Student Gets Air Crash Letter

A grim souvenir of the plane crash in which 10 persons were killed Tuesday night, arrived in Iowa City yesterday for Herbert W. Neiman, A3 of Newark, N. J. It is a charred letter, salvaged from the burning wreckage in a ravine eight miles from Cleveland, Ohio, where a United Air lines ship plunged from the skies at 9:30 p.m.

Less than two hours before, the letter had been mailed from Newark airport by his sister, Bernice Neiman, 212 Osborne terrace, Newark. It was postmarked 7:35 p.m.

It arrived here yesterday morning, the brown postoffice envelope enclosing it stamped "Damage Due to Air Mail Interruption, Cleveland." The second postmark was "3 p.m., May 25."

Above is the charred letter picked up near the burning wreckage of the latest 'plane disaster. The huge transport plane burst into flames when it was forced to land in a ravine eight miles from Cleve-

Alumni Are a Part Of Any University

AT THIS time of year we become particularly aware of the important place alumni have in the functioning of a university. A good proportion of the crowds that swarm the campus during the Commencement activities are alumni returning for class celebrations. Many times they return merely because they are interested spectators who love their school and are anxious to keep in touch with its activities.

It is this devotion of alumni to their alma mater that has brought about the 10-year 10-point alumni association program—a program designed to challenge the interest and support of every graduate and former student of the university. The program will be carried out through division chairmen who will attempt to organize the scattered alumni into a strong group that is 100 per cent behind the university.

The loyalty and encouragement of an individual alumnus is an asset to any school. The same loyalty and encouragement expressed by a group is worth infinitely more.

So newly organized a plan, now just going into operation, should be of especial interest to those who will soon be graduated. Although it is hard for the young alumnus to consider himself as part of a long-established group, it is this new blood, so recently in contact with the university, that can most easily bridge the distance between the university body and the alumni association.

As new alumni starting their life in the business world, seniors should realize that through their continued loyalty they will be aiding both themselves and their school. If they wish to obtain the ultimate value from their university, they will become active alumni just as they have been active undergraduates.

Governments regard dirigibles as little boys do the toy balloons at the county fair. They want the very biggest that Papa Taxpayer can't afford to buy.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

TRAGEDY IN VIENNA Of course there never was any such Vienna as the tourist thought he saw, never that city of the Viennese song.

Wien, Wien, nur du allein, Wirst stets die Stadt meiner Traume sein! It was not altogether the city of a dream. Life there wasn't entirely made up of sitting at an outdoor cafe on the Graben or the Kärntnerstrasse and watching the crowd drift by; or dancing to the music of a gypsy orchestra; or shopping in the Kohlmarkt. It wasn't all music, art and graciousness. There were hard work, narrow rooms, worry, sickness, death and crime, all the human passions, good and bad, just as in other cities. There had to be plenty of make-believe when Vienna was Vienna.

But in those days uniformed bullies didn't raid the coffee-houses, hunting down men and women for the crime of loving justice and freedom; harmless teachers and professional men were not taken into the Prater to be cuffed, kicked, humiliated and sometimes killed; artists and musicians were given better work to do than cleaning toilets or polishing boots in the barracks which the new conquerors had taken over; delicate women were not forced to their knees in the gutter while they scrubbed the sidewalks with strong lye; and no one was driven to suicide because all means of livelihood and all means of escape from the country were at once shut off from him. Vienna, when it was Vienna, was not at all like the city of fear and violence described in recent dispatches. The finer fruits of man's spirit flourished there. They were not being wiped out, as they now are, by people whose first impulse is to destroy what they cannot understand.

What has happened in Vienna is not understandable as the crime of one nation against another nation, race or legion. Correspondents had something to say for the comparatively human attitude of German army officers against the "schweineri" of the storm troopers, and they had to note that there were natives of this laughter-loving city who gathered to laugh at the misery of others.

We have been witnessing, at long range, nothing less than the long-predicted "revolt against civilization." The beast that lurks in all men's hearts has been deliberately released. But he will not be thrust back by a blind wave of hate. The enemies of civilization exist in every country. They are in the saddle in Germany and what was once Austria. Let us not give up hope that the true Germany will yet reassert itself, and restore not only the old Vienna but its own rich and forgotten civilization.

