President Gets Citizen Support On Oil Policy

'Mexico for Mexicans' Despite Hardship Is New Plan

MEXICO CITY, March 31 (AP)—A more sober realization of Mexico's difficult economic situation appeared today to have tempered intense nationalism stirred by the government's expropriation of the $400,000,000 foreign oil industry.

There was no evidence, however, of a letup in the support of the average Mexican for President Lazaro Cardenas and his liberal government's "Mexico for Mexicans" program.

General Feeling Despite economic hardships precipitated by the expropriation, the feeling apparently was general that some way would be found to pay for the 17 American and British petroleum companies taken over.

In unofficial trading, the peso closed 4.50 to 4.70 to the United States dollar, a slight improvement over yesterday's closing quotations.

The dealings were conducted by private banks, since the central bank of Mexico has suspended foreign exchange dealings.

Peso Falls The peso, quoted at 3.60 to the dollar before the expropriation, fell sharply after the decree was issued and the United States announced it was discontinuing purchases of Mexican silver.

Spokesmen for the expropriated companies said tonight they had decided to petition the government for revocation of the expropriation decree as well as to attack it in the courts as unconstitutional.

Final Details The decision was reached at a conference of attorneys. Final details of procedure are expected to be worked out at another meeting tomorrow.

A group of senators deferred action on their announced intention of putting a series of questions before Cardenas on the state of the nation and the outlook for the future.

Rift Threatened Their announcement had threatened a rift in the hitherto solid congressional support accorded the chief executive.

Meanwhile, the newly formed government party of workers, farmers and soldiers began consideration of a "declaration of principles."

Thousands of Leftist Militiamen Desert and Make for Border

Lerida Surrounded by General Yague's Columns

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier), March 31 (AP)—Thousands of deserting Spanish government militiamen and civilian refugees streamed toward the French border tonight to get out of the path of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's armies sweeping throughout northeastern Spain.

Lerida, "key" to the defenses of Catalonia 80 miles west of Barcelona, virtually was surrounded by General Juan Yague's columns which fought their way through stiff government opposition on the western and southwestern outskirts of the city.

On the southern sector, General Garcia Valinos' forces near Gandesa, 21 miles from the Mediterranean and about 90 miles southwest of Barcelona.

On the northern sector of the 165-mile front, the insurgents advanced through mountains eastward from Jaca toward Bolana, 65 miles northwest of Lerida.

The government's Pyrenees divisions, cut off from their bases by the insurgent advance on Lerida and especially by the operations east of Jaca, were reported fleeing in disorder.

The first body of deserting militiamen, numbering 1,000 men, escaped across the Pyrenees into a French hamlet.

France's Labor Czar Hits War Vet's Proposal

PARIS, March 31 (AP)—A campaign by war veterans to enlist President Albert Lebrun as head of a "public safety" cabinet met with a warning from France's labor czar tonight that his five million followers would "go the limit" to prevent it.

Leon Jouhaux, secretary of the general confederation of labor, told a miner's congress that if the president people's front government should resign "under the pressure of a financial and nationalist oligarchy," his organization would "set it up again by our own means."

Britain Offers New Proposal

Plans to Get Foreign Fighters Out Of Spanish War

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—Great Britain today offered a new plan for withdrawing foreign fighters from Spain's civil war, but its ultimate effect on the conflict appeared problematical.

The proposal, laid before envoys of Europe's major powers at a non-intervention subcommittee meeting, was designed to start withdrawals by mid-June.

With the Spanish insurgents smashing into Catalonia on a sweeping "victory drive," the possibility arose that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces might win the war before the British plan could become operative.

The Earl of Plymouth, presiding at the first non-intervention meeting in eight weeks, announced the plan embodied two "compromise proposals."

They were: First, that 10,000 volunteers should be accepted as a criterion for substantial progress in the withdrawals.

Second, that land and sea supervision of traffic to Spain should be re-established when non-intervention commissions began counting volunteers, but that it should be taken off if actual withdrawals did not start after 56 days.

While Lord Plymouth was explaining his proposals, Viscount Halifax, Britain's foreign secretary, told an international audience "the English people have never remained and I think never can remain aloof from what is happening in Europe."

No Food Animals Starving In Los Angeles Zoo

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP)—Several hundred lions, tigers, monkeys, camels and other animals at Zoo park are nearly starved and may be put to death.

Unless immediate arrangements can be made to feed them, said Dr. C. C. Warn of the city humane department, "we will put them to sleep humanely."

Funds of the California zoological society, which operates the zoo, have been depleted and admittance revenues sharply curtailed because the zoo was damaged in the March 2 floods.

Soon after the floods, the animals were placed on half rations. To provide even this, Zoo Manager William J. Richards, trainers and keepers have gone without salary recently. Tonight the feeding was placed on a one-third ration basis.

Many of the animals are ill from malnutrition. The zoo's population includes a herd of deer and elk, 28 lions, 18 tigers, 19 leopards, 300 monkeys, two elephants, two giraffes, four camels, several bears and numerous birds.

Hope Abandoned for 6 Fliers Aboard Navy Bomber; Third Plane Crash During Maneuvers

Five Others Killed Few Hours Before As Bomber Falls

HONOLULU, March 31 (AP)—Hope for six navy fliers aboard a missing bomber was abandoned tonight by naval officials directing an unprecedented search amid casualty-strewn Pacific maneuvers.

Officers, although continuing the hunt, expressed belief the six men died when the plane fell into the sea yesterday morning, a few hours after five other fliers had been killed in the crash of another bomber.

The second tragedy culminated a week of aerial accidents in which three planes, valued at $300,000, sank and at least six others escaped possible crashes by forced landings at sea.

A high naval official said the accidents had not demonstrated any fundamental wrong with the planes or pilots, but on the contrary, the performance of planes in maneuvers designed to test Hawaii's defenses, had conclusively proved their value in scouting operations.

Officials expressed belief the bomber catapulted into the sea off Kauai island probably during a rain squall, and sank before the radio operator had time to flash a warning.

The aircraft carriers Lexington, Saratoga and Ranger unleashed 210 planes over the Pacific 200 miles northwest of Oahu island, where the bomber with six men aboard vanished yesterday while helping defend Hawaii against a powerful attacking fleet.

Thirty other bombing planes out of Pearl harbor joined the search. About 65 surface vessels were in the hunt or under orders to join.

Aboard the plane were Lieut. Charles Signer, Aviation Cadet R. J. Iacrobino, Aviation Machinist's Mates P. B. Pancoast and J. A. Bingham, and Radiomen G. T. Jamison and C. R. Oulundsen.

Regardless of their fate the navy counted at least 24 aviation deaths and numerous fleet injuries as the result of the 1938 Pacific operations, which perhaps more nearly approached war conditions than any previous American peacetime naval maneuvers.

