Ireland, Britain Settle Troubles

Three Months Session Ends In Agreement

Believe Some Objections Untouched; Reach Trade Accord

LONDON, April 22 (AP)—Britain and Ireland today reached an agreement on long-standing differences. Details were withheld by the dominions office which announced conclusion of the accord after three months of arduous negotiations headed by Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Ireland. De Valera who came to London Jan. 17 to open the conferences will return with his ministerial colleagues to sign the document with British leaders Monday. Observers believed the agreement covered only the high spots of the differences between Britain and the former Irish Free State. They were of the opinion that many important matters were left for subsequent solution. But the fact de Valera shelved his bitter, long-standing feud with the United Kingdom to reach the agreement made it the most important development in their relations since the partition of all Ireland in 1922. (Under the 1922 partition, the then Irish Free State was given the same constitutional status in the British Commonwealth of Nations as the self-governing dominions. The six Ulster counties of northern Ireland continued under a separate parliament set up in 1920.) It was regarded certain that de Valera had been frustrated in his dream for a united Ireland, at least for the present. A trade agreement and possibly an understanding on some problems of finance and defense were believed to be the original results of the prolonged Anglo-Irish conversations. Deadlock was reached on some of the vital phases of the talks. Chamberlain declined to force northern Ireland into a union with Ireland and as a countermeasure it was believed de Valera refused to make some concessions on defense demanded by Britain.

War Ends Troops Demonstrate To Students

OVERLIN, Ohio, April 22 (AP)—A 24-hour war demonstration abruptly ended on the peaceful Oberlin college campus today and President Kenneth Brown of Hillman (Ohio) college told students their attitude contrasted sharply with that of 1917. Dr. Brown, in crowded Finney chapel, said the World War idea that it is glorious to die for one's country has been replaced with the slogan: "It's a dirty job but it's got to be done." National guardsmen were brought to the campus, replacing annual peace-day talks, to demonstrate war's stringencies and horrors. Students were recruited and drilled and all lights were ordered off for a mock air raid. Dr. Brown held that the mobilization was significant because it brought "realization that our national program of peace effort is not sufficiently realistic, intelligent or potent for our national needs; and demonstration is significant which raises in you the determination to work out, through the best thought of this and other campuses, a worthier program."

Dionnes Again Ask Custody Of Five Little Girls

OTTAWA, April 22 (Canadian Press)—Reunion of the Dionne quintuplets with their family was said today by Henri St. Jacques, attorney for Oliva Dionne, to be the motive behind his request for a judicial investigation of their guardianship. St. Jacques, who announced last night that in acting in behalf of the quintuplets' father he had asked for an inquiry, said Dionne would seek to regain custody of the five little girls, taken out of his hands two months after their birth nearly four years ago. He said their father wanted them to be with their seven brothers and sisters and wanted control of their education, but would agree to leave their financial affairs in the hands of the board of guardians.

Iowa City Debaters Win Way To Semi-Finals of Tournament

Iowa City high school by winning six out of eight debates won the way to compete in the class A semi-finals of the high school forensic league tournament here, as the judges announced the winners last night. Other winners in class A debate are Burlington, winning all eight debates; Oelwein and Abraham Lincoln high school of Council Bluffs, both winning six out of eight debates. The four schools will compete in the semi-finals this morning at 8 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. Winners in the four fields of junior college competition were also announced last night as the second day of the forensic tournament. (See DEBATE, page 6)

Win in Extempore Speaking Contest

Winners of the high school extempore speaking contest for class A high schools are shown above following the competition yesterday noon. Herbert Lefler of Ft. Dodge, left, is first place winner in the contest, and Howard Sacks of Central high school in Sioux City, right, won second place. The three-day forensic tournament for Iowa high schools and junior colleges will end today.

Board Seeks New Space for Students After Fire Razes High School Building

FAIRFIELD, Ia., April 22 (AP)—The Fairfield school board searched the town tonight for suitable school space for 500 high school students left without classrooms by a fire which razed the high school building early yesterday morning. Board members said the building—a total loss—along with equipment was valued at $250,000. Insurance probably will cover 90 per cent of the loss, the board reported. The fire was discovered by two CCC boys returning to their camp. Firemen were called at about 1:30 a.m., but could not bring the blaze under control and summoned help from Ottumwa. A brisk north wind fanned the flames, which Fire Chief Truman Rowley said apparently started in the northeast corner of the second floor of the three-story building. Excavation work had just been started on an addition to the building which was to cost $85,000.

