Refugees Seek Freedom in America

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
NEW YORK, April 5, (AP) — A group of German and Austrian refugees arrived today on the British liner Antonia to accept this country's historic and recently renewed offer of political asylum.

They came as millions who now are Americans had come in years past — through the narrows and on up the shining bay past the statue of liberty, gleaming in the April sun.

As the coast guard cutter Calumet pulled alongside the Antonia and the ladder was put for the officers to clamber aboard for the customary inspections, some of the silent few who lined the Antonia's upper deck smiled and held up their hands in tentative greeting.

But for the most part the arrivals were a stolidly quiet and bewildered lot. Most, of course, could speak no English and the exact number who could be classified as actual fugitives from their homelands was impossible of determination.

Baron George von Halban, a slight young Viennese who fled from Austria after the Hitler coup, said in broken but distinct English that he managed to leave the country with only $6.20, as measured in American money, above his passage.

Smiling and deprecatory in his manner, he explained why he had left:

"I was an officer in the army," he said. "Also I was monarchist. They knew that. I was unwilling to serve in the army longer under German commanders."

Court Inquires On Emergency

Question Arises During Argument Over Moratorium

DES MOINES, Ia., April 5 (AP) — The Iowa supreme court tonight had under advisement the question of whether or not an "emergency" still exists in Iowa.

The point arose in arguments before the court today over the constitutionality of the mortgage moratorium act of 1937.

The act of 1937 was similar to those of 1933 and 1935, and extended the moratorium period to March 1, 1939.

Members of the court interrupted the attorneys frequently during the arguments to ask questions.

Assistant Attorney General Henry J. Roelofs defended the act. He attacked the claims of attorneys for the first trust joint stock land bank of Chicago, which brought the case here on appeal from Scott county, that higher prices in 1937, compared to 1933 when the first moratorium act was passed, were an indication that the emergency had ceased.

"In other words," Roelofs told the court, "they say: 'Everything is going higher and higher. Glory, Hallelujah! Prosperity has returned!'"

"That's what started the land boom," interrupted Justice W. H. Hamilton of Sigourney.

"But if I sell you my watch for $100, that doesn't mean we have any more money between us," Roelofs replied.

"In order to stay in the business of farming," he continued, "it was necessary for a farmer to go to his neighbor and pay $1.17 for corn to put into hogs — brood stock — which he could not sell if he were going to continue in business. It isn't an indication that conditions are better when you exchange goods between yourselves. It's what you sell to the consumer that counts."

Narcotic Addict Is Suspected Of Frome Slaying

EL PASO, Tex., April 5 (AP) — The picture of a scar-faced, 29-year-old ex-convict was projected tonight into the shifting uncertain scene about the torture and slaying of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her daughter, Nancy, of Berkeley, Cal.

El Paso authorities expressed keen interest in a telegraphed report from Kansas city police that the man, characterized as "desperate," probably was in the vicinity of the Frome slayings late last Wednesday.

Capt. S. D. Shea, head of the criminal division of the El Paso sheriff's office, declared:

"I am more interested in this angle than anything else."

District Attorney Roy Jackson, Sheriff Albert Anderson of Van Horn and Texas Ranger Pete Crawford, sifted a theory that the socially prominent California women were victims of casual acquaintances who won their friendship during a five-day visit in El Paso, March 25-30.

"There is now the possibility the robbery may have been plotted when they were here last week," Jackson said.

Proposed British-Italian Treaty Binds Italians to Leave Spain Only After War

ROME, April 5 (AP) — The proposed British-Italian friendship treaty will bind Italy to withdraw troops from Spain after—but not before—the civil war is over, informed quarters said tonight.

Italy has agreed to retire troops also from the strategically important Balearic islands in the Mediterranean at the same time, these sources said after another meeting between the negotiators, British Ambassador the Earl of Perth and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

These and the reduction of Italy's forces in Libya, her north African colony, were regarded as the major Italian concessions. Both sides were said now to hope to reach agreement by Easter or, at least, before Reichsfuehrer Hitler's visit to Italy early in May.

Italian withdrawal from Spain and British recognition of the Italian empire previously had been decided in principle. Details, however, are now said to have been sketched in.

Britain, these sources said, will propose to the League of Nations next month that its members be given freedom to recognize Italy's Ethiopian conquest if they desire. Thereafter, they said, Britain will recognize Ethiopia as Italian.

British, French Policy Attacked

Spain's Leftists Protest Against Attitude Of Nonintervention

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—The Spanish government protested to France and Great Britain tonight against continuation of their non-intervention policy with its "appalling and dangerous injustice."

The government note recalled Spain's messages of March 22 changing a renewal of German and Italian aid to Spanish insurgent armies which now have split Catalonia from the rest of government Spain.

Agitation grew in Wales for a national coal strike to demand that the government drop its "hands off Spain" policy and allow the Spanish government to buy British munitions. The movement was started by a number of Welsh veterans of the Spanish government's international brigade who returned wounded from Spain.

It was discussed today at a meeting of the executive council of the Miners' federation, Oliver Harris, general secretary of the federation, asserted the miners would be willing to participate in such a strike "if there is fairly general support for this policy among the trade unions."

Labor Policies
Union labor policies, meanwhile, touched British domestic and foreign problems at another point. Cautious labor leaders hedged today on commitment to the government's plans for speeding up armaments production.

Despite urgent pleas by Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for coordination of defense, officials of the Amalgamated Engineering union refused to make any immediate pledges to the government.

Government Seeks Speed
The government sought to expedite production by inducing the unions to relax regulations on apprentices and semi-skilled workers.

Union officials countered with queries as to whether skilled labor at present is being used to its fullest capacity, whether private profits from arms manufactures would be limited and what government guarantees would be given in exchange for union concessions.

Austrian Archbishop Confers With Papal Secretary of State

VATICAN CITY, April 5 (AP) — Theodore Cardinal Inpitzer, archbishop of Vienna, tonight opened a series of conferences with Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, on the situation in Austria.

The Austrian cardinal, whose declaration March 27 in favor of union of Austria and Germany was said by the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, to have been "without previous or subsequent approbation of the holy see," called on Cardinal Pacelli shortly after he arrived from Vienna by train.

L'Osservatore Romano said he would be received by Pope Pius tomorrow.

other structures in central Barcelona were thrown into darkness by the unexplained failure of electric power.

Telephone and cable communications remained in operation. Electric company officials said the power failure was only a local accident and was temporary.

The temporary capital presented an odd appearance, with street lights blazing in some sections while across the street government buildings were illumined only by flickering candles.

Presidents Postpone Philippine Economic Freedom Until 1960

Blum Fights Deputies For Decree Power

Left Votes in Caucus To Reject Bill Of Premier

PARIS, April 5 (AP) — Premier Leon Blum's apparently hopeless fight for decree powers aroused parliamentary speculation today as to whether his regime might be succeeded by a strong government with dictatorial economic and financial powers.

While deputies in the chamber screamed "robber" at the socialist premier during chaotic debate on his proposals, senators showed by a quiet vote how little chance Blum's bill had in the upper house.

Democrats Vote
The democratic left, which has absolute control of the senate, voted 46 to 3 in caucus to reject Blum's demands for decree powers.

Even as Blum struggled for his bill, thousands of new strikers joined the 30,000 already out. The huge metal workers' strike spread to several new plants in the Paris district.

At the Chaussone metal works, in Asnieres, 1,800 employes struck and occupied the plant in protest against reduction of force. Red flags were hung from factory windows.

The Rosegar automobile factory was occupied by pickets and 2,200 workers. They demanded salary increases and a new collective contract be signed.

The same metal workers' strike spread the last time Blum went before parliament with an appeal for the right to take money out of the stabilization fund for the treasury. That time, rightists charged, it was an attempt to put pressure on the senate.

Communists suggested a general strike but the senate, despite that threat, firmly rejected part of Blum's demands.

Makes Impression
This time, however, the spectacle of a socialist premier openly stating that France must copy the economic and financial programs of the dictatorships made a profound impression throughout France.

Many deputies and senators said Blum's battle for authority which he must have known was unattainable prepared the way for a national union government or a committee of public safety to succeed his people's front administration.

Republicans To Try New Kind Of 'Sit Down'

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Senate republicans, it was reported tonight, intend to conduct a new kind of legislative "sit down" in an effort to force the appointment of Senator Bridges (R-NH) to a joint congressional committee which will investigate TVA.

Bridges has been a severe critic of TVA, and the democratic leadership has been averse to putting him on the committee.

The leaders had succeeded in filling eight of the 10 places on the committee tonight, but it was widely rumored that they would have difficulty in filling the two vacancies, which according to senate tradition are reserved for republicans. Several republican senators were said to be determined to refuse to serve on the committee unless Bridges got one of the posts.

Earlier in the day, Vice-President Garner had named Senator Borah (R-Ida) and Senator McNary (R-Ore) to the two positions. Each declined, though not for the purpose of compelling Bridges' appointment.

Borah, who has repeatedly said that joint congressional committees are futile because they are so large as to be unwieldy, asserted he saw no good to be accomplished by participating in an investigation conducted by a "town meeting."

McNary, the republican floor leader, gave as his reason the distance to Oregon, a need for rest, and the fact that his duties on the republican senatorial campaign committee would limit his time during the summer and fall.

