Yellow River Inundates Honan as Dikes Break

Japan's Troops Caught in Path Of Wild River

Flood Disaster May Be Greatest in China's History

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
SHANGHAI, June 15 (Wednesday) (AP) — The Yellow river swirled over hundreds of square miles of Honan province today, threatening one of the greatest flood disasters in China's history. Japanese military engineers reported 150,000 Chinese civilians already had been drowned where the river broke through a 50-mile stretch of weakened dikes on its south bank.

Fate of a large number of Japanese troops scattered through the area was not known. It was believed, however, that thousands might be trapped and drowned throughout the area.

Japanese military officials said their engineers were directing thousands of peasants in attempts to check the rushing river, but that it was virtually beyond control. Major breaks in the dikes were between Kingshui, just north of the Chengchow junction of the Lunghai and Peiping-Hankow railways, and Kaifeng, 50 miles to the east.

Foreign relief workers believed that ravages of floods and war in Honan, Anhwei and Kiangsu provinces would bring a relief problem almost as great as that created by the World war.

An estimated 30,000,000 refugees were fleeing to the west to escape invading Japanese armies. Millions more were imperiled by yellow waters roaring through the heart of China and rapidly spreading out.

Jersey Mayor Would Deport All Objectors

NEWARK, N. J., June 14 (AP) — Deportation of alien objectors to the American form of government, and a "camp in Alaska" to house native-born dissenters to "keep them away from the American people" were advocated in federal court today by Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City.

"The Reds have no right to express their views if their intention is the overthrow or destruction of the government," said the vice-chairman of the national democratic committee.

Police Make Double Play on Suspect, Nabbing His Pal

Out of the frying pan into the fire went Avрил House and Harry Murphy, both of West Union, here yesterday.

Suspected of drunken driving, House, driver of the car, was stopped on U. S. highway 218 near the local airport.

But he wasn't drunk; and everything looked all right until local police discovered House was driving without a license.

So to the police station with their pal went Murphy and Frank Sterring, third occupant of the car, also of West Union.

Police then discovered Murphy was wanted at West Union for forgery.

Now House is serving three days in jail for operating a motor vehicle without a license, and Murphy is in jail waiting to be returned to West Union, to answer the forgery charges.

Sterring, free, said he was going back to West Union.

Lewis' Labor Bill Bottled Up in Committee

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — A coalition of republicans and administration democrats dealt John L. Lewis, CIO chairman, a crushing defeat today by bottling up in a committee a labor bill he came to the capital to sponsor personally.

Less than 24 hours after Lewis used Speaker Bankhead's office as a conference room in which to apply pressure to a group of house members, the house rules committee virtually eliminated any chance that the measure would be considered before adjournment.

The committee refused to approve procedure which would have led to house consideration — and possibly a vote — before the final gavel falls. The vote was not announced but one member said privately "it was worse than overwhelming."

The legislation, which Lewis said he desired "with a vengeance," would have forced corporations whose contracts with the government exceed $2,000 to conform to stipulated wage-hour standards and accept decisions of the national labor relations board affecting them.

Feder Resigns For Illini Post

Psychologist to Become Assistant Director Of Personnel

Dr. Daniel D. Feder yesterday announced his resignation as an associate in psychology and personnel to accept a position as assistant director of the newly established personnel bureau and assistant professor of psychology at the University of Illinois. The resignation becomes effective July 1.

In the personnel bureau, a division of the college of liberal arts and sciences, Dr. Feder will direct personnel research and the university's testing program. He will also teach personnel psychology.

Dr. Feder has been in charge of the freshman qualifying and placement examinations at the University of Iowa. He has also been the local representative of the Psychological corporation.

While working toward his doctorate, which he received from Iowa in 1934, he was a research assistant in personnel. He was later named a research associate and in 1935 was appointed an associate in psychology and personnel.

He received a B.A. degree from the University of Denver and an M.A. degree from the University of Colorado, both in 1931.

Dr. Feder is the author of numerous papers in technical research, the latest of which appeared in the June 11 issue of School and Society. Written in collaboration with Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, it was entitled "Some Effects of Curriculum Adjustment at the College Level for Students Low in Scholastic Aptitude."

He is the member of several national organizations including Sigma Xi, Phi Delta Kappa, the American Educational Research Association, National Education Association, Midwestern Psychological Association, Iowa Academy of Science, American Psychological Association and the American College Personnel Association.

Lindberghs Get New Threats At Breton Home

ST. BRIEUC, France, June 14 (AP) — French gendarmes today patrolled the northern tip of the Breton coast guarding Charles A. Lindbergh's island refuge after the famous flier received what police described as new menacing letters from America.

