Party Is Named By LaFollette

Calls National Progressives --- 'Party of Age'

Praises Leadership Of F. R.; LaGuardia May Join

By KENNETH HOPPING
MADISON, Wis., April 28 (AP)—Governor Philip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin announced to the nation tonight formation of a new political party—the National Progressives of America—dedicated to a philosophy of preserving the "right of a free people to work, and by their work to add to the wealth of the country."

The Wisconsin governor, son of the fiery late "Old Bob" LaFollette who failed in a campaign for the presidency on an independent ticket in 1924, told a mass meeting of liberals that the democratic and republican parties never can unite on a fundamental program to restore economic equilibrium and that the time had come for an entirely new movement to go forward.

The decision to create a new party, which he said had been joined by liberals the country over, was announced in these dramatic words:

"A beginning has been made, here and now, not in 1944, not in 1940, but now, in 1938."

"The National Progressives of America are now organized. State by state we shall build as rapidly as firm foundations can be laid. Definitely and irrevocably we are in the list to stay until the American people recapture their heritage."

"Make no mistake, this is not a third party. As certain as the sun rises, we are launching the party of our time."

In a final break with the national administration Governor LaFollette paid tribute to the "brilliant leadership" of President Roosevelt but declared that leadership alone, no matter how great, "cannot mix political oil and water."

He said that if the task of rehabilitation had been supported by popular confidence and affection for the leadership of Roosevelt, the job would have been done long ago under his administration, but that party dissension had undermined and hamstrung the administration.

Proponents counted upon changes made in the bill in recent weeks to reverse the old attitude of the committee, which kept the measure bottled up for months last year, until a petition signed by a majority of the house forced it to bring the bill to the floor.

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the labor committee, which has had the measure in charge, explained to the rules committee today the revisions that have been made and asserted that the house should be given an opportunity to vote it "up or down."

The old bill would have established an administrative board with authority to impose minimum wages of 40 cents an hour or less and maximum hours of 40 a week or more upon the various segments of American industry.

The new bill takes an entirely different approach. The board, much criticized, has been dropped. Instead the legislation would simply specify that minimum wages would be 25 cents for the first year, increasing to 40 after the third. Maximum hours would be set at 44 the first year and drop to 40 after two years.

He said it was well known that business men had always found difficulty in interpreting the policy of the department as to what would and would not be prosecuted under the anti-trust laws.

"Therefore, acting under the advice of the attorney general," he said, "I propose to announce in connection with the particular cases or investigations which are instituted in the future enough information so that the exercise of the discretion in selecting the cases may be as consistent as public announcement and public criticism can make it."

Arnold mentioned President Roosevelt's desire to tighten the anti-trust laws, and gave a possible hint as to some of the recommendations the president may make in an anti-monopoly message to congress shortly.

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt revoked today a 1934 proclamation requiring everyone to turn into the treasury any silver not in the form of coin or needed for genuine industrial or artistic purposes.

Not Well Yet?

Still recuperating from his recent serious illness, Gen. John J. Pershing is pictured as he appeared in Washington where he entered Walter Reed hospital to have army physicians check over his condition. Pershing made the trip from New York, where he attended the marriage of his son, Warren.

Wage Hour Bill May Come Up

Measure Is Expected To Encounter Crucial Test Today

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The wage-hour bill, much desired by the Roosevelt administration, is expected to encounter a crucial test tomorrow, when opponents will seek to have the house rules committee pigeon-hole it.

The powerful committee arranged to make its decision on the bill after hearing the opponents. If the committee decided to give the bill "preferential status" the measure would go to the house floor almost at once. If it should decide adversely, many thought the bill would receive no further consideration at this session of congress.

Dictatorship for United States

George E. Sokolsky Predicts the Destruction Of All Human Rights

By MILDRED HOLLY
Daily Iowan Campus Editor

The United States is drifting toward a dictatorship and a fascistic form of government, and with it the complete destruction of all human rights. This was the gloomy forecast George E. Sokolsky—journalist, traveler and writer—offered in a university lecture, the last of the year, in Iowa Union last night.

"Not very long ago 97 or 98 per cent of the Germans voted 'Ja' in an election. We might come to that same thing here, and it won't be very long either," the lecturer declared.

"There is nothing to be cheerful about. Today we face a crisis that is more serious than the one that the American people faced at the time of the Civil war. And it will take many more years to come out of this crisis," the lecturer-traveler prophesied.

Explaining the reasons why this tendency toward dictatorship has come about, he turned to radio, which "has made democratic government very difficult."

"Every German constantly hears Hitler; every Italian constantly hears Mussolini, and every Russian hears Stalin. And now every American constantly hears our president," Mr. Sokolsky said.

The last five years has brought a revolutionary change in our government, according to the lecturer, because "we have now turned our back on one of the most attractive traditions in American life—the tradition of the melting pot."

"The government today is seeking to stimulate and foment every type of class antagonism. Even in such ventures as the WPA theater (See SPEAKER, page 6)

Roosevelt Considering Forming Business Men's 'Inner Council' To Combat Recession Trend

Report 'Great Pressure' Being Brought To Bear on F.R.

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt is considering the creation of a new "inner council" of business men to study and make recommendations on economic problems, some of the more conservative advisers of the chief executive said today.

Whether he actually would decide to set up such a council was not known, but it was said that "great pressure" was being exerted "both from within and outside the administration" in behalf of the idea.

"Right wing" elements among the president's friends were arguing that such a step would tend to bring business men and the administration closer together for a common attack on depression problems.

Those reported to be under consideration for the proposed "council" include: Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago, president of Sears, Roebuck and company; Frank C. Walker, millionaire New York attorney who was formerly a director of the National Emergency council; and Robert W. Woodruff, president of the Coca Cola company.

The powerful committee arranged to make its decision on the bill after hearing the opponents. If the committee decided to give the bill "preferential status" the measure would go to the house floor almost at once. If it should decide adversely, many thought the bill would receive no further consideration at this session of congress.

PAID VACATIONS! British Workers Will Receive Holiday

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—Great Britain moved today toward an annual vacation with pay for her millions of industrial workers.

A special committee under the chairmanship of Lord Amulree unanimously recommended that employers grant at least a week's paid holiday annually to their help.

The letter figure was reported yesterday by a receiver appointed in Jackie's accounting suit against his stepfather and his mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bernstein.

The Monday hearing will be on a defense motion to dismiss the receivership. William Rains, Jackie's lawyer, said, however, he will not only oppose this motion but petition the court for an expansion of the receivership to include a more detailed audit of the accounts, pending trial of the suit.

"The receiver's temporary report leaves much to be explained," Rains said. "This report only makes it more important that a full and complete audit of the estate be made."

Mr. Bernstein has contended Jackie's income as a minor belonged to his parents under the law, but asserted, "I stand to do whatever is best for Jackie."

Attorney Rains obtained a court order permitting him to examine the receiver's records.

To obtain this, he presented an affidavit expressing belief that books, records and memoranda exist which might show all the income of young Coogan and of the Jackie Coogan Productions, Inc.

Insurgents Raid
Loyalist Lines
Despite Rainfall

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier) April 28 (AP)—Insurgent warplanes made "blind bombing" raids on the Spanish government rearward today despite clouds and heavy rain that halted land operations in Castellon and Teruel provinces.

Bombers flew behind the government lines on the Castellon front and dropped explosives when their infantrymen indicated they were over secondary defenses.

Insurgents said the object was not to destroy positions but to break the morale of the enemy at a time when rain and bad weather would seem to guarantee freedom from raids.

Daily Iowan's Movie School Starts Tuesday

Pictures at Englert; To Continue Until Thursday

Iowa Citizens will go to school in a theater when The Daily Iowan presents its second annual motion picture cooking school Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Englert theater. The doors will open at 9:30 a.m.

The school will give lessons in measuring, mixing and blending the ingredients of many recipes, in the preparation of such triumphs as lattice-top fruit pie, in making delicious frozen desserts and salads, in laundering fine fabrics and in planning healthful meals for children.

The finished dishes will be shown on the screen in full color. The camera has assembled the expert information of trained home economists and woven it into a talking motion picture, "Star in My Kitchen." The story is a romance of home-making, spiced with informal chats from one good cook to another.

There are close-up views of each cooking process in a series of completely equipped model kitchens. Competent Iowa City cooks who have drifted into bad habits, as well as beginners, will be able to check their own mistakes by studying the systematic routine in the close-ups.

Simple, effective recipes to match the demonstrations in "Star in My Kitchen" will be distributed each morning.

