House Will Get Wage-Hour Bill

Expect Early Senate Passage Of Final Draft

Filibuster Threats Of Southern Solon Eliminated

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—A thoroughly compromised wage-hour bill, including a provision for pay differentials within a given industry, received unanimous approval of a joint congressional committee today.

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) announced the conferees would draft a formal report on the bill at a meeting tomorrow, so that it could be taken up in the house Monday.

Advocates of the measure predicted it would be approved there quickly and sent to the senate for final passage early in the week.

Southern Senators The threat of a filibuster against the measure by southern senators, who have been fighting for a geographical wage differential, appeared eliminated by the compromise draft.

The committee capitulated to the demands of Senator Elender (D-La.) and Pepper (D-Fla.) in writing the wage section of the bill.

It inserted a classification clause that went far toward meeting the southerners' objective of lower wage rates in the south than in the industrial north.

Under this section, boards which will be set up for each industry will be empowered to classify the units of that industry as to size and other factors and set a varying scale of minimum wages which each classification must pay.

In arriving at these minima the boards will not be permitted to fix the pay rate solely on the geographical basis, but must consider also transportation costs, prevailing wages, taxes, operating costs such as light, heat and power rates, and other economic factors.

The ban against considering only the geographical location of the units within the industry was considered a concession to northerners on the committee, but the jubilant southerners said the other factors counter-balanced this.

Largely because the classification clause was included, four conferees voted against adoption of the wage section of the bill. They were Senators Borah (R-Idaho) and Walsh (D-Mass.) and Representative Welch (R-Cal.) and Hartley (R-N.J.).

Coroner's Jury Brands McCall MIAMI, Fla., June 11 (AP)—A coroner's jury branded Franklin Pierce McCall the killer of James Bailey Cash Jr. today but failed to say how the kidnap victim was slain.

The 21-year-old unemployed truck driver signed a confession, federal agents have announced, that he stole the lad from his bed.

Capital Wonders if F. R. Seeks Peace With Gillette by Dinner WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The capital wondered tonight if President Roosevelt was balking a dove of political peace into the luncheon pie he will serve Sunday afternoon to Senator Gillette (D-La.).

First Family Anne Clark Ready To Be John's Bride

NAHANT, Mass., June 11 (AP)—With nothing "borrowed" and nothing "blue" as far as she knows now, Anne Lindsay Clark is ready to step over the threshold of the nation's first family as the bride of John, youngest of the Roosevelts.

Otherwise, this quiet, honey-blond Boston debutante will follow all the customs, even as hundreds of shopgirls who tonight are wondering what the bride will wear next Saturday at noon when the ceremony is performed at Nahant's vine-studded Union church close by the sea.

Press representatives, gathered at the cliffside home of Mrs. F. Haven Clark, the bride's mother, for a conference with America's sweethearts of the year, learned the bride-to-be would not see young Roosevelt on the morning of the wedding until she enters the chancel at the small church.

Only her mother and her six hyacinth-gowned bridesmaids will see her before the ceremony at which 300 specially-invited guests will be present. These, with 400 others, have been asked to the wedding reception.

The couple will be married in a simple Protestant Episcopal service. Presiding will be the Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill of Boston.

Court Elections Take Spotlight Four Nominations To Be Made For The Bench DES MOINES, June 11 (AP)—With the primary election past, political observers tonight turned their attention to the state judicial conventions which will be held in a few weeks to nominate candidates for four places on the state supreme court bench.

Three of the nine justices, all democrats, complete their terms this year. They are John W. Anderson of Sioux City, Maurice F. Donegan of Davenport, and John W. Kintzinger of Dubuque.

Up for Election Justice Ernest M. Miller of Harlan, appointed by Governor Kraschel last December to succeed the late James M. Parsons of Des Moines, also comes up for election this year.

Anderson, Donegan and Kintzinger would be candidates for full six year terms, expiring in 1944. Miller would be a candidate for the remainder of the Parsons term, ending in 1940.

All four men are expected to be candidates to succeed themselves. The state central committee tonight had not set a date for the democratic judicial convention, but state republican headquarters announced that the republican state judicial convention would be July 23 in Des Moines.

Meet July 15 The state republican platform convention will be held in Des Moines July 15.

Three men so far have indicated definitely they are candidates for republican judicial nominations. They are Frederic W. Miller of Des Moines, John M. Schupp of Ft. Dodge, and W. L. Bliss.

Prior to announcement of his White House date, the senator in an interview advised other democratic senators opposed by administration-supported candidates to fight their own battles.

Accuse Couple Of Killing Boy For Insurance

ALPINE, Tex., June 11 (AP)—Youthful Mr. and Mrs. Francis Black, San Antonio couple who two months ago took tousel, 13-year-old Marvin Dale Nobbitt from his widowed mother to "give him a good home," today were accused of tumbling him off a 400-foot mountain precipice in a ghastly insurance death plot.

Murder charges were filed against the couple by District Attorney Alan Fraser after an all-night sifting of circumstances surrounding the tragic drop of the lad into a rock-filled canyon Thursday. Fraser said "the boy's death was not accidental."

Two days ago the Blacks, who brought the frail lad here ostensibly on a vacation, took him to the wild Big Bend country for an outing. From atop a high cliff he toppled to death and his companions told authorities he slipped and fell while tossing stones down the hillside.

Sheriff Elmer Taylor and deputies went to the isolated spot and returned several hours later to arrest the couple a few minutes after they had sat, sobbing, at funeral services for the boy they claimed they had legally adopted. Fraser said no adoption papers had been found.

It was learned the boy's life had been insured for $5,000 on May 27 and that Mr. and Mrs. Black had been named beneficiaries.

House Approves Compromise Bill On Civil Service WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The house ignored cries of "spoils system" and "farce" tonight and approved a compromise bill intended to bring first, second and third class postmaster under the classified civil service.

The compromise, which must be approved by the senate before it can be sent to the White House, was accepted by a vote of 180 to 61.

Czechs Give Approval To British Observers

Hull Attempts To Stop Plane Sales to Japan

Aid of Public Opinion Is Asked in Curbing Transactions

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull undertook today to halt the sale of American-made bombing planes to Japan.

He chose public opinion as the means of accomplishing this objective. In carefully worded phrases, Mr. Hull told reporters that this government's repeated condemnation of the bombing of civilian populations was directed especially at the manufacturers of military planes, and the general American public as well as foreign powers.

The repeated damning of ruthless warfare would discourage sales to regions where planes were being used to bomb civilians, he predicted. Other such condemnations would be voiced in the future, he said.

Though Mr. Hull named no nation specifically, it was obvious that Japan would be chiefly affected if his policy were successful. Shipments of war material to both sides in Spain have been banned already by invocation of the neutrality act.

The neutrality law has not been invoked against sales of planes or bombs to Japan or China, however. It was reported reliably that some manufacturers already have shown a willingness to reject contracts for the shipment of bombing planes to the regions the secretary has in mind.

Japan, whose war planes have killed hundreds in Canton, China, became the United States' best customer for war supplies in the last six months.

Helaine Colan Recovering From Retinal Disease

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Baby Helaine Colan, whose left eye was removed a month ago on advice of council of 10 medical specialists to halt the spread of glioma of the retina, was reported today to be showing definite signs of improvement.

X-ray treatments have been given to stop the cancerous growth which also attacked her right eye. Her maternal grandfather, Dr. Morris Hershman said Helaine's chances of life and partial sight were "very, very promising."

Helaine, now 10 weeks old, is back at the home of her parents, Dr. Herman Colan, a dentist, and his wife Estelle.

Quake Strikes North Europe

Damage Spread Over 5 Nations, Serious In Belgium

LONDON, June 11 (AP)—An earthquake born in the North Sea jolted five nations today, rumbling over a 400-mile front from England to the Rhineland.

There was scattered damage, surprise, alarm and even panic among the countryside in Belgium and northern France, who dropped to their knees in prayer as chimneys toppled, walls cracked, windows broke and furniture jumped.

Three capitals—London, Paris and Brussels—felt the shocks, which some seismographs recorded as having a duration of 10 minutes. London felt the first shock at 11:59 a.m. (5:59 a.m. EST), Brussels a severe tremor at 11:57.

Three persons were killed and about 20 injured in Belgium.

Five Die in Crash of Private Plane on Farm in Wyoming

Motor Failure Causes Death of 4 Men, One Woman

WORLD, Wyo., June 11 (AP)—Four men and a woman were killed today when a private plane piloted by William O. Bashaw, 34, Seattle, crashed on a farm near here.

