Billion Dollar Loan Bill Passed by House, 339-6

One Provision Will Return To Senate for O.K.

Section of Bill Would Permit Long-Time Business Loans

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Roosevelt administration virtually received a "blank check" enabling it to lend $1,500,000,000 to combat the new depression when the house passed today, 339 to 6, a bill increasing the loan powers of the reconstruction finance corporation.

The bill did not actually go to the White House immediately, because the senate had yet to act on a house amendment, but it was considered certain that it soon would be sent to President Roosevelt.

Although it grants wide powers to the RFC to help business, the administration has not announced a specific program to apply the powers. A committee of officials headed by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has been working on a lending program.

One major section of the bill permits the RFC to make long-term loans to business. The agency is now restricted to loans maturing in 1945. The long-term credits may be of a character that banks won't touch. In the words of Jesse H. Jones, the government "can afford to take a chance that the banks cannot."

Another important feature of the bill is that it revises the power of the RFC to make loans to states and municipalities which demonstrate ability to pay for work-giving projects.

Considered significant was an amendment, tacked on by the house, permitting the RFC to lend money to railroads without the approval of the interstate commerce commission. Present law requires that before such a loan can be made to a going railroad, the I. C. C. must certify that it is not in need of reorganization.

The administration is now considering means of alleviating the distress of railroads. The RFC bill would enable it to go to their aid speedily with loans, if that course were decided upon.

House Democratic Leaders Confident Reorganization Bill to Pass This Week

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—House administration leaders, expressing confidence that the reorganization bill would be passed this week, welcomed a break in debate on the measure today and hoped it might help the controversy to "cool off some."

By the operation of the routine program of the house, rather than by the design of the leadership, the chamber spent the day discussing other matters. There was a possibility that, excepting a short period tomorrow, the bitterly-contested bill might not come up again until Thursday.

The leaders based their predictions of passage upon the compromise made over the week end, which President Roosevelt did not oppose. Although they agreed to one more compromise today, they were inclined to say with some emphasis that no more concessions would be made. From the ranks of the bill's opponents came statements that there would have to be additional compromises before the opposition would be relaxed.

Prof. Bonno Tapper Dies At Home Following Heart Attack

Associate Professor In Philosophy Dept. Ill 8 Weeks

Prof. Bonno Tapper, 48, associate professor of the philosophy department, died at his home in Tiffin shortly after midnight this morning of a heart attack after an illness of eight weeks.

Professor Tapper has been associated with the philosophy department here since 1926 and was made an associate professor in 1935. Before coming to the University of Iowa he taught at the University of Toronto and the University of Indiana.

He was born at Emden, East-Friesland, Germany, and attended the schools of his native city. He studied at the University of Chicago, received his B.A. degree from Iowa State Teachers college and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Iowa in 1928.

Professor Tapper is the author of numerous magazine articles on the subject of philosophy and is a member of the American Philosophical association and the German Kant society.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, Wilfred, a senior in the university, and a younger son, Robert.

The body is at Beckman's pending funeral arrangements.

Probe of TVA Authorized By President's Act

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—A congressional investigation of the Tennessee valley authority became assured today when President Roosevelt signed legislation authorizing the inquiry.

Five senators and five representatives probably will be named tomorrow by Vice-president Garner and Speaker Bankhead to conduct the study. They will be empowered to look into all activities of the power and planning agency and the opposition it has encountered from private power companies.

The congressional order for the inquiry grew out of charges made by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan against fellow directors of the TVA. Mr. Roosevelt removed Morgan from the TVA chairmanship recently when he refused to answer presidential questions and insisted upon a congressional investigation.

In a radio speech tonight, Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee denounced the Tennessee valley authority as "the most stuporous wasteful and spending institution in all history."

He urged that the agency be investigated to the "fullest extent."

Rejects Labor Unit's Call For Public Query

Chamberlain Says Plan 'Futile,' in Angry House Debate

LONDON, April 4 (AP)—The government in an angry debate in the house of commons rejected tonight the labor party's call to submit British foreign policy to the electorate.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, charging labor's foreign policy was "both futile and dangerous" and would lead "inevitably to war," declared: "This is no time to disturb the country by a general election when it is in the throes of its armaments program."

In Uproar
The house was thrown into an uproar earlier when 54-year-old Emanuel Shinwell, a laborite, slapped the face of a husky conservative, Commander Robert Tatton Bower.

The incident precipitated during Shinwell's persistent attempt to question the government on the status of the Duke of Alba, Spanish insurgent agent in London, whom laborites complained had been given diplomatic status. "Go to Poland"

Bower interrupted with a remark which seemed to be: "Go to Poland." The slapping followed. The foreign affairs debate—the 13th in nine weeks—was provoked by a motion of censure in which labor demanded a general election on the issue of the government's foreign policy.

Referring derisively to the motion, Chamberlain declared the opposition members "may be thankful they are going to get off with a sound beating tonight and will not yet have to suffer an even more resounding defeat in the country."

"Won Approval"
The prime minister said the government's foreign policy had won "approval not only of the country but also of practically the whole world, with the possible exception of Russia."

Laborite Arthur Greenwood, who opened the debate, charged: "Liberty in Europe is being murdered. The prime minister quite suitably is the undertaker, waiting to bury the corpse. Sacrifice of liberty is not the way to peace."

Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for coordination of defense, meanwhile had a conference lasting an hour and a half with the executive council of the Amalgamated Engineering union.

Russia Raps Japanese Protest; Litvinoff Blames Propaganda

Taxation for Medical Care Advocated American College of Physicians Hears Plan of Public Support

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—General taxation to help pay for medical care, and government subsidy for medical schools, hospitals and laboratories that "produce" medical discoveries were advocated today before the American College of Physicians, one of America's powerful medical societies.

An ideal was declared at issue, for which it was said only government aid might suffice. This ideal is giving "the highest quality of medical service, rather than merely "adequate" care. It was asserted that the rich enjoy medical advances developed through instrumentality of the indigent, but do not pay to support the institutions that care for the indigent.

The proposals were made by John P. Peters, M.D., of Yale university, secretary of the famous "Committee of 430" doctors. This committee last November upset precedent with a declaration in "the lay press" that health is a direct concern of government.

A breach which this threatened with the American Medical association was reported healed last month when the association announced it would investigate all aspects of medical care.

Dr. Peters, himself a professor of medicine, made a distinction between practice of medicine and its "production." Practicing doctors, he maintained, no longer produce much medicine. That is done mostly by "educational and research institutes and hospitals."

But he said the practicing physicians offer solutions for health problems that overlook the production side. Meanwhile the medically productive institutions are reduced more and more to philanthropy for their funds.

Denies Russia Helping China Repel Invaders

Accuses 'Circles Known For Fabrication Of False Reports'

MOSCOW, April 4 (AP)—Soviet Russia tonight rejected a Japanese protest that accused the Soviets of lending military aid to China in her war with Japan.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff denied the Soviet government had sent any army detachments or officers to bolster China's forces.

"Any declaration contradicting this fact and incapable of verification," Litvinoff declared, "could have been laid only by circles which already are well known for their systematic fabrication of all kinds of false reports with the object of sharpening relations between Japan and the Soviet Union."

The Japanese protest, delivered earlier today by Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu, warned that Russia would have to "assume responsibility for the consequences" if such aid continued.

Russia's envoy in Tokyo already has told Foreign Minister Koki Hirota that the Soviet government is conforming to international rules on the question of sales of arms and planes to China, Litvinoff replied to Shigemitsu.

Litvinoff declared that Japan was well aware foreign volunteers of various countries were serving in the Chinese army, but that so far as known Tokyo had failed to protest to any of the nations from which the volunteers came.

Referring to Germany and Italy, with whom Japan is linked in an anti-communist pact and which had military missions at Nanking, Litvinoff said:

"Service in the Chinese army of large groups of military combatants from various countries not only was not regarded as a hostile act, but did not even hinder them from entering into contractual relations with those governments."

"It is not understandable therefore on what basis the Japanese government finds it possible to appeal with such claims to the Soviet government toward which Japan not only does not show friendly relations but permits herself such arbitrary acts as the detention of a mail plane and steamers with their passengers, and failure to pay her financial obligations."

Blum Government Rests Fate On Financial Proposal Debate

CRITICIZES CRITICS Roper Attacks Foes Of Administration

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Secretary Roper asserted tonight criticism of Roosevelt policies was hampering business recovery.

Speaking by radio to 28 members of his business advisory council, who met at Sun Valley, Idaho, Roper said, "If we spent as much time in constructive thinking on educational process to ascertain and acquaint the public with our national assets as we do in impressing upon them our liabilities, our national progress would be accelerated many times."

Measures Would Give Premier Monetary Powers

PARIS, April 4 (AP)—Possible overthrow of Premier Leon Blum's people's front government rested tonight with party groups debating whether to support the cabinet's request for extraordinary financial powers.

The socialist premier placed the fate of his government in the hands of parliament by proposing a series of financial measures not dissimilar to the programs of the totalitarian states and appealing to all Frenchmen to keep discipline in view of the dangerous international situation.

The chamber of deputies finance committee approved the program by a vote of 25 to 18 with eight members not voting.

Chief among his proposals was a measure which would permit the government to make 22,550,000,000 francs (about $676,500,000) paper profit by revaluation of the Bank of France's gold reserves. Other proposals would permit foreign exchange control, impose an "extra-ordinary tax" on capital holdings, and call a two-year moratorium on public debt payments.

The first party group to act on the proposals was the radical-socialists who voted 28 to 22 to support the program. But the small majority and the fact that eight of those who voted for support were cabinet members showed that Blum faced serious difficulty in getting even the chamber's approval.

Senators, angrily stalking the corridors of Luxembourg palace, predicted the cabinet would fall if the premier insisted upon bringing his program to a vote in the upper house.

Oil Companies Open Legalities

Petition for Injunction To Stop Decree Enforcement

MEXICO CITY, April 4 (AP)—The foreign petroleum industry today launched the first legal effort of a three-way drive to recover its $400,000,000 properties expropriated by the government.

The 17 American and British companies opened their fight by petitioning the district court for an injunction against enforcement of President Lazaro Cardenas' March 19 expropriation decree.

Officials of the companies said their next steps would follow tomorrow.

These would include an appeal to the district court against termination of labor contracts with their 18,000 workers and a request to the department of national economy for administrative revocation of Cardenas' decree.

Voiding of the labor contracts by the federal labor board on March 17 was cited by Cardenas as a prime factor in his decision to take over the companies two days later.

The oil companies asked for the injunction today on grounds that the presidential action violated article 27 of Mexico's constitution. That article provides for expropriation only of lands and waters in the advancement of the nation's "Mexico for Mexicans" program. The companies contended their tools, plants and equipment were seized.

Order Viewed As Improper

TIPTON, Ia., April 4 (AP)—E. A. Johnson of Cedar Rapids, one of the attorneys for the four Cedar county board members whose suspensions were ordered today declared the order came without prior service on the defendants.

District Judge Charles J. Hass ordered the suspensions after County Attorney Ray A. Potter filed ouster proceedings against the men.

Those suspended are John P. Jensen of West Liberty, Fred G. Daut of Wilton, Louis Hansen of Stanwood and G. D. Goldsmith of Clarence.

Japs Threaten Vital Chinese Railroad Line

SHANGHAI, April 4 (AP)—Swiftly driving southward after the capture of Taierchwang's smoldering ruins, Japanese forces tonight threatened to cut the east end of the vital Lunghai railway and outflank the Chinese defenders of strategic Szechow.

A Japanese advance guard, driving along the grand canal from Taierchwang, reported it had entered Kiangsu province and was aiming for Yunho, on the Lunghai line 20 miles to the south. This was the first time the Japanese had penetrated Kiangsu from the north.

Japanese said the 10-day battle for Taierchwang was the "fiercest fought on the Tientsin-Pukow front" and disclosed that only three Japanese detachments opened the assault but 10 additional detachments were needed to reinforce the besiegers before the Rising Sun flag was hoisted over the ruins of the once prosperous little town this morning.

Technique Trickster Discourages Robber Pair

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—Two robbers accosted Milton Berg today and—"presto" he resorted to his magic tricks.

