United Auto Board Split As Martin Ousts Five

Six Walk Out As Protest To Leader's Action

Suspended Union Men Confer With CIO Leader Lewis

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The International Board of the United Automobile Workers split wide open tonight after President Homer Martin suspended five board members on the ground they were disturbing union harmony.

Six other members walked out of a board meeting when the action was announced, and Martin warned them that they also were "laying themselves open" to suspension.

Board Divided
Since the board consists of 24 members it apparently was divided approximately in half. Today's developments were the culmination of a long factional dispute in the union, one of the biggest affiliates of the CIO.

Martin charged that the suspended officers had "repudiated" a 20-point program for harmony which the board approved unanimously less than a month ago.

The suspended unionists immediately replied that Martin's action amounted to a "declaration of war" and predicted that it would divide the rank and file badly.

Face Trial
The board members suspended and ordered to face trial before the board, probably in a week, were Vice-presidents Richard T. Frankenstein, Wyndham Mortimer, Ed Hall and Walter N. Wells, and Secretary-treasurer George Adress. Martin appointed Delmont Garst acting secretary-treasurer.

The six who walked out were Ellsworth Cramer, Tracy M. Doll, Paul Miley, Richard Reisinger, Leo Lamotte and Walter Reuther. Martin told reporters that "no-body was being kicked out because of any political affiliation" but that he did not intend to see the auto union "used as a tool to assist or comfort any alien dictators."

"Have Influenced"
The "communist element" in the union, he said, was an "insignificant group," but added that its members "have influenced some unthinking people."

"I have no more respect for a Stalin dictatorship," Martin said, "than I have for a Hitler or Mussolini dictatorship, and that's none."

At one point in his talk with reporters, Martin declared there would be no more "wild cat" sit down strikes in the auto industry.

Picked Up Convict Wanted Back But Disappeared

DES MOINES, June 13 (AP)—Don Stafford, paroled convict who told the parole board he wanted to return voluntarily to Ft. Madison penitentiary and then disappeared, today was back at the prison.

The state parole board officer reported Stafford was "picked up" several days ago at Sioux City, his former home, and returned to the prison as a parole violator.

Stafford, who was sentenced in 1934 on an automobile theft charge in Polk county, has approximately 10 months left of the sentence from which he was paroled last December, the board said.

The parole board sent Stafford, who is suffering with tuberculosis, to the state sanitarium at Oakdale, Ia., where he stayed about two months and then, on his own authority, left for Sioux City.

He intended to return voluntarily to serve the rest of his term where he would be forced to take the medical treatment he needed.

The parole board told Stafford to come to its office for an interview, that the board members wanted to talk to him about leaving Oakdale without permission. A day was set for the interview but Stafford failed to show up. Then the parole board announced Stafford was "wanted," and when he was taken into custody at Sioux City he was sent back to Ft. Madison.

Salvage Crew Toils 12 Hours To Reach Air Liner Which Crashed Three Months Ago

Young Prospector Leads Workers to Lost TWA Plane

YOSEMITE, Cal., June 13 (AP)—A salvage crew which toiled for more than 12 hours through heavy snow on Buena Vista peak, arrived late today at the wreckage of an airliner that crashed March 1 on the storm-veiled mountain, killing nine persons.

Aerial observers reported the party of more than 30 persons reached the shattered Transcontinental and Western air plane shortly after 3 p.m. (6 p.m. eastern standard time).

TWA officials expressed belief the crew would camp overnight before attempting to return with bodies of the six passengers and three crew members, and pieces of wreckage which might be used in an investigation.

H. O. Collier, 24-year-old prospector whose "hunch" led him to the long missing plane yesterday, guided ground crews up the 9,777-foot Sierra Nevada range peak today to where the shattered $85,000 liner lay.

Collier and the guides, followed by a pack train, trudged through snow up to more than five feet in depth. Travel along the snow and ice-covered mountain trails was slow and arduous.

McCall Loses Poise as Jury Debates Fate

Kidnaper Worried As Jurors Vote On Indictment

MIAMI, Fla., June 13 (AP)—Franklin Pierce McCall's jauntiness deserted him today and he seemed worried while a grand jury met to vote on indictments which may send him to the electric chair for the kidnap-killing of Jimmy Cash.

Illness of State Attorney George A. Worley caused the jury to defer consideration of the kidnaping case.

Clyde Tolson, a special guard posted outside McCall's cell, reported the 21-year-old truck driver refused breakfast, the first meal he had missed since he was taken into custody, although he ate lunch.

"He talks very little," Tolson said. "He has said several times he wonders why he did it. He sleeps soundly—we have to wake him up at breakfast time—but he appears more worried than at first."

The Rev. C. A. McCall, an uncle of Jasper, Fla., visited him briefly. The minister said they discussed spiritual matters.

James Bailey Cash Sr., father of the five-year-old victim, came here from Princeton to appear before the grand jury.

FORD SURPRISE Betty Gets Kiss From Uncle Henry

GRANVILLE, Ohio, June 13 (AP)—Attractive Betty Bryant got a surprise reward today in addition to her diploma at Dennison university's commencement—a kiss from her illustrious uncle, Henry Ford.

The Detroit motor magnate, who has been too busy on many occasions to receive honors conferred on him, took time off to pay an unexpected visit here to see Miss Bryant graduated.

As she emerged from the chapel, diploma in hand, Ford kissed her on the lips.

Seek Ohio Pair After Boy Shot

ARNOLD'S PARK, Ia., June 13 (AP)—Dickinson county authorities today sought a Toledo, Ohio, couple for information concerning the shooting of a 13-year-old boy at a summer cottage here early Sunday.

The boy, who gave the name of Robert McKinnon, was in an Estherville, Ia., hospital, with a bullet wound in his neck and with his right index finger gone.

Mrs. Virginia Bedell, county attorney, and Sheriff George Paulsen learned the wounded boy's parents left their rented cottage Sunday after the boy was removed to the hospital.

The boy told questioners at the hospital that he was in bed asleep Saturday night, when he "heard a great noise and woke up and found blood running out of my neck."

Hospital attendants said the boy would recover. Robert said the family came to Arnold's Park about a month ago from Ohio.

They, Too, Shoot It Out

Minnesota Frat Case Cleared Up By Confessions

MINNEAPOLIS, June 13 (AP)—The University of Minnesota "fraternity house shooting" case was ended today—two unnamed students confessed.

Police jailed and then released the two youths on their promise to pay for damage to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house, riddled by 22 caliber rifle bullets.

Detective Eugene Bernath said it was this way: Classes ended Saturday. An engineering student in the Phi Kappa Sigma house, next to the S.A.E. house, had perfected a silencer for his rifle.

Two of his fraternity brothers returned late at night, picked up the gun and started a bombardment all their own.

About 30 shots were fired, most of them hitting the S.A.E. house.

Police added they were "glad school was done for the summer."

Ricketts, Sheets Are Nominees

Legion Selections Made At Regular Meeting Last Evening

B. M. Ricketts and George M. Sheets were nominated for the office of commander at the regular Roy L. Choque post 17 of the American Legion in the Community building last night.

Other nominations were for vice-commander, Ben Whitebook; for adjutant, George Doher and Cromwell Jones; for finance officer, Delmer Sample; for historian, Don Davis and Attorney Kenneth Dunlop, and for chaplain, Frank Mezick.

For the executive committee three men were nominated: Dr. Georg Marsh, Gorge Zeithamel and Earl Gifford. Two will be elected.

Voting on the nominations will take place at the regular meeting in July and the installation of officers will be in August.

A constitutional amendment passed last night moves the nomination of officers up to June to conform with recommendations of the first district convention last February in Des Moines. Previously the local post had nominated in July, elected in August and installed new officers in September.

Following the regular business at last night's meeting, a delegation of 11 members from the Clinton post presented a demonstration installation ceremony.

McPherson Named Acting President Of University of Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 13 (AP)—Professor Emeritus William McPherson, 74, a noted chemistry authority, was named acting president of Ohio State university by the board of trustees today, to succeed George W. Rightmire who will retire July 1.

If You Excuse Us, There's Something Very Punny Here

While Ted Lewis, 514 South Dodge street, took a dip in the Big Dipper at City park Sunday afternoon, a "dip" took from Ted's clothing his wristwatch and billfold. The billfold the pickpocket took contained $1.10, Lewis said.

All this dippiness took place, he reported to police, between 3 and 5 p.m.

Would Relax Restrictions WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress sent to the White House last night a bill to relax restrictions on the planting of the 1939 wheat crop.

