Court Upholds Football Tax

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Football is a business, the supreme court said today in a decision that dealt a blow to sentimental notions of the old grad and picked the fans for some $1,000,000 a year.

The question at issue was whether the United States treasury could collect a 10 per cent admission tax on football games and other athletic events at state universities, just as it does without challenge at private universities.

When it answered in the affirmative today, the august tribunal ended a long legalistic tussle which was fought as hard as any encounter on the gridiron.

The University of Georgia and Georgia Tech started it all by disputing the right of the treasury to collect the tax, but they soon were joined by representatives of 13 other states.

They contended that football, being a builder of muscle and mind, was an integral part of education. Moreover, they added, a state was performing one of its essential functions when it conducted a university, and therefore could constitutionally not be burdened with a tax.

The treasury's attorneys replied with a bit of sarcasm: "We hazard the statement," they said, "that the members of the constitutional convention would doubt that 22 men playing a game with a ball constituted an essential governmental function."

The treasury's arguments looked good to the supreme court, which said in a 6-2 decision read by Justice Roberts:

"When a state embarks in a business which would normally be taxable, the fact that in so doing it is exercising a governmental power does not render the activity immune from federal taxation."

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The wage-hour bill, patched and battered but obviously supported more strongly than ever, came before the house again today and even its most determined southern opponents conceded ruefully that this time it would pass.

Quickly, the measure's proponents demonstrated their strength with a vote of 322 to 73 to wrest the measure from the hostile rules committee and proceed to its consideration.

For this victory, they credited the many changes made in the measure since December, and principally the removal of a differential under which minimum wages would have been lower in the south than in the north. Eastern and New England republicans, frankly foreseeing competitive advantages for their industries in identical wages for north and south, flocked to the bill's support in today's balloting.

Eight southerners who opposed taking up the bill in December voted for that course today, despite the removal of the north-south differential. Many house members were at a loss to account for their shift, but some suggested it might have been influenced by the victories of Senator Pepper and Senator Hill in Florida and Alabama primaries, in which the bill was an issue.

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The toll of lives from the explosion today of a molten metal container in the Dow Chemical Co. reached three tonight when Fred Reynolds, 32-year-old chemist, succumbed to burns.

Within two hours and 40 minutes of one another, the three victims of the blast perished in the chemical company's hospital while an investigation into the tragic climax to an experimental study was in progress.

Besides Reynolds, the dead were:

John E. Hoy, 53, experimental engineer.
Paul Parsons, 26, machine operator.

Showing the group of research workers with his hot fluid, the vessel containing the metal blew up during experiments in the laboratory of the concern's old foundry here.

Six burned and injured men were taken to the plant hospital. Four hours later Hoy died, at 6:30 p.m. (EST). Parsons succumbed at 8:15 p.m. and Reynolds at 9:10 p.m.

Leaders of Mexican Workers Consider Asking Cardenas To Arm Them Against 'Fascists'

MEXICO CITY, May 23 (AP)—Leaders of 1,000,000 Mexican workers tonight considered asking President Lazaro Cardenas to arm them to help fight what they termed "the fascist rebellion" in the state of San Luis Potosi.

The executive committee of the Mexican workers confederation called a meeting to discuss the situation, many favoring asking the government to arm labor for actual fighting.

Out in San Luis Potosi, capital of the state in which federal troops are fighting followers of Saturnino Cedillo, an authoritative source said the government forces had located the camp of the powerful agrarian leader.

They were reported to have found it at Montebello, about eight miles northwest of Ciudad Maiz and about the same distance east of Las Palomas, Cedillo's vast ranch in western San Luis Potosi.

The government was said also to have intercepted messages from Cedillo's portable radio set indicating he would attempt to make his way northward into the state of Tamaulipas and possibly try to flee to the United States.

A nephew of the hunted Cedillo, Hopolito Cedillo, was killed Friday in a clash in which he and 11 followers fought federal troops near Laxuniza, in the southeastern part of the state, the defense ministry announced today.

The ministry said the slain man headed a rebel band of 150 men, the group coming to battle with the 35th cavalry regiment.

Nazi Leader Flees Inquiry

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—Federal officials today disclosed facts indicating that Dr. Ignatz T. Greibl, former American Nazi leader now in Germany, deliberately planned to dodge questioning as an ace witness in the government's international spy inquiry.

When Dr. Greibl, an army medical reserve officer and naturalized citizen, boarded the German liner Bremen May 10, said U. S. Attorney Lamar Hardy, he had been served with a subpoena to appear before a special federal grand jury which convened May 16.

The penalty for disregarding the subpoena is a $250 fine, but the offense is not one for which the witness, now beyond the reach of federal authority, could be extradited.

The federal prosecutor said he had no knowledge of reports that Dr. Greibl had received permission of the German consul here to make the trip and knew of no authority that could compel Dr. Greibl to return.

Czech Hopes Restored by Peace Moves; French Circles See a 'Turn for Worse'

Czech Situation Relaxed After Leaders Confer

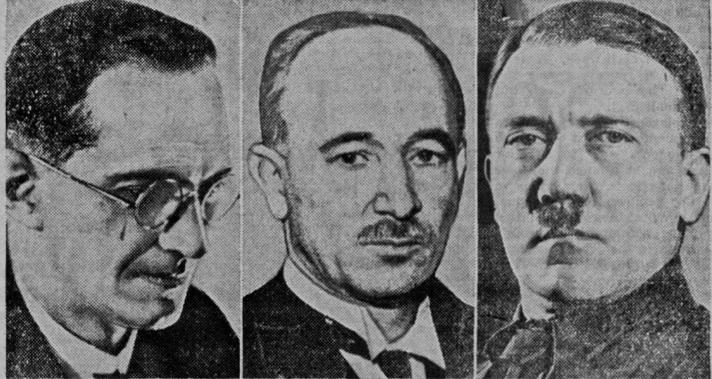

By WADE WERNER
PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, May 23 (AP)—Dangerous turmoil over the self-government demands of Czechoslovakia's Germanic minority tonight simmered down to a face-to-face argument between Premier Milan Hodza and Konrad Henlein, chief of the nazi-supported Sudeten Germans.

The political opponents met for a two-hour conference which a government communique said was of an "informative" character designed for "clarification and pacification of the political situation."

Brightens Prospects
Their meeting visibly brightened peace prospects in central Europe where troop mobilizations over the week end raised the war spectre during Czechoslovak municipal elections.

Tonight indications were that foreign troops were edging away from Czechoslovakia's twisting frontiers, 1,300 miles of them facing mighty Germany. This little post-war republic sighed with relief.

New Crisis in Czechoslovakia Over Nazi Issue

President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia has ordered reinforcements to all border fortifications following development of a new crisis over the Nazi issue. Affairs came to a head when two German farmers living in the western section of Czechoslovakia were killed by Czech troops. It is in this sector that 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans live. Their spokesman, Konrad Henlein, has demanded complete autonomy and is believed to have the backing of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in seeking to join the German state. Outbreaks flared up at Eger where the two Germans were killed while attempting to cross a police blockade; and at other villages shown on above map where futile Sudeten uprisings occurred. Meanwhile, Hitler and Henlein conferred at Munich on the situation, a conference which it was reported might result in a Nazi coup similar to that which made Austria a Reich state.

Talks Between Hodza, Henlein Add to Tension

PARIS, May 23 (AP)—The central European crisis was considered by French observers tonight to have taken an unexpected turn for the worse as a result of talks between Czechoslovakia's Premier Milan Hodza and Konrad Henlein.

Dispatches from Praha said the militant Nazi leader had demanded that Hodza immediately demobilize the thousands of army reserves called out when pre-election disorders broke out there Saturday.