"When one of them put his fingers in my watch pocket, I took a deep breath, catching them," he reported to Sergeant Walter Thomas with pardonable pride. "As he struggled to extricate them, I took my wallet from another pocket and flipped it over a fence. He stepped behind me to search my hip pocket. I took my watch from my vest and put it atop my hat."

The holdup men left. Berg went to a police station to demonstrate his polished technique. It was a masterful exhibition. Until he wriggled.

The watch crashed from his fedora to the floor.

Elevator Blast Takes 2 Lives

Flames After Explosion Burn Several Men Critically

NEW ORLEANS, April 4 (AP)—Two men were killed and 22 others injured, several critically, by a terrific blast late today that ripped through the nine-story state-owned public grain elevator here.

Andrew Reich, 45-year-old belt operator who was blown 60 feet through a conveyor, died five hours after the explosion. He suffered second and third degree burns and internal injuries.

Arthur E. Defraites, 48, grain inspector for the federal government, died a few minutes after Reich succumbed from third degree burns of the entire body.

Hospital attendants said the bodies of both men were horribly seared by a fierce burst of flame that followed the explosion.

The blast ripped the clothes from some of the men, tore sheet metal to shreds, blew out windows, rocked nearby homes, and sent more than a hundred workmen screaming to the high windows for air.

The explosion, said Y. W. Cahall, assistant superintendent, was caused by spontaneous combustion of grain dust.

O'Tool Inquest Scheduled Today

WAVERLY, Ia., April 4 (AP)—County Attorney Oliver J. Reeve said tonight he would await the outcome of an inquest tomorrow before filing charges against Bernard O'Tool, 19, who police said confessed shooting his 37-year-old father early Sunday.

Meanwhile, Young O'Tool was confined to the Bremer county jail.

County Attorney Reeve said Bernard admitted shooting his father, Barney O'Tool, in their Tripoli, Ia., home when the latter attempted to "beat up" a younger son.

The bullet, fired from a .22 caliber rifle, killed O'Tool instantly.

Officers Seek Brutal Slayers In West Texas

EL PASO, Tex., April 4 (AP)—A brutal band of desert robbers was hunted intensively tonight for the ghastly "strip slayings" of two California society women.

Federal agents, police of two states and sheriff's officers were united in a wide-flung search for the killers of Mrs. Weston G. Frome, 46, and her 23-year-old daughter, Nancy, found tortured and beaten to death amid the mesquite and cacti of West Texas.

The investigators conjectured that at least one woman, perhaps two, assisted one or two male robbers in the shocking crime, but they had only the slenderest of clues. Robbery was the predominant theory despite the mutilation of the victims by fire, presumably a lighted cigarette or cigar.

A young man was detained and questioned at Alamogordo, N. M., but there were no apparent developments of importance.

From wounds in the heads of each woman, made by .32 and .38 calibre bullets, Sheriff Roy Anderson theorized that two men were among the robbers and killers.

The investigators believed the Promes, traveling in a new model (1938 Packard) automobile, had a tire blowout last Wednesday.

Jim Milam, a truck driver, had passed the Frome car earlier and he reported seeing a mysterious coupe bearing a man and a woman just behind the California car.

Spanish Civil Insurrection Nears End As Franco's Forces Close in on Catalonia

Report Control Of Government Seaboard Road

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier) April 4 (AP)—Spanish insurgent officers tonight announced Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces had cut Catalonia off from the rest of government Spain including Valencia and Madrid.

Officers at Iruñ said insurgent advance columns were at the gates of Tortosa, 130 miles southeast of Barcelona, and had set up machine-guns and field artillery commanding the last highway to link the two sections of government territory.

In sight of the Mediterranean and touching the French border on the north, insurgent armies tonight began closing the jaws of a giant trap about Catalonia, seat of the Spanish government.

While the center columns swept past Lerida for a frontal attack on the strongest line of Catalan defenses, other corps on a widely extended flank pursued fleeing government troops toward the sea and toward the Pyrenees.

General Jose Moscardo's troops in the far north took village after village. In the south General Garcia Valino's Moorish legionnaires sped down the natural highway made by the Ebro river to Tortosa, only seven miles away and looking down on the coast.

Premier Benito Mussolini in good humor
In rare good humor — probably over victories of the insurgent army in Spain with Italian forces — Premier Benito Mussolini is seen after a speech from the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia, in Rome, in celebration of the 19th anniversary of the foundation of fascism.

Germany's Greater End

TO THE careful observer, the Nazi absorption of Austria is an event which is not as significant in itself as when considered in conjunction with the larger trends. The union with Austria considered alone is far less important than the union when considered as a step in the much more vital "march to the east."

Of late, many European countries have become worried about the strategic military importance of the annexation. Germany now controls the Austrian Danube fleet. With this powerful military weapon she holds the whip hand over all central Europe.

It will be recalled that during the World War German boats from the Danube gained control of central Europe, found their way out into the Black sea, and even penetrated far into Russia by way of the Bug and Dnieper rivers.

But the economic implications are equally as important as the military significance of the Austrian fusion. The Rhine-Danube canal, now being rushed to completion, will not only form a vital artery in time of war, but will be the peacetime heart of an economic empire.

Konrad Henlein, the Czech Nazi leader, has pointed out that Praha and other Czechoslovakian cities have grown at the expense of Vienna. He told his countrymen that the German union paved the way for Vienna's return to greatness. Henlein was right. Already Vienna is being called the Hamburg of the east. Germany intends to make her a powerful commercial and industrial center.

This policy is but a manifestation of Germany's "grossraum-wirtschaft," or regional economy. Further fulfillment of that objective is being realized. Into German's power field have come Hungary, Bulgaria, Jugoslavia, and Rumania. A third of Bulgaria's exports go to Germany, as do one-fourth of Hungary's and one-fifth of the Rumanian-Jugoslavian exports.

Hitler is still pushing farther. The Berlin Bagdad air route is an indication of a German-Turkish alliance, economically if not politically. Further substantiation of this is seen by last week's appointment of Von Papen, Hitler's henchman who did much in handling Austria, to the Turkish embassy.

Thus, the Austria "anschluss" was far from an end in itself. It was also a suburb through which it was convenient to pass on the way to the bigger city, the greater end.

Germany now has a firm economic and military grip over all of central Europe. In spite of the fact that many do not like Hitler's statements about the "New Germany," they are true. She is a power, and must be considered as such.

Headaches In France

WHETHER France dictates or is dictated to in the international picture depends largely upon her own internal condition. And just now France realizes that she is none too stable, either politically or financially.

In the bubbling unrest that pervades activity of the French government, two main problems emerge as the basis for all its host of minor difficulties. One of these is centered in the rapid shifting of cabinets. And back of this lies the conflict between the chamber of deputies and the senate.

Then there is the ever-present problem of finance. France in recent months has been spending two francs for every one received. Her armament program has been enlarged and taxpayers complain at the heaviness of their burden. Much of the limited amount of French capital has been expatriated and the movement still seems to be out of the country rather than into it.

French capitalists, suspicious of Premier Blum's economic policies, hesitate to recall well-paying investments abroad to risk them in the jack-pot of domestic instability.

The two problems — political conflict and financial instability — have been so closely connected during the last year that every cabinet has risen or fallen on financial questions. Recently the senate rejected a monetary bill backed by Premier Blum and a determined movement to overthrow the ministry was thwarted only with difficulty.

Now, if ever, France needs a stable, financially solid government. She was without a permanent cabinet during the recent annexation of Austria, and her helplessness at that time was a bitter foretaste of what her part may be if France is internally disorganized during a period of international tension.

France has border problems, colonial problems, and diplomatic problems — but above them all her great need is for a united political front with stable financial backing to maintain her place in the greedy and ambitious world community.

European governments are having difficulty persuading women to buy gas masks. They might try manufacturing them in pastel shades.

MUSIC'S MEANING

As the thunderous final section of "Finlandia" crashed to the drum beats of its culmination, the young lady turned brown, soulful eyes upon an American composer seated beside her in the concert hall. "Isn't Sibelius' music too, too national!" she cried. "In the first movement couldn't you hear the waves foam upon the stern and misty cliffs of Finland?" To her horror her companion answered, "All I heard was the brass playing loud."

After that there fell a mortifying silence. For this composer was enlisted in that ignoble company of artists, critics, students and amateurs who, in their deafness, do not "interpret" music as fate slamming the door, or butterflies galumphing in the dawn, or the oppressed throwing brickbats at the bourgeois. Perversely, these dumb brutes hear music—of all silly notions—as music. In their evil omniscience they floor naturalists flat by proving that the card index to the motives in Wagner's operas and Richard Strauss' symphonic poems was listed by two other fellows after the fact of creation. To their dull minds the whole-tones of Debussy do not mean goldfish.

Scandalized by so crass a minority report, the botanist of our concert halls hopefully try to tell the birds from the flowers in Beethoven's "Pastoral" symphony, bet on the racing horse in Liszt's "Mazeppa," and harken to the fireside chats in Schumann's "Scenes from Childhood."

Pausing then to gather ammunition from here and there, they turn their batteries upon the blind spots of the totalitarian tonalists. Why, they exclaim, only the other day Victor Kolar refused further conducting of Tschakowsky's "Pathetic Symphony" because it is "poison music" which makes folks jump out of the window. Hasn't the Spanish Jose Segrelles painted Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" as a riderless horse, a mourning figure, a coffin carried by a slave, a vulture, and candles guttering in the wind? And didn't Tolstoy write a whole novel about the "Kreutzer Sonata" to show it up as a wicked inducement which makes pure men and women break their marriage vows?

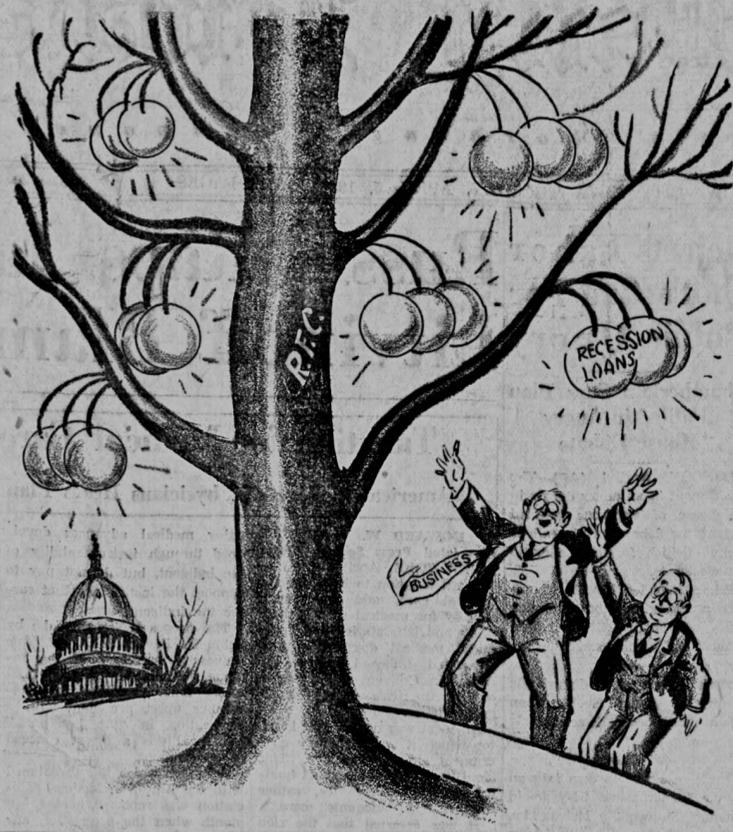

Rudely the tonalists retort. Tschakowsky's lament has also been "interpreted" as the burning of Moscow, the coming revolution, an interrupted wedding feast, and goodness only knows what else. Beethoven's modulations are no more lunar than his "Waldstein Sonata" pictures a stone in a wood. And the "Kreutzer" affair is an innocuous romp.

It is all very sad. Why do certain clouds surrender their baseborn souls to the sheer wonder and anguishing high instead of being sorry for the "Siberian convicts" in Rachmaninoff's G Minor prelude, or yearning toward those angelic voices in Brahms' "German Requiem"?

The very idea of hearing music as music!