Czechs, Sudetens Near Crisis Following Week End Election

Windsors Take Up New Residence on the Riviera

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrive at Cap D'Antibes, France. This latest picture of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor shows them arriving at Cap D'Antibes, France, on the Riviera, where they have taken up new residence. The man in center is unidentified. Rumors have it that the couple will come to the United States in March for a three-month visit.

Benes Returns As Negotiations Begin at Praha

Debates Demands For Autonomy by Henlein With Cabinet

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, June 13 (AP)—Czechs and Sudeten Germans approached a critical stage tonight in discussions over the status of Czechoslovak nationalities, each of which seemed further consolidated in week end local elections.

President Eduard Benes returned to Praha from his country estate, probably to attend the opening tomorrow of negotiations over minority demands for autonomy. His cabinet today discussed the self-government demands of Konrad Henlein's nazi-supported Sudeten German party and heard the advice of jurists as to the constitutional questions involved.

It was not clear tonight, however, whether any definite proposals would be handed the Sudeten Germans tomorrow. It might be that the proposed statute by which the government hopes to satisfy the minorities' demands will be kept secret until all the national groups—Hungarians, Poles, Slovaks and Sudeten Germans—have studied it.

Of 8,170 communities involved in Sunday's voting for municipal officers, 5,795 were either Czech or Slovak. In these, Czechoslovak coalition parties showed in the aggregate, an increase in strength, especially among Czech national socialists and agrarians.

In the Slovak districts, Father Andreas Hlinka's Slovak peoples' party (autonomous) lost ground, polling a bare third of the total.

Berlin Mouthpiece Warns Czech Gov't.

BERLIN, June 13 (AP)—A foreign office mouthpiece warned the Czechoslovak government today that delay in solving the Sudeten German question "will lead only to a more forcible solution."

The organ, the Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz, advised the Praha administration to impress upon the Czech people "that they have no supremacy rights or special prerogatives" outside the purely Czech areas of the young republic.

"There is no further excuse for treating the Sudeten districts as occupied territory," the Korrespondenz declared. "Procrastination will lead only to a more forcible solution."

(President Eduard Benes was said in Praha to be ready to open negotiations Tuesday for settling the German minority problem. It was reported he would receive representatives of Sudeten Germans, who ask autonomy for Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 German citizens.)

Union, Maytag Co. To Negotiate Again For New Contract

DES MOINES, June 13 (AP)—Following a conference with Newton C.I.O. officials, John Connolly Jr., Des Moines labor attorney, announced here today negotiations for a new contract between the Maytag washing machine company officials and the union would be resumed Thursday or Friday.

The plant has been shut down for more than a month. Negotiations on a contract to replace the one which expired May 1 were suspended indefinitely last week.

Military Forces Advance

Rebels Occupy Port in Spain

Civilian Population Is Remaining Instead Of Fleeing

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier), June 13 (AP)—Spanish insurgents announced tonight the occupation of Castellon de la Plana and its port of Grao, opening a broad coastal plain for an offensive against Valencia.

Military dispatches which told of the capture of the ancient and once-thriving city said a majority of its civilian population remained despite reports they had fled.

Valencia, next major objective of the onrushing insurgents, is 40 miles down the Mediterranean coast from Castellon de la Plana.

The capture of Grao gave the insurgents their first good seaport on the eastern Spanish coast.

They drove a wedge through government Spain last April 15 at Vinaroz, between Barcelona and Castellon de la Plana, but failed to obtain an adequate port in the 40-mile stretch of coastline won then.

Heretofore they have been forced to unload supplies on to barges from vessels anchored some distant off the coast.

A military communique from the eastern front said the insurgents entered Castellon de la Plana in mid-afternoon and completed occupation of the city shortly after nightfall.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's hard-driving fighters were reported to have moved swiftly through the streets to the center of the city.

Japanese Bomb Foochow

FOOCHOW, China (AP)—Forty Japanese warplanes bombed military objectives in this area yesterday, causing some damage and a number of casualties.

WHO SHOVED? Boy Dies of Injuries From Scuffle

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—It came out at an inquest today that there had been a scuffle in the recess line of the 2-B grade at the Bennett elementary school Thursday.

Somebody pushed and somebody shoved and John Wittrop, 7, took a poke at his classmate, David Charles Reiff, 8.

David died Saturday. A post mortem examination showed an internal injury.

The coroner's jury found it was an accident.

Late News Bulletins

Sells Crime Lab

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—Northwestern university has arranged to sell its famed crime laboratory to the city for $25,000, Mayor Edward J. Kelly announced today.

Insurgents Willing

BARCELONA, June 13 (AP)—The Spanish government tonight expressed willingness to exchange with the insurgents certain war prisoners, among them 14 Americans, as requested by United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers in an unofficial note.

Policy Condemned

GENEVA, June 13 (AP)—The United States joined five other nations in successive attacks on Japan's narcotics policy today at a meeting of the League of Nations advisory committee on narcotics.

Besides the American delegate, S. J. Fuller, the attacks were made by delegates representing China, Canada, Great Britain, Egypt and India.

Wipe Out Rebels

MEXICO CITY, June 13 (AP)—Mexican's bullets wiped out the rebel band of Brigadier General Enrique Espeljel Chavarria today.

The general, his brother and a policeman were killed when Puebla authorities raided a hillside shack near Chilipio village when they learned the suspected follower of Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, himself hunted as a rebel, were sleeping there.

Japan's Forces Turn to Capital

U. S. and British Ships In Path of Nippon's Latest Moves

SHANGHAI, June 14 (Tuesday) (AP)—Japan pointed warships and troops from fallen Nanking today for a 215-mile drive up the Yangtze river against the Chinese provisional capital of Hankow.

In the path of the advance, at the upper limit of a "danger zone" charted in a Japanese warning to foreign shipping, lay American and British gunboats.

The United States government yesterday rejected the warning by informing Japan it had no intention of restricting activities of American warships on the Yangtze.

British naval authorities, it was learned, took a similar stand.

The Japanese warning was delivered Saturday by Masayuki Tani, Japanese ambassador-at-large in China, who advised all foreign shipping to evacuate a 200-mile zone between Wuhu, 328 miles from Hankow, and Kiukiang.

The American reply, conveyed through Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, and Frank P. Lockhart, consul general at Shanghai, asserted American warships were on the Yangtze to protect American lives and property.

Lockhart was stated authoritatively to have pointed out Admiral Yarnell's position that the warships would be sent to any point required to carry on their duties.

The United States gunboat Monocacy and one British gunboat were just outside the danger zone.

American Medical Association Proposes To Revise Code of Ethics for Profession

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13 (AP)—Proposals to revise and amplify medical ethics in the light of changing conditions and to establish a central authority to speak for the profession on legislative proposals and health matters, went before the American Medical association today.

They appeared in resolutions before the association's house of delegates—the "congress" of the American medical profession.

Dr. Robert A. Peers of Colfax, Cal., proposed the appointment of a committee of five to "amplify, clarify, codify and revise the principles of medical ethics," and to report next year.

His resolution said the changing times had altered standpoints of ethical interpretations and that there was a "pressing need for clarification."

Dr. T. R. K. Gruber and other Michigan delegates proposed amendment of the association's by-laws to set up a public relations committee to act for the profession "in conference with government or lay organizations in public relations purposes."

Adjournment Near As Congress Compromises

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The 75th congress was almost ready tonight to pass into history. Leaders had struck a compromise on the $3,753,000,000 spending-lending bill, designed to stimulate the nation's economy, and had washed their hands, temporarily at least, of the troubles confronting the country's railroads.

Those decisions, and the compromise on wage-hour standards reached by a senate-house committee over the week end, virtually disposed of the major tasks on the program for the last days of the session.

Several formalities, and odds and ends, remained to be cleaned up, but the administration leadership announced that the final gavel would fall Wednesday night, barring unforeseen developments.

It was decided at a White House conference this morning that the problem of the railroads, many of which face financial difficulties in this time of depression, would be postponed until next session. Senator Barkley (D-Ky) announced the decision.

A few weeks ago, legislation to loosen up RFC loans to carriers was making headway, but railroad unions, aroused by the carriers' proposal to cut wages 15 per cent, registered strong opposition to the legislation, and it was sidetracked.

Another proposal talked up during the session would facilitate the reorganization of roads in difficulties, but Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), chairman of the senate interstate commerce commission, expressed belief today that insufficient time remained to put through such a major bill.

Despite today's announcements, however, pressure for some legislation assisting the roads continued. A new compromise was put forward. It consisted of an offer of a railroad unemployment insurance bill, passed by the house, reported out of the senate labor committee today, in return for withdrawal of union opposition to the RFC bill. Union executive arranged a meeting tomorrow but there was no clear indication that they would take the compromise.