The dead in addition to Bashaw were: Helen Brattus, Renton, Wash.; Lloyd Paris, 28, World; Wesley Bard, 28, Spokane, Wash.; W. B. Bledsoe, Valley Falls, Kan.

Sheriff John Nicola said reports from witnesses to the crash indicated the plane's motor failed and caused it to go into a nose dive.

"The plane after taking off from the airport here circled over town, and as it passed over the postoffice the motor sputtered and the ship went into its spin," the sheriff said.

The plane was flying at an altitude of about 300 feet at the time. The plane did not catch fire after it crashed.

Congress Plans Enactment Of Railroad Laws

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP) Congressional leaders endeavored today to clear the way for enactment of emergency railroad legislation at this session of congress.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the senate banking committee, leaving a conference with representatives of railroad management and labor, said the situation was "not hopeless" with respect to legislation liberalizing RFC loans for the carriers.

Treasure Man Kept Fortune In Old Iron Safe

MASONTOWN, Pa., June 11 (AP)—Neighbors of Fred Schroyer still were discussing tonight the extent of his fortune, several hundred thousand dollars of which was found in an old iron safe in his lamp-lighted home just outside Masontown.

The 72-year-old recluse died in a Uniontown hospital May 31, protesting against ministrations by physicians treating him for diabetes.

At 2 o'clock the next morning the four heirs, Mrs. David Gans of Philadelphia and her three daughters, arranged for a guard of state motor police about his house, a well built structure but without running water, electricity or telephone.

Next day the safe was opened before the astonished heirs, police and Attorney Dean D. Sturgis. After counting 102 $1,000 bills, $100,000 in Liberty bonds and more than $50,000 in school bonds, the remaining stack of bonds and stocks were shuffled aside for a later check.

Japan Begins 'General Attack' Upon Chinese Capital Hankow

SHANGHAI, June 12 (Sunday) (AP)—Japan launched today what she announced was a "general attack" upon Hankow, a provisional seat of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese government, in the heart of China 585 miles up the Yangtze river.

The Japanese navy served notice here of plans to use both warships and land forces in a synchronized assault upon the capital, central China's greatest commercial city, having a normal population of more than 1,500,000.

About 40 Japanese gunboats and transports were reported already to be within 250 miles of Hankow, far up the river and already in action. The stream is navigable for ocean-going vessels even past Hankow.

Will Watch In Nazi Districts During Voting

Sudeten Balloting Will Express Opinion Of Henlein

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, June 11 (AP)—The Czechoslovak government approved tonight the presence of British observers in Sudeten German (nazi) districts so they could get a clear picture should disorders develop during Sunday's municipal elections.

While an estimated 300,000 trained Czechoslovaks were under arms, ready for rapid transport to any threatened center on the frontier, the presence of the neutral men was welcomed in view of recurrent rumors that the election week end would be "rough."

Up to midnight no serious clashes had been reported. Two Sudeten German youths were injured and 37 were arrested in a brawl at Varnsdorf in northern Bohemia, and in Slovakia several Slovaks burned a Soviet flag in protest against Czechoslovakia's alliance with Russia.

The visitors, Major Sutton Pratt, British assistant military attache, and Peter Pares, British consul at Reichenberg had started their preliminary tour tonight.

Defense Keynote Defense was the keynote in other ways, too, as residents of 8,170 communities, including more than 1,000,000 Sudeten Germans, decorated their buildings and streets in preparation for the voting, the last of a series of three communal elections.

A nationwide appeal asked voluntary contributions to a billion-crown (35,000,000) defense fund. Boys and girls took street collections for their air force.

Shops bristled with military displays. The Smetany museum opened an exhibition entitled "Our Ally Soviet Russia" to show the Czechoslovak public pictorial evidence of Russian capacity for action in case of need.

"Preparedness" The preparedness spirit also dominated conferences of the Czechoslovak ministers to Berlin and Paris with Premier Milan Hodza, Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta and President Eduard Benes.

Among the topics believed discussed was Great Britain's desire that Czechoslovakia settle the problem of minority rights, about which Konrad Henlein's Sudeten German, (nazi) party and Father Andreas Hlinka's Slovak group have been clamoring loudly.

The elections, larger than those of May 22 and 29, will involve 1,880 predominantly German localities, in which Henlein's tickets for town officers are virtually unopposed.

Officer Faces Murder Trial

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 11 (AP)—The federal government jailed Major John R. Brooke Jr. today on a charge that he murdered his wife but his spokesman steadfastly withheld details of the case against the 200-pound army officer.

United States Commissioner N. A. Brown ordered the 44-year-old major held without bail.

China prepared for siege of the capital, central China's greatest commercial city, having a normal population of more than 1,500,000.

The University Of Iowa Looks Toward The Future

THE UNIVERSITY OF Iowa needs a central library building. That is not news to Iowa Citizens, certainly not to university students. The self-evident facts about the pressing need for one building in which to house all the university's valuable collections of books are known to every student who has trudged the miles from one departmental library to another, searching for a single volume.

Facts about WSUI, the university's broadcasting station, are equally important but perhaps less well-known. The work that the station is doing is familiar to everyone who follows the trend of educational radio or who knows the people at the top of commercial broadcasting. WSUI is tops.

What may not be so familiar are the facts of the difficulties under which it operates. The station has a day-time power of 1,000 wats, thus serving only one-fifth of the state for which it was created. Being a state station, it should serve Iowa. To do that would require 5,000-watt power.

WSUI is on the air more hours than any other educational station in America—12 hours daily during the school year—yet has as little equipment as any but the smallest stations of private colleges and less than the station of any other state university. The station needs a new transmitter, one that will keep pace with the best of what is being done in commercial broadcasting.

Students come to the university expressly to study broadcasting. They come from every state in the union, for all manner of radio work. Since they are preparing themselves for modern radio, they should certainly be trained in a modernly equipped station. Otherwise they will not continue to come.

Physically, of course, our local station ranks near the bottom. With its two cramped studios in widely separated buildings it stands in need of one broadcasting building with modern equipment.

Otherwise the University of Iowa will begin dropping behind in the field that is fast becoming one of the best known in modern education.

Yes, WSUI can well use the $45,000 recommended for it by the state board of education. The university can use, and use wisely, the $250,000 asked annually for starting work on a new central library. It can make good use of the $60,000 asked for physical plant replacement, the $145,000 for physical plant improvement. A walk over the campus on any afternoon will paint a more graphic picture of that fact than we can write.

We hope, then, that the legislative interim committee will consider long and seriously the recommendations for the University of Iowa, as well as for the other state schools. We stand near the top now.

To maintain ranking as leader among the nation's schools universities need more than just a good football team or more publicity.

Anything Goes In The Spanish Revolution And The Sino-Japanese War

FASCIST ITALY, shoved temporarily into the background by the more sensational developments in China, Spain, Germany and Czechoslovakia, has made another bid for front page publicity.

Speaking through the fascist supervised newspaper Il Tevere, the government editorially approved "every method of warfare, including the bombing of civilians."

As if in answer to recent British, French and American protests over "barbarous methods" of warfare, the newspaper said: "What the gentlemen from England and France call humanitarianism of war is nothing but a stupid attempt to delay the end of war and multiply the difficulties of the combatants. They are studying limitations and guarantees which, if applied, would have no result other than prolonging the war and its massacres. There might be a temporary decrease in losses but in time there would be an increase. There is nothing to do but hasten the solution of the conflict by any means."

"Thus the surgeon, to save his patient, does not worry about the incision he makes. His attention and scope go beyond the skin. Injustice is preferable to disorder. To Spanish order, error is to be preferred."

Cold-blooded? Yes, but definitely businesslike and in complete harmony with most of the fascist plans.

There was a time when wars dragged on for months and even years. These wars were humane in that they did not center their attack on the civilian population. These wars, say the fascists, were inefficient. They wasted time, money and manpower, but the manpower involved was of a dangerous type. The men killed were soldiers who were forced to kill or be killed themselves. Enemy planes did not ferret out civilians to bomb. That was inefficiency, and we must have none of this in the next war. In the next war, quoting the fascists, "everything goes in warfare... including the bombing of civilians."

Women of the future, says a scientist, will have but four toes instead of five. That won't help. The ladies of that distant day, no doubt, will try to wear shoes so small they will only accommodate three.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

DEATH FROM THE AIR What's happening in Canton is a nightmare realized. This is what the shuddering imagination reels from when it pictures a great city... Canton is a place of screaming days and sleepless nights. A whole civil population is experiencing horrors worse than the shelling of soldiers in front-line trenches. For here there are no trenches. Against these infernal armies of the sky the people have no shelter. They have not even the chance of surrender.