Predict Revamp Bill Passage

G.O.P., Democratic Coalition Resumes Reorganization Battle

Bill's Opponents Cause Extension of Bitter House Debate

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — A coalition of republicans and democrats, unopposed by administration concessions on the government reorganization bill, resumed their bombardment of that measure today and successfully resisted all efforts to cut short the debate.

"You will pretty near crush the last hope of the American people for relief of business if you pass this bill," Representative Snell, the republican floor leader, shouted to the house. "Nothing should be done to raise the issue of further concentration of power in Washington when we are in the worst depression in history."

Representative Latham (D-Tex) said the bill was "wrong in essence." Reorganization, he asserted should be undertaken through a careful congressional investigation of the government set up, rather than turned over to the president.

Meanwhile, the leadership of both sides was anxiously counting noses in the expectation that tomorrow would bring another test of strength on the bill, or possibly two of them.

Administration leaders intend to move that debate be closed when tomorrow's session begins, a procedure sure to result in a roll call vote.

If the opposition should fail to keep the debate open tomorrow, it intends to move to "strike out the enacting clause" the language which says "be it enacted etc" and gives every bill its effectiveness. If that attempt prevailed, the bill would be dead.

Banished McLaglen Ordered To England

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP)—Capt. Leopold McLaglen, towering brother of Screen Star Victor McLaglen, was banished from the United States today for five years as punishment for attempting to extort $20,000 from Phillip M. Chancellor, Hollywood millionaire.

Judge Thomas L. Ambrose ordered McLaglen to return to his native England on the first boat leaving Los Angeles harbor. He will be placed on a ship leaving here April 26, bound for Liverpool. Meanwhile, he must remain in the county jail.

"You are not to return to the United States nor to set foot on any of your probation," Judge Ambrose told McLaglen. "If you violate this order you will be returned to this court and sent to San Quentin penitentiary for the full duration of your sentence."

The court originally had sentenced McLaglen to one to five years in prison. The sentence then was suspended with the provision McLaglen return to England.

For several years McLaglen was a physical culture instructor in Hollywood. Chancellor accused him of attempting to extort the money after he was discharged as an investigator. Chancellor testified he employed the former British cavalryman to obtain material for a book dealing with alleged "un-American activities of Semitic groups" and communist organizations. He said he gave up the idea of publishing a book on the subject and discharged McLaglen.

In the ordinary course, this would lead to complete elimination of the trade preference in 1961. However, there would be an adjustment of fiscal dates in the meantime, so that the elimination actually would occur in 1960.

Up to 1946, this program is virtually the same as the program in the Philippines Independence Act of 1934. However, the 1934 act called for the termination on July 4, 1946, of all trade preferences between the two countries.

Paul V. McNutt, United States high commissioner to the Philippines, has recommended to the president, it is learned, the abolition of the idea of Philippine independence, political or economic.

In case his proposal is adopted, the plan of the joint preparatory committee for economic independence would be dropped.

GOODBY, CURFEW. Children Consider Bell 'Go' Signal

FREEMONT, Ill., April 5 (AP)—The city council announced today it had voted to revoke the curfew law because it suspected many children now considered the 9 p.m. bell a "go" signal instead of a "stop" sign.

Chief of Police Adam H. Wilkey reported to the council that neither children nor their parents paid any attention to the intended meaning of the curfew. The bell will be sold to the highest bidder.

Islands to Be Politically Free By July, 1946

Plan Provides Gradual Removal of Trade Preferences

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — President Roosevelt and President Quezon of the Philippine commonwealth have agreed to postpone Philippine economic independence until the end of 1960.

The state department made public today the outline of a program providing for a gradual elimination of the trade preference now existing between the islands and the United States.

Investigation Result
The program results from a year's investigation by a joint preparatory committee on Philippine affairs, headed by John V. MacMurray, United States ambassador to Turkey.

It does not change the date of the Philippine political independence, July 4, 1946, but provides that economic ties shall not be severed until nearly 15 years after that date.

Congressional Approval
It will probably be presented to congress, but it is not expected to be ready in detail for the present session. Congressional approval is required to put the proposal into effect.

In general, the program calls for an annual reduction of 5 per cent in trade preferences given Philippine products shipped to the United States.

That is, 5 per cent of the American duties which would apply to the products if they came from European country, for instance, would be applied each year, beginning in 1941.

In 1946, the date set for political independence, this percentage would aggregate 25. Up to that point it would consist of export taxes imposed and retained by the Philippine government.

In 1946, having reached 25 per cent, the levy would be imposed by the United States when the products arrived here, and the money would be retained by the United States. Each year, thereafter, another 5 per cent would be tacked on.

Adjustment
In the ordinary course, this would lead to complete elimination of the trade preference in 1961. However, there would be an adjustment of fiscal dates in the meantime, so that the elimination actually would occur in 1960.

Up to 1946, this program is virtually the same as the program in the Philippines Independence Act of 1934. However, the 1934 act called for the termination on July 4, 1946, of all trade preferences between the two countries.

Paul V. McNutt, United States high commissioner to the Philippines, has recommended to the president, it is learned, the abolition of the idea of Philippine independence, political or economic.

In case his proposal is adopted, the plan of the joint preparatory committee for economic independence would be dropped.

Chinese Guerrilla Bands Strike Close to Shanghai's Back Door

SHANGHAI, April 6 (Wednesday) (AP) — Hidden Chinese guerrilla bands are striking close to Shanghai's back door at Japanese invaders already fully occupied on the bitterly contested central China front.

Japanese officers told today of one of the Chinese assaults by more than 1,000 raiders who gathered 15 miles southwest of Shanghai and attacked Japanese near Sungkiang. Japanese said the band suffered 300 casualties before it melted away to nearby villages.

In another attack near Sungkiang, Chinese were said to have ambushed a truck and killed 10 Japanese officers and soldiers.

Some 50 miles south of Shanghai, on the northern shore of Hangchow bay, Chinese said their forces had recaptured the towns of Haiyen and Haining and were attacking Chapoo.

These outbreaks of guerrilla warfare were in the area occupied by Japanese forces between Nov. 9, when Chinese evacuated their lines about Shanghai, and Dec. 13, when the capital at Nanking fell to the advancing invaders.

The Crisis In The Spanish Conflict

"THIS IS the last chapter of the civil war in Spain," General Franco was quoted as saying this week. And reports from the front have substantiated beliefs that the days of the war are numbered. The insurgent troops have just complete a large scale offensive which has split loyalist territory almost in half. Barcelona, the seat of the Spanish government, has been separated from Madrid, Valencia and the rest of southern Spain by the rebel march to the eastern Mediterranean coast. The loyalist forces are now divided in half and General Franco is preparing to deliver the death blow to the Spanish government.

The sudden success of the rebels is generally credited to the increased aid they have received from Germany and Italy. This aid has not come so much from increased "volunteers," as in the form of planes, tanks and guns—materials in which the loyalists are sadly deficient. Against the superior equipment of the rebel troops, the superior man power of the loyalists has been of little avail.

It is always easy to praise an abstract virtue and then to neglect to apply it. Dean Carl Wittke of Oberlin college makes a significant contribution to the cause of academic freedom by pointing out that many who heartily indorse it in theory are conspicuously absent when the time arises to come to its defense. Addressing the American Historical association, Dean Wittke warned that such devices as loyalty oaths and the pressure by which some communities seek to curb discussion of controversial issues subject the teacher to the danger of becoming "politically sterile and anemically neutral."

'SPRINGTIME IS SWINGTIME!'

the Soviet is contributing, says indignant Japan. They're real. The Nipponese are bitter in their complaints that Russia is hitting below the belt. Embroiled as they are with China, they are keeping an eye on the unsociable activities of their big northern neighbor, guarding against two particular contingencies—direct attack from Russia and dissemination of Soviet propaganda among the masses of Manchoukuo.

Already there is a "war" of sorts in the second category. The Soviet is waging its battles over the air waves, daily sending out radio communist propaganda as well as Russian versions of happenings in Manchoukuo.

It's bad enough to have the Russians take over the ether, figures Japan. But they're also meddling with an industry that has flourished considerably longer than radio in Manchoukuo-banditry.

Military authorities directly accuse Soviet agents of fostering the activities of professional bandits. Rifles, ammunition and military supplies captured after successful drives against the bandits show marks of Soviet manufacture, they declare.

The presence of bandit gangs in the rear of the Japanese forces would cause acute embarrassment to the general staff in event of a war with Russia. Bandit gangs equipped with Russian rifles would add an unpleasant touch of irony.

Japan has another grudge against the Soviet. In spite of Russian denials, she harbors a notion that China is obtaining military aid from the red country.

All of which does not add to the already scarce brotherly love in the east. The Japanese are not fellows to sidestep a good fight, or even two good fights.

Gold Is Where You Find It

MODERN COUNTERPART to the famous though fabulous goose that laid the golden egg was the chicken that turned the spotlight on its home town early this week when its gizzard proved to contain two gold nuggets slightly larger than good-sized peas.

Before its death the chicken was merely one of many owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meyers of Bradley, Ill. During the last few days, however, the Meyers have doubtless come to regard the memory of the deceased fowl with much respect, for a vigorous panning of back yard dirt in a wash basin has yielded more and more of the precious yellow nuggets.

As far as the neighbors are concerned, these developments have had an unfortunate aspect in that the Meyers' chickens are no longer available for public consumption. Prospective buyers are now told gently but firmly, "Nothing doing. There's gold in them pullets."

It's true, of course, that the Meyers chicken didn't actually (so far as anyone knows) lay a golden egg. But who knows what might have been accomplished had the fowl been given a little more time?