Probe Strange Poison Deaths In Clinic Case

ORLANDO, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Deaths of seven women and the illness of four other persons — all patients at a clinic where a serum was injected for the treatment of cancer — were investigated by county, state and federal health authorities today.

The seventh victim of a strange poisoning, much like tetanus (lockjaw) yet differing in its reaction to treatments, died this morning. She was Mrs. F. E. Mooney, 63, of Winter Park, Fla.

Mrs. Lydia Morrison, 49, E. S. Bolte, 70, C. S. Pore, 65, and Mrs. Ola Hall, all residents of Orlando, were in hospitals with the same symptoms which preceded the deaths of the seven women. Physicians said Mrs. Morrison, Bolte and Pore appeared to be near death. Mrs. Hall's case had not progressed so far.

Dr. J. N. Patterson of the state board of health said an autopsy on the body of the seventh victim disclosed "a swelling of the brain, toxic poisoning of the vital organs" and other symptoms "not characteristic of any particular type" of poisoning.

Dr. T. A. Neal said all the eleven received injections for cancer treatment at his clinic from a bottle of serum known as ensol. He declared he had used the serum for two and a half years "with remarkable success and without ill effects."

Hitler Outlines Plans for United German Reich

FRANKFORT ON MAIN, Germany, March 31 (AP)—Adolf Hitler today expounded his aims for a united German reich, choosing for his appearance here the 90th anniversary of a similar movement launched in this historic city.

An enthusiastic multitude cheered the fuhrer as he referred to the 1848 attempt and reviewed his own present-day efforts to realize the "eternal

GAG BACKFIRES Czechs Serious About Offer of Aid

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 31 (AP)—A practical joke bounced back on a couple of red-faced Washington and Jefferson college students today.

As related in the "Red and Black," student newspaper, the pranksters called the Czechoslovakian legation in Washington and offered a mythical "Thomas Jefferson" brigade of 60 horses and 200 men to fight for the Czechs against a possible Nazi invasion.

The legation, continued the newspaper, telegraphed its appreciation of the offer and suggested an appointment to discuss the plans.

An apology probably will be made by the college, the article said. Names of the students were withheld.

U. S. Discards Limiting Treaty

Race to Build Vessels Over 35,000 Tons Officially On

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—The international race to build vaster dreadnaughts officially began today when the United States discarded a treaty clause limiting such vessels to 35,000 tons.

Secretary of State Hull sent notes to the British and French embassies and to the Canadian legation, advising them of Uncle Sam's intention. At the same time a note from Britain, announcing a similar intention, was en route to Washington.

France took another course, electing not to build super-battleships unless other European powers (i. e., Germany and Italy) do so.

Texts of the notes will not be published until Saturday morning. It was stated reliably, however, that they say a power non-signatory to the London naval treaty (Japan) is presumed to be building super-dreadnaughts, having refused to deny it. Therefore, the United States government is invoking the escalator clause of the London naval treaty, permitting it to exceed the treaty limitations.

The American notes do not mention the size of the ships to be built. This must be negotiated with the British. Nor do they set any new upper limit. This also must be negotiated.

This country's notes mention no intention to build cruisers larger than 8,000 tons armed with 8-inch guns.

G Men Return Hanley to Iowa

LA SALLE, Col., March 31 (AP)—Joseph Hanley, 34, who for three years evaded federal agents who sought him in connection with two midwestern kidnappings, was placed aboard an eastbound train here late today.

Earlier today, Director J. Edgar Hoover had announced in Washington Hanley had made "a full confession" to the kidnaping of Ernest K. Newman, an armored car messenger, at Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 4, 1935, and the abduction of Sheriff Herman G. Brendesteiner and Deputy Sheriff Dean S. James at Nishnabotna, Mo., June 3, 1935.

The Denver office of the federal bureau of investigation announced he would be taken to Cedar Rapids, Ia. The party will arrive there tomorrow at 5:48 a. m. (central standard time). R. D. Brown, agent in charge of the Denver office, and Agents W. W. Fisher and T. H. Pirnie, accompanied Hanley.

Kansas Twister Leaves Death, Destruction

Two aerial views taken after a destructive tornado swept down on Columbus, Kas., splintering residences and buildings and leaving a large casualty list in its wake. Property damage was estimated at $200,000. The building shown in the lower picture shows the damaged Highland grade school, the third floor of which was crushed by the twister. Pupils had been dismissed from their classes just before the storm struck.

Troops and Red Cross Workers Go to Aid Of Tornado-Tossed Communities in Illinois

PEKIN, Ill., March 31 (AP)—Troops and Red Cross workers sped to the aid of the tornado-tossed communities of central Illinois tonight.

As the relief forces moved into the stricken area, a survey showed 12 dead, more than 100 injured and damage of approximately $1,000,000 in the regions raked by twin storms late yesterday.

Governor Henry Horner sent company F of the 130th infantry of the Illinois national guard from Peoria to South Pekin at the request of Sheriff Ralph Goar.

Major John Wansbrough was placed in command. The soldiers were assigned to rehabilitation duty although it was decided it was not necessary to declare martial law in the wind-wrecked community.

Simultaneously, the American

Red Cross assumed full responsibility for the immediate needs of the storm victims and dispatched disaster workers to the blighted towns.

They found almost complete desolation in South Pekin, a village of 1,200 population before the tornado turned it into a shambles. Only a half dozen houses on the extreme east fringe escaped the twister.

The 600 homeless residents crowded into the few tenable houses or found temporary shelter in Pekin. Volunteers fed refugees in the community store although the upper story had been ripped away. Water kegs, brought from Springfield, were set up on street corners. The debris was cleared by 140 workers.

F. D. R. Denies Accusation Of Dictator Plans

Test Vote Shows Bill Defeated by 202 To 143 Count

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—The aim of the Roosevelt reorganization bill is to build up Harry L. Hopkins for president, Representative Lamneck (D-Ohio) charged today in a struggle to halt the administration's effort to push the bill through the house.

After President Roosevelt took personal command of the fight for the bill in an unprecedented denial that he wants to become dictator, Lamneck arose on the floor of the house to assail a provision creating a new department of public welfare.

Hopkins Head He said Hopkins, the WPA chief, would head the new department, and perhaps would become the next president, thus continuing new deal policies.

Under the bill, Lamneck declared, an octopus-like relief machine Hopkins has been building would become permanent and would be "the most potent force in the United States for many years to come."

"Hopkins is the fair-haired boy of the administration," Lamneck roared. "What he wants he gets. The reason is he thinks right. He also spends right—and left. His life has been devoted to giving away other people's money."

The debate over the bill was marked by a desperate fight for time on the part of the opposition, so that, its spokesmen said, the people might have an opportunity to make their views on the bill known to their representatives in congress.

