F. Shipman, counsel for the receiver, said: "One is insolvent when the value of his assets is less than the amount of his liabilities. Weren't you insolvent some time before you filed your bankruptcy petition on March 8?"

"Not in my estimation," Whitney answered. "I think the assets far exceeded the liabilities and still do if properly administered."

Mexico Plucks a Prune

UNTIL recently Latin American nations have found foreign capital indispensable to industrial growth. Few have been willing to cut themselves free from outside investors or to offend sources of capital. In expropriating the oil industry last week Mexico virtually declared her economic independence, paving the way for similar action by other undeveloped countries.

But there are many indications that the Mexican picture is not an altogether happy one. Brushing aside the remote possibility of diplomatic pressure, the government stands to lose in a number of ways. Obviously revenue from taxation and royalties will no longer come in from the petroleum industry. New directors of the industry—untreated representatives of workers and the state itself—are suddenly faced with serious problems. They must find markets for 68 per cent of their annual output and the big oil interests have been alienated by expropriation.

Once markets are found, the new managers must secure tankers among the 17 per cent of the total tonnage not controlled by offended interests. Meanwhile the peso drops on the foreign exchange and Mexican economic welfare remains largely dependent upon the good will of the United States government and upon continued purchase of Mexican silver.

Workers in whose interests the action was said to have been taken are faced with similar uncertainties. No longer do they have the support of the labor board, the encouragement of the Mexican supreme court and the backing of the state in asking increased benefits. Like workers in all state-controlled industries, their bargaining power is gone.

There is little doubt that expropriation is a well thought-out step in Cardenas' program of "Mexico for Mexicans." From the standpoint of both size and value, the oil industry was one of the economic plums of the country. But, faced with all the problems of a large-scale management and the necessity for overcoming foreign resentment, Mexico may discover that her plum has shriveled and become an economic prune.

Education—The Fourth Necessity

HAS YOUR MONEY gone to your head? In an intellectual sense, that is? If it has, then you are not a member of the typical American family that spends one out of three dollars for food and only 40 cents out of every $100 for educational purposes.

The survey, "How We Spend Our Money" by Maxwell S. Stewart, sums up the situation by stating that 75 cents out of every dollar is spent for the three great necessities: food, clothing and shelter.

civilization we have not seen fit to add to these first essentials. Our ability to use and develop the plentiful supply of raw materials which provide food, clothing and shelter has made America great, but in a world which is seeing all old standards challenged, the question arises can these material necessities keep America great?

It seems that our educational facilities have developed almost in spite of ourselves for we have never concentrated on education to the extent that we have worked on the three material necessities.

A more determined effort to link education up with our technical and material development would undoubtedly help us to check the economic world as it attempts to run away with us. Planned economies and the use of science in production and distribution are workable only when the great mass of people is educated to understand the changing world. Forty cents out of $100 is not enough to bring education abreast of food, clothing and shelter.

Suggestions For The Farmer

THE LATEST news of interest to Iowa farmers comes from far-away Geneva, Switzerland. There the first "agricultural parliament," held under the auspices of the international labor office of the League of Nations, has just decided that agricultural workers, as well as industrial workers, deserve holidays with pay.

That was the conclusion reached by delegates from 22 countries, including qualified experts and representatives of governments, salaried agricultural workers, large and small employers, and share-croppers.

It is only fair to assume that such a body was quite serious in its principal suggestion on how to lift the agricultural worker, better known to Iowans as "hired man," to a status equaling that of his fellow industrial laborer.

But the members of the "agricultural parliament" must not be offended if they hear a bit of derisive laughter coming from mid-west farmers, who for the most part, work just as hard as their hired men and who quite often receive little more for their own needs than they dole out to their employes in wages.

We can not help feeling that through an ignorance of farm psychology the international body has hitched the horse to the wrong end of the cart.

Pay higher wages. The farmer will do so whenever possible. Raise farm prices to a parity with industrial prices. By all means, yes.

Those things the farmer and his hired man can agree to, but a vacation with pay—that is something entirely foreign to the understanding of men accustomed to working seven days a week for 52 weeks of the year, and will continue to be so as long as farms and farmers exist.