HEAT LIGHTNING!

Clendening Hears Some Music That Was Used as Medicine

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I attended a concert the other night that was, so far as I can remember, a unique event. It was a program of music that at one time or other in the world's history has been used in connection with medicine.

The effects of music on sickness, especially nervous sickness, has been known for a long time. David was called upon to play before Saul, when the melancholy fit was on the king. Everyone must have experienced the change of mood that can follow listening to a great symphony. Songs can charm you out of depression, and grouchiness vanish before the spirited rendition of a dance number.

The pieces I heard the other night were three. The first was a melody composed by the court jester, who was also the court musician, to soothe the great Duke of Mantua in the early 16th century, when he lay very ill. It was a light and airy apostrophe, urging him to be once again his gay self, and to forget the cloud of disease that hung over him.

The second was the tune called "The Tarantella." It was played under remarkable circumstances. In the Middle Ages in certain parts of Italy especially, it was supposed that the bite of a spider, the tarantula, caused the victim to dance and jump around. Of course, it was a form of hysteria, not due to the spider's bite at all. But when this wave of wildness would hit a village, wandering musicians were called up to play these tunes, which were named "The Tarantella" and which finally calmed the excitement.

Lastly, was played a great hymn of supplication to Saint Sebastian, who was the patron saint of the plague, asking him to remove the plague from the land. It was all very impressive and made one feel that music should be used more than it is for purposes of treatment, especially in nervous and mental disorders.

Tuning In with Betty Harpel

If Jan Garber has been looking worried these days, it's because a weighty problem is bothering him. Lew Walter, songwriter, has been trying to convince the "Idol of the Airlines" that he should introduce a new tune on the air.

The tune's title is "You're a Little Devil from Heaven" and the big problem is: would the playing of a melody with such a title provoke public indignation? Freddy Large, Jan's arranger is warning the maestro against airing the tune.

Three cheers! Jack Haley's program is returning to the airways this fall. Ted Fio Rito and his orchestra will appear with the comedian.

Fiber McGee is off to Kansas City after his Tuesday broadcast to look after his root beer bottling plant business.

Benny Goodman is looking toward that European jaunt which he will definitely take in July... incognito, incidentally.

John J. Anthony, conductor of the "Good Will Hour," is presiding over college symposiums on marital relations in the New York area.

If Wishes Were Horses One of Eddie Cantor's suppressed desires is to be able to pack up his five daughters and Ida and take a jaunt to see the Dionne quins.

Benny Goodman craves to compose a symphony in swing.

Linda Lee, songstress featured on Ripley's program has a "yeh" to study at Oxford for an advanced degree.

June Meredith, featured player on the Attorney at Law show, has the distinction of being practically the only person on radio that didn't try to get into it. She made her first appearance under protest but a sponsor liked her and the show found itself with a new leading lady.

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 26—Maybe even "warning" is too strong a term. Call it a hint.

Shortly after the World war, when Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state, launched an international naval limitations program, the idea was very popular throughout our whole globe. John Bull, traditionally boss of the seas, but at that juncture flat on his financial back, realized that Uncle Sam could, if he would, easily outbid him.

It would have humiliated Mr. Bull terribly to have had to slump down into second place. His diplomatic representatives almost wept with gratitude at our offer to restrain ourselves and give Britain a 50-50 break.

France, Italy and Japan equally were disposed to hold down to schedules which it was obvious that they could not exceed anyway, war-weary as they were. Germany did not signify. Armament restraints, then, were easy enough to agree on. Nobody but Uncle Sam was in a position to restrain. The remainder were more than willing to do so if he would do it first. They were aware that, for quite awhile, it was highly questionable that they would be able to keep up to their respective specified maxima, to say nothing of surpassing same. Thus it was a dicker, with scarcely an argument.

A Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It has been a tiring but withal not unsatisfactory day... Saw Senator Gillette dining alone, as usual, at his favorite hotel... Although there are thousands of drugstores in New York, they are hard to find on Fifth avenue between 42nd and 110th streets... There are only one or two... The kids in the streets of Little Italy sing opera; just as they do in Venice and Rome... John Barbirolli, the conductor, smokes cigarettes during the day and a pipe at night... So Lily Pons is back at her Norman farmhouse, at Silver Mine, Connecticut... It's a high roofed chateau overlooking the estate of Richardson Wright, editor of House and Garden... "The Gilded Lily" brought back two medals awarded her by the Belgian and French governments... "And now for a long rest, Mlle. Pons"... "Only a month," she replies, "and then I leave for South America."

AF's Name Will someone kindly tell me whether Al Jolson's first name is Alfred, Alford, Albert, or Allen?... It takes just 12 minutes to put through a long distance telephone call from New York to Paris, Moscow, Vienna, London, or Berlin... The town, like every place else, has succumbed to the beer jacket... Saw one the other day worn by a gangling youth with this legend scrawled across the back, "The first Beer Jacket in Crawford County."

Signs of the Times: Window on 17th floor of Lexington Hotel: "If you throw a lighted cigarette from this window you may take a man's life"... On a shuttle train placard: "A gruff manner gets you nowhere fast. Be courteous"... Everywhere you turn: "Visit New York World Fair, 1939..."

The Margaret Mitchell who lives in Atlanta wrote "Gone With the Wind," but two Margaret Mitchells who live in New York are waitresses in a restaurant near Wall street.

Fourth avenue vignette: Young man in slacks walking along with a sword in one hand and a Persian cat in the other... "I'm moving," he explains, "and the moving men took everything but these."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—The girl in the old-fashioned long dress waved from the outdoor movie set across the rolling golf course adjoining and called "Hey, Dolores, Dolores!"

The distant golfer turned, waved back in bewilderment, then waved again more enthusiastically when the old-fashioned girl shouted, "It's Ruby—Ruby Jolson—how you doin'?"

Then the old-fashioned girl turned back to the set. "That was Dolores Hope—Bob's wife—I knew her by the swing..."

Most any other day in the past year and a half would have found Ruby Keeler on that golf course, not bothering about pictures. She hadn't been in one since "Ready, Willing and Able." But now—long dress, false curls, hair ribbon and all—she was fulfilling a contract with RKO by starring in "Mother Carey's Chickens." She's the eldest chicken, the girl who falls for James Ellison, and she doesn't tag a step.

A Modest Lady Luncheon, we sat in Ruby's dressing shack under Universal's broiling sun—they were borrowing a location on the back lot near the Lakeside golf course—and talked and watched the spiders, ants and flies do Disney-ish tricks on the walls. Ruby dabbed at a pallid lunch on a paper plate; we said "No, thanks."

Mrs. Al Jolson talked weirdly for a movie actress. Said, of course, she was glad to be working again, although she suspected they were using her simply because she'd signed a contract. Said she thought it would be a good picture because they had such a good cast, meaning Faye Bainter, Ellison, Anne Shirley, Walter Brennan, et al. Said she was just as glad they weren't using her in a musical—this way she didn't have to worry about whether her tapping was as good as the other girls' in dance pictures.

"I just tapped," she said, "but the girls now—they're doing all sorts of fancy tricks... I'm sure I couldn't keep up!" She looked very pretty, sitting there at her dressing table, and just like the girl who was "half scared to death" every time she went into a scene for "42nd Street," her first picture five years ago. Sounded like that girl, too.

Ross-Armstrong Title Bout Postponed by Rain; Fight Scheduled for Tonight

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—The weather man, as predicted, scored the first punch of the outdoor fight season today. His conservative forecast of "showers" was fulfilled by a deluge that washed out tonight's 15-round welterweight title match between Champion Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong, the Negro challenger.

holding out until three hours of steady rain had drenched the scene of impending conflict in Madison Square Garden's Long Island City bowl, postponed the fight until tomorrow. If another delay is necessitated by the weather, the show will probably be rescheduled for Monday night.