Henlein was said to have made demobilization his condition for entering into any negotiations concerning his German minority's demands for self-government.

Informed French circles said relaxing of military guards might lead to repetition of the election disturbances and renew the strain on German-Czechoslovak relations. Should negotiations fall through, as a result of Henlein's stand, the way might open for German military intervention.

Earlier French circles had been optimistic that mid-European tension was easing.

Informed sources in Paris said Britain and France had warned Hitler he could not make another Spain of his eastern neighbor by sending arms to Czechoslovakia.

They said the two democracies were spurred to this action by reports of Nazi arms stores inside the Czechoslovak borders.

German reports that a Czechoslovakian airplane had violated the border and then crashed in flames on its own territory kept enmity alive.

Czechoslovakia drew a deep breath of exultant relief, she was proud of her alert army and there was a growing confidence in the rigorous moves for peace by Britain and France.

Her citizens put their money back in the banks.

Both in the house of commons and in the house of lords, where Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax repeated Chamberlain's statement, the government succeeded in keeping anxious critics silent by advance conferences with opposition leaders to impress upon them the need of restraint.

If the breathing spell that survived the first set of municipal election contests in Czechoslovakia yesterday can be maintained, Chamberlain was understood determined to press with every ounce of effort for a lasting settlement of differences between Hitler and his neighbors.

It was suggested an almost-forgotten arbitration treaty between Germany and Czechoslovakia might be the vehicle for an agreement that would give Germany a peaceful guardianship over blood brothers across the frontier and still save the Czechoslovak state for those who want it.

Belief Upset by Birth of Third Foaling

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 23 (AP)—"Mollie," a dark bay mule, nuzzled a tiny horse colt today and "heh hawed" at skeptical horsemen who say mules don't have offspring.

The colt is "Mollie's," insisted William Mobley, proprietor of a stock farm where the colt was foaled. Mobley said it was the third foaling of the mule which he bought in North Dakota last February. The other offspring died.

Chinese Lose German Arms In Withdrawal

SHANGHAI, May 23 (AP)—China's legions strove today to reform their shattered ranks on the central war front while their cause received a major setback in the reported withdrawal of German brains and munitions from the fight against Japan.

Hankow advisers that Chinese forces had escaped from a Japanese circle around fallen Suchow were dimmed by an official communique which said Germany had ordered home Gen. Alexander von Falkenhausen and his staff of 40-odd advisers to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

(In Berlin the foreign office and other government departments disclaimed all knowledge of the order which the central Chinese government at Hankow said it had received.)

(They pointed out there were more than two score German advisers in China in a purely personal and not official capacity. The Japanese embassy in Berlin said "certainly" Japan had not requested the withdrawal of the unofficial German advisers as reported at Hankow.)

Authoritative sources asserted Germany served notice she was suspending shipments of arms and munitions to China. This would mean loss of one of China's greatest sources of war materials.

Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, commander of the defeated Chinese forces at Suchow, reported after a two-day sledge from Suchow.

Zephyr, Bah! Death Valley Scotty Still Has Record

LOS ANGELES, May 23 (AP)—Death Valley Scotty went down to the railroad yards today to shop for a fast train to Chicago.

"I set a record 33 years ago in the Coyote Special, and I've got a bale of kale that urges me to break that record," the desert prospector said.

"I've had no takers on my bid for a 28 hour run to Chicago. Maybe I'll be able to hear if someone whispers he kin get me a steam train to make it in 32 hours."

Scotty watched a streamliner pull out, and snorted.

"A good old iron horse ought to beat 'em any day. Why these streamliners ain't got their schedule down to my running time 33 years ago."

Roosevelts Honor Capital Journalists

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The capital's newspaper men and women went to the White House tonight for fun—not news.

With wives, husbands or sweethearts, members of the fourth estate were received by President and Mrs. Roosevelt, danced in the blue room and ate supper at small tables.

Three Prisoners Try Break From Alcatraz Island Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23 (AP)—A guard was seriously injured and two long-term convicts wounded by rifle fire today in a desperate attempt by three prisoners to escape from Alcatraz island penitentiary, the federal government's prison for incorrigibles in San Francisco bay.

Warden James A. Johnston, who reported the attempted break, said it occurred shortly after noon in the factory building of the forbidding "rock."

Those injured in the disturbance are:

R. C. Cline, senior custodial officer, who was slugged and seriously hurt.

Convicts Thomas R. Limerick, and Rufus Franklin, both shot by a guard. The extent of their wounds was not immediately revealed.

The third convict, James C. Lucas, whom Warden Johnston said once stabbed Al Capone, former Chicago gangster, was overpowered. The warden did not reveal what action was taken against the prisoner.

The attempted escape was the first since last December when two other long term convicts disappeared from the island during a blinding fog and never were seen again.

Although officially listed as still missing, the pair, Ralph Roe and Theodore Cole, are believed by Warden Johnston and other prison officials to have drowned in cold, swirling currents which flood past the island, a mile and one-quarter from the nearest mainland.

The only other prisoner to attempt escape since the federal government took over the island prison was slain by a guard. The convict, Joe Bowers, was shot as he mounted a wall around the sheer, mid-bay rock. He tumbled dead beside the water.

Warden Johnston said the trio today attacked Cline, who was (See ESCAPE, page 6)

Fights for Daughter's Slayer

Charlotte Mathiesen's Mother Sides With Defense for Donald Carroll Jr.

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—Two women—one the mother of slain Charlotte Mathiesen and the other the mother of the boy who killed her—sat together as friends in criminal court today as evidence to the jury that both wanted him acquitted.

Donald Carroll Jr., 16, was on trial for murder, and it was one of the strangest prosecutions this city had ever seen.

For, as Assistant District Attorney Joseph Loscalzo wearily put it—

"This is the first case I ever saw where the parents of the deceased were not on the side of the prosecution."

The claim of the state—a claim in outline not disputed as yet by the defense—is that Donald and

Charlotte Mathiesen had an adolescent affair, that the girl became pregnant, that in panic they resolved to die together, that the boy shot Charlotte and then failed to take his own life.

Mrs. Fred Mathiesen, the girl's mother, termed it a "tragedy of adolescence" and the Mathiesens from the first have stood with the boy.

Today, as the lawyers sparred with a quiet but desperate urgency to secure an unbiased jury, Mrs. Mathiesen and Mrs. Carroll sat side by side, their eyes resting in pity on the slight figure in the prisoner's dock.

They exchanged confidences; they went out together to eat, and their husbands sat with them. Once, Mrs. Mathiesen wept briefly and quietly.

Supreme Court Says Treasury May Tax Public Officeholders

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Income tax exemptions enjoyed by an army of public officeholders can now be abolished swiftly, officials said tonight after the supreme court upheld the treasury in two major tax cases.

The high tribunal decided that the federal government's taxing power extends into the pockets of those who work for the New York port authority and those who pay to see athletic events at state universities.

Though the latter case confirmed the legality of some $1,000,000 in admissions taxes collected yearly, the port authority case was considered the more far-reaching. The authority was set up by New York and New Jersey to operate bridges and tunnels between the two states, and the states had argued that taxation of the income of its

Mary Alcock and J. McNamara Married in Morning Ceremony

Bride Wears Empire Gown for Wedding at St. Patrick's; Couple Leave for Trip Following Breakfast

Mary Marjorie Alcock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nathaniel G. Alcock, 430 Brown street, became the bride of Jay F. McNamara, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McNamara, 532 S. Dodge street, yesterday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Patrick's church. The Rev. Patrick J. O'Reilly performed the ceremony in front of an altar decorated with 12 tall vases of calla lilies and lighted by two mass candles.

