U. S. to Harbor Nazi Refugees

Hull Asks 29 Governments to Join Movement

Nations Must Act To Avert Widespread Suffering

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull called on 29 governments today to join the United States in facilitating the emigration of political refugees from Germany and Austria.

A special committee, on which the governments would be represented, would oversee the task, but the money necessary would be furnished by private organizations.

The United States, Hull said, was moved to make its proposal, by "the necessity of speedy cooperative effort under governmental supervision if widespread human suffering is to be averted."

The proposal was telegraphed to Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland and Italy, and to all the American republics.

Officials here do not believe Germany will refuse to permit political refugees to leave. Whether they will be allowed to liquidate their affairs and take their money with them is highly doubtful.

Nevertheless private organizations within the countries that agree to Hull's program would finance their departure and also their stay in the country of adoption until they could get on their feet or relatives could take care of them.

It was pointed out that many Jews and others could have left Germany and Austria, but did not dare to because they would have found themselves penniless.

No country would be asked to receive a greater number of immigrants than its law permits.

United States law limits the number of German immigrants to 25,957 annually and Austrians to 1,413.

The quotas, however, have not been filled.

In seven months of the present fiscal year, up to Feb. 1, only 413 of the Austrian quota of 1,413 had been filled, and only 9,004 of the German quota of 25,957.

Officials believed that the quotas of the two nations will be combined and Austrians will benefit by the large unfilled German margin.

Higher Prices Felt in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 24 (AP)—The pinch of higher prices was felt today from depreciation of the peso following upon expropriation of Mexico's $400,000,000 oil industry.

While foodstuffs cost 15 to 50 per cent more than last week, the government moved for speedy organization of the oil industry under its direction.

Vicente Cortes Herrera, under-secretary of communications, was appointed general manager of the new national petroleum council to administer the industry.

The peso slid downward in relation to the dollar, with banks selling dollars at 4.35 to 4.45 and buying them at 4.15 to 4.25. This represented a loss to 20 to 25 points in the peso since Tuesday.

Ladies Will Prefer Bronze Bathing Suits

LOS ANGELES, March 24 (AP)—Bathing suits of metal are here.

W. H. Eisenman, Cleveland, Ohio, secretary of the American Society for Metals, introduced one today at the western metal congress.

Ruth Williamson wore the sparkling, highly polished, bronze mesh garment.

"It will dry quickly," proclaimed Eisenman, "and it will not cling to the body when wet."

Storms Meeting PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An anti-Nazi crowd tonight stormed what police described as a meeting of the German-American Bund and turned the gathering into a riot.

Predicts 1938 Boom Year

1939 Is Expected to Exceed Peak of 1929 Claims Chicago Economist

CHICAGO, March 24 (AP)—Franklyn Hobbs, LaSalle street economist, tonight professed to see business moving toward the prosperous pinnacle of 1929.

In a prepared address before the office equipment manufacturers institute he reviewed trade since the Civil war and concluded:

"By all the rules of the game, by indications of almost every economic factor, by the law of averages and by the natural swing of the business cycle, we have every reason to expect business betterment from here on during 1938, with a dip at the close of the year. The severity of the dip will be regulated by the sharpness of the rise just as it was in 1927, 1928 and 1929 and just as it was in 1937."

"The completion of the dip at the close of this year should usher in an improvement in business for 1939, the peak of which should exceed the peak of any previous year in this decade and, indeed, there is good reason for expecting it to exceed the 1929 peak."

Hobbs compared the upswings of 1935, 1936 and 1937 to similar movements in 1925, 1926 and 1927. He added:

"We can expect improvement in 1938 similar to 1928; further improvement in 1939 similar to 1929, followed by the third consecutive dip, the third time down from which we may fail to recover in 1940 as we failed to recover in 1930."

"The new high mark in business volume is indicated for 1939 but the next low point, indicated to occur before 1945, might arrive in 1942 similar to 1932 or it might reach its acute stage in the year previous or the year after."

France Faces Cabinet Crisis; Senate Rejects Financial Bill And Desires Blum to Resign

LIVE AND LEARN

Accident 'Veterans' In Omaha Organize

PARIS, March 24 (AP)—France tonight faced a new cabinet crisis when the hostile senate rejected one of Premier Leon Blum's financial bills and made it clear it wanted him to resign to make way for a national union government.

Many deputies said the days of his second people's front government formed March 13, were numbered.

Strikes grew in the Paris region among metal workers and 6,000 chemical workers in factories in the Lille district quit work for an hour and a half.

The workers all belong to union under control of the general confederation of labor, one of the most powerful elements behind the people's front.

Members of the rightist labor organization at the Citroen plants issued a protest against the strikes, calling them "illegal" and ordered "entirely for political ends."