Lindbergh, his wife and two small sons are guests at the St. Gilda's island home of Dr. Alexis Carrel, the American scientist with whom Lindbergh has collaborated in scientific research.

Since they came a week ago police said Lindbergh had received letters from persons believing Bruno Richard Hauptmann innocent of the kidnap-killing of Lindbergh's first son March 1, 1932.

The writers, holding Lindbergh partly responsible for Hauptmann's execution April 3, 1936, were said to have made no direct threats, but the letters had an injurious tone.

Central Army Strives to Block Insurgent Advance to Valencia

Loyalists Deny Fall Of Castellon de la Plana To Rebels

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), June 14 (AP) — The Spanish government's harassed central army, striving to block the advance of victorious insurgent troops toward Valencia, took a new stand today on the Mijares river five miles south of Castellon de la Plana.

Gen. Jose Miaja, civil and military commander of all government territory except Catalonia, deployed most of his forces which retreated from Castellon de la Plana before that strategic city fell to insurgents last night in positions on the Mijares' south bank to stop insurgents from crossing the stream.

(A government communique issued in Madrid tonight denied Castellon de la Plana had fallen.) Late insurgent advances tonight reported insurgents had forced a crossing of the Mijares, one of two natural barriers in the path of their advance down the broad coastal plain toward Valencia.

Insurgent air scouts reported, however, that the roads north from Valencia and Sagunto, between Castellon and Valencia, were alive with men moving up to the front for a renewed government offense.

White House Gets Congress' Report on Bill

Virtually Assures Life Jobs to Incumbent Postmasters

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — Congress virtually voted lifetime jobs to a majority of incumbent first, second and third class postmasters today.

It did so by sending a conference report on a civil service bill to the White House.

Under the terms of the measure, present postmasters would complete their four-year terms. They then would be eligible for reappointment for life by taking a non-competitive civil service examination.

Thus most of the incumbents, trained by service in their jobs, would be expected to satisfy civil service requirements and keep the posts for life.

Some republican senators said this meant perpetuation of democratic control of a majority of the postmasterships. Supporters of the measure replied that it would extend civil service regulations to posts which previously have been considered political plums.

Congress Speeds Bills As Adjournment Nears

Faculty Appointments Announced

Two new appointments to the University of Iowa faculty, to be effective July 1, were announced yesterday. Prof. Hans Koebel, above, noted cellist, will be an associate professor of music. Dr. John Brauer, right, will be professor and head of preventive dentistry.

Appoint Two To Join Iowa's Faculty July 1

Dr. John Brauer of Atlanta, Ga., and Prof. Hans Koebel of Chicago, Ill., have been appointed to the University of Iowa faculty, it was announced yesterday from the office of President Eugene A. Gilmore. Both appointments are effective July 1.

Dr. Brauer has been named professor and head of the department of preventive dentistry and pedodontia and director of the bureau of dental hygiene. Dr. Charles L. Drain, killed last June in an auto accident, previously held the positions.

Dr. Brauer has been professor of children's dentistry in the Atlanta Southern Dental college for the past two years, and was a member of the University of Nebraska's dental school faculty for six years.

Dr. Brauer holds doctor of dental surgery, bachelor of arts and master of science in physiology degrees from the University of Nebraska and is now president-elect of the American Society for the Prevention of Dentistry for Children.

Professor Koebel will be an associate professor in the music department. He is a noted cello soloist, having performed with the Leipzig conservatory orchestra, the Breslau opera orchestra and the Leipzig philharmonic orchestra.

He was co-founder of the Muenzer trio of 1919, of which Prof. Hans Muenzer, present member of the music department staff was violinist. Professor Koebel came to the United States in 1922, and was solo cellist with the Chicago theater orchestra for seven years. More recently he has been solo cellist with the Chicago civic opera orchestra.

He studied for three years with Prof. Julius Klengel of the Leipzig Conservatory of Music and had work in theory and harmony under Prof. Max Ludwig. He won a scholarship and the Norwegian prize for proficiency while at Leipzig.

Wage-Hour Bill Goes to F. D. R. For Signature

Recovery Program Gets Approval in Night Session

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — A burst of legislative speed swept two major pieces of administration legislation through congress tonight, but then the senate became enmeshed in a wordy discussion over flood control.

The battered and bruised wage-hour bill, establishing labor standards for much of interstate business, was sent to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

Adjournment Near
With the exception of two controversial senate amendments, the lending-spending bill, appropriating $3,753,000,000 to be applied to work relief, direct relief, public works and other projects designed to stimulate recovery, received senate and house approval.