The postponement came after Ross scaled 141 3-4 and Armstrong 136 1-4, thereby fulfilling the special weight agreements for this unprecedented match between the respective holders of the welter and feather crowns. It precipitated a confusing dispute, however, as to what will happen when the fighters report to the state athletic commission at noon tomorrow for reexamination.

It is a commission rule that fighters need not weigh in again unless a bout is postponed for 48 hours or more, but Brigadier General John J. Phelan, the chairman, pulled a rule change out of his hat by announcing the principals would be required to step on the scales again. This drew a prompt squawk from Armstrong's manager, Eddie Mead, who insisted his man had already lived up to the agreement to make not less than 136 and would not weigh in again unless there's another postponement.

The idea behind Mead's objection is not only based on the previously understood regulations but on a desire to trim two or three pounds off his fighter's surplus. Armstrong's best fighting weight is around 133. He agreed to make 136 to his rival's maximum of 142 so that the Negro would be over the lightweight class limit.

General Phelan finally pacified all concerned by saying he would decide what, if anything, would be done tomorrow noon outside of the formality of re-examination.

There appeared no prospect of any hitch arising over the issue of another weighing-in, particularly since the Ross camp was willing to accept any procedure decided on.

Ross, the betting favorite, professed no concern over the coupling of the postponement jinx with the hoodoo that has pursued defending title holders in the Garden bowl. Barney figured in one of the longest fight delays on record, due to bad weather. That was in September, 1934, when he lost the welter title to Jimmy McLarnin in their second match after a delay of 11 days. No champion has ever retained his crown in the Garden bowl.

Armstrong went through a six-round workout this afternoon but Ross, who has appeared to some observers too finely drawn, took the advantage of an extra day's rest.

Unless the weather takes a sudden turn for the better, the postponement isn't likely to help the box office count. Business was at a standstill today. By tomorrow night the week end holiday exodus will be on, and hopes for a $150,000 "gate" may be disappointed.

Haub Is Probable Starter For Old Gold in Opening Game Of Important Series With Bucks

HOD SHOTS

Let us glance at a recent issue of the Indiana Daily Student, wherein the sports editor, Rob Williamson, has some timely remarks anent the current Big Ten baseball title race.

Visitors Boast Strong Outfit; Dagenhard Is Star

The Probable Lineups:
IOWA: Manush, lf; Kadell, 3b; Vogt, cf; Frasse, 2b; George, rf; Bratten, 1b; Kantor, ss; Winders, c; Haub, p.
OHIO STATE: Wasylik, lf; Meyers, 2b; Smith, cf; Laybourne, 1b; Wulforth, c; Washburn, cf; Poff, 3b; Hass, ss; Kilmer or Dagenhard, p.

Iowa's bid for Big Ten title honors reaches the critical stage today when the Hawks meet the dangerous Ohio State nine in the first of a two-game series. Harold Haub, sophomore pitching ace who has accounted for two of the Vogelmens' five conference wins, will probably get the starting mound assignment.

Letters Given To Bluehawks

The election of Ed Burns as Captain of the University high basketball team for 1938-39 and the election of Robert Berry as captain of the 1939 track team climaxed an informal meet of basketball and track lettermen yesterday afternoon.

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—The "mad man from Modena," Italy's tiny man of iron who goes around joking that he has a date with the devil, is back in this country after more adventure on those death-dealing racing strips—this time on the treacherous black-top speedway of Indianapolis.

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

Tazio Nuvolari is his name. Already this little, hard man who looks like he was made of half iron and half whipcord is almost an awesome legend in Italy and Europe. Stories of his harrowing accidents and escapes from his "date with the devil" are incredible. In some 15 years of racing, he has won 99 important races here and abroad, a figure exceeded only by his escapes from death.

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

But for a couple of truant boys in Pau, France, last month, the "mad man" as the good citizens of Modena Italy call him, would have kept his fatal date as did Bernd Rosemeyer of Germany and so many of his racing pals. His escape was a miracle if there is such a thing as a miracle left today in this mad, scientific world.

