F.R. Asks For Strong Attack On Monopoly

Proposes $500,000 For Investigation In Message

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt demanded a broad attack upon "business monopoly" today lest, he said, a "concentration of private power without equal in history" grow stronger than the government itself and engulf the nation in fascism.

Sending to congress his long-awaited message on the anti-trust laws, a bulky, bluntly-worded document, he proposed a $500,000 investigation of "collectivism in business," followed by action to restore "the democratic competitive order."

He said the inquiry, to be conducted by the federal trade commission, the securities and exchange commission, the justice department, and other agencies, should cover such subjects as improved procedure in enforcing the anti-trust statutes, mergers and interlocking directorates, financial controls, the activities of trade associations, the effect of the patent laws on the problem, and improvements in the tax laws.

He asked, moreover, a $200,000 supplemental appropriation for the justice department to help enforce the present anti-trust laws; and the creation of a new bureau of industrial economics to supply industry with statistics which would guard it against periods of over-production.

"Unhappy events abroad have re- taught us two simple truths about the liberty of a democratic people," he said.

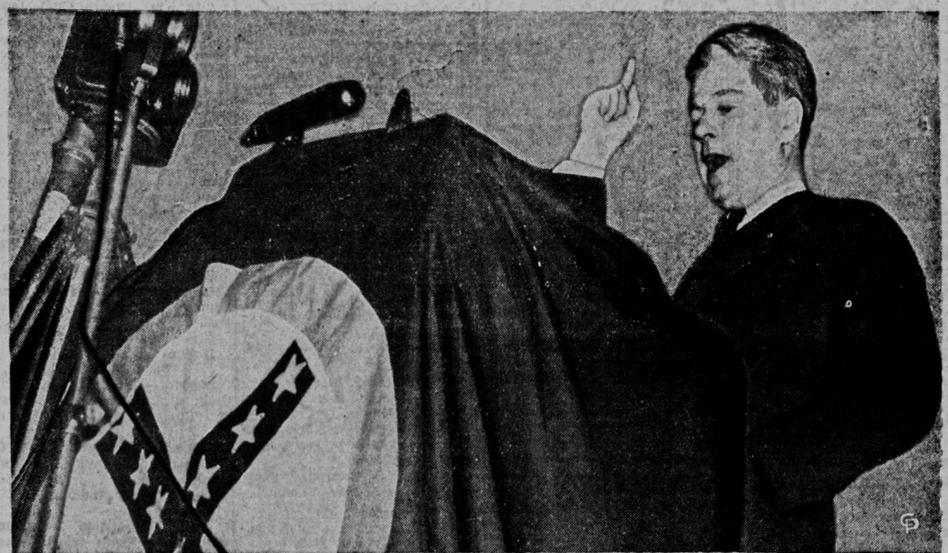

"The first is that the liberty of a democracy is not safe if the people tolerate the growth of private power to a point where it becomes stronger than their democratic state itself. That, in its essence, is fascism — ownership of government by an individual, by a group, or by any other controlling private power."

"The second truth is that the liberty of a democracy is not safe if its business system does not provide employment and produce and distribute goods in such a way as to sustain an acceptable standard of living."

The finished recipes will climax the novel and fascinating course of instruction in the second annual motion picture cooking school. The theater doors will open at 9:30 a.m., and the picture will begin at 10 a.m.

Among the intriguing recipes which will be demonstrated are carmelon chocolate cake, lemon meringue pie, banana coconut rolls, Danish coffee bread and salad bowl.

New National Party Formed By LaFollette

Planes Battle Over Hankow

Japanese and Chinese Sides Both Report Major Victory

SHANGHAI, April 29 (AP)—Chinese and Japanese air armadas "celebrated" the 37th birthday of Japan's Emperor Hirohito today with the war's greatest aerial battle high in the clouds over Hankow. Both sides claimed victory.

Dispatches reaching Shanghai from the provisional capital said 300 persons were killed and 700 wounded by Japanese bombs in the crowded industrial Han Yang areas, across the Han river, before Chinese fliers drove the attackers away.

A Japanese navy communiqué said that 50 Japanese planes participated in the raid and that 80 Chinese ships engaged them in a dog fight. This communiqué reported 50 Chinese planes were shot down and only two Japanese craft failed to return to their home base.

(Chinese headquarters at Hankow said 50 Japanese planes and 23 Chinese pursuit ships took part in the battle and that 20 of the Japanese craft, including eight bombers, were brought down. These reports said three Chinese planes were lost, one made a forced landing and four were missing.)