A senate-house conference committee agreed tentatively during the day on the spending-lending bill. However, the agreement called for separate house votes on two items added to the bill by the senate—$212,000,000 for additional farm benefits and $1,000,000 for administrative expenses.

If these items are finally approved, the bill will total $3,753,000

The Louis-Schmeling Heavyweight Battle; Sports, Not Politics

THE COMING heavyweight prizefight between Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Max Schmeling has been given the usual amount of publicity and comment in the American press.

It is customary to give opinions and advance publicity on an event of this type which is billed as the feature attraction of the summer sports session.

However, there have been comments printed which do not seem appropriate for an athletic contest. Certain editorial writers have made an issue of the coming fracas, stressing the Aryan and Non-Aryan qualities of the contenders.

According to these writers, if Louf's should successfully defend his title against his Aryan opponent, Hitler's claim to Nordic superiority will be blasted, but if Schmeling should be declared the victor, then Hitler's assertions will have been justified.

All of which seems to be just so much propaganda. There is a place for everything in this world of ours — politics, religion, and even sports. However, to mix any of these is dangerous.

If Joe Louis defeats Max Schmeling, it will prove only one thing — that Joe Louis is a better fighter than Max Schmeling. Raeces, colors or creeds mean little in the athletic world where it is a case of the best man winning.

An attempt to prove the superiority of a race, using as a test tube the efforts of one man against another, is valueless and foolhardy.

When Joe Louis meets Max Schmeling in the boxing ring June 22, there will be no racial hatred shown for each man will be there to give his best for the highest honor in the pugilistic field.

Politics and sports have never mixed, and so long as they don't, sports will maintain its high place in the minds of the American fans.

Those pesky Indians are back in New York and harassed Manhattanites can't do much about it, for this time it will take lots of base hits instead of a few beads to get rid of them.

Two universities award degrees to Walt Disney. Such high honors come to him who created Dopey instead of being one.

Adolf Hitler Loses an Election— And His Temper

MR. ADOLF HITLER, Germany, is more than a little angry this week. It seems in that little neighbor of his, Czechoslovakia, on which Mr. Hitler is casting amorous eyes, the Saturday election did not go just as Mr. Hitler would have wished. It looks as if the Nazis lost.

Now, as you probably already know, Der Fuehrer is not accustomed to losing elections, and it disturbs him. Therefore his newspapers are running front-page editorials about the "Czech menace."

(Statistical Note — Czechoslovakia has a population of 7,000,000. Germany, about 55,000,000. It's all as simple as that — and as complex.

Worry! Worry! Or the World Is So Full Of a Number of Things

AS IF IT WEREN'T enough — what with Mayor Frank Hague, Nazism, communism, business "recessions" and threatening world wars, England's H. Spencer Jones has just come along with more news of coming disaster.

It seems that Scientist Jones, after spending a dozen years looking at the stars and consulting dusty volumes, has concluded the world, contrary to common notion, is moving slower these days. In fact, according to Jones, by 8,640,000,938, A. D., the world will have stopped altogether.

Just think what that will do to us, Mr. Jones isn't sure; but he thinks the outlook is none too good.

This is all the more alarming because, if the talk we've been hearing about is correct, that is just about the time the world in general will have solved its problems. In all it's a sad, sad outlook.

As some great thinker must one day have said, "If it isn't one thing, it's half a dozen."

Wherein Are Suggested Some Ideas for The Betterment of Education

A NEWS NOTE states that those old stay-at-homes, the Sing Sing prison inmates are this summer to be treated to a series of travel lectures, illustrated by slides and delivered by those Sing Sing residents who have had some traveling experience.

Without going too deeply into the psychological, sociological and educational advantages of such entertainment, we must say that the whole thing does seem somewhat inappropriate, too apt, perhaps, to set both thoughts and feet to straying.

And to show Sing Sing authorities that we do know what is appropriate we make the following suggestions for the educational betterment of the world in general:

1. Why not buy up a shipload of the famous best-seller, "How to Win Friends and Influence People" and send it to the Japanese who seem to have got off on the wrong foot in their well-meant and determined effort to win the everlasting animity of their neighbors, the Chinese.

2. Why not establish a lecture on "Honor And The Value of Promise Keeping" to be delivered at any and all political conventions.

3. And to President Roosevelt why not send a special copy of Franklin's classic "Poor Richard's Almanac" with certain passages on thrift heavily underlined.

4. For General Franco and his fellow generals we suggest a gift of "Ivanhoe," that tale of the middle ages which explains in much detail that the way to do battle is to kill, in a very polite way, your enemy, and leave his wife and kids alone.

We could go on and on like this but the thought has just struck us that the Sing Sing authorities may know pretty well what they're doing. Perhaps after all the prisoners, if given more information on the world outside, may be only too glad to stay where they are.

A pair of bluejays attacked a farmer's family. The world is getting so tough that almost any day now we expect to see the dove of peace flying overhead, carrying a full rack of bombs.

BATTLESHIPS AND HOMES

The postman rang twice for Mrs. Sadie Leslie Monssen of New York one day last week. Each time he left two official looking franked envelopes.

The first envelope contained the news that a destroyer was to be named for her hero husband, Lieutenant Monssen, who in 1904 saved the great battleship S.S. Missouri from flame and explosion. Finding a fire in the powder magazine, he locked himself into the blazing chamber and beat out the fire with his bare hands.

For this example of extraordinary courage he was awarded the congressional medal of honor. And now a destroyer of the line will bear his name. How proud was Mrs. Monssen.

The second letter also came from the government of the United States. It informed Mrs. Monssen that the Home Owners Loan corporation had begun foreclosure proceedings on the bungalow she and her husband had bought in 1919.

The law is the law. A debt is a debt. These precepts are fundamental. One wonders, though, how much comfort Mrs. Monssen will take in the million dollar monument to her dead husband's name as the eviction proceeds.

Tonight's the night for Wayne King, over the NBC-Red network at 6:30. Still popular is the waltz king, though there are those who disagree.

And for the swing fans, there's Johnny Goodman's program at 7:30 tonight over the Columbia broadcasting system.

Tuning In with Loren Hickerson

It's getting to be an old story, but to me it's as funny as it ever was. As I tuned in on "Chase and Sanborn" last Sunday, the first thing I heard was the drawing voice of Charlie McCarthy apologetically remarking, "Well, Bergen, it's this way."

In keeping with his inexhaustible supply of odd facts, Robert Ripley will have twin policemen on his 8 o'clock broadcast tonight. The two are unrelated, they're both named Samuel Jones, both are sergeants assigned to the traffic divisions in their respective cities, and both are 48 years old. Believe it or not, both of them have served 22 years on the force.

You won't hear Kay Kyser and his "Musical Class and Dance" program June 22. That's the night NBC will carry the Louis-Schmeling heavyweight fight, which will begin at 8 o'clock. Kyser isn't complaining, however. He'll attend the fight.

Early note — Rose Marie has been signed for a guest star appearance on Frank Black's "Magic Key" program over the NBC-Blue network June 26.

With the exception of a few engagements with symphony orchestras, Kate Smith hasn't sung in five years without the services of her regular conductor, Jack Miller.

ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Chances are Joy Hodges will go down in theatrical history as the kid in her first Broadway show who told George M. Cohan not to be nervous on an opening night!

"He's such a dear," says Joy, "and I thought he seemed sort of jittery. So I just patted him on the shoulder and said: 'Don't worry, Mr. Cohan, you'll be all right as soon as the curtain goes up.' What's wrong with that?"

Not a thing wrong, Joy, my sweet. In fact it quite probably is one of the very nicest gestures Mr. Broadway, himself, ever experienced. But, you see, Joy, it was about George M's thousandth time to face Gotham across footlights, and it was your first. That makes it a little unusual. But then, Joy, you're an unusual girl!

From Des Moines

She's a Des Moines, Ia., girl, daughter of just a plain, good, American family. "Dad works in the post office, and she has a brother who's doing all right. When she was a very little girl she sang little songs at church affairs. Later she became half of the "Bluebird Twins," and one of the home town's first baby radio stars.

When school days came, the kid was in dramatics, the glee club and all that sort of thing. During vacation she worked in the music department of the dime store, went on Chautauqua, did anything to put herself through school. Graduated, she sang her way into the movies via the dance band route. And had her heart broken when her option lapsed.

She was all packed up to head east and start all over again, when Bing Crosby asked her to sing at a benefit for a sick pal.

How Deficiency in Nutrition May Exist in Balanced Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Doctors are likely to make fun of vitamins. I heard a doctor say the other day that he felt certain that vitamins would never be used by the medical profession were it not for the persistency of the publicity given them by drug firms. This, however, is not quite fair. More and more, vitamins are being recognized as factors in obscure disease.