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

Nuvolari was speeding around the track in a rich race that day and looked to be a sure winner when, suddenly, his gasoline tank cracked. Instantly, he was showered with gasoline. The next instant he was a human torch. And to make it worse, he was tossed from his speeding car onto the track and knocked unconscious. People screamed and fainted but Nuvolari's priceless luck held. Two boys who had violated rules by sneaking into forbidden territory along the track, rushed to his aid, extinguishing the fire and saving his life. All he suffered was a burn or two.

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

decided maybe he'd better quit flirting with death. He had enough money saved for a life of comfort and he still was in one piece. So he went to see his 74-year-old father, himself once a dare devil in motorcycle races, but the old man, instead of being pleased, frowned.

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

"What? Retire?" exclaimed his father. "A young man like you? Why, you're just a kid. You've got many years ahead of you yet—good racing years. Don't be a coward."

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

So Nuvolari is back risking his life—risking his "date with the devil." At Indianapolis, he hopes to drive and win, setting a new speedway record. If he can't win, he thinks Rex Mays will do it. How long Nuvolari will keep on risking his life, he doesn't know. Chances are he will race once too often like most of the others.

Mad Man From Modena Back Again

After one of his more serious accidents at Turin, he was interviewed as he lay moaning from pain in a hospital bed.

Graduates Will Occupy Bottom Floor of Dorm

Students May Reserve Rooms in Hillcrest Dormitory

The first floor of Hillcrest, the new men's dormitory on the west campus, is being reserved for graduate students only, W. H. Cobb, university business manager, announced yesterday.

The first floor will house 67 students, with approximately half of the reservations already made. All reservations should be made in the office of the dean of men in Old Capitol.

All students, now enrolled in the university, may make reservations now, Mr. Cobb said. A total of 243 men may be accommodated.

The finishing touches are now being put on the new $325,000 structure. Contractors expect to have the actual building complete by the middle of July. The formal opening of Hillcrest will be about Aug. 15, with all the rooms completely equipped and furnished.

Mrs. J. Randall Heads Club In Manville Heights

Mrs. John Randall was elected president of the Manville Heights club at its meeting yesterday at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Howell, 505 River street.

Plans were made for a picnic June 16 at city park. Mrs. Robert Lorenz is chairman of the committee in charge. Mrs. Charles Bowman and Mrs. Milton Remley will assist her.

After the meeting refreshments were served. Assisting Mrs. Howell were Mrs. Laura Roup, Mrs. Remley, Mrs. William Doak and Mrs. Ira Pierce.

WITH MIRRORS They Will Add Space, Light to Home

Pulling bunnies out of silk topers and saving beautiful ladies in half are not the newest tricks in the world. We're "doing it with mirrors" in our homes these days. Adding clear or tinted mirrors brings added light and space in your home.

There is no longer need to shy away from north rooms. A flesh-colored mirror over the fireplace mantel or one wall covered with a flesh-tinted mirror will give the bleakest room a rosy glow that formerly only a south room could have. Flesh-tinted mirror shelves in dark corners of a room also help the sunlight illusion.

Flesh tint isn't the only color available for this new mirror magic in the home. Try a blue tint for living rooms with dignity and formality, or a mellow gold tint where you wish an effect of restfulness.

Green mirrors give cool reflections which will be refreshing on a hot summer day. They can be used, not only on the walls, but as plaques for dining tables. They blend with white accents and suggest the sparkling waters of vacation scenes.

No matter which tint you choose, you may have fun playing Houdini when you fix your house for the summer.