Leaders of the Lille strikers said their action was "only a warning" of a threatened occupation strike unless the men won their fight for automatic wage increases to keep step with rising prices.

The strikers themselves echoed a warning carried in Le Populaire, socialist party organ, that a national union government might be an excuse to put rightists into power.

Leaders of the Lille strikers said their action was "only a warning" of a threatened occupation strike unless the men won their fight for automatic wage increases to keep step with rising prices.

The senate in its action against Blum rejected by 193 to 88 votes a bill already approved by the chamber of deputies to permit the premier to transfer a surplus from the exchange equalization fund to the special national defense account.

Permission was sought to take 3,149,000 francs ($94,470,000) from the stabilization fund for defense needs.

Japan Mobilizes Manpower, Resources; Fear U.S. Expansion Directed at Her

TOKYO, March 24 (AP)—Japan today pushed forward plans to mobilize her manpower and economic resources both at home and in the capital of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, "under the umbrella" of the Japanese-sponsored Peiping regime in north China.

At the same time a navy spokesman expressed the island empire's fear that the United States navy's $1,121,000,000 expansion bill indicated the United States was considering naval operations against Japan.

A sub-committee of the house of peers passed the government's national mobilization bill which, apparently, was assured of swift approval by the upper house.

Lithuanian President Accepts Cabinet Resignation After Crisis

KAUNAS, Lithuania, March 24 (AP)—Resignation of the Lithuanian cabinet amid widespread bitterness over the nation's capitalization of Poland was announced officially tonight.

The government had been under fire since last Saturday, when it yielded to a warlike Polish ultimatum demanding that relations between the two countries be "normalized."

President Antanas Smetona accepted the resignations of Premier Juozas Tubelis and his ministers and Chief Army Chaplain Mironas and formed a new government.

Chamberlain Warns Hitler Not To Start Central European War

As President Told South Wages Are Too Low

Scene in Gainesville, Ga., as years ago. The president, in dedicating Roosevelt Square, asserted that Georgia and the lower south must "face the fact" that wage earners in the entire area "get wages which are far too low." The president went on to Warm Springs, Ga., for a 10-day rest.

In his address, the prime minister also:

1. Rejected Soviet Russia's call for a conference of "non-aggressive" powers to resist aggressors.

2. Urged that the League of Nations be nursed "back to health" and be made into a "front of overwhelming power."

3. Reaffirmed the government's view that non-intervention still was the best policy in Spain.

4. Reiterated that quickening rearmament, especially for the royal air force, and air raid precautions were essential.

"Rearmament work," he declared, "must have first priority in the nation's efforts."

Purely European in scope, the declaration avoided mention of the Orient.

Chamberlain declared that Britain's friendship talks with Italy were "full of encouragement to those who regard appeasement in Europe as an objective to which the efforts of all men of good will should be directed."

He said Italy had pledged her willingness "loyally to assist" in carrying out the British plan for withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain's civil war and reiterated her declaration she had no territorial or economic aims in Spain or the Balearic islands.

FAA Announces Company Hearing After Testimony

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—A federal alcohol administration officer received testimony today on two charges against the Arrow Distillers, Inc., of Peoria, Ill., and announced further hearings in several states.

The next hearing involving the company, against which the FAA instituted proceedings last December for suspension of rectifier and distiller permits, was set tentatively for Fulton, Ky., April 5.

Chief Attorney C. R. W. Smith of the FAA trial section said testimony-taking them probably would shift to Madison and Milwaukee, Wis., Peoria, Ill., and Des Moines, Iowa, and Ft. Dodge, Ia.

In its notice of proceedings, the FAA said the Peoria concern was charged with falsifying records so as to show sales of liquors to firms in Kentucky when the products actually were destined to Iowa and Minnesota "for sale or use therein contrary to the laws of such states."

NO WAR IN 1938

Economics Overshadows Says Kennedy

LONDON, March 24 (AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph Patrick Kennedy counseled Americans at home tonight to put out of their minds "worries that a general war in Europe is in the immediate offing."

The ambassador listened to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's foreign policy address to the house of commons and then went to an American club dinner where he declared:

"I feel safe in predicting that no such thing (a European war) will happen for the rest of this year at least."

The president again drew the distinction he had frequently made between social and economic objectives and methods of obtaining them.

Benny Brings Friend To Manhattan

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP)—Julius Sinykin, clothier of Waukegan, Ill., arrived, much to his surprise, in Manhattan today.

"I didn't want to come here and I don't want to be here," he said, "but here I am."

Accompanying Mr. Sinykin was Comedian Jack Benny, who thought Mr. Sinykin's embarrassment very funny indeed.