The bombing of Canton is on an unprecedented scale. In nearly two years of sporadic raids, hundreds have been killed in Barcelona and Madrid. After a dozen days Canton counts the dead by thousands. Three bombardments took place yesterday, and the spokesmen for the Japanese army and navy announce that they will continue "with even greater vigor." If this intensification of the policy of frightfulness is not a reply to the protests voiced in the speech a few days ago of the American under-secretary of state, it certainly has the effect of deliberate defiance of official opinion and outraged public sentiment in this and other countries. There is no other explanation of the systematic and useless slaughter of civilians; for while unquestionably the Japanese aim to cut the main line of communications and supplies going via Canton from Hong Kong to North China, they are pouring explosives over shops and residential districts, and the history of the war in Spain proves that military end but to stiffen the resistance and the fury of the population.

Certainly the horror of Canton is enough to arouse all civilized governments to get together in the name of humanity and for the sake of their own cities to try to prevent indiscriminate bombing in the future. The British proposal that the United States and other neutrals send observers to investigate the bombings in Spain seems useless unless similar action is taken in China. What is needed is a firm initiative on the part of the United States, Great Britain, France and other powers for a general convention to outlaw air raids on open cities, wherever they are.

Most of radio's comedians are now going off the air for the summer. Oh, what is so rare as a day or night—in June?

Jan Garber and his orchestra will be the music-makers on the program, and the inimitable Tony Martin will be the vocal virtuoso.

Now that several personalities have been mentioned as Walter Winchell's summer successor, the latest report is that an audience participation show, tentatively titled "Winchell Column Quiz," and presided over by one of today's most popular announcers, Ben Brauer, will get the call.

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—A world roving newspaper reporter who estured the glamor of far ports to write a dramatic swift-moving saga of an American family—a proud and sometimes murderous dynasty of the Old South—is attracting a lot of attention with his first novel, "Travelers Rest" (Cottonfield Publishers, Clemson, S. C.)

The author is Ben Robertson, a young man in his early 30's with blue eyes and unruly brown hair and a widely-spent heritage of wanderlust derived from his great-great-great-great uncle Daniel Boone.

Wherever he has traveled—on the scoring deck of a tramp steamer in the South Seas... In a fog-chilled basement in London... Nights after working as a reporter in Adelaide, South Australia... In Honolulu, in Moscow and Cap Cod, Robertson jotted notes for a strange, long story of a pioneer southern family.

'Business' Trip Robertson sometimes speaks of "business taking him to Australia"... That isn't strictly true, as his friends know. The "business" was simply another attack of the itching foot, and so off he journeyed, with only the horizon as a destination, until he discovered himself one morning working on a newspaper in Adelaide.

The same thing might be said of his trip to Russia... He went there to work, it is true, but it occurred to him that it would be a lot more fun "thumbing" than traveling as a passenger... So he and a pal worked their way on a lumber boat.

He used to be here in this office, in New York, and then for a while he was in Washington, looking in on the President's press conferences, talking to Jack Garner, hanging around the Mayflower lobby, the Peacock Alley of Washington, where everybody always goes sooner or later.

His Novel And so, after a trick here and there he arrived somehow back in South Carolina, where all those notes began to take shape in the form of a novel... He went to work on it, and it's here, and as a result he has had some amazing experiences.

As to the story itself, it begins in a rude log cabin in pre-Revolutionary days, continues up to the present... It is the lilt of pioneers who planted the corn and fought off "the painted death," as the Indian scalping parties are called.

The Japanese still have hopes of successfully concluding their invasion of China. Proof is that the Nipponese war lords have not yet begun to blame each other for suggesting the idea first.

Balls of Hair in Stomach Not Unusual Says Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. The newspapers are carrying a story of what is supposed to be a unique case of a man who had a ball of hair removed from his stomach. It is not unique. Foreign bodies in the stomach are so common that they are always being removed. Technically they are known as "phytobezoars" and were described in the first writings on medicine. In fact, they were used during the Middle Ages as luck charms. They are often found in the stomachs of herbivorous animals and were thought to possess magical properties: Lucky was the huntsman who found a hair ball in the stomach of the deer which he had killed in the forest.

Nowadays persimmons are the most frequent nucleus for foreign bodies of the stomach. If you want one, the method seems to be to take a liberal quantity of persimmons on an empty stomach. The seeds constitute a nucleus. They are almost insoluble and when a mass of them glues together in the stomach it cannot be moved out into the intestine. How hairs are swallowed seems to be mysterious but, as a matter of fact, we all swallow a few hairs regularly. Women patients are in the majority of these cases, probably because they hold their hair in the mouth while combing it. Of course this does not apply to the modern bobbed-hair species. Foreign bodies in the stomach may be made up not only of hair but of indigestible substances of all kinds—string grass, tobacco, and shellac. The latter is frequent in painters who use shellac as an intoxicant. The symptoms of a foreign body in the stomach are very indefinite, usually vague digestive discomfort such as belching and a feeling of mass in the stomach. Since the X-ray is so much a part of modern diagnostic equipment, the diagnosis can be made with great ease, and recoveries nowadays are frequent with a combination of good X-ray technique and modern surgery.

Incidentally in one animal, the owl, hair balls are physiological. The owl regurgitates skin and bones of the animals which it destroys, such as mice.

We thought the millennium was here when we read of a film actress who criticized her picture. But it proved to be a painted portrait and not her latest movie.

For renomination this year. If renominated, he will, it is a foregone conclusion, be re-elected. He has, however, a strong primary opponent in Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

AROUND THE TOWN

OVERDUE NOTES My friend Chi-Shing Bang sees humor in the Japanese invasion of his land... He says it's "ludicrous" Roosevelt trying six years to raise the purchasing power of the American dollar, the Japanese doing it in a few months...

An Iowa City dollar would buy three movie tickets, a steak dinner, a dance ticket... Now it buys a human life...

Bang doesn't think Japan's getting the much help from the Germans or the Italians, not monetary... He points out those countries are themselves de-bloated...

Instead he names three other countries whose bankers have helped the Japanese financial system a hundred-fold in the last two months... Don't look now, but the initials are U.S., F. and E...

Have you had your "Bowl of Rice" today?

I. Q. Shulman is his "last name. I don't know his first... He wanders in almost every afternoon or early evening to discuss something he's found in one of the 15 papers he reads daily, to argue the political scene, to relate on the books he's perusing...

A farm laborer, now a WPAer, he never finished grade school... He spends his days at hard labor, his nights reading... Just recently there was a psychoanalysis to discover his I.Q. is 113—Einstein's isn't much higher...

He's writing these days—and well... He tries to understand the ones who college and flop... He can't...

PHOOEY—NBC treating the half-hour television cut from "Susan and God" as "history-making"... BBC has a two-hour television drama weekly...

BOUQUET—To RCA—for presenting Marian Anderson without once mentioning her race... To Collier's—for the staunchest anti-Nazi article I've read... It's "The Nazi's Got Me" in the current issue... (Will the philanthropist in the third row please send free copies to the residents of New Jersey?)...

Autobiographical Anecdota—Steer clear—People of whom they say, "He means well"... Remember—There's never been one who didn't improve on closer acquaintance... Future—It's personal... Flop in your own way, if you will; don't skyrocket in anyone else's...

QUESTION—Wonder why I never heard an Englishman say, "I'd like to, but I haven't the time?"

The White House is idyllic these days, despite the Gillette nomination, 15,000,000 unemployed and the Scripps-Howard press... I observed the following in Mrs. Roosevelt's column for Tuesday—"The sun is shining, it is a perfect June day. My mother-in-law has gone to New York university. I am feeling much happier."

Of what columnist did who say, "He's burning his friends behind him?"

Bing Crosby's 10-year radio contract for Kraft-Phoenix is unprecedented... Also the homey, even intelligent style of the Crosby chit-chat...

They say it costs Maxwell House $25,000 for that Thursday evening Hollywood monstrosity, "Good News of 1938"... The show is saved from complete doom by the presence of Fanny ("Baby Snooks") Brice...

CONDOLENCES—To Richard Brink of LuVerne, this year's brain derby leader—who didn't win... It happens that way with even bigger stakes, Richard...

THE-THRILL-IS-GONE—Summer school teachers who'd be better teachers next year if they'd cavort in the sunshine instead of dignifying a classroom this summer... But American education is still American education...