Two vitamins, of course, are absolutely necessary in infant feeding—one, Vitamin C in the form of orange and tomato juice, and two, Vitamin D, in the form of cod liver oil or irradiated milk. Vitamin C prevents scurvy and Vitamin D prevents rickets.

In middle and old age, it is becoming known that the body does not absorb vitamins as well as in young adult life. It must be remembered that although vitamins may be present in the diet, they may not be present in large enough quantities and digestive disturbances of some kind may prevent their absorption, so vitamin deficiency may be present even on a balanced diet.

Haden lists the following causes of vitamin deficiency: (1) Vomiting or diarrhea; (2) pregnancy and lactation; (3) impairment of absorption from the digestive tract on account of anemia, heart disease or the presence of certain substances, such as mineral oil in the intestines; (4) fever, alcoholism or excessive use of tobacco may impair the appetite enough to cause a vitamin deficiency.

An excess of starches and sugars in the diet may prevent utilization of Vitamin B. It has been pointed out within the last year or two that Vitamin B is likely to be insufficiently used by the body after the age of 50, and also that people of that age instinctively avoid foods which contain Vitamin B.

The manufactured crystalline forms of the product are better absorbed and utilized than the natural product in the food. Vitamin B occurs in yeast and cereals; these are the common foods which contain the largest amount.

Fifty New York, Chicago filmsters close this week. . . Hollywood just isn't putting out. . . You'll spend the summer seeking re-shows. . . Please don't forget "All Quiet on the Western Front," a burning hot indictment of what HAS happened, MAY again. . . Educators wonder why the SMART wigs choose other fields, quite frequently. They usually blame the money. . . Could it be because in our town—as in others — the pedagogics can't speak politics, religion, smoke cigarettes or know the joys of a quick before-dinner cocktail? . . . A Craig Baird went to college — Union Seminary—with Norman Thomas. . . He was a brain derber then — as yet had been un-egged by the Haguists. . . They were talking politics over an ale mug. . . He, a bespectacled, non-chinned, summer student nearing the declining years was silent while his friends discoursed G.O.P. . . He kept looking nervously about him, then sighed gently while he spoke in a hearty, pleased voice, "I," he said, "am a new dealer." (It sounded like one of those pent up dreams, now voiced for the first time.)

TO "BEWILDERED" — Of course I know who L. J. Dickerson is — but not WHY. . . CAMPUS CANDID — He recently got a letter from a friend in Germany, a Jew. . . The friend was in despondent health, sick of life, wanted to escape. . . The campsite — an English prof — sent a cable offering help. . . Just yesterday — he'd just phoned — came word that the friend had "died" — obviously because he willed it. . . The prof sails for Germany this summer, his wrath surpassing my own. . . His friend had a now orphaned son of 16. . . BLASPHEMY — I could manage to live quite comfortably for a year or so EVEN if the Lindberghs don't come back. . .

AROUND THE TOWN

Union Uniques — Clerks at the main desk chummily reading the post card messages while they sort mail. . . The queer blend in the center of the main lounge, combining the radio's usual Benny Goodman with the music room's regular Stokowski. . . Toasted pecan rolls on the sun-porch. . . Finger bowls in the swank Sunday noon table d'hotel. . . A janitor blushing gently while he scrubs the unclad stator. . . Ted Rehder unconcernedly planning for a hundred dinner guests — or a thousand. . . Trying to attract a waiter's attention — not succeeding. . . I like Lou Mueller's Chicago Tribune jibe. . . "whom the Gods destroy, they first choose the Tribune." . . SUSPICIOUS — Those who shout valiantly for an "American America. . ." Sleep — a luxury I can't afford. . . IT WON'T HAPPEN — Hitler vacationing in Palestine. . . Sam Goldwyn speaking on "grammar". . . After dinner speaker stopping too quickly. . . Goering selling his medals. . . Taxi drivers being polite — or private secretaries. . . MONETARILY SPEAKING — Shakespear earned about $150 yearly, the average Hollywood hack making only about twice that much a week. . . Gershwin got $50,000 for four bars of his "Rhapsody in Blue," only about five times as much as Beethoven made in his lifetime. . . Victor Hugo made about one-fourth as much out of "Les Miserables" as Dale Carnegie's magnum opum netted. . . Did you notice RCA's subtle change on the Sunday Magic Key, "In radio and TELEVISION it's RCA all the way." (Free advertising.) . . FAME — (In wider horizons when you mention Iowa City, the conversation usually turns to — Dr. Arthur Steindler, probably the most famous orthopedics expert. . . Grant Wood, of course. . . The dramatic arts department (E. C. Mable). . . WSUI. . . A. Craig Baird (among logicians. . . Norman Foerster. . . American Prefaces. . . Iowa City's birth rate (It's the world's highest). . . Dean Paul Packer (among educators). . . Or what would you? . . .

SUI BEGINS 39TH SUMMER SESSION

C. B. S. Expert Will Teach In Radio Courses

Columbia Director Will Instruct During Summer

Valuable training in radio courses will be offered summer students at the University of Iowa this summer by Earle McGill of New York, casting director of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

The courses which will be offered by McGill are in conjunction with Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger's radio courses. One of the best known of radio directors today, McGill has been in charge of the American School of the Air and Brave New World programs for CBS, in addition to several other programs. He will work with Professor Harshbarger, a staff member of the speech department, in courses in speech in radio broadcasting and the planning and construction of radio programs.

McGill was formerly stage manager for Jed Harris, Broadway theatrical producer, and will probably direct several programs over WSUI this summer. Professor Harshbarger was associated with him during his six months' study with CBS during the first semester of the year.

Radio-minded students will be able to take work emphasizing all fields of radio—production, writing, news, education and the technical side, with opportunities for actual experience over WSUI.

Work will also be offered in the electrical engineering department, the school of journalism and the child welfare research station, in addition to that in the speech department.

Offer Students Advance Work In Phys. Ed.

An extensive program of courses in both the men's and women's physical education departments will be presented this summer for students interested in doing advanced work in health and physical education.

The University of Iowa, one of the first schools in the country to offer graduate work in physical education, offers many graduate courses, leading toward specialization in a variety of fields.

Ruth Murray of Wayne university, Detroit, will be in charge of courses in the modern dance. Courses pointing to leadership in the recreational field will be taught by W. K. Streit, supervisor of health and physical education at Cincinnati.

Other members of the visiting faculty will be Louise Kent Hale, supervisor of physical education at Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and Brace Stafford, assistant supervisor of physical education at Gary, Ind.

Students Asked To Give Address For Directory

Students who did not know their permanent summer addresses at the time of their registration are requested to file their correct addresses with the summer session office, room W-9 East hall, immediately.

Correct names and addresses will greatly facilitate the speed and accuracy with which the summer session directory will be made available to students.

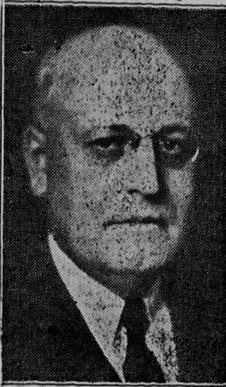

The directory will include names and addresses of students, faculty members and children enrolled in pre-schools, and will be ready by next week, it is hoped.

Martin Will Teach 4 Philosophy Courses

Four courses in philosophy will be taught this summer under the supervision of Prof. Herbert Martin, head of the department, and Prof. Herbert Feigl.

Professor Martin will teach the history of medieval and ancient philosophy, and contemporary philosophy. Professor Feigl will conduct two classes in formal and inductive philosophy.

Greetings

Most sincerely I extend a cordial welcome to all students attending the summer session on the campus of the University of Iowa.

Many of you will be on the campus for the first time while many others will be returning to continue your work. To each and every one the university offers its hospitality.

As you begin the summer's study, I wish for you the fullest measure of satisfaction from your university pursuits.

E. A. GILMORE, President
State University of Iowa

Professor Abel To Teach Law

College Offers Two 5 Weeks Periods In Summer

With Prof. Albert S. Abel of the college of law at Washington university as the only visiting lecturer for the summer session, the University of Iowa college of law will offer two summer periods of instruction, each slightly more than five weeks in length.

The first term will extend until July 20, and the second term will end Aug. 26. Because of the change to the eight- and three-weeks period plan by the university, only one convocation ceremony, that of Aug. 5, will be held.

Courses in the college of law are so arranged so that a student may take work during either or both terms. The session is equivalent in time and credit value to one-third of the regular academic year. A maximum of 10 credit hours—five for each term—may be completed. Beginning and advanced students in the study of law are admitted.