The two are old friends. Sinykin boarded Benny's train at Chicago yesterday to say hello. Benny wouldn't let him say goodbye.

Bob Burns Wants Baby To Be a Girl

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 24 (AP)—Bob Burns, the bazaar playing humorist-actor, is about to become a father.

Mrs. Burns was admitted to the maternity ward of a hospital today.

"I hope it's a girl," Burns said, "because I don't want a boy to have to go through what I'm going through now."

Dr. Herman B. Wells
heads Indiana State

At 35, Dr. Herman B. Wells, named to the presidency at Indiana university, becomes the youngest president of any state university in the United States. Dr. Wells, a graduate of the Bloomington, Ind., institution in 1924, has been acting head since last July.

The chief executive, Hoffman said, should remember that his removal of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan as chairman of the Tennessee valley authority, Hoffman asserted, "has a hollow ring — falls on deaf ears when we recall that his political bedfellows exacted political contributions for his benefit from corporations in violation of the corrupt practices act."

Representative Bacon of New York later came forward with other republican criticism of the administration by presenting to the house today documentary evidence of what he called a "demoralizing national scandal" involving postmaster appointments.

France FacesThe Future

EITHER of two main powder kegs can touch off another world war: the invasion of Czechoslovakia or further developments in the Spanish conflict. France is vitally concerned in both of these possibilities. She therefore remains one of the most important, if not the key nation, in the troubled European maze of potential crises.

The Russo-French agreement to aid Czechoslovakia in the event that she is invaded in a non-aggression pact providing only for defensive measures. Will even these measures be invoked if Hitler carries out his hints regarding nearby Czechoslovakia?

Franco's armies, supplemented by German and Italian men and equipment, are advancing perilously close to the French southern border. If France were to aid retreating loyalists, the threat might be averted. But she has just signed a pact with Britain whereby she has promised to keep hands off in Spain in return for British promises of aid in protecting Mediterranean routes and contacts with her colonies.

Already in North Africa, possessions, France is feeling repercussions of dissatisfaction among her native subjects — dissatisfaction fomented by Italian and German propagandists. Tunisia is menaced by a concentration of Italian troops in neighboring Libya. In the event of a war between France and either or both of the fascist nations, Tunisia, Morocco and Algiers would probably be lost.

France, formerly one of the solid powers of Europe, is now the balancing rock of the continent. Her right to choose and select a course of action as questions arise has been removed by the intricate lines of alliances and international agreements. Storms in almost any of the areas of greatest tension may shake her national structure and send her toppling headlong into another conflict.

Another Kind Of Punishment

IN AMSTERDAM, N. Y., this week, Police Judge Francis Collins prescribed a novel punishment for a law breaker. Anthony Miller was sentenced to copying 700 times section 1021 of the penal law which covers police supervision of habitual criminals.

Why wouldn't this be an effective punishment for minor offenses such as traffic violations? No doubt all of us can recall such measures having been quite effective in grade school days.

Even more than a fine such a punishment might serve as a future reminder not to break the law again. If one were forced to write several hundred times "I will not drive through a stop light again," he would probably think twice the next time he approached one.

According to the process of conditioning, known to all psychologists, a tendency not against driving through stop lights might become a part of one's neuro-physiological make-up, simply through having been forced to write it many times as a mode of punishment.

One famous psychologist overcame a constantly recurring error in his typing by forcing himself to write over and over again, "I will not write 'ite' for the again. I will not write 'ite' for the again." He would probably think twice the next time he approached one.

The weather bureau has done and is doing its best. It will continue to give satisfaction. We reserve in advance the right to complain about the quality of weather it will furnish.

So it is entirely possible that such a method might be effective in decreasing minor law infractions. At any rate, we would like to have Anthony Miller's opinion on it when he has finished writing section 1021 of the penal law 700 times.

Progress In Pharmacy

PROGRESS is the key word of today. Exemplifying this standard of present education, the University of Iowa is rapidly developing and expanding the scope of its departments, schools and colleges.

The profession of pharmacy will strengthen its position on the campus and throughout the state today when the Iowa Academy of Pharmacy will be organized at the university's first annual pre-symposium.

The general objective of the academy is to further the profession as a public service and to emphasize its standards, ideals and ethics. The organization will serve as a promotional factor in bringing the profession and the public into greater contact, thus serving both groups.

Praiseworthy is the desire of such an important health service to affiliate itself more closely with its beneficiaries. Such aims make pharmacy a worthy unit of the university in which it is a college.

A university is the grouping together of numerous branches of education and training into separate but complementary divisions. As one part of such body, pharmacy at Iowa is making itself known as a service desiring to give and receive cooperation.