The bride, gowned in an empire dress of white net over white taffeta, entered on the arm of her father. The gown was made on classic lines with a high-necked bodice shirred into a fitted girdle. The sleeves were puffed at the shoulder and fitted closely to points over the hands.

Bride Wore Pearls
The skirt, falling in folds to the floor, formed a long train. The tulle bridal veil was attached to a cap of net with a poke-bonnet brim. The bride's bouquet was of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley, and she wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mary Parden of Manson, maid of honor, and Mrs. Drew McNamara of Los Angeles, matron of honor, were dressed identically in gowns of blue net over taffeta with short puffed sleeves and two-tiered shirred skirts.

Matching tulle pill-box hats and veils, adorned with artificial blue flowers, and blue sandals completed the outfits. Each carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers with blue streamers.

Brother Is Best Man
The pink net gowns and hats of the bridesmaids were styled like those of the maid and matron of honor. Mrs. William Rastetter of Ft. Wayne, Ind., Jane Alcock, sister of the bride, Theresa Christensen of Des Moines and Herdis Christensen of Cedar Rapids were the bridesmaids.

Serving his brother as best man was Drew McNamara. Ushers were Edward Howell of Iowa City, Maurice Bates and Allan Carey, both of Cedar Rapids, and Clyde Fairless of Des Moines. Thomas Welsh and Joseph Pugh of Iowa City were acolytes.

Gives Organ Recital
Preceding the ceremony, Mrs.

William L. Condon played a short organ recital. During the ceremony she played "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod, "Pinnas Angelicus" by Cesar Franck and "Oh Lord, I Am Not Worthy."

A wedding breakfast was given in the Alcock home following the ceremony. Garden flowers were used throughout the house. In the dining room a yellow and white color scheme was carried out.

Serving as assistant hostesses were Mrs. Dean M. Lierle, Mrs. Fred M. Pownall, Mrs. Robert B. Gibson, Mrs. Howard L. Beye and Mrs. Dean Parker. Jean and Connie McNamara, the bridegroom's sisters, assisted in the dining room.

Go to Virginia
The couple left after the breakfast for Virginia Beach and Williamsburg, Va., on a two weeks' wedding trip. The bride wore for traveling a gray, white and navy blue print ensemble with a gray topcoat and navy and white accessories.

They will be at home after June 6 at Triangle place, apartment 1. The bride was graduated from Northwestern university. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. The bridegroom, a graduate of the University of Iowa, is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

He is associated with his father and grandfather in the McNamara Furniture company.

Guests Attend
Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Carol Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Volker and Dorothy West, all of Des Moines, Mrs. Thomas Dempsey, Alice Dempsey, Lucy Dempsey and Cecil Dempsey, all of Washington, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Dempsey of Davenport, Bertha Dempsey, Alice McKenna, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamilton and Mrs. Lenas Wells, all of Cedar Rapids.

Richard Evans and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. B. Morrissey Jr. of Ottumwa, Eleanor Maloney of Royle, Walter Pickrell and Curt Yocum of Chariton, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Reif of Kalona and Mr. and Mrs. George Wallerich of River Forest, Ill.

Muriel King to Marry June 14

Muriel King, pictured above, daughter of Mrs. Mary King of Hancock, has announced June 14 as the date of her marriage to Grant Henry of Ft. Dodge, son of W. J. Henry of Hancock. The announcement was made at a senior breakfast of Alpha Xi Delta sorority Sunday.

DeEtte Marsteller, A3 of West Liberty, sorority sister of the bride-elect, and Wylie King, brother of the bride, will attend the couple at the afternoon ceremony in the Methodist church of Hancock.

A classmate of the bride at Christian college, Louise Seidl of Council Bluffs, will play harp music for the wedding.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Hancock high school and Christian college, where she was a member of Delta Psi Omega, national dramatics fraternity. She will receive a B.A. degree from the university this June. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Mr. Henry was graduated from Hancock high school and attended the university. He is now manager of the Iowa Finance company in Ft. Dodge.

Twins Fail to Act Alike

'Normal' Jimmy Outshines Johnny, His Scientifically-Trained Brother

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK — Interviewing the Woods twins — products of a two-year child training experiment — is about as simple as hitchhiking across the United States. Almost anything can happen.

They were six on April 18—and I wanted to see how Jimmy, who hadn't received any scientific physical training for four years, compared with Johnny, the trained twin.

So I hunted them up at the Washington Heights Day Nursery.

He's a Rip-Shooter — They were separated when they were 20 days old. While Jimmy was kept as the control, Johnny received daily training at the Medical Center until he was two. He hasn't been trained since, but the twins are still tested weekly at the hospital. Dr. Myrtle B. McGraw, who conducted the experiments, won't talk about them.

What does the mother think of all this fuss over her twins? I found her in a gloomy flat on Amsterdam avenue, resting after the task of getting her seven children — the twins are the youngest — off to school.

She wouldn't say that Johnny's super-training was all wasted. After all, she pointed out, the hospital gave him physical training only. That didn't imply he would be superior mentally to Jimmy. And he is bigger and better developed.

She does think Jimmy and Johnny are brighter than her other children.

Sometimes there's trouble at home over the twins.

"Why do you have your picture taken all the time?" complained Florence, next in age.

"Don't you know?" retorted Jimmy. "We're famous."

Not Resourceful — Jimmy's super-training was all wasted. After all, she pointed out, the hospital gave him physical training only. That didn't imply he would be superior mentally to Jimmy. And he is bigger and better developed.

WEATHER 'IS FUN'

Observer for 57 Years, Never Paid

RUSHVILLE, Ind., (AP)—Eliwood Kirkwood is in business for love. For 57 years he's been a United States weather observer and never has been paid for his work.

Kirkwood is dean of the 5,000 local weather observers who serve Uncle Sam for nothing. He was doing his job before there was a weather bureau at Washington. The army handled weather reports when he entered the field.

"The weather is always interesting," says Kirkwood, "and my work is lots of fun."

He and his wife live in a modest home on a 10-acre tract at Mauzy, near here, only a quarter-mile from the farm where he was born. The Kirkwood orchard, bees and garden provide their living. The few instruments Kirkwood needs in his weather work are provided by the government, but outside of that he, nor any of his 5,000 co-workers in local observatories, gets no help.

Several attempts have been made to have Congress reward men like Kirkwood.

Although Kirkwood is not an official forecaster, his neighbors swear by his predictions. They say he can tell the weather 24 hours ahead as accurately as any official forecaster.

University Libraries

One of the 24 new books added to the University libraries is "The Story of Melina Rorke," by a young nurse who was decorated for her bravery by Edward VII. It is the story of Miss Rorke's experiences in the early diamond mining days in South Africa.

The other books are "American Institute of Accountants," 50th anniversary celebration; "Chinese Women Yesterday and Today," Florence Ayscough; "County at Large," Martha Collins Bayne; "Qualifying as a Life Underwriter," Walter Cluff; "A Time to Dance," Cecil Day-Lewis; "The Evolution of Physics," Albert Einstein.

"China Fights for Her Life," Herbert R. Elkins; "Young Emerson Speaks," Ralph Waldo Emerson; "Smooth Sailing Letters," Lester E. Frailey; "Railroadman," Henry Clay French; "Bond Ratings as an Investment Guide," Gilbert Harold; "Peter Kalm's Travels in North America," Per Kalm; "Helen Keller's Journal," Helen Keller.