Express Fear for 75; Three Known to Be Dead as Result Of Dust Explosion in Mine

Find Three Bodies At Mouth of Mine Badly Maimed

GRUNDY, Va., April 22 (AP)—Three persons were known to be dead and fear was expressed for the safety of an estimated 75 more in what was described as a dust explosion at 4:45 p.m. today at the Keene mountain mine of the Red Jacket coal company near here. Three others, whose names were not immediately known, were taken to the Grundy hospital, seriously injured. An undetermined number of others suffered lesser injuries. Those killed were outside but near the mouth of the mine when the explosion occurred, Hobard Harman, mine foreman and Buchanan county justice of the peace, said. All three bodies were maimed beyond recognition and two were decapitated. So violent was the blast, Harman said, that he with others felt the explosion 1,400 yards away on the Grundy-Raven road. A house near the mouth of the mine was blown to bits and three eight-ton electric motors used for hauling coal cars were blown from the mouth of the shaft down the mountainside. Harman said he saw timber "just raining" after the blast. Dewey Runyan, Tipton foreman, estimated between 50 and 75 miners were in the shaft when the explosion occurred. State Police Sergeant P. L. Spranger of Roanoke, who was at a filling station on the highway near the mine, hurried to the scene. He said miners were calmly helping rescue crews to open the blocked shaft, early tonight.

Strikers Continue To Occupy School In Grimes Flareup

GRIMES, Ia., April 22 (AP)—School strikers occupied the Grimes school building for the second consecutive night tonight. The school board remained silent on the pupils' demand for the rehiring of Andrew (Danny) Crawford, high school instructor and athletic coach. Meanwhile, pupils delivered to the board a petition signed by many of the town's residents asking that Crawford be granted another contract. Pupils paraded through town again today carrying banners and placards stating their demands for Crawford's retention. The doors of the school were barred to teachers and school board members yesterday and today.

Committee Agrees to Retain Profits Tax for Next Two Years

Presenting Miss Iowas of 1939

The six Hawkeye beauties of 1939, who were presented last night at the Junior Prom, are shown in a flowery huddle at the Prom. These six women were chosen by Cecil B. DeMille, Hollywood producer, from the 35 candidates as the best representatives of beauty on the university campus. Although the entire list of candidates was announced several weeks ago the winners were not known until they were presented

Vote of Joint Group Breaks Tight Deadlock

Corporation Tax Scale Set; Capital Gains Levy Favored

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A tight senate-house deadlock over repeal of the undistributed profits tax broke today with a decision by a joint conference committee to retain a modified version of the levy for two years. The conference group, composed of representatives of the two chambers, agreed on a scale of corporation income tax rates ranging from 16 1/2 to 19 per cent, depending upon the amount of profits a corporation distributes to its shareholders. The house had approved a 16 to 20 per cent undistributed profits tax rate. The senate had voted to discard such levies and substitute a flat rate of 18 per cent on corporation income. Under both the house and senate bills, special treatment was provided for corporations with income of $25,000 and less. The conference committee voted today to accept house provisions exempting such corporations from the profits levy, and imposing instead rates ranging from 12 1/2 to 16 per cent, depending upon the amount of income. Senate provisions for capital gains taxes were approved in substance by the conference group. The hot fight over the undistributed profits levy had arrayed business spokesmen against it and had drawn a statement from President Roosevelt endorsing the levy.

Liberal Meet May Result in Third Party

Continue Free Press Campaign

Right Is Blocked to Governmental Dictatorship Declares Society

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors voted unanimously today to "carry on a constant campaign" for popular support for a free press. "Unfortunately all citizens do not think through the meaning of a free press," said a restatement of the society's aims and ideals, adopted at its annual convention. "Too many regard it as merely the profitable privilege of publishers, instead of the right of all the people and the chief institution of representative government. A free press is that privilege of citizenship which makes governmental dictatorship impossible. When editors fight for the liberty to speak and to write, they fight for the greatest of all human rights under government. He is not thoughtful who cannot see that democracy cannot exist except through the maintenance of a channel through which information can flow freely from the center of government to all the people and through which praise and criticism can flow freely from the people to the center."

LOPEZ LOSES Station Bans Variations Of Anthem

PHILADELPHIA, April 22 (AP)—Vincent Lopez' new version of the "Star Spangled Banner," eliminating some of the high notes, was banned today by a Philadelphia radio station (WCAU). "We would no more permit an unfamiliar version to be broadcast than we would display a new and unauthorized American flag," Stan Lee Broza, program director, said. The orchestra leader's version was designed to make the national anthem easier to sing.