Competition

From a Farr
TOMMY FARR, ambitious young boxer from Wales, gave American bachelors something to think about and American bachelor-girls something to be thankful for when he recently announced his engagement to come Eileen Wenzel, former Ziegfeld Follies beauty.

The pugilistic Mr. Farr evidently was unfamiliar with the prevalent belief in this country that a woman has to fight, scheme, flatter, cajole, lie on go abroad to get herself a husband, and Miss America stands to benefit from the example he has set by removing such an attractive little package as Miss Wenzel from the competitive ranks at home.

During the last quarter of a century, the eligible males of America have come to comprise a distinct class of the most difficult and suspicious creatures known to history, having been taken from babyhood that all women, however innocent in appearance, are hussies, liars and potential gold-diggers at heart. Mr. Farr's unprecedented action must have given their pride a severe jolt, especially in view of the fact that he not only grabbed off a native "glamour girl" right under their self-satisfied noses but that he did it at a time when they were all preoccupied with "laying low" as a protective measure against the rumored husband-hunting activities of the three Albanian Princesses in the United States!

SPRING SONG
EVEN during a relatively mild winter there are moments when the return of spring seems impossible. Rain has turned to sleet, sleet to snow, snow to mud, mud to ice. Storms have sneaked in from the northwest and also from the southeast. The apartment-house dweller has telephoned to the superintendent for more heat, explaining what he would do if he didn't get it. The commuter has looked sadly at his emptying coal bin. Young people in queer clothing, with skis over their shoulders, have been seen in railway stations. There have been days when country life appealed only to those of robust constitutions, while city life didn't appeal to anybody.