English may succeed French as the language of diplomacy. The diplomats must have discovered there are a lot more cuss words in our language.

Clendening Describes Disease Carried to U. S. From Japan

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. Disease works in a mysterious way, and the diagnostician must be on the alert to the most bizarre hints if he is to solve his problems.

A peculiar case was related to me the other day. A New England housewife came down with a sort of slow, dragging fever, with symptoms located in her abdomen. Finally it seemed to flare up and become acute, with pain and tenderness in the lower right corner of the abdomen. Naturally it looked like appendicitis and yet the whole picture was not very clear.

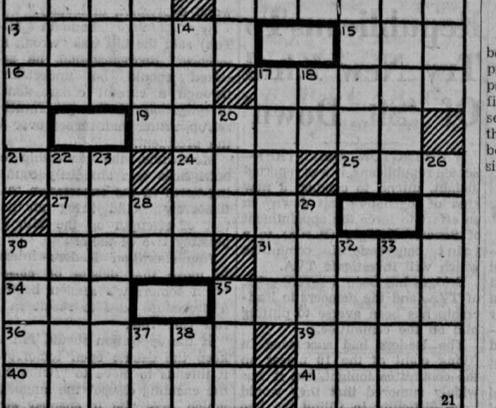

In going over the history to find some cause for the situation, it was developed that as part of her wifely duties she assisted her husband, who collected animals for a zoological museum, and she used to handle shipments of snails that came from South Africa and Japan. Still this information didn't seem to fit in anywhere, and the symptoms justified an operation, which revealed ed what looked to be an appendix abscess. But when the secretion from this abscess was examined there were found parasite eggs that looked like those of a fluke sometimes known as the "Japanese flood fluke." Technically it is known as the "Schistosoma" and is also found in Africa, Persia, Egypt and South America.

The eggs of this parasite are hatched in water and the young fluke deposits itself in the liver of a snail to round out its cycle of development. Emerging from that stage, it may penetrate the skin of a person bathing or using the water, and go to any part of the body. Reducing Diet for Wednesday—Second Week

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—If you could see and hear the boys scrambling after Indian head pennies you would understand how thoroughly numismatists has caught on in New York. Like mah jong, which sizzled through the early twenties like a fantastic Oriental fever, the pastime of coin-collecting is affecting its adherents with the same bright-eyed jittery fervor.

In Broadway cafe bars and South street subway trains strangers are comparing Liberty nickels and mumbling into their beards about commemorative half-dollars. The 1922 Lincoln penny with the D (Denver) mint mark has replaced Dizzy Dean as a surefire topic of conversation, and wherever you go you are sure to hear drilled into your ears the same old sad refrain: "Buddy, can you spare an 1893 dime?"

Your correspondent spent an hour today with a man who makes a lucrative business of buying and selling coins, and that there is much to be said in favor of this pleasant mania can not be denied by any reasonable person. Here are a few items concerning once plentiful but now elusive coins, including that fascinating symbol of the vanishing Americana, the Indian head penny.

Pine Tree Shilling: The first coin minted in this country was the Pine Tree shilling, struck by Massachusetts in 1652, and today if you wish to add it to your collection it will cost you $12.50 to $20, depending on the condition of the coin. The reason you find more 1919 Lincoln head pennies is because 392,000,000 poured from the mints at one time, probably no 5-cents piece is more valuable than the 1913 Liberty nickel, of which only six were minted, as for the Indian head penny, it was designed by J. B. Longacre in 1864. The first Liberty nickels were struck in 1883. Commemorative half-dollars are juicy items with most collectors and involve a considerable outlay in cash. For instance, the Grant memorial half dollar with a star costs $60. It will cost you a tidy $17 to add an Alabama memorial coin to your portfolio. A surprisingly cheap buy is the Lincoln head half-dollar which retails for only $1.

Then there are the attractive coins struck as memorials to the War between the States... the battle of Gettysburg, the battles of Antietam, Stone Mountain and others are available at small cost, and they comprise the most attractive group of coins to be had.

History Club: The regular meeting of the history club will be postponed until Wednesday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m., due to the death of Prof. George Gordon Andrews of the history department. COMMITTEE

Bivin Foundation Prize: The George Davis Bivin foundation announces a series of undergraduate and graduate prizes for papers and theses on topics relating to the mental hygiene of the child, such as emotional adjustment and the prevention of behavior problems and mental diseases through childhood training, with conclusions which would be helpful to parents, teachers and social workers concerned with the normal development of the child. For undergraduates there are three prizes of $20, $15 and $10. Papers should be submitted by May 1. For graduate students there are two prizes of $40 and $25. Graduate students may submit either masters' theses, doctoral dissertations or specially written papers. These should be submitted before July 15. The foundation requires an original typewritten copy of each prize-winning paper and reserves the right to publish them in a collection. BETH L. WELLMAN, Chairman

History Club: There will be a meeting of the history club at 7:30 tonight, April 6, in the Iowa Union dining room. Philip Crowl, G of Dayton, Ohio, will speak on "Socialism," and there will be an election of officers. COMMITTEE

Easter Vacation Employment: Students and all persons interested in Easter vacation employment should report to the university employment bureau, old dental building, not later than Saturday, April 9. By working not more than nine hours daily, you can earn board for the vacation period and accumulate meal credit, which will be charged off at the rate of three meals per day beginning Tuesday, April 19. LEE H. KANN.

Recreational Swimming: Recreational swimming will be offered Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 4:45 to 5:30 p.m., Tuesday from 4 to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 10 to 11:45 a.m. for the spring term in the pool room of the women's gymnasium. MARJORIE CAMP.

Japan's Stand: Japan, among others, did not indorse this 1936 bargain. It now is reported that she is building some 45,000-tonners. One or two, maybe—they cost high into the millions apiece, and Japan's resources are limited.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By CHARLES P. STEWART: WASHINGTON, D. C.—State department folk sense a deal of significance in Paris' intimations that France will make no start on a super-battlement building program, even if the United States and Britain do, unless Germany and Italy enter the race.

The conclusion is obvious that the French have no doubt of the genuineness and permanency of Uncle Sam's and John Bull's good will toward themselves. Let these two expand their respective navies to their hearts' content; France will do no worrying. Indeed, she counts somewhat upon Britain as a fighting ally in the event of actual hostilities. Of Germany and Italy, however, she is suspicious.

This is not new information. Nevertheless, it decidedly is a newly plain way of expressing it. How Big?

Not more than a couple of generations ago a vessel of 10,000 tons was considered a monster. Today 35,000 tons is considered the first-class battleship standard. Just after the war the United States was engaged in the construction of 43,500-ton craft. Then came the "Washington arms agreement" of 1922, which fixed 35,000 as the maximum, and Uncle Sam scrapped his 43,500-tonners, at enormous loss.

Later followed a 1936 dicker, re-establishing the 35,000-ton basis, but including what was known as the "escalator clause," under which, if any one of the signatories exceeded 35,000 tons, it was according to Hoyle for the others to do so also.

Japan's Stand: Japan, among others, did not indorse this 1936 bargain. It now is reported that she is building some 45,000-tonners. One or two, maybe—they cost high into the millions apiece, and Japan's resources are limited.

University Chorus, Orchestra to Present Oratorio Tonight

Groups to Give 'Judas Iscariot' At Iowa Union

Prof. Philip G. Clapp To Lead 8 o'Clock Performance

A dramatic oratorio, "Judas Iscariot" written by an alumnus of the university and dedicated to Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will be presented at the Easter vesper service tonight at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

The oratorio, composed by Dr. Arthur A. Berdahl of Fresno, Cal., deals with the betrayal of Christ by Judas. It opens with Christ's prophecy that one of His disciples will betray Him, and ends with Judas realizing too late his evil actions which cause him to hang himself.

The university chorus and symphony orchestra will take part in the production. The chorus will alternate between the part of commentator and crowds.

The principal players include the part of the Saviour to be portrayed by Prof. Herald I. Stark of the music department, tenor; and Judas Iscariot, by Hugh Cockshoot, A4 of Wilton Junction, baritone. Mrs. Annis Stark, soprano, and Margaret Brandt, G of Hastings, Neb., alto, will sing the incidental solo passages. Professor Clapp will direct the performance and Prof. Addison Alsopch, also of the music department, will have charge of the chorus.

The text for the oratorio was drawn from the scripture by the Rev. David A. Johnson.

Berdahl, the composer, was graduated from Augustana college at Sioux Falls, S. D. He came to the university in 1927 as a graduate student in composition and in 1931 received an M.A. degree. While studying for a Ph.D. degree he served as a graduate instructor in the department.

Before receiving the degree, he was in charge of the orchestra and taught theory instruction at the State Teachers college at Fresno, Cal. He received a Ph.D. degree in 1936 and served as instructor on the summer session staff and conductor of the orchestra. He did the studying toward the degrees under Professor Clapp.

Musicians Get Together for a Pre-performance Discussion

Describing tonight's production of his oratorio, "Judas Iscariot," as "quite a thrill," Dr. Arthur A. Berdahl of Fresno, Cal., is seen expressing his appreciation to three professors of the music department who have cooperated in the performance. In the picture are Prof. Addison Alsopch, Prof.