Meanwhile, the exhausted armies on the 30-mile zig-zagging battle line along the Grand canal, 10 to 15 miles north of the Lung-hai railway, engaged in fierce attacks and counterattacks.

3 Soviet Planes Rescue People From Iceboats

MOSCOW, April 29 (AP)—Three big soviet planes have rescued 184 men, women and children from three icebreakers which were drifting helplessly with their convoy ships into the north polar basin.

Pilots of the aircraft telegraphed Joseph Stalin today that they had landed the refugees at Tixy bay, on the northern Siberian coast. The icebreakers — Sadko, Malygin and Sedoff—were caught in an icepack in Arctic waters last Oct. 23.

The pilots — G. K. Oroloff, A. D. Alexeyeff and P. G. Golovin—reported skeleton crews of 33 men were left on board the ships, with enough supplies for two years.

Britain, France Combine Their Might In Pledging Czechoslovakian Support

LONDON, April 29 (AP)—Great Britain and France confronted Adolf Hitler tonight with a line-up of their combined might against possible war and pledged moral if not physical backing of Czechoslovakia.

The two powers in a two-day conference among Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax of Britain and Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France:

1. Agreed to coordinate their land, air and sea forces into one great military machine.

2. Agreed to use their power for defense of common interests and their national and international ideals—meaning democracy.

3. Strengthened the democratic front. France approved Britain's deal with Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy for settlement of Mediterranean, African and Spanish issues; Britain pressed France to make her peace with Italy quickly.

4. Agreed "on action which could most usefully be undertaken with a view of assuring peaceful and just solution of problems" in central Europe.

5. Examined world problems, including the situation in the far east, but did not disclose their conclusions. The policy of non-intervention in Spain was reaffirmed.

It was learned that Chamberlain suggested opening conversations with Hitler in the near future, but that the French flatly rejected the proposal.

However, Halifax and the French diplomats will make friendly overtures shortly to Berlin and other central European capitals regarding Czechoslovakia.

While strengthening cooperation between the British and French fighting branches as a defensive measure, the ministers decided to pursue their efforts for general European appeasement.

Union Chieftains Oppose Notice Of Railroad Employee Wage Cut

CHICAGO, April 20 (AP)—A notice of a 15 per cent wage cut for 1,000,000 employees of the nation's major railroads evoked a promise of stiff opposition from union chieftains today.

The Association of American Railroads, embracing 142 class one lines, voted to put the reduction into effect July 1 to save $250,000,000 a year in an effort to offset dwindling revenues and increased operating costs.

The organization contended the action was necessary because the financial position of the carriers was more desperate than in 1932.

A challenge came quickly from D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. He declared at Cleveland:

"There will be no wage reduction agreed to by railroad employees."

He described the move as an attempt to "embarrass" President Roosevelt in his "efforts to bolster recovery," and asserted the railroads had slashed their payrolls by $40,000,000 a month since last October.

pressed by George M. Harrison, head of the Railway Labor Executives association. As he entered the White House to confer with Mr. Roosevelt, he stated:

"I am disappointed that the railroads would launch a movement to cut wages and dry up purchasing power in view of the effort of the president to increase purchasing power. The railroad problem is not as acute as management representatives are endeavoring to make the public believe."

The association, however, cited a drop of $13,710,622, or 10 per cent, in net operating income during the four months ended in January, 1938, compared with a similar period ended in January, 1932.

"Even more significant is the fact that net operating income in January, 1938, fell 38 per cent below that of January, 1932," it added. "Freight traffic has now fallen below the 1932 level."

As the first step toward the contemplated cut, the association served formal notice upon the 21 brotherhoods.

Southern Methodist Group Approves Union With Other Branches of Church

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 29 (AP)—Southern Methodists voted overwhelmingly today for union with other branches of the denomination, despite warnings of "secession" by deep south opponents of affiliation with northern adherents of the church.

The vote in the 23rd quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, was: For unification, 434; against, 26.

A spokesman for the layman's organization of the Southern Methodist church said the "defeat today was just about what we expected."

"We will ask that our counsel be allowed to present our side of the case before the judicial council," he said.

F. D. R. Favors 'Balance Sheet'

Proposal for Industry Aims to Stabilize Production

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt indicated today that he favored a "national balance sheet" for industry and would welcome "any specific suggestions" from the 16 bankers, industrialists and insurance executives who recently gave him a pledge of cooperation.