Japan Makes Panay Payment

TOKYO, April 22 (AP)—One of the gravest international incidents of the Chinese-Japanese war, the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay, was closed officially today when Japan gave the United States a check for $2,214,007.36. The check, handed to Eugene H. Dooman, counselor of the American embassy, by Seijiro Yoshizawa, director of the bureau of American affairs, paid in full the claims submitted by the United States a month ago today. Today's payment covered loss of the Panay and the Standard Oil vessels, compensation for the death of two of the Panay's crew and the captain of one of the Standard Oil boats, compensation for injury to 74 persons aboard the vessels, and loss of personal effects and ship's equipment. The United States did not ask for punitive damages.

United States Neutral Policy Toward Spain Will Continue

F. Roosevelt Indicates Satisfaction With Present Act

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Informed officials concluded from President Roosevelt's statements at a press conference today that the United States neutrality policy toward the Spanish civil war would continue in effect. Many delegations representing supporters of the Barcelona government have come to Washington recently, seeking a change in the program so as to permit the shipment of arms to the government forces. Arms shipments to both Spanish factions are forbidden under the present policy. The president, in reply to a question as to whether he thought the neutrality policy as applied to Spain had been satisfactory, said he thought it had been so far as was possible under the law. The president said the neutrality act had a two-fold objective: to keep the United States from becoming involved in a war, and to avoid giving aid to one side against the other or penalizing one side as opposed to the other. Persons close to the state department said that neither the president nor Secretary Hull was satisfied with the act as it stood, but they did not favor its repeal. Their lack of satisfaction, it was said, was based on the theory that it tied the administration's hands too closely and did not permit the freedom of action necessary to delicate international situations. Asked whether it was possible under the neutrality act to embargo arms shipments to Italy and Germany, the president replied that it was not, any more than to Britain and France.

YOUNGSTER Bridegroom, 100, Takes Bride of 80

GIRARDOT, Colombia, April 22 (AP)—Joaquin Cuellar, 100-year-old workman, and Senorita Maria Molano, 80, were married today. "I never felt younger in my life," said the bridegroom as the couple left for a honeymoon.

Boy Describes Killing Mother

CHICAGO, April 22 (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Teddy Danielson today told how he slew his crippled mother with a bread knife, but he confessed with trembling lips that he did not know why he drove the nine-inch blade into her throat. Pale and nervous, he related his story from the witness stand in a court room teeming with spectators who sensed the drama of his trial on murder charges. He recalled how he found his mother making a pie in their kitchen last March 3 and how he informed her he had played hockey from high school. "She grabbed me by the face and shoulders and shook me," he said in a recital interrupted by tears. "She scratched my face." "Did she hit you?" asked Defense Attorney Leonard Reid. "I was too excited to notice." "Do you remember what happened then?" The slender lad, pictured by character witnesses as an "average boy," hesitated. Then he spoke: "I think I must have struck her with the knife."

Governor Has Railroad Plan To Make Jobs

MADISON, April 22 (AP)—Governor Philip F. LaFollette tonight issued a call for a meeting of liberals in Madison, Wis., next Thursday night which may be the forerunner of a national third party. The governor announced the meeting in the last of four radio speeches in which he called for organized public action to rout the depression, and for the third time rapped the trend of the Roosevelt administration's recovery policies. 3000 Invited LaFollette said he had invited between 3,000 and 4,000 persons with whom he had talked in the last three months. At a press conference, the governor said he expected the attendance would be mainly from the Midwest but there might be others from eastern states, including New York. He refused to divulge any names. The governor was non-committal on whether he would seek a fourth term or run for the United States senate. Possibility of a third party in 1940 led observers to speculate whether he might devote his time to new party organization work. Raps Production Slash LaFollette praised the "brilliant leadership" of the Roosevelt administration for showing the necessity for organized teamwork, but said: "Instead of organized action to produce more, the main line has been organized action to produce less—on the one hand a policy of restricting production on the farm and in the factory, and on the other hand keeping millions of people out of production through relief, doles and made-work."

Charges Made Against Guffey

PHILADELPHIA, April 22 (AP)—A call for an investigation by G-men arose today above a cross-fire of charges in the democratic factional fight of Pennsylvania's primary election campaign. John B. Kelly, chairman of the Philadelphia democratic organization, accused Senator Joseph F. Guffey, of political coercion among WPA workers in Pennsylvania. The telegraphed appeal by Kelly to the president topped a day highlighted also by these developments: 1. Attorney General Charles J. Morgenthau, candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, made ready to investigate the State Authority which is spending $65,000,000 on new state construction. 2. Governor George H. Earle, campaigning for the democratic nomination for the United States senate at the May 17 primary, declined comment on the investigation—which was asked by his opponent, Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia.