Philip Greeley Clapp, Dr. Berdahl and Prof. Herald Stark. Dr. Berdahl feels this first presentation of the oratorio, written as a thesis for his Ph.D. and dedicated to Professor Clapp, as an encouragement to go ahead and create. His particular interest in tonight's performance is the audience response to the modern treatment he has given the theme. Professor Stark will sing the part of Jesus Christ in the production and Professor Alsopch will be in charge of the university chorus. Professor Clapp is directing the performance.

AUDITORIUM
Architecture Simple, Adaptable

The new auditorium of the fine arts building, where many Iowa art instructors, supervisors and school executives will meet for the art conference April 8 and 9, is accepted as the most up-to-date room on the campus.

Its architecture is simple and pleasing to the eye. The walls are especially adaptable to exhibition purposes, giving the building nearly twice its former space.

Around the ceiling near the walls there are built-in lights which are focused upon the walls to aid in viewing pictures on exhibit. Through the ceiling other sunken lights operate on the rheostat principle and change gradually from dark to light and vice versa, and so relieve the eye of irritating sudden changes.

Aristophanes Flickinger Analyzes Wit in 'Frogs'

Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, head of the Romance languages department, analyzed the humor of Aristophanes and showed how the action of the play, "The Frogs," fitted into the physical condition of the Greek theater in his lecture, "Aristophanes and the Greek Comic Spirit," last night in Schaeffer hall.

Taking his definition of humor from Cicero, Professor Flickinger said, "Humor depends sometimes on the words and sometimes on the action. This includes puns and unexpected phrases."

"Aristophanes' humor rests mainly on the situation," he continued. "In every play he takes a fantastic idea and works it out to a humorous conclusion."

Using a sketch of the Greek theater, Professor Flickinger illustrated the action of "The Frogs." He said the stage conditions of the Greeks were not unlike those of Shakespeare's time where change of scene occurs rapidly without affecting the stage setting. This rapid change relies on the imagination of the audience.

The second half of the comedy is the first extended piece of literary criticism in existence and can still be applied today. Besides "The Frogs," Professor Flickinger read selections from two of Aristophanes' plays, "The Birds" and "Archamians," and from Arthur W. Verrall's "Collected Literary Essays, Classical and Modern."

Featured by a vocal and instrumental recital by high school students and exhibits from the English and art classes, the Iowa City high school Parent-Teacher association's meeting took place last night in the school auditorium.

Following a short business meeting at which new by-laws were adopted, there was a musical program. Three quartets—French horn, trombone and flute—which will be auditioned Friday at Davenport for the national music contest, presented one selection each. The cello quartet, which has reached the district round of the state contest, also offered one number. The vocal department was represented by James Guthrie, with a baritone solo, and the boys' quartet.

A novelty on the program was a drum major's baton-twirling exhibition by Joan Meardon who will also compete at Davenport Friday.

Mrs. R. W. Poulter presided at the meeting. Refreshments served afterward were in charge of Mrs. E. C. Sarchett, Mrs. R. L. Burger, Mrs. Marion Shank and Mrs. W. C. Buckley.

Sarazen Refuses to Compete on Ryder Cup Team Until He Gets Captaincy

By PAUL MICKELSON
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (AP)—Gene Sarazen tonight fired a bombshell into the ranks of the Professional Golfers association, striking particularly at President George Jacobs by vowing he never again would compete on the American Ryder cup team because he never had been honored with the team captaincy.

as he called it quits in international pro team play competition against Great Britain he talked like a kid who had lost his best pal. Years of smouldering rage over his failure to achieve his great ambition had faded into a hurt look I never before saw on his face.

I won every worthwhile championship and I guess I did my share on every Ryder cup team we ever had. But no, Jacobs didn't see fit to let me achieve my last and profoundest ambition.

On the 35th green, I laid Percy a dead stlmie from 30 feet, but he sank his putt and forced the match to the last green. How he sank that putt Hagen and I will never know.

Sports Dinner Scheduled for May 18

All-University Banquet to Be Held in Main Lounge of Union

Armbruster Announces Plans for Event; All Campus Groups To Be Represented; Trophies Will Be Awarded

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

An all-university sports dinner, first of its kind ever held on the Iowa campus, will be held in the main lounge of the Iowa Union, May 18, it was announced yesterday by Dave Armbruster, swimming coach and director of physical education.

The dinner will bring together all University of Iowa men interested in intramural athletics and will feature a speech by some "big name" in the sports world. Trophies and medals for all winners in the different events of the intramural program during the last year will be awarded.

Athletic managers for the different groups on the campus met with Armbruster yesterday to elect committee chairmen and work out the first details of the plan. Another meeting will be held tomorrow at which time the chairmen will announce the names of the men who will work with them on their respective groups.

Ticket Sale
Tickets for the dinner will go on sale early next week. The price of the tickets will be cut to a minimum, Armbruster said, as all the expenses other than the meals themselves will be paid for from a fund already set aside.

In past years winners of the intramural awards have been given their trophies or medals at the fieldhouse and no plan of recognition has been adopted.

The dinner, according to Armbruster, will become an annual affair if successful this year, and will provide a chance for the different groups to see the trophies and develop an interest in them.

All groups on the campus will be represented at the affair. The chairmen, working under the general direction of Armbruster, will arrange for entertainment, ticket sales, music, speakers and a possible radio broadcast of the dinner.

Armbruster hopes that next year it will be possible to turn the entire program over to the students. This year he will be acting as general chairman.

Committee Chairmen
The committee chairmen elected yesterday are as follows: program and posters, Richard Heldridge, Phi Gamma Delta; speakers, James Hoak, Phi Kappa Psi; publicity, Delos Schrader, Town League; trophies, James Knipe, Beta Theta Pi; banquet arrangement, Robert Hobbs, Quad; music, Joe Lebeda, Quad; ticket sales, Ken Reid, Theta Xi; finances, Fred Grawe, Delta Chi, and radio, Ross McFadden, Sigma Chi.

Prof. Schroeder Announces Fees For Golf Players

Greens fees and dues were announced yesterday by Prof. E. G. of university and non-university golfers.

Greens fees will be 40 cents per per half day for faculty members, per half day for faculty members. For non-university people fees will amount to 50 cents except on Sundays and other holidays at which time it will be increased to one dollar.

Yearly dues for students will be $15. For faculty members dues will be $25, for faculty members and their wives they will be $30. Semester dues for students are $4, for faculty members $5, and for faculty members and their wives $7.50.

Fees for the summer will be the same as for the semester. Books of 12 tickets are being issued for the summer which will enable the student to play for $4, and the faculty for $5. These books will be good from Commencement, June 6, to final registration, September 22. Tickets are not redeemable.

No Warmup Match Scheduled for Iowa Netsters This Year

Inability to schedule Coe college for two contests has left the University of Iowa tennis team without "warm-up" affairs before the opening of Big Ten dual competition, Coach Arthur Wendler said Tuesday.

It is the first time in years that the Iowans have been forced to begin conference competition without non-conference meets. Starting April 28 at Minnesota, the teams takes on Northwestern, Chicago, Wisconsin, and Illinois within 17 days.

Indians Come Out Ahead

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—At the end of the winter sports season, Dartmouth athletes had won an "Ivy league" football championship, an Eastern intercollegiate league basketball pennant, the Quadrangular league title in hockey, and the Intercollegiate ski union championship.

Francis Heydt to Compete in National A. A. U. Swimming Meet at Columbus This Week End

Sophomore Hawk Star Will Be Lone Iowa Representative

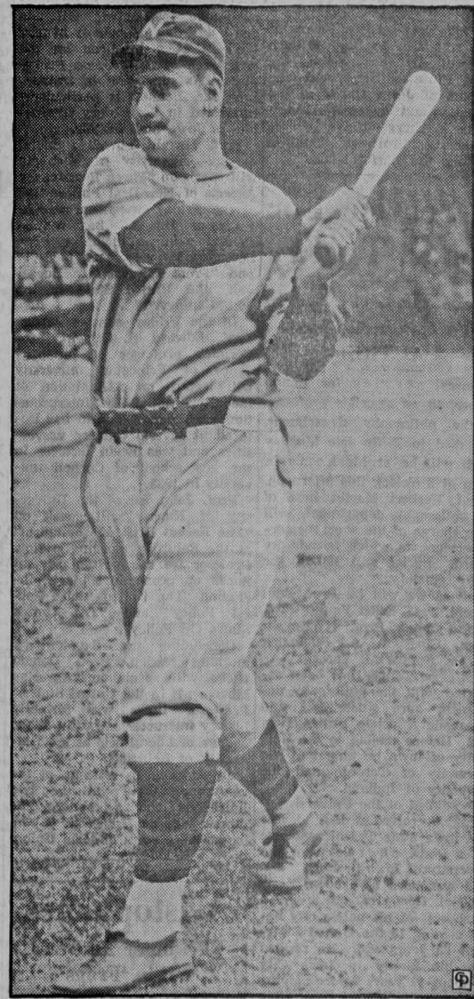

Francis Heydt, Iowa swim star, who finished second in the 150-yard back stroke at the N.C.A.A. championships last week at New Brunswick, N. J., will leave today for Columbus, Ohio, scene of the national A.A.U. swimming championships being held Friday and Saturday.

Heydt, along with Christians and Allen, established a new university record in the 300-yard medley relay event last Saturday while swimming an exhibition event for the fans attending the State Y.M.C.A. meet in the fieldhouse pool.

Heydt's time of 59 7-10 seconds for the 100-yard distance in the record-breaking relay event was plenty good enough to warrant hopes of a good showing in the national meet.