WILD SWANS

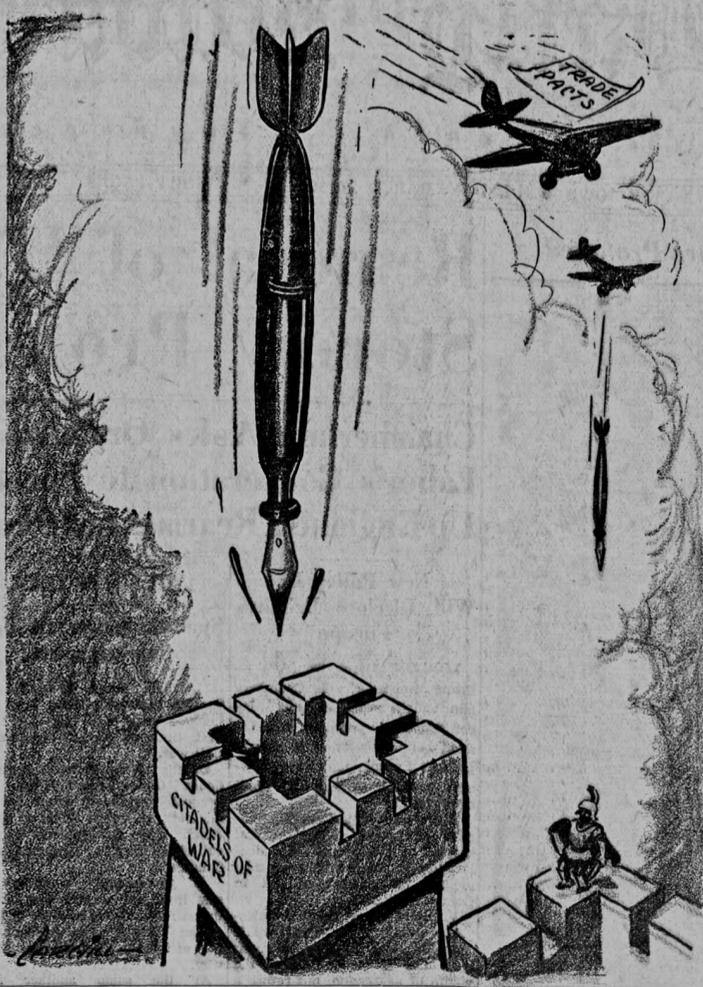

A flock of 1,600 whistling swans was observed at the famous waterfowl grounds of the Susquehanna flats, near Havre de Grace, Md., by a group of staff members of the United States Biological Survey and conservationists who attended the third North American Wildlife conference held recently in Baltimore. For that spot this was an unusually large concentration of the handsome, white-plumed, black-billed and black-footed birds.

In the summer of 1936 the biological survey announced that a bill passed by congress would reinforce and extend federal authority over migratory birds. The law was designed to make effective in this country a convention between the United States and Mexico for protection of migratory birds and beasts. Federal authority over migratory birds previously had depended on the treaty with Great Britain. The Mexican convention reinforces this authority by providing a dual basis for United States regulations to conserve ducks, geese, and other migrants. It is estimated that of the waterfowl on this continent approximately 90 per cent raise their families in Canada, the western arctic and Mackenzie delta being chosen by the majority as their nesting grounds.

Twice a year wild swans rest for a week on Island Lake, a game sanctuary in the Medicine Hat district, on their way to and from the northern breeding grounds. In 1930 about 10,000 of the birds gathered there, effectively disposing of the assertion that fewer than 1,000 wild swans were left on the North American continent. In their annual pilgrimage to the far Canadian north the birds are said to rest in Mexico. They then fly to California and Oregon.

Treat Fundamental Cause To Cure Dyspepsia or Indigestion

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The treatment of dyspepsia or indigestion should not be directed at the stomach alone. We have tried to point out in the former articles this week how often disturbances elsewhere in the body, as the gall bladder, produces reflex stomach symptoms. These seem to come directly from the stomach and to be due to stomach disease, but it is only by treating the fundamental causes that we can clear up the stomach.

There are any number of medicines which have an influence on the stomach. With them practically any kind of a functional change can be made in the secretions and movements of that organ. Probably the commonest "stomach" medicine is bicarbonate of soda, because probably the commonest functional upset of the stomach is an increase in the hydrochloric acid and bicarbonate of soda neutralizes this.

Did you know that Margarette Shanna, (Smith to you) "Arnold Grimm's Daughter" star, attended this very university? She was responsible for "discovering" Macdonald Carey of "First Nighter" who was a classmate of hers here, and who will perhaps be remembered by persons on the campus.

We have a surprise in store for you tonight, Dorothy Mackail, silent screen star, who will guest star on the Bing Crosby program, has been secretly practicing on a bazooka to show Bob Burns that he isn't the only one who can handle pieces of pipe.

When Edgar Bergen had a birthday and friends arranged a surprise party, "Dottie" Lamour, above, appeared with a cake for the guest of honor and a saw with which to cut it. As a tribute to Charlie, Edgar's birthday cake was made of high quality white pine!

Phil Baker will have a gala farewell party on his broadcast over CBS Sunday before he leaves for New York. All sorts of surprises are planned and there's no telling who will be dropping in on the program to bid the jester goodbye.

Jack Pearl, after a two-month Hollywood vacation, has returned to New York to discuss a deal for a summer ether show.

Here's a good one on Peter Van Steeden. He was riding the subway the other day when he heard a man and a woman discussing the way in which he had handled some comedy lines on a Fred Allen show the night before. "I didn't think Peter Van Steeden was so much of a comedian till I heard him last night," the man remarked. "Oh, he's always been swell!" added the woman. Just then Peter came to his station. He got up, turned to the couple, said, "Thanks," and walked out of the train leaving two mystified passengers behind him.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—So you want to write a play!

Well, that's fine and I hope you win. But...

More than 9,000 plays were copyrighted in Washington last year.

Of these only about 1 per cent were produced on Broadway. And less than 10 per cent of these made any appreciable amount of money.

So you can see your work is cut out for you.

Most of the big producers in New York get about 40 plays a week to read. They drop on their desks like autumn leaves. Some of these come directly from the authors, but a majority is presented through the regular agent channels.

This is the accepted way to do business. Let a play-agent read your manuscript. He will tell you quickly enough whether it has merit. If he considers it sales-worthy, he will accept it and try to peddle it. He knows all the markets and all the arguments. And for his troubles he takes 10 per cent, which is dirt cheap.

Maintain Reputation

Most play-agents have a prestige to maintain and never touch manuscripts which, in their opinion, haven't every chance to be sold. This assures a producer any manuscript delivered is well worth his time. Without this middle-man he would be swamped with second-rate goods.

Most producers, as in the case of Milton Shubert, use the staff system in reading plays. Three readers will study the play. Then they write a brief synopsis and set down their opinions. If two of the three recommend it the producer then reads it himself. After this he makes up his own mind.

It is interesting to note that plays in America are presented in manuscript form, but abroad they are set up in type. This is okay for the foreign market, but printing in the U. S. is too expensive. It is better anyway, to have yours in manuscript form, so that corrections and deletions may be penciled in after your consultation with the producer, providing of course that you get that close to a producer.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—The colony's getting to be a real family-minded place, even on the screen.