Then, with the leadership calling adjournment sometime tomorrow "a cinch," the unexpected happened. A compromise flood control bill encountered a firm wall of opposition in the senate, because it required federal payment of the cost of dams and reservoirs and relieved the states of any financial participation.

Provision Attacked
In addition, the bill would permit the government to step in and condemn property for flood control projects in one state even though the benefit of the projects contemplated were confined to other states. This provision was hit hard on the senate floor.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) attacked it bitterly, while Senator Bankhead, with a look at the clock, (it was then midnight) reproached him for filibustering against the measure.

Other speakers besides O'Mahoney awaited their turn to take the floor in opposition. Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority floor leader, tried in vain to obtain an unanimous consent agreement to vote finally on the measure some time tomorrow.

Recess After Midnight
At 12:30, when floor attendance was growing thin, and some senatorial heads nodding, Barkley proposed and obtained a recess until 10 a.m. tomorrow (Wednesday). The house previously had adjourned until noon tomorrow.

Remaining to be disposed of were the flood control row, the formulation and adoption of conference reports on a deficiency appropriation bill and what remained still in dispute of the lending-spending bill.

House Docket Clear
The house, acting with rapidity and precision, swept its docket clear of most of its controversies. One after another, it approved the compromise wage-hour and lending-spending bills, an appropriation for army experimentation with auto-gyro airplanes, and late in the evening, by a suspension of its rules, proposals for investigations of alleged monopolistic practices in business and for a survey of the nation's phosphate resources. Both had been requested by President Roosevelt and both had been approved by the senate.

Proposals to aid the railroads by liberalizing RFC loans appeared definitely lost, although there remained a slender possibility they might be revived tomorrow.

Cash Kidnaper Pleads Guilty

MIAMI, Fla., June 14 (AP) — Franklin Pierce McCall pleaded guilty at a preliminary hearing today to the $10,000 ransom kidnaping of James Bailey Cash Jr., a crime that carries a death penalty in Florida, and the court arranged to hear evidence tomorrow.

A special grand jury also indicted the 21-year-old truck driver for murder in the five-year-old Princeton lad's death, but McCall, arraigned immediately, pleaded innocent to this charge.

After several attorneys expressed unwillingness to defend the prisoner because they were prejudiced, Circuit Judge H. F. Atkinson appointed Jack Kehoe to defend him on the kidnaping count only. It was indicated McCall might not be tried on the murder charge.

A special grand jury heard testimony from James Bailey Cash, father of the kidnaped victim, and federal agents, and returned the indictments within two hours.

City Declares Emergency as Refugees Pour into Valencia from War-torn Areas

VALENCIA, Spain, June 14 (AP) — A tragic stream of 15,000 homeless, hopeless refugees reached Valencia today from war-devastated Castellon province.

Their numbers swelled hourly, requiring the adoption of stringent emergency decrees to prevent Valencia from being overwhelmed.

Many of them came afoot from Castellon de la Plana, the ancient, prosperous city 40 miles north of here that last night fell before the relentless insurgent drive toward Valencia. Others were from small towns on Spain's eastern seacoast.

A night and day of horror were behind them — of airplane raids, troop movements, fighting, and plodding weary miles. Some were wounded in the air attacks.

A special department was established for evacuating Castellon province. Inhabitants were advised to report immediately how many refugees they could care for. They were warned any attempts to falsify information in these reports would be dealt with most severely.

The Valencia bull ring, many theaters, and every other building that could be cleared were filled tonight.

The State of New Jersey Celebrates Flag Day Quietly

YESTERDAY was Flag day in these United States. In every state in the union, flags were flown while we Americans paid tribute to Old Glory.

It is worthy of note that while we Americans revelled in our independence and basked in our freedom from dictators and oppression, New Jersey cast a blight on our doctrines of freedom.

Under the iron fist of Mayor Frank Hague, the residents of this little state, descendants of the men who fought in the Revolutionary war for freedom from oppression, have been trampled under foot, censored and bullied until the affair has gained national interest and condemnation.

Anti-Hague speakers have been kidnapped, insulted, beaten, and rotten-egged by the mayor's faction—all this has happened in the United States where man is guaranteed his freedom of speech and the right to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness without interference.

Yesterday was Flag day, and to stamp the fact more firmly in the minds of his constituents, Mayor Hague announced that any person or persons who did not like our method of government, or who had ideas of reform or change, should be deported immediately to their native land. When a reporter asked Hague what he would do with native Americans who differed with the accepted (Hague's) idea of government, the good mayor replied, "For these radicals, I should favor a concentration camp in Alaska to remove them from their dangerous position in American society."

Is this America or is it Germany, Italy or Russia where public officials speak such doctrines?