May Surprise
On his seasons record, Heydt should cause the other paddlers plenty of grief in his favorite event. He may not finish first as the competition will be the toughest encountered this year, but he will cause the other hopefuls plenty of anxious moments during the course of the event, and with a break or two may provide an upset.

His Bat Is Senators' Hope

Zeke Bonura... that bat is the key! The booming bludgeon of Zeke Bonura, first baseman obtained from the White Sox in a trade for Joe Kuhel, may blast down the barrier between the Washington Senators and the first division this year. Bonura is the right-handed power hitter that Clark Griffith has been seeking for several years.

Teddy's Count Will Be Out Of Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 5 (AP)—One top flight Kentucky Derby candidate was reliably reported today to be out of the race and three other candidates arrived at Churchill Downs to begin training on the track where the classic will be run May 7.

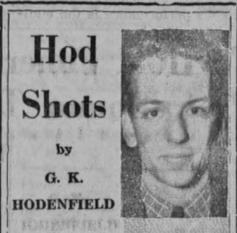

Teddy's Count, a Valdina farms' three-year-old is suffering from a torn ankle ligament and will be returned to Texas to rest instead of facing the derby barrier, informed sources reported.

The arrivals today were the Milky Way farms' Tiger and Mountain Ridge, both considered outstanding nominees for the race, and Joe Schenck, representing the Woolford farm. By virtue of his Arkansas Derby victory, Tiger drew most of the attention at the Downs.

John Shirik, Sooner sophomore heaved the discus 146 feet, 8 inches to shatter the standing meet record. A new javelin record was set by Nathan Anderson, Oklahoma, with 194 feet, 8 inches.

Ray Gahan, Oklahoma, took first in both the mile and half mile runs.

Cagers Will Play Every Big 10 Team Next Year

Hod Shots by G. K. HODENFIELD

Every team in the Western Conference will oppose the 1938-39 edition of Iowa's basketball quintet, according to the newly-adopted schedule. As in the past, each school will play 12 games but only three of the opponents will be met on a home-and-home basis, the other six playing single contests.

Iowa's two-game opponents next year will be Indiana, Minnesota and Northwestern. Single games at Iowa City will be played with Purdue, Chicago and Michigan while the single games on foreign courts will be against Ohio State, Wisconsin and Illinois.

No change will be made in the Northwestern, Indiana and Minnesota series in 1939-40 but the sites of the other six games will be reversed, Ohio State, Illinois and Wisconsin invading the Old Gold stronghold and the Hawk basketballers trekking to Michigan, Purdue and Chicago.

Dates have not yet been fixed by Commissioner John Griffith and will probably be released in June. The schedule will mark the first time in the history of the Big Ten conference that each university will play each of the other nine at least once in basketball.

Harris Predicts 10 More Wins for Nats

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of Washington ventures the prediction the Senators will win 10 games more than last season. That's as strong as he'll go.

He figures there are five strong clubs (not the Browns or the A's) he'll have to whip. Bucky doesn't say the Senators will finish fourth or fifth. But he figures the league will be tighter and other clubs won't win as many as they did last season. So with fewer wins for his rivals and 10 more for the Nats, Washington might possibly squeeze into the first division.

Oklahoma Wins From Nebraska As Marks Fall

NORMAN, Okla., April 5 (AP)—Four meet records fell and one was tied today as the University of Oklahoma track team defeated the University of Nebraska, 71 to 60.

Tim Finley, Sooner sophomore, high scorer for the dual meet, won the 440-yard dash in 48.9 seconds, a new meet record, and scored a surprise victory over Nebraska's Bob Simmons, Big Six outdoor and indoor quarter-mile champion.

Ernest Haskell, Oklahoma, ripped off a record-tying 9.7 seconds in the century dash. Bob Neuman, Nebraska, hung up a new mark in the pole vault at 12 feet, 10 1-2 inches. Neuman also took first in the broad jump.

John Shirik, Sooner sophomore heaved the discus 146 feet, 8 inches to shatter the standing meet record. A new javelin record was set by Nathan Anderson, Oklahoma, with 194 feet, 8 inches.

Iowa to Meet Indiana, N.W., Gophers Twice

Chicago, Wolverines & Purdue Also Play At Iowa City

Every team in the Western Conference will oppose the 1938-39 edition of Iowa's basketball quintet, according to the newly-adopted schedule. As in the past, each school will play 12 games but only three of the opponents will be met on a home-and-home basis, the other six playing single contests.

20 Dives Old Rivalry Features April 29 Meet

SAN FRANCISCO—Twenty splashes in the water of San Francisco's Fairmont plunge on April 29 will decide one of the keenest diving rivalries in sports history.

Pretty Marjorie Gestring of Los Angeles is indisputably women's springboard champion of the United States.

But each time she meets up-and-coming Helen Crlenkovich of San Francisco, the youngster comes closer to stealing her laurels. When they met last—at the Far Western championships at Tempe, Ariz.—only a third of a point separated them in scores that ran into the 130s. It was that close.

Learned In Two Years
Seventeen-year-old Helen, who has just been graduated from high school with honors, has been diving only two years. She has been entirely under the tutelage of Phil Patterson, the man who uses a ship-to-shore telephone to coach his divers to show up their faults.

She won the national junior championship last year, but in the seniors she placed fourth behind Marjorie Gestring, Arlita Smith and Claudia Eckert. Since then Miss Crlenkovich has shown such beautiful form that people would write poetry about her if there was any word that rhymed with her name.

Promote Iowa

If Dave Armbruster can do as much for intramural athletics as he has done for swimming on the Iowa campus, the all-university sports dinner which is planned for next month is sure to be a success.

The idea back of the dinner is to promote intramural athletics for the students. Instead of "selling" the university to the people over the state as is the case when the members of the coaching staff make trips to speak at high school football dinners, etc., the idea is to put Iowa across to the students themselves.

It is a very commendable plan and should get a good backing from the students. There is no reason why the Union shouldn't be packed for the affair. If every fraternity, Quad section, cooperative dormitory and Town League group responds as they ought, it should soon be a tradition here. And traditions are something that Iowa could use in great quantities.

Chitter-Chatter

It has been reliably reported that an ex-Iowa City business man will soon take over the duties of line coach at Coe college in Cedar Rapids. Ted Prese has shown lots of improvement this year and may make the grade as a starting pitcher for the Iowa baseball team before long. To bear out my contention that intercollegiate boxing is a paying proposition, 14,250 fans watched the match between Wisconsin and Washington State at Madison recently. Ken Reid and Howard Miller, the two injured members of the Iowa baseball team are expected to be ready for the trip south this weekend. Rollie Williams and "Popsy" Harrison aren't any too pleased over Iowa's basketball schedule for next year. Minnesota and Indiana are reported to have the best prospects in years and Iowa plays both schools in a home and home series.

HOT NEWS From The Grapefruit League

Browns Preparing For Cub Series
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 5 (AP)—The Browns had no exhibition game scheduled for today but they worked hard brushing up for the coming of their first big league rivals, the Chicago Cubs, who open a series of six games here Friday.

The St. Louis Americans have won 15 straight in the Grapefruit circuit, and Manager Gabby Street is beginning to worry about overconfidence. "But they're going to be tough, no matter who they're playing," he added.

Cubs Get Edge On White Sox

BISBEE, Ariz., April 5 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs increased their trailing series edge over their city rivals to two games today by defeating the White Sox, 6-1. Tex Carleton and Charley Root kept seven Sox safeties scattered.

Behind Carleton, who yielded four hits in his five innings on the mound, the Cubs completed three double plays. Carl Reynolds and Phil Cavarretta, with doubles, and Billy Herman, who slammed his fourth training season home run, led the Cub attack.

Wilson Pitches As Philadelphia Wins

MONROE, La., April 5 (AP)—With Manager Jimmy Wilson pitching the ninth inning, the Philadelphia Nationals won an easy 11 to 4 victory over the Monroe club of the Cotton States League here today.

Wilson, in addition to committing a balk, yielded three hits, one a home run by Smith, that gave Monroe three runs.

'Slow Foots'

Oldtimer Ridicules '38 Speedsters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Forty-two years ago a giant young baseball player named Bill Lange stole 100 bases for the Chicago Cubs.

He isn't worried about his feat being bettered or even duplicated as the ballyhoo drums begin to beat in the 1938 season.

Lange says the player of today thinks too much in terms of home runs and not enough of the pilfered bag.

"Our boys are developing into a bunch of slow-foots," he says. "The slugger has supplanted the thinker in baseball. Base stealing makes a player more mentally alert. He has to try to outguess the pitcher and the rest of the opposition."

"As a rule the superior base stealer also is the brainier player. One of your illustrations is Ty Cobb, the greatest we ever had. Cobb was my favorite player. He was worth more to a team than half a dozen Babe Ruths."

It is a coincidence that Lange, in his day considered the outstanding player in the game, and the immortal Ty Cobb now are neighboring country squires near here.

Lange, a prosperous realtor and trustee for several estates, was a star for seven years, from 1893 to 1899. He quit the game in his prime, first famous major-leaguer to hang up his glove just when he stood on the threshold of baseball immortality.

Basketball Coaches Approve Elimination of Center Jump, But Advocate Plans to Put 'Brakes' on Game

Mentors Recommend Longer Rest Period During Time Out

Changes Also Requested In Three Second Ruling

By EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—Basketball, which roared into high speed this past season with its center jump relegated to the junk pile, may get the "brakes" next winter.