The work of the summer session is designed to supplement the work of the regular session, either with courses which are not given during that period or which the student has been unable to include in his program. With a smaller number of students in residence during the summer, it is possible to offer professional training to a more intensive nature and with more individual attention than is possible during the regular academic session.

Included on the summer session staff of the college of law are Prof. Sidney G. Winter of the college of commerce and Atty. Arthur A. Zimmerman of the Waterloo bar, who will lecture on examinations of abstracts of title.

Members of the regular faculty who will teach this summer are Prof. Walter P. Bordwell, Prof. Rollin M. Perkins, Prof. Odie K. Patton, Prof. Mason Ladd, Prof. Philip Mechem, Prof. Paul L. Sayre, Prof. Frank R. Strong and M. Willard Wirtz.

Use Annex For Research Alone

The zoology annex, a three-story supplementary building to the zoology building, is devoted exclusively to research. It contains a vivarium equipped with running water and air for experimental work, on aquatic forms, an operating room for small mammals, animal rooms, a complete X-ray outfit and individual research laboratories.

S. U. I. Faculty Members Will Lead Forums

Weekly Program Open To Public Every Wednesday

Weekly campus forums, led by members of the University of Iowa faculty, will afford an opportunity for public discussion of subjects of contemporary interest on the campus again this summer.

The campus forum program, as in past years, will be open to the public in Old Capitol each Wednesday afternoon at 3:10, and all who attend are invited to participate in the discussions.

Beginning tomorrow with the topic, "The Federal Government and Public Education," under the leadership of Prof. Elmer T. Peterson of the college of education, a series of six forums will be offered.

The series is arranged in conjunction with a course in forum technique which is offered in the political science department under Prof. Kirk H. Porter, who will act as chairman at the public forum series.

The Summer Program

The second forum discussion June 22 will be under the direction of Prof. Ethan Allen of the political science department, and will deal with "Pressure Groups and Congress." On June 29, Prof. Karl E. Leib of the commerce department will direct a discussion of "The National Labor Relations Board."

"The Threat of Dictatorship" is the topic for July 6, with Prof. George F. Robeson of the political science department as the discussion leader. Prof. Paul R. Olson of the commerce department will lead a discussion of the "Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program of the United States" July 13, and the series will close July 20 with a discussion of "Constitutional Obstacles to Social Progress," under the leadership of W. Willard Wirtz of the college of law.

At each of the sessions, the speaker is allowed 30 minutes for the presentation of his subject material. Then discussion from the floor is invited.

Professor Porter's course in forum technique is offered to all students except freshmen. The class meets one hour each week, although attendance at the public forum is required, as well as attendance to Saturday morning round tables held in connection with the university's summer lecture program.

Will Durant to Present Lecture Friday

Writer Opens Series of Talks

Summer Session Offers Visits by Several Outstanding Men

Will Durant, distinguished American writer and philosopher, will begin the annual university summer session lecture and round table discussion program at 8 p.m. Friday. He is the first of six prominent speakers who will participate in the program this summer.

May that progress which continues to make the University of Iowa better, day by day, also widen your horizons, bringing to you a fuller life.

4 Will Augment History Staff

Here's Work --And Play

University Provides Pleasure For Summer Students

In keeping with the old adage that all work and no play isn't desirable, a series of social events to lighten the drudgery of "just going to school" have been arranged for the summer session.

An informal reception for summer session students is scheduled for Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Iowa Union, when the deans of the university colleges who are active during the summer session will be hosts to all the summer students.

The all-university men's dinner, another of the outstanding social events of the summer session, is scheduled for the evening of June 23.

No date has as yet been selected for the all-university women's dinner. And although no band has been selected to play for the dance, the date of the annual summer session party has been picked—its June 25. Although no admission is charged, tickets from the summer session office in East hall must be presented for admittance. Which shows that there are two sides—even to going to summer school.

4 Will Augment History Staff

University Provides Pleasure For Summer Students

Four visiting instructors will augment the staff of the history department for the summer session, presenting to summer school students a wide variety of courses, ranging from the history of education in the United States to the ancient history of the Roman Empire.

Guest instructors will be Prof. Chester Kirby of the history department of Brown university; William B. Brown, director of the secondary curriculum section of the Los Angeles public schools; Prof. Philip D. Jordan of the history department at Miami university, and Prof. Zoe A. Thralls of the geography department of the school of education at the University of Pittsburgh.

Regular faculty members who will teach courses in the department during the summer will include Prof. C. W. de Kiewiet, Prof. W. Ross Livingston, Prof. Winfred T. Root and Prof. Harrison J. Thornton, all of the history department, Prof. Forest C. Ensign of the college of education, Prof. Erich Funke, head of the German department, Dr. Oscar E. Nybakken of the classical languages department, and Dr. William J. Petersen of the state historical department.

Chemistry Taught In Regular Sequence

Courses, designed to follow the regular sequence of the year's work, will be provided by the chemistry department this summer.

Varied research problems are offered under the supervision of the faculty.

Modern facilities are available in each of the eight divisions of the department—analytical chemistry, biochemistry, industrial chemistry and chemical engineering, inorganic chemistry, metallurgy, organic chemistry, physical chemistry, water and sewage chemistry.

"Here for one illuminating hour each week students may discover the joy of adventuring with Mr. Bose through the boundless realm of Oriental experiences in the fine art of living."

All summer session students and the general public are invited to attend the weekly lectures.

University Will Offer Short Course In Library Training Here This Summer

A short course in library training, offered only during alternate summer sessions, will be offered to summer students at the University of Iowa this year.

Courses for the session, which lasts only six weeks, ending July 23, are planned to meet the needs of librarians and library assistants in very small public libraries, particularly those now in positions or under appointment; of junior assistants in medium-sized libraries, teacher-librarians, assistants in small college libraries and student assistants in college and university libraries.

Early Registration Indicates Higher Enrollment Says Maruth

Session Divided Into Two Periods; First One To End August 5, Followed by Independent Graduate Study Unit

The University of Iowa's 39th summer session began yesterday at 7 a.m., and first classes marked the yearly beginning of work toward varying forms of credit and advanced degrees for some thousands of summer students.

Although late registration, which continues more or less throughout the summer, makes any estimate of the total number of students who will be enrolled impossible at this time, this year's registration is above last year's normal for the early registration period, Charles H. Maruth, assistant registrar, announced yesterday.

Under a two-fold program adopted by the university last year, classes which began yesterday will continue until Aug. 5.

Following the eight-week session, graduate students, recommended by their major department heads, will work for an additional three hours of credit during a three-week independent study unit. A full schedule for the first session offers eight hours of credit.

The highlight of the summer session will be the summer convocation ceremony Aug. 5, when the university will grant baccalaureate and advanced degrees. A total of 406 degrees was conferred at last summer's convocation, the largest summer graduation ceremony in the university's history.

Students are enrolled in the colleges of liberal arts, education and commerce, the graduate college, the Iowa Lakeside laboratory, and the professional colleges of law, medicine and engineering.

Last summer's net attendance at the summer session was a total of 4,151 students, which included 2,470 graduate students and 1,681 undergraduates. Forty-five states and seven foreign countries were represented. Officials express the possibility of a summer attendance this year which will surpass that of last summer.

Many educational advantages will be offered to students this summer. Various conferences will bring to the campus the latest developments in diverse educational fields. Lectures and round tables will bring outstanding speakers to the university, and will present to students interesting highlights of contemporary affairs.

Recreational activities, frequent music concerts and a varied social program will add color to the summer session.

Since the first summer session in 1900, a regular growth in numbers of students has been evident. With that growth has been an increase in courses, until almost 700 individual courses offered this summer will provide for students the material for the summer's work.

Bose Will Give Lecture Series

Will Present First Talk On Orient This Afternoon

Opening with his first lecture at 3:10 this afternoon in the House chamber of Old Capitol, Sudhindra Bose, a lecturer on Oriental civilization and politics at the University of Iowa, will present a series of eight weekly campus lectures on "Oriental Contributions to Civilization."

This afternoon's lecture is on the topic, "An Oriental Looks at the World." The lectures will be presented each Tuesday at 3:10 p.m. in the House chamber of Old Capitol.

The schedule of campus lectures continues June 21 with Mr. Bose speaking on "When East Meets West." The topic of the June 28 lecture is "Glimpses of Chinese Language and Literature, and the July 5 lecture is on the topic, "The Message of Hindu Literature."

"Art and Architecture of the Orient" will be the topic of an illustrated lecture July 12. On July 19, Mr. Bose will speak on "The Challenge of Turkey," and the series will be concluded July 26 with the subject, "Power Politics and World Peace."