Several studios, after looking at what "The Jones Family" has done for 20th Century-Fox, already have chimed in with parallel fireside groups. And before long we expect all the lots to have their individual version of those versatile, problem-beset Joneses.

M-G-M is offering the Harcys, who made their bow in "A Family Affair," continued their adventures in "You're Only Young Once," and currently are in the throes of a new one called "Judge Hardy's Children." Like the Joneses, the Harcys "just grew" as a film perennial. The first one was intended to be a program-filler, but it clicked, and the second did better. Now the studio plans a series of 12 features with the same characters—Lewis Stone as the judge, and Mickey Rooney, Cecilia Parker, Janet Beecher, Ann Rutherford, et al.

R-K-O is projecting a series of a slightly different type—what might be called a pre-family saga. Theirs will concern the adventures of a young married couple, but the possibilities of a future "family cycle" are obvious.

A "Quickie" Start

The Joneses, as a movie family, date from Christmas, 1935. On Christmas eve the first one, called "Every Saturday Night," was completed after 13 days shooting—a genuine quickie, costing next to nothing. It was based on a little theater play by Katharine Cavanaugh, prolific playwright who worked on this film and the next, then sold the characters for other movie writers to work. So far there have been nine Jones adventures, with comparatively few changes in cast. Shirley Deane replaced June Lang as the daughter—when June stepped up to the "A" class—and there have been additions such as Russell Gleason, son-in-law, and Marvin Stephens, adopted son. At last reports the players, through long association, were actually beginning to develop a family resemblance.

Engineers Discuss Recent Construction, Details of Concrete

Two representatives of the Portland Cement association spoke at a meeting of the Iowa chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers yesterday afternoon in the senior civil room in the engineering building.

The speakers were Fred Loy, field engineer for eastern Iowa, and E. W. Thorson, district structural engineer for Iowa. Their topic was "Architectural Concrete Construction."

In their talks they explained details and problems in recent concrete construction in Iowa and plans for new buildings around the state.

Judge Landis Strikes at Card's Farm System

Major League 'Czar' Makes Free Agents of Estimated 100 Players, Fines Owners $2,176

By GAYLE TALBOT
BELLEAIR, Fla., March 23 (AP) — In a sweeping denunciation of the St. Louis Cardinals system of "working agreements" with minor league clubs, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis made free agents today of an estimated 100 players belonging to six midwest teams and fined offending owners $2,176.

The baseball czar set free all players except one belonging to Cedar Rapids of the Three-Eye league, and all owned by Monett of the Arkansas-Missouri league, Mitchell of the Nebraska State league, Fayetteville of the Arkansas-Missouri, Crookston of the Northern league and Newport of the Northeast Arkansas league.

In addition, Springfield, (Mo.) of the Western Association was fined $1,000 for failing to keep its cards above the table. Cedar Rapids and Sacramento, the latter of the Pacific Coast league, were each penalized $388.

Judge Landis promised an additional statement within a fortnight, in which he was expected to list all of the players affected by today's decision. He would not say today whether a player now with a major league team was involved.

In order not to place too great a hardship on the teams whose players were declared free agents, the judge stipulated that all except one of Monett would be permitted to sign back for the 1938 season. The 17 Monett performers must look for other jobs. Branch Rickey at nearby St. Petersburg was as befuddled as the baseball writers until he had read the document four times. The teeth were well hidden in the big word puzzle, but they were there.

"I can't see how it's going to affect us yet," said Rickey. "The Springfield decision seems harsh, but I'll have to digest the whole thing better before I can make a real statement."

Basis of the entire ruckus was the decision discloses, a bit of work that has been going on between the Cardinals and Cedar Rapids for the last two seasons. Cedar Rapids wasn't listed as a Card affiliate, yet, says the judge. "Investigation establishes beyond doubt or question that the Cedar Rapids club and its affiliates in 1936 and 1937 were merely adjuncts to the St. Louis system and that St. Louis controlled the players of two clubs in each of the three class "D" leagues in 1936 and in each of four class "D" leagues in 1937.

"Throughout this period," the judge continued, "St. Louis and Cedar Rapids represented that there was no agreement or understanding between them, and so certified officially in purported compliance with the rules."

There was one touch of humor in the decision, when you finally located it. Judge Landis explained how the Cedar Rapids investigation happened to begin. In 1936 and 1937, his office noted, Cedar Rapids suddenly built up an extensive farm system when everybody knew it was a community enterprise and non-profit making. So one of the judge's operatives looked up the bank account of this burgeoning outfit and discovered it was exactly $35,651.

What makes the decision not quite so funny is the fact that any player who has been with Cedar Rapids, even momentarily, since they began doing business with the Cards two years ago undoubtedly will be declared free when Landis gets around to announcing names. There might be a player or two of prominence in the bunch.

Hawklets Start Grid Workouts

Coach Herb Cormack greeted 26 City high gridlers last night at Shrader field in the first spring practice drill of the season. Cormack devoted the workout to limbering up exercises and passing drills.

Veterans who appeared last night were Ken Walsh and John Maher, ends; Bob Beck and Jack Hirt, tackles, and Dave Wright, center. Bob Buckley and Ted Lewis were the lone backfield veterans that made their appearance. However, many of the letter men are confining their time to the track season, including Co-captains Ted McLaughlin and Joe McGinnis. Outstanding men who should be valuable next year to Cormack and who participated in the first drill are Jay Walden, former St. Pat's star and Bob King, fleet backfield candidate.

'Terrible' Terry Does an About Face

By PAUL MICKELSON
BATON ROUGE, La., March 23 (AP) — Colonel William Harold "The Terrible" Terry is going through a strange spring training season in this land of sociable people, crawfish, gumbo and oil.