Iowa City High Senior Class Presents Play

An able dramatic cast at Iowa City high school gave additional proof of the school's versatile talents last night. The dramatization of Walter Hackett's "Captain Applejack" at its second consecutive performance in the high school auditorium, displayed unexpected finesse. Difficult roles were played with the proper amount of restraint in overly emotional situations. The play's outstanding characters, pictured above (from left to right) Dorothy Soucek, Poppy Faire; Charles Beckman, Ambrose Applejohn; Jean Opstad, Mrs. Agatha Whatcombe; Jean Livingston, Anna Valeska, and Rogers Jenkinson, Ivan Borolski, portrayed a group comprising respectable English citizenry and a couple of blackguards, posing alternately as foreigners and pirates. The plot deals with the English landed gentry and its orderly household. What happens to the methodical Aunt Agatha and Ambrose's ward, Poppy, when an alluring woman thief disguised as a foreigner, intrudes upon the orderly home? Backed by a menacing gang posing as Russians and Mohammedans, the intriguing lady attempts to obtain possession of a pirate's treasure hidden in an old Applejohn panel. The gems, whose existence were previously unknown to Ambrose, are the heritage of the piratical Captain Applejack, a skeleton long hidden in the Applejohn closet. In a helter-skelter series of events which nearly demolished the handsome stage sets, the villains are discovered, the family's pirate blood having asserted itself in the heroic Ambrose, and romance and the treasure fall into deserving hands. Charles Beckman, in the dual role of Ambrose and his pirate relation who strikes through to the end as the disguised villainess, played their parts with ease. Iowa City high school's musical groups including the trombone quartet and the clarinet quartet played incidental music between acts. Gene Hubbard gave a solo performance on the alto clarinet.

Alumni Officers to Meet Here

Will Plan For Promoting New Ten-Year Plan

17 New Officers Will Begin Duties On Alumni Day

Methods for promoting the 10-year program of the University of Iowa alumni association will be discussed here June 4 when old and new officers, together with county deputy district directors, meet on alumni day.

Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, executive director of the association, said yesterday that the nine district directors in Iowa have completed their appointments of deputy directors in each county.

It is expected that more than half of these 99 persons will attend the session, making the meeting the largest one of alumni officers ever held here.

Seventeen new officers formally begin their duties June 4, including Virgil Hancher of Chicago, the 1938-39 president; and the new vice-presidents, Walker Hanna of Burlington and Dr. Gordon Harkness of Davenport.

Among the new officers will be nine directors, five from Iowa and four from regions outside the state. All were elected, along with the president and vice-presidents, by mail ballot two months ago.

Some of the points in the 10-year program to be considered are: a campaign to secure more annual members, organization of an active alumni club in various Iowa counties, co-operation with various agencies in placement of Iowa graduates, establishment of scholarships for superior high school graduates, and development of an organized plan to obtain gifts, bequests, and endowments for the university.

Woman's Club Will Give Tea

To Close Departmental Activities For This Year

With the meetings of the literature department yesterday and of the social sciences division this afternoon, the Iowa City Woman's club is closing its year's departmental activities.

Members of the social science department will be entertained at a tea at 5 o'clock this afternoon by Mrs. Paul C. Packer and Kate Donovan at Mrs. Packer's home, 249 Magowan avenue.

Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. Clarence Van Epps, Mrs. Forest C. Ensign, Mrs. R. G. Popham and Mrs. Norman C. Meier.

Parlor hostesses will be Mrs. C. W. Wassam, Mrs. George R. Davies and Mrs. J. E. Switzer.

Literature Division
Paul Engle of the English department read selections from his own poetry at the meeting of the literature division yesterday at 2:30 p.m. in the public library. Mrs. Sadie Seagrave introduced the speaker.

Mrs. F. B. Olsen, president of the Woman's club, announced that the board of the organization will meet in the middle of June, at which time she will announce committees for next year's departments.

Whipples to Be Guests in City For Week End

Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Whipple of Western Springs, Ill., former Iowa Citizens, will arrive either today or tomorrow to be houseguests over the week end of Prof. and Mrs. Joseph W. Howe, 205 Highland drive.

The Howes will entertain at an open house in honor of their guests from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Professor Whipple was a faculty member of the electrical department of the college of engineering until last June.

Hines Indicted As Conspirator

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—James J. Hines, long a power in Tammany Hall, was named today in a 13-count indictment as a conspirator and key-figure in the multi-million dollar policy racket once dominated by the slain Dutch Schultz.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, who obtained the indictment and who has repeatedly charged an alliance existed between New York crime and politics, said Hines' role was to provide political protection and to act as "front man" with supposedly pliant jurists, jurors and prosecutors.