Iowa City women—and men—may obtain free tickets to the picture at The Daily Iowan office or from any of the following merchants:

As Ford Visited White House

Henry Ford, the automobile magnate, is pictured walking up the steps of the White House in Washington for a luncheon engagement with the president. Ford, his son, Edsel, W. J. Cameron, a Ford company official, and Marriner Eccles, governor of the federal reserve board, discussed the general economic ills with the president. It was Ford's first visit to the White House since Roosevelt became president. The automobile magnate has been a bitter opponent of new deal policies.

Henry Ford Forecasts Change For Better in U. S. Economics

Still Is Reticent About Conference at the White House

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Henry Ford predicted today an economic change for the better in the United States when industry and business generally begin revitalizing themselves.

Still completely reticent about his White House conference with President Roosevelt, the automobile manufacturer was asked if his genial mood was traceable to the Washington visit.

"Well," he smiled, "you never heard me say anything about the president, did you? What's the use? He's trying to do the best he can like everybody else."

A slender man with gray hair and bright eyes which narrowed quizzically at times and again with quite good humor, Ford lounged in a deep sofa in a private dining room of the Ritz Carlton surrounded by interviewers.

Sometimes he dismissed questions with a wave of the hand, once or twice with a grunt of contempt or indifference. At his elbow sat W. J. Cameron, Ford Motor company executive, and on the other side of the room, behind the reporters sat his son, Edsel Ford, smiling with amusement every time his father parried a question.

"People must wake up and go to work," said Ford. "Too many people try to live off money. Money isn't wealth. It's just a token of wealth. We must create wealth and we must do it by doing something. People should be their own leaders."

"Too many people are half asleep. They're looking for security instead of making it themselves," Ford declared.

SHORTCAKE Truck Covers Road With Berries

EXIRA, Ia., April 28 (AP)—Crushed strawberries—2640 boxes of them—littered the highway near here today after a truckload of berries overturned.

The truck, northward bound from Kansas, went out of control after a blowout. The driver was not injured.

Agreement on these points emerged from the meeting headed by Daladier and British Prime Minister Chamberlain:

able pet hen, who, in addition to producing her quota of an egg a day, has learned to amuse the family by cackling musically and "singing" to the tunes her mistress played on the piano. Nor is this gifted type of animal confined to the United States. From London comes the report that boys and girls are, for the sum of a shilling, allowed to play with certain well-behaved occupants of the pet corner of the London zoo. "George, the lion cub, is much in demand," runs the account, "as is the giant tortoise which, with a warning 'This End Bites' painted on one end of its shell, is ridden by the smaller children." Excellent though unusual playmates, it seems, are the young chimpanzee, baby yak, baby eland, a kinkajou, a llama and some little alligators. The report adds that "Percy, the penguin, will gravely offer his flippers and go for a walk with his visitors."

The climactic tale, however, seems to be that concerning Amos, one-year-old sea lion, who casually wandered away from his Prospect park zoo home in New York last Sunday night and later put in a dramatic appearance at a Brooklyn bar and grill, thereby severely frightening inebriated witnesses of the event. Amos and his wife, Andy, had come to the city from Catalina island only 10 days earlier. That he found things a bit dull in the tank to which he and his wife were assigned and that he should go in search of the exciting city night life is characteristically "human," if nothing else.

It is difficult at this point to predict the final outcome of this definitely established trend toward humanizing lower animals. It is quite possible, however, that a neat, well-educated ape who could cook, keep the house clean, mind the children and never ask for a night off would be a boon to any busy housewife.

GETTING READY TO JUMP ON A SICK DOG!

Bananas Used for Treatment of Early Childhood Illnesses

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. Raw fruit diet in the treatment of acute diarrhea in infants, children and even in adults, has generally included apples, because apples are rich in pectin, which is a soothing article. Bananas are, however, to be preferred to apples, because they satisfy the appetite better, are richer in mineral salts and have a high caloric value. Infants with summer dysentery on a banana diet do not lose weight and the general body chemistry, including the mineral balance, is better preserved than with other forms of treatment. Pectin, which is in both fruits, has a capacity for swelling and absorbing germs and other poisons—a mechanical cleansing of the intestinal canal is thereby accomplished. Cooking changes the active form of pectin and is an improvement. The method of the banana cure is described thus: After a period of six to 12 hours during which the infant receives only water or sweetened water or sweetened tea, he gets no other food than bananas for the next three or four days. Bananas are served in five daily portions, and the daily amount is from five to eight bananas. Skins are removed and the pulp is beaten with a fork and served to the child with a spoon. After the three or four-day exclusive banana diet, the child is given a pint of whole milk with two or three bananas beaten into it. This milk and banana diet is continued for the next two or three days, when, in most cases a fuller diet may be permitted. Failure with the banana diet is generally due to the introduction of even the smallest quantity of gruel, flour or other foods during the first three or four days when the exclusive raw fruit diet should be maintained.

Jean Wilson To Speak at Ames

Jean Wilson, A4 of Iowa City, will spend the week end in Ames and Des Moines. Miss Wilson, who is national president of Wesley players, will speak following the Wesley players' initiation at Ames tomorrow evening. Saturday and Sunday she will be the guest of Amanda McCloy of Des Moines, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. C. H. McCloy, 526 W. Park road, and a university graduate.

CUTE LITTLE CULEX It is time to unleash the pet goldfish—the first culex has arrived. It emerged from under the melting April snows, dried its draggled gauze draperies in the noon warmth, and immediately began its pursuit of the genus homo. A few minutes later Chicago suburbanites had turned from their weekly survey of nascent garden plots to engage in their annual cathartics. The dull thud of the swat was heard. From the uninjured and derisive culex came the shrill pean of the taut E string.

Accuracy in swatting must be acquired by practice, but the culex escapes from its pupal wiggler stage already skilled in the evasion of murder. Its human victim is at a disadvantage. An average of one effectively murderous swat to 10 that are more nearly suicidal is pretty fair scoring later in the season. The trained goldfish, unhappily, is useless after culex has abandoned its floating cradle and taken to the air. The trimmy little carp is essentially a cradle snatcher.

Culex is sometimes called the gutter mosquito; in recognition of its humble origin. If one wants to catch it in its cradle, one should drop the goldfish in the gutter, where, at this season, it would probably take a chill and die. Emancipated from the cradle, however, culex becomes the mosquito of the American home and garden, where an adult culex may live and thrive for months. The female, the bloodthirsty member of the species, may hibernates, indeed, and produce a new and prodigious setting of eggs for next year's crop. The so often baffled swatter might do worse than employ some swifts and swallows to reinforce him. They catch culex on the wing.

But culex is innocent compared with anopheles and stegomyia, its mosquito relatives. Anopheles carries malaria germs; stegomyia, when it flourishes, dealt in yellow fever. The culex proboscis is seldom guilty of planting anything worse than irritation. Anopheles, at work, stands on its four vertical front legs, with proboscis, body and rear legs in line at an angle of 45 degrees. Culex also uses only his anterior legs on which to stand, but his body and hind legs rest in a horizontal position.

In spite of the comforting assurance of the mosquito abatement authorities that they are girding themselves for war, it is probable that we shall have many opportunities to observe the peculiar posture of culex before the summer ends. —Chicago Daily News

This Business Of Priming

THE FUR of controversy has certainly been flying over and about the new deal pump priming program. Discussion, pro and con, has been bantered about the spending principle itself. More than that, there has even been great concern over the measure's first cousin, poll priming. Secretary Ickes' latest move will certainly provide those who charge poll priming with greater ammunition. The secretary has made public the list of proposed projects to be carried out with the requested funds.

There can be little doubt of the effect of such action upon the voters of the localities to be benefited. There can be equally little doubt about the reaction of the critics. If the thing does not already smell, at least it potentially stinks.

But of more immediate importance than poll priming is the embarrassing position this declaration forces members of congress to assume. They are faced with the choice of voting for the bill, and incidentally getting quite a slice for the folks at home, or of opposing it and thus incurring the displeasure of these constituents.

No representative, and no senator who must run for re-election, can afford to antagonize his constituency—and very few will, unless they have more courage than we think.

To be concrete, consider Iowa. Senator Gillette must stand for reelection; can he take a chance? Every representative faces the same dilemma. Ickes has announced that two projects are proposed for Congressman Etcher's home town, Washington.

And down in Thurston's town, Osceola, Ickes is going to appropriate $27,000 for water mains. Etcher's home, Decatur, is to be allocated some $80,000 for a community center. Sioux City will get two $125,000 grants if Harrington plays ball. To cap it all, Gwynne's Waterloo is scheduled to rake in a cool million for a sewage disposal plant.

The grants are not to be confined only to these places. Iowa is to have 84 projects. Every congressman will be affected. This is not only true of Iowa, but of every one of the 48 states.