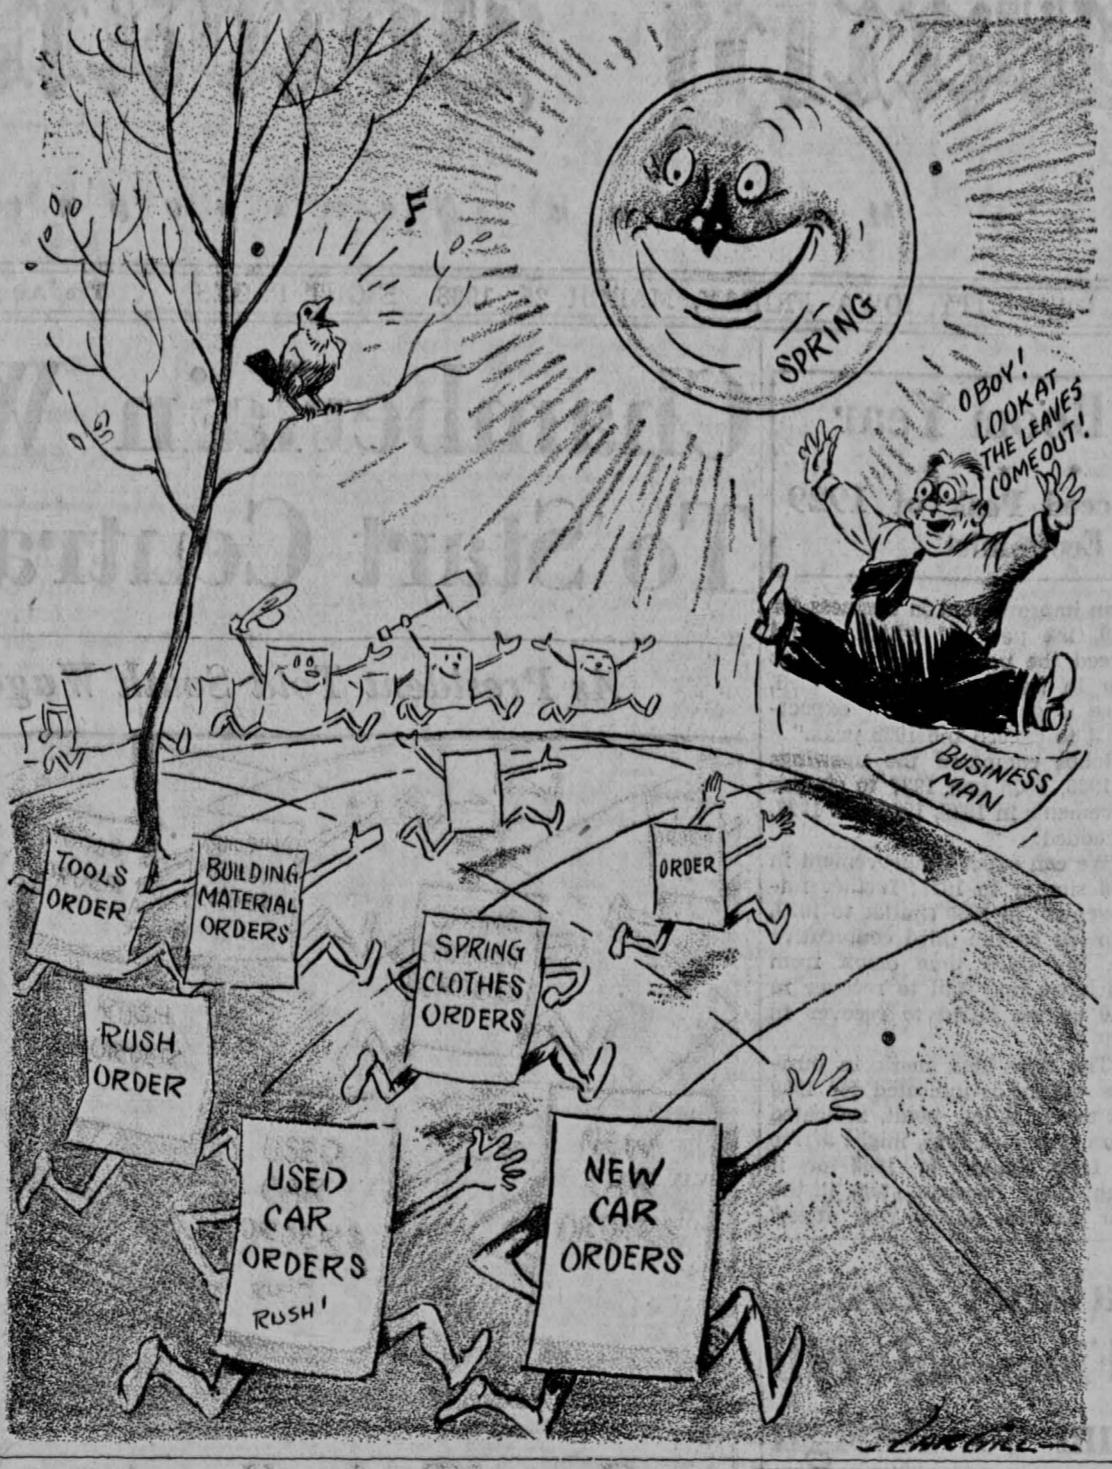

Now, suddenly winter packs up and departs. He has a long way to go, as will now be expected in the southern hemisphere. The sun floats northward, higher in the sky. Robins have become commonplace, which hurts their feelings. Boys are playing baseball and softball. Suburbanites are taking home lawn mowers, rakes, spades and packages of seeds. They are also practicing their golf strokes and getting out their fishing tackle.

The days are growing longer. In three months they will be growing shorter. Soon those who have been yawning all winter about the cold will begin to yawn about the heat. Soon after that an old farmer in northern New Hampshire will notice that the hedgehogs are growing longer bristles than usual and will predict a long, hard winter.

According to the process of conditioning, known to all psychologists, a tendency not against driving through stop lights might become a part of one's neuro-physiological make-up, simply through having been forced to write it many times as a mode of punishment.

The weather bureau has done and is doing its best. It will continue to give satisfaction. We reserve in advance the right to complain about the quality of weather it will furnish.

THE SUPER SALESMAN!Here Are Foods That Form
Alkalinating Reaction in Body

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I am requested to print a list of alkali-forming foods.

Alkalization of the body has been so promiscuously advised from sources outside the medical profession, that it is well to point out there are very few indications for this procedure. It is mostly used when the kidneys give an indication of being overburdened.

Alkaline-ash foods contain a preponderance of sodium carbonate and bicarbonate and alkaline phosphates. They are found chiefly in fruits and vegetables.

Alkalization of the body can be most easily influenced by the administration of the alkaline salts, such as sodium bicarbonate or potassium citrate themselves.

Since the foregoing lists omit the commonest breadstuffs and fats, note that the following foods are often called "neutral" in their effect on the residue of the diet:

CARBOHYDRATES: Cornstarch or corn flour, fresh peas, sugar, tapioca. FATS: Butter, cream, lard, vegetable oils.

VEGETABLES: Asparagus,

Edward G. It seems that we, the dialers on the Phil Baker anniversary show, missed one of the funniest features on the program. It all happened backstage during a rehearsal lull. For his anniversary celebration, Phil had brought over Jack Benny and Joe Penner, both comedians who pride themselves on their violin playing. The boys got into an argument as to who was the best fiddler during rehearsal for the program. Phil obligingly offered to accompany them on his accordion while they fought it out. The resulting jam session was such that even hardened musicians on the program blanched.

Rickey Marks Time in Fight Over Decision

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24 (AP) — Branch Rickey, the man on the spot, continued to spar for time today without opposition to an order by the phantom of the baseball ring, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, turning loose some 100 young players.