Coaches of the National association, making recommendations to the association's national rules committee, voted "general approval" today to the center jump elimination. At the same time, however, they advocated two rule changes which would slightly slow down the game and give players longer and more rest periods.

By a vote of 71 to 1 coaches recommended that the rules body, which will meet here tomorrow, increase from one to two minutes the length of time out periods, on a 55 to 71 ballot, the court mentors recommended that five time out periods instead of four be permitted.

The action was viewed by some coaches as an answer to criticism that elimination of the center jump resulted in too fast a pace during the 1937-38 season. The no-center jump rule, except at the start of the game and at the half, was not discussed and coaches voted to continue with the regulation at least another season.

Holman Has Suggestion
On motion of Nat Holman of the City college of New York, the mentors recommended a change in the "3 second" rule which is expected, if authorized by the rules body, to aid the offense.

Under present regulations, players may not remain in the free throw circle and lane longer than three seconds, with or without the ball in their possession. Coaches recommended that a player without the ball be permitted to remain in the outer half of the free throw circle for any length of time. For the inner half and the remainder of the lane, the old rule would apply, as it would for the outer half of the circle should a player have possession.

W. S. Chandler of Marquette university, Milwaukee, was elevated to the association presidency, succeeding George R. Edwards of Missouri. B. T. Grover of Ohio university was named first vice-president, while second and third vice-presidents, respectively were Holman and J. W. Bunn, Stanford university. Nels Norgren of Chicago was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding Bunn.

Race Between Premier Milers Is Improbable

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Prospects for an outdoor mile race this summer between Glenn Cunningham and Sydney Woodersen, who holds the accepted world record of 4:06.4, were virtually wiped out today when the British Amateur Athletic association declined an invitation to have Woodersen, A. G. Brown and James Alford race in this country. The invitation had been extended by the National A. A. U.

The British A. A. A. said that a heavy international program would make it impossible for the runners to accept. Brown, a member of the 1936 Olympic team, is a quarter-miler and half-miler who competed here last year with the Oxford-Cambridge team. Alford, a Welshman, won the British Empire games mile in 4:11.6 at Sydney, Australia, in February.

Meanwhile Asa Bushnell, director of the central office for eastern intercollegiate athletics who had planned to bring Woodersen and Cunningham together in the Princeton invitation meet June 18, said he was "hopeful that the British officials may change their minds within the next two months."

Irish Thinclads Enter Meet At Mechanicsville

Coach Louis Loria's hopes for scoring points in the Mechanicsville Relays Saturday were strengthened last night as two more tracksters turned out for the St. Patrick's thinclad team. Hod Demery and Glen Fitzpatrick, on their first night out proved their broad jumping and high jumping abilities as they leaped over 19 feet and cleared the high bar well over the five foot mark.

Hampered by an unusually small squad, Coach Loria has not scheduled any dual meets but expects to take his individual stars to a number of invitational meets where they might gain experience for the future. As yet Loria has been unable to organize a relay team, but expects to have one in order by Saturday.

In the 440 yard dash, Red Miller has turned in the best performances with Jim Daley a shade behind him. Bruce Beasley is the Southsiders' chief hope in the weight events. He has been heaving the shot around 37 feet, and with a little practice should hurl the discus over the 100 foot mark.

Junior Bradley is the best man in the hurdles, having reached the semifinals in the National Catholic track meet at Notre Dame last year. He is also being counted upon to score points in the high jump.

Hacker Throws 'Indian Buck' In Rough Contest

Buss Hacker of Lone Tree, after losing the first fall to his opponent, "Indian" Buck of Washington, came back to win the next two falls and the match in a contest that was by far the roughest of any presented in the K. P. hall to date.

The Indian used everything but a tomahawk on Hacker to pin him in eight minutes for the first fall. It was some time before the referee, who was the recipient of much mental and physical abuse during the course of the evening, could untangle them.

Hacker threw Buck all over the ring with a series of body slams, climaxed with a body press, to take the second fall after only four minutes of action.

A combination arm lock and body press put the Indian on his back and brought the match to a close after nine minutes of the third fall.

The semi-final, a 60-minute three fall affair was called a draw and the belligerents, Tony Churney and Kid Gaddis, were satisfied to let it go as such as both of them had taken a rather thorough going over during the match. A fifteen-minute, one fall match between Andy Lencer and Arnold Rarrick was called a draw. The referee should have been declared the winner in this bout as he was on the receiving end of several attacks launched by both boys, but he could take it and he was still in there pitching when the last event was run off.

The first preliminary, a three-round boxing go between Lawrence Christenson and Mickey Ford, lightweight, also ended in a draw with no damage being done to either of the men.

St. Mary's Nine Goes Hitless In Losing to Lone Tree Club, 7-0

Hudachek Whiffs 16 Men While Shutting Out Locals

Playing its first game of the season in cold, bone-chilling weather, the St. Mary's baseball nine, coached by Loren Schultz, went hitless as it dropped a 7 to 0 decision to Lone Tree yesterday afternoon on the Lone Tree diamond.

While the Ramblers were unable to chalk up a single safety, their opponents made good use of their four hits, getting four runs in the first inning. Lone Tree counted one run in each of the three following stanzas to bring the scoring to a close.

Hudachek, winning pitcher, turned in a good hurling exhibition as he whiffed 16 of the Marian batsmen in the course of the game. Virgil Amelon, Iowa City's ace pitcher, whittled down 13 hitters of the opposing club.

Yesterday's game, the first of the season for both teams, gave the coaches of the respective teams an opportunity to see their men in action and determine what departments are in need of polishing.

County Champs

The Lone Tree outfit, made up of the same men who grabbed off the county baseball championship last year, lived up to pre-game expectations as it controlled the game throughout.

This year's edition of a St. Mary's diamond team, under the tutelage of a new mentor, marks the second stage in the revival of baseball at the local school. Although Coach Schultz has a group of inexperienced men to work with, the Ramblers show possibilities of developing into a smooth-working contingent.

Name Chamber of Commerce to Coordinate Centennial Plans

Clubmen Urge Plans Be Made For 1940 Fete

Professor Louis Pelzer Explains Various Plans in Iowa

The Iowa City Chamber of Commerce was designated last night to work with local civic organizations in the setting of a future date for the discussion of a city centennial celebration to be held here in 1940. The appointment was made at the conclusion of a meeting of representatives of local fraternal, civic and service organizations in the city council chambers.

By a vote of 12 to 10, the group disapproved of a Fourth of July celebration here in 1938 to commemorate the Iowa territorial centennial. This does not mean, however, that a city Fourth of July celebration will not be held, or that such celebration will not recognize the territorial centennial.

Robert Burlingame of Des Moines, executive secretary of the Iowa Centennial committee, was unable to attend last night's meeting because of bad road conditions.

The shortness of remaining time was the principal factor opposing the elaborate celebration which had been considered for Iowa City July 4 — a celebration which would assume state-wide significance because of the fact that the first capitol of the Iowa territory was located here.

The first Fourth of July celebration was held in the vicinity of Iowa City in 1838, Mayor Myron J. Walker, who presided at last night's meeting, pointed out.

Prof. Louis Pelzer of the history department told of plans in various sections of the state for state centennial celebrations. The Iowa Territorial Centennial committee, created at the last session of the state legislature, he said, met at various times during the summer, receiving an appropriation from the state fair board to carry on its work.

The twofold purpose of the committee's work, Professor Pelzer said, was to sponsor patriotic pride and to assist in bringing about a recognition of what Iowa really stands for through centennial celebrations in all parts of the state.

Mrs. Pelzer told of the state centennial celebration held in Madison, Wis., in 1936.

Falstaff Scores Hit in University Theater

Max Ellis Gives Excellent Performance; Play Excels Technically

By MILDRED HOLLY
Daily Iowan Campus Editor

Shakespeare came to Iowa City last night in University theater's ambitious and excellently staged production of the first part of "King Henry IV." First-nighters cordially received the comic Falstaff, the feature attraction of a play setting a new high in the theater's history in technical perfection.

Prof. E. C. Mabie was director of the play which combined all of the theater's facilities for the first time.

Max Ellis as Falstaff was all that the fun-loving and irresponsible companion of merry Prince Hal should have been. His self-absorption in the part was evident and remained at the same consistently high level throughout the play.

Whether or not the play was appreciated as it should have been is another question. The audience at last night's showing seemed more strained than the actors and unresponsive in many passages. Possibly the answer may lie in the fact that the public needs to be educated to Shakespeare.

Frequently in last night's presentation the play-goer remained conscious that the drama was in blank verse and far removed from our times. The incoherence of the story, as it skips from the palace to Eastcheap and Glendower's apartment, further aggravates this feeling.

Technically the production was excellent. The revolving stage, used for the first time, enabled the actors to interpret the action as speedily as possible. Prof. Arnold M. Gillette's settings, especially those of the battle scenes, were convincing and especially suited to the production.

Walter Fleischmann as Hotspur was outstanding although at times he allowed his "hot-headedness" to sweep him off his feet. Some of the finest scenes in the play were due to his capable performance, but in others he became less competent and overly passionate.

As Henry, Prince of Wales, Max McCullough was satisfying, although a trifle inconsistent. His attempts at humor were strained in some places, but on the whole his conception of the light-hearted prince was satisfactory.