Did not Francis Scott Key look Jerseyward when he penned the words to our now immortal "Star Spangled Banner"?

Did he not include New Jersey when he wrote, "Oh, say does the Star Spangled Banner still wave, o'er the land of the free...?"

The modern breakfast seems to consist solely of orange juice, an egg, bacon, toast, coffee and a European war scare.

Variety in food is essential to well-being, say dietitians. How about the folk in dictator-ruled countries? They seem to thrive on a diet made up exclusively of equal parts of applause and baloney.

Old Saying—'An Artist Must Die To Be Appreciated'

ALONG WITH the stories of studio shut-downs and of frequent strikes emanating from Hollywood comes a more cheerful note—the news that the romantic, completely American life of George Gershwin will be made into a movie.

George Gershwin's life should make an excellent narrative movie because he was so completely a part of the time of which he wrote. His music may be the basis for historians' doctrines about our America in a hundred years or more, for we believe Gershwin's music will survive.

The movie will no doubt begin with the days when Gershwin, an undernourished young Jewish boy from New York's east side, began his career as a song-plugger for a New York publisher, playing 12 hours a day and composing tiny ditties for himself, taking more piano lessons in the evenings. It will trace his first "jazz" songs for successful New York shows.

Then the scene will no doubt shift to the time in 1928 when Paul Whiteman, a jazz orchestra leader, announced he was to "make a lady out of jazz" by presenting a concert in one of New York's swank halls. New York music critics gasped but put on their high hats, white ties and tails and were sitting in the front row when Whiteman's orchestra began.

It was a good performance all the way through, but near the end, this thin boy who was George Gershwin came out of the wings, sat down at the piano and began playing, accompanied by the orchestra, a composition of his own, his first symphony. It was called "Rhapsody in Blue."

It would be pleasant, of course, to record that Gershwin was immediately recognized as one of America's finest composers, but only a few critics cheered; most of them were skeptical. But Gershwin struggled on, stopped writing jazz and spent most of his time on "serious music." He was always a popular success, but the critics are still undecided about his permanency.

We wouldn't know ourselves because we don't know the technique of music. We only know that Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," his "American in Paris" or the score for his "Porgy and Bess" are our idea of what music can be.

Maybe Gershwin wasn't great. Maybe his early death, at 36, was not a loss to the music world. We wouldn't know.

But we do think producing a picture of his life will preserve for future generations a picture of some fundamental ideas that are being carried out by young Americans these days—in painting, in literature, in science, in music, in every other line of civilization. These things are being done in New York, in California, in Michigan and in Iowa.

These are the reasons we're skeptical when the pessimists and the die-hards start looking backward.

That nature lover who lived four weeks in the New England woods, eating only bark and leaves, must naturally have become homesick for the typical restaurant salad.

The man at the next desk refers to today's dance-mad maiden as chicken a la swing.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

CORRECTING MR. FARLEY

As if Mr. Farley didn't have more than trouble enough with the politicians, the phoneticians are snapping at him. A writer in Better English has picked up thirty-four words mispronounced by Mr. Farley in his radio address on Jefferson and Roosevelt. To add to his crime he is said to have used the mis-pronunciations set down fifty-seven times.

With some of his guilt we feel a certain sympathy. If he said "when" for "whenever" and "while," he showed that he was a true New Yorker, to be approved rather than blamed for his pious localism. Not all the complex exercises of the organs of speech recommended by the phoneticians will ever make a faithful New Yorker utter an initial or medial "h." As a boy Mr. Farley must have "whistled." Our faith in him is lost if he doesn't say "White" House.

He sinned in calling "grass" "grass." What should he have said? "Grass." From his erroneous lips "had" fell instead of "hahf." Mr. Farley knows better than to talk about "grahs," and his critics shouldn't ask him to. The last edition of the Dictionary of Noah Webster's successors tells us that the short "a" sound in these words "preponderates" in the United States.

Mr. Farley called "possession" "pozheshon." The Noachian-Webster authority has "un" for "on." The critic insists on "pahzheshon." Reluctantly we have to say "pooh" to his "pah." Twice Mr. Farley called the Soviet capital "Moscow." Well, he is a worshiper of majorities. Until there is a popular referendum, how can he be sure that "cow," which has its appeal to the dairy farmer, is not to be preferred to "ko," which carries an implication of "company," a name of guile in the New Deal Dictionary? Mr. Farley's most arch deed of piteous massacre is beyond belief. He called his chief "Rozvelt." The accepted pronunciation of this somewhat familiar name, the revising purist says, is "Ro-ze-vit." On July 1, 1932, we heard that the then Governor "pronounced his name 'Rose-velt' in two syllables and with a long 'o,' instead of the way it looks as if it should be pronounced. Isn't it strange that Mr. Roosevelt doesn't or didn't know how to pronounce his own name? Isn't phonetics wonderful?