Rickey's chief second, Owner Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals, was reliably reported to have advised him to lay off the clouting commissioner, who never has lost a baseball decision.

Rickey wouldn't admit he was hurt by yesterday's judicial swat. But he said he had decided not to make a statement until the judge gives out the list of players made free agents.

Judge Landis' report charging misconduct between St. Louis and Cedar Rapids offered seemingly incontrovertible proof that the Cards' chief farm hand had, for the last two years at least, been making a shooting gallery out of some of baseball's most cherished laws.

"So," mused an official of a rival National league club, "why should Branch stick his neck out any further. The judge is letting him off light. At least, he hasn't called him up for a hearing or demanded any promises or apologies from him or the Cardinals. The Cardinals' cue now is to keep discreetly quiet and leave the judge alone, because you can't beat him."

Faber and Sulek Allow Only 3 Hits To Yannigans

Scoring three unearned runs in the first inning, the University of Iowa Regulars coasted to a 6-1 victory over the Yannigans yesterday afternoon in the longest intra-squad practice game held this year.

Matt Faber, husky sophomore right-hander, and Emil Sulek, a made-over infielder, pitched for the Regulars and gave up only three hits. Bob Knapp and Ken Reid rapped singles for the second-stringers while Charlie McElanahan, catching for the Yannigans yesterday, hit a long triple, his third extra-base hit in three days.

Elmer Bratten, first sacker for the Regulars, was the batting hero of the seven inning affair, getting a single and a home run to lead his teammate's five-hit attack. Coming to bat in the fifth inning after Nile Kinnick had singled, and with two out, Bratten stepped into a curve ball and sent it far out into a rightfield fringe of trees for a homer.

Andy Kantor, speedy sophomore shortstop, broke his two-day hitting slump, whacking out a single in one of his three trips to the plate. Bill Vogt got his customary hit yesterday, and for the third straight day tallied a duo of runs for the Regular cause.

Ken Reid, lanky southpaw veteran, entered the game in the fourth inning for the Yannigans and pitched some fine ball, giving up only two hits in the three frames that he hurled.

Capt. Eddie Kadel was back in his old spot in the hot corner yesterday in place of Jim George, sophomore infielder who was suffering from a charley-horse. George, so far this season, has proven himself to be a valuable offensive and defensive man.

Capt. Paquet Escorts Mothers

Capt. Leo Paquet, above, a member of the university's military science and tactics department, was the father of some three thousand American mothers in 1930. In May of that year

Daily Iowan Photo, Engravings he conducted a group of American Gold Star mothers on their tour of France, and as he says, "Those days were among the happiest of my life."

Grant Their Every Wish' Paquet Describes Gold Star Mothers' Trip to Cemeteries

By LUTHER BOWERS

"Grant them their every wish" was the order the United States government sent Capt. Leo Paquet of the military science and tactics department as he waited for the first boatload of America's Gold Star mothers to dock at Cherbourg in May 1930.

That summer Captain Paquet had the responsibility of seeing that 3,360 mothers got to the right hotels, got on the right buses, received their own baggage, saw the sights of Paris and the cemeteries and after 17 days arrived safely at Cherbourg for the trip home.

Captain Paquet looks back on those tours with the Gold Star mothers as "among the happiest, most inspirational days of my life. Their fortitude, their spirit and their reaction to the whole thing was wonderful."

So they saw Paris and the cemeteries. The mothers were divided into groups according to the cemetery to be visited. The Verdun group was always the largest, on one tour being made up of 120 mothers, four nurses, two interpreters, two officers and six busses. Doctors and nurses accompanied the mothers throughout the entire trip.

These mothers were a cross section of American life — some wealthy, others poor, some learned, and others illiterate. Yet they all had one thing in common — each had lost a boy or boy in the World war.

Captain Paquet had many and varied experiences that summer. Two sisters were reunited after 30 years, and he was called upon to introduce them to each other!

Then there was the mother who did not think the sights of Paris so astounding. She much preferred Corpus Christi, Tex. When asked why, she replied, "Because der ain't none of ders furiners in Corpus Christi."

Yes, all those mothers were Americans and proud of it.

At the cemeteries the mothers walked through the long rows of white crosses until they found that one white cross — their mission was ended. "Naturally there was sadness, but no bitterness," commented Captain Paquet. "Not even bitterness when a mother stood before a white cross upon which was inscribed 'Here in eternal glory rests an American soldier known but to God' — and wondered.

Patients Work With Hands At Oakdale—Voigt

Occupational Therapist Tells Club Women Of Hand Work

By HELEN LAUMAN
Of the 420 patients at Oakdale sanatorium, 197 of them are occupied with handicraft work. Mrs. Beatrice Voigt, occupational therapist, told University club members at a meeting yesterday in the Iowa Union clubrooms. An exhibit of the handicraft of these 197, most of them bedridden, displayed their skill.