UNDERSTUDY Zion Girl Makes News In Prize Design

ZION, Ill., April 22 (AP)—Irene Smith, 12, won a $1 prize today for drawing the best design for Zion's automobile tax sticker—and her picture was "big news" here. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer of this religious community, has long contended the world was flat. Irene's design portrayed the world as a huge globe with a small dot marking the location of Zion.

judge. Hence, much effort is being turned toward the arts today. Educators are realizing that college graduates should have a sense of the artistic in order to be well-rounded personalities.

Cultural education is receiving a great impetus on the Iowa campus through Union Board's student salon of art. Students are being urged to do original work as well as to appreciate objects of art. Such a step in building up artistic values on the campus is to be commended as a move forward in comprehensive education.

Out-Slicking The Slicker

WHAT A joy it is to that naive multitude of us who inhabit the great prairie west of New York to learn that the city slicker no longer wastes his time on the visiting stranger with hayseed in his hair. He has found the perfect "sucker" on his own doorstep—in the person of the typical New Yorker!

Contrary to common belief, J. C. Furnas reports that the average New Yorker is almost unsurpassably gullible for the simple reason that he thinks he knows all the answers, whereas the unsophisticated out-of-towner, on the other hand, is protected by his hard shell of suspicion. "They have read and heard so much about the creeping perils of the big city that they won't buy so much as a sight unseen package of gum from a subway slot-machine because it may have been doped by the gang that has been trailing them ever since they left the hotel," says Furnas. "Even the slickest chump-skinner can do little with a man who only lays his ears back and clutches at his wallet every five seconds."

That the native New Yorker cannot resist the opportunity to "get in on something good" is due, it seems, to his cynical conviction that everybody has a racket and he might as well get in on one too. The majority of those victimized are people lured into the trap by the idea that they will be putting one over on somebody else, people who leave themselves wide open in their anxiety to help fleece some supposedly innocent bystander.

But behind all this is the New Yorker's mistaken belief that he is immune to the chump-hunters. "He likes to think of himself as the quintessence of an urban wise guy," says Furnas; "to think that these multitudinous rackets are come-ons for which the big town is deservedly famous are aimed primarily at out-of-towners who rashly step out of their class by coming to New York with their long, red underwear packed in straw suitcases."

All in all, it looks as though the starchy-eyed, open-mouthed yokel who plans to spend his vacation in the big city these days is in a fair way to earn a little pin money for himself, selling Brooklyn Bridge to the blase citizens of New York.

A Viennese burglar recently sued a man whose safe he was rifling when the safe owner's dog bit him and won the case. Judgment was probably based on the fact that the dog prevented the thief from finishing his job.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

TIPPING STILL GOES ON It is a strange malady, this once "un-American" custom of tipping. The people who tip say they don't say they would rather have salaries like it. Those who live from tips alike it.

It is absurdly unfair. The suitcase of the man who doesn't need help may bring the red cap a half dollar; and the mound of luggage from the demure little woman who is very much in need of help may net another red cap 15 cents. The system turns large groups of workers into tip hunters with the service given according to a guess on the purse strings. It becomes a social problem for the timid, a financial problem for those who can't afford it. Tips dry up in a depression and wipe out the income of those who live by gratuities.

A protest by Alvin F. Harlow in a recent issue of Forum keeps the irritation alive; but, so far, no one has come forward with a solution. Tips may be eliminated here and there. But the wholesale eradication of the system suggests a dream. The fact remains that many persons like to tip. Nothing gives them quite the "lift" for the day as the satisfaction of tossing a dime to the boy in the barber shop. There are restaurants that are able to avoid paying regular wages because of the public insistence on leaving quarters under the plates. And the skillful tip hunters find life more exciting and, perhaps, more profitable when it is left to the chance of tossed coins.

Oh, well, until the perfect system comes along most of us will go ahead meticulously figuring out the 10 per cent of the cost of the meal and wondering whether that amount will bring a dirty look from the waiter.

PALS! JUST PALS!

Inexpensive, Tasty Source Of Food Energy Is Common Bread

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The consumption of bread will begin to increase in the summer when we are inclined to eat lighter and smaller meals, and when our lunch may consist only of a sandwich.

Bread, after milk, is one of the best foods known. Cranks may inveigh against it, but experts in nutrition all recognize it as a tasty, inexpensive source of food energy, our most immediate need in the diet.

Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins university says, "Bread-stuffs should be regarded as the principal energy food and may, if the diet is properly planned, constitute as much as 40 per cent of the daily food intake."

It has been estimated that a 150-pound man can walk a mile on the energy provided by one slice of bread.