Give Orators a Chance Beaten 202 to 143 on what many regarded as a test vote (the vote was on a motion to take up the bill) they made their goal the postponement of a final vote until next week, so that various organizations and week end orators including the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, might set a stream of telegrams flowing into the house office building.

To that end, they adopted filibustering tactics whenever the stringent rules of the house would permit. In one instance, after a point of no quorum had been made, numbers of republicans could be seen trooping into the cloakrooms, before a count could be taken by the chair. Speaker Bankhead pronounced 216 members, the barest of quorums, to be present, and a roll call (which ordinarily consumes 45 minutes) was averted.

President Roosevelt's denial of dictatorship desires, issued in the small hours of this morning at Warm Springs, Ga., was a prime topic of conversation on Capitol Hill.

Carries Battle Not only did the president pronounce himself unfitted for dictatorship and averse to it, but he carried the battle to the foes of the bill. He said they had spread "silly nightmares" and "planted bogies under every bed."

Much speculation was aroused by the manner in which Mr. Roosevelt made public his remarks, which were contained in a letter to an unnamed friend. Correspondents who accompanied the president to Warm Springs were aroused and handed copies of the letter well after midnight.

Many persons suggested there had been a sudden decision to get the president's views to the country, and to the house, just before debate began.

At the very outset, the letter struck into its central theme. "As you well know," the president wrote, "I am as much opposed to an American dictatorship as you are, for three simple reasons:

"(A) I have no inclination to be a dictator." " (B) I have none of the qualifications which would make me a successful dictator." " (C) I have too much historical background and too much respect for existing dictatorial democracy like the United States of America."

He made no mention of Jews, who in this city number about five per cent of the population as compared with less than one per cent in the whole reich.

It was here that Meyer Amschel Rothschild in the 18th century raised the family of five sons who became world famous as bankers of princes and potentates.

"I have done this," he said, "not as a breaker of laws, but as a remaker of laws and restorer of justice."

The Big Blunder Of 1938

THE PRESIDENT'S charge that opponents of the reorganization bill attempted to "purchase" its defeat has caused a furor, a furor which rivals that of the court squabble.

In our opinion this allegation by Roosevelt was a colossal blunder. It has done more to undermine his cause than anything the opposition could say or do.

The very first implication of the statement was to cast a grave shadow over the character of the bill itself. The bill had been hotly debated and narrowly passed by the senate. Charges, ranging from dictatorship to what not, bounced from the chamber walls. After that, the most natural reaction in the world to such a statement as the president's was to consider it a justification for all those charges.

Rightly or wrongly, that was just the effect it had. Senator Johnson retorted, "It justifies every single word said here against the bill." But whether or not Roosevelt's remark really justifies opposition has made little difference; it has justified opposition in the popular mind.

A second, and equally natural result has been the "reflection" on all who voted against, or otherwise opposed, the bill. Many men, normally friendly to the new deal, could not, for conscience sake, cast a favorable vote. Many friends of the administration were also found in the ranks of the A. F. of L., veterans' bureaus, farm organizations, and others who opposed the measure.

When he reflected on the honesty of those who opposed him, Roosevelt may have alienated a great bloc of otherwise faithful supporters. It will be recalled that a somewhat similar attitude on his part did much to make permanent the breach caused by the supreme court fight.

By charging his opponents with dishonesty, the president also brought into public scrutiny the administration's own efforts to get the bill through.

Critics were quick to point out a few of the interesting, though sordid, aspects. Senator Pope got the approval of a 10 million dollar hydro-electric plant for Idaho just four days after voting favorably on the reorganization bill. The most indicting ramifications of the affair was that the project had previously been turned down by the bureau of reclamation, the bureau of the budget and the house appropriations committee.

The administration reply to such aspersion is, "Coincidence," but there have been a good many of these "coincidences." Coincidentally Hattie Caraway got 40 millions for flood control in Arkansas, Smith saw the cotton control and Frazier was threatened with discontinuance of relief funds. The administration seems to have turned on the pressure full blast.

There can be no doubt that both sides used every possible resource to win their point. For the president to accuse the opposition of dishonesty merely brought his own efforts to influence action on the bill into the limelight. To many these efforts appear far worse than the attempts to get the public to flood congress with telegrams. We can but conclude that the step was a mistake as far as Roosevelt was concerned. The president unknowingly gave a bad lead to his own bill, alienated his erstwhile friends and cast a shadow of dishonesty over the administration.

gining to show itself, even forcing him to deny having any aspirations of dictatorship. The incident, from his standpoint, deserves to be called "The Big Blunder of 1938."

A Chance For Diplomacy

SELDOM HAS the interdependence of neighboring countries been better illustrated than in the present expropriation difference with Mexico. Trade, foreign relations and national policies are all interwoven into a complex mass that gives far-reaching effect to each change in relations.

Some time ago we pointed out Mexico's risks in expropriating the foreign-owned oil industry. Within the last few days most of those risks have become certainties. Usual markets for Mexican oil are closed and the United States has not only ceased to bolster the price of Mexican silver but has also demanded nearly 500 million dollars in full payment for oil holdings and American-owned farmlands, seized a few years ago.

Financially, the Mexican government is hard hit. Rich revenue from oil companies no longer flows into the treasury. Approximately 1,800 oil workers must be provided for, either by employment or direct relief. Now, with an unstable currency, the country is faced with the problem of raising nearly a half-billion to pay for expropriated property.

But the United States likewise is feeling the effects of the break with Mexico, and graver results loom in the near future. Decline in the exchange value of the peso has practically halted Mexican purchases, 60 per cent of which are made from the United States.

Still more serious is the simultaneous movement of Germany, Italy and Japan toward purchasing Mexican oil. Although President Cardenas is reported to have said that he will sell only to democracies, as long as the peso continues to decline, as long as the pay roll mounts and tanks overflow with unsold petroleum, he will be under pressure to sell to fascist states.

Such sales would forge strong economic bonds between fascists and Latin America, where their propaganda has already taken root. Events of the last few months have shown all too clearly what happens once fascism gets a foothold in a weak democracy.

That the United States has a strong case against Mexico cannot be denied. High tariffs and expropriation are poor exchanges for purchase of Mexican silver and at least an attempt to follow the "good neighbor" policy. Both countries, however, stand to lose by a continuation of the present difference. Although the breach is wide, it is not yet too late for some good, sound diplomatic adjustment.

Homo Sapiens—Today Is His

MAN HAS dotted his calendar with all manner of red-letter celebration days, but there is probably no other day on which members of the human race are so utterly at home in the world as on April Fools' day.

Here's a day when man really feels and understands his kinship with his fellows. All Fools' day—a phrase that at last exposes the glimmer of truth in the timeworn expression, "We're all brothers under the skin."