Paul Davee as King Henry IV was almost too kindly, displaying a lack of warmth in feeling. Competent in their parts were Norman Felton as the Earl of Northumberland, Henderson Forsythe as Poins, John Gray as John of Lancaster and Joseph Becker as Earl of Worcester.

"King Henry IV" is not a play for the starring actress, with only four speaking parts. Outstanding among them were Ruth Morgan as Mistress Quickly and Helene Winterson as Lady Mortimer.

"Follies" for which Allen is seeking to collect a 10 per cent commission.

Miss Brice arrived for their interview in a Persian lamb coat and big black hat.

"Where's Billy?" someone asked.

"I'm sure I don't know," she said.

Twenty minutes later Rose appeared, puffing a cigaret.

He was very definitely going to help her in court, he said. He

In Court - But Not for Divorce

Fanny Brice, Billy Rose Stand Together On a Matter of Business

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Red-haired comedienne Fanny Brice and her husband of 11 years, Billy Rose, the producer, ignored their domestic differences temporarily today and stood together on a business matter.

At a reunion after seven months, in the matter-of-fact atmosphere of a lawyer's office, Rose arranged to be her chief witness tomorrow at trial of a $34,000 suit brought against her by Edgar Allen, theatrical booking agent.

"Hello, Fanny," Rose said when they met.

"Hello, Billy," she said, and they shook hands and started planning for their appearance in court in a casual, friendly fashion.

There was only the fact that they arrived separately, to show a rift in the Brice-Rose alliance.

Arriving from California, Miss Brice said she was "too busy" now to think about arranging a divorce from Rose who expressed a wish recently to wed Eleanor Holm, the former Olympic swimmer.

"I'll take care of Billy Rose later," she said. "Besides, I'm in no hurry to get married again."

When Rose telephoned to arrange the appointment in the law office, she greeted him with a business-like, "hello, there, how are you?"

NBC Welcomes Federal Query

Report $3,700,000 Net Profit for Last Year

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Extending a welcoming hand to a proposed federal investigation of radio broadcasting companies, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, disclosed today its own unit, the National Broadcasting Co., last year turned in a net profit of approximately $3,700,000.

Sarnoff lifted the veil on RCA's broadcasting earnings for the first time in the annual stockholders' meeting, held in one of the smart, up-to-the-minute broadcasting studios in its Rockefeller center building.

National broadcasting, he explained in reply to a shareholder's questioning, accounted for about $41,000,000 last year out of about $112,000,000 in gross income from all sources, including manufacturing and communications. Manufacturing profits, he said, were more than $3,000,000 while communications earned $1,060,000 net.

Previously the parent organization had reported consolidated 1937 net profit of $9,024,858 compared with $6,155,936 in 1936. Profit was equal to 41 cents a share on the common stock, he by 242,000 shareowners, against 20 cents in 1936.

Noting the management had been informed directly of the recent move by the federal communications commission for an inquiry into network broadcasting, with a view to monopoly aspects, the stocky executive of the big radio concern remarked:

"The management welcomes the investigation and will be glad to cooperate to the fullest extent. We have received a questionnaire from the commission calling for data which we are in process of furnishing. We have nothing to conceal."

RCA's total assets, Sarnoff observed, now are approximately 94 per cent represented by investments in the United States, although it still has patent licenses and engineering service agreements with leading companies abroad and operates on a worldwide basis.

Despite the business recession, he informed stockholders, RCA divisions remained in the black in the first three months of this year and net profits were estimated to have covered preferred dividends, leaving a small balance for the common stock.

The corporation, he said, was situated to benefit from "an upturn in general business which we hope for and expect in the course of the year."

New Committee Chairmen, Members Of Red Cross Executive Board Selected

Twelve new committee chairmen and 12 new members of the executive board for the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross were selected by Don A. Davis, chairman, at a meeting last night in the courthouse.

The chairmen are Dr. O. E. Schlanbusch, finance; David Armbruster, life saving in university; Mrs. Joseph Parizek, home hygiene and care of the sick; W. G. Hughes, highway first aid; Herman Amish, first aid in town; Emmett Gardner, home and farm accident prevention; Lieut. Col. Will J. Hayek, disaster.

Alice Clark, home service; Dr. P. C. Jeans, public health; Mrs. J. Van der Zee, coordinating council; Arthur Boss, chapter action; and Mrs. Elda Pohoff, junior Red Cross.

Members of the executive board named were Dewey Warthman, Oxford; Mrs. Elsie Spear, Oakdale; Emmet Mehafeff, North Liberty; Mrs. Charles Teister, Coralville; Mrs. Jay Baldwin, Tiffin; Delbert Hills, Hills; Mrs. Ralph Chansky, Solon; Dean Emeritus

W. J. Teeters, Mrs. Edgar Pierson, Mrs. Frank Pierson, Mrs. Robert Schell and Mrs. James Gwynne, all of Iowa City.

A second first aid station in the county will be established as soon as persons can be trained to handle it, the board decided. A site south of Iowa City on U. S. highway 213 has been selected.

It was decided that a first aid station would be placed in the city park during the Fourth of July celebration.

Badges will be given Iowa City police and firemen who complete the Red Cross first aid course, it was agreed.

A balance of $835.67 was reported in the treasury on March 31, by Mrs. Martin Pederson, director.

During the Olympic games in 1936 a German boy lit a cigarette from the last torch carried by the runners from Greece to Berlin, cycled home with it, and has ever since kept a candle burning with that same fire.

State Will Slash Relief Funds For Johnson County May 1st

Will Pay 30 Per Cent Of Costs Rather Than 40

Johnson county's state relief funds will be slashed approximately 10 per cent starting May 1, under terms of a state-wide reduction made by the Iowa Emergency Relief administration, according to a statement received by Frances Wilson, county relief director.

The state, which has been paying approximately 40 per cent of Johnson county relief costs, will now pay about 30 per cent.

Dan J. Peters, chairman of the county board of supervisors, said last night that bonds may have to be issued to cover the loss in revenue, unless relief rolls are reduced.

Starting May 1, counties will be placed on a point system to determine the need for state relief funds. Counties will be rated according to points covering five factors.

They are per capita assessed value (five parts); assessed value for average person receiving relief last year (five parts); average tax levy per $1,000 valuation (one part); amount of all bonded indebtedness in proportion to constitutional indebtedness limit (two parts) and bonded indebtedness which county must pay by direct taxes in proportion to constitutional debt limit.

State officials have credited Johnson county with 1,078 "need points." Counties are required to have 1,000 points in order to qualify for state relief aid in May. Approximately 66 counties have under 1,000 points and will not qualify.

Counties having sufficient relief funds on hand and those which have 100 per cent of their limit in outstanding bonds will not share in the $2,000,000 annual appropriation.

The fourth factor recognized primary road bonds as county debts which have always been and probably will continue to be paid out of gasoline tax and auto license fees.

In ranking the counties state relief officials rated counties on each of the five factors. Each

State Architect Meets With City Board, Civic Groups

Walter R. French, assistant state landscape architect of the state planning board, Ames, met yesterday afternoon with the Iowa City planning board and representatives of other civic groups for a discussion of plans leading to the care of trees and the beautification of Iowa City streets by planned tree planting.

The meeting centered its discussion around the need of beautifying the city, the methods of control used in other cities, the best plan for Iowa City, and the most practical means of carrying out any plan that might be agreed upon.

Opinion of the group was that a survey should be made of the number and distribution of trees already existing in the city; that control of trees in parkings and on city property should be in the hands of a permanent directing group; that ordinances should be drafted to prevent the destruction of trees except by authority of this group; that pruning and care of trees should be entrusted only to competent tree experts, and that a start be made in a small way toward a permanent tree-planting program.

It was pointed out that any plan for city beautification would depend on the cooperation and support of the public generally.

French pointed out that the work of the state planning board was largely advisory, and that the board was unable to supply detailed plans for a park system wherever one might be wanted. He complimented Iowa City on the beautifying of the river front as far as the work has gone.

He recommended American elm trees of proper quality as the best tree to be planted for street beautifying. He suggested that in a comprehensive planting program all the trees along a street be of the same kind.

Prof. W. B. Loehwing of the botany department mentioned other communities where care of trees and street beautification plans were as much a part of the municipal responsibility as waterworks or street repair. Others in the group expressed opinions that efforts should be undertaken to build up public consciousness of the importance of preserving trees now existing and to get more trees planted.

Prof. Earle L. Waterman of the college of engineering presided at the meeting, which was attended by about 15 persons. A short business session of the planning board was held after the discussion meeting.

Looking Glass Reflections

By VERA SHELTON

In selecting a complete ensemble for spring one must remember that shades of makeup must also be considered a part of the general effect.

Makeup this year will be as light as possible in keeping with the coquettish note of the season's styles. The task of choosing it is simple if one remembers that it must not only harmonize with the predominant color in the ensemble, but must also compliment the tone of the skin, and the color of the eyes and hair.

Costume shades vary from light to dark and the depth of makeup coloring should be increased with the intensity of the costume shade. The majority of new colors demand soft blue-rose shades of rouge and lipstick. Among those calling for the orange undertones are ginger browns, rusts and gold, all leaders in the accessory field.

Black is still a popular color but is now relieved by the addition of brighter trims and accessories. It is always well when wearing black to use a powder as light as possible and to select rouge and lipstick from the softer shades. If there is a bright trim on one's hat next to the face, it should be the main point of consideration in the selection of makeup.