The nutritive quality of bread is enhanced by the customary use of milk and small amounts of yeast in the bakers' formula. White flour may supply a deficiency which may exist in wheat flour. White flour bread made with milk provides proteins of a high quality.

Dr. Walter H. Eddy, well-known food expert, says, "Bread digests with a steady release of muscle fuel, and the child who eats bread for breakfast is making sustenance throughout the morning adequate and sure."

Besides its starch and mineral content, bread contains a vegetable protein which stands first in quality among vegetable proteins. The principal proteins in wheat are of a form of protein which completely suffices for the growth of animals under experimental conditions, and it is evident that the value of wheat protein to growing children is due to this balanced chemical content.

Personalities

A president's son, a noted stage star and a soldier of fortune will get together when they meet at the "For Men Only" program over the NBC-Red network Monday. They are Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., Gertrude Lawrence and Tex O'Reilly, famed adventurer whose travels have won wide prominence in newspaper headlines.

Mayor of Hell

Speaking of guest stars, the most astounding of them all is one who comes from Hell to appear on Ripley's program on Tuesday. A trip of more than 10,000 miles is being made by Lorents Stenvig at Ripley's invitation to take part in the program. Stenvig is the mayor of Hell, not the Biblical Hell, of course, but the little village of Hell in northern Norway, just below the Arctic circle.

Dahlias to Ripley

A variety of dahlias whose blooms are so big that they are flared Believe-It-Or-Nots have been named Robert Ripley!

Training Ground

Replacements in Andre Kostelanetz' orchestra are rare. In the majority of instances, the men who left the organization did so to become leaders. Among these are notably Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey. There are others, among them the assistant concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic.

Human Hiss

Let's peek over the Voice of Experience's shoulder while he reads the morning mail. In this one delivery we see 11 letters in eight foreign languages; 23 offers of help for a charitable cause; 26 problems involving stepchildren, 41 poems and manuscripts which must be returned; 69 unwed mothers asking for help which incidentally they received; 96 requests for some form of vocational guidance; 99 individuals revealing that they were suffering from complexes, 103 letters of loneliness, including a proposal of marriage; 118 letters revealing financial troubles; 138 problems revolving around desertion. Some mail for one man, isn't it?

NEW YORK—It was nice to see Maria De Kammerer again. Eight months is too long a time for so cheerful and pleasant a person to be away from New York. But she is a business woman as well as an artist, and it was good business for her to paint portraits of important people in England and on the continent. Maria was so occupied that she found time only for a fleeting visit to her native Budapest. Then she hurried back to her apartment in East 60th street.

To celebrate her return and to salute an old friend she gave a dinner party for Baroness Lily Hatvany. Very small. Black tie. Fredric March There were Hungarian foods, and Elizabeth Arden was there, and Fredric March came in in a business suit with a blue shirt and tie. He was, he explained, hurrying off to Syracuse on a midnight train and could not possibly change clothes in time to make his train. Mrs. March seems even smaller across a dinner table than on the stage. She and her husband may do a new play in a few weeks.

Baroness Hatvany was just back after four months in Hollywood and she has no exalted opinion of that city of the angels. Some day I must find out, if I can, the Baroness' story. At this moment she is en route to Budapest. She was gay and optimistic, but under the surface you could tell that she was very much worried. The Baroness is an important woman in Budapest. She was a power in court circles. All the papers referred to her as "the beautiful Lily Hatvany." She is the author of innumerable plays, the best known of which perhaps is "Tonight or Never," in which Helen Gahagan starred. Melvyn Douglas was also in the cast, and he starred in the picture. Then he married Helen and she retired from the theater.

Among the canvases in Maria's studio is one of Libby Holman's little boy, a forthright little fellow with blue eyes and curly golden hair, high forehead and eyes filled with an inquisitive wonder. He looks like a young prince out of a story book, one of the handsomest children I ever saw.

Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART WASHINGTON, D. C.—When the seventy-fifth congress was organizing itself for its current session Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi considered himself entitled to the Democratic leadership of the upper chamber and Representative John O'Connor of New York considered himself entitled to the democratic leadership of the lower one.

Each had precedence in support of his particular claim. It is no ironclad regulation, but it generally is recognized that the chairman of the senate finance committee almost automatically is chosen as his house's majority leadership and that the representatives rules committee chairman is chosen for the majority leadership in his branch. It is a process of graduation from these respective chairmanships into their respective leaderships.

Well, Harrison was and is chairman of the senatorial finance committee; O'Connor ditto of the house rules committee. Neither Got Post But note: Neither one has been graduated into any more exalted leadership.