John W. Hanes, securities commissioner who hails from Wall street, had suggested previously that the "balance sheet" be adopted as a means of stabilizing production and employment. He said the proposal, intended to help manufacturers balance their output against probable demand, was being studied by the group which had promised to aid the government in recovery efforts.

Mr. Roosevelt apparently endorsed the proposal when he said in his message to congress on monopoly:

"In gauging the market for three wares, business men, like the farmers, should be given all possible information by government and by their own associations so that they may act with knowledge and not on impulse."

He also suggested creation of a bureau of industrial economics, which he said should be endowed "with adequate powers to supplement and supervise the collection of industrial statistics by trade associations."

TVA Will Not Hold Hearings Till Next Fall

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The joint congressional committee appointed to investigate TVA probably will not begin public hearings until next fall, the committee's secretary announced today.

W. O. Heffernan of Ripley, Ohio, named by Chairman Donahy (D-Ohio) to head the committee staff, predicted the assembling of evidence would require the entire summer.

He added it probably would be at least two weeks after the adjournment of congress before the committee began to function actively in the preliminary investigative work.

Heffernan said he would make a trip to the TVA area before making arrangements for employment of legal, accounting and engineering experts.

LaFollette Getting Iowa Campaign Under Way

Wage-Hour Bill Denied Action By Committee

Leaders Predict Action To Kill Legislation For Session

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt lost another major legislative contest today when the house rules committee refused to give the revamped wage-hour bill right-of-way to the house floor.

Administration leaders conceded the committee's action was tantamount to killing the bill for this session.

The committee acted just a few minutes before the president sent congress an anti-monopoly message in which he said "the exploitation of child labor, the chiseling of workers' wages, the stretching of workers' hours are not necessary, fair or proper methods of competition."

"I have consistently urged a federal wage and hours bill," the message said, "to take the minimum decencies of life for the working man and woman out of the field of competition."

Among those attacking the bill was Representative Cox (D-Ga.), who said it was "an attempt to regulate all industry and destroy the reserve powers of the states over their local concerns."

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the labor committee which drafted the measure, criticizing the rules group's "undemocratic" action, announced immediately, however, she would file a petition at the earliest possible moment next week, probably Thursday, to force the bill to the floor.

GOES FISHING

Has Busy Day Before His Departure

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN, April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt traveled southward tonight for a week's fishing cruise in the south Atlantic and possibly the Caribbean.

His special train left Washington at 7:11 p.m. (CST), for Charleston, S. C., where he will board the new 10,000-ton cruiser Philadelphia tomorrow morning for a trip that will further increase his travel record.

The president put in a busy day today at the White House, sending to congress his anti-monopoly message and conferring with a long list of callers. Among them was Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of United States Steel.

Des Moines Meet Results Will Shape Third Party Plans

DES MOINES, Ia., April 29 (AP)—Governor Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin said the Iowa strategy of the National progressive party will depend on conclusions reached in a conference here tonight.

The governor was a guest of honor at a dinner attend by the following Iowans:

Dr. Fay Gilmore of Sioux City; Byron George Allen, superintendent of the state old age pension division; Garritt E. Roelofs, personnel director of the Iowa unemployment compensation division; A. J. Johnson of Moorhead, Ia., Iowa Farmers Union official; J. C. Hammond of Decorah, Ia.; Robert Burlingame, Howard Chase, Vernon Pope and Paul Blakely, all of Des Moines.

New Deal Aids Capital - Farley

Demo Chief Declares Business Hostility A False Idea

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 29 (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley defended the new deal tonight from a charge of hostility to business.

He said it was "misconception" which "a partisan minority for its own selfish purposes has been trying to drive into the public consciousness."

"Far from endeavoring to cut off industrial profits," he said, "this administration has been almost anxious at all times to aid capital in obtaining a fair return in every legitimate way."

The postmaster general and national democratic party chairman came here from a three-day trip across Georgia, Alabama and northwest Florida.

Tonight he was honor guest at a dinner attended by Governor Fred P. Cone and his cabinet, before speaking at a rally.

Traveling through the state during the primary campaign, he told reporters he would take no part in the United States senatorial race to be decided Tuesday. He made no reference to the contest, regarded by some as a test of new deal strength.

At Panama City earlier, Farley had said that if the new deal abandoned its recovery program, "chaos" would result.