Great Individual Variation In Regard to Physical Matters

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

If a doctor could say to a person, "Oh! You are by nature a right-angled triangle, but the trouble is the square of your hypotenuse is not quite equal to the square of your other two sides. Now, all I am going to have to do is stretch your hypotenuse slightly and you will be all right"—why, then, the practice of medicine would be very different and a far less interesting thing than it is. And it wouldn't take so long to train doctors.

We talk and think about a person's digestion and his gastric juice as if it were the same thing with everyone. But Ryle and Bennett at Guy's hospital, London, performed fractional analyses on 100 healthy medical students. Let us emphasize that they were healthy. They had no digestive trouble. They all had appetites like—well, like medical students—that is about tops in appetite according to my experience. No two gastric juices were the same in amount, rate of secretion or chemical composition. But 80 per cent fell within a certain medium range, which we can represent by the figures 10 to 30. Ten per cent had figures which it found accidentally would be considered evidence of disease, one as high as 100. And 10 per cent were low; some as low as 5.

When it comes to the effects of drugs, we all know different people react in different ways. This is called "idiosyncrasy." Hutchinson called idiosyncrasy "diathesis brought to a point."

Thinclads Face Inactive Period

Three Weeks Remain Before Outdoor Card Opens

With three weeks remaining until the Iowa track team opens the outdoor season with the Kansas relays at Lawrence, Kan. April 23, the men are facing a period of comparative rest.

Although Coach Bresnahan has not yet officially moved his forces outdoors for work on the cinder track west of the fieldhouse, some of the men have taken occasional outside runs.

The indoor season was the best since 1929, and there is a good chance of equaling the record in the outdoor campaign with its seven meets.

From the opening at the Kansas relays to the closing meet July 17 and 18 with the National Collegiate championships at Minneapolis, there is only one home affair, the dual tilt with Wisconsin May 7.

Hawks Point to Southern Trip

To Play First Of Six Games At St. Louis

Winders Unable to Join Team on Invasion Of Dixieland

Boasting two wins in two starts against a Bradley Tech team not classified as a set-up, the Hawk baseballers romped through a brisk, though abbreviated, infield drill yesterday in preparation for their southern invasion which begins when they meet Concordia Seminary at St. Louis Saturday.

In their jaunt through the land of cotton they will play six games, the final one with the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., April 18.

Although it's a bit early to make predictions as to the potency, or lack of same, in the Iowa lineup, their performance with the stick in the Bradley games has given rise to a general suspicion that base knocks will be a plentiful Hawkeye commodity this year.

In general, Big Ten pitching figures to be a great deal tougher than that encountered in the Bradley games. But it will have to be a great deal tougher to stop an attack that netted 27 hits, 24 runs, and a team batting average of .355.

Erwin Prasse, who poled out two homers in the first game, and Jim George, who connected for the circuit with the bags loaded in the second game, provided most of the long distance stick work.

Manush, with a neat average of .600 in two games, Vogt and Prasse with .423 and Bratten with .375 were the other big guns of the Iowa attack.

Wendell Winders, star Hawkeye catcher, will not be able to make the southern trip because of a stomach ailment. Winders will not resume workouts till after the team returns from the southern invasion.

Jacobs Refuses to Name Site Until Schmeling Beats Dudas

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—Mike Jacobs says he won't fix the Louis-Schmeling battle site until Max qualifies by beating Steve Dudas in Hamburg a fortnight hence.

That makes Mike the most cautious man in town and deceives nobody. . . But keeps the guessing contest alive, which is one of the objects. . . All that the disappointing "gate" for Louis-Thomas exercises proves is that Chicagoans are more discriminating. . . There were more customers in New York's Garden, listening to broadcast of title fight, than there were eyewitnesses in Chicago stadium. . .

Francis Albertanti, whose exploits range from covering the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm to ballyhooing Jim Braddock into the world heavyweight title in 1935, is doing publicity for the new Hollywood (Cal.) Turf club, which opens its $2,500,000 track in June. . . Its $50,000 "Hollywood gold cup handicap," slated for July 16, is one reason why Sea Biscuit may remain on the coast, instead of returning east to tangle with War Admiral. . .

Hardcourt Game Is Streamlined Enough To Suit Mentors

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—At a meeting of their own tonight, Big Ten conference coaches decided on a new schedule plan under which each school will play every other school each season.

The plan called for each school to meet three other schools, not necessarily natural rivals, in home and home engagements. It would face three of the remaining six schools at home and the other three away.

The following year the same three schools again would be met in home and home affairs, but in the case of the six others, the sites would be reversed, those being played at home the one year, being played away the following.

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—Basketball, the nation's leading indoor sport, is streamlined enough for those who teach it.

That was the consensus of the National Association of Basketball Coaches tonight after a round of committee reports.

If any changes are forthcoming in tomorrow's final discussion, they will probably be minor, a preliminary report on rules and suggestions indicated.

While the report spiked rumors of drastic changes, it pre-empted the possibility of heated debate tomorrow on the three-second rule applying to players within the foul circle. Many coaches feel there should be no count on players as long as they are on the side of the foul line nearest the center of the court.

Two other questions considered likely for debate were whether officials should handle the ball after a field goal and whether the number of time outs should be increased or timeout periods lengthened.

Elimination of the center jump was deemed a success and it appeared there would be no change in the rule. It also was indicated the 10 second rule for getting the ball across the center line would be retained although minority action for its elimination was expected.

Lanky Veteran Beats Par On 'Stretch Nine'

Outshoots Star-Studded Field of Pros For $5,000 Purse

By KENNETH GREGORY

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—Henry Picard, son of old Plymouth in Massachusetts, gave a thoroughbred exhibition of front-running today to win the $5,000 Augusta national golf show over a star-studded field that included Robert Tyre Jones Jr., the retired world champion.

Taking the lead after 54 holes, and with a half dozen distinct threats pounding close on his heels, the 30-year-old lanky professional gave old man par a two-stroke lacing on his final round to take first place and $1,500 with a total of 285, three under par and two blows ahead of his nearest opposition.

The tall good-looking Picard, twice a member of the Ryder cup team and one of the game's most consistent money winners, now is connected with four golf clubs in Hershey, Pa., where he transferred after a stretch at Charleston, S. C.

With five veteran competitors standing within two strokes of him at the start of the final 18-hole stretch, Picard calmly shook off any "jitters" by doing a great 32 on the first nine by deadily chipping and putting and then settled down to a stretch of pars after going two over at the start of the "stretch" nine.

Par-shattering golf was not good enough for Light Horse Harry Cooper of Chicago and Ralph Guldahl, the national open champion who also comes from the Illinois metropolis, to overhaul the iron-nerved Picard in the final innings of the big show that closes golf's winter circuit.

Guldahl and Cooper finished in a tie for second place. Their final round 71s, a stroke under standard figures for the course, gave them totals of 287. Guldahl, after a fine outgoing 34 and a chance to win the classic event he so barely missed a year ago, took 37 on the return journey.

Little Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., also cracked standard figures the final day to pass a trio of players and take fourth place with an even par aggregate of 288. He was two strokes in front of Byron Nelson, the young Reading, Pa., professional who won here a year ago in a sensational finish of 283 to nose out Guldahl.

Jones, making what has become his lone competitive appearance annually in the "Masters" tournament, finished in a tie for sixteenth place at 297, which was his best effort since he wound up in a deadlock for 13th position in the inaugural tournament of 1934.

Record Breaker

A re-check of the scores in the state high school indoor track meet here Saturday shows that Ft. Madison finished second in place of Davenport and that the Blue Devils really finished in fourth place. The official standings at first had given Ft. Madison a tie for third.

The meet's 300 points were distributed among 34 schools, the greatest number which has ever entered the scoring column the re-check shows.

When Dean Rasmus of Garner finished first in the one mile run in the state meet and broke the old record by covering the distance in 4:37.4, he realized the fulfillment of a hope which he had carried with him since last year.

Rasmus has been working out at the mile since school opened last fall. He thought that he would be able to negotiate the distance in 4:35 but the number of entries in the race forced him to run a little slower than planned.

14,250 WATCH Wisconsin Boxers Beat Washington State

MADISON, Wis., April 4 (AP)—The University of Wisconsin tonight laid claim to the mythical national collegiate boxing championship by defeating Washington State, 5 1-2 to 2 1-2.

A crowd of 14,250 packed the Badger fieldhouse to watch Wisconsin boxers complete their season's schedule of seven matches undefeated. Previously Wisconsin had won from St. Norbert's, Tulane, Louisiana State, Syracuse, Penn State and West Virginia.

ROSS Defeats Henry Schaft

MINNEAPOLIS, April 4 (AP)—Barney Ross of Chicago, welterweight champion, won on a technical knockout tonight from Henry Schaft, Minneapolis, in 1:12 of the fourth round after flooring his opponent twice, once for a count of nine before a final powerful right blow ended the match.

Schaft, who weighed 149 1-2 to the champion's 142 pounds, carried the fight to Ross in the third round, but saw his wide right swings pass over the Chicagoan's head. Schaft went to his knees for a count of eight.

Picard Reaches Top by Hard Work

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—Once every blue moon or so, a fellow who's always helping somebody else helps himself and goes to town. It happened on this sunshiny Georgia spring day as Henry Picard, the "Candy Kid" from Hershey, Pa., whipped his field with a brilliant finish to win the fifth Augusta Masters championship, the most important title he ever won.

Picard got a helping hand from that old maestro, Walter Hagen, seven years ago and since then has been the kind of a playing professional who will walk a mile to aid a young player headed for the pitfalls of traps, creeks and golfing oblivion. Hagen taught Henry the way of a real champ and Henry never forgot it.

Spring of '31

It was the spring of 1931 that the golfing masses first heard of the ex-caddy who was born a masher shot from Plymouth Rock. At the end of the regulation distance of the Carolina open, Hagen found himself tied for first place with a rather gawky, loose-swinging kid who tried in vain to get reporters to put the "k" in his name.

Odds on Walter were something like take your choice for the play-off and a few hardy golfers from Charleston, S. C., where Henry learned his game, took the long shot chance.

Never before had Hagen been beaten in a play-off, but he got his lumps that day to the astonishment of the kid's wildest admirers. Henry broke the record on the championship Starmount (Greensboro, N. C.) golf club layout with a 69 to win the play-off by 10 shots. As Henry walked into the clubhouse as if in a dream, Hagen beckoned to him and said: "Nice work, kid. Sit down a minute, I want to talk to you."

Learns a Lesson

Henry listened to the old master talk for an hour and came out with the greatest golf lesson in his life—learned.

"You can be one of the greatest golfers in the world if you work hard on your game," advised Hagen. "Don't try to hit the ball so hard but keep working. Why, one of these days you'll be on the Ryder cup team."

"If I ever do half as much as you predict," said Henry thankfully, "you will deserve all the credit."

Since that spring day at Greensboro to this spring afternoon at Augusta, Henry not only has been one of the most consistently fine-playing pros in the business but one of its hardest trainers and sweetest helping hands. Maybe this helping hand stuff sounds like a lot of boy scout philosophy but it is true that, excepting perhaps Bobby Jones, the galleryites here wished for nothing more than a triumph for Henry Picard in the "Masters." For instance, ask Sam Snead. It was Henry who helped Sam get started and Sam's only one of many.

Picard, twice on the Ryder cup team and one of the big money winners, pros at Hershey, Pa., where he has professional jurisdiction over four courses. One of them is the Hershey Juvenile country club where boys and girls have exclusive playing rights. Henry gives more than 1,000 lessons a year officially, and, we hear, another 1,000 "unofficially" to the kids.

The best part of his game is iron play. The pros call him the iron master and his irons came to his rescue today as he lit down the stretch in front and stayed there. He was forced to make some very delicate shots to win.

Perhaps, the big secret of his success here was a sore left thumb. The thumb became so sore, Henry deserted the over-lapping for the inter-locking grip and they couldn't stop him. He gripped the lead at three-quarters and held on like a bull terrier.

Grant Wood Opens Home to Reporter

Early Victorian Dwelling Houses Collection of Furniture and Glass

By VERA SHELDON

It was after a great deal of persuasion that a reporter was admitted into the Grant Wood home, 1142 E. Court street. Once admitted, however, she was most graciously received. Mrs. Wood explained her reluctance by revealing the fact that she is adverse to publicity.