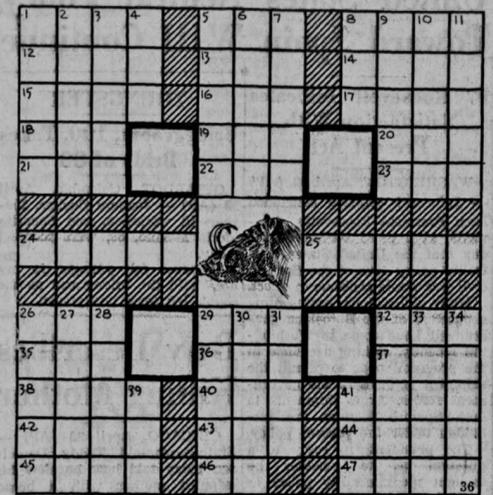

President Roosevelt fancied Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky over Harrison for his party's upper house leadership; Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas over O'Connor for its leadership in the lower house. Not that he did not consider Harrison a corking good senator or O'Connor a very high-class representative. However, he boosted for Barkley and Rayburn, as new dealers.

With his backing, Barkley and Rayburn won.

Coincidence? Harrison and O'Connor seemingly took it in good part. They appeared to be excellent losers.

Nevertheless the Rooseveltian government reorganization bill recently was, in effect, killed in the house of representatives. And the senate still more recently passed a finance bill, plus essential anti-Rooseveltian amendments. Was it only by coincidence that O'Connor led the anti-Rooseveltian fight in the house of representatives and that Harrison led the anti-Rooseveltian fight in the senate? Maybe. Yet one can't but wonder.

Mortar Board Plans Program For Mothers

Physical Education Girls Will Give Review Of Sports

A Sports Review, presented for the second time this year will be a feature of the program planned by Mortar Board in honor of the mothers of university students visiting here during the Mother's Day week end April 29 through May 1.

The review will be given by the women's physical education department on the women's athletic field Saturday afternoon. Approximately 500 women will participate in the pageant which will include demonstrations of team sports, individual sports, play day, modern dancing and canoeing. Attired in costumes suitable to each sport and carrying their necessary equipment, women in the different activities will parade from the women's gymnasium to the field. The procession will be led by a group of bicycle riders.

Team sports will be represented by a short hockey game and a volleyball contest, while individual sports will include archery, golf and badminton.

Orchestra, honorary dance organization, will give a short, modern dance group. Japanese Rush More Soldiers To Tenshien

Plan Drive to Combine With Forces Near 2 S.E. Areas

SHANGHAI, April 23 (Saturday) (AP) — Heavy Japanese reinforcements were rushed down the Tientsin-Pukow railway today in the second stage of the new Shantung offensive already launched at Lini, 70 miles to the east.

The fresh troops, accompanied by tanks and artillery, arrived at Tenshien, 60 miles north of Suichow, and started working their way southward and eastward to join exhausted Japanese forces around Lincheng and Tsaochang.

The Japanese strategy apparently is to make a drive down the railway while their reorganized forces strung out along a 30-mile front south and southwest of Lini attempt to break the strong Chinese defenses in that sector.

200,000 Entrenched in Hills It was estimated that 200,000 of the half million Chinese troops in Shantung province were entrenched in the hills on the Lini front, making the fight there a contest of manpower and machine-guns against field artillery and airplanes.

The Japanese now are proceeding cautiously along the unwieldy front to avoid a repetition of hampered communications which led to their recent reverses in southern Shantung.

No Barbarism In Early Ages Speaker Says

"The middle ages was not an age of barbarism, Prof. Helen C. White of the University of Wisconsin declared last night in a graduate college lecture in Schaeffer hall. She spoke on "A Modern Novelist Looks at the Middle Ages."

Professor White, who specializes in the study of English poets of the 17th century, presented her views on the life and characteristics of the middle ages. She humorously pointed out that the people of 1938 should be very cautious with their criticism of the barbarism of the middle ages.

"If I had my choice of position in the middle ages, I shouldn't choose to be a princess in a castle but I should want to be a French innkeeper's wife or a venturesome nun," Professor White continued. She said that girls of that age had fewer chances of being beautiful than today.

"The middle ages did not see anything picturesque and they thought that they were very modern—thinking that they were the last of the confused worlds," she said.

"They had a realistic attitude," she stated, "their attitude was a lively sense of what a mixed lot humanity is and a strong digestion for the uneven diet of life." She also pointed out that they were idealists who were ready to face facts. She used Dante as an illustration of idealism, saying that he had a sense of the fitness of things and knew that some villains had great qualities and that they had been used badly.