Mrs. Voigt expressed her belief that the occupational therapy department does more to raise the morale of the institution than any other department. If patients can be interested in just one thing, they are more content, and contented persons respond more to the rest cure than despondent ones, she asserted.

The patients are allowed to make anything with their hands that they wish, except rugs, which are too heavy for them to hold, Mrs. Voigt explained. Every article that is started is finished.

"We try to start the patients on things which will be easy to make," she said, "to avoid discouragement."

Mrs. Voigt and four assistants make bedside calls to the workers to instruct them in their work. The four assistants were formerly patients and are now almost ready to leave the sanatorium, Mrs. Voigt explained.

The ages of the patients who learn these skills range from 20 to 65 years. One man 65 years old makes many punch pillow-covers that are a mastery of the art of blending colors, the therapist said. They like to work with bright colors in preference to white, although many white pieces are made, she added.

The display in the clubrooms included a wide variety of hot-pad holders to knitted dresses. There were bedspreads, quilts, children's clothes, doll furniture, baby outfits, tablecloths, leather purses and billfolds, toy animals and knitwear.

Men especially excel at knitting pieces and crocheting tablecloths, the speaker said. She told of one man, formerly an athletic director, who in the two years that he was there, knit seven dresses for his wife. After he left, he continued to knit them and sold them for $65. Mrs. Voigt said, illustrating her point that a many persons leave better equipped to make a living than when they entered.

Mrs. Voigt told of a woman, about 25 years old, who was in bed for four years and made a cut-work tablecloth with napkins and scarf set, several quilts, pillow cases, bedspreads and knitwear. In a short time she will leave to be married, with a trousseau of her own making.

Almost every article is made with some definite purpose in mind. Gifts are made for Christmas, Mother's day and commencements. Some articles are sold; the big outlet from this standpoint is the state fair. Last year, $350 were brought back to distribute among the patients, Mrs. Voigt said. She stressed the fact that every article is washed, ironed and hung in the sun for days.

"If, at the end of a day, we feel that we have helped only one person, that day seems worthless," is Mrs. Voigt's philosophy.

Charles Bowman Discusses 'Right of Way'

Traffic School Gets Pointers At 4th Session

Pedestrian Deaths Due To Law Violation Not Drivers

"There is no worse 'chisel' than the person who fails to observe the rules of right of way," said Charles A. Bowman, secretary of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce in discussing "Right of Way" at the fourth session of the Iowa City traffic school in the city council chambers last night. Approximately 53 persons attended.

Thousands of deaths are caused every year by violation of right of way," Bowman declared, adding, "The laws are very specific concerning it, too."

Outlines Privileges

He outlined several privileges of right of way laws pertaining to pedestrians. Among these were included the right of pedestrians crossing intersections over cars turning the corner and crossing the path of the pedestrian.

At corners where there is no light the pedestrian has the right of way, he said.

"Most pedestrian deaths are caused by pedestrians breaking rules such as crossing with the green light or jaywalking," the speaker warned.

Drivers were cautioned to slow down and turn to the left when a bus pulls to the curb. "And, continue to drive slowly until the bus has been passed," he said, pointing out that many persons walk around the busses—and into the paths of oncoming cars.

Safety Zones

In cities where safety zones have been established, motorists should allow persons to walk from the sidewalk to the safety zone or return to the sidewalk, the speaker said.

Drivers approaching a bus or streetcar which has stopped, should wait until all the passengers have reached the street or that all have entered before starting.

Right of Way

In the case of two cars entering from different highways, "the car from the right has the right of way." In speaking of arterial highways, he pointed out that a driver has a right to cut across an arterial highway if there is no car within a reasonable distance. Cars speeding up to intercept these cars do so unlawfully, he said.

Driving Rules

Driving rules regarding stop and go lights and caution signs were reviewed from the Iowa traffic code by Police Judge Burke Carson. Other parts of the code covering rights of way at private driveways, alleys and intersections were outlined.

A question concerning the use of U-turns was asked. Carson said that the Iowa code did not provide for U-turns and they were made at the driver's risk.

"Country Driving" will be discussed by Sergt. Edgar Faber of the state highway patrol next Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Students Have Speech Defects Barnes Asserts

Prof. Defines Nature, Scope of Speech Education

"It can be shown that at any grade level extending into the college and the graduate college large numbers of pupils have speech defects and deficiencies and that few are adequate in all the fundamental processes," Prof. Harry G. Barnes of the speech department declared last night in a Baconian lecture on "The Philosophy of Speech Education."

Professor Barnes defined the nature and scope of speech education to give a clearer notion of its goals and its place in a program of general education.