From the time that one enters the low picket gate until one leaves, one is impressed with the friendly atmosphere of this early Victorian home. The most lovely and yet the most homelike part of the house is the living room just off the entrance hall. When one enters the room one faces the fireplace, above which hangs a portrait of Professor Wood's sister, Nan. It is the only one of his own paintings that he has, Mrs. Wood said.

To the right of the fireplace is the library corner shown in the picture above. Looking about, one is struck by the beauty of the piano at the opposite end of the room. It is a mahogany baby-grand from the parental home of Professor Wood. Mrs. Wood, an accomplished musician, recognized its value upon their marriage and had it repaired, she said.

Her music rack beside the piano is an interesting piece of furniture designed by her husband. It was originally a square walnut picture frame.

In front of the small lounge along the north wall is a utility table also designed by the professor. "We could find nothing in a smoke stand which was early Victorian," Mrs. Wood said. "So the artist created one from an old table of his mother's."

From the living room one goes into the dining room and the most interesting part of the house because of the lovely collections of dishes which it contains. "Collecting old dishes and glassware is my hobby," Mrs. Wood explained.

The room is done in subdued tones of brown and mauve, a color scheme carried out from the deep taupe carpet to the mauve drapes. The wall paper is an off-cream shade in an early Victorian pattern. A long, highly polished table with unique brass legs forms the centerpiece. Mrs. Wood explained that it was an old store counter which Professor Wood remodeled to satisfy her desire for a table without leaves. Chairs are also of mahogany.

In a tier of recessed shelves on the east wall is Mrs. Wood's collection of flint glassware, very rare and valuable. Encased in the window on the opposite side of the room is an array of amber glassware.

Along the north wall is a long cabinet of drawers. On its polished buffet top Mrs. Wood keeps her unusual collection of ironstone dishes. This collection was started for her by Mrs. William Allen White whose husband is well-known as editor of the Emporia Gazette.

Other valuable dishes of majolica ware are kept in a mahogany cabinet along the west wall. French doors at the east end of the room open on to a sunporch. "Here is where the family dines in warm weather," Mrs. Wood remarked.

Off the dining room is the kitchen. White predominates in the furnishings with touches of red in the cottage curtains, inlaid linoleum and pots of ivy hanging in the windows.

Off the kitchen is a pantry. Mrs. Wood interrupted preparation of the evening meal there to show us her home.

"This room used to be a bathroom before Professor Wood remodeled the house," his wife commented. The wall needed support so the professor built iron poles with rails. They serve as attractive and useful towel racks.

From the hall an open stairway leads to the upstairs of the house. On the left side is the home of Mrs. Wood's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Maxon. Dr. Maxon is a member of the college of dentistry faculty. On the opposite side are guest rooms.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about the home is the fact that it was entirely remodeled by Professor Wood. Walls are of white masonry—the same material upon which the artist does all of his paintings. All of the furnishings are from the homes either of Professor or Mrs. Wood. Lovely antiques, they are especially valuable because of their backgrounds.

College Law Arguers Uphold Tradition

Admire Profession Followed by Families for Generations

These four students will climax three years of professional training Thursday when they take part in the Supreme Court day arguments. Left to right, standing, are Ben Buckingham of Iowa City and Howard Remley of Anamosa; seated are Robert Buckmaster of Dunkerton and Morris Druker of Marshalltown.

By NINA LYMAN
Family tradition and an admiration for the legal profession are the chief reasons why the four senior law students who will present the Supreme Court day arguments Thursday chose their careers.

Ben Buckingham of Oskaloosa and Robert Buckmaster of Dunkerton decided to be lawyers because they admired the legal profession. Howard Remley of Marshalltown being a lawyer is also a family tradition.

To be selected as one of the four contestants for the "Supreme Court of the University of Iowa" is one of the highest honors in the college of law. The students had to be winners in preliminary trials in their freshman and junior years and had to have the highest scholarship in the group.

Since 1861 the name "Remley" is a well-known one in the college of law. Since the year 1861 there has been at least one member of the family attending the university. Milton Remley, great-uncle of Howard, finished the course after entering here in 1861 and later became attorney-general of Iowa.

Howard's grandfather, the late Judge Howard M. Remley, received a degree in law in 1872, and his 10 children were all graduated from the University of Iowa.

Morris Druker too is not the only one in his family to have attended the university, and he is the third of the Druker brothers to have participated in Supreme Court Day Arguments. In 1931 Harry Druker was one of the contestants, and Boni Druker followed in 1936. No other family has such a record.

Both Married
Buckingham and Buckmaster are both married. Each of them decided to marry after entering the college of law. Buckmaster received a B.A. degree from Iowa State Teachers college in 1933. His father, Dr. R. A. Buckmaster, studied medicine at the university. Buckmaster is now a member of the Iowa Law Review staff.

Buckingham received a B.A. degree here in 1936. He has worked in the Iowa Union dining service since he entered the university. Remley is the president of his legal fraternity, Phi Delta Phi and is on the staff of the Iowa Law Review. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa national scholastic society, and A.P.I. senior men's honorary society.

Druker spent two years in Marshalltown junior college and received his B.A. degree here in 1936. He is president of the Iowa Law School association, the student governmental body.

In spite of heavy schedules, these men have time for other things and each has his favorite pastime. Buckmaster has two hobbies — fly fishing in summer and fox hunting with his seven greyhounds in the winter. Buckingham also likes to fish, but his main outside interest is his work at the Iowa Union. Both Druker and Remley spend their leisure time following sports.

Ryan Declares That Welfare Rests on Truth

"Our social and political welfare depends upon belief in the truth," Bishop James H. Ryan of Omaha, Neb., former rector of the Catholic University of America, declared at the final university vesper of the year Sunday evening in Iowa Union.

Bishop Ryan maintained that a universal conception of truth could only be achieved if our universities would accept and teach the great verities. He added that this could not be done unless people were left with the right to think and believe for themselves.

"Nothing is so destructive to efforts of the human mind to see truth than government interference," Bishop Ryan asserted. "Truth cannot live in an autocratic government."

"We have communism, nazism and war because we bow down to materialism — they are political expressions of false materialism," he further stated.

In conclusion, he declared, "Truth will only advance to the conquest of the world when science, philosophy and theology join hands and agree as to its universality."

Dr. Jeans Speaking For Medical Group On Child Nutrition

Dr. P. C. Jeans of the college of medicine is now making various speaking appearances under the auspices of the speakers' bureau of the Iowa State Medical society.

Dr. Jeans discussed "Nutrition in Infants and Children" at a meeting in Grinnell yesterday. He will speak on the same subject in Creston today and in Clarion tomorrow.

YESTERDAY, acetylene lamps dug weakly at the night. TODAY, modern headlights spread a bright, smooth carpet.
IN REFRIGERATION, TOO, Electricity IS THE MODERN WAY

On the modern car it's Electric LIGHT .. in the modern kitchen - Electric COLD

ELECTRICITY is rapidly becoming a generally accepted for safe food preservation as it is for illumination. More than ten million women now refrigerate electrically. This overwhelming trend to electricity is only natural, for the modern electric refrigerator is so safe... so swift... so simple that using any other kind of refrigeration in a home that has electric current is like attaching old-fashioned acetylene lamps to a modern car.

ECONOMY is a major feature of all modern electric refrigerators. On the average, they use so little current that pennies pay for it. Stack these few pennies a week up against the money you save by having food kept constantly at safe temperatures, no matter how hot it is outside, and the question "Can I afford an electric refrigerator...?" changes to "Can I afford to be WITHOUT an electric refrigerator...?" And you can't. No modern family can.

SEE THE NEW Electric REFRIGERATORS TODAY. Let your electric refrigerator dealer show you, with figures based on your own electric rate, how much a modern electric refrigerator can SAVE you. Let him take you on a brief "tour of inspection" of the many features, both interior and exterior, that distinguish the new models. Let him tell you their low cost. And the convenient terms on which they may be purchased. You will be well repaid for the few minutes you spend with your electric refrigerator dealer... for they will lead to a life-time of satisfaction when you do what over ten million families have already done... BUY AN Electric REFRIGERATOR.

American Prefaces to Carry Preview of Adamic's New Book

April Issue to Feature Portrait, Editor Announces

The April issue of American Prefaces will be devoted entirely to a preview of the new book, "My America," by Louis Adamic and will have a special cover featuring the portrait of Mr. Adamic, Prof. Wilbur Schramm, editor, announced yesterday.

LOUIS ADAMIC

The issue will be a cross section of the book and will include the preface to the book, a long section from Adamic's diary and a complete chapter entitled "Of Two Worlds." In the preface Mr. Adamic explains the purpose of his book. His diary describes New York in the years following the depression of 1929 and the chapter "Of Two Worlds" relates the feelings of one who is half American and half European.

Mr. Adamic lectured at the University of Iowa two years ago. One of his books, "Laughing in the Jungle," was at one time included in the freshman English reading in the university.

Mr. Adamic was born in Yugoslavia and came to this country in 1913. During the following years he did all types of work, having jobs as reporter, mill hand, sailor and soldier.

In 1931, after having several magazine articles printed, he published his first book, "Dynamite." In 1932 appeared his "Laughing in the Jungle," the story of his experience as an immigrant in America. The same year the Guggenheim foundation awarded him a year's study abroad and while in Europe he visited his native home. "The Native's Return," published in February, 1934, a Book-of-the-Month selection, is the story of that visit.

He also has written "House in Antigua." His latest book, "My America," will be published in May.

Large Group Hears Rector Explains New Speaker Says Education Best Basis for Fight Against Cancer

"Almost every cancer death has ignorance as a contributing factor. We must fight cancer with knowledge," Dr. F. L. Rector, field representative of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, told a large audience in chemistry auditorium last night.

Demonstrating his lecture with slides, Dr. Rector showed that cancer in its early stages is curable, but that the chances of a cure decrease rapidly with every month's delay before treatment. "We can never root this disease out 100 per cent, but there is no reason why, with an education campaign, we can't cut the present occurrence in half in five years, saving about 75,000 lives a year," he stated.

Dr. Rector defined cancer as a disorderly growth of the cells in the body, and pointed out that since it arises out of a person's own tissue and is due to conditions which are peculiar to his body, it is an individual and personal matter more than any other type of disease. So, if we are to control cancer, we must do it through the education of each individual, he said.

He disproved three common fallacies by declaring that cancer is not a germ disease, it is not a blood disease and it is not catching.

Declaring that "No age is free from cancer," Dr. Rector presented a graph showing that it is found more commonly after 30 and 35 years, but that it can occur in young or old age as well. Contrary to common belief, it is not primarily a disease of old people.

Four danger signals were listed: lumps on the body, irregular bodily discharges, sores that do not heal, persistent indigestion and sudden changes in the form or rate of growth of a mole or wart. Dr. Rector stressed immediate and complete medical examination as imperative when any of these danger signals appear.

He pointed out that the only effective methods of treatment known at present are surgery, radium and X-ray, and that cancer cannot be cured by faith healing, salves, internal medicines or diet. No serum or drug known will have the slightest effect on cancer.

"Much can be done to avoid the disease by observing simple health rules," Dr. Rector explained. "However, the habit of periodic physical examination is the best protection against serious outcome of cancer."

Joseph Lewis Dies at Home

Joseph H. Lewis, 75, 507 S. Capitol street, a resident of Johnson county for 57 years, died at his home at 5:25 p.m. yesterday. Death was due to heart trouble brought on by a six-months illness.

Mr. Lewis was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and came to Johnson county at the age of 18. He settled on a farm near Lone Tree, where he lived until forced to retire to Iowa City because of ill health.

Surviving him are his widow; two sons, Edgar Lewis, Lone Tree, and Leo Lewis, Iowa City, one daughter, Nona Hedges, Iowa City; 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Hohenschuh mortuary. The man at the next desk says he knows a girl who thinks no man is good enough for her. He guesses she may be right, but he's certain she'll be left.