It's just a day when maturity has an excuse for acting adolescent; a day when one can, by putting sawdust in the chocolate candy, be the life of the party instead of a mental delinquent.

It's the kind of a day when supporters. It will be recalled that a somewhat similar attitude on his part did much to make permanent the breach caused by the supreme court fight.

HELP OR HINDRANCE?

Reducing Diet Demands Great Decreasing of Food Quantity

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Within the last decade very definite advance has been made in the scientific treatment of overweight. When we examine the principles derived from these researches they are perfectly logical, and just what we might expect. They were enunciated by the celebrated physician of Rome, Tronchin, who used to say in praise of fasting, "You gain a point if you cut off the enemy's provisions." In short, to reduce, eat less.

There is another proverb which goes, "To avoid obesity, keep your eyes open and your mouth shut." In other words, sleep less and eat less.

Saturday BREAKFAST—Glass of orange juice, gluten toast with Golden Spread, black coffee.

DINNER—Veal loaf, stewed tomatoes, soy bean bread, Golden Spread butter, lettuce salad, mineral oil dressing, black coffee.

SUNDAY—Feast day. If you have been good all week, you can splurge a little Sunday.

BREAKFAST—Cantaloupe, if in season, or half grapefruit; one egg, one slice bacon, gluten toast and Golden Spread butter, coffee with one lump sugar, small dash of cream.

MIDDAY MEAL—Broiled chicken or steak, boiled potato with white sauce, peas (three-fourths cup with one teaspoon butter), gluten bread and Golden Spread butter, red cabbage with mineral oil dressing, lemon snow custard (one-half cup lemon snow, one-fourth cup custard), coffee with one lump sugar and dash of cream.

SUPPER—Cold veal loaf, gluten toast and Golden Spread butter, red cabbage salad with mineral oil dressing, one slice of pineapple, coffee, black.

Tuning In with Betty Harpel

A new song that will bear watching is "There Are Two Sides to Every Question."

Ted Healy came for a guest star appearance on a program and was told that three minutes were set aside for his contribution.

"Three minutes," the comic protested, "Why, I bow for 10 minutes when I make my entrance. I don't see how we're going to do it."

The exchange visits between Eddie Cantor and Benny Goodman have been postponed for a week. Benny was scheduled to appear on the Cantor show Monday night, but time pressure crowded him out. He will be there next week, and Eddie will be on the Goodman show Tuesday.

Incidentally Benny Goodman is wrestling with a period of unrest in his band. The success of various individuals has brought offers from a lot of other bands and agents. Gene Krupa for instance is already out organizing a band of his own, and three more members of the band are deserting this week.

Are newspapers or radios more popular as outlets for news? Some people have said that newspapers are going to succumb to the competition offered them by radio and take a definite back seat. To settle the argument, Fortune magazine conducted a survey to determine which was the most popular news outlet.

The survey covered 5,000 persons distributed around the country. Declaring for newspapers as news sources were 45.2 per cent of those questioned; for radio 23.5 per cent, and for both 28.2 per cent.

The survey showed that those who prefer radio were people with few definite ideas on world affairs.

In the last election, President Roosevelt did not have the support of even one national network news commentator, which would seem to indicate something about radio's influence on public opinion.

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Today's essay concerns one of the newsstands in the crowded, hurrying atmosphere of the Times Square subway station. Like the drugstores and other quickie establishments in New York (quickie lunch, quickie indignation) the subway stands have long since succumbed to the Hudson Bay trading complex—that is, they sell everything from gardenias to steel traps. And if you are lucky, you may even find a copy of your favorite newspaper.

Having been disgraced by the Seventh avenue express, and being in no hurry to board the shuttle train, which whisks one in a wink to Grand Central terminal, your correspondent was tarrying idly by the news rack, sneaking a free glance at the late baseball scores, when a chap ambled up and asked for a can-opener.

"Thumb-screw type or old style?" inquired the Factor, being in no sense surprised by this request. "I wouldn't know one from the other," confessed the customer, "what do you recommend?" "Take this one," suggested the man behind the counter. "It'll cost you 25 cents."

Doll Too
Hardly had this satisfied lad been swallowed up by a BMT train than a nice old lady in a tweed coat hurried up and asked for a bicycle pump. The newsstand boss dived under the counter and came up with just the type she wanted. Another customer asked for—and received—a box of Turkish incense and a Vina Delmar novel.

It was after this rather weird sale that a little girl edged up to the stand and told the man she wanted a "nice doll that says mama when you turn it over."

"Just a moment," replied our magician, digging among some boxes on the floor. He came up with his face wreathed in smiles. "Here we are."

It was a nice doll, dressed in a peasant fashion, and it did emit a sort of squawk when turned on its back. But its enunciation wasn't very clear. You couldn't understand a word it said.

"It just won't do," decided the little girl. "It doesn't say Mama and I want a doll that says Mama."

"Let me see it," said the perturbed salesman. For a few minutes he studied the doll closely, turning it over and listening intently to its mechanized gurglings. Suddenly his face lit up. "Ah," he cried triumphantly, "this doll is okay. You just don't understand it. It speaks in Italian."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—It's all very well to jest about Hollywood's taking love lightly, but you couldn't prove it on a Frank Borzage set.

In Borzage love scenes the tender passion has the accent on the adjective. The hackneyed cliché is a matter of ecstasy with decided spiritual overtones. The screen runs briefly on the business, and then the characters go about other deeds of the story.

But on the set a love scene is a fair part of a day's work. Borzage the other day had Robert Taylor and Margaret Sullivan rehearsing one of those passionate tenderesses. The scene was in their little attic apartment, unpretentious, old-fashioned but picturesque. In the story—"Three Comrades"—this is the honeymoon apartment of the boy and girl, now married a week and about to be parted because the girl has to have an operation. She's kept that a secret from the boy.

First Try
Taylor is sitting on the side of the bed. Miss Sullivan, in a peasant costume, is lying across it, facing the camera which gets Taylor's profile.

"Well try it once," says Borzage, quietly. He is always quiet. "I've had this week—they can't ever take it away from me," whispers Margaret, and Taylor takes her in his arms.

The cameraman and Borzage squat on the floor, the lensman peering up at the actors through a "finder." This is going to be an upward shot.

"This angle all right?" asks Borzage. "The cameraman makes a suggestion." "A little closer, please," Borzage asks Margaret.

She squirms over, making a wry face. "My dress is coming apart," she says, pulling the pieces apart together. "I've had this week—they can't ever..." etc.

Thomas Aims at Louis' Crown

Manager Looks For Upset Win In Tonight's Go

Odds Favor Bomber In 15-Round Bout At Stadium

By EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO, March 31 (AP)—The swingman from Minnesota's farm lands, hopeful Harry Thomas, gets the chance tomorrow night to swing the biggest upset in modern ring history.