The nazis are warning the Czechs again... The 800,000 Germans worried to death—(I wish)

BEWARE—People who preface their racial airings with, "Of course, I haven't any prejudices myself, but..."

I'll bet it wouldn't take me three guesses to name the nucleus of the storm troopers should Hagulim take charge...

SPEAKING OF BOOKS

Reviews and Notes for Readers

Newspaper Men and 'The Great American Novel'

Clyde Brion Davis Writes One of the Year's Most Discussed, Best Books

THE GREAT AMERICAN NOVEL—By Clyde Brion Davis. (Farrar and Rhinehart, New York, 1938. $2.50.)

Into the legend of newspapering, as much a part of it as the smell of fresh printer's ink, the stock formulae for writing an "obit," the alleged cruelty of the managing editor, is the belief that every newspaper man, from be-sotted and forgotten copy-reader, to chirping sports editor, has in him the stuff to produce what would surely be "the great American novel."

The legend is now new, but the novel is as yet unwritten.

To keep the fiction alive, of course, there occasionally comes out of the din and tension of the news room one who is a first-class writer of fiction. Sinclair Lewis was one; but he was a bad reporter, fired from an early job on the Waterloo Courier. Theodore Dreiser was another, but he was kicked so unceasingly from one job to another that he turned to writing novels in self-defense. John O'Hara, Phil Stong and Clyde Brion Davis himself are other examples that come to mind.

But a fact which most newspaper men, young and old, prefer to ignore, is that the high tension of newspaper production, the nervous tension of making a deadline, over-long hours and short-pay, also a part of daily reporting, are not conducive to the quiet speculation and long hours of actual labor required in writing even a second-rate novel.

Still, though, the legend exists; and many nights, after the copy is edited, the presses rolling, lonely reporters may gather by twos or threes to exchange ambitions, perhaps shyly open notebooks containing tentative outlines for "the novel."

Home Ziegler is one of these. He goes from Buffalo to Cleveland, from Kansas City to San Francisco and Denver, and always he is jotting and dreaming of the novel he will some day write.

At the end, he writes, "It isn't that I am afraid of dying, but I must admit, of course, there always is danger of a serious operation of this sort. I really am not worrying about my operation at all. I know I shan't die because I am only beginning to live. I am now only starting my life's work."

Meantime he messes his personal life and that of his family. He marries the wrong girl because he fears, inaccurately, that the right one has been unfaithful to him. He guesses that aviation will be a fly-by-night scheme of an over-ambitious schemer. He sees no future in the film, and he decides, early in his life, never to write his novel about the Civil war, "because that theme has been so over-done as to be actually unpopular."

A Westerner

J. B. Priestley is a versatile writer—a novelist, an essayist, a playwright. He also is an excellent lecturer, as Iowa Citizens who heard his last winter's university lecture will testify. Just now in England preparatory to the production of two of his plays, Priestley announces that his publishers, Harper's and Brothers, soon will issue a new novel, a western story of America's early history. Englishman Priestley has lived two years in America's west.

In 1908 he sees that William Jennings Bryan will not run for the presidency a third time and that wars are "obsolete." Education is dissipating the fog of international distrust and jealousy."

And he sees lasting literary fame for Owen Wister, Irving Bacheller and Harold Bell Wright. His wife does not love him, and his son is a rotter, and he finds himself at 50, his mustache several times dyed, demoted to a low-paying desk job on a Denver paper which he has helped build. He still hopes. He is a perfect example of Alexander Pope's on-line observation of the human race.

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast," Pope wrote.

About the merits of Davis' novel the press has been as completely divided as over any book of the last 12 years. Heywood Brown, John Chamberlain and Harry Hansen see in it more than an attempt on Davis' part at a real "great American novel." Clifton Fadiman of the New Yorker and the Time magazine reviewer see it in "an over-written Ring Lardner Tale."

As for myself, I couldn't say. I only know I began reading it at 1:30 yesterday afternoon and have just finished, at 10 p.m. I didn't stop. I doubt if I could have.

A Reader's Notebook

If you ask, your book dealer will give you the initial issue of an entertaining book magazine—"New Books"—which has nearly 30 pages of intelligent comment on current books. In the fall the publication will be issued on a monthly basis.

Reviewers aren't classifying Louis Adamic's new book—"My America." Many say it's his best to date, consisting, as it does, of diary entries, newspaper clippings, casual observations and sketches. When he was on the campus in 1936 Adamic told Daily Iowan reporters, "I'm at work on a book about America, my America," as clippings now reveal.

"The movement of ideas is more important than the movement of armies," writes Douglas Jerrold in his "Georgian Adventure." In his "Writing As a Career," Thomas H. Uzzell writes, "The truth about authors is that their success is due mainly to their energy, intelligence and enthusiasm for the job. . . . The literary success is the man who can sit on a chair."

Christopher Morley fans should note that there's a new collection of the master's essays—"Morley's Magnum."

Booksellers report that Thomas Mann's "Joseph in Egypt," which reviewers say may be the most important book of our age, has had the smallest sale of any of the new novels. . . . They say John O'Hara wrote "Hope of Heaven" in two weeks. . . . Hervey Allen's "Action at Aquila" is selling by the hundreds. . . . It, as you probably already know, is another on the Civil war.

"Gone With the Wind" isn't on any best-seller list any more. . . . Everybody's bought it—or borrowed—or doesn't care. . . .

Publishers announce half a dozen new picture volumes for the fall. . . . Pare Lorentz's "The River" (Stackpole, $2) has been a success, outselling even Erskine Caldwell's "You Have Seen Their Faces." . . . Pictures for the latter were taken by Margaret Bourke-White. . . .

Theatergoers will want to be reading Thornton Wilder's "Our Town"—Pulitzer prizier—John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men"—and Rachel Crother's "Susan and God," all recently published for the reading public.

joined the procession of Hawkeye youngsters who could not resist the lure of the "pot of gold" which they hoped waited at the end of their "rainbow"—the smooth concrete highway.

The average youngster whose description appears in the bureau's missing persons report is 15 or 16 years old, but an eight-year-old left his home in Butler county recently, with a 15-year-old companion.

Charges Forged WATERLOO, Ia. (AP)—Chief of Police Hugh R. Crumrine said last night his men had arrested Hubert L. June, 37, and seized allegedly forged checks with a face value of $1,000.

In Hong Kong, Cantonese restaurants have different prices for different floors, the higher the floor the higher the price. The food is the same, but the roof garden level has the prettiest waitresses, best service, most tasteful surroundings, and real ivory instead of imitation chopsticks.

The first sewing machine was invented by an Englishman, Thomas Saint, and patented in 1790.

Saroyan Writes Book Readers Hoped He'd Do

"LOVE, HERE IS MY HAT" by William Saroyan. (Modern Age Books, Inc. New York, 1938. 25 cents.)

Here at last, then, is the kind of book everyone hoped William Saroyan would be writing. It's a short book, only 145 pages; practically half the short stories are worth reading; about five should be re-read, and the whole thing costs only a quarter.

It's highly recommended. Probably, of course, it was inevitable that Saroyan would sooner or later discover that his first published, most popular and possibly worst short story, "The Darling Young Man," was an accidental success, that he could continue re-writing it only so long. He was also bound to find out—being the intelligent young man he seems—that he has a sense of humor, and that humor is rare in these parts. It must have been about then he started "Love, Here Is My Hat." Surprisingly or not, the book is a howl.

Among the titles you'll want to remember, as well as what's printed under them, are "Ever Fall in Love With a Midget?" "For My Part I'll Smoke a Good Ten Cent Cigar" or "The Genius." You'll be laughing aloud.

Then, in a straighter vein, I recommend "A Lady Named Caroline" and "The Fire." There are half a dozen others that make lively perusing. The rest are so much waste, but 11 out of 23 is an interesting average for short-story writers these days.

Be hereby warned, moreover, that Saroyan writes like no one else either past or present. But as long as he keeps writing as he does in "Love, Here Is My Hat," I'll keep reading and enjoying, as I did, "Love Here Is My Hat."

'Iowa Queen' To Rule Celebration

COUNCIL BLUFFS, June 11 (AP)—Officials of the Iowa state centennial exposition planned here for Aug. 7 to Sept. 5 announced today a quest for Iowa's most beautiful girl to rule as "Miss Iowa Centennial."

The "queen," to be selected from candidates from all over the state on a basis of beauty and personality, will be given a tour to the Golden Gate International exposition at San Francisco Bay, Cal., next year, the officials announced.