"A Saga of the Seas," Philip B. McDonald; "Taxable Income," Roswell Magill; "Under the Open Sky," Martin Anderson Nexo; "The Last Genro," Bunji Omura; "Good Morning, Doctor!" William A. Rohlf; "These Foreigners," William Seabrook; "Hello, America!" Cesar Saerching; "Russian Somersault," Igor Schwetoff; "They Sold Themselves," Howard Stephenson; "Stravinsky: An Autobiography," Igor Fedorovich Stravinskii.

Lie Detector Catches Up Reporter

For the first time in American jurisprudence a "lie detector" has just been introduced in a New York court and its findings accepted by a jury. The test was administered by Father Summers of Fordham university, whose apparatus was used. The AP Feature Service thereupon sent Charles (Average Citizen) Norman to Fordham to take the test and report (as truthfully as may be) what he found. His story follows.

By CHARLES NORMAN AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK—Your correspondent has just come back from a lie detector test. It caught him cold.

I went to Fordham university where they have a lie detector. The Rev. Walter G. Summers, S. J., kindly agreed to demonstrate, which was a good thing, because he's the only one there who can operate it. He made it.

"Does it take more effort to lie than to tell the truth?" I asked.

"Generally speaking, a lie is associated with greater effort than truth-telling," he replied.

"Are there persons for whom truth-telling is more difficult than lying?"

"I know some unusual people, you see.

Nervous, Naturally — "Sometimes it is more difficult to tell the truth than it is to lie," he said. "But our procedure enables us to detect the difference even in those instances."

"Very interesting," I said. "Don't people get nervous and act suspicious when you give them the lie-detector test?"

"At the start," he explained, "all persons react the same way. They're nervous, naturally."

"Naturally," I echoed.

"But we allow for that," he went on. "On the other hand, the more of a poker face they are, the easier it is for us to detect the lies."

"Show me," I said.

He led me to a corner of his office. On a table there was a machine that looked like a radio, with two wires coming out of it with two little plates at the end. These are "electrodes," held in a suspect's palms while he is questioned.

registers on replies to questions. The idea behind Father Summers' lie detector is to "balance" the electrical impulses in a subject with the magnetic field in the apparatus. The graph, he said, indicated lies when there were greater deflections on significant questions than on answers to non-significant questions.

"Catch me in a lie," I challenged.

Father Summers attached the electrodes to my palms. The electrodes felt warm. There was electricity in them. Then he adjusted the machine to balance the electrical equation. That done, he was ready for me. So was the needle.

Taking a pack of cards from a drawer, Father Summers shuffled them and extracted six without looking at them.

It's In The Cards — "Now," he said, "you are to take one without showing it to me, look at it long enough to remember it, then put it back. I will hold up every card and ask 'Is this the one?' Say 'No' every time. At the end I will hold up the card you drew."

I drew the Jack of Spades and put it back.

One by one he showed me the six cards, and each time I said "No." All this time the needle made lines in red ink on the graph. Suddenly he held up the Jack of Spades and asked sternly:

"Wasn't it this?" I had to admit it.

"How did you know?" I asked.

He pointed to the graph. Five lines were clearly defined. But on the sixth the needle had done a Big Apple. That was the time I had said "No" to the Jack of Spades.

I left convinced, thanking my stars Father Summers hadn't asked me some really personal questions.

Professor Carpenter Declares Politics Run by Little Man

"I am content to stand by the rule of the common man," Prof. M. F. Carpenter said in a "New Deal" address before the Roosevelt Non-Partisan league in the Johnson county courthouse last night.

Contending that the "political power of this country was in the hands of the people of small means, and probably was here to stay," he predicted that "the rule of the big-businessman who once ran this country, is damned."

Attacking the democrats who betrayed the confidence of the voters, he declared, "if once a common man in America is convinced that his vote is not taken into consideration, he may try something else."

"There are a few genuine new dealers in the republican party," he said, in comparing them with a few democratic reactionaries.

Once more asserting his faith in the "lord of America," the working man, Professor Carpenter lauded the people of Iowa who "earn their living by the sweat of their brows and the toil of their hands," those who are represented by the new deal.

In a series of resolutions read before the group after Professor Carpenter's address, attention was again called to the action of "disloyal" democrats.

The resolution read, in part: "We ask no legislator to be a mere rubber stamp for any administration . . . but we do insist that the attitude of any democratic legislator be one of friendly cooperation and united action with the majority sentiment of the democratic party . . . For their course in these respects we especially commend Congressman Otha D. Wearin, candidate for United States senator, and Congressman E. C. Eicher, candidate for reelection."

The lengthy resolution which reaffirmed the group's loyalty to President Roosevelt, vouched for the conscientiousness and honesty of the new deal's government employees, and lauded the work of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, also launched an attack upon the "reactionary programs promulgated by reactionary leaders in congress" . . . in their coalition with republican opponents of the administration.

It was decided to send copies of the resolutions to the president, as well as to Wearin and Eicher.

Mrs. Marner's Funeral Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral service for Mrs. Ella Marner, 73, a life-long resident of Johnson county, will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Oathout chapel. The Rev. Peiper of Sharon will officiate and burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Marner died Sunday afternoon in a local hospital after a year's illness. She was a member of Corona chapter, O.E.S. of Sharon.

The survivors are two daughters, Ruth and Grace Marner, Rohrer road; three sons, Dr. L. W. Marner, Little Rock, Ark., Ray E. Marner, Riverside, and Glenn Marner, Rohrer road; one sister, Mrs. C. B. Marner, Miles, and two brothers, John B. Strickler, Kalona, and H. W. Strickler, 207 Myrtle avenue.

Starts Fight In Yard of Station, Gets Ten Days

Charged with disturbing the peace by starting a fight in the police station yard, Freddie Thomas, a Negro, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail in lieu of a $35 fine by Police Judge Burke N. Carson late yesterday. Thomas will be released upon payment of the fine.

He attacked Rowland Griffith after the latter had filed charges of reckless driving against Carl Turner, Negro driver of the car in which Thomas was riding.

The charge grew out of an accident between the Griffith car and the machine driven by Thomas in the 400 block on N. Dubuque street at 9:45 p. m. Sunday.

The reckless driving charge was later dropped, but Thomas was fined $5 and costs yesterday morning for driving on the wrong side of the street.

Local Elks to Celebrate Founding To Honor 10 of Surviving Charter Members at Banquet Tonight

Iowa City Elks will celebrate the 38th anniversary of the founding of the local lodge, No. 590, B. F. O. E., at a banquet in the lodge clubhouse at 6:30 this evening.

Specially honored guests will be 10 of the surviving 64 chartered members, all of whom are still active. They are Henry Louis, W. H. Bailey, G. L. Falk, L. L. Kenyon, T. Dell Kelley, Max Mayer, M. H. Maher, G. W. Schmidt, Arthur Younk and Frank Hatch.

Charles Fieseler, exalted ruler, will be toastmaster, and Henry Louis, first exalted ruler and honorary member of the lodge, will relate the 38 years of local Elks history.

A fried chicken dinner prepared under the supervision of Herbert J. Reichardt will be served. The entertainment committee in charge of the event is Dr. Jesse Ward, chairman, Claude Reed, Wesley McGinnis, Charles Mott and Harold Hands.

The lodge history began in the spring of 1900, when a petition for an Elks charter was granted to 64 Iowa City business and professional men by the grand lodge of Elks.

Henry Louis, Iowa City druggist, was elected first exalted ruler, the chief executive of the organization, when the lodge was instituted on May 24, 1900. The other chartered officers were O. L. Keith, esteemed leading knight; S. A. Coldren, esteemed lecturing knight; George T. Reddick, secretary; J. E. Switzer, treasurer; Asher W. Ely, esquire; O. H. Carpenter, inner guard; G. W. Schmidt, chaplain; Henry Evers, tiler; James M. Cash, trustee, and Homer Hughes, organist.