Thomas meet Joe Louis, the 23-year old world's heavyweight boxing champion, in a scheduled 15-round bout at the stadium—and no one except Thomas himself and his manager, Nate Lewis, has come forward to say that Thomas will win.

The betting odds, theoretically, are 20 to 1 that Louis retains his title by decision and 10 to 1 he knocks Thomas kicking. They might just as well be 100 or 1,000 to 1 in the face of a total absence of actual wagers.

It is admitted that the blond, pallid looking Thomas can punch, but he's easy to hit when trying to wind up his wild, roundhouse swings from the floor. Max Schmeling knocked him down seven times before the bout was halted in the eighth. The brightest bit of interest attached to the Thomas-Louis affair, generally recognized as tune up for Joe and his slated June 22 bout with Max, is speculation on how long it will take the Bomber to put Thomas down and out.

The Schmeling-Louis meleé apparently is "stealing" at least some of the show from tomorrow night's program. Mike Jacobs, arriving from New York, went into conference with park board officials on the possibility that the Schmeling-Louis match be staged at Chicago's huge Soldier Field. The park board reportedly wants 10 per cent of the gate at its rental fee. Jacobs has said he might do business on a 5 per cent basis.

The mayor, Edward J. Kelly, the council and the fans are steaming up Chicago as the most desirable and profitable place for the fight but the impression still prevails that the German and the Detroit Negro will do their stuff in Yankee stadium, New York.

Weighing-in ceremonies for Friday night's bout, which will be the first indoor heavyweight contest in Chicago's history, are scheduled for tomorrow noon. Louis will weigh 200 and Thomas 196 when they answer the bell. The title holder again emphasized he will try to end the bout "Soon's Ah can," and interest in his terrific punching is expected to attract 15,000 spectators with a gate of between $60,000 and $70,000.

Glen Lee Will Fight Apostoli

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Fred Apostoli of San Francisco and Glen Lee of Edison, Neb., leading candidates for the right to meet Freddie Steele for middleweight honors, head tomorrow night's boxing program at Madison Square Garden in a 15-round decision when they fought 12 rousing rounds two months ago.

The San Franciscan already has put a $2,000 check on file with the New York State Athletic commission to bind his challenge to Steele. The commission, however, withheld action until tomorrow night's bout, and is likely to recognize Lee as No. 1 challenger if he whips Apostoli.

48 Spring Sport Contests Form Hawkeye Card

Baseball dominates the University of Iowa spring sports schedule. With 48 contests carded, 27 of them baseball games, Iowa's four teams are booked to perform in nine states.

Between today when the baseball team opens at Peoria, and June 18, final day of the National Collegiate track meet, Iowans will compete in 40 dual events, one triangular, and seven championship contests.

Only 13 of the events will occur at Iowa City. Twenty-four are with Big Ten opponents. In addition to the 27 games for the baseball team, there are seven meets each for the track, tennis, and golf teams and two more tennis meets may yet be added.

Jean Bauer Upsets National Champion In Golf Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C., March 31 (AP)—Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., interrupted the calm course of eliminations in the women's north and south golf championships today with a surprising 3 and 2 defeat of Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., the national champion.

In winning the quarter finals match, Miss Bauer rallied after being three down at the ninth and took six holes in a row after halving the tenth.

Her semi-finals opponent tomorrow will be Jane Cothran of West Palm Beach, Fla., who collected a string of birdies on the back nine and eliminated Helen Dettweiler of Washington, D. C., 5 and 3.

53 Schools Will Be Represented at State Indoor Track Meet

Three new schools filed entries and one withdrew its competitors yesterday as the final participants were accepted for the largest indoor state track meet ever held in the state. Drawings for the meet, which will open tomorrow afternoon in the Hawkeye fieldhouse were being completed yesterday as officials began the tremendous task of arranging preliminaries for the great number of prep tracksters.

Knoxville with one performer, Pella with five men, and Nashua with six entries brought the grand total for the carnival to 53 schools and 514 athletes. Oelwein, with four members of its track team entered, withdrew from the field to become the first school to have on its original entries for a good many years.

Davenport, 1937 runnerup, heads this year's entry list with 30 individual performers. East Des Moines and Clinton each have 22 men entered, and McKinley and Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, Roosevelt of Des Moines, and University high of Iowa City all have registered 20 names on the competing list of cindermen. Keokuk high is next with 18 entered while Wilson of Cedar Rapids trails closely behind with 17 competitors.

The oldest records to be shot at Saturday in the 17th annual meet are those of Nelson of Clinton in the 50-yard dash with a time of .05.4 and a record leap of 22 feet 9-1/2 inches in the broad jump, both made in 1933.

Other records made in 1933 were the 60-yard high hurdles set by Connolly of Dubuque with a time of .07.8, and the 440-yard dash by Phillips of University high of Iowa City when he ran the event in .51.3.

Two records were set up in last year's classic when Dubuque established the time of 3:55.2 for the medley relay and Clinton set up a new record in the half-mile relay with a time of 1:36.4.

Pro Golfers Getting Smart

By PAUL MICKELSON
AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31 (AP)—Professional tournament golfers, by far the biggest suckers in all sport, are getting some sense in their heads after many years of patient suffering. They've decided to wage war on their old failing of providing all the entertainment at tournaments and then paying the check for the show out of their own pants pockets.

Beginning with the next winter tour, the world's worst business men are out to regain their professional standing. As a starter, they'll refuse to compete in any tournament offering prize money of less than $5,000. Furthermore, the boys aim to lay a dead stymie on the big and small town chislers who coax them to get them publicity plugs at radio stations, clothing stores and girlie-girlie shows for the price of a free taxicab ride.

Hereafter, they resolve to be more like Colonel Bill Terry and demand "how much is there in it for me?"
It is highly doubtful if the golf

Hawkeyes Travel to Peoria To Open 1938 Schedule Against Veteran Band of Engineers

Vogel Still Undecided On Batteries For Initial Game

Coach Otto Vogel and 18 of his Hawkeye baseball hopefuls will leave for Peoria, Ill., early this morning in anticipation of their season's opener with the Bradley Tech Engineers today in the first of a two-game series.

The Techmen pried the lid off their season Wednesday by losing to Illinois, Big 10 champions of the diamond last year, by a 1-0 score. With the exception of two hurlers the Bradleys have their entire team back again this year. The Hawkeyes whipped the Little 19 champs, 5-3 and 8-5 in last year's series.

Although Coach Vogel's selection of his starting pitcher today will be withheld pending playing conditions and opponent's strategy, he indicated that he would start either Kenneth Reid or Howard Miller, the only veteran hurlers on the squad.