They said Walter Reimers, director of events, ceremonies and social affairs at the San Francisco fair, has assured exposition managers here that the Iowa representative will be given a public reception and tours of the San Francisco vicinity as well as a Los Angeles and Hollywood tour.

"Miss Iowa Centennial" will be crowned early in the exposition ceremonies and will reign throughout the celebration here, they declared.

Today's Garden Graph

THE LITTLE worm you may have seen "measuring" itself along a leaf, or hanging down from a tree on a silken thread this spring, is a canker worm. It puts in an early appearance each year, and can be very destructive, because of its voracious appetite, to the foliage of maple, elm, oak, cherry and linden trees.

This Garden-Graph shows the result of canker worms feeding on a maple leaf. The worms are small looping caterpillars about an inch long. In color they vary from a light yellowish-green to black.

Unless the invasion of these worms is checked by a spray of arsenate of lead, there is danger of a tree being stripped of its leaves. The tree so afflicted may send out new leaves, but whether it does or does not, the work of these worms puts a severe strain upon the vitality of the tree.

It is possible to control next year's crop of canker worms by placing sticky, adhesive bands, such as tree tanglefoot, about the tree trunk in October, and leaving them on until April. This prevents the wingless moth from ascending the tree.

Boys Finally Get Ahead Survey Shows for First Time in Three Years Brain Derby Boys Beat Girls

It's the same story again this year: the masculine mind paraded easily through the science subjects and feminine brains functioned victoriously in literature and English correctness in the University of Iowa's state scholarship contest, which closed Tuesday.

But for the first time in three years, boys had an edge in first places, 10 to 6, a survey of the place-winners in the examinations of Monday and Tuesday shows. The affair of last year was a tie in first places.

Girls were shut out in general science and physics, just as they were in 1937. And boys took eight of 10 places in geometry and 10 of 12 places, including ties, in United States history.

The four grades of English correctness, however, were sweeping triumphs for the girls, 51 places to 14. It was 11 to one in the 12th grade English correctness, nine to

Miss Larrabee Wed to Lyman Mitchell in Single Ring Service

Candlelight Ceremony Observed at Church For Alumni

The wedding of Janet Larrabee of Evanston, Ill., youngest daughter of Mrs. William Larrabee, Woodlawn apartments, to Attorney Lyman Lee Mitchell, also of Evanston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mitchell of Cedar Rapids, was solemnized last night in the Trinity Episcopal church with the Rev. Richard E. McEvoy reading the single ring service.

The nuptial vows were repeated before an altar decorated with palms and four candelabra holding ivory tapers. Baskets of white gladioli were on either side of the altar.

Mrs. Charles Righter provided organ music for the wedding.

Bridal Procession
Leading the bridal procession were the ushers, Ervin F. Stepanek of Cedar Rapids, Richard Schneider of Highland Park, Ill., Theodore S. Chapman III of Chicago and Melvin A. Hardies of Evanston. Following them were the bridesmaids, Julia Robbins of Chicago, Mrs. John Dietrich of Emporia, Kan., Alice Quigley of Evanston and Mary Louis Cutler of Council Bluffs.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Innes Larrabee-McAlvin, and the maid of honor, Helen Larrabee, sisters of the bride, followed.

Escorted by her uncle, Col. Charles B. Robbins of Chicago, the bride was met at the altar by her twin brother, Dr. James Larrabee, best man, and the bridegroom.

White Silk Net
The bride's gown was of white silk net with a fitted waist and a bouffant skirt extending into a four-yard circular double train. The sleeves of the dress were slightly puffed at the shoulder and fitted to the wrist. Two pearl clips worn at the square neckline and white satin applied flowers bordering the hemline formed the only trimming. Her tulle veil, the same length as the train, was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. Gardenias formed the center of the shower bouquet she carried.

Matron of Honor
A hyacinth blue chiffon gown with a matching bolero was worn by the matron of honor. The skirt of the dress was fashioned along straight lines with a gathered bodice trimmed with matching velvet ribbon and velvet straps. She wore dusty rose accessories and carried a colonial corsage of blue delphiniums.

Of dusty rose chiffon, but fashioned like that of the matron of honor's, was the gown worn by Miss Larrabee, maid of honor. Her accessories were of hyacinth blue, and her colonial corsage was of rose snapdragons.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of pale yellow chiffon styled like those of the other attendants. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow snapdragons.

Attendants
All of the bride's attendants wore matching chiffon flower petals in their hair.

The bride's mother wore a jacket dress of ivory lace accented by a light blue sash. Her matching blue hat was trimmed with dusty pink and blue flowers.

Mrs. Mitchell, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in rose lace with a matching rose turban.

Reception at Union
Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held in the river room of Iowa Union. Serving as assistant hostesses were Mrs. Grace Chaffee, Mrs. Clyde Hart, and Mrs. H. R. Amen.

Presiding at the punch table in the foyer were Mrs. Ervin F. Stepanek of Cedar Rapids and Jeanne Doran. At another table, Jean Halsey of Blairtown and Mrs. Melvin A. Hardies of Evanston served the bride's cake.

The couple left after the reception for a wedding trip in the west. On their return they will make their home at 622 Sheridan road in Evanston after July 1.

The bride's traveling costume was of navy blue sheer, the skirt and bolero of which were tucked and the waist of navy and white print. Her accessories were also of navy blue.

Guldahl Repeats National Open Victory

Champ Stages Great Rally To Win With 284

Ralph Runs Off From Field to Triumph By 6 Strokes

By ALAN GOULD

DENVER, June 11 (AP)—Ralph Guldahl, burly Texas-born professional from the Braidburn club of Madison, N. J., today won the American Open championship for the second straight year with a smashing last-round comeback. He spread-eagled the field with a final 69, two under Cherry Hills' par for a 72-hole total of 284 to become the first repeater since Bob Jones did it in 1930.

Guldahl, trailing Handsome Dick Metz of Chicago by four full strokes at the close of the third round this morning, came from behind with an electrifying finish to prove himself every inch a champion.

His victorious total, comprising successive rounds of 74, 70, 71 and 69, was three strokes short of the world record set for major open championships in capturing the title at Oakland Hills for the first time with 281, but he won today by a much more impressive margin—six strokes.

Greatest Since 1921 This was the biggest winning margin in 17 years of United States open championship history or since 1921, when Long Jim Barnes finished nine strokes in front of Walter Hagen at the Columbia club, Chevy Chase, Md.

Metz, who looked like the winner when he led Guldahl, 211 to 215 at the 54-hole mark, participated in a general blowup that blasted the chances of all but the defending champion. Metz finished second as he staggered to the finish with a last round 79 for a total of 290.

There were only four contenders with a title chance when the surviving field of 60 began the last round, after Henry Picard, the Hershey (Pa.) star had fallen abruptly from the pace-making position with a third round 77.

Hines and Zimmerman Besides Metz and Guldahl, the quartet of potential winners included Long-hitting Jimmie Hines, Metropolitan New York Open champion, and Emery Zimmerman, the slender 28-year-old "dark horse" from Portland, Ore., but the pressure quickly caught up with and disposed of all but the champion.

Hines folded quickly and wound up with an 83 for a total of 297. Zimmerman hung on longer, showing his gameness under fire, but the youngster from the Pacific northwest finally skidded to a 78 for a total of 294, 10 strokes behind the winner.

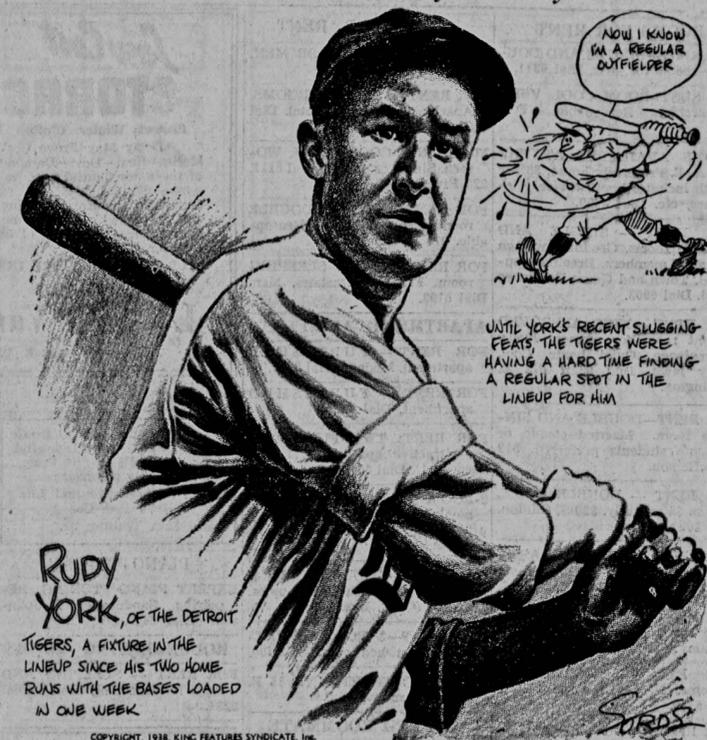

Meantime Guldahl, having rated himself exactly four strokes off the pace for three successive rounds, turned on the heat. The tall stoop-shouldered champion, with par under control and his best shots mustered to give it a beating if necessary, overtook Hines on the second hole of his final round. He caught up with Metz at the fifth and also shook off Zimmerman's challenge.