Loyalists Give Up to General Franco's Men

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier), April 22 (AP) —Spanish government troops separated from their comrades by the insurgent drive to the Mediterranean surrendered today to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces on sea and land.

More than a score of fishing boats bearing fugitive militiamen and officers seeking to reach central Spain from Catalonia were trapped off the coast south of Tortosa by an insurgent fleet headed by the cruiser Canarias.

A few attempted to escape and were sunk by shellfire; the fugitives and crews aboard the rest were removed and the less serviceable craft sent to the bottom while a few were taken to Vinaroz.

Insurgent dispatches gave no estimate of the number of militiamen captured but government quarters said there must have been "only a few hundred" men who had belonged to Gen. Jose Miaja's central Spanish forces.

(Insurgents in Zaragoza reported Miaja's civil and military chief for all government Spain except Catalonia, himself narrowly escaped capture in their recent march to the Mediterranean.)

(They said he passed through the town of Uldecoa at the same time as insurgent forces swept in and had to use an airplane to get back to Madrid across the wedge insurgents drove to the Mediterranean.)

A demonstration of the "big apple," including the swin-geroo, praise Allah, little sister, swing high, swing low, lindy hop, shine Lynn, organ grinder and susy-Q steps were included in the event. Refreshments were served. More than 75 attended.

The committee in charge were John H. Haefner and Helen Waite, instructors, and Martha Warren, Margaret Moon, Lee Siegling, Van Martin, Bruce Adams, and Gertrude Smith.

Ota Thomas Curry, a graduate student in speech.

In high school extempore speaking, class B, Sarah Ann Duschel of Mapleton won first place. Her topic was "Panay Bombing." John Watson of Humboldt, who discussed "Mexico's Seizure of American Oil Companies," was second place winner.

Class A winners were Herbert Lefler of Ft. Dodge, first, who talked on "The Fight for Tur-ruel"; Howard Sacks of Central high in Sioux City, second, who discussed "The Proposed Spending Program of Roosevelt."

Actor Beery recalled that Jackie's father had told him "many times" he never used or intended to use a cent of the youngster's vast earnings. Miss Grable broke her silence today by declaring that even in the face of Mrs. Bernstein's statement that Jackie was a "pauper," she married him because "Jackie and I were in love and money didn't—and doesn't—mean a thing."

Examination Schedule

Second Semester, 1937-1938

Monday, May 23, 8 a.m. to Tuesday, May 31, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (1), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below.

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation in the case of any examination from this Schedule, except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned, to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted. Students should prepare and deposit such petitions in the offices of the Deans of Men (men) and Women (women).

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) The instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour May 19 or 20; if possible, May 12 or 13.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently Tuesday at 8, and the class will meet for examination Tuesday, May 24, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics (126) meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination, is, therefore, Saturday, May 28, 2 p.m.

N. B. All sections of "Principles of Speech" (1), (2) and (4) (Except Section J*) will meet during Examination Week on the days and at the periods designated below. Consult the bulletin board, Room 13 S. H. for room assignments.

Tues., May 24—Section A, 1-3
Section E, 3-5
Sat., May 28—Section D, 10-12
Section B, 1-3
Section F, 3-5

*Section J will meet as announced by the instructors.

"ODD" classes, namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class, by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from May 23 to May 31 inclusive, Sunday and Memorial Day excepted.

2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F and G, since for such "odd" classes these seven examination periods will be found quite available.

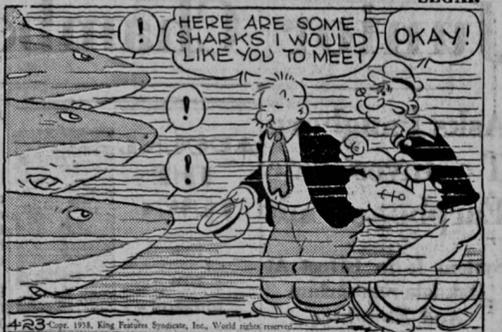

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times, if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time.

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.," unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd.," even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

Junior Chamber Surveys Radio System for Young Patients

Asks Pangborn To Investigate Earphone Unit

System Is in Effect At Oakdale Sanitarium And Elsewhere

The Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce is investigating the possibility of installing a central broadcasting system in children's hospital, Dale Welt, president, said yesterday.

Verne A. Pangborn of University hospitals has been named by the junior chamber to investigate the probable cost of constructing and installing a radio system for the benefit of the young patients.

Pangborn was instrumental in installing radios for patients in Oakdale sanitarium recently, when he was employed there.

Pangborn will submit his report at a meeting of the junior chamber May 3, Welt said. Many hospitals throughout the country have installed similar units.