Outlines Plans Of New Party To Make Jobs

Suggests Overhauling U. S. Railroads In Broadcast

DES MOINES, Ia., April 29 (AP)—Governor Philip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin tonight carried his National Progressive party's political sales campaign into Iowa, the state which gave his father 275,000 votes for president in 1924.

Speaking on a national radio hook-up, the Wisconsin executive paid tribute to President Roosevelt's "brilliant leadership" but said "the progressive party leaders within the democratic party have become an outer fringe."

"The real power within the democratic party is widened increasingly by a group of politicians who see no more and feel no more than the old guard of the republican party," the governor asserted.

LaFollette took issue with the theory that over-production is a basic problem.

"It is not reasonable to speak of a third of our people as 'ill fed, ill clothed and ill housed,' and then conclude that 'we are in trouble because of overproduction,'" he continued.

The governor advocated overhauling the railroads and speeding up housing as two tasks which would create "millions of new wealth creating jobs and end unemployment in America for years."

"The railroads, he continued, are hamstringing by 'bonds representing values that have largely disappeared.'"

He advocated an engineering survey to determine what is needed to place the railroads on a higher plane of efficiency and "a judicial proceeding permitting the new capital to step in ahead of the old bonds."

In a later press conference, the governor described his newly formed party as an unincorporated association, "similar to the republican and democratic national committees."

He emphasized that national political success, in his opinion depends upon a foundation of solid state organizations. He said his followers had been working in close relationship with the farmer-labor party in Minnesota and that the progressive name is on the ballot in California.

Recommendations for Social Security Board to Be Completed by January

er contended, was whether benefits under the insurance system were equitable and adequate. Under the law as it stands, he estimated, the average monthly payment in 1942 would be $17.

In a letter to the board chairman, the president suggested that the board consider amendments to the social security act which would increase the number of persons eligible to participate in the old age insurance system, start payment of insurance benefits prior to 1942, increase the amount of benefits during the early years of the system's operation, give pensions to aged wives and widows and provide benefits for young children of insured persons who died before retirement age.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), who contends the old age insurance system should be placed on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, commented to reporters that he agreed to the importance of the president's suggestions but was "amazed at his bland failure to say anything about the major issue involved."

Kraschel Considers Life of Stewart, 26

DES MOINES, Ia., April 29 (AP)—Governor Nelson G. Kraschel said the state parole board today recommended that he publish the required notification that a commutation of the life sentence of Ralph Stewart, 26, formerly of Chariton, Ia., is being considered.

Stewart was sentenced to a life term after police said he confessed to the slaying in September, 1932, of Mrs. Rebekah Botkin, then 72.

Campaign Starts In Middle West

MADISON, Wis., April 29 (AP)—With characteristic energy, Gov. Philip F. LaFollette went campaigning in Iowa today for the national progressive party he had launched only 24 hours earlier.

He also laid plans to visit California within the next six weeks to aid Raymond Haight in his race for governor on the progressive ticket.

Thereafter, intensive organization work will be started in Illinois, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Nebraska. Similar activity is planned in other middle western states and New York.

While the governor was attempting to enlist Iowans in his party and fight to "recapture" the American's right "to earn his living by the sweat of his brow," his home-state supporters quickly rallied to the new party standard.

Senator Minton And Censorship

EVERY CITIZEN, as well as every newspaper publisher and editor, should be greatly concerned with Senator Minton's bill providing for punishment of newspapers and magazines for printing statements "known to be untrue."

The punishments which it advocates are stringent, including prison sentences of not more than two years, for the publisher of false news, fines of $1,000 to $10,000, and a six-months suspension of the publication.

Such a bill is likely to be deceiving. Its purpose, that of the prevention of the spread of falsehoods, is admirable. But its purpose is its only virtue for, if passed, it will carry with it the seeds of censorship and possible tyranny.

That irresponsible newspapers and other publications controlled by certain "interests" do sometimes try to palm off untruths upon the public we do not deny.

Neither do we say that the "freedom of the press," which we count as one of our American blessings, means freedom to print anything but the truth.

Nevertheless, there is a very real danger in any attempt of the government to establish such a control as that advocated by Minton. Who is to decide the truth of any statement appearing in the newspapers? Who is to decide whether any falsehoods were printed knowingly and willfully?

The answer, of course, is that the government will have the power to make these decisions. And that is a power which once granted, once abused, would lead inevitably to a government-controlled press—such as exists today in Italy, Germany and Russia.