Decided Early The issue, to all intents and purposes, was decided on the fourth, fifth and sixth holes. In that short stretch Guldahl picked up five strokes on the faltering Metz and three on Hines. The champion shot 4-4-2 on these holes against par of 4-5-3. Big Ralph coolly dropped putts of 15 and nine feet for his birdies on the fifth and sixth.

Guldahl went on to the turn in 34, one under par. He had picked up no less than seven strokes on both Metz and Hines and four on Zimmerman. From there on only a crackup by the champion himself could affect the outcome. He never displayed the slightest trace of even bending under the pressure as a swarming crowd of nearly 10,000 spectators saw him march through a shower of rain to victory.

Guldahl applied the crowning touches to his great finish midway on the homecoming nine. To the roaring delight of one of the biggest crowds that has romped over the Hills since Jones won his last open at Interlachen eight years ago, Big Ralph bagged a brace of birdies on the 13th and 14th. He struck long irons to the greens so accurately that he needed

RUDY YORK, OF THE DETROIT TIGERS, A FIXTURE IN THE LINEUP SINCE HIS TWO HOME RUNS WITH THE BASES LOADED IN ONE WEEK

Roxie Lawson Beats Nats, 7-2

Dutch Leonard Is Loser As Tigers Reach 500 Again

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Detroit capitalized on lengthy hitting and Roxie Lawson's pitching today to beat Washington, 7 to 2. It was their second straight victory of the series.

Four triples and a double went into the Tigers' attack. Pete Fox's triple which scored Rudy York gave Detroit a 2-0 lead in the second inning.

Washington evened it in the fifth when Buddy Myer tripled and Buddy Lewis sent him home with a single to left, but Taft Wright forced Lewis at second. After Goose Goslin walked, Zeke Bonura drilled a single to left to score Wright.

Detroit made the most off of Dutch Leonard's knuckle-ball pitching. The Tigers went into the lead at 3-2 in the sixth on Rogell's triple to right and Gehring's infield out. They added three more in the seventh on three hits and an error by Cecil Travis. A triple by Laabs and a single by Christman in the ninth completed Detroit's scoring.

At Last Patty Berg Triumphs In Trans Meet

TULSA, Okla., June 11 (AP)—Little Patty Berg of Minneapolis has her championship at last.

The red-headed stylist, often a runner-up, played her smartest golf today to defeat the veteran Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, in the 36-hole final of the trans-Mississippi tourney, six and five.

Mrs. Hill made a great battle of it on the morning round, the first 18 ending with Miss Berg one up.

It was a different story in the afternoon. Patty kept her skill on the fairways and found her putting touch while Mrs. Hill, who is 25 years older than her 20-year-old opponent, showed the stain of the game.

Finally they came to the 13th with Patty five up.

Both made the slating green in three. Mrs. Hill's putt from 15 feet barely missed and Patty's ball nearly was stymied.

While the gallery of 2,000 held its breath, Patty firmly stroked in her 10-footer for a par four, winning the hole, the match and the championship.

"Well," beamed the winner when they handed her the championship cup, "they say everything comes to those who wait and I've been waiting around a long time and never thought I was going to win this. Fortune smiled on me today and my game was good. So I won it."

Mrs. Hill, who has held the trans-Mississippi championship four times, walked off the last green with her arm around Patty's shoulders.

Max, Joe May Meet Again

If Coming Bout Is Close, Mike Jacobs Will Stage Fall Match

By EDDIE BRIETZ SPECTATOR, N. Y., June 11 (AP)—There is a possibility Max Schmeling and Joe Louis may meet for a third time in one of the New York ball parks early in September.

Mike Jacobs, who is staging the June 22 heavyweight title tilt between Schmeling and the brown bombing champion, visited the Dutchman's camp today and announced both principals have agreed to a third meeting should this month's battle go the 15-round limit.

"It's entirely up to me," said Jacobs. "If the coming bout goes to a decision and is a close sensational battle, my plan now is to throw them against each other in September. If the fight is decided by a knockout or is one-sided and not a crowd pleaser, I will pit the winner against Max Baer in September.

"A third encounter between this pair would gross in the neighborhood of a million. I believe Baer and either Louis or Schmeling would attract around three quarters of a million."

The German came back after a two-day lay-off this afternoon to box eight brisk rounds with four sparring partners, none of whom troubles him in the least.

Max's handlers say he is at his peak right now and ready to fight tomorrow despite the insistence of veteran observers that he was not so impressive today as when he boxed last on Thurs-

Johnson Stars As Macks Win

Outfielder Hits Double, Two Homers In 5-4 Contest

PHILADELPHIA, June 11 (AP)—The Athletics came from behind today to score a ninth inning 5 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

With one out in the ninth, Bob Johnson doubled off Relief Pitcher Ed Linke. Chapman was purposely passed. Mule Haas fanned, but Wayne Ambler singled over second to score Johnson with the winning run and give George Caster his sixth win of the season.

The A's took an early 2-0 lead, but St. Louis went ahead 3-2 in the fourth in a rally climaxed by Red Kress' homer. Johnson socked his 12th homer to tie it in the fifth and after George McQuinn had hit for the circuit in the sixth, blasted his 13th roundtripper in the seventh to knot the count.

Dario Lodigiani, A's second sacker, was spiked on the hand during the fourth and retired from the game.

The Reds fielded perfectly behind him, but his mainstay was Ernie (Schnozzola) Lombardi, who put the game on ice with a homer with one mate aboard in the sixth inning. In addition, after Johnny walked Gene Moore to open the fourth, Lombardi took Johnny Cooney's foul and fired the ball to first to double Moore off the bag. Again in the fifth, when Tony Cucinello, first up, was passed, Lombardi tossed to first again and caught Tony napping. With two out in the same frame, Vander Meer issued his third walk, to Gilly English, but he "died" on first as Johnny Riddle grounded weakly to the box.

Vander Meer's no-hitter is the only one in the major league books so far this season. Bill Dietrich, bespectacled Chicago White Sox right-hander, hurled the last one, on June 1 of last year, against the St. Louis Browns, in the American league. Fred Frankhouse, the Brooklyn Dodgers' "hard-luck" guy, had one against the Reds last Aug. 27, but the game was called because of rain after 7 2-3 innings, and the feat was not official.

Mrs. Moody Leads Wightman Cup Team to Triumph Again

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 11 (AP)—The United States exerted its monopoly on the Wightman Cup for the eighth consecutive year today, when merciless Helen Wills Moody froze out Kay Stammers in the deciding match of the two-day international tennis series, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

The final score was 5 to 2. But after Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Boston had defeated Margot Lumb, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, and Helen had beaten Miss Stammers, the last two matches merely were exhibitions.

In the third singles match Alice Marble whipped Peggy Scriven, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0, and in the concluding doubles Joan Ingram and Evelyn Dearman won from Mrs. Moody and Dorothy May Bundy, 6-2, 7-5.

High spot of the day was Miss Stammers' fight against Mrs. Moody. This was a battle of Mrs. Moody's style and experience against the courage and tactics of the petite English southpaw.

At Crucial Moment His Luck Went Bad

MONTE VISTA, Colo. (AP)—Any golfer would sympathize with Noel Thompson of Alamosa.

Thompson advanced to the 17th tee in a recent 18-hole interclub tournament, comfortably ahead of the field. His tee shot was a beauty, but as Thompson finished out his follow-through he suddenly fell to the ground.

Doctors found he had dislocated a knee.

Young Cincinnati Speedballer Confronts Only 28 Batsmen In Hurling 3-0 Victory Over Bees

Three Bees Reach 1st; Lombardi Helps With Homer

CINCINNATI, June 10 (AP)—Young Johnny Vander Meer, the Cincinnati Reds' 23-year-old southpaw from Jersey, pitched himself into baseball's hall of fame today with a no-hit, no-run performance against the Boston Bees.