The terrible man's aim is to become a member in perfect standing in the good fellowship club and he's working harder on his training program than the rawest rookie in his New York Giant camp. All day and part of the night, except for his master-minding activities and conferences with his oil associates hereabouts, the colonel struggles on to achieve his goal.

Awed baseball writers, whom he lambasted so unmercifully in his magazine piece last January, even say the colonel came to camp with a copy of Emily Post's latest edition on etiquette and a frayed volume of Dale Carnegie's book "How to Win Friends and Influence People." To one flabbergasted author, he is reported to have vowed to make good as a good guy if "I have to give every newsboy my private telephone number."

All writers know the colonel's feeling in the matter. It happens to all of us. We lambast someone in print one day and feel remorseful the very next. And so it is with the colonel. For the time being anyway, he has repented.

Even his best friends hardly know him these balmy days. He holds press conferences daily, answers all the questions he can, like the other 15 major league managers do, and once he went so far as to show the harried newshawks copies of letters and telegrams concerning the condition of pitcher "Slick" Castleman.

One reason for "Terrible Terry's" change of tempered pace lies behind his venture in the writing business. When he wrote his magazine piece, he didn't dream of the sensation it would create. The piece actually hurt him more than he realized. It is true, he made a lot of friends but he made more enemies. Most of all he made several new enemies for the National league at the very time the senior loop—shelacked in three World Series games—needed friends the most.

And the recent magazine story written by Tom Meany of the

New York World Telegram, in which the Terry-ized league was depicted as a minor league outfit, didn't help the situation. It convinced the "Terrible Man" and other baseball men that the pen really is mightier than a ball bat and twice as dangerous if not handled properly.

Two other causes for Terry's current sweetness campaign are the rosy prospects of his club to win its third straight pennant and his almost alarming success in the oil business, his first love. Though the pitching staff still is a bit shaky, the Giants look 20 per cent stronger than a year ago and should never be worse than a short putt from first place. And the oil business? Why, the good colonel, at his present speed, can't miss becoming a millionaire by the time he's 40.

Last official reports placed the colonel's certain income from his oil connections at $16,000 a year without the extra cuts and coupons. Since he got the Giants to do their spring training at this oil center and give the city nationwide publicity, he's become a figure in Standard Oil. Twice, since he's been here, he has made the oil men stand on their seats with rousing speeches.

All in all, you can readily understand the colonel has cause for good cheer this spring. How long he will smile, answer questions that don't always produce good answer and a sweet person is hard to say. The accompanying baseball writers are evenly divided on the subject.

"No rookie ever made a great comeback," said one. "Bill's a cinch to make the league for great guys."

"Nope," says another who honestly hopes he's wrong. "Bill is like a sack of peanuts. He's got so much good nature and that's all."

Personally, I can't guess, but if they'd only discover an oil well near the Polo grounds, I'd bet all I had that Bill would forever remain sweet William."

Tanksters Set For Start Of National Meet

Iowa's Swimmers Boast Good Record For Past 5 Years

Due to arrive in New Brunswick, N. J., last night, after their 1,100-mile jaunt from Iowa City, Iowa's Old Gold swimmers today await the opening gun, starting the preliminaries of the N. C. A. A. swimming championships in the Rutgers pool tomorrow morning. On the eve of the last meet of the season for the Armbrustermen, a perusal of the record for the past five years discloses a definite upward trend of Hawk swim fortunes.

It was in 1934 that the Hawks started making their presence felt in Big Ten competition. That year they finished second with 20 points, the best record and a greater point total than any Hawkeye team had compiled up to that time.

In 1935, although boosting their point total to 24 points for a new Iowa high, they slipped to third place. The following year they put an end to a five-year string of wins compiled by a series of great Michigan teams, by coming through to a conference championship. In 1937 and 1938 they finished in third place scoring 23 and 20 points, respectively. In 20 meets during the last five years, they have bowed only to Michigan. Of their 20 wins during this time, 18 have been scored over conference rivals. Few Big Ten teams can boast of a better record than that.

The young lady took this all very seriously and thanked the Iowan very much indeed. After she had turned away and dove into the pool, the well-pleased-with-himself Hawkeye turned to a bystander and inquired as to the lady's identity.

"That's Katherine Rawls," was the reply.

Drake Expected to Make Strong Bid for Quadrangular Crown

Diagonal Fetes State Champs

DIAGONAL, March 23 (AP)—An estimated 2,000 persons crowded into this town of 577 population today to pay tribute to a basketball team and its coach who never played a game of high school or college basketball in his life.

Coach O. C. "Pop" Varner put his 1938 Iowa high school championship basketball team on display at a county holiday barbecue, schools were dismissed, five bands played, and Gov. Nelson Kraschel praised the squad of 12 boys who won the title.

Diagonal high school has 90 students, about 50 boys. "I changed my defense from man-to-man to the zone system late in the season," explained Coach Varner commenting on his team's success. "Eugene Pine, my star forward, was injured and out eight games. I shifted my guards to forwards and visa versa.

"The result was I had men who could play anywhere. Whenever one player was bottled up there always seemed to be another who could come through," he said.

A resident of ancient Athens could be excused for five or 10 years if 6,000 citizens so voted.

Bulldogs Will Seek to Replace Hawkeyes as State Champions

Drake, again the chief challenger for the University of Iowa's quadrangular track crown, will make its strongest attempt to oust the Hawkeyes from the top spot in the seventh quadrangular indoor track meet at the fieldhouse tomorrow night.

Failure in the last four contests put the Bulldogs in second place with Iowa State and Grinnell consistent trailers. In the final indoor meet of the year for the entire squad, the Hawkeye team expects the duel to be with Drake, but Iowa State and Grinnell have enough strength to cut in for a large share of the points, and may possibly decide the outcome of the affair.