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Perhaps you've heard or read recently that swing is on the downgrade. Wonder if there are two sides to the question. Let's investigate.

I, for one, am definitely not a swing fan. To me, melody is essential to music, be it popular or classical, and my preferences go to those types of music which do have definite or intermittent melodies.

That isn't swing, in any sense of the word. If my conception of the term is correct, "swing" is an improvisation of notes by a soloist, which blends into a background of chords played by the rest of the orchestra.

And I don't like it. Give me a melody, with a pleasant arrangement of the number, and you can have the second chorus of "Joseph" swung for all its worth.

And the same goes for the modern swing arrangements of some of the older songs. I would as soon hear a garbled version of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," one of the really great numbers, as listen to swing bands butcher such numbers as "The Spring Song" or "The Blue Danube Waltz."

But we're not to be impartial about it, so we must consider the point of view of the swingster. There's Benny Goodman.

NEW YORK—I always wanted to be a drummer boy—but not any more. I found out from Charlie Carroll, Al Donahue's drummer boy. The first man in the band to arrive and the last to leave is the drummer. If he has all the instruments he must have to be a good drummer, it takes a ten-ton truck to move him.

One of the dustiest jokes around a band is for the boys to gather around and watch the drummer set up or "break down" and wisecrack: "Aren't you sorry you didn't study the flute?"

I was not alone in that business of wanting to be a drummer boy, though. With some, it has developed into something more than a boyhood ambition. The Duke of Windsor, for example, in his Prince of Wales days, he never could resist the temptation to step into the band and beat off a tinplate millionaire, is another who likes amateur drumming—and Harold Lloyd, who has rat-a-tatted in some of the best orchestras in Hollywood—and Jackie Cooper—and Frank Veloz, who (Yolanda tells me) often misses a dance step when they glide by the drum stand.

Charlie Carroll says being pushed out of the drummer's seat by drumomanics is just another thing that a fellow has to put up with. But, diplomat that he is, though only 21 years old, Charlie adds hastily that he's not troubled that way by guests at the Rockefeller's Rainbow Room where Donahue is now playing.

Charlie was the youngest of the big-time band drummer boys until Dave Tough came along with Benny Goodman. Dave's only 19.

In case any kids want to be drummer boys when they grow up, Charlie says to tell them to remember that a complete outfit, including cases, costs about $1,500. Charlie's cost about $900 and he hasn't put in the kettle drums yet. What's more, modern swing is death on drums. Charlie has had four sets since 1930.

HOLLYWOOD — Movietown's reputation as a center of unpredictable ironies should be enhanced by the story of Kay Francis' recent pictures.

Kay was on the famous list of "box-office poison" names put out by those eastern exhibitors. A couple of years ago she rated very well indeed. What probably started her decline was an epic called "The White Angel." In gratitude for her consistent drawing power, her studio put forth its most supercolossal effort—big production, big exploitation campaign, big budget, big director.

It didn't cost much. It isn't a big-name picture. But it's likely to be a surprise hit. And wouldn't it be funny if Kay's "doghouse" picture clicked where a super-super couldn't? And funnier if they wanted to Kay to keep on making pictures after her marriage this fall? And still funnier if Kay said "No, thanks?"

It was after the "sneak" preview of "Little Miss Thoroughbred" at a downtown theater. A gentleman connected with the picture was eavesdropping on the paying customers, hoping to hear reaction comments. He reports this remark from a little old lady: "It's too bad they have to show one terrible picture with every good one, isn't it?" His heart sank, but further listening revealed that the lady was praising "Thoroughbred" and condemning the house's regular feature—a very expensive star-studded, so-called "A" picture.

The point is that "Little Miss Thoroughbred" is a low-budget picture. It's hokum horse-race and little-child-shall-lead-them-stuff. The little child is Janet Chapman — of whom more later. But nobody expected much of the picture, everybody hoped for a "hit" in the expensive picture. And the little old lady's verdict is being sustained on the latter, probably will be upheld on the "quickie."

Concrete Road to Float LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — A concrete highway underpass, five feet thick, will "float" on waters of the Kaw river. The thick roadbed is necessary because the nearby river has saturated the soil upon which the foundation will be built.