F.D.R. League Explains New Housing Loans

Non-Partisans Discuss 2 Principal Parts Of Measure

A discussion of the federal housing bill and the part it plays in permitting the building of homes with federal aid took place under the direction of J. A. Parden, local real estate and insurance agent, at the bi-weekly meeting of the Roosevelt Non-partisan league at the court house last night.

Two principal provisions of the bill were discussed. The first permits federal insurance of loans for the construction of new homes for as much as $16,000. The second provides insurance for loans of $10,000 or less for purposes of modernizing old homes.

The Federal Housing administration, Parden pointed out, will insure loans up to 90 per cent of the appraised cost of a home of $6,000. For homes costing between $6,000 and $14,000, the administration will guarantee loans of 90 per cent on the first $6,000 and 80 per cent on the remainder.

Applications for loans are made through any approved lending agency, the speaker said. Such applications are submitted to the PHA for investigation. The government will not, however, insure a loan the monthly payment of which would exceed one-fourth the monthly income of the applicant.

If investigators approve the application, the government authorizes the loan. Any amount from $600 to $16,000 may be borrowed, with from 8 to 25 years to repay the loan, the speaker said.

The federal government will also insure loans up to $10,000 for modernization of old homes, Parden said. Such loans may be obtained for from one to five years, and the interest rate is 5 per cent. The Federal Housing administration was revised by congress in February to stimulate building and to enable persons with limited finances to build homes.

A forum discussion in which members of the audience participated followed Parden's presentation of the subject material. Prof. W. Ross Livingston of the history department was last night's chairman.

Representatives from the Johnson County Farm bureau will attend a meeting in Cedar Rapids Monday to discuss and decide whether the proposed 4-H club beef project for 1938-39 will be carried out in Johnson and 10 other counties in east central Iowa.

Gives Concert City High Band And Orchestra Play

Under the direction of Lloyd F. Swartley, the instrumental department of Iowa City high school presented its annual spring concert to a large crowd in the high school auditorium last night.

Appearing first, the 70-piece orchestra, national champions in 1935 presented four selections. The first piece was "Russian and Ludmilla" by Glinka, their selected number for presentation at this year's national contest. This was followed by Pergolesi's "Concertina in F Minor" and the "Kaiser-Walzer" by Johann Strauss.

The 40-minute program concluded with the required number for the 1938 national contest, "The Secret Marriage" by Cimerosa.

The band, after intermission, played its selected national number, Verdi's "Force of Destiny," followed by "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Johann Bach and "Gollad" as arranged by Joe Bermyan. "Builders of Youth" by O'Neill, the required national number was next presented. Pestalozza's "Ciribiribin" and Ketelbey's "In a Persian Market" concluded the program.

Swartley's assistants are Himie Voxman in charge of woodwinds and Lorene Liston in charge of strings.

The orchestra will compete in the class A division of the district round of the state music contest at Davenport Friday evening in the high school auditorium.

With TOM JOHNSON

Diary of a Londoner

(nee Iowa Citizen.)

Yesterday's letter from M.D.M. reminded me that the everyday life of an American on tour may differ from a university student's or an Iowa Citizen's. It contained an account of how it differs.

But, perhaps it's only the size of a city which makes the life there different. Yet, it is true that we in Iowa City rarely come in contact with some of the interesting, exciting angles.

If you care for an idea of what to do with your spare moments in London town, read on.

Dear Tom: The world, I am informed by the daily press, is not slowly but certainly, surely going to hell.

In Italy II Duce is bankrupt and desperate. In Vienna, quite like the New York of 1929, instead of the proverbial cats and dogs, the streets rain suicides. And in Czechoslovakia Jews pack hurried belongings and 12-year-olds are polishing their swastikas. London's Neville Chamberlain calls for 100,000 air-raid volunteers. And so to war!

Meanwhile, a dilettante to the core, I forget the world and daily pleasantly with the muses.

To the opening of Robert Sherwood's American success "Idiot's Delight!" where, from my gallery seat, I gaze on the top of Noel Coward's well-combed head, applaud with the rest when one lady Cavendish — we call her Adele Astaire — walks down the aisle in ermine. And thrilling as the crowd discovers a thin, plain woman with horn rim glasses is named Dodie Smith. Standing outside a crowded stage door for the autograph of the play's star, Raymond Massey, on my program.

To Queen's Hall opposite BBC to hear, for my second visit, the magnificent baritone of Paul Robeson glorify again America's "Old Man River" . . . Again to sit edgewise while a violinist named Kreisler plays his fourth encore. . . All this for the equivalent of an American dollar.

To a tiny art shop across from the British Museum and only a block from 30, Bedford Place. There buying an excellent copy of a painting that now hangs above my typewriter, making the room somehow less lonely. It's called "Stone City" and is by an American artist named Grant Wood.

Of an afternoon to Lyons' corner houses where for a shilling and spare time you can listen while a group of pseudo-gypsies play Viennese waltzes as if they had never heard of Hitler. And where, while you sip your tea, these same gypsies break into "Bei Mir B.D.S."

On a Saturday afternoon down Fleet street and an ale from the seat where once Charles Dickens gazed into his beer and imagined improbable tales about probable Englishmen, across from the seat a few years earlier of one Dr. Sam Johnson and a man with a notebook named Boswell.

A few blocks away Elizabeth Barrett playing hostess on many an afternoon to a poet, Robert Browning. Here, almost exactly as he left it, the long-time home of Thomas Carlyle. There the Drury Lane theater where "Mistress Nell" Gwynn attracted royal attention.

This, then, is London. . .

And, to top it off, onion soup at a prosperous milk bar just off Piccadilly and a sign, quite English, warning: "Absolutely No Breakfast Served Before Midnight!"

Until next time, Merle Miller. 30, Bedford Place, London, W.C. 1.

Motor Express Company Sued

Bertha Strickler, administratrix of the estate of Elmus J. Strickler, filed a $15,000 damage suit against the Keeshin Motor Express company for the death of Mr. Strickler in a car-truck accident Feb. 4, 1937, four miles east of Wilton Junction on U. S. highway 6.

She alleges the company's truck, driven by L. Willard Short, was recklessly and negligently driven, failed to yield one-half of the highway to the car driven by Mr. Strickler and was not carrying the proper lights prescribed by the highway commission.

The play will be presented April 29. It was last produced six years ago at the high school.

Trucker Fined $10 On Two Accounts

Dennis Harrington, West Liberty trucker, was fined $10 for two traffic violations by Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec yesterday.

He was fined $5 for operating a motor truck without a driver's license, and an additional $5 for operating a motor vehicle without proper license plates.

Quick Change 31 Cent Investment Yields $9.69

It still holds true that the hand is quicker than the eye! Just ask Mrs. O. G. Yoder, cashier at the Capitol cafe, 124 E. Washington street.

An unassuming man who ate at the counter Sunday night went to pay his bill of 31 cents. All he had was a $10 bill, so he received in change one $5-bill, four $1 bills and 69 cents.

Then the hand became quicker than the eye. Somehow — Mrs. Yoder would still like to know how — he got back the $10 bill he gave her when he paid his bill a moment before. This amount he added to the money which was given him in change.

Here's where the money making begins. He then had nearly $20 in $5's and $1's. Politely asking Mrs. Yoder to give him a $20 bill for the change, the stranger walked out of the cafe — better than $9 to the good.

Yes, it's a money making trick, but you have to be a mathematical wizard to put it over.

Billion Dollar Loan Bill Passed by House, 339-6

One Provision Will Return To Senate for O.K.

Section of Bill Would Permit Long-Time Business Loans

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Roosevelt administration virtually received a "blank check" enabling it to lend $1,500,000,000 to combat the new depression when the house passed today, 339 to 6, a bill increasing the loan powers of the reconstruction finance corporation.

The bill did not actually go to the White House immediately, because the senate had yet to act on a house amendment, but it was considered certain that it soon would be sent to President Roosevelt.

Although it grants wide powers to the RFC to help business, the administration has not announced a specific program to apply the powers. A committee of officials headed by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has been working on a lending program.

One major section of the bill permits the RFC to make long-term loans to business. The agency is now restricted to loans maturing in 1945. The long-term credits may be of a character that banks won't touch.

Spanish Civil Insurrection Nears End As Franco's Forces Close in on Catalonia

Report Control Of Government Seaboard Road

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier) April 4 (AP)—Spanish insurgent officers tonight announced Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces had cut Catalonia off from the rest of government Spain including Valencia and Madrid.

Officers at Irun said insurgent advance columns were at the gates of Tortosa, 130 miles southeast of Barcelona, and had set up machine-guns and field artillery commanding the last highway to link the two sections of government territory.

In sight of the Mediterranean and touching the French border on the north, insurgent armies tonight began closing the jaws of a giant trap about Catalonia, seat of the Spanish government.

While the center columns swept past Lerida for a frontal attack on the strongest line of Catalan defenses, other corps on a widely extended flank pursued fleeing government troops toward the sea and toward the Pyrenees.

General Jose Moscardo's troops in the far north took village after village. In the south General Garcia Valino's Moorish legionnaires sped down the natural highway made by the Ebro river to Tortosa, only seven miles away and looking down on the coast.

House Democratic Leaders Confident Reorganization Bill to Pass This Week

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—House administration leaders, expressing confidence that the reorganization bill would be passed this week, welcomed a break in debate on the measure today and hoped it might help the controversy to "cool off some."

Michigan Governor Gives Peace To Strike-Bound Utility Plants

CIO Agrees to Renewal Of Contract After 3-Day Seizure

DETROIT, April 4 (AP)—Peacemakers headed by Governor Frank Murphy, who abandoned a Florida vacation to hasten back to troubles at home, put an end today to the CIO utilities workers strike and the Consumers Power Co. took control again tonight of all its strike-seized plants.

The last obstacle in the way of settlement of the strike, during which the utilities workers organizing committee had controlled plants in four large cities after ousting superiors Friday night, was removed with the evacuation of a briefly rebellious union group at Flint tonight.

A four months extension to the UWOC's previous agreement with the company, which expired last Friday, and promise of a national labor relations board election within 60 days among the UWOC and two rival unions were combined in the final settlement.

Dispute between the unions over majority memberships in plants serving 2,000,000 customers were a major problem in negotiations. Both the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and the Independent Power Workers association claim majority memberships and have challenged the CIO union's right to a new contract.

Chamberlain Says Plan 'Futile,' in Angry House Debate

LONDON, April 4 (AP)—The government in an angry debate in the house of commons rejected tonight the labor party's call to submit British foreign policy to the electorate.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, charging labor's foreign policy was "both futile and dangerous" and would lead "inevitably to war," declared: "This is no time to disturb the country by a general election when it is in the throes of its armaments program."

Blum Government Rests Fate On Financial Proposal Debate

CRITICIZES CRITICS Measures Would Give Premier Monetary Powers

PARIS, April 4 (AP)—Possible overthrow of Premier Leon Blum's people's front government rested tonight with party groups debating whether to support the cabinet's request for extraordinary financial powers.

The socialist premier placed the fate of his government in the hands of parliament by proposing a series of financial measures not dissimilar to the programs of the totalitarian states and appealing to all Frenchmen to keep discipline in view of the dangerous international situation.

Oil Companies Open Legalities

Petition for Injunction To Stop Decree Enforcement

MEXICO CITY, April 4 (AP)—The foreign petroleum industry today launched the first legal effort of a three-way drive to recover its $400,000,000 properties expropriated by the government.

The 17 American and British companies opened their fight by petitioning the district court for an injunction against enforcement of President Lazaro Cardenas' March 19 expropriation decree.

Officials of the companies said their next steps would follow tomorrow. These would include an appeal to the district court against termination of labor contracts with their 18,000 workers and a request to the department of national economy for administrative revocation of Cardenas' decree.

TIPTON, Ia., April 4 (AP)—E. A. Johnson of Cedar Rapids, one of the attorneys for the four Cedar county board members whose suspensions were ordered today declared the order came without prior service on the defendants.

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—General taxation to help pay for medical care, and government subsidy for medical schools, hospitals and laboratories that "produce" medical discoveries were advocated today before the American College of Physicians, one of America's powerful medical societies.

An ideal was declared at issue, for which it was said only government aid might suffice. This ideal is giving "the highest quality of medical service, rather than merely 'adequate' care."