May Start Sophomores
There is a possibility that one of the sophomores may start and it is highly probable that Vogel will use more than the two above mentioned fingers as he plans to use none of his pitchers more than three or four innings so early in the season, especially with the recent weather change.

Charles McClenahan and Dave West are the only two catchers making the trip and it is more than likely both will see plenty of action during the two-game series on Illinois soil.

Vogel is taking along four hurlers, Hal Haub, Jim Cook, Keith Wymore and Matt Faber besides Reid and Miller.

Vogt Will Lead Off
Bill Vogt, who distinguished himself during the inter-squad practice games by scoring more runs than any other candidate, will be leading off for the Vogelmen tomorrow.

Art Manush will be batting in second place and Capt. Eddie Kadell is in third place. Shortstop Andy Kantor will be in cleanup position. Kantor has been the longest hitter on the squad so far this season.

Jim George, who will be roaming the outer gardens today, will bat fifth in order, being followed by Erwin Prasse and Elmer Bratten.

Three utility men, Emil Klumpar, Vic Belger and Bob Knapp will probably see action in the second game of the series tomorrow.

Ed Dudley Picks Snead to Win In Augusta Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31 (AP) Out of an all-star cast that will tee off tomorrow in the Bobby Jones golfing spectacle, the fifth annual Augusta national tournament, Rookie Sam Snead is the choice of Big Ed Dudley, host professional on the stream-lined course.

Slammin' Sam, the young pro from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., will be "plenty tough for the boys," said Dudley, himself well listed for the $1,500 top prize in the bookmaker's form chart.

Standing beside the practice green in bright sunshine that augured excellent weather for the tournament closing the winter golf show, Dudley named Snead as the man to beat among 44 champions, ex-champions, ranking amateurs and top flight salaried golfers who will seek shares in the $5,000 purse.

"Snead is playing great golf," Dudley said, "as evidenced by his fine 271 that won the Greensboro open and that par-busting 69 he connected with here just a few minutes after arriving from his first plane flight. He's doing everything one needs to do to win."

Dudley, who has played more than a half dozen practice rounds here with Bob Jones, the retired champion of the international game, held forth little hope for Atlanta's "grand slam" champion of 1930.

Jones, who retired in 1930 after he won four major crowns of America and Great Britain, has finished no higher than a tie for 13th in the Augusta event, his only competitive appearance of late years.

U-High Has 20 Entries in Meet

Injuries to Keep Miller And Alderman Out Of Competition

Twenty University high tracksters are among the 514 individuals entered in the state indoor track carnival which opens at the fieldhouse tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Carpenter has not as yet definitely decided upon the number of events his men will enter. However, at present he is certain that Hightshoe will run the quarter-mile; Blackstone will run the high and low hurdles; Carson will throw the shotput; Bowrey will broad jump, and a two-mile relay team will be entered composed of: Krough, Campion, Spencer and Robbins; Injury has deprived Coach Carpenter of the services of Alderman and Miller for the meet, but it is probable that they will be in shape for the Mechanicsville Relays the next week end.

Although the Blues showed signs of power by capturing the Little Eight conference championship last Monday night, not too much is expected from them because of the strong competition that is certain to be present in the meet.

Swim Contest, Softball Plans Laid by Greeks

Three changes were accepted by the athletic managers of intramural sports yesterday afternoon as they met to formulate plans for the softball competition which will get under way within the next week or 10 days. Final plans for the interfraternity swimming meet which will be held on next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings were laid.

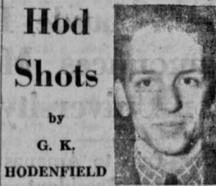

The kittenball games will be run off in round robin fashion, each team meeting each other in its section until the winner is decided. The games will be seven innings in duration and will be played on the fields provided on the west and south sides of the fieldhouse and two on the north edge of the golf course.

Landis Rules Tribe Rookies Free Agents

CLEVELAND, March 31 (AP)—C. C. Slapnicka, Cleveland Indians' general manager, said today Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis had ruled two Tribe rookies, Charles Stanceau and Myron McCormick, free agents.

Slapnicka said Landis found the Cleveland club unduly "influenced" by the players' careers. Stanceau, a pitcher, and McCormick, an outfielder, were picked up by Cleveland scouts for Butler, Pa., then sold to New Orleans. In 1936 New Orleans sold them to Buffalo and Cleveland bought them from Buffalo last fall.

Drake Tracksters Leave
DES MOINES (AP)—Five Drake university track athletes left here for Austin, Tex., yesterday to compete in the Texas relay Saturday. The Bulldog squad was composed of Bob Horstmeier, Bob Patterson, Harrison Kohl, Bill Feller and Capt. Fred Padgett.

Hod Shots

Henry Otto Luebecke, a rather frail lad from Chicago, yesterday donned a pair of football mole-skins for the first time since early last October. Luebecke weighs just a fraction over 300 pounds, a sure proof that athletes go down hill physically when they are out of competition. Such a pity!

Luebecke injured his ankle in the first week of practice after the season's grid opener against the University of Washington at Seattle last fall and since then has been able to navigate only with the aid of a pair of crutches and, lately, a cane.

After a fine 60-minute performance against the Huskies, it appeared that Henry, one of the best tackle prospects ever to enroll at Iowa, would never play football again. Yesterday was the first time in six months that Luebecke has been in a uniform but he has spent nearly every afternoon this spring watching the men go through their paces in the daily drills.

Henry did not participate in any of the heavy drills yesterday and probably will not do so until next fall.

King Midas?

And now come a story from Florida, training grounds of many major league teams, extolling the ability of Billy Knickerbocker, the Yankee's newly acquired shortstop. Knickerbocker was obtained from the St. Louis Browns in a deal for Don Heffner and seemed set for a nice easy season on the bench. Frank Crosetti, the Ruppert Rifles' regular shortstop, has been on the sidelines with a charleyhorse in his left thigh, however, and the former Brownie has been taking his place in fine style, hitting the ball and fielding it much better than at any other time in his career. Who was this King Midas, and what did he have that Jake Ruppert doesn't?

'38 Debut

The Iowa baseball squad makes its 1938 debut this afternoon at Peoria, Ill., in the first tilt of a two-game series with Bradley Tech. The only trouble to be seen with this year's diamond schedule is the fact that most of the games are to be played away from home. It's not the fault of Coach Otto Vogel, dates have to be filled the best way possible, but it is sort of a let-down after last year's fine card with 12 home games, 10 of them against Big Ten opponents.

A glance over the record compiled by Vogel since he came here as coach in 1925 shows that in the 13 years he has been here he has guided the teams to 159 victories as against 128 defeats for a percentage of .557.

In conference games alone Iowa has won 56 games while dropping 58 and has an average of .491. Only three Big 10 teams hold an edge over the Vogelmen—Michigan, Illinois and Ohio State. The Purdue Boilermakers have never been met in baseball, and the Hawkeyes hold the edge over Northwestern, Indiana and Chicago. The series with Minnesota and Illinois has been even up.