Why Patients Are Scared By 'Funnel Breast' Deformities By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. The peculiar deformity known as "funnel breast" often causes the owner a great deal of apprehension, which is unnecessary. The deformity is a striking one, so obvious that medical students notice it early in their careers and make much over it. As time goes on, when they see enough of it and how harmless it is, they are likely not even to record it. It consists of a sinking in of the lower part of the breastbone. Sometimes it looks as if it almost touched the backbone behind. It may be due to a congenital anomaly or it may follow rickets in young life. It may be due to a combination of rickets and occupation, and sometimes it is called "cobbler's" or "shoemaker's chest" because it is supposed that the pressure of the shoe that is being made produces it. It would be a natural assumption that it would compress the heart and a cause interference with its proper function. It is quite true that the heart is displaced, but nature is so kind with her adaptations that the heart can still function even if pushed clear to one side. One of the earliest cases reported was in 1872, and the physician stated that, pains in the chest had never been reported and that the patient could do hard work without shortness of breath or any other signs of heart trouble. It is unfortunate that well-intentioned trouble makers scare these patients nearly out of their wits at times by predicting an early death or the onset of heart disease. My attention was called to two cases the other day and that is the reason for this article. One was a young boy of 17 who had been frightened by a neighbor in this way. The other was a man of nearly 90. He said that it was commonly predicted in his youth that he could not live long. I thought a talk with him was probably the best treatment for the young man, and so it proved.

College Physicists Convene In Annual Three-day Colloquium Opening Summer Conferences

3 Visiting Professors Speak at Meetings For Teachers

The annual colloquium for college physicists will convene on the University of Iowa campus tomorrow, with three visiting professors scheduled to appear on the three-day series of programs.

Dr. Paul L. Copeland of the Armour Institute of Technology, Prof. Newell S. Gingrich of the University of Missouri, and Dr. Richard M. Sutton of Haverford college in Pennsylvania, will take active parts in the discussions of the conference.

The colloquium will be the first of a summer series of conferences and meetings which will attract thousands to the campus. The meetings are open to teachers without charge.

Physicists from all over the middle west will meet for tomorrow's colloquium, prepared to discuss aspects of great interest to the active physicist.

Dr. Copeland, who will lecture tomorrow on electron emission, was graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan college with highest distinction in 1927. He received his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Iowa, and before going to the Armour Institute of Technology, he was assistant professor of physics at Montana State college.

Professor Gingrich will speak on high speed moving pictures at the Friday session. Professor Gingrich was an instructor in Lafayette college in Easton, Pa., and assistant professor at Mt. Allison. He was an instructor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1931 to 1936, when he went to the University of Missouri.

Dr. Sutton, who is also scheduled to appear Friday, is from Haverford, Pa. He received his B.S. degree from Haverford college, and his Ph.D. from the California Institute of Technology. He was an instructor in Miami for three years, and a teaching fellow at the California Institute of Technology for six years. Since 1931 he has been assistant professor of physics at Haverford college.

Members of the local physics department staff are also scheduled to speak. Prof. John A. Eldridge, who will lead a round table discussion of undergraduate instruction and electronics tomorrow, received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1922. He was associate professor at the University of Iowa from 1924 to 1929, and since has been a professor in the department.

Prof. Alexander Ellett, who will lecture on valence Friday, has been at the University of Iowa since 1925. He was an assistant professor until 1928, associate professor until 1929, and a professor since that time.

Prof. C. J. Lapp, scheduled to direct Saturday's meetings, has been a professor in the department since 1930.

Prof. J. H. Bodine, head of the University of Iowa zoology department since 1929, will speak on animal life Saturday morning, and Prof. W. F. Loehwing, since 1931 a member of the University of Iowa botany department staff, will discuss plant life at the Saturday morning session.

Open house at the physics building, luncheons, a supper and social hour will add color to the conference.

First Graduate Talk Tonight

Prof. Donald K. Adams Of Duke University To Speak

A graduate college lecture, the first of a series to be presented on the campus this summer, is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, when Prof. Donald K. Adams of the psychology department of Duke university will discuss "Character Development."

For the past year, Professor Adams has been on leave from Duke university, studying and writing extensively on developmental psychology in Europe and America.

Professor Adams will be affiliated with the Child Welfare Research station here until after July 1. He received his master of arts degree from Harvard and his doctor of philosophy degree from Yale.

The difficulty of attempting to construct definite theories of character development, because of the very nature of character, will be the theme of Professor Adams' lecture.

Summer Work Prospect Dull

The prospect for summer work at the University of Iowa is not as bright as last year, Lee H. Kann, manager of the university employment bureau, announced yesterday.

Although last year the office had difficulty in finding students for available jobs until almost the end of the first week of the summer session, the situation was reversed this year, and the office was short of jobs for summer school students, contrary to expectations, Kann said.