A woman with white hair should be especially particular to avoid heavy powders and dark makeups. However, her powder should never be even a shade lighter than her skin or she will take on a chalky look.

Here are a few suggestions in color harmony for the brunet—if she is wearing one of the dark greens or medium blues, her powder should be rachel, her rouge a rose-cream with a lipstick to match. If her eyes are brown and the costume is green, brown or green eye shadow is best, but with blue, violet may give her eyes an added sparkle.

If her costume is among the rust shades, her powder will still be rachel but the rouge and lipstick will carry an orange-rose cast. If her eyes are blue, she will wear a copper eye shadow; if they are gray, it will be green. With the same rust shade the blonde will wear a cream powder, very soft orange-red rouge and lipstick, and eye shadow to harmonize with the color of her eyes.

All eyes are most alluring with violet makeup if the costume color is among the medium blues or has a purplish cast. The blonde will wear rose-cream powder and a soft rose rouge while her tiffan-haired sister will probably choose a rose-brunet powder with medium blue-rose rouge.

Gold shades call for rouge with an orange cast in all types. For green eyes, green eye shadow is best, for brown eyes, brown, and for gray eyes, a grayish green or blue.

Silver grays and darker greens in costume colors look best with powders with a rose undertone. Rouge and lipstick should be among soft rose shades except in the tiffan-haired group where the shade of hair may demand a soft orange. For these costumes, brown eyes wear violet makeup, blue eyes, blue, greenish eyes, green, and gray ones, violet.

A little experimentation before your mirror is the best way to reach perfection in makeup. Never fail to consider your costume when you dress, however, for the final picture must be one of perfect harmony.

Display Plaques For Winners Of Center Contests

Five plaques given at the Recreational center to winter tournament winners are on display in Bremer's window. The plaques, made at the center, are for three free throw contests, a pool tournament and a ping-pong tournament.

Williams outlined plans for a volleyball tournament in the near future. There will be leagues for both junior and senior players. Boys from eight to 14 are in the junior division, he said. The senior group includes boys 18 years old.

Parents Often Are Poor Critics Of Children's Entertainment

NEW YORK—An adult doesn't mince words when he's criticizing a performance of Shakespeare, but when he takes his child to a marionette show, he doesn't know the good from the bad.

Marionettes interest children, he argues; therefore they must be all right.

But there are good and bad marionette performances, says Mrs. Dorothy L. McFadden, head of Junior Programs, Inc., who isn't a bit patient with adults who can't recognize an artistic production when they see one.

"You'd be astonished at the amount of second-rate entertainment that is passed off on children," said this energetic woman who is herself the mother of two children, "and all because their elders don't know any better."

Mrs. McFadden has some pretty definite ideas about the kinds of entertainment that please children. She says it isn't entirely the simplest kinds—a questionnaire showed her that each kind of program presented in a typical town received an equal number of votes from the children concerned.

Children like movies, ballet performances, plays and even travel talks—if well illustrated. But they like variety. And they like familiar productions.

Junior Programs sends information material to its child audiences well in advance so they can know something about the play before they see it. Schools like this material, too. An advance notice of an Indian play was the signal for all kinds of Indian projects in one group of history classes. The children were keyed up to the event when the day finally came.

Surprisingly enough, reports Mrs. McFadden, children often put in a request for Shakespearean productions, so the classics aren't on the black list after all. But Mrs. McFadden doesn't feel that children must necessarily have the classics. Much excellent drama is being written for children today, she says.

But if educators—here Mrs. McFadden made a face—tell the children that certain performances are "good for them," they might as well be issuing a command NOT to attend.

Entertainment must be advertised in the guise of fun, not education. A seven-year-old knows that castor oil is good for him. His

'Magic in the Garden'

Wizard Completely Rebuilds Famed New York Arena in 90 Minutes

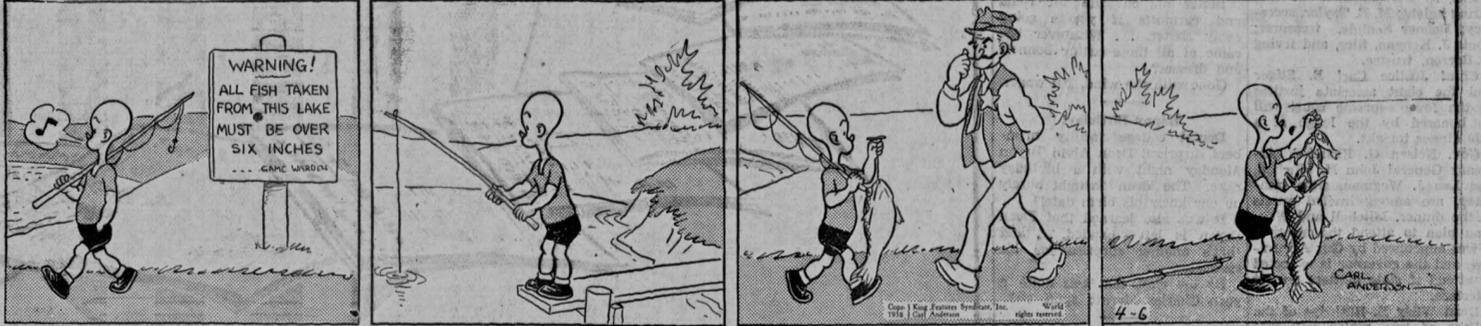

By DILLON GRAHAM
 AP Feature Service Writer
 NEW YORK — There's a wizard performing miracles at Madison Square Garden without a magician's license.
 "We caught his act the other day."
 Without reaching up his sleeve a single time, this scenic artisan transformed the Garden, New York's sport palace, from a boxing arena to a wintry ice-skating and skiing paradise.
 He can doll up that block-big hollow square until it looks like home, sweet home, for any sport.
 Jim McNally is a powerful man, a chunky, pipe-smoking six-footer plus whose art causes 2,000,000 spectators to wonder every year.
 He's the original night-lifer of Manhattan. McNally has been doing his stunts from midnight to dawn ever since Roosevelt I stormed San Juan hill. Jim builds and tears down all night and never finds a bed until the sun hits the canyon that is Broadway.
 In less time than you can ferry out to the Statue of Liberty he'll change the Garden from an ice skating ring to a festooned dance ballroom.
Close Squeak
 He's puffing a little when he finishes a trick like that. He did it the other afternoon, taking hold as Sonja Henie's ice-skating show finished at 4:30. At 6 he opened the gates for the Policeman's ball.
 "That was figuring the minutes pretty close," he explains. "We had to defrost the ice, crack it and truck it away; dry the concrete floor and wax it, and tack up the incidentals."
 On comparatively short notice McNally can prepare the Garden for any of these events: Boxing matches, dog shows, wrestling bouts, rodeos, ice-skating carnivals, circuses and rodeos.

After the show ends at midnight, McNally has to dismantle the ski jump, remove the snow and stage a hockey game by the next noon.
Before Crowds Leave
 Before the big fight crowds are hardly out of the arena, McNally has the floor cooling for the tomorrow's ice hockey games. There are 13 miles of pipe underneath the concrete. It freezes the floor to an 18-degree temperature. It requires 68 truck loads to haul the ice away.
 Down in the basement of the Garden he has tons of sand buried, enough to furnish a 6-inch floor cover for the horse shows, circus and rodeo.
 It takes a good day's work to lay the wooden track for either a track meet or a 6-day bicycle race. Carpenters are kept busy building shutters and stalls for the rodeo.
 Almost every night Jim has to have the Garden ready for a different show. He's a family man, but he seldom gets to his Long Island home, six miles away. He didn't see his fireside from November to last April.

Unless you know your stuff, don't start talking politics or world affairs with John Goltman of the I.C.L. and P. Co., or Al Miller and George Hunter of Montgomery Ward and Co.

They really are interested in it. . .

The Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the Iowa away-from-home Big 10 basketball broadcasts, was so pleased with the WSUI staff's work, they presented awards last night.

The junior chamber has sponsored the telegraphic reports for several years, and I for one, hope they'll be presented again next winter. . .

NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK

$50,000,000 IN USED CAR SALES IN ONE WEEK!

There was a Big selling job to do and NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING DID IT

Early in 1938 the automotive industry had a major problem on its hands. Production was off. New car sales were low. Prospects for Spring, normally the peak season in automobile sales, were discouraging.

The underlying cause of all this was that the automobile dealers had too many used cars in stock . . . for dealers can't sell new cars when they are overburdened with used cars.

The problem, therefore, was to sell the used cars—and to sell them fast.

To solve the problem the automobile manufacturers of the United States called upon the selling power of newspaper advertising. They instituted a National Used Car Exchange Week, March 5 to 12. They appropriated $1,250,000 for one week's advertising. They invested the bulk of this money in newspaper space throughout the country. They enlisted the active cooperation of the automobile dealers.

And what happened? In one week's time $50,000,000 worth of used cars were sold. Dealers' used car stocks were greatly reduced. In some cities the week ended with a shortage . . . and dealers began to advertise that they wanted to buy used cars.

And that's not all. The used car campaign in newspapers caused an immediate increase in new car sales; cleared the way for still greater sales for Spring; pointed to a definite upturn in car production; put new life in the automotive industry; brought millions of dollars into circulation.

What does it all mean? It means one more dramatic and convincing proof of what has been proven so many times before: when there is a real selling job to be done, newspaper advertising can be counted upon to do it . . . quickly, tangibly, directly, economically . . . for automobile advertisers, or for any other advertiser.