For two years the lodge occupied rooms in the Johnson County Bank building, then moved to larger quarters on the Crescent block and later to the old Freeman home on Washington street, now the site of the Iowa City Press-Citizen building.

The present site of the lodge was purchased during the administration of George T. Reddick as exalted ruler. The building was completed and dedicated on Thanksgiving day, 1909, when G. W. Schmidt was exalted ruler. All bonded indebtedness was paid in full in 1920, during Ray Slavata's rule. The home was remodelled and refurbished in 1923.

Lodge members witnessed the largest banquet in local Elksdom's history at their silver anniversary celebration on May 24, 1925.

The committee in charge of that affair was the same as the one which arranged for the grand banquet for the charter class, May 24, 1900. They were O. H. Carpenter, A. T. Calkins and Capt. Eugene Cherry.

Especially honored on that occasion were 26 surviving chartered members who were presented with silver emblems in recognition of their services to the lodge.

Following is a list of the 26 members honored at the silver anniversary celebration: Dr. Frank T. Breene, W. H. Bailey, A. T. Calkins, O. H. Carpenter, Eugene Cherry, Dr. L. W. Dean, Eugene Epstein, George Falk, M. E. Hurley, Winfield Hughes, Elmer Hull, Frank Kane, O. L. Keith, L. L. Kenyon, T. Dell Kelley, Peter Lane, Henry Louis, Max Meyer, Dennis Maher, M. H. Maher, M. C. Parsons, George T. Reddick, G. W. Schmidt, Herman A. Strub, Arthur Younk and Frank R. Hatch.

Iowa City's Elks lodge was the first in the entire order to establish and maintain an Elks scholarship fund to help young men and women complete their educations. This work was taken up by the Iowa State association of Elks in 1923, when Henry Louis was president of that organization. Many other states have since established Elks' scholarships.

In addition to prominent Elks activity in civic circles, they have also been outstanding in athletic events. Iowa City Elks teams have participated in athletic competitions at state and national conventions. The trap shoot team has won the highest honors at both conventions for the last five years. Frank M. Smith is captain of the team.

The golf team, captained by George H. Frohwein, has taken first honors at state conventions for the past six years, and as Iowa champions, competed at the national convention at Denver, Col., last July.

Outstanding services in Elksdom are rewarded with honorary life memberships. Four Iowa Citizens granted this honor were A. T. Calkins, W. B. Bastian, Henry Louis and Dr. Jesse Ward.

Iowa City delegates will attend the state Elks convention in Keokuk, June 12, 13 and 14, and the 74th grand lodge reunion in Atlantic City, N. J., on the week of July 10, it was announced.

An expenditure of $40,000 on a complete renovation and expansion of the Elks club house was recently authorized by lodge members. According to expansion committee chairman H. J. Reichardt, the building plans are in the hands of construction engineers and work will start soon. Other members of the building committee are W. H. Bates, M. B. Guthrie, Henry Louis and Dr. John Voss.

During the past year many visitors were guests at the local clubhouse. In accordance with an old Elks custom, the casts of "Cyrano de Bergerac" starring Walter Hampden, and "You Can't Take It With You," were entertained.

City High Seniors Will Give 'Captain Applejack' Tomorrow

Fifty Iowa City high school seniors will present their class play, "Captain Applejack," in the high school auditorium tomorrow and Thursday at 8 p. m.

Twenty-seven will take part in the production. Certain roles are double cast, and the remaining number serve on various stage crews.

"Captain Applejack" is a story of highly romantic adventure, involving mystery, thrills, love story and exciting climax. The action mounts steadily from the first scene, and the suspense is sustained to the end of the third act.

The scene for the play is laid in an old English home at Palperin on the Cornish coast, and action also takes place on board a pirate ship on the Spanish seas. Sets for the play have been constructed by stage crews, under the supervision of Alan Sentinelli.

The cast is as follows, with the first named actors playing tomorrow night: Lush, David Armbruster and Robert Yetter; Popsy Faire, Maxine Miller and Dorothy Soucek; Mrs. Agatha Whitcomb, Florence Rohrbacher and Jean Opstad; Ambrose Applejohn, Scott Swisher and Charles Beckman; Anna Valeska, Jean Livingston; Mrs. Pengard, Betty Blessin; Mr. Pengard, Alan Sentinelli and Norris Wheeler; Ivan Borolski, Robert James and Rogers Jenkinson; Palmer, Bertha Mason; Dennet, William Buckley; Johnny Jason, Robert G. James; and pirates, Martin Kimmell, Robert Lee, John McGreevey, Robert Vogt, Don Cejka, Charles Wilson, Leon Kloefer and Raymond Tiffany.

Girl Graduates Will Have Less Competition in Limited Fields

By ELIZABETH INSKIP WYE
AP Feature Service Writer

Girl graduates this year will discover, as usual, that their diplomas are no magic wands to conjure up careers. They will find the doors of business houses hard to budge, and attractive salaries available only after years of work.

Business is demanding that the college girl, as well as the non-college graduate, serve an apprenticeship. It's up to her to see that it is apprenticeship, that her services are not being exploited under the guise of apprenticeship. That's a matter of picking the right firm, and the right field.

Easier said than done? That's what I thought, myself, so I went to employment counselors, vocational guidance authorities, and college women who have made successes in their chosen work.

Some New Fields

I found no agreement on what the "best" fields were, but I discussed the college girl's chances in home economics, personnel work, merchandising, journalism and social service. Some of these are new fields for women. All are attractive to the present crop of girl graduates.

Inside tip: It's still a man's world. The business girl will have a better chance in a field where she doesn't compete directly with men. And if she relies on her own abilities rather than feminine wiles.

Now for the details—HOME ECONOMICS

An excellent choice for the girl who is undecided on a career because it's so diversified. That's the opinion of Jane Tiffany Wagner, chairman of Home Economics Women in Business, (and home service director of Serval, Inc.).

Hotels, restaurants, hospitals, life insurance companies, utility companies, magazines, newspapers, advertising concerns, manufacturers of textiles, refrigerators, stoves and breakfast foods employ home economists. The home service departments of gas and electric companies offer unlimited opportunity.

For the girl with an A.B. degree, graduate work in home economics will be necessary. Fresh from the classroom she may earn only $25 a week, but progress is

Local Elks to Celebrate Founding To Honor 10 of Surviving Charter Members at Banquet Tonight

Iowa City Elks will celebrate the 38th anniversary of the founding of the local lodge, No. 590, B. F. O. E., at a banquet in the lodge clubhouse at 6:30 this evening.

Specially honored guests will be 10 of the surviving 64 chartered members, all of whom are still active. They are Henry Louis, W. H. Bailey, G. L. Falk, L. L. Kenyon, T. Dell Kelley, Max Mayer, M. H. Maher, G. W. Schmidt, Arthur Younk and Frank Hatch.

Charles Fieseler, exalted ruler, will be toastmaster, and Henry Louis, first exalted ruler and honorary member of the lodge, will relate the 38 years of local Elks history.

A fried chicken dinner prepared under the supervision of Herbert J. Reichardt will be served. The entertainment committee in charge of the event is Dr. Jesse Ward, chairman, Claude Reed, Wesley McGinnis, Charles Mott and Harold Hands.

The lodge history began in the spring of 1900, when a petition for an Elks charter was granted to 64 Iowa City business and professional men by the grand lodge of Elks.