Prefacing the announcement of the 1938 campus lectures is this notation: "Mr. Bose has long been a popular and inspiring platform artist. He brings to his subject the spiritual enthusiasm of the eternal student and the intellectual insight of the finely trained scholar."

All summer session students and the general public are invited to attend the weekly lectures.

Let 'Er Roll

Movie Makers' Chance Given at S. U. I.

For those who seek the opportunity for practical experience in making motion pictures, the visual education department has solved the problem.

At the opening demonstration of the visual education exhibit, which will be on display in room C-5 in East hall at 4 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday from June 28 to July 23, students may enroll in an organization which will prepare a two-reel film of University of Iowa campus life during the summer session.

Consisting of interesting features of department activity and features all over the campus, the film will be photographed in natural color. Students themselves will direct the plans for the picture, and will have charge of photography, cutting and editing the reels.

Registration in the group will take place at 4 p.m. June 28, under the direction of Lee Cochran, supervisor of the visual education department.

The finished film will be designed to present the high spots of the 1938 summer session, and will offer to interested students an opportunity for practical experience in an interesting and educational vocation or hobby.

Dr. Harper to Become New Fine Arts, Iowa Union Head

President of Simpson To Take Iowa Post July 1

Dr. Earl E. Harper, president of Simpson college, will become director of the school of fine arts and director of Iowa Union July 1, to succeed Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, who announced his resignation in February to become provost at the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Harper has been president of Simpson college since 1936. For nine years before he went to Simpson, he was president of Evansville college in Indiana. He organized and directed the Evansville philharmonic symphony orchestra and choral society during his stay there.

Dr. Harper created a music department in the school, closely allied with the college of liberal arts, and developed a dramatic arts department. The new director has also been active in reorganization work at Simpson. One of the editors of the Methodist hymnal and chairman of the Methodist commission on music, the new fine arts director is widely known in the realm of church music.

He was born in 1895 in north-west Missouri, graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan university in 1918, and three years later received a theology degree from Boston university. He has taken graduate work in music theory at Harvard university and study in philosophy and ethics at Boston university, from which he holds an LL.D. degree.

Give Medical Students Extra Summer Work

Designed for students who wish to review the subjects or obtain preliminary work for the regular medical course, the college of medicine will offer courses in anatomy, physiology, hygiene and preventive medicine during the summer session.

A surgical and applied anatomy course for practitioners will be offered in the anatomy group. Classes in genetics and in the anatomy of the ear and vocal organs will be available.

A general course in human physiology for liberal arts students is one of three physiology courses planned for this summer session.

In the hygiene and preventive medicine group, seven courses will be offered.

Two Will Assist Hydraulic Staff

Two visiting instructors will assist the regular staff in courses offered in hydraulic engineering this summer.

Samuel Shulits, assistant professor of hydraulics at the Colorado School of Mines, and Prof. J. F. Mangold of the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago, will conduct courses.

Among the courses in mechanics and hydraulics will be mechanics of engineering materials, hydrology, water power engineering, hydraulic turbines, and transportation of silt and detritus. Two courses will also be offered in civil engineering.

Two Degrees In Fine Arts To Be Offered

Two new, semi-professional degrees, bachelor of fine arts and master of fine arts, will be offered to candidates at the Commencement exercises of the University of Iowa next June.

First candidates for the new degrees will enroll in their courses in September, and will study graphic and plastic arts, music or dramatic art. The programs will be offered in the school of fine arts, under the direction of the new department head, Prof. Earl E. Harper, who will join the faculty July 1.

The bachelor of fine arts degree, known as the B.F.A., will offer greater opportunity for concentration in the freshman and sophomore years than is possible in a B.A. course.

The course also provides a chance for a larger proportion of the work in the major field to be distributed throughout all four years. The course is intended only for talented students with a serious interest in art, dramatics or music.

The master of fine arts course will require a high order of accomplishment and aptitude in one of the three fields. The course is primarily for those who are preparing themselves for such professional fields as painting, commercial art, play writing, mural decoration, sculpture, acting, producing, stage designing, music performance, instrumentation and composition.

Although two years will ordinarily be required to complete the M.F.A. course, exceptional students may earn the degree at the end of one year.

Children Find Lots to Do at Pre-Schools

90 Youngsters Spend Hours in Healthy Play at 4 University Schools

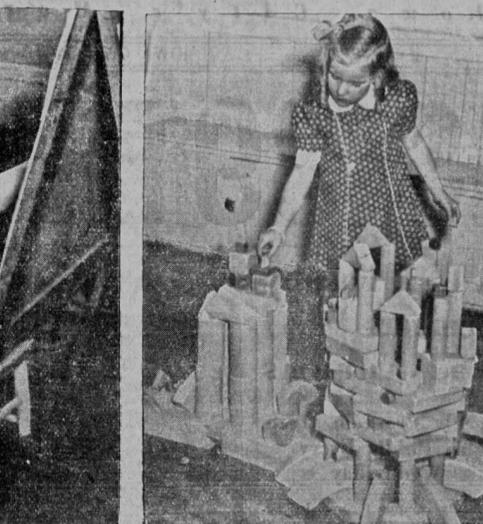

That little artist on the left is drawing something intensely interesting, we know. The little miss on the right is building towers, and they're just as interesting. Drawing and building—those are the keywords of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station, which is open during the summer months for children of residents or visitors between the ages of two and five. The child at pre-school receives basic training through a proper coordination and supervision of his own child activities.

Lots of play, playthings and playmates are the attraction offered by the four university pre-schools to children living in Iowa City during the summer.

For mothers who work or children who have no playmates in their neighborhood, or just for a scientific and healthy training of a child, the schools are ideal.

Approximately 90 youngsters, ranging from two to five years of age, spend their waking hours in healthy play at the school. Some of them even eat their noon meals there, a meal planned particularly for children's needs. The advice of a specialist in child nutrition is also provided for parents.

The children are taught to take responsibility in caring for their personal needs, to cooperate with others of the same age and are generally directed toward emotional stability. A head teacher and two assistants in each laboratory work with the children during the entire period of their attendance.

Welfare Research station—drawing upon character-making facilities which can be supplied by the station, and building upon a wealth of experience in the field of child education and betterment. The pre-schools, sponsored by the child welfare station, will be open during the summer months for children of residents or visitors between the ages of two and five. The child at pre-school receives basic training through a proper coordination and supervision of his own child activities.

In addition, psychologists and educational, nutritional, dental and medical specialists see the children from varying periods of time.

The children's activities are as varied as those of any university student, with periods devoted each day to music, art, play, rest and story-telling. Their day may even include a trip to the farm or the airport.

They are grouped according to age in the four schools, groupings centered around the ages of two, three, four and five years. The work in each group is so coordinated that a child may progress easily from one to the next. From the fourth group, under the joint supervision of the University elementary school and the station, the child may go into the first grade of the elementary school.

As well as being advantageous to the children, the pre-schools offer excellent facilities for experimental work in child study.

In order to accommodate the large number of pre-school children from out of town who come to Iowa City for the summer, and to meet the research needs of the station, the pre-school laboratories are open during the eight weeks of the summer session.

The combination of home economics with a variety of related fields, child welfare, education, fashion illustration, interior design, stage costuming, psychology of art, chemistry, economics and sociology, will be included in the summer session program.

Courses in recent developments in textiles and clothing, current problems in consumer education, housing and home furnishings, institutional nutrition, crafts in the recreational program and experimental problems in foods are among the class offered.

Prof. Frances Zuill, head of the home economics department, Prof. Lula Smith, Prof. Merle Ford, Prof. Edna Hill and Helen Waite, in addition to members of allied department faculties, will be included in the summer staff.

Books? Use The Library

University Has A Half Million For Student Use

Nearly one-half million books will be at the disposal of summer session students attending the University of Iowa, for study, reference and reading.

The general library in Macbride hall contains the largest collection of books—books on economics, English, history, speech, home economics, sociology, political science and general subjects.

The reserve library at the foot of Old Capital hill accommodates 360 readers. The periodical reading room accommodates 100 persons and a document reading room has space for 36 readers.

One of the favorite spots is the "browsing" library in the Iowa Union. Here one can smoke and read in quiet comfort.

The Talbot library in the chemistry building offers 3,000 volumes, pertaining to natural history, exploration and travel, another well known collection is the Ranney library in Schaeffer Hall which contains 4,500 volumes.

Departmental libraries open during the summer are the botany-chemistry, engineering, medical, commerce, geology, education - philosophy - psychology, child welfare, mathematics and law.

Homer R. Dill Will Lecture On Museum Work

Prof. Homer R. Dill, director of the university museum, will give a series of five lectures on subjects of general interest in the fields of natural history and museum work during the first five weeks of the summer session.