Technique Trickster Discourages Robber Pair

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—Two robbers accosted Milton Berg today and—"presto" he resorted to his magic tricks.

"When one of them put his fingers in my watch pocket, I took a deep breath, catching them," he reported to Sergeant Walter Thomas with pardonable pride. "As he struggled to extricate them, I took my wallet from another pocket and flipped it over a fence. He stepped behind me to search my hip pocket. I took my watch from my vest and put it atop my hat."

Flames After Explosion Burn Several Men Critically

NEW ORLEANS, April 4 (AP)—Two men were killed and 22 others injured, several critically, by a terrific blast late today that ripped through the nine-story state-owned public grain elevator here.

Germany's Greater End

TO THE careful observer, the Nazi absorption of Austria is an event which is not as significant in itself as when considered in conjunction with the larger trends. The union with Austria considered alone is far less important than the union when considered as a step in the much more vital "march to the east."

Of late, many European countries have become worried about the strategic military importance of the annexation. Germany now controls the Austrian Danube fleet. With this powerful military weapon she holds the whip hand over all central Europe.

It will be recalled that during the World War German boats from the Danube gained control of central Europe, found their way out into the Black sea, and even penetrated far into Russia by way of the Bug and Dnieper rivers.

But the economic implications are equally as important as the military significance of the Austrian fusion. The Rhine-Danube canal, now being rushed to completion, will not only form a vital artery in time of war, but will be the peacetime heart of an economic empire.

Konrad Henlein, the Czech Nazi leader, has pointed out that Praha and other Czechoslovakian cities have grown at the expense of Vienna. He told his countrymen that the German union paved the way for Vienna's return to greatness. Henlein was right. Already Vienna is being called the Hamburg of the east. Germany intends to make her a powerful commercial and industrial center.

This policy is but a manifestation of Germany's "grosraum-wirtschaft" or regional economy. Further fulfillment of that objective is being realized. Into German's power field have come Hungary, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, and Rumania. A third of Bulgaria's exports go to Germany, as do one-fourth of Hungary's and one-fifth of the Rumanian-Jugoslavian exports.

Hitler is still pushing farther. The Berlin Bagdad air route is an indication of a German-Turkish alliance, economically if not politically. Further substantiation of this is seen by last week's appointment of Von Papen, Hitler's henchman who did much in handling Austria, to the Turkish embassy.

Thus, the Austria "anschluss" was far from an end in itself. It was also a suburb through which it was convenient to pass on the way to the bigger city, the greater end.

Germany now has a firm economic and military grip over all of central Europe. In spite of the fact that many do not like Hitler's statements about the "New Germany," they are true. She is a power, and must be considered as such.

Headaches In France

WHETHER France dictates or is dictated to in the international picture depends largely upon her own internal condition. And just now France realizes that she is none too stable, either politically or financially.

In the bubbling unrest that pervades activity of the French government, two main problems emerge as the basis for all its most of minor difficulties. One of these is centered in the rapid shifting of cabinets. And back of this lies the conflict between the chamber of deputies and the senate.

Then there is the ever-present problem of finance. France in recent months has been spending two tranches for every one received. Her armament program has been enlarged and taxpayers complain at the heaviness of their burden. Much of the limited amount of French capital has been expatriated and the movement still seems to be out of the country rather than into it.

French capitalists, suspicious of Premier Blum's economic policies, hesitate to recall well-paying investments abroad to risk them in the jack-pot of domestic instability.

The two problems — political conflict and financial instability — have been so closely connected during the last year that every cabinet has risen or fallen on financial questions. Recently the senate rejected a monetary bill backed by Premier Blum and a determined movement to overthrow the ministry was thwarted only with difficulty.

Now, if ever, France needs a stable, financially solid government. She was without a permanent cabinet during the recent annexation of Austria, and her helplessness at that time was a bitter foretaste of what her part may be if France is internally disorganized during a period of international tension.

France has border problems, colonial problems, and diplomatic problems — but above them all her great need is for a united political front with stable financial backing to maintain her place in the greedy and ambitious world community.

Great Individual Variation In Regard to Physical Matters

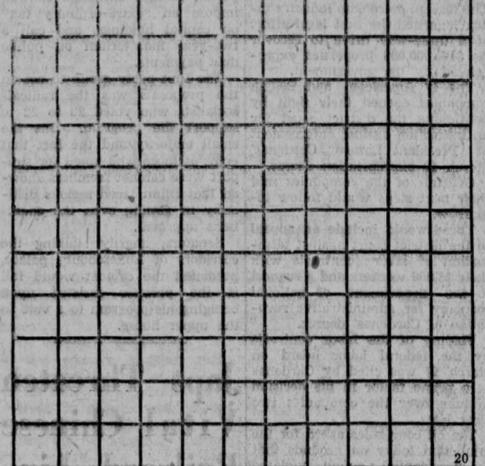

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. If a doctor could say to a person, "Oh! You are by nature a right-angled triangle, but the trouble is the square of your hypotenuse is not quite equal to the square of your other two sides. Now, all I am going to have to do is stretch your hypotenuse slightly and you will be all right"—why, then, the practice of medicine would be very different and a far less interesting thing than it is. And it wouldn't take so long to train doctors.

We talk and think about a person's digestion and his gastric juice as if it were the same thing with everyone. But Ryle and Bennett at Guy's hospital, London, performed fractional analyses on 100 healthy medical students. Let us emphasize that they were healthy. They had no digestive trouble. They all had appetites like—well, like medical students—that is about tops in appetite according to my experience. No two gastric juices were the same in amount, rate of secretion or chemical composition. But 80 per cent fell within a certain medium range, which we can represent by the figures 10 to 30. Ten per cent had figures which if found accidentally would be considered evidence of disease, one as high as 100. And 10 per cent were low; some as low as 5. When it comes to the effects of drugs, we all know different people react in different ways. This is called "idiosyncrasy." Hutchinson called idiosyncrasy "diathesis brought to a point."

Tuning In with Betty Harpel

"Ti Pi Tin" is at the head of the list again this week in the favorite song poll. The Mexican waltz really packs a wallop.

Runners were "Always" and "Please Be Kind."

Wilbur Hatch, CBS maestro, claims that music is limited as to scheme just as drama is as to plot. "It is an established fact that there are only 32 known plots for fiction or drama. Just as any store, novel, film or other medium of writing employs one of these 32 plots, with, of course, varied background and details, so do musical patterns follow a limited number of formulas," says Mr. Hatch.

"Even the so-called modern music with its strangely dissonant melodies finds a counterpart in the discordant music which accompanied the Morris dances practiced in England centuries ago."

"Rhumbas and boleros of modern music are closely allied to middle ages music of the Moors, which in turn was developed from African rhythms."

"Many current ballads are easily traced to early classics written by men we now consider the masters."

"This marked relation of present day songs isn't sufficient evidence for a charge of plagiarism against the writers of the newer songs. No more than Dreiser could be accused of lifting Shakespeare's plot of Romeo and Juliet for his American Tragedy."

As soon as the word got around that Bob Burns' baby had arrived gifts of all sorts started to pour in. No less than 12 jokers had the same idea and sent toy bazookas all with cards worded to the effect: "Your dad has tormented us with bazooka solos for years. Be a good little girl and get even for us just as soon as you are able to toot the contraption."

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—Hendrik Willem Van Loon, geographer, historian, and chronicler of the arts, is expecting a dinner guest.

His wife greets you at the door. "Mr. Van Loon will be down in a moment," she says. She pronounces it "Van Loan."

You enter. She leaves you to go upstairs for a reconnaissance. She returns and reports: "He is dressing."

You wait. From the windows of their home you see rolling Connecticut countryside and the waters of Greenwich Cove, an inlet of Long Island sound.

A guest descends and announces: "He is shaving." You say, "Thank you." You let your eyes wander about the walls where repose landscapes in watercolor painted by a Dutch friend of Mr. Van Loon.

Another guest descends the stairs. As an after thought, he says: "He is looking for a collar button."

You wait. A fishing boat is putting out into the bay. Some boys in a shallop are playing around one of the docks. They have lost an oar and are trying to get it back.

A dachshund waddles down the stairs. He probably would like to say: "He is combing his hair"; instead takes cognizance of the room, submits to a friendly ear-scratching, and collapses on a rug.

Mrs. Van Loon goes up stairs for another reconnaissance. She comes back down and announces: "He is tying his tie."

The fishing boat is a wee speck on the edge of the bay. The boys in the shallop have succeeded in recapturing the oar. Suddenly the dachshund starts up. The guests throw up their heads.

You hear massive footsteps. The stairs creak. A ponderous figure, like a moving boulder, enters the room. It is Van Loon. It is not polite to ask a man how much he weighs, but you easily ascertain that he is six feet, two and one-half inches tall. Under smoothly combed hair and a wide brow, big brown eyes peer out over glasses. Not through them. His movements are slow; his voice growly. He is a very big man.

He is also a monopolist, taking charge of the conversation and filling the air with a staccato of quips, jokes, pertinent observations.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Here And There: Helen Wilson, of whom you probably never heard, has spent more than $1,000,000 on clothes during the past eight years. But she dresses simply and comparatively inexpensively, and on her shopping tours — almost daily — you wouldn't pick her out for a big buyer.

That's what she is — wardrobe shopper for Selznick's pictures. She spends whole days shopping, says she gets as much kick out of ordering a string of beads as she does commanding a whole bolt of $50 a yard material.

When she became a studio buyer, her first assignment was to find clothes and materials for Mae Murray and Eleanor Boardman. She took the stars along, and later Billie Dove, Colleen Moore and Fay Wray shopped with her for picture clothes.

But now her expeditions are solo. Carole Lombard, Janet Gaynor, Madeleine Carroll stayed at the studio when Helen went buying. The stars could have gone along, had they wished, but the public — with autograph books handy — would have slowed down the work. So Helen orders stuff on approval. About half of it is kept — and she considers that a high percentage.

Carriages Come High: In "Jezebel" Bette Davis drove a caleche, which the studio rented for $15 a day but paid $250 to put in shape. Lee Sheldon, the vehicle and animal man at Warner's, bemoans the shortage of old-fashioned carriages, of which he had to procure sixteen for this film. There are backboards and farm wagons in plenty but few "carriage trade" vehicles — victorias, landaus, and barouches.

Sheldon knows six or seven "horse men" who rent livestock and vehicles to studios. The trouble is, the carriages are used only two or three times a year and the rest of the time they serve as chicken roosts in the barns. That's why it costs $250 to restore Bette's caleche. Sheldon would like to start his own stable of fine carriages. If he had a couple of months to tout the country, he knows he could find any number.

Hawks Point to Southern Trip

To Play First Of Six Games At St. Louis

Winders Unable to Join Team on Invasion Of Dixieland

Boasting two wins in two starts against a Bradley Tech team not classified as a set-up, the Hawk baseballers romped through a brisk, though abbreviated, infield drill yesterday in preparation for their southern invasion which begins when they meet Concordia Seminary at St. Louis Saturday.

In their jaunt through the land of cotton they will play six games, the final one with the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., April 18.

Although it's a bit early to make predictions as to the potency, or lack of same, in the Iowa lineup, their performance with the stick in the Bradley games has given rise to a general suspicion that base knocks will be a plentiful Hawkeye commodity this year.

In general, Big Ten pitching figures to be a great deal tougher than that encountered in the Bradley games. But it will have to be a great deal tougher to stop an attack that netted 27 hits, 24 runs, and a team batting average of .355.

Erwin Prasse, who poked out two homers in the first game, and Jim George, who connected for the circuit with the bags loaded in the second game, provided most of the long distance stick work.

Manush, with a neat average of .600 in two games, Vogt and Prasse with .428 and Bratten with .375 were the other big guns of the Iowa attack.

Wendell Winders, star Hawkeye catcher, will not be able to make the southern trip because of a stomach ailment. Winders will not resume workouts till after the team returns from the southern invasion.

Hod Shots by G. K. HODENFIELD

In addition to the two victories they gained at the hands of the Bradley Tech engineers last week end, the University of Iowa baseball team brought back to Iowa City a pair of injured hurlers in the persons of Kenneth Reid and Howard "Stretch" Miller.