In the Oakdale sanitarium there is a central radio system and lines extend from it to nearly every room in the building. Earphones are plugged to connections on the walls so patients may hear the program dialed from the central unit.

Plans for financing the project are incomplete, but it is expected Iowa City businessmen will contribute, it was announced.

The junior chamber sincerely hopes the project materializes, it was announced, because it would give all the children in the hospital many pleasurable hours which would otherwise be empty.

75 Cases Filed For May Term

Approximately 75 cases have been filed for the May term of court, County Clerk R. Neilson Miller reported yesterday.

AROUND THE TOWN

With TOM JOHNSON

This is Station— Iowa City's Junior Chamber of Commerce deserves praise for its campaign to install radios in children's hospital.

If successful, many of the confined boys and girls will have their dreary hours brightened... Let's hope the drive is a success. You know, or should know, how much a radio means to a shut-in.

Danger Signal Simile: As graceful as a walrus doing the big apple. Now to find someone to whom it applies. And—that shouldn't be a hard job!

More Woe And last night, I heard one attorney ask another, "If the government pays the farmers not to raise corn, why shouldn't it pay the railroads not to carry it?" There may be fallacious reasoning there, but it's a bit hard to find...

The Poor Working-Man Now that Joe DiMaggio has signed, John L. Lewis is said to be looking coldly at Joe—who didn't sit-down... capitulated for a mere $25,000...

Stitch in Time Tiffin's reputation as a speed-trap has spread as far east as Chicago, I'm told. Salesmen leaving there are warned, "Watch out passing through Tiffin. If you're caught there, you'll draw a stiff fine..."

Chilly 'Round the Knees And, it's always been my firm conviction that if dictators such as Hitler and Mussolini were to be seen in their gym-suits, they'd be more of a laughing-stock than they are right now!

It's All Over Town... In the cinema's last sensation, there is "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs..."

In case you're interested, the names of the seven dwarfs are "Sneezy, Bashful, Grumpy, Smily, Doc, Sleepy and Dopey."

The joke H. S. M. refused to tell you in "Over the Coffee" recently, is this: "Have you heard about the seven dwarfs? Well, there are only six of them now!"

"Where is the seventh?" you'll reply. "Well," is the answer, "Dopey's in the White House now!"

Publicity? I think that all this hullabaloo about Jackie Coogan and his lost millions... and Betty Grable and Wallace Beery... is merely one big buildup for one big picture. Let's see if I'm right.

George Buffalo, native fireman at the school, played the flute solo and the tom-tom for the war dance, and Miss Murdock provided the piano accompaniment for the singing.

After the program, more than 200 elementary school pupils inspected the moccasins, Indian heads and peacepipes offered for sale for the benefit of the Indian boy scout troop and 4-H club girls.

Red Cross Places Emergency First Aid Stations on Highways

J. Clark Hughes Tells WSUI Audience Of Chapter's Work

Emergency first aid stations are being established on dangerous sections of the highways of America by the Red Cross, stated William G. Hughes, chairman of highway first aid station committee of the Red Cross, when interviewed by Ellis S. Crawford over WSUI at 7:15 last night.

Crawford is district radio chairman of the Red Cross. Johnson county has but one of these stations at the present time, but plans have been made for the establishment of two more. The present station is located at Tiffin on highway 6, west of Iowa City.

"We are trying hard to establish two more stations this year. The first of these will probably be located south on highway 218," he remarked. "A location has been provisionally obtained at Oakcrest."

The Red Cross is considering the possibility of establishing a station east of here to replace one discontinued at Scott's church. Station attendants are specially trained in first aid by the Red Cross and receive no compensation for their work.

These attendants are capable of administering to injuries such as hemorrhage, fracture, shocks and flesh wounds. The stations are installed on heavily traveled highways, as near as possible to dangerous sections.

"First aid consists of following common sense rules on what to do until the doctor comes," Clark said later in the interview. He further mentioned that the attendant is not trying to do the work of a doctor, but merely alleviating pain and turning the patient over to the physician in the best possible condition.

The station is equipped with a first aid kit and at least two persons who are constantly at or near it. The first aid kit contains bandages, emergency dressings, antiseptics, special treatments for burns, splints for fractures and other small articles needed in emergency treatment.

"A first aid attendant will give his services to any injury which may occur regardless of its cause," was Clark's reply to a question by Crawford relative to the scope of the station's work.

A first aid station may be located by the sign of the Red Cross placed alongside the highway in much the same position as the usual highway marker. All these things are financed solely by the Red Cross, usually by the local chapter in whose jurisdiction the station is located.