Drake's well-balanced team will make for some great duels in many of the events. Iowa, Iowa State and Drake have mile relay teams capable of threatening the 3:21.9 record. The Bulldogs are also capable of threatening Iowa in the half mile relay and the mile team race.

In the sprint Drake will have Robinson, Missouri Valley sprint champion defending his quad meet title against Fred Teufel of Iowa and Iowa State's 200-pound sprinter, Wilder.

Bush Lamb and John Collinge will represent Iowa in both high and low hurdles against Tulen and White of Drake in the Tules and Powers of Grinnell, defending champion in the lows.

Lack of a quarter mile race will hamper the Hawkeyes' scoring power in the running events. Drake, but Jimmy Lyle, holder of the half mile mark, will run against Schlotterbeck of Grinnell and Bailey of Iowa State, the men most likely to endanger the 1:57.7 record.

Dale Roberts may establish a new pole vault record if he can equal the 13-foot mark he made at Wisconsin several weeks ago. The present record is 12 feet 9 1/2 inches.

Phi Kappa Psi Wins First in Fraternity Boxing Tournament

A checkup on the points earned in the recently completed fraternity boxing tournament shows that Phi Kappa Psi won the trophy by amassing a total of 15 points. Sigma Chi was second with 13 and Sigma Nu third with 12. Points were awarded on a basis of five for winning first in each of the various weights, three for second and one for each knockout or technical knockout scored during the tourney.

Regulars Beat Yannigans, 5-3, In Practice Tilt

The Hawkeye Regulars got only four hits off Bob Speedy, sophomore Yannigan hurler, but they were enough to beat the second-stringers, 5-3, in an intra-squad baseball game yesterday. Despite the colder weather yesterday, the pitchers seemed bothered with nothing but early season wildness.

Speedy held the Regulars without a hit until the last half of the third while Art Manush and Keith Wymore, Regular hurlers, gave up four hits between them. Bob Knapp was the big gun of the Yannigan attack, banging out a double and a single in three trips to the plate but Jim George, playing third base for the Regulars looked the best on the field. Besides socking a triple, George turned in two sparkling fielding gems.

Charlie McClellan, backstopping for the Regulars, and Erwin Prasse, second base guardian, hit doubles during the course of the abbreviated contest and Elmer Bratten, first baseman, got a single base knock to round out the first squad's attack.

Members of the Chicago White Sox had a lot to say about the trading of Zeke Bonura for Joe Kuhel of the Washington Senators. Most of the players agree that the addition of Kuhel to their infield will make the Chicago inner line of defense very potent but most of them hate to see the likeable Zeke traded.

Luke Appling, hard-hitting shortstop of the Windy City nine, was not sorry to see Bonura depart. "That should mean 40 more hits for me this year," said Appling. "Twenty that Bonura will let go through him and 20 more that Kuhel won't get."

It makes sense when you figure it out.

No Names

It is still impossible to divulge names but the story can now be told of how an Iowa swimmer is going to give swimming lessons to Katherine Rawls by correspondence.

It seems that a group of Hawkeye mermen were walking from their hotel to the pool while spending that pleasant week in Florida during Christmas vacation.

A young lady in a nice long car drove up and offered to take the men to the pool. Three or four of them accepted and during the ride one of the Hawks struck up a conversation with the driver.

Embarrassed?

After the Iowa swimmers had donned bathing suits and entered the water, they found the young lady already dressed and walking around the pool. The same Hawkeye who had been so friendly with her in the car grew very big-hearted and offered to

Church Has 75th Birthday Diamond Jubilee Surrounded by Traditions; Honor Mrs. Pearre

Many traditions and accomplishments of 75 years of active life are dear to the members of the Iowa City Christian church, which will observe its diamond jubilee Sunday with three services in the church building.

The unique experience of the congregation and one which lends prestige to the local group is the fact that the Christian Women's Board of Missions, for 46 years a leading missionary movement of the Disciples of Christ, was established through the leadership of Mrs. S. E. Pearre, wife of the second pastor of the Iowa City congregation.

It was in 1874 that Mrs. Pearre, inspired by the experiences of Mrs. Mary Thacher, wife of the president of the university, and by her acquaintance with two young persons who had given to missions even though scarcely out of want themselves, presented to the national convention of the denomination in Cincinnati the ideal of the Christian Women's Board of Missions, and the movement was launched by a band of 75 ardent women workers.

Their object was to cultivate missionary spirit, encourage mis-

Saturday V. Kell Will Play For Bohemian Ball

Students of the school of fine arts will dance in unconventional costumes to the music of Vette Kell and his orchestra at the Bohemian Ball Saturday from 9 to 12 p.m. in the lounge of the fine arts building.

A variety of costumes will be worn, ranging from colorful skirts and aprons suggesting the French peasant motif to bold gaudy garments of mad artists of the Bohemian era in Paris. Well-dressed party goers may even break out in overalls, slacks, lounging pajamas, bright colored shirts, loud flowering cravats, flashy sashes and many other rediscovered treasures from the old attic trunk.

Any costume is acceptable, but those more in keeping with the Bohemian theme are preferred. Coeds may appear in styles of the 90's; they may wear smocks and berets or the sweater and tight skirt of the French apache girls. Men may go as artists, gendarmes, apaches or respectable citizens.

The lounge will represent the interior of a studio and will be flanked by two French cafes. Murals satirizing well-known artists and people on the campus will decorate the walls.

Physiotherapist Speaks Before Club Members

"Physiotherapy came into prominence during the World war; previous to that time it had been called medical gymnastics and massage," Helen Foss, a physiotherapist in the college of medicine, told the members of the Altrusa club at a noon meeting yesterday in the S. P. C. S. dining room.