Teach Them To Keep House

UNDER THE guidance of the ever-investigative human mind, animals of divers varieties are revealing hitherto unsuspected talents these days and gradually assuming highly specialized positions in this complicated social structure we call civilization.

Not so long ago we read of the glant cock-roach in Amarillo, Tex., that had been taught by inmates of the prison there to act as delivery boy, carrying cigarettes from one cell to another.

A few days later, from Independence, Kan., came the story of Sally, Callean Wagoner's remarkable pet hen, who, in addition to producing her quota of an egg a day, has learned to amuse the family by cackling musically and "singing" to the tunes her mistress played on the piano.

Tuning In with Betty Harpel

Double Indemnity Phil Baker will delve deeply into the insurance business during his broadcast Sunday to sell Bottle and Oscar Bradley some insurance. Baker feels that both his co-workers should be insured against falling gags, promising double indemnity for every gag that the program lays. Furthermore, Phil is taking out some insurance of his own against the jibes of Beetle.

"Slips" Bob Trout, the "presidential announcer," is unusually cautious when broadcasting any of the Washington proceedings. The reason for his caution happened several years ago when he approached the mike and said: "Ladies and gentlemen... President Herbert Hoover."

"Secret" It isn't generally known, but Eddie Cantor has been a pretty sick man for two weeks prior to his withdrawal from his program for one week. He did two broadcasts against the advice of physicians.

Forgotten Barbara Luddy, star of NBC's "Mailbag of Castlewood," is wondering what has happened to her unknown admirer who sent her lovely corsages to match her costume every day. As suddenly as they began they have stopped.

Composer Phil Baker plans to write one new number for "The Gag Stays In," the musical comedy which he will do on Broadway this fall.

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—It's like this: You are walking along the street and you meet people, and they tell you things.

That little man with the big eyes and the black hair bouncing out of the Cafe de la Paix is Eddie Cantor. He has come over to the St. Moritz for a conference with Eddie Davis, his script writer. . . . Davis is one of the highest paid script writers in the business. . . . Yet, there was a time when he wondered where the next quarter was coming from. You learn this in this manner: Davis steps out of a cab at the hotel door and tosses the man a quarter tip. . . . An attaché at the hotel says: "It seems strange to see Eddie tossing quarters to people. It hasn't been so very long since Eddie was driving the cab and having the quarters tossed to him."

This man with the bushy eyebrows is a representative of the American Express company. . . . "You wouldn't think there could be much humor among thieves," he says, "but listen to this. . . . And he tells an astounding story. . . . The other day a package was delivered to an executive of his company. It was a batch of travelers' checks which had been stolen with a lot of money and other loot. . . . But it is very unhealthy to try to cash stolen travelers' checks. . . . Those little serial numbers frequently lead to Alcatraz. . . . So the thieves bundled the checks into a nice big roomy envelope and returned them. With this little note: "Oops! So sorry!"

"Here's a story," he said suddenly, "a little different from the others. The other day we received a letter from a man out west. To it was pinned a dollar bill. The letter went on to say that, 20 years previously, he had been an employee of the American Express company, and one day a package broke open and a baseball fell out. Somehow, he wanted that baseball, badly. So he stole it. He put it in his pocket and took it home. . . . And then he left the company and went to work in another state. . . . And as time went by it began to weigh on his conscience. He got, he said, 'religion.' And now he wants to atone for that misdeed of 20 years ago. So he sent in a dollar bill. And he hopes the company will forgive him."

Rice, IO, and the C. O. of the Uni. discuss thru 157 feet of W. demy made expected to be

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—The oldest literary office in town at present is on a movie set. Two writers and a girl secretary labor there, the click of the portable keys stilled at intervals while the current scene for the movie they're writing is being filmed and recorded. The office is a canvas shack, about eight feet square. The writers are Bruce Manning and Felix Jackson. From the door, the scribes can peer out and see how the scene they've just written is being played, and see (more pertinently) how much longer they have to turn out the next.

All this sounds very much like the movie business as caricatured in those stage lampoons like "Once in a Lifetime" and "Boy Meets Girl." And yet—when the kidding's finished and you get down to facts—it isn't such a funny, inefficient mode of moviemaking. If it is then it's the same that turned out "Three Smart Girls" and "One Hundred Men and a Girl"—and that, to movie fans and fainting bankers alike, should be argument enough that Henry Koster's way of making pictures is a good way.

The picture in question is "The Rage of Paris." That's the story in which Danielle Darrieux of France is bowing to the Hollywood cameras. She's getting $4,000 a week, and she was getting it all the weeks she waited while they prepared a story. That would be reason enough for haste which might make waste.

But from the movie point of view this Darrieux is a mighty important property. They couldn't rush into production with just any story, even to save time. Darrieux is with Universal for five years, and to realize the maximum return in five years the first picture has to be a smash. So they had not one, but two stories, ready to shoot before "The Rage of Paris" was selected as best for an introductory vehicle. And now, even though they're writing as they go along, Manning and Jackson are writing from a finished script. A scene at a time—just a jump ahead of the camera, and sometimes only a 10-minute jump at that—the polish, revise, point up scenes, twist dialogue.

2,000 Athletes Await Opening Gun at Drake Carnival Today

Fair Weather Is Prediction For Track Festival

Hawkeyes Represented By Strong Teams In Relays

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—The weather bureau brought cheer to Drake relays officials tonight with a "fair and warmer" forecast for the opening of the 29th annual carnival tomorrow.

Although there have been intermittent rains all week, the stadium track was pronounced "fast" and will be in good shape for nearly 2,000 athletes from more than 175 schools who are entered in the midwest's largest track and field classic.

Blacks Defeat Golds in Grid Practice Game

There will be nine final events in the university and college sections tomorrow.

Huebner and Blandin Cross Goal For Yearlings

The University of Iowa coaching staff put its stamp of approval on the Hawkeye spring football squad yesterday following an intra-squad game in which the Blacks, headed by veterans Allen, Brady, Evans, Gallagher, McClain and Jim Kelley, defeated the Golds, led by Otto Huebner, 22-13.

Otto Huebner, a Glenwood product, looked particularly good for the Gold team, with his excellent generalship and heady play. Huebner and Carl Blandin, a vicious driving fullback from the yearling squad, scored touchdowns for the Golds, and Buzz Dean, veteran halfback, converted on Blandin's score.

Jerry Niles, the Clinton freshman, and the two lettermen, Bill Gallagher and Ed McClain, counted for the Blacks. Niles slipped away around end for 10 yards and his touchdown, carrying two would-be tacklers across the double-chalk line with him. McClain's score came after a six-yard line smash, while Gallagher waited until the closing minutes to tally with a 10-yard sprint around the left wing. Gallagher and McClain both converted in the extra point department.

Iowa Trackmen Face Competition This Afternoon

Baton passers on six relay teams and competitors in nine individual events swing into action for the University of Iowa today and tomorrow at the Drake relays in Des Moines.

One final relay race is scheduled for this afternoon, the sprint medley. Ohio State's brilliant sprint medley team set a new Drake record of 3:27.9 last year, but when Iowa, Rice, Texas and Michigan State get through firing, that record is likely to be a thing of the past. Rice set a new mark of 3:27 at Kansas last week with the Iowa team finishing second.

Men leaving Iowa City last night for the Drake games are Bush Lamb, Jim Lyle, John Colledge, Carl Teufel, Fred Teufel, John Graves, Milton Billig, and Eliot Waples. The squad was accompanied by Coach Bresnahan and Assistant Coach Swenson.

The second section, leaving Iowa City this morning, includes Cameron Campbell, Ed McCollister, Ed Duane, Merrill Harkness, Orval Matteson, John Schmidt, Jack Alexander, Ed Elliott, Bill Leuz, Wilbur Nead, Paul Rapoport and John Phillips. The group is accompanied by Eric C. Wilson, F. X. Cretzmeier, former track captain, and Bill Frey, trainer.

A third squad will leave tomorrow morning. It includes Howard Ely, Dale Roberts, Glenn Beneker, Robert Waples and Fred Lindenmeyer.

Preliminaries in the 440- and 880-yard and mile relays are also scheduled for this afternoon. Other preliminaries today are in the 120-yard high hurdles, the shot put and the javelin throw.

Finals today are in the broad jump, discus throw and the two-mile run. The busiest man on the Iowa squad today will be Lamb, who, after running in the high hurdle preliminaries, will compete in the preliminaries and finals of the broad jump, and the preliminaries of the javelin throw.

Campbell and Elliott are the Hawkeye entrants in the two-mile event. Campbell can run under 9:40 but pitted against him will be an impressive field including Greg Rice of Notre Dame, N. C. A. A. two-mile champion with time of 9:14.2.