Henry Louis, Iowa City druggist, was elected first exalted ruler, the chief executive of the organization, when the lodge was instituted on May 24, 1900. The other chartered officers were O. L. Keith, esteemed leading knight; S. A. Coldren, esteemed lecturing knight; George T. Reddick, secretary; J. E. Switzer, treasurer; Asher W. Ely, esquire; O. H. Carpenter, inner guard; G. W. Schmidt, chaplain; Henry Evers, tiler; James M. Cash, trustee, and Homer Hughes, organist.

For two years the lodge occupied rooms in the Johnson County Bank building, then moved to larger quarters on the Crescent block and later to the old Freeman home on Washington street, now the site of the Iowa City Press-Citizen building.

The present site of the lodge was purchased during the administration of George T. Reddick as exalted ruler. The building was completed and dedicated on Thanksgiving day, 1909, when G. W. Schmidt was exalted ruler. All bonded indebtedness was paid in full in 1920, during Ray Slavata's rule. The home was remodelled and refurbished in 1923.

Lodge members witnessed the largest banquet in local Elksdom's history at their silver anniversary celebration on May 24, 1925.

The committee in charge of that affair was the same as the one which arranged for the grand banquet for the charter class, May 24, 1900. They were O. H. Carpenter, A. T. Calkins and Capt. Eugene Cherry.

Especially honored on that occasion were 26 surviving chartered members who were presented with silver emblems in recognition of their services to the lodge.

Following is a list of the 26 members honored at the silver anniversary celebration: Dr. Frank T. Breene, W. H. Bailey, A. T. Calkins, O. H. Carpenter, Eugene Cherry, Dr. L. W. Dean, Eugene Epstein, George Falk, M. E. Hurley, Winfield Hughes, Elmer Hull, Frank Kane, O. L. Keith, L. L. Kenyon, T. Dell Kelley, Peter Lane, Henry Louis, Max Meyer, Dennis Maher, M. H. Maher, M. C. Parsons, George T. Reddick, G. W. Schmidt, Herman A. Strub, Arthur Younk and Frank R. Hatch.

Iowa City's Elks lodge was the first in the entire order to establish and maintain an Elks scholarship fund to help young men and women complete their educations. This work was taken up by the Iowa State association of Elks in 1923, when Henry Louis was president of that organization. Many other states have since established Elks' scholarships.

In addition to prominent Elks activity in civic circles, they have also been outstanding in athletic events. Iowa City Elks teams have participated in athletic competitions at state and national conventions. The trap shoot team has won the highest honors at both conventions for the last five years. Frank M. Smith is captain of the team.

The golf team, captained by George H. Frohwein, has taken first honors at state conventions for the past six years, and as Iowa champions, competed at the national convention at Denver, Col., last July.

25 Friends Help Child Celebrate Sixth Birthday

Charlene Thatcher, 405 S. Dodge street, entertained 25 of her friends Saturday on her sixth birthday. The guests met at the home of their hostess and then went to city park where the afternoon was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served at the close of the party.

Guests were Curtis Miller, Karl Harsbarger, Joan Bresnahan, Barbara and Esther English, Irene Gatens, Doris Hays, Billy Grim, Charles LaRue, Bernice Sullivan, John Hess, Barbara Burdick, Dick Hawley, Barbara Trotter, Gordon Beals, Keith Mulford, Joan Hess, Betty Fields, Mary Elizabeth Lefelnder, Jane Condon, Kenneth Hays and Anne and Buddy Maher.

Cardenas Aims to Stimulate Idle Production, Wants Workers to Receive Profits of Labor

By J. P. McKNIGHT
AP Foreign Service Writer

MEXICO CITY — General Lazaro Cardenas, intent on achieving Mexico's "economic redemption," nevertheless insists that he welcomes foreign investors.

But his policies lately have been little calculated to inspire confidence in the American or Englishman or Frenchman seeking a place to put his money.

In November, 1936, not quite two years after Cardenas came to power, Congress wrote on the books the now famous law of expropriation, vastly broadening the government's power to take "private property."

The law's most remarked provision permitted expropriation for the "equitable distribution of wealth" and "the establishment, maintenance or conservation of an industrial concern for the good of society."

"Nothing To Fear"

A month later Cardenas told The Associated Press, in the first interview granted any foreign newspapermen regularly stationed in Mexico, that business had nothing to fear from the legislation.

Its prime purpose, he said, was to "put back into activity" any "source of production that becomes idle."

Not until June, 1936, was the law brought into important use, with the expropriation of the far-flung National Railways system.

And although the railways owed some half-billion dollars abroad, they were in such bad shape financially that bond holders generally felt any change was for the better.

March of this year brought the legislation to the attention of the world.

Cardenas invoked it then to take over the $400,000,000 properties of 17 British and American oil companies, which the Labor Department previously had declared "in rebellion," that is, in contempt of the Supreme Court, for refusing to accept an arbitrary verdict greatly increasing benefits to labor.

In a speech announcing the expropriation, the president laid upon that part of foreign capital invested in oil the charge that it "attempts to evade mandates and obligations imposed upon it by the authorities of the nation," charging investors in oil lacked "moral qualities sufficient to make them give something in exchange for the wealth they drew from the land."

In some quarters, it is felt that Cardenas, despite his welcome to "well-behaved" foreign capital, is driven to policies investors regard as inimical by the pressure of labor's increasing demands.

It is he who, to some degree, has fostered and fomented those increased demands, for one key-stone of his Mexican "New Deal" is "the greater distribution of the profits of labor to labor."

Results of Labor Pressure

Recent instances where labor pressure has forced out foreign capital include:

The Standard Fruit company's delivery of its banana plantations in Tabasco and Veracruz to workers whose demands they declined to accept. It now buys fruit from the workers' co-operative.

Turning over the once rich gold mining properties of the French-controlled "Dos Estrellas" company, at El Oro, Mexico, and Tlalpujahua, Michoacan, as the result of long labor difficulties and claims growing out of the death of more than 100 persons in an avalanche last year.

Delivery of the Veracruz Terminal Company, British owned, to its employees who have struck many times in the last three years.

The present government, through Cardenas and other spokesmen often has said it is pleased to have foreign capitalists willing to obey Mexican laws and be treated alike with Mexican capital.

Cardenas even has contended that Mexican legislation governing industry "offers it more protection than that of the United States, where taxes and wages alike are higher."

That bankers abroad are more impressed by the administration's acts than its words, however, is evidenced by the fact that all recent efforts to get sorely needed foreign credits have failed.

unarmed, in the wood-working shop, and slugged him with a hammer.

Leaving their unconscious victim on the floor, they climbed through a window to the roof, apparently to seize an armed guard on duty there.

The guard opened fire and wounded Franklin in the shoulder. Limerick threw an iron weight at the guard, the wound reported, and was also shot down. Lucas ran for cover and was captured.

Warden Johnston, in a press statement, identified Limerick as a life-term prisoner on national bank robbery and kidnaping charges; Lucas serving 30 years for national bank robbery and Dyer act violation, and Franklin serving 30 years for bank robbery, Dyer act violation and assault.

The stabbing of Capone, who was seriously injured, occurred June 23, 1936, and as a result Lucas was placed in solitary confinement. The weapon was a pair of scissors with four-inch blades.

Johnston said Lucas, who was convicted of robbing an Albany, Tex., bank, accused Capone of "informing" on him.

Johnston said the three convicts were wanted in several other jurisdictions. He said Franklin was wanted as a parole violator from Kirby, Ala., where he was serving a life sentence for murder.

Lucas, the warden said, was wanted by the Texas state prison, where he was sentenced to a life term and escaped, and on Texas charges of bank robbery and assault with intent to murder.

County Clerk Issues Marriage Licenses To Three Couples

County Clerk R. Nelson Miller yesterday issued marriage licenses to three couples.