Iowa's conference schedule for this year lists four games with Minnesota, two with Wisconsin, two with Chicago, two with Ohio State and two with Northwestern.

Frat Volleyball

Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi and Delta Upsilon emerged winners of their respective divisions last night as each won the last game on its schedule of the fraternity volleyball league.

Beta Theta Pi won from Phi Gamma Delta, their nearest competitors for the section crown, by two close games, 15-13 and 15-12. Sigma Chi had an even tougher battle on its hands against the Phi Delta Theta team as they split the first two games 15-12 and 10-15 and, after an equally close third game which ended 15-11, came through winner of their section. Delta Upsilon won by default from Delta Chi.

Iowa Patrolman Speaks Before Audience of 55

Gives Two Compliments To Iowa City Drivers

"Not a law is written without a purpose, and all are made for your protection, not to hinder you!" Sergt. Edgar Faber declared before an audience of 55 at the fifth session of the Iowa City traffic school in the city council chambers last night.

His topic was "Country Driving." Sergt. Faber is head of the highway patrol station in West Liberty.

Two compliments were given Iowa City drivers by Sergt. Faber as introduction to his main discussion. He commended the city as a community for getting through 1937 without a fatal automobile accident.

He warned the audience about careless driving in zoned areas and on hills. They will be especially watched, hereafter, he claimed.

"Regardless of whether or not there is a sign forbidding it, drivers must not pass on hills," Sergt. Faber declared. "If the traffic laws do not influence a driver, the laws of self-preservation should, he further stressed. Several accounts of drivers who failed to obey the rules of driving on hills were given as illustrations of what hazards may result.

"You may break all the traffic laws and get away with it but you can't break the law of averages," the speaker said.

He declared that many of the best citizens were the worst drivers. Reasons for this, were given as impatience, outright discourtesy, carelessness and poor driving judgment.

"The impatient driver is one of the highway patrolman's chief difficulties. Too many of the accidents caused by this class of driver are needless and could be stopped by a little thought," Sergt. Faber said.

American Legion Auxiliary Elects County Head

Mrs. Joseph Pavel of Solon was re-elected county chairman at the county unit meeting of the American Legion auxiliary yesterday at 1:30 p.m. at the Moose hall.

Other officers elected were Mrs. W. J. White, county vice-chairman, and Mrs. Beulah Whittington of Solon, secretary-treasurer.

The units taking part in the auxiliary meeting were from Iowa City, Lone Tree, Oxford and Solon. The yearly report from each unit was given at the meeting.

Mrs. White was in charge of the program. Mrs. William Mueller presented two readings; Bob and Bill Ross gave a drum and bugle demonstration; Leo Cortimiglia, accordion solos; Mrs. Eliza Wolford of Lone Tree, harmonica solos, and Mrs. Wilfred Cole, vocal solos, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Marie Burger.

Mrs. J. G. Engel of Bennett, first district committeewoman, was a guest at the meeting.

Lost: $198 Policemen, Waiters Gather 'Round

L. J. Thompson of Cedar Rapids didn't realize his suit had so many pockets. He does now.

Wednesday night he phoned Iowa City police and called banks telling of the loss of his billfold — containing $198 in checks — while paying for a meal in a local restaurant.

The waiters gathered around with the management to suggest various pockets he might explore. No, he was certain someone grabbed it up when his back was turned!

The police reported no suspicious characters had been seen. Thompson gave up, but just then some young waiter suggested the inside pocket of his overcoat.

Well, he'd give it a try. He did. The billfold was there — and the police are having a good laugh.

Show Fine Spirit

Iowa City drivers have shown a fine spirit the last few days, he said, in returning almost immediately to police the tickets stating that repairs had been made on lights declared to be defective.

He warned the audience about careless driving in zoned areas and on hills. They will be especially watched, hereafter, he claimed.

"Regardless of whether or not there is a sign forbidding it, drivers must not pass on hills," Sergt. Faber declared. "If the traffic laws do not influence a driver, the laws of self-preservation should, he further stressed. Several accounts of drivers who failed to obey the rules of driving on hills were given as illustrations of what hazards may result.

"You may break all the traffic laws and get away with it but you can't break the law of averages," the speaker said.

He declared that many of the best citizens were the worst drivers. Reasons for this, were given as impatience, outright discourtesy, carelessness and poor driving judgment.

"The impatient driver is one of the highway patrolman's chief difficulties. Too many of the accidents caused by this class of driver are needless and could be stopped by a little thought," Sergt. Faber said.

Intoxicated Drivers

In speaking of intoxicated drivers, Faber placed the blame for accidents not so much on the completely drunken driver as a man "with just a few drinks."

"This class is more careless, more dangerous and is liable to be a hit and run driver," the patrolman said. Patrolmen usually have no difficulty in noticing when the driver had been drinking.

"The chief concern of highway patrolmen is not to hunt law-breakers. They are to help you—they are your friends," Sergt. Faber said.

He explained that a number of persons were stopped on the roads and complimented on good driving or were informed of unnoticed trouble about their vehicles. Patrolmen are always impartial and nobody has unequal rights with members of the patrol, the speaker declared.

Patrolman Hohl Speaks
Patrolman Richard Hohl followed the main speaker and gave an imaginary account of a day's trip and the difficulties a patrolman encountered in a day's experience.

Zoned areas are placed near the scene of auto fatalities and are marked, he said, because they are known to be dangerous.

"Highways would be much safer if people acted on the roads as they act at home—and used fair courtesy," Hohl said.

Approximately 47 persons are enrolled for 11-week course. Seventeen have been sent to the school for traffic violations.

Edwin Green will have charge of the next session on "Stopping, Turns and Crest of Hills" in the city council chambers at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sergt. Clarence Day of the highway patrol office at Cedar Rapids will be the speaker.

Louise Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warren of Iowa City, president of the Johnson county 4-H girls' club and an active club worker for seven years, submitted her 4-H club long-time record book yesterday to be entered in the Des Moines Register and Tribune long-time record book contest.

The largest monthly indoor attendance—a total of 1,987—was reported for the month of March at the Iowa City Recreation center by Eugene Trowbridge, director.

According to Trowbridge, the record indoor attendance was gratifying during the recent warm spring days when no specific outdoor program had been presented.

The registration figure at the end of the month, Trowbridge announced, was 588, an increase of 59 over February. An average of 73 attended the center daily.

Girls Outdoor Plans
First spring plans to be completed were the supervised outdoor game periods for girls, every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoon at the women's athletic field. Marian Smalley, A4 of Muscatine, and Naomi Miller, A2 of Macedonia, will be in charge of the group games, including volleyball, soft ball, hop scotch and rope jumping. Elementary school girls of University, St. Mary's, St. Phrick's and Henry Sabin schools are expected to participate in the outdoor recreation periods.