This is the second straight year in which Miller has been shunted to the sidelines by injuries or sickness. Last year he developed eye trouble at the start of the season and played in only one game, pitching to one batter in the Louisiana game, the opening Hawkeye tilt of the season.

The weather man has cast a favorable eye on the Vogelmen, in spite of the recent cold snap. Last spring when the Iowans made their southern invasion during the Easter vacation, they had had only one outside drill. They came back with three wins in five games. This year they have had plenty of outdoor practice and expect to do a lot better.

Par - shattering golf was not good enough for Light Horse Harry Cooper of Chicago and Ralph Guldhall, the national open champion who also comes from the Illinois metropolis, to overhaul the iron-nerved Picard in the final innings of the big show that closes golf's winter circuit.

Guldhall and Cooper finished in a tie for second place. Their final round 71s, a stroke under standard figures for the course, gave them totals of 287. Guldhall, after a fine outgolfing 34 and a chance to win the classic event he so barely missed a year ago, took 37 on the return journey.

Little Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., also cracked standard figures the final day to pass a trio of players and take fourth place with an even par aggregate of 288. He was two strokes in front of Byron Nelson, the young Reading, Pa., professional who won here a year ago in a sensational finish of 283 to nose out Guldhall.

Jones, making what has become his long competitive appearance annually in the "Masters" tournament, finished in a tie for sixteenth place at 297, which was his best effort since he wound up in a deadlock for 13th position in the inaugural tournament of 1934.

The meet's 300 points were distributed among 34 schools, the greatest number which has ever entered the scoring column the re-check shows.

When Dean Rasmus of Garner finished first in the one mile run in the state meet and broke the old record by covering the distance in 4:37.4, he realized the fulfillment of a hope which he had carried with him since last year.

Rasmus has been working out at the mile since school opened last fall. He thought that he would be able to negotiate the distance in 4:35 but the number of entries in the race forced him to run a little slower than planned.

Thinclads Face Inactive Period

Three Weeks Remain Before Outdoor Card Opens

With three weeks remaining until the Iowa track team opens the outdoor season with the Kansas relays at Lawrence, Kan. April 23, the men are facing a period of comparative rest.

Although Coach Bresnahan has not yet officially moved his forces outdoors for work on the cinder track west of the fieldhouse, some of the men have taken occasional outside runs. Work will continue indoors until the definite return of warm weather, however, in order to eliminate the risk of muscle injuries.

The indoor season was the best since 1929, and there is a good chance of equaling the record in the outdoor campaign with its seven meets.

From the opening of the Kansas relays to the closing meet June 17 and 18 with the National Collegiate championships at Minneapolis, there is only one home affair, the dual tilt with Wisconsin May 7.

Picard Reaches Top by Hard Work

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—Once every blue moon or so, a fellow who's always helping somebody else helps himself and goes to town. It happened on this sunshiny Georgia spring day as Henry Picard, the "Candy Kid" from Hershey, Pa., whipped his field with a brilliant finish to win the fifth Augusta Masters championship, the most important title he ever won.

Picard got a helping hand from that old maestro, Walter Hagen, seven years ago and since then has been the kind of a playing professional who will walk a mile to aid a young player headed for the pitfalls of traps, creeks and golfing oblivion. Hagen taught Henry the way of a real champ and Henry never forgot it.

found himself tied for first place with a rather gawky, loose-swinging kid who tried in vain to get reporters to put the "K" in his name.

Odds on Walter were something like take your choice for the play-off and a few hardy golfers from Charleston, S. C., where Henry learned his game, took the long shot chance.

Never before had Hagen been beaten in a play-off, but he got his lumps that day to the astonishment of the kid's wildest admirers. Henry broke the record on the championship Starmount (Greensboro, N. C.) golf club layout with a 69 to win the play-off by 10 shots.

As Henry walked into the clubhouse as if in a dream, Hagen beckoned to him and said: "Nice work, kid. Sit down a minute, I want to talk to you."

Learned a Lesson Henry listened to the old master talk for an hour and came out with the greatest golf lesson in his life—learned.

"You can be one of the greatest golfers in the world if you work hard on your game," advised Hagen. "Don't try to hit the ball so hard but keep working. Why, one of these days you'll be on the Ryder cup team."

"If I ever do half as much as you predict," said Henry thankfully, "you will deserve all the credit."

Since that spring day at Greensboro to this spring afternoon at Augusta, Henry not only has been one of the most consistently fine-playing pros in the business but one of its hardest trainers and sweetest helping hands. Maybe this helping hand stuff sounds like a lot of boy scout philosophy but it is true that, excepting perhaps Bobby Jones, the galleryites here wishing for nothing more than a triumph for Henry Picard in the "Masters." For instance, ask Sam Snead. It was Henry

Letters in 'Iowa' Set Theme for Dinner Program

At a long table decorated with three bouquets of cut flowers bordered on each side by burning tapers, 41 senior women and nine faculty guests dined at the 14th annual Good Will dinner at Iowa Union last night.

Dean of Women Adelaide Burge, serving as toastmaster, presided over a program built from letters in the word "Iowa." Dean Burge read a letter received yesterday from Emilie and Marie Stapp of Wiggins, Miss., who, with their niece, Dorothy Pinkbine Souers, established this traditional affair for women.

Grant Wood Opens Home to Reporter

Early Victorian Dwelling Houses Collection of Furniture and Glass

By VERA SHELDON

It was after a great deal of persuasion that a reporter was admitted into the Grant Wood home, 1142 E. Court street. Once admitted, however, she was most graciously received. Mrs. Wood explained her reluctance by revealing the fact that she is adverse to publicity.

From the time that one enters the low picket gate until one leaves, one is impressed with the friendly atmosphere of this early Victorian home. The most lovely and yet the most homelike part of the house is the living room just off the entrance hall. When one enters the room one faces the fireplace, above which hangs a portrait of Professor Wood's sister, Nan. It is the only one of his own paintings that he has, Mrs. Wood said.

To the right of the fireplace is the library corner shown in the picture above. Looking about, one is struck by the beauty of the piano at the opposite end of the room. It is a mahogany baby-grand from the parental home of Professor Wood. Mrs. Wood, an accomplished musician, recognized its value upon their marriage and had it repaired, she said.

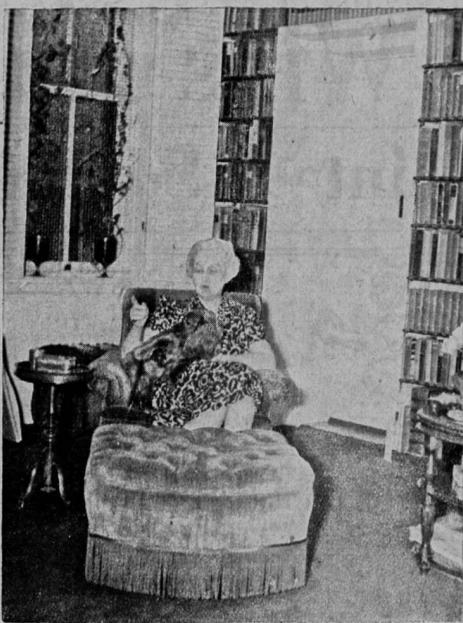

Her music rack beside the piano is an interesting piece of furniture designed by her husband. It was originally a square walnut picture frame.

In front of the small lounge along the north wall is a utility table also designed by the professor. "We could find nothing in a smoke stand which was early Victorian," Mrs. Wood said. "So the artist created one from an old table of his mother's."

From the living room one goes into the dining room and the most interesting part of the house because of the lovely collections of dishes which it contains. "Collecting old dishes and glassware is my hobby," Mrs. Wood explained.

The room is done in subdued tones of brown and mauve, a color scheme carried out from the deep taupe carpet to the mauve drapes. The wall paper is an off-green shade in an early Victorian pattern. A long, highly polished table with unique brass legs forms the centerpiece. Mrs. Wood explained that it was an old store counter which Professor Wood remodeled to satisfy her desire for a table without leaves. Chairs are also of mahogany.

In a tier of recessed shelves on the east wall is Mrs. Wood's collection of flint glassware, very rare and valuable. Encased in the window on the opposite side of the room is an array of amber glassware.

Along the north wall is a long cabinet of drawers. On its polished buffet top Mrs. Wood keeps her unusual collection of ironstone dishes. This collection was started for her by Mrs. William Allen White, whose husband is well known as editor of the Emporia Gazette.

Other valuable dishes of majolica ware are kept in a mahogany cabinet along the west wall. French doors at the east end of the room open on to a sunporch. "Here is where the family dines in warm weather," Mrs. Wood remarked.

Off the dining room is the kitchen. White predominates in the furnishings with touches of red in the cottage curtains, inlaid linoleum and pots of ivy hanging in the windows.

Off the kitchen is a pantry. Mrs. Wood interrupted preparation of the evening meal there to show us her home.

"This room used to be a bathroom before Professor Wood remodeled the house," his wife commented. The wall needed support so the professor built iron poles with rails. They serve as attractive and useful towel racks.

From the hall an open stairway leads to the upstairs of the house. On the left side is the home of Mrs. Wood's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Maxon. Dr. Maxon is a member of the college of dentistry faculty. On the opposite side are guest rooms.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about the home is the fact that it was entirely remodeled by Professor Wood. Walls are of white masonry—the same material upon which the artist does all of his paintings. All of the furnishings are from the homes either of Professor or Mrs. Wood. Lovely antiques, they are especially valuable because of their backgrounds.

College Law Arguers Uphold Tradition

Admire Profession Followed by Families for Generations

These four students will climax three years of professional training Thursday when they take part in the Supreme Court day arguments. Left to right, standing, are Ben Buckingham of Iowa City and Howard Remley of Anamosa; seated are Robert Buckmaster of Dunkerton and Morris Druker of Marshalltown.

By NINA LYMAN

Family tradition and an admiration for the legal profession are the chief reasons why the four senior law students who will present the Supreme Court day arguments Thursday chose their careers.

Ben Buckingham of Oskaloosa and Robert Buckmaster of Dunkerton decided to be lawyers because they admired the legal profession. Howard Remley of Anamosa is following a career in which his family has been prominent for several generations, and with Morris Druker of Marshalltown being a lawyer is also a family tradition.

To be selected as one of the four contestants for the "Supreme Court of the University of Iowa" is one of the highest honors in the college of law. The students had to be winners in preliminary trials in their freshman and junior years and had to have the highest scholarship in the group.

Since 1861 the name "Remley" is a well-known one in the college of law. Since the year 1861 there has been at least one member of the family attending the university. Milton Remley, great-uncle of Howard, finished the course after entering here in 1861 and later became attorney-general of Iowa.

Howard's grandfather, the late Judge Howard M. Remley, received a degree in law in 1872, and his 10 children were all graduated from the University of Iowa.

Morris Druker too is not the only one in his family to have attended the university, and he is the third of the Druker brothers to have participated in Supreme Court Day Arguments. In 1931 Harry Druker was one of the contestants, and Boni Druker followed in 1936. No other family has such a record.

Both Married
Buckingham and Buckmaster are both married. Each of them decided to marry after entering the college of law. Buckmaster received a B.A. degree from Iowa State Teachers college in 1933. His father, Dr. R. A. Buckmaster, studied medicine at the university. Buckmaster is now a member of the Iowa Law Review staff.

Buckingham received a B.A. degree here in 1936. He has worked in the Iowa Union dining service since he entered the university.

Remley is the president of his

Ryan Declares That Welfare Rests on Truth

"Our social and political welfare depends upon belief in the truth," Bishop James H. Ryan of Omaha, Neb., former rector of the Catholic University of America, declared at the final university vesper of the year Sunday evening in Iowa Union.

Bishop Ryan maintained that a universal conception of truth could only be achieved if our universities would accept and teach the great verities. He added that this could not be done unless people were left with the right to think and believe for themselves.

"Nothing is so destructive to efforts of the human mind to see truth than government interference," Bishop Ryan asserted. "Truth cannot live in an autocratic government."

"We have communism, nazism and war because we bow down to materialism — they are political expressions of false materialism," he further stated.