The King of England is the supreme governor of the Church of England.

HOSTESS HINTS

Skeptics who make fun of "cooking with a can opener" have a lot to learn. The woman who makes frequent use of the can opener is not in any sense an inefficient homemaker, but is the really wise cook.

Even the most proficient canned-food user, however, has yet to learn the possibilities of canned meats for use in the menu. Meats are often considered the main cost item and the food requiring longest cookery and most preparation. But when they come from cans they are the quickest and certainly the most economical of the dinner items.

When it's hot and the whole kitchen is inclined to take on the heat of the oven, try—

Hot Barbecued Beef
1 to 12 ounce can of roast beef in gravy
1 1/2 tbsps. onion
1 tsp. butter
1-3 cup catsup
1 1/2 tbsps. vinegar
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1-3 tsp. salt, pepper
Brown butter and onion together, add sauce ingredients and meat and allow meat to heat slowly without stirring, until well heated. Serves three. Excellent for meat pies, hash and casseroles.

Chicken Stuffed Tomato Salads
6 large tomatoes
2 cans Mock Chicken Dainty spread
1 cup chopped celery
1 dozen small (or 8 large) stuffed olives
2 hard-cooked eggs
Mayonnaise
Cut tops from tomatoes and partially hollow them with a teaspoon. Mix the meaty parts of the tomato centers with the celery, sliced olives and chicken spread. Blend with enough mayonnaise to moisten and stuff the tomatoes. Top each with a slice of hard-cooked egg.

Examination Schedule

Second Semester, 1937-1938

Monday, May 23, 8 a.m., to Tuesday, May 31, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (1), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below.

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation in the case of any examination, from this Schedule, except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned, to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted. Students should prepare and deposit such petitions in the offices of the Deans of Men (men) and Women (women).

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported, on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report card (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date dictated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) The instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour May 19 or 20; if possible, May 12 or 13.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently Tuesday at 8, and the class will meet for examination Tuesday, May 24, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 126 meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination, is, therefore, Saturday, May 28, 2 p.m.

N. B. All sections of "Principles of Speech" (1), (2) and (4) (Except Section J) will meet during Examination Week on the days and at the periods designated below. Consult the bulletin board, Room 13 S. H. for room assignments.

Mon., May 23—Section H, 8-10 Speech (1), 8-10	Fri., May 27—Section I, 8-10 Section C, 1-3 Section G, 3-5 Speech (4), 3-5
Tues., May 24—Section A, 1-3 Section E, 3-5	Sat., May 28—Section D, 10-12 Section B, 1-3 Section F, 3-5

*Section J will meet as announced by the instructors.

"ODD" classes, namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class, by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

- From 4 to 6 on any day from May 23 to May 31 inclusive, Sunday and Memorial Day excepted.
- Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, F and G, since for such "odd" classes these seven examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times, if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time.

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.," unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd.," even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

City Council Will Hold Two Public Hearings This Evening

Sewer Project Objections Will Be Presented

Planning Board Will Make Report On Ordinance

The city council at 8 o'clock this evening will hold two public hearings—the first to hear objections to the proposed $11,637 Sunnyside sewer improvement project, and the second on an ordinance which would transfer eight east Iowa City lots from the business to the class "A" residential district.

Objections to the sewer project may be either written or oral, but must be written to constitute a legal basis of appeal, it has been decided. The hearing will be on the resolution of necessity, the plans, specifications and proposed form of contract, the cost, and schedule of assessments necessary to issue sewer bonds.

The schedule of estimated assessments which has been presented by City Engineer Fred Gartzke, lists for the Cook, Sargent, and Downey, and Sunnyside additions, $9,763.79; for Second avenue, $519.96; for Fifth avenue, $546, and for Harrison street, $207.39.

WPA approval of the project has been obtained, and it will furnish the labor. Iowa City will pay the costs of materials, supervision and inspection. Schedule of assessments is to cover cost of issuing five per cent sewer bonds in $100 amounts.

The ordinance which proposes to change the east Iowa City property to the class "A" residential district, has been referred to the city planning commission, and its report is expected to be made to the city council tonight.