In his first full year in the major leagues, the six-foot, 190-pounder hurled as fine a ball game as any veteran could have.

Only 28 men faced him, and only three reached first base, all on walks. None got past first as he came in with a 3-0 victory, the first National league no-hit nine-inning job since Daffy Dean turned the trick back in 1934, and the first southpaw to accomplish the stunt in the majors since Bob Burke did it for Washington's Senators in 1931.

Celebration After it was all over, teammates and fans carried the fast-balling strikeout artist off the field on their shoulders. Vander Meer, himself, was surprised when it was all over.

"Gee, I had no idea of pitching a no-hitter," he told his mates. "My arm felt better as I went along, and I bore down harder, particularly in the late innings."

Young Johnny, who got his seasoning with Durham, N. C., in the Piedmont league in 1936 and Syracuse of the International league last year, showed the benefits of Will McKechnie's teaching this spring. Erratic and wild last year, after striking out 295 for Durham the previous season, he was sent to Syracuse where he won only five and lost 11.

The Reds recalled him this spring, and McKechnie, the club's new manager, worked on Johnny's control during most of the spring training campaign. He altered his delivery slightly, with the result that Vander Meer has shown marked improvement.

Today he was in control of the situation from start to finish as he outpitched Deacon Danny MacFayden to win his sixth game against two defeats. He retired the first nine men to face him, lost momentary control of his fast ball in the fourth and fifth, and then breezed in by finishing off the final 13 Boston batters in a row. He fanned four.

Lombardi Helps The Reds fielded perfectly behind him, but his mainstay was Ernie (Schnozzola) Lombardi, who put the game on ice with a homer with one mate aboard in the sixth inning. In addition, after Johnny walked Gene Moore to open the fourth, Lombardi took Johnny Cooney's foul and fired the ball to first to double Moore off the bag. Softball Tourney To Be at Drake

DES MOINES, June 11 (AP)—The sixth annual Iowa open softball tournament will be held at Drake stadium Aug. 1 to 8, inclusive, Director Evan O. (Bill) Williams announced today.

The tournament, growing in interest throughout the state for the past six years, will be divided into three classes again this year—class A, class B and the junior class. The junior class was added to the tournament last year.

The 1937 champions were the Boone Nite Hawks in class A, the Sully Aces in class B and Schneiderhahn team of Des Moines in the junior class.

Manuel and Rex Heap, Charles Millar won the second half-mile handicap in 1:56.7 after Stanley Holt of Rhode Island state had taken the first in 1:56.4.

Robert Canning took first place in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 4 inches.

Cunningham Is First Again In New York Race

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—A rain soaked track thwarted Glenn Cunningham's bid for a new three-quarter mile record today as he marked up his second victory of the afternoon in the feature event of the 140th games of the New York A. C.

Cunningham, who had run an exhibition half mile at the New Jersey A.A.U. meet in East Orange earlier today, treated the crowd of 4,000 to another masterful performance as he raced to a two-yard victory over Horvie Borck, Manhattan college's intercollegiate mile champion, in 3 minutes, 6.8 seconds. Gene Venzke of the New York A.C. was third, another two yards back.

The time was far slower than the world record of 3:00.4, held by Josef Mostert of Belgium, who will run against Glenn in the Princeton invitation meet next week, and Cunningham's own American mark of 3:00.6 in his half-mile, the former Kansas also was far off the record, although his 1:54.4 in a handicap race was considered fast for the sodden track.

Equal National Record The best performance of the meet, so far as records went, was turned in by the De La Salle Institute relay team of New York. Running their last race as a group, John Quigley, Lou Collado, George Tucknott and Ed Rogers, equalled the national interscholastic two mile relay mark of 9:21.4 set by Hollywood high school nine years ago.

The University of California's travelling track stars had a field day, making a clean sweep of the broad jump and winning the high jump and one of the two 380-yard handicap races.

Cardinals Play 2 to 2 Tie Game With New York

ST. LOUIS, June 11 (AP)—The Cardinals just beat out the rain today to score two runs and tie the New York Giants at 2-all in a game cut eight innings by a sudden downpour.

Don Gutteridge hit a homer to start off the eighth with the Cards first run. Then Jimmy Brown and Pepper Martin, and Ducky Medwick singled the tying run across.

The Giants had scored both their runs in the sixth, after Bill McGee had pitched hitless ball for five frames. Harry Danning started things off by beating out an infield hit. Alex Kampouris sent him home with a triple against the center field stands, and Cliff Melton singled to bring Kampouris across.

Both Melton and McGee pitched the full eight innings.

Terry Moore, the Cards' outfielder, suffered a brain concussion when he crashed into the base of the centerfield stands in trying to field Kampouris' three-bagger. He was carried unconscious from the field and later sent to a hospital for an X-ray examination.

Swift Wins In First Complete Game of Year

Pittsburgh Hurler Clubs Three-Run Homer In 4-3 Tilt

PITTSBURGH, June 11 (AP)—Bill Swift went the route for the first time this season today and hit a homer with two aboard to give the Pirates a 4 to 3 decision over the Phillies.

Bill's circuit clout came in the second, and the Bucs sewed up the game in the next inning on an error, Arky Vaughan's single and an outfield fly.

The Pirates collected only seven hits off Bucky Walters, while Swift gave up 11, but he was tight in the pinches, especially in the ninth, when, with the tying run on base and none out, he finished three batters in a row.

Yawkey Handles Big Deal
 BOSTON (AP)—Tom Yawkey, the young millionaire who has spent something like $4,000,000 on his Boston Red Sox club, says the purchase of Shortstop - Manager Joe Cronin from Washington for $250,000 was the only deal he personally engineered. That was all-time tops in cash paid for a player. Yawkey says Business Manager Eddie Collins arranged all the other Boston deals.

Entry in Cedar Rapids Jalopy Derby

Albert Gaulocher, 923 N. Dodge (behind the wheel) and Johnnie Oaks, manager of Karn's service station, are shown above in the 1926 Studebaker touring car which they will drive today in the Cedar Rapids "Jalopy Derby." Sponsored by the Cedar Rapids Chamber of Commerce, the event is open only to cars that are at least 11 years old. The original motor must still be in the car and no special gas may be used. Held at Frontier Park, the finals of the race will be this afternoon at 2 o'clock, following qualifying runs this morning. The final race will be 10 miles. Gaulocher will drive the car, No. 11 in the race, while Oaks will act as the mechanic.

Guldahl--

ed to get down puts of only seven and six feet for birdie three. Luck With Guldahl

Even Lady Luck rode with the winner. On the 13th, he went too boldly for the pin but his ball struck a slope of the green, nearly 20 feet from the cup, stopped in its tracks and rolled back more than half-way, just as if it were searching for the hole. His only mistakes on the last round put him in a trap on the eighth and over the green on the 18th. He had seven one-putt greens and everything so completely under control that all possible thrill was extracted from the stretch run.

Here was another golfing Man O'War, spread - eagling all opposition and adding a new chapter to the 42-year-old history of America's biggest golfing sweepstakes. Only two years ago Guldahl was close to real adversity. From a golfing as well as an economic viewpoint. He was just a big fellow who had muffed his chance in 1933, when he was runner-up to Johnny Goodman at Chicago. But he started a comeback that has now reached astonishing proportions and put his name in the game's exclusive hall of fame.

Three Other Repeaters

Only three players, up to today, had repeated in the National Open. Besides Jones they were Willie Anderson, who won three times in a row in 1903-05 and Jack McDermitt, who turned the trick in 1911-12. Only in two previous tournaments has Guldahl's winning total been beaten—by his own record 281 of last year and by Tony Manero's victorious 282, the previous record in 1936 at Baltusrol.

There wasn't even much consolation for the rest of the professional brigade after Guldahl got through mopping up, collecting the $1,000 prize money, signing another receipt for the title cup, and hastening off to give a radio talk as the first step in a campaign he hopes may enrich him by $25,000 worth of byproducts.

Guldahl Pockets Prize Money

DENVER, Col., June 11 (AP)—Seemingly more nervous than while he was under the strain of competition, husky Ralph Guldahl pocketed a check for $1,000 and went through the routine of accepted the cup emblematic of the national open championship today.

Having already held the trophy for a year, he had to return it to the United States golf association officials so they could hand it back to him in post-tournament ceremonies.