The club is reviving an old custom of speeches about the work of its newer members. Miss Foss was the first to speak.

Training in either physical education or medicine is necessary for the physiotherapist, according to Miss Foss. There are 13 approved schools in the country for this training, she said.

Treatment consists of heat applications which relax the patient, massage and exercise, the speaker said. There is an average of 1,000 treatments given a month here, the largest numbers of which are arthritis cases, she explained.

An important phase of the treatment is that of instructing each patient how to carry on the work at home, Miss Foss concluded.

Rev. Jones To Continue Services

The Rev. Ilton T. Jones will continue the series of pre-Easter services on "The Sermon on the Mount" at 7:15 this evening in the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Dwight K. Curtis will sing several selections, and Mrs. William Huey will accompany her on the piano.

Iowa City's Spring Returns to Normal At 41-55 Degrees

Iowa City's spring returned to normal yesterday with temperatures ranging between 41 and 55 degrees, the hydraulics laboratory report said.

The high mark was only one degree above normal, and the lowest reading was 11 degrees above normal.

Rainfall early yesterday totaled .07 of an inch, leaving the 1938 precipitation .63 of an inch above normal.

Picnic Scenes Lure Students From Campus

"The grass," so the song has it, "is growing greener all the time." And we, so the professors have it, are growing duller all the time. Ah, spring!

Spring—picnic—synonyms. Picnic—picnic spot—synonyms. Picnic spot—Cedar valley quarries.

The quarries, best-loved of all picnic spots, are about 20 miles east of Iowa City on primary route 1. Cool and deep, the green waters of the old stone quarries are a relief after a strenuous day of classes. Rocks at the water's edge afford a level spot to spread food and beverages for the best picnic of all.

More recently opened is Lake Maebribe state park, north of Iowa City. It, too, offers a place for swimming, and a safer place than the quarry pool. The new lake, provided by a large dam, has a sand beach and a quaint stone bathing house. The wooded hills that surround the lake offer perfect picnic places.

South of Iowa City the bank of the river about a mile from the lower sand road offers a lovely picnic spot known to many Iowa citizens.

Westward—some of us like to picnic at the Amnata colonies. Closer in is an island that is reached by crossing the dam at Coralville. The Palisades state park northeast of town lures many a picnicker who doesn't want to pack a lunch, for the chicken dinners that are served put many a lunch to shame.

So, in car or on foot, those of us who wish to be out-of-doors have within a radius of 25 miles some of the loveliest picnic spots in all of Iowa.

U. S. Officers To Arrive By Plane Today

To Accept Prospective Flying Candidates For Air Corps

A flying cadet examining board composed of three officers of the United States army will arrive in Iowa City today by airplane for the purpose of accepting qualified candidates for flying training in the army air corps.

The officers, Lieut. Col. C. L. Beaven, M. C., Maj. Isaiah Davies, A. C., and 1st Lieut. R. F. Fulton, A. C., all of the United States army, were appointed by the war department to visit various colleges for the purpose of reviewing candidates. As a part of the campaign Lieutenant Colonel Beaven will discuss "Air Corps and Cadet Life" at 7:15 tonight in the chemistry auditorium.

The group of officers left Randolph Field in San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 14. Since then they have visited colleges in Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Missouri. They are coming to Iowa City from Washington university in St. Louis.

Beginning Friday morning and ending March 29 the board will conduct physical examinations for possible candidates at the postoffice.

The candidates must be male citizens of the United States who are not married, between the ages of 20 and 27 years and must have completed two or more years of work at recognized colleges or universities. Those who have not completed two years of college are required to pass a special examination.

Candidates accepted will receive flying training at the Army Corps Training Center, Randolph and Kelly Fields, near San Antonio, Tex. New classes of 344 students each begin training at Randolph Field March 1, July 1 and October 15 of each year.

SUI Graduate of 1883 Named Speaker At Baccalaureate

Dr. Charles Reynolds Brown, 75-year-old dean-emeritus of the Yale university divinity school and nationally known author, will appear at the university's commencement June 5 as baccalaureate speaker, Prof. F. G. Higbee, director of convocations, announced yesterday.

Dean - Emeritus Brown was graduated from the University of Iowa in June, 1883, with a B.A. degree. This year, 55 years later, he will meet with his classmates of 1883 for the official reunion, besides being the visiting speaker at the commencement.

The distinguished clergyman earned his M.A. degree at Iowa in 1886, and was pastor of the First Congregational church of Oakland, Cal., for 15 years. Between 1911 and 1928, he was made dean-emeritus.

Despite advancing years, he has averaged nearly a book each

Sovereignty Safe, Says Dailey

Colonel Is Opposed to Entangling Alliances; Advocates Increase in Navy

"It is my fixed opinion that, as long as we have a sufficiently well-trained land, sea and air force and stand ready to use it to enroach upon our sovereignty against any aggressor, no attempt will ever be made," Col. George F. N. Dailey, professor of military science and tactics declared last night in an address to the cadet officer's club in Iowa Union.
Colonel Dailey spoke in regard to the present situation of unrest throughout the world and discussed what action he believed should be taken by the representatives of the people in order that the present form of government might not be jeopardized.
He said that he was in accord with the president's legislative program which advocates an increase in the navy but that he was opposed to entangling alliances with any powers outside of the Americas.
"But I do believe," he said, "that the United States should give any moral help that it may be able to do towards bringing about peace in Europe."