George Schulz-Behrend, 25, and Mary Louise Barker, 18, both of Iowa City; Charles LeRoy Horton, 29, and Dorothy May Ewers, 24, both of Iowa City; and Fern C. Kaefring, legal, Oxford, and Elizabeth Rodgers, legal, Iowa City, received the licenses.

Judge Carson Fines Several

Harley Shalla was fined $5 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license by Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday.

Carson ordered the $5 bond of Kenneth R. Cochran forfeited when Cochran failed to appear in police court on a charge of speeding. John J. Russell was fined $5 and costs for speeding.

John E. Spence was fined $3 and costs for loitering, and A. G. Schrieber $1 for parking across an alley.

Calvin Smith was fined $5 Sunday for operating a car without a driver's license. Joe Eisenhoper, Elmer Wagner, and W. B. Packman were all fined $1 for parking overtime.

Robert D. Arnold failed to obey a red light and was fined $1 and costs, while Donald F. Sullivan received the same fine for failing to obey a stop sign. Double parking cost Paul Peck and Marion Crossley $1 each. Ray G. Honn was fined $1 and costs for speeding.

C. Parsons, George T. Reddick, G. W. Schmidt, Herman A. Strub, Arthur Younk and Frank R. Hatch.

Iowa City's Elks lodge was the first in the entire order to establish and maintain an Elks scholarship fund to help young men and women complete their educations. This work was taken up by the Iowa State association of Elks in 1923, when Henry Louis was president of that organization. Many other states have since established Elks' scholarships.

In addition to prominent Elks activity in civic circles, they have also been outstanding in athletic events. Iowa City Elks teams have participated in athletic competitions at state and national conventions. The trap shoot team has won the highest honors at both conventions for the last five years. Frank M. Smith is captain of the team.

Examination Schedule

Second Semester, 1937-1938

Monday, May 23, 8 a.m., to Tuesday, May 31, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (1), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below.

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation in the case of any examination, from this Schedule, except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned, to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted. Students should prepare and deposit such petitions in the offices of the Deans of Men (men) and Women (women).

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) The instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour May 19 or 20; if possible, May 12 or 13.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8, and the class will meet for examination Tuesday, May 24, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics (126) meets twice each week, T, F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination, is, therefore, Saturday, May 28, 2 p.m.

N. B. All sections of "Principles of Speech" (1), (2) and (4) (Except Section J*) will meet during Examination Week on the days and at the periods designated below. Consult the bulletin board, Room 13 S. H. for room assignments.

Mon., May 23—Section H, 8-10 Speech (1), 8-10	Fri., May 27—Section I, 8-10 Section C, 1-3 Section G, 3-5 Speech (4), 3-5
Tues., May 24—Section A, 1-3 Section E, 3-5	Sat., May 28—Section D, 10-12 Section E, 1-3 Section F, 3-5

*Section J will meet as announced by the instructors.

"ODD" classes, namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class, by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from May 23 to May 31 inclusive, Sunday and Memorial Day excepted.
2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F and G, since for such "odd" classes these seven examination periods will be found quite available.

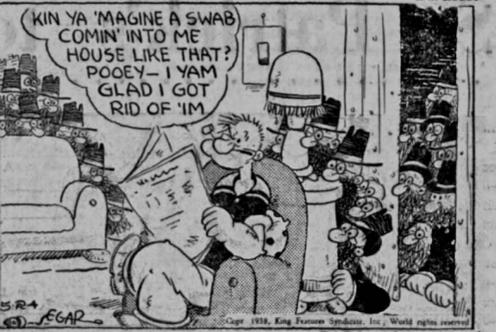

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times, if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time.

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.", unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

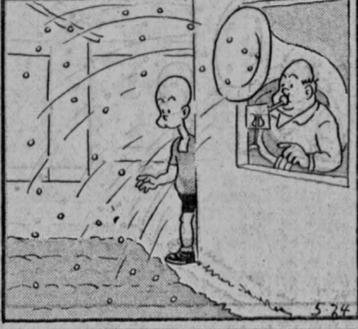

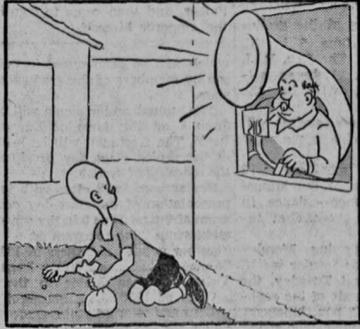

H. C. DORCAS, Secretary, Program Committee.

Plan Exercises, Baccalaureate, For Same Day

Junior Class to Honor Graduates Tonight At Dinner-Dance

Twenty-eight St. Patrick's high school seniors will be awarded diplomas at the graduation exercises June 5 in St. Patrick's church. The Rev. R. J. Kinnavey of St. Ambrose college, Davenport, will be the speaker.

The baccalaureate services will be held at an 8 o'clock mass the same day.

Junior class members will honor the seniors at the annual junior-senior dinner-dance in the high school gymnasium tonight.

The week beginning Monday will be observed as "senior week" at the school. Next Tuesday, the seniors will be guests of the sophomore class at a 1 p.m. luncheon. Following the luncheon, the senior class will sponsor the "Coronation" ceremony during which Mary, Our Blessed Lady will be chosen as Queen of May and her statue crowned by Mary Wicks, sodality prefect, it was announced.

Frank Rohner will act as master of ceremonies, Margaret Leuz will be crown-bearer, and Virgil Neubauer will render the tribute to Our Lady of Victory. The ceremony will close solemnly with the senior pledge to Mary Immaculate

Committee Picks Eight Boy Scouts

Eight Boy Scouts have been requested by the flower show committee to arrange flowers and assist as orderlies, guards and messengers for the show on June 2, Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel said yesterday.

In its literal sense "Mikado" meant the Gate of the Imperial Palace, and then came to signify the emperor himself.

which will be pronounced in unison by members of the graduating class.

The annual senior picnic will be June 1 on the farm of Edward Ipsen. The freshmen will be hosts at the senior class day breakfast the morning of June 3.

Senior week will close with the presentation of the class day program at 8 p.m. June 3 in the school auditorium. The program is: Summer winds.....Class of 1938 Salutatory.....Vivian Logan Voice of Alma Mater to the Class of 1938.....Margaret Leuz and selected senior students Sauce for the Goshings.....a one-act play In a Little Dutch Kindergarten.....Members of the Class of '38 And the Lamp Went Out.....a pantomime A Bachelor's Dream (Class prophecy).....Frank Rohner and members of the class. Last Will and Testament.....Richard Gough, Paul Scannell and members of the class Valedictory.....Mary Wicks Farewell.....Class of 1938

Jail Sentence of 15 Days for J. Carson

Jack Carson of El Paso, Tex., was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail on a vagrancy charge by Police Judge Burke N. Carson yesterday.

The defendant allegedly entered a barn on the Josh Mann property, 219 E. Lafayette street, Sunday evening and stole a pair of cowboy boots.

Local Prisoner Wanted in Ohio

Police Chief William H. Bender received word yesterday that two officers from the Ohio parole board will arrive in Iowa City today or tomorrow to take into custody Joseph Atwater now held in the county jail.

Atwater was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail last month by Police Judge Burke N. Carson on a charge of petty larceny. Chief Bender sent a report in to Washington, D.C., and it was established that the prisoner was an escaped parolee from the penal institution at Columbus, Ohio.

Atwater's term was over three or four days ago, according to Chief Bender, but he has been held in jail for the Ohio authorities.

Clothiers Seek To Collect $63

B. M. Ricketts and Cloyde Shellady, operators of Ricketts and Shellady clothing store, yesterday filed a $63 damage suit against Salvador Luna, Joe Magness and Mary Carillo, who were arrested last week on a charge of stealing two suits from the store.