The lectures will be illustrated with slides and motion pictures and will be given in the chemistry auditorium June 11, 19, 25, and July 2 and 9.

Twenty-four Resident, Visiting Instructors Present Courses In Theory, Practice of Music

Graduates of European Conservatories To Teach Here

Headed by an instructional staff of 24 resident and visiting instructors, complete courses in the theory and practice of music are planned by the music department for the summer session.

Outstanding among the visiting instructors on the campus this summer will be Hans Koelbel, a graduate of the Leipzig Conservatory of Music in Germany, who will offer instruction in violin, cello, and Modeste Alloo, a graduate of the Brussels Royal Conservatory of Music and the Verviers Conservatory in Belgium, who will offer instruction in brass instruments, and in theory, composition and research.

Professor Koelbel was solo cellist of the Breslau Opera orchestra from 1917 to 1919, and solo cellist of Leipzig Philharmonic orchestra from 1919 to 1922. He has been a member of the Muenzer trio since 1922. He was solo cellist in the Chicago theater orchestra from 1923 to 1930, and has been solo cellist of the Chicago Civic opera orchestra since 1932.

Modeste Alloo
Professor Alloo was a teacher of brass instruments at the Bruges conservatory in Belgium prior to 1910. He played first trombone in the Boston symphony orchestra from 1910 to 1918. He was director of military music at Camp Devans during the World war.

He was associate conductor of the Cincinnati symphony orchestra from 1918 to 1922. He organized and conducted the Cincinnati municipal band and gave instruction in brass instruments at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music during that time. He was professor of music at the University of California in Berkeley from 1923 to 1934, and has been active as a guest conductor in Europe and America since 1934.

Others

Other guest instructors on the music department staff this summer will be Alan W. Richardson of Cedar Rapids, who will assist Professor Koelbel in cello; Lotene Liston of Scotts Bluff, Kan., who will offer instruction in violin; H. Charles Stump of Morgantown, W. Va., and T. C. Collins of the Davenport public schools, who will teach woodwinds; Paul C. Dawson, head of the instrumental music department at Thomas Jefferson high school in Council Bluffs, who will act as instructor of brass instruments and will conduct the all-state band.

Ardith Larson of the Mediapolis public schools and Margaret Brandt of Hastings, Neb., who will offer instruction in voice; Harold Cerny of Kearney, Neb., who will act as instructor in violin; Ansel Martin and Lloyd Swartley, instructors in vocal and instrumental music respectively in Iowa City high school, Marianne Wittich of Iowa City, violin, and Gilbert McEwen, instructor in brass.

Professor Clapp

Heading the list of resident instructors for the summer session are Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, who will offer instruction in piano and in theory and composition; Prof. Hans Muenzer, who will teach violin; Prof. Charles B. Righter, scheduled to conduct the all-state orchestra and teach courses in theory and composition, and Prof. Herald I. Stark, who will direct the all-state vocal groups, teach theory, composition, and voice.

Other instructors include Prof. Anne Pierce, head of the music department of the university experimental school; Prof. Esther Swisher, Prof. Addison Alspach and Howard Snyder of the piano and theoretical departments; Thomas Muir, an associate in voice, and Himie Voxman, instructor in woodwinds.

MODESTE ALLOO

A Study in Research

Typical of summer work in the laboratories of the chemistry building is this study of scientific interest in a chemical experiment. Each summer, graduate students and undergraduates unfold new fields of thought and recover old ones in their work with the earth's elements. A series of chemistry lectures will be a part of the summer activities of that department.

Six Courses Give Opportunities to Learn Basic, Advanced Methods of Museums

Six courses in museum methods, designed to offer preliminary instruction and advanced work for qualified students, are offered to summer session students.

A basic course in museum technique heads the list of courses, under the leadership of Prof. Homer Dill, the museum director, and Walter C. Thietje, assistant director.

Interesting courses in modeling and casting and in preparing specimens and mounting them are among those offered.

A series of lectures, illustrated with colored slides, is planned for the summer session by Professor Dill, recounting the experiences of the various expeditions which have collected the material for the museum. These lectures supplement the regular course work and are designed to acquaint the student with the procedure and method used in the field.

The courses offered during the summer session give to those who are seriously contemplating museum work an opportunity to give their undivided attention to their vocation. Courses are useful, however, in rounding out the curricula of other students.

Elementary and advanced courses in modeling and casting offer an opportunity to students to develop their perception of the third dimension, to learn to make casts of their work.

New and improved methods of making flexible molds are taught. This particular type of work is of interest to teachers who deal with playground activities and recreational centers.

Laboratory work is also offered to fit the needs of science teachers and others who wish training in the preparation of birds, mammals and reptiles without their taking up the regular museum technique.

New methods in the restoration of fossils and preservation of archaeological material have been developed in the laboratory. Perfect reproductions of the most delicate specimens can be made under the system used. The work of this department is valuable in field and laboratory work. An increasing demand for trained workers in the museum field adds to the desirability of courses offered in museum methods. The summer session courses will provide individual instruction, a helpful supplement to the group work.

He has been president of the American Prison Congress and was commissioner to the International Prison Congresses in London in 1925, in Prague in 1930, and in Berlin in 1935. He has written widely on penology.

He has had a vital interest in many fields of social welfare and is in constant demand as a speaker, not only as a penologist, but as one who stands for the constructive and preventive approach to all social problems.

He has taught widely, and has been director of social work in

New York and Jersey City. Under his direction, the Pennsylvania department of public instruction inaugurated a state-wide program of curriculum revision.

Albert Christ-Janer

Professor Christ-Janer is the head of the fine arts department of Stephens college in Columbia, Mo. He has acted as visiting professor of painting at Northwestern university and this year has been visiting lecturer for the Chicago Board of Education.

Prof. Regina Flannery is an instructor in anthropology at the Catholic university of America in Washington, D. C. She has been widely affiliated in field research among the Mescalero Apache Indians of New Mexico and the Senecas of New York, and among the Cree and Montagnais tribes of northern Canada. "Guiding Growing Children" is the theme of the first day's activity. The morning's general session will open at 10 a. m. in the Senate chamber of Old Capitol with an address of welcome by President Eugene A. Gilmore. Mrs. May Pardee Youtz assistant professor of parent education at the University of Iowa, will preside.

The opening lecture, "Your Town and Your Child," is scheduled for 10:15 a. m., with Sanford Bates as the speaker. A second lecture by Prof. Lois Barclay Murphy is scheduled for 11 a. m.

Two round tables have been scheduled from 2:30 to 4 p. m., one in the Senate chamber, with "Behavior Problems of the Normal Child" as the subject for discussion, and the other in the House chamber on the topic, "What Children Need in the Community." Three discussion leaders will be in charge of each group.

The conference scene will shift to the auditorium in the chemistry building for the evening session. A lecture on "Why Children Go Wrong," which will be broadcast by WSUI, will be given by Mr. Bates.

WSUI Adds New Programs to Regular List for Summer

Radio to Carry Broadcasts of Two Classes

All Programs to Reflect Life on Campus in Summer Term

A series of new programs will be carried by radio station WSUI throughout the summer session, presenting to Iowa City and much of Iowa interesting highlights of campus life. Regularly scheduled broadcasts will continue, it is announced by Pearl Bennett Broxam, program director.

Heading the list of summer session broadcasts will be two radio programs which will originate in the University of Iowa classrooms.

Prof. William Coder, visiting lecturer from the College of Pacific in Stockton, Cal., will present his course in the development of the American theater over the air every day except Saturday and Sunday at 11 a.m.

Professor Coder, a member of the staff of the dramatic arts department this summer, will discuss ways in which playhouses, actors and audiences have influenced the work of American dramatists and will deal with the development of various types of American drama.

The second classroom broadcast will originate in the north music hall, where Prof. Philip G. Clapp, the head of the music department, will present his daily course in music appreciation at 2:10 p.m.

The program will deal with instrumental forms. Professor Clapp will describe representative compositions and the form of such selections. Emphasis will be placed upon chamber music, and demonstrations by staff members will be included.

Interviews

Two weekly interview broadcasts are scheduled for the summer months. The first, "Views and Interviews," will be presented at 5:30 p.m. each Wednesday, and will feature the ideas and personalities of students from a distance who are present on the campus.

The second interview broadcast, "The Visiting Professor," will be sponsored by the college of education and will highlight the summer's visiting personalities—the guest instructors on the campus.

Two weekly broadcasts have been arranged for the all-state music and speech groups, on the campus this year for their 10th yearly session. On Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m., members of the speech groups will broadcast, and music groups will take the air at 8 p.m. each Friday.