Schroeder to Meet With Committee On Olympic Wrestling

With Tokyo as the site, the Olympic games of 1940 are distant and somewhat doubtful, yet the American Olympic wrestling committee, of which Director E. G. Schroeder of the University of Iowa is a member, will meet for the first time in Chicago Monday. Director Schroeder, who also was a member of the group in 1936, is one of 11 members. Initial steps will be the organization of the committee, possible appointing of coach and manager, and discussion of financing methods.

Schumacher Noses Out Boston Bees In 4-2 Tilt

BOSTON, April 28 (AP)—Bill Terry's New York Giants climbed to sole possession of first place in the National league today by nosing out the Bees, 4 to 2, behind Hal Schumacher's five hit pitching.

Hank Leiber sewed up the game in the first inning when he walloped his third home run of the season with two mates on base. After that it was more or less of a breeze for Prince Hal to post his second straight win.

The victory boosted the Giants' winning streak to eight straight and put them a full game in front of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Triumph Over Monticello By Large Margin

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Golf club heads shaped like a blimp would add 15 yards to the drive, American Physical Society members heard today.

Wary physicists perked up when Dr. S. J. Crooker, speaking last on the first day's program of the annual meeting, delivered these glad tidings. Thoughts of microradians, dipoles and such theoretical matters suddenly vanished from their minds.

"How is that club shaped?" one scientist eagerly asked. "Is it legal?" another wanted to know.

"Fifteen yards more or less won't help a dub like me," the chairman sadly commented.

Netsters Meet Wildcats Today

The University of Iowa tennis team meets its most crucial test today in Evanston, Ill., when it faces Northwestern's powerful net squad in a dual meet.

Coach Arthur J. Wendler named eight players on his traveling squad instead of the customary six. He indicated that he might use the two players who didn't play singles as his number three doubles combination.

The eight players who made the trip are as follows: Capt. Chuck Fleming, Bob Sandler, Claude Douthett, Dale Hatch, George Bryant, Bud Kraushaar, Steve Fouche and Bill Sears.

Following their match with Northwestern today, the Hawkeyes meet the equally strong Chicago team in Chicago tomorrow.

Mud Flies In Iowa City!

Hacker Pins O'Shea In Slimy Battle At Community Building

By DENNIS SULLIVAN
Mud wrestling, that slimy, slithery and thoroughly insane innovation of the modern grunt and groan profession, made its debut before Iowa City fans last night at the community building, and, judging from the enthusiasm of the ring siders, was a complete success.

The main event, a finish match between Buss Hacker of Lone Tree and Eddie O'Shea of Austin, Tex., was won by Hacker after 18 minutes of thrill packed action.

Both boys dallied a bit at the start of the bout as if reluctant to wallow in the one foot of choicest Iowa mud. They soon warmed to the task at hand, however, and in a few moments were slopping about as if they loved it.

Hacker was the aggressor throughout, and despite the treacherous footing, was doing a thorough job of convincing O'Shea that he (O'Shea) was in the wrong building. Hacker, with a blind pride—or perhaps mud—in his eyes, turned on the referee, who had kept himself immaculate up to that time, and gave that worthy gentleman a dunking in the good earth.

The boys settled down after that added attraction and applied head locks, body presses and various other holds peculiar to their profession until Hacker, of tiring of that sort of thing, flopped O'Shea on his back and held him there for the count.

The semi-final bout, a two out of three falls, one hour time limit affair, was won by Roughhouse Nelson who subjected his opponent, Tom Goodegale, to all sorts of indignities before pinning him.

Dale Hansen, a roughneck who belled like a bull, was returned the winner in the curtain raiser, pinning his opponent, Dr. Mueller in straight falls.

Next week the promoters have promised a battle royal between six wrestlers who will have heavy strips of adhesive tape bound over their eyes,

Improving Iowa Team Seeks to Continue Winning Ways

Hawk Golfers Off for Urbana

Team to Meet Illinois and Northwestern On Road Trip

Jim Hoak was selected today as the fifth member of the golf team to make the trip to Illinois and Northwestern this week end. Hoak was selected as a result of his one-up victory over Don Fults yesterday afternoon.

The team will leave early this morning so that they will be able to play a practice round this afternoon at Urbana. They will meet the Illinois team Saturday, and Sunday will go to Evanston to prepare to meet the Wildcats on Monday.

Both Illinois and Northwestern apparently have very good teams, each boasting several veterans. Coach Kennett is quite confident of the team's chances of winning, however.

Kennett will take three letter winners on the team, Capt. Willie Thomsen, Harry Skow and Frank Miller, and two sophomores, Clayton and Hoak. Each man is capable of shooting par golf, and should they get by these two matches, they will be on their way to a Big Ten title.

The reason these first two matches mean so much is that the weather has not been favorable for practice this spring, and all of the rough spots have not as yet been ironed out. The two meets should go a long way in helping them get going, and by the time they are over the team should be in top shape for the rest of the campaign.

Hawkeye baseball fans, who have waited patiently all spring for a glimpse of their favorites in action, will get their first peek at Coach Otto Vogel's 1938 diamond edition today when Michigan State's powerful squad invades the Iowa field for the first tilt of a two game series.

Harold Haub, sophomore smoke ball pitcher, will probably get the starting assignment in today's game, and if he flashes the form displayed in his last appearance against Northwestern, should cause a noticeable shrinkage in Spartan batting averages.

The Hawks appear to be a much improved team, improvement being noticeable in all departments of play. The pitching, in the games against Northwestern and Notre Dame, was the best that the Vogelmens have enjoyed this season. The fielding, which was so uncertain on the southern training trip, has taken a definite turn for the better.

The Old Gold outfit in the 13 games played to date, have won six of them while dropping seven. That isn't exactly what might be called an impressive record, but in Big 10 play, the two wins over Northwestern place the Hawkeyes on top of the heap with two wins and no losses.

The terrific clouting of Art Manush, who led the team in hitting last year, was largely responsible for the success of the last road trip. He supplied the punch when the punch was needed. It will be a miserable day for Spartan hurlers if he has his eye on the ball this afternoon.

Brooklyn Whips Philadelphia By 6 to 3 Margin

BROOKLYN, April 28 (AP)—The Dodgers mixed timely hitting with effective pitching today and whipped the Phillies, 6 to 3.

Bucky Walters went the route for the Phils, but his wildness and the fact that he couldn't stop the Brooklyn hitting "in the clutches" lost the game for him.

HERE'S WHY You're Going to the May Frolic

Why does a university woman take that certain man to the May Frolic? Answers from the women themselves favor the "sense of obligation" theory. Some of them hint that their ventures this evening will hinge on the "spirit of conquest" theory, while a few admit it was simply love that prompted them.

Among those who don't mind being quoted, Clare Walker, A1 of Davenport, says "Most girls ask the person they like the best of all their dates. Of course it's a good opportunity to repay a man for all the good times he has shown you. I think one of the nicest things about the party is that you can take your mother along and let her see what our university parties are like."

"This party gives the girl a chance to go with someone she really wants to," is the answer of Carol Jane Osterholm, A1 of Waverly.

Pauline Horst, A2 of Muscatine, thinks a girl should choose her date carefully. She adds, "She should consider her obligations, but should also try to take the man she likes the best too."

Julia Haring, A1 of Camanche, is also of the opinion that a woman should be careful in her choice of a date. "It's awfully hard for the girl to choose any certain man and not hurt anyone's feelings," she says; "however, I believe she should choose whom ever she likes best and not consider her obligations too seriously if everyone is to have a good time."

Margaret Joiner, C3 of Maquoketa, feels that a woman should consider her obligations above everything else, but Dorothy Ann Beebe, A3 of Emmetsburg, is of the opinion that love should be the deciding factor.

Poets Change Engle Says They Have Shaved Beards

"The razor blade and psychology are the two things that have made the modern poet different from the older ones," Paul Engle of the English department told members of the University club at their meeting in the Iowa Union club-rooms yesterday.

Since the advent of the razor blade, schoolrooms no longer have rows of bearded gentlemen, known as poets, hanging on their walls, he said.

"Gentlemen in Vienna" have forever blasted the theory that a poet writes through inspiration, was his second explanation. This has helped a great deal to clarify the poet's position, he explained. His work is an attempt to express in verse the understanding that he has acquired, and everything that goes into the poetry is everything that is experienced in the poet's mind, Mr. Engle said.

He explained that the importance in a poem is never the specific thing the poem is about, but rather the effect that it has in the mind of the poet.

The speaker defined the first and whole quality of poetry as "intensity." Modern poetry is trying to take the impacts on the mind and put them into verse which will intensify the feeling of those who read it, he explained.