The petition alleged that the trio converted to their own possession the two suits which were taken by stealth from the store. The law firm of Dutcher, Ries and Dutcher represents the plaintiff.

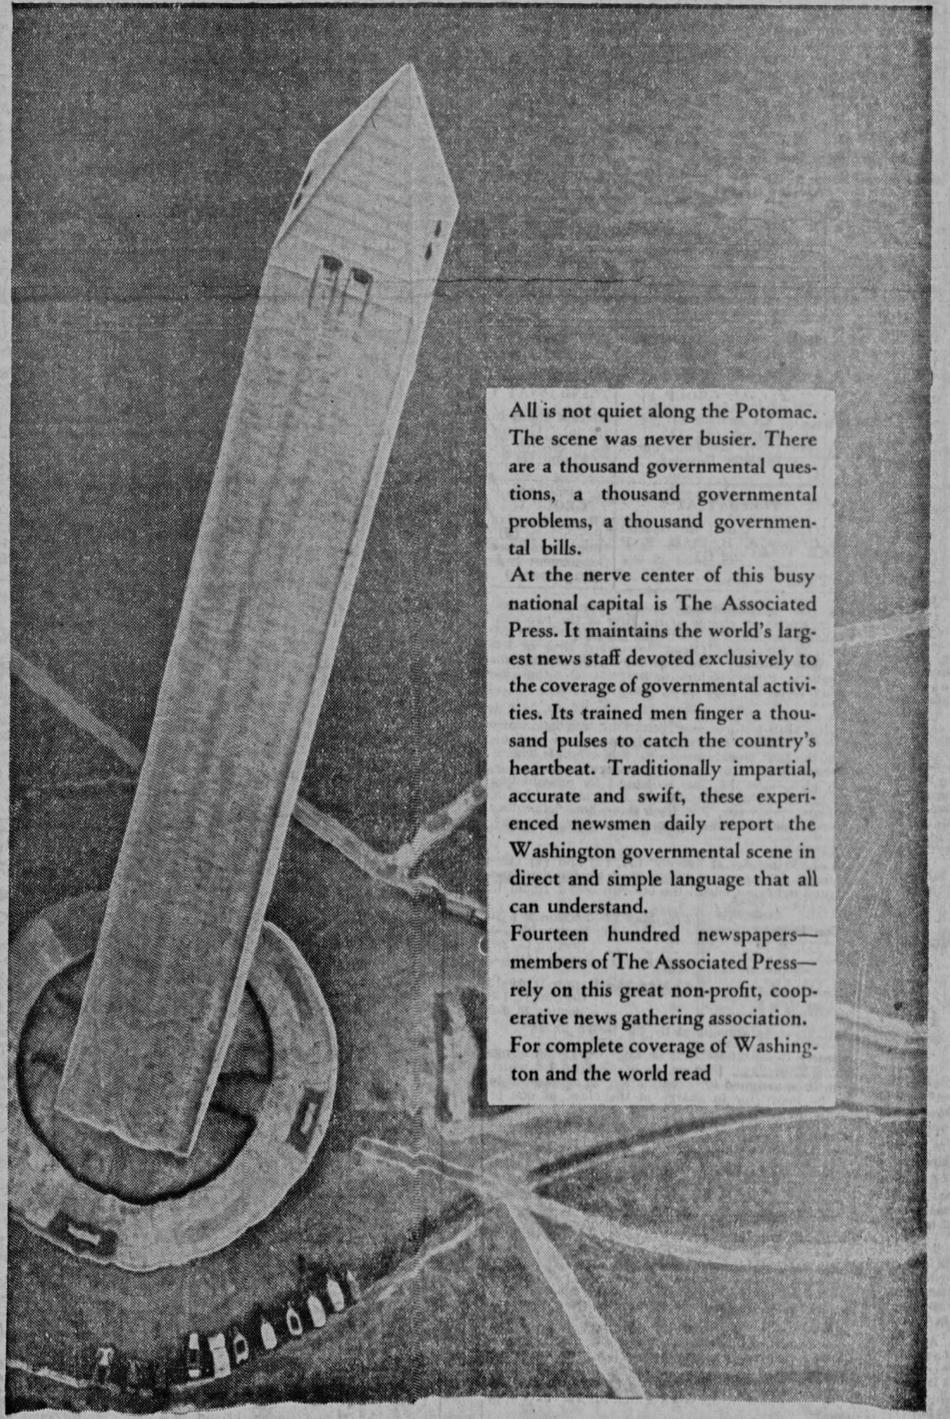

Will Administer Worrell Estate

Mrs. Margaret Worrell, Solon, yesterday was appointed administratrix of the estate of Joseph E. Worrell. She will serve under a $1,000 bond. Mr. Worrell died in Solon May 14.

I desire to announce my candidacy for the nomination for Constable of Iowa City township on the Republican ticket subject to the voters at the primaries June 6th.

St. Mary's Will Hold Exercises

Mass, Communion Will Begin Graduation This Morning

Annual class day exercises for the seniors of St. Mary's high school will begin this morning with group attendance at mass and communion followed by a breakfast at the convent as guests of the sisters.

At 10 o'clock the seniors will present an entertainment for children of the school and at 6 o'clock they will be guests of the juniors at the annual junior-senior banquet. Cyril Black will act as toastmaster.

At 8 o'clock the class day program will be presented to the public. It will include the class hymn, "Ave Maris Stella," sung by the graduating class followed by greetings extended by Virgil Amelon. Three plays will also be given, "Wienies on Wednesday," "The Finger of God," and "Pink and Patches."

Coronation exercises at which Maxine Belger will preside as May queen, will be next Sunday. Her attendants will be Lucille Consamus and Patricia Kanel. Crown bearers and flower girls will be Joan Wareham, Doris Langenberg, Martha Mottet and Joan Sullivan. Irene Gaulocher of last year's graduating class, will read the customary prayers.

Postpone Boy Scout Roundup to June 10

The Boy Scout Roundup has been postponed from June 9 until June 10, Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel said yesterday.

June 9 conflicted with the Iowa City high school graduation exercises, Thiel said.

Guests at Reserve Officers Dinner

Boy Scouts To Help Decorate Graves Monday

Fifty Boy Scouts will canvass all houses in Iowa City for flowers to decorate graves on Memorial Day, May 30.

Scouts and leaders who will do this work should report at the American Legion Community building Sunday at 1 p.m. Scouts are to wear uniforms or some means of identification.

Scouts will assist with the decoration of the graves at 9 a.m. Monday at Oakland cemetery and with services at the ravine in the cemetery following the decoration.

Eight uniformed scouts will stand guard at the Soldier's grave, while other uniformed scouts will assist with ushering, orderlies and messenger service.

AROUND THE TOWN
With TOM JOHNSON

Best query of the night, though, was an excited: "Has the United States declared war on Japan?" We huddled again . . . this time around the Associated Press teletype . . . informed the inquirer "We do not believe so."

Add Nine-Day Wonders Whatever became of the "third party" which was ballyhooed by the LaFollettes a few days ago? Since it didn't take, it's rumored neither of the major parties plan to sue the LaFollettes for alienation of a faction. . . . (That's not funny, Johnson.) . . . And, since '36, where do I get the idea there are two major parties?

4 Scouters to Attend Buffalo Bill Council Meet at Muscatine Four scouters from Iowa City will attend the Buffalo Bill area council field meet tonight at Muscatine, Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel said yesterday.

Scouters who will attend are Scout Commissioner Gordon L. Kent, Scoutmasters Richard Bireline and Clarence Conklin, and Thiel.