Music group concerts will be presented each Wednesday at 8 p.m., after July 1.

Merle Miller to Appear

Merle Miller, city editor of The Daily Iowan, will conduct two summer broadcasts. The first, "Browsing Abroad," will be aired at 7:45 p.m. each Tuesday. The second, "Headline News," will be presented at 5:30 p.m. each Friday.

"Browsing Abroad" will present Miller's observations gleaned from a three-month's stay in England and the continent—places seen, conversations heard, people met and plays and concerts attended. "Headline News" will offer a weekly look at the important happenings in the world of politics, foreign affairs, art, literature and drama. The broadcast will be interpretative of the leading events, with emphasis upon their significance.

Speech Department

Two weekly programs will be presented by the speech department, in conjunction with Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger's classes in radio. The first is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday; the second for the same hour on Thursday. Both are half-hour broadcasts.

A half-hour children's hour broadcast will be carried daily except Saturday and Sunday, under the direction of James Nelson. Lucille Ruby will conduct the half-hour book shelf broadcast each day at 10:30 a.m.

"The Daily Iowan of the Air" broadcasts will remain the same throughout the summer season—8:30 a.m., 5:30 p.m., and 8:45 p.m.

Bill Seiler will present a weekly "Sportstime" program each Thursday afternoon at 5:30, with a new approach to the highlights of the week's events in the sporting world.

A weekly "Poetic Interlude" broadcast is scheduled for 7:45 p.m. each Wednesday. Dr. Avery Lambert will present his own poetic compositions on the first and third Wednesday broadcasts while George Schulz-Behrend will present a program of German poetry on the alternating nights.

The broadcasts of the university station are designed to depict accurately campus life at the University of Iowa, and the summer schedule broadcasts will supplement the regular continuing broadcasts with that as the underlying motive.

Rest, Read in Iowa Union Music Room

Library of Finest Music Proves Popular With S. U. I. Students

There's a spot on the campus of the University of Iowa where students may go to rest and read, and simultaneously listen to the finest music that can be heard.

That spot is the Iowa Union music room, where daily may be heard the most famous music of the semi-classical and classical world. A collection of the world's best music, prepared by the Carnegie corporation, together with a two-unit recording machine, books and musical scores, were installed in February in offices in Iowa Union previously occupied by Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, now provost of the University of Pittsburgh.

The University of Iowa is the first to install such a library of fine music within its halls. The Iowa library contains 955 recordings, 150 scores, 80 titles and other scores, record albums, and album shelves. The listener may follow the music as it is played, with the musical score before him, and in this way study the interpretation of the masters.

Eric T. Clarke and other experts collected the music for the Iowa library, which includes seven complete operas, selections from 68 other operas, 150 symphonies and two oratorios.

The operas for which there are complete recordings are "Orpheus" by Gluck, "Faust" by Gounod, "Nozze di Figaro" by Mozart, "Dido and Aeneas" by Purcell, "Iolanthe" by Sullivan, announced in January. Since 1929, the new department head has been director of the child welfare research station, and he has held his position as dean of the graduate college since 1936.

When Professor Stoddard received his appointment as director of the child welfare research station, he became one of the youngest department heads in the university's history. He is 40 years old.

Dean Stoddard Will Take New Position July 1

Dean George D. Stoddard of the graduate college will replace Prof. Lee E. Travis as head of the psychology department July 1. Professor Travis' resignation was

Bach's Play to Open Experimental Series

Two Comedies Announced For Regular Group

Iowan Writes 'Calvario,' Story of Mexican 'Self-Crucifiers'

"Calvario," a new play by Marcus Bach of the dramatic arts department, will open the experimental series for University theater's summer season, Prof. E. C. Mabie, director, has announced. The production date has not been definitely scheduled.

Besides the experimental series, four other plays will be produced in the regular community series, according to present plans. Two already are announced are "Stage Door," a modern comedy by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, and "The Contrast," the first American comedy by Royall Tyler.

Prof. William D. Coder of the College of the Pacific, Stockton, Cal., will direct "The Contrast," "Stage Door" will be directed by Dr. Harry D. Albright of Cornell University, Ithaca. Both men are visiting instructors in the speech and dramatic arts department.

Mr. Bach's play uses New Mexico for its setting and deals with the Penitentes, a "self-crucifying" tribe of Mexicans, who believe in salvation through suffering.

"Calvario" will be given a realistic staging on the stage of University theater, with the colorful and spectacular procession of the Penitentes a highlight of the presentation. Professor Mabie is the director, and the set is designed by Lemuel Ayers, G of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Mr. Bach has written the play after a first-hand observation of the strange customs of the "self-crucifiers" who live in the Rio Grande region in southwest New Mexico.

The Penitentes are the only group of people in America who practice whipping as a religious rite. Their worship is climaxed on Easter Sunday, when they select one person to be crucified.

"Calvario" presents a sympathetic and authentic treatment of the Mexicans, emphasizing the American principle of religious toleration.

The story tells of the conflict between the traditional ideas of the Penitentes as opposed to those of the modern world. The central figure is Benita Delgado, a young Mexican girl who leaves her native home to attend college, and returns to find her lover, Carlos Miran, being offered for crucifixion as El Christo on Easter Sunday. A struggle between old and new ideas follows.

The leading roles of Benita and Carlos will be taken by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Winbigler, U of Iowa City, and Walter Fleischmann, G of Talmage, Neb., respectively. In writing the play Mr. Bach made three trips to New Mexico, on Christmas and Easter of last year, and Easter a year ago. He also did research in the Santa Fe libraries.

Among his other works are "Within These Walls," which was first produced here and at Chicago in 1936, and the religious spectacle, "Light of Ages," produced at the Chicago centennial celebration last year. Mr. Bach also wrote "Happy Merger" which won the $500 prize in the annual Charles Sergei playwriting contest last year.

Iowa Union Becomes Social Hub Of Session

On the east bank of the Iowa river there's a cool pleasant building that becomes the hub of social activity during the summer session—Iowa Union.

In the lounge will be held seven summer summer concerts, the men's and women's all-university dinners and the summer session party. It is there that students meet to study or to chat.

The "browsing" library is a pleasant place to read, and the music room is a quiet spot where the best music may be heard each day.

In the basement is the cafeteria, the river room with its easy chairs, and the ping pong room for recreation. The sun porch is where you'll meet your friends for a coke.

Research Work Begins Again At Iowa Lakeside Laboratory

Zoology, Botany Groups Will Work Until August 19

Research, the keynote of all scientists, began again yesterday at the Iowa Lakeside laboratory adjacent to Miller's bay on the west shore of West Okoboji lake.

With a record enrollment expected at this year's session, which will end August 19, members of the University of Iowa zoology and botany departments left last week to make last-minute preparations for this summer's work.

More applications for registration at the lakeside research station were made this year than could be accommodated. The laboratory has been a state research station and educational institution since May, 1936, when it was decided in trust to the state by the Iowa Lakeside Laboratory association.

The laboratory is located in the midst of the richest opportunities for research among varied representatives of the plant and animal kingdom. There is a variety of plant life, representative forms of the five main vertebrate classes, small mammals, several species of amphibia and reptiles, and many species of fish. Research carries the scientists among the birds of the area, and an abundance of land and water life provides a wealth of material for the ten-weeks session.

Conditions for the research of the laboratory are ideal. Recently constructed buildings, including a library, four laboratories and four cottages, all of natural stone, have greatly aided conditions of study and living. More equipment will be available this year than in previous years, it is hoped.

Prof. H. H. Bodine, head of the zoology department of the University of Iowa, is director of the Iowa Lakeside laboratories. Professor Bodine will not be present at this year's session, however. Prof. R. L. King of the zoology department is in charge of the course in field biology, and Prof. William A. Anderson of the botany department is in charge of the botany section.

Other members of the staff include Prof. L. O. Nolf and Prof. T. L. Jahn, both of the zoology department, Prof. Charles H. Carter of Parsons college, Prof. George Huff of Drake university, Prof. Benjamin Peterson of Coe college and Dr. Aubrey Taylor of the University of Illinois.

The course at the laboratory is divided into two terms. The first began yesterday and will end July 15. The second will begin July 18 and end Aug. 19. Dormitories opened June 4.

done along various lines, including conservation under the supervision of the staff. Courses in field biology and protozoology are also offered.

The laboratory was established in 1909 to provide a place where the plant and animal life of the northern Iowa lake and prairie regions could be studied and conserved. It has always been used as a field biological station by students of the University of Iowa and other institutions.

The laboratory is now managed by a board of managers appointed by the state conservation commission, the state board of education, the Iowa Lakeside laboratory association, the University of Iowa and the United States Biological Survey.