The poet is not trying to give a philosophy of life, but is by nature of mind a philosopher, because he is trying to intensify his feeling for his reader, Mr. Engle said.

Although psychology has served to clarify the idea of a poet, it is also a nuisance, he declared. The mind, as he explained, is the end result of everything with which it has come in contact, the end result of all impacts of nerves and organs. He pointed out that it is both disconcerting and discouraging to a poet to be told that a poem he has written is just the action of his glands.

There is a sound connection now between history and poetry, Mr. Engle remarked, for we have precise accounts of historical events and can make use of them to show our personal feelings. History in poetry is simply an intensification of a period of time and group of people, he said.

Looking Glass Reflections

As a parting gesture to their favorite swains University women will entertain them at the annual May Frolic tonight. Their dates, wallets left safely at home, will be more than ever observant of the young ladies who attend them. Tonight you are the escort. Dress your most charming to play the unusual role. If you are small and young, your frock may be a blue-green organdy. Its finely shirred waistline, tiny bow trim, square neckline and full puff sleeves will pronounce you not a day older than 16.

For more subtle demureness wear a lovely pale blue organdy dress. Its new basque waistline makes the wearer look as if she had just stepped out of a tin-type. It, too, has a low, square neckline with a narrow velvet bow topping a double row of covered buttons. Among other gowns appropriate for this party is a salmon pink net with embroidered silk dots scattered through the material. A ribbon sash ending in a bow in front marks the gathered waistline.

The distinctive feature of a lavender chiffon gown is its wide waistband of crushed velvet in a deep purple shade. Shirring at the shoulders holds the waist in soft folds. Many will prefer to don wash frocks for this informal occasion. Among them there may be a simple white linen with small red, black and white dots. Both the waistline and collarless bolero are bound in the same colors.

One may also see a smooth-fitting golden linen dress, different because of its pleated waist. Double straps in brown fit over the shoulders down to a low fastening in back. An attractive artificial corsage in brown, yellow and white at the neckline will save the need of a real one. Over it is worn a collarless jacket also piped in brown, which buttons just under the flower at the waist. You will notice this blue and white print frock because of the unique material and its arrangement in a succession of pyramidal stripes. A white pique jacket with buttons covered with the figured material conceals its formal lines.

This cherry linen print with its white leaf design may appear on a charming brunet this evening. Its outstanding features are white linen lapels and a large bow fastening at the low neckline. Another linen frock, this one for a blonde, is a pattern of diagonal stripes in red, orange, yellow and green. Not to be forgotten is the bright-flowered hopsacking dress which will certainly be chosen by some vivacious charmer. It is high-waisted with a slightly gathered

Mortar Board Entertains At Annual May Frolic Tonight

Mothers and Fathers of University Women May Attend as Guests; Sterling Young's Orchestra to Furnish Music

Mothers, fathers and dates will be guests of University women tonight as Mortar Board entertains at the May Frolic from 9 until 12 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Sterling Young and his orchestra, who come from the Stevens hotel in Chicago, will play for the dancers. Bobby Ennis of Jackson, Miss., who sang formerly with Jimmy Joy and Herbie Kay and their orchestras at the Schroeder hotel in Milwaukee, Wis., and the Drake hotel in Chicago, will be the featured vocalist. Other singers with the orchestra are Donna Lee and Gil Dagenais. Visiting mothers and fathers will be admitted to the party on their daughters' tickets.

Chaperons for the party include Dean of Women Adelaide L. Burge, Prof. and Mrs. B. V. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Rehder, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Horner and Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Gillies. Tea will be served to the chaperons in the private dining room during the dance. Although the party is informal, university women will wear long dresses. Janes Savery, A4 of Atlantic, president of Mortar Board, will wear peach taffeta. The dress is made along shirtwaist lines and is worn with silver accessories. She will take Robert Mitterling, A1 of Webster City, to the dance. Lavanda Carr John Zoeckler of Davenport will be the guest of Lavanda Carr, A4 of Clermont. Miss Carr will wear white taffeta with a bouffant skirt and trimming of white cording.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon E. Steepleton and their children, Joyce, Jerry and Carolyn, 625 S. Governor street, will leave Sunday for Vinton, where Mr. Steepleton is employed by the Hutchinson Ice Cream company. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McIntosh of Wellman visited Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Dierdorff, 431 E. Jefferson street, Wednesday evening. They attended "Cavallera Rusticana" in which Jean McIntosh, A3 of Wellman, sings. Pauline Wehmyer, A2 of Davenport, will spend the week end at her home. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Johnson of Ottumwa will spend the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wright, 515 E. College street. Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wright. Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Rohner and their son, Jack, of Primghar are visiting for two weeks at the home of Mrs. H. J. Evers, 1147 E. Court street. Mrs. F. H. McCray of Schaller has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. McCray, 1717 Muscatine avenue, since Easter. Lieut. and Mrs. George S. Lieutenant Robinson of the United States navy engineering corps, and Mrs. Robinson, niece of Mrs. Plum, will stop while enroute from Kingston, N. Y., to San Francisco. They will sail from San Francisco May 13 for Cavite, Philippine Islands, to be stationed there for two years. Lieutenant Robinson has been stationed at the Boston navy yard the last year. Prof. Alexander Ellett of the physics department is attending the meeting of the American Physical society in Washington, D. C., this week. With him at the affair are Dr. Donald Bayley, also of the physics department, Robert Hinton, G of Iowa City, and James Van Allen, G of Mt. Pleasant. They will return early next week.

Four Finalists In Tournament Debate Today

Four finalists in the round robin tournament of speakers who form the argumentation and debate class will participate in a radio debate over station WSUI this afternoon from 3 o'clock to 4 o'clock on "Resolved, that the United States establish an alliance with Great Britain." Debating on the affirmative side will be Loren Hickerson, A2 of Iowa City, and Robbins Fischer, A1 of Turin. On the negative side will be John Gilotti, A2 of Des Moines, and John Fishburn, A2 of Muscatine. The affirmative team will go to Columbia, Mo., May 6 to appear before a meeting of the Missouri high schools for a demonstration debate.

Former Iowa Prof. Made Quaker State Attorney General

Dean Herbert F. Goodrich of the University of Pennsylvania law school, a former member of the University of Iowa college of law faculty, has been appointed attorney general by Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania. Dean Goodrich came to the University of Iowa in 1914 from Harvard university and after spending several years here on the university faculty he became dean of the college of law at the University of Michigan. He later became dean of the University of Pennsylvania's law school.

Cautions Audience at Traffic School

C. J. Butterfield Warns Drivers About Children

Says Autoist Who Hits Child Hasn't Much Chance in Court

"The driver who runs down a child has two strikes against him before he ever gets into court," C. J. Butterfield, principal of Henry Sabin school, warned the audience at the ninth session of the Iowa City traffic school in the city council chambers last night.

Using pictures showing the scenes and details of 11 actual accidents, he summarized five significant facts regarding the liability of drivers brought into court for injuring a child.

The first factor that a court's recognize, he declared, is that a child's right on the street is equal to that of an adult. And this right, he continued, should be respected by drivers.

"A second important factor in liability," he said, "is that a child cannot be held to the mental standards of an adult, and as a result does not act as rational."

Children are presumed to be negligent, and courts held this viewpoint, he said. In showing the pictures, it was shown by the speaker that the extreme negligence of children had not relieved the driver from liability when the driver had not made allowance for children's irrational behavior.

The fourth he characterized as the courts attitude in declaring that drivers must use caution in the mere presence of children. The fifth factor outlined was the liability exerted on drivers for the safety of children, whether the driver had seen the child or not.

A history of safety in schools and other groups was traced by the speaker.

"The teaching of safety is more than teaching just caution—it is the training of the child to be cooperative. That is the solution to this problem," he declared.

Parts of the Iowa traffic code covering licenses for beginners, driving cars by school children, rules for bicycles and laws for driving in school zones, were discussed by Police Judge Burke Carson.

John R. Hattery, chief of the state highway patrol, will speak at the tenth session of the Iowa City traffic school next Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

40TH ANNIVERSARY

Spanish-American War Veterans Meet

Spanish-American war veterans held a dinner in the Johnson county courthouse last night in observance of the 40th anniversary of being mustered into service.

A program consisting of two solos by Leon R. Kleopfer, Iowa City, accompanied by Jay Guy on the piano, two recitations by Joan Sullivan, and a short history of the Spanish-American war by Darrell Feay, was presented.

Anecdotes and personal experiences were told by James R. McVicker, Bert E. Oathout, Charles Mills, Marshall N. Adams, Joseph F. Bartosky, James Vanek, Harry Parr and John Ray, all of Iowa City. E. H. Mackey of West Liberty also reminisced.