Libel laws and social control have in the past kept the American newspapers within the bounds of truth and honor. There is no reason to believe that they will not continue to do so.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa, says a news item, is in danger of falling. This must annoy Mussolini because it is the only building which accords him a permanent fascist salute.

King Carol of Rumania who first gave up his job and then grabbed it back is having plenty of trouble with minority groups. He now probably figures he was right the first time.

A Dinner For All Iowa Men

INTEREST IN intramurals at the University of Iowa will reach a new high May 18 with the staging of the huge all-university sports dinner in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Team trophies and individual medals will be awarded for outstanding achievements in intramurals during the last year, and intramural enthusiasts will hear an address by a well-known figure in the sports world.

To Dave Armstrong, head swimming coach and director of physical education at the University of Iowa, goes the credit for originating the dinner. Feeling that something of this nature would be beneficial in stimulating greater interest in intramurals and in helping to "sell" the university to the students, he has given considerable time and effort to planning the banquet.

Intramural athletics today are receiving greater attention and recognition in colleges and universities than ever before. In providing "athletics for all," they furnish an opportunity for competition to those students who, though they have some degree of proficiency and physical fitness, still lack ability to make the varsity teams. Intramurals place athletics on a wholesome basis rather than as an activity for only the select few.

With the formation of the town league last year, the intramural system on the Iowa campus now includes every student in the university. Facilities and equipment for a wide variety of sports are provided, all without charge to the individual or group competing.

While participation is entirely voluntary, affairs such as the forthcoming sports banquet are helpful in creating interest in intramurals. Held for the first time this year, the event should become an important date in coming years on the calendar of all sports enthusiasts at Iowa. This is a dinner for every man in the university.

A Sidewalk Dictatorship?

WOMAN'S STRUGGLE for equality in what has always been smugly referred to as "a man's world" has been long, hard and almost wholly successful. Her social confidence in meeting man on his own ground is practically limitless. But in one situation she has failed somehow in achieving the nonchalance and poise of which she is capable.

That social field has no official name but it might well be thought of as man's "sidewalk stance." At any rate it is that peculiar monopolistic attitude which man, in spring and summer, adopts toward the sidewalk.

One would hardly expect to find this art, whose most loyal patrons are the bearded octogenarians parked on ancient wooden benches in front of the town's general store, so highly developed among ultra-sophisticated college men.

But hardly is there a campus woman who does not show the terrific strain experienced in attempting to walk decorously by some of our campus buildings when they are practically obliterated by a host of smirking faces, or of struggling through rows of stalwart males perched on the campus lawn guard rails.

Such scenes provide the only public evidence of college male dictatorship, for they look much as Hitler and his aides critically viewing the passing parade. And the poor coed has no choice but to go goose-stepping by and, as she passes, to be all too audibly informed as to whether that goose-step was done bow-leggedly, plowingly, or "not bad."

We do not feel that the descendants of a woman who dared to eat an apple need our assistance in solving this problem, but we appreciate a woman's wrath when she realizes that the spring theme song for Iowa men seems to be "We'll take our stand by the sidewalks and be a foe to the trails."

The Japanese, according to some war correspondents, will attempt to "save face" in China following their recent crushing defeat. From some newspaper stories we've read they are not only trying to save face but their whole hide.

The League of Nations at its May 9 council meeting will be asked to recognize Italian Ethiopia. In a low, quavering voice (the result of pernicious anemia) the League probably will.

The great American family—whose desire to enjoy the shifting vacation scene amid "all the comforts of home" led it to purchase the 1937 version of the "prairie schooner" in astonishing numbers—has hit upon a new highway, or rather, waterway. According to reports from Washington, the "floating trailer," which is, in reality, the shanty boat of another day fitted with all the conveniences of last year's "careening cottage," after first appearing in lower Chesapeake bay, has now ventured up the Potomac as far as the nation's capital. The motorcar, formerly used to tow the migratory mansion, has been replaced by a launch which uses comparatively little fuel, and that little is tax-free.

To those with a distaste for crowded highways or a desire for comparative solitude, this modern form of aquatic gypsying would seem to possess distinct advantages. To those of limited income it may be pointed out that the seagoing trailer is less costly than its landlubberly cousin. Food, provided judgment is exercised in selecting a mooring place, may be as conveniently and economically purchased as on a motoring trip, and there are at present none of the oft-times inconvenient regulations which enmesh its ground-going counterpart.