There are four fundamental processes in speech, he said: the process of adjustment to the speaking situation, the process of symbolic formulation and expression, the process of articulation and the process of phonation.

Eleven indispensable attributes of original speaking as it occurs in the formal speaking situation were given by Professor Barnes:

a choice of subject, choice of thought, choice of material, organization of thought and material, use of language, projection to the audience, control of bodily activity, rhythm, pronunciation, voice control and total effect.

Professor Barnes stressed the importance of speech education and the importance of a speech program. He believes "the speech education program . . . begins with the individual, his needs and abilities, his immediate environment, and through systematic and progressive instruction acquaints him with standards and gives him insight and knowledge as a basis for developing natural and normal habits of speaking."

sary expenses are borne by the government.

The object of the C.M.T.C. is to bring together young men from all sections of the country for a 30 day period on a common basis of equality and under favorable conditions of outdoor life; to stimulate and promote citizenship, and through physical direction, athletic coaching and military training to benefit the young men individually.

A three-hour military exercise in cavalry or infantry units takes place in the morning. A carefully planned sports program, offering supervised participation in such sports as baseball, softball, swimming, tennis, track, wrestling and boxing occurs in the afternoon.

Prizes in competition are offered and championship matches are scheduled.

In addition to the age requirement, applicants must pass a physical examination and present a certificate of character. Medical examinations are free of charge.

In 1928, the first full year of air express operation, 17,000 shipments were carried, but in 1937 the total was 628,048 shipments weighing 2,157 tons.

Rates decreased approximately two-thirds in the first 10 years of air express operation, he said.

Local Scout Leaders Feature Dramatization Of Troop Committee Meeting at Session

Gaffney Takes Morningside Injunction Under Advisement

Judge Declares Case Affects Taxpayers, Education

The injunction suit of Lewis L. Smith Sr. against the Iowa City school board to prevent the construction of the $725,000 high school building on the Morningside site was submitted to Judge R. G. Popham presided over approximately 25 committeeenmen and scout leaders.

John Hudachek, chairman of the troop committee, pointed out what should not be done at a committee meeting, through this demonstration. The demonstration was similar to a "mock trial," with each member "passing the buck" to the other. Other errors were also emphasized.

"There should be a line of responsibility from the scoutmaster down to the patrol leader and back again," Hudachek said. Participants in the dramatization were Donald Sullivan, Joe Hamilton, Richard Bireline, Prof. Erling Thoen, Frank Kinney, Scout Commissioner Gordon L. Kent, and Hudachek, Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel aided in the demonstration.

Thiel, in his speech, emphasized the scout law, with the idea that "it was not so much to teach the scouts to pass tests, but to have him better equipped to help other people."

Earle B. Moore, deputy regional scout executive at Lincoln, Neb., praised the work that the Iowa City area council was doing, and especially lauded the enthusiasm of the group as a whole.

Richard Bireline, scoutmaster of St. Wenceslaus church troop 13, discussed details for supervising a scout troop and the duties of various officers of the troop. He reviewed the make-up of the troop as to size, officers and patrol organization, and touched on the relation of officers to the given parts of a troop.

Gaffney Remarks

Dutcher suggested, "If the school district wished to evade the law, it would have been easy enough for the board to have purchased two acres of the site for $24,000 and accept the rest as a donation."

"It is too bad somebody didn't think of that sooner," Judge Gaffney remarked.

Attorney D. C. Nolan presented the final arguments for the plaintiff. He said, "The school board cannot acquire more land for a high school than it is now using. The evidence shows that there are 4.91 acres in Shrader field which is used for the high school athletic field, in addition to the block upon which the high school and junior high school buildings are located.

The five-acre limit set out by the state code is adequate and reasonable. If the board's contention that because a junior high school will occupy the present high school an additional site may be obtained for a high school, the board may purchase 160 acres instead of 29 by breaking the high school into a freshman high school, sophomore high school and other divisions.

"I don't believe a $725,000 building is necessary. It is the board's duty to keep available sufficient schools for the students and not to build monuments to themselves," Nolan said.

Defends Smith

To deny the statement alleging Smith was guilty of laches when he failed to appeal the decision of the board to purchase the Morningside property within 30 days as prescribed by law, Nolan said, "This action is to prevent the spending of money upon property not owned by the board. This suit was brought before any of the contracts for the expenditure of money were let by the board."

Nolan explained, "This case simply seeks to determine whether the code section holds true.

If the entire purchase of the land is void, the building cannot be built upon the site. If a part of the transaction is legal and the rest declared void, then the building must be built only upon that part which is legally held by the board. We are not concerned with the PWA grant, the size of the school or the location, only the validity of the purchase of the land."