AROUND THE TOWN

With TOM JOHNSON

Their Memorial

Immediately after the peace mass meeting at Northwestern university Wednesday, students gathered to erect their own war memorial.

They had an odd idea . . . to quote the Daily Northwestern, "Our memorial must be a living thing, an appropriate symbol of our living faith in the future. If that future is cut off, then let our memorial be cut off, too. We repudiate the mockery of a memorial which hypocritically perpetuates the memory of unwilling cannonfodder."

So, the Northwestern students planted a tree . . . "to be our memorial until we are killed in the next war. We do charge those that may survive us with the solemn duty to cut down this tree upon our deaths. Our memorial shall honestly symbolize the waste of war."

Planned Planting

The students were limited by space, I assume, otherwise it would be appropriate to plant one tree for each student. And to destroy them singly . . . as the telegrams from the war department arrive. . .

I might suggest a more effective memorial. Why chop the tree down? Why not inject a plant poison when war is declared? Certainly when the war ends, the tree would be dead . . . but standing, its limbs barren. It might suggest to many the unproductiveness of war. . .

Takes All Kinds

Police Judge Burke N. Carson was mightily pleased the other day when a motorist told him how much he appreciated the traffic school, its value to the community, etc. . .

"Why," he said, "I wouldn't miss a session for the world. I was even forced to hit 80 coming into Iowa City for the last one!"

Too bad the highway patrol wasn't around.

By the way, John R. Hattery, chief of the efficient patrol system, will speak at the school next Thursday night. . .

Speaker--

In New York, some of the plays have as their objective the creation of hatred of another group," he asserted.

The chief virtue of a democratic government is its inefficiency, he pointed out.

"When government works efficiently, then human beings suffer. . . Our government has always been incompetent and inefficient. We've never been ruled in this country because nobody knows how. . . Most of the presidents were fairly mediocre people. Even Abraham Lincoln, until he was assassinated, was never considered the equal to the men in his cabinet," he said.

Because the Russians needed efficiency more than they needed liberty, a dictatorship arose, Mr. Sokolsky declared, and the same thing happened in Italy and Germany.

"The German people today are living in a state of happy oppression," he said.

"There was no class hatred in Germany until Hitler created the intense animosity between the Germans and the Jews. He was wise in doing this, because he centralized enthusiasm for his cause," Mr. Sokolsky declared.

Another favorite weapon of the European dictators is the breakdown of institutions involving sentiment. As an example the lecturer turned to Russia's attack on the church.

"Similar things are happening here. The destruction of our ideals of the constitution, the court, the division of power and states' rights all have as their definite objective to strengthen the power of govern-

Scout Council Hears Reports Of Committees

Proceed With Planning For Camporee; Round-up

Reports by various committee chairmen were made at the regular monthly meeting of the Johnson county Boy Scout district of the Iowa City area council last night in the S. P. C. S. club rooms. Judge R. G. Popham presided.

Scout Commissioner Gordon L. Kent, reporting on organization and training, said that Johnson county at present has 163 scouts. In leadership training 10 leaders graduated from the course, which ended in April, and 14 scouts completed their den chiefs' training course, Kent said.

George Trotter declared the activities suggestions made by the activities committee to be acceptable with the scout masters and the commissioner's staff, and to proceed with the plans of the Round-up on June 9 and the Boy Scout camporee, which will be held at a later date, with time and place to be decided.

Reuben Scharf led a discussion on the Round-up, giving the list of activities to take place in the event.

Scout Executive Owen E. Thiel reported that seven dens of cubs have been organized, with six others to be reorganized and placed under leadership of the institution.

When the reorganization is completed, there will be a cub pack in each of the five school districts, and the reorganization program is expected to finish within the next two weeks, Thiel said.

The finance committee reported $18.24 on hand Jan. 1, and the sum total received during this year was $1,260.86. Listed expenditures were $1,256.05, which gave a balance of $23.15.

Announcements were made which included the Appreciation dinner for Iowa City area council scout leaders and their wives on May 19 in the river room of Iowa Union, meeting of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America May 13 and 14 at Cleveland, Ohio, regional meeting in Omaha, Neb., June 1, Cedar Rapids area council "circus" tomorrow and Saturday in the Colosseum, and the Davenport council "Buffalo Bill" field meet at Muscatine on May 24.

It was suggested that scouters plan to attend the last two named events.

Accident Exhibit On Display In Local Pharmacy

An exhibit by J. W. Willard shown in connection with National Health and Accident Week is on display in the south window of Lubin's pharmacy.

The set for the opera, which takes place in a small village in Sicily, was designed by Edward Kyvig; and Robert Whitehand is in charge of stage direction.

The musical background of the performance will combine the facilities of the university chamber orchestra and chorus, augmented by a small chorus, and organ used in the church scene.

P.T.A. Group Re-elects Head Last Evening

Mrs. Bruce Mahan was re-elected president of the St. Mary's Parent-Teacher association at a meeting of the group last night in the schoolhouse.

Other officers elected include Mrs. George Scanlon, vice-president; Mrs. Fred Bauer, secretary, and Mrs. Joe Cilek, treasurer.

Appearing on the program were Mrs. John Sueppel and Prof. Christian Richard of the school of religion. Mrs. Sueppel presented the topic, "Development of Self-Reliance," and Professor Richard led a discussion of "Adolescent Problems."

Let Contracts For City High Construction

Contracts valued at $600,000 for the new $725,000 city school structure will be let tomorrow at 2 p.m.

The contracts to be let include general construction, electrical work, plumbing and sewers, steam heating, ventilating and temperature control. A grading contract will be let at 1 p.m.

The $600,000 estimate is exclusive of ground improvements. A five per cent bond must be posted with the estimate and it will be on a basis of cash by monthly payments.

Architect John L. Hamilton of Chicago will be present at the contract-letting.

To Give Second Performance Of Opera Tonight

The second performance of the Italian opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana," will begin at 8:15 tonight in the dramatic arts building with Prof. Herald I. Stark of the music department conducting.

The only change in the cast of the one-act melodrama will be in the role of Lucia, which will be sung at tonight's performance by Madge Jones, A4 of Cedar Rapids. The part was taken in the first performance by Margaret Brandt.

Mrs. Carolyn Leland as Santuzza and Thomas Muir as Turiddu will sing the leading roles. Other soloists are Hugh Cockshoot as Alfio and Maxine Tipton as Lola.

selves. And so they are easily fooled by their leaders."

He named no names and in answer to a specific question whether he meant labor leaders, said: "No."

"There's plenty to be done in industry and it ought to be done now," Ford said. "Forty years ago people could not foresee all the work the invention and manufacture of automobiles was to bring. Now it's the same with other things. Everything, railroads, manufacturing, farming, ought to be overhauled and improved."

Hardships strengthen character, he said, and even the hardship of unemployment—"the worst in the world," he said—strengthens a person if that person suffers enough to be driven out of unemployment into work.

Someone asked Ford, who will be 75 on July 30, how his health was. He said it was good because he made it good and remarked that "if your health's no good it's your own fault." He safeguards his own by not overeating and by keeping busy, he said.

He was not pessimistic about Europe, said he doesn't believe things are as bad as they are pictured, expressed his conviction people are not to be misled easily into war, and said he is going to England this summer to look over the 4,000-acre Essex county farm where "we are teaching England she can feed herself."

1938 School Music Festival to Smash All Previous Records

8,000 Students Planning Trek To State Meet

First Entries From 220 High Schools Will Come Thursday

By LOREN HICKERSON
The 13th annual Iowa high school music festival will begin here Thursday, smashing all previous records in numbers of events, competing schools and individual contestants.

Faced with the responsibility of not only supervising the three-day affair, in which student musicians from some 220 high schools will vie for coveted superior ratings, university officials continue to work overtime to provide lodging facilities for the more than 8,000 contestants, their instructors and chaperons who will invade the city next week.

Largest in History

Despite new entries each day and the withdrawal of contestants in various divisions, tentative schedules reveal that this year's festival will surpass all of the 12 preceding years in which thousands of high school students from all parts of the state have performed before nationally famous judges to receive ratings of superior, excellent, good or average.

Winners of superior ratings in most events of the festival will be eligible to enter the regional contest which will begin in Minneapolis, Minn., May 19. In many cases, in which the regional contest is closer than the state festival, western and northern schools will be sent directly to the regional contest.

Mezzo-Soprano Solo

The addition this year of a mezzo-soprano solo event, in which 10 entries will compete, raises to 35 the total number of events in which honors will be awarded.