"Before the tournament, I was trying to locate this cup so I could take a few last looks at it before returning it to the committee," Guldahl said.

"When I first saw the Cherry Hills course I knew it would take good golf to master it. I worked hard to produce that golf. Don't think I didn't suffer plenty this afternoon.

"And I've got to thank Dick Metz and some of the other close ones for faltering a bit in the final stages. If they hadn't I might not be up here getting the winner's share."

The other money winners: Dick Metz, $800; Tony Penni and Harry Cooper, $650 each; Emery Zimmerman and Byron Nelson, $412.50 each; Frank Moore, Paul Runyan and Henry Picard, $216.67 each; Gene Sarazen, $150; Victor Ghezzi, Jimmie Hines, George Von Elm and Denny Shute, $106.25 each; Willie Hunter, $100; all others within the first 30, at $66 or better, $50 each.

Another 'Phar Lap' Wins in Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australia has produced another wonder horse that may rival the famous turf deeds of Phar Lap.

He is Ajax, a three-year-old chestnut colt by Heroic-Medmenham, and is owned by E. L. Bailieu, A. W. Thompson and "Mr. Constable."

Ajax was unbeaten during autumn meetings both in Melbourne and Sydney and has total earnings of $75,000.

Turf writers hail Ajax as one of the greatest three-year-olds in Australian racing history. Ajax never has been extended enough for experts to tell what speed the colt is capable of, they say.

Oklahoma Indian Takes Speedway Race at Altoona

ALTOONA, Pa., June 11 (AP)—Joe Chitwood, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian from Tulsa, Okla., roared 100 miles around the Altoona's speedway's dirt warpath today to win the flag day race in one hour, seven minutes and 57 second, a new track record.

The previous mark for 100 miles at the track since its conversion from a board to a dirt speedway was one hour 9 minutes and 20 seconds, set by Lou Myers in 1935.

Jimmy Wilburn, Los Angeles, was second and Morris Musick, Dallas, Tex., third. Others in the order they finished included: Mike Salay, South Bend, Ind.; Larry Evans, Steubenville, Ohio; Dan Wilt, Harrisburg, Pa.; Gus Schrader, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Butch Gardner, Johnstown, Pa.; John McDowell, Pasadena, Cal.; Duke Denmore, Dayton, Ohio; Elbert Booker, Detroit; "Shorty" Drexler, Louisville, Ky.

Record Prints Yarnell Study

An article in the current issue of the Engineering News-Record features a study of the flow of water through pipe bends conducted by the late D. L. Yarnell, senior drainage engineer of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, and a staff member of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research.

The laboratory investigations showed that although a bend acts as an obstruction to flow, causing loss of head in both open and closed conduits, it can be made to function effectively as a flow meter with which discharge can be determined by measuring merely differences in pressure on two sides of the pipe.

According to the report, the experiments indicate that the errors likely to be involved in using the bend as a metering device are no greater than those experienced with other common measuring devices.

The paper also indicates how losses of head in pipe lines can be minimized by properly planning the piping layouts.

U.S. Extends Air Defense Western Frontier Placed Somewhere In Pacific

By DEVON FRANCIS—Associated Press Aviation Editor

MARCH FIELD, Riverside, Cal., June 11—For purposes of national defense, the western frontier of the United States has been extended in the Pacific practically to the international dateline.

The airplane, grown to mammoth proportions in the last decade and peculiarly suitable to this country as a weapon of war, has been responsible for pushing that boundary out to sea.

The first rule of warfare is to find the enemy and keep him in sight, and warplanes are providing both the army and navy with eyes which can cruise as far as 2,500 miles non-stop at speeds ranging from 150 to 250 miles an hour.

Development

Singularly an American development is the powerful, long range warplane, both scouting machine and bomber, designed to anticipate an attack by sea by spotting any enemy, keeping him in view and, if feasible, harassing and damaging his fleet.

When the armed services announced recently that a wartime line of observation extending 6,000 miles from Kodiak island, Alaska, down through Midway island to Pago Pago, American Samoa, is being established, it signaled the adoption of a new scheme of national defense.

The navy's patrol flying boats and the army's four-motored bombers henceforth—subject to the acquisition of airplane equipment—will be integral parts of the defense lines far at sea. At March field the general headquarters air force, first wing, has worked out its plan of action in the event of hostilities in the Pacific.

Flying Arms

In the Hawaiian islands, army and navy flying arms are being built up to surprise an enemy long before he could get within striking distance either of the islands or of the American continent.

To meet an enemy far at sea—where airplanes would enable our battle force to do—would place him on the defensive. Our heavy cruisers and our navy patrol planes would make initial contact and advise the fleet of the enemy's position, direction and strength.

Army bombers would constitute a second line of scout defense. And due to their efficiency in bearing great loads of destructive bombs, they would be assigned the twin task of observing the enemy and helping damage him if possible.

Targets for Bombs

Troopships, battleships and aircraft carriers would supply sizeable targets for airmen who have dropped practice bombs with deadly accuracy on targets from altitudes as high as 20,000 feet. To the battle force, of course, would fall the job of setting up the main line of defense.

To help establish this new defense frontier, an expenditure of $5,000,000 for an air station at Kodiak island is planned. For an auxiliary seaplane base to accommodate patrols on Oahu island, on which Honolulu is situated, $800,000 will be spent. Midway island, where the trans-Pacific flying boats land, will get a $720,000 advanced seaplane base.

Hickam field, west of Honolulu, to be one of the finest airports in the world, is being completed for the air corps. Luke field, in Pearl Harbor, will be turned over to the navy when the army is ready to add Hickam to its other base, Wheeler field.

A new fleet air base was commissioned June 1 at Sitka, Alaska. Navy scouting force "partol wings" are located in Hawaii, the Canal Zone, San Diego, Sandpoint, Wash., and Sitka.

Mayor Walker Names Friday Humanity Day in Iowa City

Recognition of the efforts of Iowa Citizens to aid the non-combatant refugees in China was made yesterday by Mayor Myron J. Walker when he proclaimed Friday as Humanity day in Iowa City.

The Bowl of Rice party for the benefit of the Chinese will be at 9 p.m. Friday in the community building.

Mayor Walker's proclamation reads: "Whereas, it is eminently fit and proper that the blessings of peace and freedom, which we enjoy as citizens of a democratic nation, should be acknowledged by kindly and understanding assistance to others less fortunate than ourselves; "Whereas, it has been brought to my attention, as Mayor of the City of Iowa City, that a great humanitarian effort in the behalf of innocent and suffering Chinese non-combatant women and children is to reach both a local and a national climax on Friday, June 17, when Bowl of Rice parties for the benefit of these victims of aggressor war are to be held simultaneously in hundreds of cities throughout the country; "Whereas, our city has joined with hundreds of other communities of our country to hold a Bowl of Rice party; "Whereas, the United Council for Civilian Relief in China, the consolidation of labor, business and social relief organizations, under the direction of which the Bowl of Rice party is held, portrays and emphasizes before the world both the urgent need of immediate practical relief and also the outstanding fact that our positive action in behalf of the distressed in a fellow democracy helps to strengthen the moral forces of the world and to preserve our hard won and precious civilization; "I do, by virtue of my office, proclaim Friday, June 17, as Humanity day, dedicated to the salvation of perishing human beings to the expression of protest against war, and the inhuman tactics being employed by the participants of the many undeclared wars now being waged.

Signed
Myron J. Walker, Mayor."

Banner Will Urge Attendance Here At Dan Doherty Day

A painted banner bearing the caption "Attend Dan Doherty Day, Iowa City, Wednesday, June 22" will be stretched across the intersection of Dubuque and Washington streets by tomorrow, it was announced last night by Chairman Moe Hamburger of the decoration committee.

Hamburger and Ed Urban, both well-known Iowa City decorators, have designed a four-sided banner on which the wording will change to "Welcome Dan Doherty" the day prior to the American Legion chief's arrival in the university city.

In addition to the big street banner, the downtown section will display the national colors, placed in the curb sockets. Special decorations have also been designed for the entire east wall of the auditorium in the community building, where Commander Doherty will deliver his address.

Many merchants are likewise planning special window decorations in honor of Doherty's visit, his only public appearance in Iowa this year.

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclaimed today any intention of appointing a commission to study operation of the national labor relations act.

A minority of the house judiciary committee, opposing proposed amendments to a government contract law, had said such an investigation was under consideration.

However, Mr. Roosevelt wrote Chairman Summers (D-Tex) of the committee that the minority must have had his projected study of British industrial relations in mind.