Colonel Dailey said that he favored the strengthening of our relations with Canada and all the Central and South American countries and the immediate reaffirming of the principle of the Monroe Doctrine.
"The world should be told that we have no interest in aggression but that any attempt to set foot on South or North American soil will be resisted to the last man!" he declared.
He advocated cutting down the present C. C. C.
"Certain organizations now existing in the United States, such as the nazi camps, are a potential menace to its security. These, together with communist organizations, should be stamped out."
"While it may not be our desire to increase our armed forces, such a decision is forced upon us in the interest of self preservation and our desire to continue with a democratic form of government. We therefore have no choice and must accept the situation," he concluded.

Kadlec Fines 3 Truck Drivers

Three truck drivers were fined for traffic violations in Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec's court yesterday.
Dwight Hastings, Iowa City, charged with exceeding the speed limit while driving a truck near Iowa City was fined $5 and costs. He had been stopped Tuesday by Highway Patrolman Richard Hohl.
Charles Vermae, Iowa City, was fined $10 and costs for operating a truck without a chauffeur's license. The fine was suspended on condition he attend the traffic school. Vermae was stopped March 7 by Highway Patrolman Edwin Freese.
Cecil Long, Washington, was fined $10 and costs for overloading a cattle truck in excess of his license allowance. The offense occurred Sunday on U. S. highway 218, where Long was stopped by Patrolman Hohl.

To Get $92,644 Exemption Fee

Credit amounting to $92,644.25 on the first half of 1937 taxes will be received by 3,131 Johnson county homestead owners in the form of homestead tax credits this week, according to County Treasurer W. E. Smith. The check will be mailed by state tax officials in Des Moines to the county treasurer.
The exemption is 25 mills on the first $2,500, with the regular tax rate on the remainder. The maximum amount of exemption is $62.50.
County homestead owners will receive $92,613.84 in tax exemptions later in the year, which will be credited against second-half taxes.

St. Mary Alums To Meet Sunday

There will be a meeting of the St. Mary's high school alumni association at 4 p.m. Sunday in the school assembly hall, Jess Hotz, president, said yesterday.

City Will Apply for WPA Aid for Proposed Sewer Project

Gartzke Ordered to Prepare Plans for Council Examination

Cost of Materials For Sunnyside Project Set at $9,600

City Engineer Fred Gartzke was authorized by the city council yesterday to apply to the Works Progress administration for federal aid to be available for the proposed Sunnyside sewer project.

He was also ordered to prepare plans and specifications of the proposed improvement, recently urged by residents of southeast Iowa City, for presentation at an early council meeting.

Gartzke said yesterday his preliminary estimates show that the cost of materials would be approximately $9,600. No estimate on the cost of labor has been made.

The WPA would supply the labor, in event Iowa City's application is accepted, Gartzke said. Otherwise, the project would be open for bids by private contractors, if it is approved by the city council.

More than two miles of sewer pipe will be laid, according to the city engineer's preliminary plans. This includes 8,825 feet of eight-inch pipe, and 2,558 feet of 10-inch pipe.

The route of the sewer would be: From the manhole on Clinton street, 555 feet south of Benton street; then southeasterly across the sewage disposal plant property to a manhole to be constructed at a point on the east line of Dubuque street produced.

First street, from the intersection with Dubuque street to Maiden lane; Second street, from Cook street to Maiden lane; Cook street from First street to the south city limits.

Third street from Cook street to Maiden lane; across the properties of Flora E. Lucas, William and Winnie Hughes, and Martha Finefield and Enoch Davis, running 10 feet north of the south city limits.

Highland avenue from Keokuk street to a point 100 feet west of Yewell street; Keokuk street from Highland avenue to a point 100 feet south of Kirkwood avenue.

Marcy street from Highland avenue south to 100 feet from Kirkwood avenue; Friendly avenue from Marcy street to a point 100 feet west of Yewell street.

Ginter avenue from Marcy street to a point 70 feet west of Pickard street; Lukirk street from Highland avenue to a point 70 feet south of Ginter avenue.

Pickard street from Friendly avenue to a point 200 feet north of Friendly avenue; Pickard street from Friendly avenue to a point 200 feet south of Friendly avenue.

Howell street from Ginter avenue to the manhole 200 feet north of Ginter.

Plans and specifications, if they are approved by the state board of health, will be laid before the city council for consideration.

Seafood 'Feed' Held by Lodge

More than 350 members attended the annual Moose lodge seafood dinner Tuesday night in the club rooms. During the program, a $100 check was presented to the Roy L. Chopek Post No. 17 of the American Legion for furniture for its new offices in the community building.

Judge James P. Gaffney, Judge Harold D. Evans, Mayor Myron J. Walker, Chief of Police W. H. Bender, Earl B. Kurtz and Leo Kohl spoke at the dinner, and Col. Will J. Hayek served as toastmaster.

C. A. "Pete" Russell and Ivan Hunter who brought the club a moose from Canada which was served at a dinner last fall, were given one-year memberships.

The ladies of the Moose served seven varieties of seafood—shrimp, sea scallops, red snapper, fried oysters, lobsters, frog legs and crab meat—to the guests.

Senior Girls Gain School Championship

An enthusiastic crowd saw St. Patrick's senior girls win their high school's basketball championship when they beat the juniors, 41-20, Tuesday night.

In a preliminary contest, the sophomores beat the freshmen, 29-20.

AROUND THE TOWN

With TOM JOHNSON

Of course, what I don't know about the state of the nation would fill the congressional library, but I was surprised to hear last night that perhaps it's best after all.

For one thing, there's the rumor floating about that the country is pretty bad off. I, apparently, haven't noticed it. But, that's what they say, and until I learn differently, will accept it.

Iowa City business men have noticed, more than casually, the much-talked-of "recession," and they haven't been cheered by it.

The bottom hasn't dropped out of everything, you understand, but some feel it is at least half-way en route.