Large groups, including choruses, glee clubs, orchestras and bands, will compete in AA, A, B, and C classes, in accordance with school enrollment, while soloists will compete in single classes and small vocal and instrumental groups in combined AA and A or B and C groups.

Five Contest Centers

Five contest centers will be in almost constant use during the festival. In addition to the Methodist church, north music hall and Iowa Union, two new contest centers will be used—the newly-reconstructed Community building and the Congregational church.

In order to provide sufficient seating capacity for audiences of the large groups, most of the glee clubs, choruses, orchestras and bands will compete in Iowa Union and the Community building, while the other three centers will be used for soloists and small groups. The final afternoon's marching band competition will take place in Iowa stadium.

Eighteen nationally-known judges will rate the excellence of the contestants.

Housing Facilities

Contestants will be housed in the fieldhouse, the Moose club-rooms, the women's gymnasium, the lounge of the fine arts building, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Horace Mann and Longfellow schools, the Iowa City high school gymnasium, the Elks clubrooms, the K.C. hall, the new armory, the Christian, St. Paul and Unitarian churches, Masonic temple, Carrier hall, Westlawn, University high school and in private homes.

In many cases students will arrive and leave on the same day, although some will stay for the entire festival, appearing in different groups or in solo events on different days.

Increase in Entries

A constant increase in the number of contestants in almost every event of the festival has been noticeable during the last two years. Outstanding is the increase this year in numbers of large groups over the two preceding years.

This year tentative schedules show 46 mixed choruses will appear, an increase of six over last year and 12 over 1936. Forty-nine girls' and 26 boys' glee clubs will appear at this year's festival, while 25 orchestras, 39 concert bands and 26 marching bands will appear before the judges.

Large increases in solo events are also evident this year, with 19 baritone-bass soloists (an increase of six over last year) and 21 sopranos (an increase of eight over 1937) scheduled in their respective events. Sixteen trumpet-cornet, 16 flute, 16 saxophone, and 18 clarinet soloists will play for judge's ratings.

Snare Drum and Piano

Fourteen snare drummers will appear at this year's festival, three more than last year and five more than in 1936. Perhaps the greatest increase in numbers of contestants in any one solo group this year over last is in the piano event, in which 23 musicians will appear, an increase of five over last year and 11 over 1936. The piano event is the largest single solo event in this year's festival. Seventy small vocal groups and

A Tree Surgeon—Not Tarzan

No, it's not Tarzan. Instead it is D. W. Farrens, tree surgeon, who has been employed by the university to doctor woody perennials on the campus. His position here may look pretty perilous to the casual observer, but Farrens doesn't mind. "I just throw a rope over a limb in the tree and shiny up, then throw it up to another higher limb. I never use a ladder because the falling limbs would break it to pieces," he said.

Just Like Tarzan

D. W. Farrens, Tree Surgeon, Is Kept Busy Doctoring Wood Perennials

By RANDY McDERMOTT
Students around Old Capitol the last day or so have probably thought Edgar Rice Burroughs' Tarzan had come out of the jungle and was swinging through the campus trees. But it was really D. W. Farrens, tree surgeon, employed by the university to doctor wood perennials.

Walking along swaying limbs as nonchalantly as pedestrians pass on the sidewalks 60 feet below him, Farrens trims the limbs with hand saws—one called a speed saw with large teeth and the other a smaller pruning saw for twigs.

When he gets as far out as the limb will hold him, he reaches the farther ones with a pole saw. These three saws have blades curved downward and teeth set at a backward angle making the cutting motion on the pull stroke.

Farrens uses a 120-foot rope doubled over a limb high in the tree and he swings from limb to limb by it. One end is tied to a double bowline in which he sits. The rope goes over a limb above him and back and is tied just above the bowline with a taut hitch.

This knot will hold by itself should Farrens fall off the limb, but when he wants to lower himself to the ground he merely pulls down on the taut hitch and the rope will slide through it. He said he has fallen many times but it has happened mostly when, with his rope fastened in another limb, the wind would sway the one he was trimming and he would be pulled off.

Farrens, who got his training at the Davey Tree company in Kent, Ohio, has worked since 1927 from Canada to Florida and from Ohio to Wyoming. The most disagreeable tree he has trimmed, he says, is the live oak in Florida which has a Spanish moss hanging from the limbs like bunches of hay that has to be pulled off before the limbs can be trimmed.

He said he has worked so high in some of these Florida oaks a 120-foot rope hanging full length wouldn't reach the ground.

New Editors of the Iowa Law Review

nior classes on a competitive basis and the officers are appointed from among the junior members of the staff. Appointment to an office is one of the three highest honors in the college of law—the other two are membership in the Order of Coif and arguing in the Supreme Court Day arguments.

Annual Law Review Banquet To Honor Officers Tonight

Rheinstein of Chicago To Speak Before Group at 6:30

The new officers of the 1938-39 volume of the Iowa Law Review will be honored at the eighth annual Law Review banquet at 6:30 tonight in the lounge of the Law commons. Erwin L. Buck, L2 of Grand Junction, will be editor-in-chief, and W. Glen Harlan, L2 of Stuart, and Harvey Uhlenhopp, L2 of Hampton, will serve as notes and comments editors.

Max Rheinstein, professor at the University of Chicago and international authority on common and civil law, will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Differences Between Common and Civil Law."

A graduate of the University of Munich, Germany, Rheinstein was a research member of Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Foreign and International Private Law in Berlin from 1926 to 1933. He is a corresponding member of the Institute of Legislative studies in Rome, Italy, and an adviser to the American Law Institute on torts and property.

Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the college of law will present the Law Review certificates to the 21 staff members and Prof. L. Sayre of the college of law will serve as toastmaster.

The three new officers of the Iowa Law Review will have the complete editorial and financial responsibility of editing and publishing the volume. Buck will have charge of the general organization and content of each issue, together with administering the business management. Harlan and Uhlenhopp will edit the student section and work with the staff of student writers.

Members of the staff are chosen from the junior and senior classes on a competitive basis and the officers are chosen from the junior members of the staff.

The Iowa Law Review stands high among legal publications and has a subscription list of 1,500 attorneys in Iowa. It also goes to outside subscribers and to libraries in 19 foreign countries.

Each issue contains about 200 pages including articles by leading legal scholars over the United States. It contains a student section, a book review section and the Iowa Bar section edited by the Iowa Bar association.

Saetveit to Show Theramin Machine

Joseph G. Saetveit, G of Iowa City, will demonstrate his theramin wave machine in a group of musical selections at the luncheon and meeting of the Masonic service club in the Masonic temple at noon today.

Prof. E. G. "Dad" Schroeder, president, will preside.

'A Rose--For Mother'

Iowa Students Will Pay Tribute to All Visiting Parents

Mothers visiting the campus during the Mother's day week end celebration will be awakened early Sunday morning and presented with roses as a tribute paid to them by the Iowa Students.

Approximately 35 dozen roses will be purchased with funds contributed by sororities, fraternities and dormitories, and delivered by members of Mortar Board, students and alumnae.

It is especially to facilitate this distribution of roses that mothers are urged to register at Iowa Union as soon as possible after their arrival.

Marian and Jeannette Smalley, both A4 of Muscatine, head the committee in charge of the roses.

The May Frolie at Iowa Union tonight will open the festivities of the Mother's day week end which will continue through Sunday. Tomorrow's program includes the mother-son-daughter banquet, a sports review, preschool demonstration, coffee hour and campus tours.

Special services will be held in Iowa City churches Sunday morning and mothers are invited to attend the tea given at the home of President and Mrs. Eugene A. Gilmore Sunday afternoon.

Examination Schedule

Second Semester, 1937-1938

Monday, May 23, 8 a.m. to Tuesday, May 31, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (1), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below.

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation in the case of any examination, from this Schedule, except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned, to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted. Students should prepare and deposit such petitions in the offices of the Deans of Men (men) and Women (women).

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) The instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour May 19 or 20; if possible, May 12 or 13.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T, Th, S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently Tuesday at 8, and the class will meet for examination Tuesday, May 24, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics (126) meets twice each week, T, F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination, is, therefore, Saturday, May 28, 2 p.m.

N. B. All sections of "Principles of Speech" (1), (2) and (4) (Except Section J*) will meet during Examination Week on the days and at the periods designated below. Consult the bulletin board, Room 13 & H. for room assignments.

Mon., May 24—Section H, 8-10 Speech (1), 8-10	Fri., May 27—Section I, 8-10 Section C, 1-3 Section G, 3-5 Speech (4), 3-5
Tues., May 24—Section A, 1-3 Section E, 3-5	Sat., May 28—Section D, 10-12 Section B, 1-3 Section F, 3-5

*Section J will meet as announced by the instructors.