Undoubtedly an outgrowth of recent economic experience, the automobile trailer and its seagoing sister, the erstwhile panorama, have opened a pleasant horizons of new vistas to thousands of moderate income who otherwise might have remained hobbled at home.

BARNYARD 'BLUES'?

Should Not Blame Indigestion On Character of Food Eaten

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Once a week in this column there will be printed a discussion of a medical superstition. Readers are invited to contribute.

THAT FOOD CAUSES INDIGESTION. It is perfectly natural when you eat something and have a stomach ache to blame it on what you ate, but usually the character of the food itself is of no consequence in the causation of an attack of indigestion.

Some foods have been tagged with the description of "indigestible." Ice cream used to be considered a ruiner of the stomach. So with hot bread.

I had an uncle who was born in Virginia and used to eat no form of bread except hot rolls, pancakes and waffles. He finally developed indigestion, to the great satisfaction of my aunt, and all the rest of our relatives who were brought up in the cold, dry bread tradition. With one acclaim they

Tuning In with Betty Harpel

What songs, popular now, will survive to rate a transcontinental broadcast in May, 1939? That is the speculation that is interesting musicians along Radio Row these days. It was all started when Andre Kostelanetz filed recordings of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" and Ferde Grofe's "Cloudburst" with the Congressional library as the type of American music which would continue to enjoy favor 50 years from now.

Ordinarily bashful maestro Peter Van Steeden, whom Fred Allen has been using in comedy routines, actually dared to ad lib and talk back to Fred, the greatest ad libber of all time!

Arlene Francis, star of the "What's My Name" show, has insured her charm bracelet. Among other charms are miniature telegrams which her husband sent her before their marriage.

Frank Black used his week end off the "Magic Key" hour to tune in the show and hear the Cincinnati symphony orchestra play.

Half wit by radio-lites—Lou Costello and Bud Abbott were lounging in their dressing room awaiting the call to go on the Kate Smith hour when an excited pageboy rushed into the dressing room and said: "Mr. Costello, Mr. Abbott—you're on!"

Lou continued to take his time, "That so? Well tell me, how're we doing?"

Add half-wit—According to Fred Allen, there was an assistant Hollywood producer years ago who wasn't a yes-man. He was exiled to Nome, Alaska.

Washington World By CHARLES P. STEWART WASHINGTON, D. C.—Budd L. McKillips of the staff of the standard railroad labor organizations' news organ, Labor, undoubtedly knows at least as much as America's transportation problem as any individual in the country. Maybe he knows more than any other single individual. According to Budd, "while all of the railroads are now a little anemic from undernourishment due to the business decline, it is generally conceded that they would be able to pull through nicely if they were not carrying around such a load of bond interest obligations." He adds that some of them are sufferers from watered stock also. In other words, they are trying to make money (or, at worst, break even) on the basis of a supposed investment immensely larger than ever was put into them. I made this statement myself (though without Budd's background of specialized information) some time ago. It was promptly challenged by the Association of American Railroads' press bureau. If the roads ever were watered, the bureau's representative assured me, the juice was squeezed out of them in the far distant past. Well, in fairness, I put out their side of the story—endeavoring to make it clear that it was THEIR version. For, candidly, I didn't believe it. Budd McKillips, however, speaks with plenty of authority. He refers to the Association of American Railroads' "press releases" as "tripe, which is fooling no one who doesn't want to be kidded."

Millions Involved Nevertheless, it is a dickens (a stronger word SHOULD be used) of a situation. The stock-watering and over bonding dates back a generation or two. Innocent, unsophisticated suckers loaded up on the transportation lines' securities at the time, their children inherited them and today the sack is held mainly by the original buyers' grandchildren. And figures run into the billions. Talk of putting intrinsically insolvent rails through the bankruptcy "wringer" is all very well. It would make for better conditions 100 years hence—but at present?

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—Steve Allio will not think fondly of you if you come after him with a camera. Steve Allio is a successful man, a big man, with a fine farm in upstate New York and an ample income. He is, in fact, one of his town's more successful chefs. But he will not permit anyone to photograph him. "No, no, no," he says, backing away. When anyone is as adamant on this there must be a reason. There is. It has to do with a custard pie. A throwing pie. Hear ye, hear ye: One fine, crisp New York morning a motion picture company approached Steve and confided that it wanted to make a picture which should answer for all time: "Where Do Custard Pies Come From?" Steve, as chef, was to toss his organization into the scheme and bake perhaps 100 custard pies. Being a friendly sort, Steve agreed.