Persons who are interested in summer employment, it was advised, should keep in touch with the employment office in the old dental building, keeping their summer addresses and complete class schedules on file.

Special employment funds, for which some 90 students received cash work last summer, applicable to fall tuition, are reduced this year to as high as 50% of the former fund, Kann announced. It is improbable that more than 50 will receive such employment this summer.

The contract plan of board accumulation at the university hospitals has been highly successful, it was announced. There are 20% more applicants this year than can be used for such jobs.

The contract plan provides annual summer board for 75 boys and six girls, whereby students can earn daily summer board and accumulate two advance days of board for each day's employment. The positions this year were filled ahead of schedule.

Prospects are favorable, however, for girls with experience in private home work, caring for children, general house work and cooking. Such students have good chances of earning board and room in private homes in Iowa City during the summer, it was announced.

Hillcrest—the Campus' Newest

More than half the advance reservations for rooms in the University of Iowa's new $325,000 men's dormitory, Hillcrest, have already been sold. The demand for rooms in the newest building on the campus is "above normal," according to William H. Cobb, university business manager, and manager of Hillcrest. Situated northeast of the Quadrangle, overlooking the entire east campus and the Iowa river,

Hillcrest is designed to be a real "home for fellows." Comfortable, attractive furniture, proper lighting, ventilation, sound proofing add to its attractiveness. The lounge is paneled in oak with a great fireplace built into one wall. Book shelves, providing current popular fiction and the best magazines, line several sides. Complete service accommodations are offered by the office. Cleaning and laundry will be handled through its staff, the sub-post office will be located there. Table board and a la carte orders are Hillcrest's two plans of dining service, with lunch counter and soda fountain open from early morning until late evening. Food will be prepared in the most modern of kitchens, and served at reasonable prices. Self-government will be the rule, with a limited amount of faculty superision. Recreational, athletic and social activities will be arranged for the men themselves. Seventeen single and 113 double rooms will provide accommodations for 243 students. With its design based upon long experience in the field of housing university men, Hillcrest will offer among the most desirable dormitory accommodations on the campus of the university.

To Give Public Opinion Class

A course on public opinion and propaganda will be offered by the psychology department this summer, under the supervision of Prof. Norman C. Meier.

Demonstrations of laboratory experiments and the learning process from the experimental point of view will be offered by Claude Buxton.

Visitors, under no obligation to buy, will be given an opportunity to see recent developments in the field of visual education, and diverse ways in which such education is carried on.

Arrangements will be made for those interested in securing instruction and information regarding the operation of moving picture projectors or cameras.

Lantern slides and stereographs, displays of visual education equipment and film slides are included among the exhibits.

The display is sponsored by the department of visual instruction under the direction of Lee Cochran, with the university extension division cooperating.

Bose Tells Of Orient's View

The religious and philosophical point of view of the Orient, as contrasted with that of western civilization, was the theme of the opening lecture on "Oriental Contributions to Civilization," presented yesterday in the house chamber of Old Capitol by Dr. Sudhinda Bose, a lecturer in the political science department. The series will continue each Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Bose viewed the materialistic trend of modern European civilizations, contrasting that trend with the deep feeling of reciprocity and moderation which permeates the religion of the east.

Dr. Bose concluded his lecture yesterday with a recording of the voice of Mahatma Ghandi, revealing the basic concepts of the religious feeling of the Oriental.

Dr. Bose spoke of the greatness of the Oriental civilizations.

"When one examines various reasons for the survival of the Chinese, Hebrew and Hindu nations," he said, "one finds that these three peoples were the first among the ancients to recognize a new type of hero, namely, the prophet or seer-hero, as opposed to the warrior-hero that all other nations venerated and worshipped."

"And these nations which produced the prophets of peace and seers of wisdom are, significantly enough, practically the only nations which have survived and retained their spiritual vigor down to our own day. The warrior nations having wasted their fury and their strength, fell and died. The Hindus, the Chinese and the Jews saved their strength and lived. Even now, in spite of the buffetings of an unkind fate, these three nations are still able to give to the world such men as Sun-Yat-Sen, Bergson and Einstein, Gandhi and Tagore."

Dr. Bose pointed out that culture and progress cannot be judged by material success, but only by a nation's struggle to realize its own ideals, which may be vastly different from the ideals of other peoples.

"As an Easterner looks at the world," he said, "he finds that the current European civilization is not only materialistic but canibalistic, thriving upon mutilated humanity,

Durant Will Give First Lecture Of 1938 Summer Series Friday

Speaker Will Talk On 'World Conflict' At Old Capitol

Will Durant, philosopher, author and publicist, one of America's most popular speakers, will open the 1938 summer series of university lectures at 8 p.m. Friday on the west approach of Old Capitol. The topic of his lecture is "The World Conflict."