Boys' outdoor activities will include a senior softball team for boys 16 to 20 years old, and a junior Sunday school league, under the supervision of Bill Wittenstein, coach, in which boys from Iowa City's Sunday schools will be invited to compete.

The Iowa City Recreation board is negotiating for the use of city play grounds for the center's softball teams and game groups during the coming months.

To Hold Kite Tournay
Elementary, junior high and high school boys of Iowa City and its vicinity have been asked to register for the April 16 kite tournay, sponsored by the Recreation board and the city Chamber of Commerce. Marble championship matches for boys under 15 years, will probably follow in the early spring program.

The center will continue its previous indoor schedule from 3:15 to 9:30 p.m. each week day, in addition to carrying out its outdoor activity.

Future indoor sports, under Wittenstein's direction will include volleyball classes and boxing. The junior pocket-billiard tournay will begin its first round this afternoon. Thirty-six have registered.

Jurors Begin To Deliberate In Cross Trial

The jury began deliberating at 2:35 p.m. yesterday in the trial of Sidney Cross Jr., Coralville, on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Judge James P. Gaffney instructed the jury to return its verdict into open court.

County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark and Attorney W. F. Murphy, counsel for the defense, presented their closing arguments yesterday morning.

The state alleges Cross was unable to keep his car on the highway and was intoxicated when arrested at his home in Coralville.

The defense maintained that Cross was sick and a strong wind caused his car to sway back and forth on the road.

2 Candidates File Nomination Papers

Lou Rittmeyer, West Lucas township, and F. J. Floerchinger, Oxford, both democrats, filed nomination papers as candidates for county supervisor at the June 6 primaries with County Auditor Ed Sulek yesterday.

They will oppose Supervisor C. W. Lacinia, whose term expires Jan. 1, 1939.

May 6 is the final day for filing nomination papers.

President William Howard Taft traveled 114,000 miles while in office.

Announces Complete Program For Reserve Officers' Camp

Capt. E. C. Patton Will Have Charge Of Registration

The complete program for the district "contact camp" of the Reserve Officers' association, to convene here April 10 in the Jefferson hotel, was announced yesterday by Capt. Edward C. Patton of the local association. Lieut. Col. Vernon A. Vrooman of Des Moines, president of the state department, will be the luncheon speaker.

More than 200 Reserve officers of the southeastern Iowa district are expected to attend the meeting, for which seven hours of credit will be given toward advancement or retention of reserve officers commissions.

All candidates for reserve officers commissions and R.O.T.C. students are urged to attend the meetings, Captain Patton announced.

Registration for the camp should be made by April 9 with Captain Patton, whose offices are in the Dey building here, or with Capt. G. B. McConnell of the federal department at Davenport.

Registration for the all-day meeting will be from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. April 10. Lieut. Col. Jack Hinman Jr. of the Iowa national guard will open the camp with a discussion of "Fourth Army Maneuvers" from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Lieut. Col. Will J. Hayek of the Iowa national guard will speak on "Mechanized Cavalry" at 10:30 a.m.

"Reserve Officer Esprit de Corps" will be the topic of the luncheon address by Lieutenant Colonel Vrooman. The luncheon meeting will convene at noon. At 1:30 p.m., Lieut. Col. Frank L. Love of the medical reserve will speak on "The Operation of the Reception Center."

Lieut. Col. Arthur Steindler of the medical reserve will discuss "Mechanics of Marching" at 2:30 p.m. The school of instruction will be completed by Lieutenant Colonel Hinman at 3:30, when he leads a discussion of "Military Sanitation." All sessions will be at the Jefferson hotel.

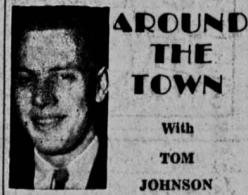

Contact camps are held frequently in various parts of the state for the purpose of instructing reserve officers. Such camps are held under the auspices of the state department.

The 24 southeastern Iowa counties from which reserve officers will attend the camp here are Jasper, Poweshiek, Iowa, Johnson, Cedar, Clinton, Marion, Mahaska, Keokuk, Washington, Louisa, Muscatine, Scott, Lucas, Monroe, Wapello, Jefferson, Henry, Des Moines, Wayne, Appanoose, Davis, Van Buren and Lee.

AROUND THE TOWN

The BIOPSY
Medical students will flock to the office of Dean Ewen MacEwen at 10 o'clock this morning for their copies of the BIOPSY.

Don't miss it, meds. If this year's issue is as good as last's, it should be OK.

It's too bad other colleges and schools within the university haven't their own raz sheets.

They could stand them. It would be too bad if they couldn't.

March Marches On
So that was March... not so lion-like, was it? April, according to the prophets, will bring showers. Well, they were wrong on the winter... and March. Maybe we won't have much rain in April.

Next month will be May... and flowers. Then, June... and vacation.

Incidentally, students will be glad to know their spring vacation begins April 13... and will last until the 19th.

Over the Coffee
When H. S. M. lived in Des Moines, his bedroom was entirely decorated in green. Not another single color was allowed there.

The b. w.'s rooms were done in black and silver.

His favorite name for the b. g. is "Fifi," and the b. b.'s is "Bobo." I needn't tell you of his bottle collection.

A Colonel Now
In 1917, when America entered the war, Dr. Arthur Steindler was unable to enter the army. He was denied an officer's commission. They said his English was not fluent.

You'll notice today that Dr. Steindler will speak at the Reserve Officers' contact camp April 10. You'll also notice that his title is Lieutenant-Colonel!

The language, incidentally, was probably easier to acquire than the commission. His time was valuable — yet he worked hard for the coveted commission... steadily advanced to a colonelcy.

Keep Eyes Open
If you're unfortunate to have to work or play with typical jokesters today, be on your guard! It's April Fool's day.

Of course, if you feel particularly clever, don't fail to let yourself go.

Court to Hear Walker's Case Here Monday

The hear on the petition of Charles E. Walker, 323 N. Lucas street, to restrain Police Chief W. H. Bender from arresting Walker for child desertion will be at 10 a.m. Monday.

Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday issued a writ of habeas corpus to Attorney Lee J. Farnworth for Walker's release from the Johnson county jail if he post a $1,000 bond.

Walker was arrested yesterday morning by Chief Bender on a warrant from Judge Dan Allen of Des Moines municipal court on a charge filed by Mrs. Margaret Walker.

In his petition Walker alleges he was absolved from the child desertion charge by the ruling of Judge Gaffney two weeks ago when he denied Mrs. Walker a divorce. In his ruling, the judge said Mrs. Walker's moving to Des Moines was an act of desertion.