The proposed change in the classification of the real estate would prevent the construction of a $3,500 super-service station at Muscatine and Second avenues by Della Grizel.

The proposed ordinance is similar to one which failed to obtain the necessary three-fourths majority by one vote April 15. The properties which would be affected by the ordinance are lot 8 in block 15; lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 in block 7; lot 1 in block 14, and lots 5 and 6 in block 6. It was given its first reading May 6.

The city council may also consider this evening, an ordinance which proposes to create a reserve fund which would draw $4,500 annually from sewer rental payments to meet possible future deficiencies. It was given its first reading May 6.

AROUND THE TOWN

With TOM JOHNSON

National Affairs

The caretaker at the White House . . . the one who mows the lawn and keeps it clean, is given a cash reward from the president each year—providing the greensward has been well kept, I'm told.

The custodian reflected that during the year . . . (it was nearly time for the president to call for him again, praise his work, and hand him the tip . . .) he had done a pretty good job.

Take the Easter egg-rolling, for instance. What a day that had been . . . picking up millions of pieces of cracked and smashed eggshells.

Then, too, there had been other days. . . Days when the wind blew hundreds of pieces of paper from Pennsylvania avenue onto the White House lawn . . . dirtying it.

Yes, he mused, it was such a day today.

During the morning, he had chased several scraps of paper from the iron fence clear up to the portico. . . He wondered if the president had seen him.

After all, he was growing old, and if the lawn wasn't kept clean, another, a younger man, might take his place.

The wind carried a scrap of paper onto the lawn. . . Methodically, wearily, he started after it.

But, the breeze wafted it from his grasp at every step. . . Closer to the White House it drifted. . . and close behind it trotted the aged landscape.

The paper was sailing dangerously close to the White House now, its pursuer losing hope of catching it before the president chanced to see it.

Caught in a down-current, the paper floated through an open window . . . into the White House.

The caretaker's heart nearly stopped. Why! That was the window right next to the president's desk! What if he noticed it!

If he did, there'd be no reward—and, there was always the possibility he'd lose his job.

He hurried around to the front door of the mansion. . . The paper must be retrieved . . . if it was not too late.

He rushed through the rooms, came at last to the president's office. . . A secret service man lolled near the door, jumped up to bar the way.

"I'm the caretaker," the bewildered man said. "A piece of paper flew through the president's window—and if he sees it, I'll lose my job."

"Well," said the G-man, "you can't go in there. But—I'll go in, and if it's there, I'll bring it out. . . If he hasn't noticed it."

The caretaker waited nervously while the guard entered the president's room. Several minutes passed. . . The door opened.

The secret service man returned, a hopeless look on his face.

"It's too late now," he whispered. "The paper fell on his desk, and he signed it."

Judge Harold Evans Will Hold Certiorari Writ Hearing June 3

Will Test Adjustment Board Cancellation Of Permit

The hearing on the writ of certiorari, issued yesterday by Dr. F. J. Crow to test the validity of the city board of adjustment's cancellation of a building permit for an apartment building and veterinarian's office at 512 S. Dubuque street, will be at 9 a.m. June 3, Judge Harold D. Evans ordered yesterday.

Dr. Crow filed his petition yesterday morning for the writ which ordered the board to certify all of its records in connection with the Crow building permit to the district court for review.

The property on Dubuque street was purchased by Dr. Crow from Harry Abbott after he had obtained an opinion from City Inspector Harold J. Monk that the construction of the building would be legal.

The old building on the property was demolished and the foundation for the apartment was constructed before an appeal was filed with the board. At a meeting May 9, the board ordered Dr. Crow's permit be cancelled and recalled.

Dr. Crow's petition claims the board acted without authority because the zoning ordinance allows apartment buildings, hospitals and sanitariums in class B residential areas. The zoning ordinance also permits professional offices in residences, he claims.

Applies for Permit

Application for a class B beer permit was filed by Irene Albershasky, proprietor of the Sunset club, East Lucas township, with County Auditor Ed Sulek yesterday.