Pies Baked So the pies were baked, and the camera crew arrived and Steve was garbed in the conventional white apron and tall kitchen cap that chefs the world over inevitably wear. Meanwhile, the director was posing Steve and the cameras were grinding when—blub!—somebody heaved one of those creamy custard pies. It was a barmy. It caught Steve in the face.

Much to everybody's amazement Steve Allio wiped the gooey custard out of his eyes, and agreed to go on with the picture. "It is all right," he laughed. "Wait until I change aprons." So Steve donned a new white uniform and posed once more before the cameras which were to answer for all time the question Where - Do - Custard - Pies - Come - From? Blop!

It was a shot that would have made the early Keystone comedians jittery with professional jealousy. It caught Steve full in the face. And the creamy, custard stuff bopped over his eyes, and in his hair, and it smeared his new freshly starched chef's uniform. Well? Well, really! What would you do? And there was a meat cleaver within Steve's reach, too. No, he didn't commit mayhem. But, after this gross breach of faith, after this second betrayal by a Judas in motion picture clothing, Steve Allio "dismissed" the crew.

Iowa Thinclads High in Drake Trials

Michigan State Spartans Ruin Vogelmen's Home Debut, 5-2

Hawkeyes Get Six Hits; Haub Yields Eleven

Visitors Score First In Fourth; Hawks Rally In Eighth

By DENNIS SULLIVAN
Effective pitching by Glenn Rankin, who held Iowa to six hits, ruined the Hawkeyes' home inaugural yesterday as Michigan State's heads-up baseball team took the measure of the Old Gold nine by a score of 5 to 2.

BOX SCORE
IOWA: Mantush, If 4 0 0 1 0 0; Kadell, 3b 3 1 0 2 1 1; B. Vogt, cf 3 0 0 2 0 0; Prasse, 2b 4 0 1 4 1 0; George, rf 4 0 2 2 1 0; Bratten, 1b 4 0 1 3 0 2; Kantor, ss 4 0 1 0 2 0; Winders, c 3 0 0 8 0 0; Haub, p 2 1 1 0 3 0

Michigan State, after waving rather futilely at Haub's offerings for three innings, jumped on him for a run in the fourth.
Spartans took lead
Once in the lead, the Spartans kept the game well under control by running the score up to 5 to 0 before Iowa broke into the run column with a two run splurge in the eighth.

Drives in Iowa Runs

Iowa's two runs against Michigan State's Spartans yesterday were driven in by Erwin Prasse, sophomore second baseman, in the eighth inning with a sharp single to right field. Prasse's hitting has been a feature of Iowa victories this year.

Examination Schedule

Second Semester, 1937-1938
Monday, May 23, 8 a.m. to Tuesday, May 31, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (1), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below.

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation in the case of any examination, from this Schedule, except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned, to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted. Students should prepare and deposit such petitions in the offices of the Deans of Men (men) and Women (women).

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) The instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour May 19 or 20; if possible, May 12 or 13.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 121 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently Tuesday at 8, and the class will meet for examination Tuesday, May 24, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 126 meets twice each week, T, F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination, is, therefore, Saturday, May 28, 2 p.m.

N. B. All sections of "Principles of Speech" (1), (2) and (4) (Except Section 18) will meet during Examination Week on the days and at the periods designated below. Consult the bulletin board, Room 13 S. E. for room assignments.

Mon., May 24—Section H, 8-10 Speech (1), 8-10	Fri., May 27—Section I, 8-10 Section C, 1-3 Section G, 3-5 Speech (4), 3-5
Tues., May 24—Section A, 1-3 Section E, 3-5	Sat., May 28—Section D, 10-12 Section B, 1-3 Section F, 3-5

*Section J will meet as announced by the instructors.

"ODD" classes, namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each class, by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

- From 4 to 8 on any day from May 23 to May 31 inclusive.—Sunday and Memorial Day excepted.
- Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F and G, since for such "odd" classes these seven examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times, if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time.

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.," unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "F."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

From Overseas

When I last wrote Merle Miller, I asked him to tell me of the "foreign situation, Mussolini, Hitler, and all that."

That's a joke of course. There's one going on there right now. . . in Spain. . . the rulers of several other nations are carrying chips on their epaulets.