"ODD" classes, namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each class, by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

- From 4 to 6 on any day from May 23 to May 31 inclusive, Sunday and Memorial Day excepted.
- Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F and G, since for such "odd" classes these seven examination periods will be found quite available.

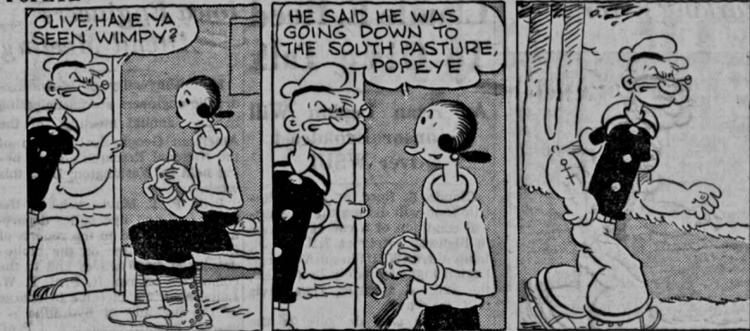

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times, if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time.

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.," unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "F."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

18 Criminal Cases, 74 Civil Listed for May Term of Court

12 Petitions for Divorce Included in Civil Case List

Eighteen criminal cases and 74 civil cases are listed in the bar docket issued for the May term of court by County Clerk R. Neilson Miller. The term opens Monday with Judge Harold D. Evans presiding.

Included in the 74 civil cases are 12 divorce petitions, 13 suits on promissory notes, 15 foreclosure actions and nine cases seeking to determine the title to property.

The damage suit of Mary E. Pittman against the Central States Theater corporation, operating the Englert theater, involves the largest sum of any case filed for the term, $26,150. She alleges she was injured in a fall in the aisle of the Englert theater last year.

Unusual Case

An unusual case is the injunction proceeding of the White Line Motor Freight company against William Haigh and Ben Haigh. The company seeks an injunction to prevent Haigh from filing a suit in the Chicago municipal court for damages allegedly received in a truck car accident near Atalissa. Judge James P. Gaffney issued a temporary injunction in favor of the company at the time the petition was filed.

Two other damage suits involving large amounts have been filed for the May term. Bertha Strickler, administratrix of the estate of Elmus J. Strickler, asks $15,000 damages from the Keeshin Motor Express company for the death of Mr. Strickler in a car-truck accident near Wilton Junction Feb. 4, 1937.

The Iowa Electric Light and Power company was named the defendant in a suit by Louis Machacek, administrator of the estate of Frank Machacek, for $10,000 damages for the death of Frank Machacek when he was allegedly struck and killed by an interurban near Cou Falls May 28, 1937.

Criminal Cases

The 18 criminal cases which are pending hearing are: state of Iowa against Jacob Mattes, an appeal from police court; state of Iowa against George Kost, on a charge of forgery; Iowa City against John Collins Jr., an appeal from police court; Iowa City against George Stewart, Fred Pierce, M. G. Viers, Larry White and Kenneth Ibrig, an appeal from the police court.

State of Iowa against Sidney Cross, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated; state of Iowa against Sebastian Vinciguerra, on a charge of illegal transportation of liquor; state of Iowa against a 1936 Ford coupe, against conveyance; state of Iowa against Don Zahner, an appeal from justice court.

Forgery Charges

State of Iowa against P. A. McLamore, an appeal from justice court; state of Iowa against Carl Norton, an appeal from justice court; state of Iowa against Lloyd Tucker, on a charge of forgery; state of Iowa against Ruth Baines, on a charge of forgery; Iowa City against Elmer Jacobs, an appeal from police court.

State of Iowa against Ray Diebold, larceny of a motor vehicle; state of Iowa against Richard F. Parrish, on two charges of forgery and one of uttering a forged instrument, and state of Iowa against William Nerad, on a charge of desertion.

V. Nall Attends Chevrolet Meet

Vernon W. Nall, owner of the Nall Chevrolet company and vice-president of the associate Chevrolet dealers in the Davenport district, attended a meeting of 112 associate dealers and their wives in Davenport Tuesday.

The group heard short sales talks at a banquet in the Blackhawk hotel Tuesday noon.

Contests

Winners to Get Round Trip to Chicago

Winners of the National Air-mail week poster and essay contests in Johnson county will receive free round trips to Chicago on United Air lines' planes, it was announced yesterday by Attorney Will J. Hayek, chairman of the education committee.

United Air lines' has promised a round trip to the winner of the essay contest, while the Iowa City chamber of commerce announced a similar award to the winner of the county poster contest.

Winning posters and essays for Johnson county will be selected by Frank J. Snider, county superintendent, and will compete in the state contest. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight Sunday, addressed to the State Chairman, National Airmail week, in care of Postmaster Walter J. Barrow.

Dr. G. Callahan To Seek Nomination For County Coroner

Dr. George D. Callahan, 405 S. Summit street, filed nomination papers seeking the democratic renomination for county coroner at the June 6 primaries, with County Auditor Ed Sulek Wednesday.

He was graduated from the college of medicine in 1930. No other nominations for the office have been filed.

Evans to Close Court's Term

Appearance Day For May Term Cases Named

The February term of Johnson county district court will be adjourned at noon today by Judge Harold D. Evans. The May term of court opens Monday with Judge Evans presiding.

Tuesday is the appearance day for all cases filed for the May term. The parties to the cases must be in court at the time the case is called or the action will be dismissed.

The 12 grand jurors will meet in the grand jury room of the courthouse Monday at 2 p.m.

The 60 petit jurors will report at 10 a.m. May 9. Judge Evans will make the first assignment of law cases for the May term Wednesday, and the cases will be heard by the jury after it has reported.

The attorneys representing the parties in 50 damages suits, filed for previous terms of court, have filed trial notices asking that these cases be assigned for this term of court.

Lines Won't Be Fully Repaired Until Next Fall

Describing the damage of the sleet storm of April 6 to members of the Iowa City Rotary club at a meeting yesterday noon in the Jefferson hotel, M. R. Petersen, manager of the Northwestern Bell telephone company, said all telephone lines would not be restored to their usual order until fall.

Petersen said more than 80 miles of wire were required to put phone service back in order in Iowa City and immediate vicinity. Twelve trucks and 36 outside men, in addition to the regular crew of 12, were used by the telephone company for five days following the storm.

Roscoe E. Taylor, general manager of the Iowa City Light and Power company, said his problems were similar to those of the telephone company, but he was unable to obtain outside aid to help restore service in the city. Taylor said many wires were down during the storm, and service was restored by men who labored 18 hours a day for four straight days.

The secretary will have charge of the correspondence for class reunions and other alumni meetings.

Nominations were given at a meeting of the senior class Tuesday, and ballots were cast yesterday.

Wind Velocity Hits High of 45 M.P.H.

Wind velocity in Iowa City yesterday ranged generally between 22 and 36 miles per hour, and reached a high of 45, according to the United States Weather bureau station.

Temperatures yesterday ranged between 64 and 47 degrees. Precipitation this year has amounted to 7.55 inches.

A Common Parking Error

Would you commend a driver who parked his car like this? On first appearance it may look like a good job of parking. He is close to the curb and not parked in any restricted zone. But the fault here is that the car is parked on the left side of the street. What will happen as he cuts across to his right side of the street? Iowa City police say cars parked this way cause numerous accidents because the driver is forced to cut through the traffic coming from the right to gain his side of the street. Their advice is to play safe and always park on the right side of the road.

Will Hold High School Junior, Senior Banquet Tomorrow Eve

Two Hundred and Fifty Upper-Classmen To Attend Dance

Two hundred and fifty Iowa City high school upper-classmen are preparing for the semi-formal annual junior-senior dinner-dance tomorrow night—the year's top social event.

As guests of the juniors, the graduating class will banquet in the river room of Iowa Union at 6 p.m. At 8:30 p.m. the festivities will shift to the high school gymnasium where dancing will continue to the music of Len Carroll and his orchestra until 11:30 p.m.

Conscience Resident Pays $3 To Sleep in Peace

The "worried conscience" of some Johnson county resident was lessened and the property tax fund in County Treasurer W. E. Smith's office increased by $3 in cash yesterday.

Smith received an unsigned letter containing $3 pinned to a short note, which read: "I am enclosing $3 tax money to be entered under money and credits. Sinc. One of your taxpayers with a worried conscience."

Employees in the treasurer's office promptly made out a receipt to the anonymous person for $3. The amount was credited on tax valuation of $500. The levy on the property was set at six mills.

Smith said he could not recall a similar case in Johnson county.