What they mean by that, I don't know. Business has always managed to get along.

Last night, though, they were talking of policies, which a decade ago would have been sneered at. I mean that the government will take over the railroads.

That may or may not be for the best, but it may indicate that at least one big business can't steer around the rocks.

So, some expect to see governments engineering railroads within the next six months.

It will, at least, be an interesting experiment — if it comes to pass. Some might even go so far as to call it "socialism."

And, to change the subject and return to reality — and not mere

Traffic School Meets Tonight

Rights of pedestrians and drivers at intersections and on arterial highways will be stressed by Charles A. Bowman in a discussion of "Right of Way" at the fourth session of the Iowa City traffic school at 7:30 tonight in the city council chambers. Bowman is secretary of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

Related parts of the Iowa traffic code will be outlined by Police Judge Carson, followed by an open discussion.

Four more traffic violators were sentenced this week to attend the school. Anyone may attend the sessions.

speculation, what about yesterday's city council meeting?

There was one noticeable feature — the passing of candy.

City Attorney Robert Larson was the distributor, and all except City Clerk Grover Watson and Councilman John F. Reilly munched the sweets during the session.

Watson only had one piece, and Professor Reilly admitted he was "off of sweets."

Attorney Larson, arriving from a Florida wedding trip, was late for the meeting. He reached Iowa City at 12:30 p.m., brushed up, and sat with the council at 1:30 — a half-hour late.

He occupied most of his time opening a sheaf of mail, discarding this, and putting aside that — for answers.

"Armored tanks," Chief of Staff Malin Craig informed the house committee yesterday, "have lost much of their terror."

Well, general, you may be right. But, during the next war, if your infantry runs for safety when those mechanized dinosaurs approach, don't be too surprised.

Titian was 98 when he painted his historical canvas, "The Battle of Lepanto."

Iowa Citizens Elected Officers At Convention

Four Iowa Citizens were elected to district offices at the 15th annual district convention of Christian Endeavor societies Sunday in the Christian church in Keota.

Leavitt Lambert was elected district treasurer; Mary Sunier, devotion superintendent and Johnson county president; Kenneth Gee, D3 of Mondamin, church activities superintendent, and the Rev. C. C. Garrigue, district ministerial adviser.

Paul Mehrens, A3 of Mondamin, led a discussion in the afternoon program. The programs featured addresses, musical numbers and conferences with state officers including John McCaw, new state field secretary, Marguerite Keeney, president, and Gertrude Miller, treasurer.

Those who attended from Iowa City were Mr. Mehrens, Mr. Lambert, Miss Sunier, Mr. Gee, Margaret Cowgill, Camilla Jones, Adelaide Kadlec, Al, Helen Zeller, Lora Mahr, Lloyd Siders and Dr. Philip Norman.

The Rev. Theodore W. Anderson, president of the Evangelical Mission Covenant Church of America, will speak at a special service at the Coralville Gospel church at 7:45 this evening. The public is invited.

Youkey Sentenced To 30 Days in Jail By Judge Carson

J. C. Youkey, Iowa City, charged with resisting an officer, was sentenced to 30 days in the Johnson county jail by Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday. He was unable to pay a $100 fine.

Youkey became involved in an argument at a local garage yesterday morning, and the police were called. He resisted the officers, when arrested, police said. A charge against Youkey for disturbing the peace has been continued.

City Will Make Final Payment To U. S. Court

The city council yesterday authorized final payment of court costs of the equity suit of the Iowa City Light and Power company against the city, to the United States district court, southeastern district.

Yesterday's payment, $859, completes the $2,942 litigation charge.

Payment of $750 to Attorney Will J. Hayek for assisting the city in the case of the Burns and McDonnell Engineering company against the city, was also authorized by the council.

A chair of aeronautics probably will be added to Sydney university, Australia, on the advice of a British expert.

Handbill Amendment Receives 2nd Reading by City Council

Referred to Committee For Consideration, Further Study

The proposed amendment to the city handbill ordinance received its second reading, and was then given to the ordinance committee, the city attorney and the mayor for consideration and further study, by the city council yesterday afternoon.

Ten Iowa Citizens, representing printing firms and interested civic organizations, were at the meeting to discuss the proposed amendment.

The consensus of opinion was that the amendment is not objectionable, but that the wording is too general.

The amendment provides that persons desiring to distribute handbills on Iowa City streets, to pedestrians or motorists, must file notice of their intention with the city clerk at least five days before the distribution.

The distributor would also be required to estimate the number of bills to be given out, and to list which section of town they would be left in.

Failure to comply would result in a fine of between $1 and $100, or 30 days in jail.

The present ordinance allows distribution of handbills not to exceed nine by 12 inches within the business district. There is no size restriction in residential districts.

D and L Grill To Open Under New Management

The D and L grill, 10 S. Dubuque street, completely redecorated in modernistic design, will open this morning under the management of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fairbank. The property was formerly the Iowa grill.

The grill is unique in design with an elaborate color scheme. The booths are done in rose and grey, while the linoleum down the center of the floor is light blue in color. The walls are cream-grey with stripes of two shades of rose and blue. The upper part of the east and west walls are in blue.

In the front of the building is the grill, salad and sandwich table. Their location will quicken service, according to Fairbank. The counter in front of the grill and sandwich board and the service counter are finished in gray, trimmed with shades of rose. In-laid linoleum covers the counters.

Carrying out the modernistic design are covers below the ceiling with silhouetted designs illuminated by indirect lighting. The blue background above the pantry shelves is also indirectly lighted.

Bob Sweeney, employed for three years at the Academy, also owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fairbank, will manage the D and L grill. Mrs. Fairbank will be in charge of the bakery goods and menus for private parties.