Dear Tom: You ask — as has everyone who's written — about the "foreign situation, Mussolini, Hitler and all that."

But I've never been a hand at prophecy, while Herbert has. . . And he has quite a remarkable record too. . . He promised, in the fall of 1928, two chickens in every pot and two cars to a garage. . .

And now, returning to America after four weeks in Europe—He came across on the same boat I did — he sees that "there'll be no European war."

The leaders are convinced England doesn't want to fight — as it doesn't. . . Should Hitler march into Czechoslovakia tomorrow — as he may, and should France try to save that nation's independence and should England, by terms of the new Locarno treaty with France, be compelled to help out by a declaration of war against Germany, I think half the men of England might well refuse to fight. . .

Last week in Birmingham, where I spent a few days, I was talking to a youngish barber about the whole outlook. . . "Would you fight?" I asked. . . "Sure," he replied. "I'd fight. I'd fight just as soon as I saw the bloody blighters coming over that hill out there — and not before."

Chamberlain realizes that, and that attitude is one of the main factors toward keeping his government in office. . . He's not maintaining his personal popularity. . .

But there is another English attitude, that of a liberal, intelligent-looking young friend of mine. . . He believes England should stand by Czechoslovakia and France. . . If Germany's "saviour" marches in, he declares, all Europe may be in danger of fascism. . .

There's an error in his reasoning, though, to which he has no answer. . . It was to "save the world for democracy" that we fought in 1914. . . How many Americans are willing to start at the beginning again?

Anyway, no matter what one believes, there's not much to do but sit back and wait. . .

Meanwhile, a series of incongruities are happening daily. . . Yesterday's mail brought a strangely pathetic travel brochure, one which said, in big type, "You'll Love Light-Hearted Austria."

Czechoslovakia was boosted as "this modern democratic republic." . . How long will that remain a fact?

Today's paper explains that a home office memorandum is being sent to local authorities showing how the public can get the 30,000,000 gas masks now ready for distribution. . . "Special gas masks have been made for children between the ages of two and four, and for babies a special windowed hood will be provided," it declares.

And in Piccadilly—as in 1,000 other points in England alone—you can do as I did yesterday, have a special gas chamber demonstration. . . You can go into a narrow, dank-smelling chamber where water stands always on the floor, be fitted with a gas-tight contraption over your nose and imagine there's a squadron of airships overhead attempting, as they did in the last war, to destroy the culture, learning and scholarship of a thousand years and more that is housed in the British museum. . .

But all this is merely idle speculation. . . By the time this letter reaches Iowa City, the new conflict may be started. The entire map of Europe may be changed. . . But somehow I doubt it. . . Herbert Hoover may be breaking a beautiful record, but he may be right this time. . . I hope so. . .

Unless it's in turmoil by then, I plan to take a flying trip on the continent sometime next month — before sailing home — and will be on the look-out for what the rest of Europe is thinking. . . I'll write you then. . . But, for now, good-bye and regards to my friends. . . Sincerely, Merle Miller

Car Repairman Talks on Air, 40 and 8 Hour

Good Brakes Top List Of Auto Elements Says Reed

"The brakes are the most important part of the equipment of any auto," stated Claude E. Reed, owner of Reed's Repair shop, when interviewed over WSUI by Ellis G. Crawford on the Forty and Eight highway safety program last night.

Next to the brakes, he said that the lighting system is the most important. The tail light should also be considered, since it allows the driver in back to see where you are.

"I strongly favor an auxiliary light on the front of an automobile," he continued, "something similar to the fog lights being used at present."

When asked the item next in importance, he replied "I believe the steering gear and the front end alignment should be considered next. Three important things are front wheel balance, toe-in and steering gear adjustment."

The steering gear and front end as well as the whole car should be checked frequently by your mechanic, if one values safety. . . Proper inflation of tires is also important, for a blowout at high speed can easily wreck a car, he declared.

"Early evening is a time for exceptional caution, but not because of any increased danger of mechanical failure," he warned. "The trouble lies in the fact that the average driver's vision is less acute, due to the natural adjustment of the eyes which is then taking place."

Reed explained the causes of skidding and how to avoid this pitfall, and mentioned that the first thing to do is to release the brakes. He warned against accelerating at this point.

A summary of the advances in car manufacture which increase operating safety concluded the interview.

The highway safety program may be heard at 7:15 p.m. Friday. It is sponsored by the Iowa City voiture of the Forty and Eight.