In conclusion, he declared, "Truth will only advance to the conquest of the world when science, philosophy and theology join hands and agree as to its universality."

Dr. Jeans Speaking For Medical Group On Child Nutrition

YESTERDAY, acetylene lamps dug weakly at the night. TODAY, modern headlights spread a bright, smooth carpet.
IN REFRIGERATION, TOO, Electricity IS THE MODERN WAY

On the modern car it's Electric LIGHT
.. in the modern kitchen-Electric COLD

ELECTRICITY is rapidly becoming as generally accepted for safe food preservation as it is for illumination. More than ten million women now refrigerate electrically. This overwhelming trend to electricity is only natural, for the modern electric refrigerator is so safe... so swift... so simple that using any other kind of refrigeration in a home that has electric current is like attaching old-fashioned acetylene lamps to a modern car.

ECONOMY is a major feature of all modern electric refrigerators. On the average, they use so little current that pennies pay for it. Stack these few pennies a week up against the money you save by having food kept constantly at safe temperatures, no matter how hot it is outside, and the question "Can I afford an electric refrigerator...?" changes to "Can I afford to be WITHOUT an electric refrigerator...?" And you can't. No modern family can.

SEE THE NEW Electric REFRIGERATORS TODAY. Let your electric refrigerator dealer show you, with figures based on your own electric rate, how much a modern electric refrigerator can SAVE you. Let him take you on a brief "tour of inspection" of the many features, both interior and exterior, that distinguish the new models. Let him tell you their low cost. And the convenient terms on which they may be purchased. You will be well repaid for the few minutes you spend with your electric refrigerator dealer... for they will lead to a life-time of satisfaction when you do what over ten million families have already done... BUY AN Electric REFRIGERATOR.

An ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR is so safe... so swift... so simple

American Prefaces to Carry Preview of Adamic's New Book

April Issue to Feature Portrait, Editor Announces

The April issue of American Prefaces will be devoted entirely to a preview of the new book, "My America," by Louis Adamic and will have a special cover featuring the portrait of Mr. Adamic, Prof. Wilbur Schramm, editor, announced yesterday.

LOUIS ADAMIC

The issue will be a cross section of the book and will include the preface to the book, a long section from Adamic's diary and a complete chapter entitled "Of Two Worlds." In the preface Mr. Adamic explains the purpose of his book. His diary describes New York in the years following the depression of 1929 and the chapter "Of Two Worlds" relates the feelings of one who is half American and half European.

Mr. Adamic lectured at the University of Iowa two years ago. One of his books, "Laughing in the Jungle," was at one time included in the freshman English reading in the university.

Mr. Adamic was born in Yugoslavia and came to this country in 1913. During the following years he did all types of work, having jobs as reporter, mill hand, sailor and soldier.

In 1931, after having several magazine articles printed, he published his first book, "Dynamite." In 1932 appeared his "Laughing in the Jungle," the story of his experience as an immigrant in America. The same year the Guggenheim foundation awarded him a year's study abroad and while in Europe he visited his native home. "The Native's Return," published in February, 1934, a Book-of-the-Month selection, is the story of that visit.

He also has written "House in Antigua." His latest book, "My America," will be published in May.

Large Group Hears Rector Explains New Housing Loans

Speaker Says Education Best Basis for Fight Against Cancer

"Almost every cancer death has ignorance as a contributing factor. We must fight cancer with knowledge," Dr. F. L. Rector, field representative of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, told a large audience in chemistry auditorium last night.

Demonstrating his lecture with slides, Dr. Rector showed that cancer in its early stages is curable, but that the chances of a cure decrease rapidly with every month's delay before treatment. "We can never root this disease out 100 per cent, but there is no reason why, with an education campaign, we can't cut the present occurrence in half in five years, saving about 75,000 lives a year," he stated.

Dr. Rector defined cancer as a disorderly growth of the cells in the body, and pointed out that since it arises out of a person's own tissue and is due to conditions which are peculiar to his body, it is an individual and personal matter more than any other type of disease. So, if we are to control cancer, we must do it through the education of each individual, he said.

He disproved three common fallacies by declaring that cancer is not a germ disease, it is not a blood disease and it is not catching. Declaring that "No age is free from cancer," Dr. Rector presented a graph showing that it is found more commonly after 30 and 35 years, but that it can occur in young or old age as well. Contrary to common belief, it is not primarily a disease of old people.

Four danger signals were listed: lumps on the body, irregular bodily discharges, sores that do not heal, persistent indigestion and sudden changes in the form or rate of growth of a mole or wart. Dr. Rector stressed immediate and complete medical examination as imperative when any of these danger signals appear.

He pointed out that the only effective methods of treatment known at present are surgery, radium and X-ray, and that cancer cannot be cured by faith healing, salves, internal medicines or diet. No serum or drug known will have the slightest effect on cancer.

"Much can be done to avoid the disease by observing simple health rules," Dr. Rector explained. "However, the habit of periodic physical examination is the best protection against serious outcome of cancer."

F.D.R. League Explains New Housing Loans

Non-Partisans Discuss 2 Principal Parts Of Measure

A discussion of the federal housing bill and the part it plays in permitting the building of homes with federal aid took place under the direction of J. A. Parden, local real estate and insurance agent, at the bi-weekly meeting of the Roosevelt Non-partisan league at the court house last night.

Two principal provisions of the bill were discussed. The first permits federal insurance of loans for the construction of new homes for as much as $16,000. The second provides insurance for loans of $10,000 or less for purposes of modernizing old homes.

The Federal Housing administration, Parden pointed out, will insure loans up to 90 per cent of the appraised cost of a home of $8,000. For homes costing between $8,000 and $16,000, the administration will guarantee loans of 90 per cent on the first $6,000 and 80 per cent on the remainder. Applications for loans are made through any approved lending agency, the speaker said. Such applications are submitted to the FHA for investigation. The government will not, however, insure a loan the monthly payment of which would exceed one-fourth the monthly income of the applicant.

If investigators approve the application showing that it is found more commonly after 30 and 35 years, but that it can occur in young or old age as well. Contrary to common belief, it is not primarily a disease of old people.

A forum discussion in which members of the audience participated followed Parden's presentation of the subject material. Prof. W. Ross Livingston of the history department was last night's chairman.

Bureau to Act On Beef Plan

Farm Representatives To Attend Cedar Rapids Meet

Representatives from the Johnson County Farm Bureau will attend a meeting in Cedar Rapids Monday to discuss and decide whether the proposed 4-H club beef project for 1938-39 will be carried out in Johnson and 10 other counties in east central Iowa.

If the proposed project is accepted, the Johnson county farm bureau will purchase several carloads of high grade feeder calves late this summer and distribute them among club members in lots of five for feeding and grooming.

The contest will close Sept. 1, 1939, with club members showing their calves at the all-Iowa dairy and 4-H club show at Cedar Rapids.

Emmett C. Gardner was employed to serve his fourth year as Johnson county agricultural agent by the farm bureau board at its regular monthly meeting Saturday night. He has been engaged in this line of work 17 years, having been county agent in Cedar county seven years and in Monroe county six years before coming to Iowa City.

The university athletic board has granted the use of the east concourse of the stadium and the fieldhouse for the 4-H club and saddle horse show Aug. 17, 18 and 19. 4-H boys will display their livestock in the east concourse of the stadium and 4-H girls will display their projects in the fieldhouse.

Gives Concert City High Band And Orchestra Play

Under the direction of Lloyd F. Swartley, the instrumental department of Iowa City high school presented its annual spring concert to a large crowd in the high school auditorium last night.

Appearing first, the 70-piece orchestra, national champions in 1935 presented four selections. The first piece was "Russian and Ludmilla" by Glinka, their selected number for presentation at this year's national contest. This was followed by Pergolesi's "Concertina in F Minor" and the "Kaiser-Waizer" by Johann Strauss.

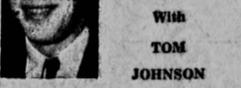

The 40-minute program concluded with the required number for the 1938 national contest, "The Secret Marriage" by Cimerosa.

The band, after intermission, played its selected national number, Verdi's "Force of Destiny," followed by "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Johann Bach and "Goliath" as arranged by Joe Bermyan. "Builders of Youth" by O'Neill, the required national number was next presented. Pestlozza's "Ciribiribin" and Ketelbey's "In a Persian Market" concluded the program.

Swartley's assistants are Himie Voxman in charge of woodwinds and Lorene Liston in charge of strings.

The orchestra will compete in the class A division of the district round of the state music contest at Davenport Friday evening in the high school auditorium.

AROUND THE TOWN

Diary of a Londoner (nee Iowa Citizen)

Yesterday's letter from M.D.M. reminded me that the everyday life of an American on tour may differ from a university student's... or an Iowa Citizen's. It contained an account of how it differs...

But, perhaps it's only the size of a city which makes the life there different. Yet, it is true that we in Iowa City rarely come in contact with some of the interesting, exciting angles...

If you care for an idea of what to do with your spare moments in London town, read on...

Dear Tom: The world, I am informed by the daily press, is not slowly but certainly, surely going to hell...

In Italy II Duce is bankrupt and desperate. In Vienna, quite like the New York of 1929, instead of the proverbial cats and dogs, the streets rain suicides...

And in Czechoslovakia Jews pack hurried belongings and 12-year-olds are polishing their swastikas... London's Neville Chamberlain calls for 100,000 air-raid volunteers... And so to war!

Meanwhile, a dilettante to the core, I forget the world and dally pleasantly with the muses...

To the opening of Robert Sherwood's American success "Idiot's Delight" where, from my gallery seat, I gaze on the top of Noel Coward's well-combed head, applaud with the rest when one Lady Cavendish — we call her Adele Astaire — walks down the aisle in ermine. And thrilling as the crowd discovers a thin, plain woman with horn rim glasses is named Dodie Smith...

Standing outside a crowded stage door for the autograph of the play's star, Raymond Massey, on my program.

To Queen's Hall opposite BBC to hear, for my second visit, the magnificent baritone of Paul Robeson glorify again America's "Old Man River"...

Again to sit edge-wise while a violinist named Kreisler plays his fourth encore... All this for the equivalent of an American dollar...

To a tiny art shop across from the British Museum and only a block from 30, Bedford Place... There buying an excellent copy of a painting that now hangs above my typewriter, making the room somehow less lonely...

It's called "Stone City" and is by an American artist named Grant Wood...

Of an afternoon to Lyons' corner houses where for a shilling and spare time you can listen while a group of pseudo-gypsies play Viennese waltzes as if they had never heard of Hitler...

And where, while you sip your tea, these same gypsies break into "Bei Mir B.D.S."...

On a Saturday afternoon down Fleet street and an ale from the seat where once Charles Dickens gazed into his beer and imagined improbable tales about probable Englishmen, across from the seat a few years earlier of one Dr. Sam Johnson and a man with a notebook named Boswell...

A few blocks away Elizabeth Barrett played hostess on many an afternoon to a poet, Robert Browning... Here, almost exactly as he left it, the long-time home of Thomas Carlyle...

There the Drury Lane theater where "Mistress Nell" Gwynn attracted royal attention...

This, then, is London...

And, to top it off, onion soup at a prosperous milk bar just off Piccadilly and a sign, quite English, warning: "Absolutely No Breakfast Served Before Midnight!"

Until next time, Merle Miller, 30, Bedford Place, London, W.C. 1.

Quick Change 31 Cent Investment Yields $9.69

It still holds true that the hand is quicker than the eye! Just ask Mrs. O. G. Yoder, cashier at the Capitol cafe, 124 E. Washington street.

An unassuming man who ate at the counter Sunday night went to pay his bill of 31 cents. All he had was a $10 bill, so he received in change one $5-bill, four $1 bills and 69 cents.

Then the hand became quicker than the eye. Somehow — Mrs. Yoder would still like to know how — he got back the $10 bill he gave her when he paid his bill a moment before. This amount he added to the money which was given him in change.

Here's where the money making begins. He then had nearly $20 in $5's and $1's. Politely asking Mrs. Yoder to give him a $20 bill for the change, the stranger walked out of the cafe — better than a $9 to the good.

Yes, it's a money making trick, but you have to be a mathematical wizard to put it over.