The first of a series of round table discussions, one of which will follow each of the six university lectures, will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday under Durant's direction in the House chamber of Old Capitol. The round table discussion will center about the topic "The Problems of Philosophy."

The demand for Durant's lectures is constantly on the increase. During the 1932-33 season, Durant made 18 appearances in 20 days. He was brought back to Portland, Ore., to repeat, within a week, an address from which 1,000 had been turned away. Time and again he has filled Carnegie hall to capacity.

"The Story of Philosophy," Durant's first book, has exceeded the sale of the most popular fiction. "Transition," the story of his life, followed his early work, as well as "Mansions of Philosophy," "Studies in Genius" and many others.

Durant circled the globe twice to gather material for "The Story of Civilization," the first volume of which appeared in 1935. The second volume on Greece, Rome and the rise of Christianity, is scheduled to appear in 1940.

Durant has a wide background of education and travel upon which to base his lecture.

S. U. I. Accepts 2 Gifts, Grant

The acceptance of two gifts and a grant to the University of Iowa was announced yesterday by the president's office. The presentations total $4,600.

A gift of $2,500 was presented by the university by John E. E. Markley of Mason City, a graduate of the college of law in 1878, to maintain permanently an income equal to the amount which he has given annually heretofore to sustain a Hammond law scholarship.

Mr. Markley studied in the college of law under William G. Hammond, first chancellor of the college. The gift is in Mr. Hammond's honor.

Mr. Markley also donated $100 for a prize to be awarded during the next school year for the best essay on the general subject of the origin and significance of a separate and independent judiciary under the American form of government.

A grant of $2,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation, to be used for scholarships in radio research, was also announced.

The rule of law has given place to the rule of might. This is a system which produces international anarchy and gives birth to eternal wars.

"Now contrast those who dominate the European scene with those who are attempting to organize society on the spiritual bases. Five hundred years from now, when the present era of hatred and violence will be remembered only as a tortured nightmare, which of these peoples do you think will be remembered as the most sane and most cultured?"

New York Commences Long Home Stand With Victory

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Mel Ott, with his 13th home run and a single, twice drove in the tying runs today as the Giants opened a long home stand by turning back the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3. The victory kept the National league champions two games in front of the Cubs.

MEL OTT

Vaughan's single, doubles by Suhr and Rizzo and Todd's outfield fly gave them two runs and a 2-1 lead, but Ott tied it up with his homer in the last half of that frame.

Pittsburgh went ahead again in the first half of the eighth, getting a run on Paul Wamer's single and Suhr's triple, only to have the Giants score three more in their half on a walk to Bartell, singles by Rizzo, Ott and McCarthy, and Bauers' wild throw.

Bauers' defeat was his fifth, against only one victory. He gave up three walks and struck out seven.

Vaughan, Rizzo and Suhr, with his three-bagger and double, got two hits each for the Pirates, while Ott, Rizzo and McCarthy split up six of the winners' nine safeties, of which only Ott's homer went for extra bases. Paul Wamer's single stretched his hitting streak to 13 straight games.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14 (AP)—Curt Davis pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over his former teammates, the Phillies, today.

Davis held the Phils to seven hits, six of them coming in the last three innings, and scored the winning run himself in the eighth on Slaughter's two-bagger after two were out.

Hugh Mulcahy pitched good ball for the Phils, but an error by Scharen in shortstop, paved the way to the Cards' winning run.

ST. LOUIS, June 14 (AP)—Boston's Red Sox had two payoff innings today which gave them a 5 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Lefty Grove drove a single to center in the seventh with two down to launch a three run rally. He left the game in the last half of the inning after the Browns pushed over two runs to tie the score.

Again in the eighth two men were out when Big Buck Newsum walked Nonnenkamp to fill the bases. Peacock's pinch single scored Fox and Higgins with the winning runs.

ST. LOUIS, June 14 (AP)—Babe Didrikson, Patty Berg, Bea Barrett and Texas Babe Didrikson, were poking their drives long and true across the lush fairways of the 6,500-foot-high Broadmoore course.

Mrs. Harb of Little Rock, Ark., scored the most one sided decision of the day, an 8 up and 7 down to play victory over Mrs. C. M. Severns, Tulsa, Okla. Smiling Helen went three over par, but her tee shots split nearly every fairway.

Miss Berg, Minneapolis, averaged better than 225 yards with her drives in defeating blue-eyed Mrs. Lillian Zech of Chicago, 5 and 4. Mrs. Zech said the altitude bothered her.

Miss Barrett, also of Minneapolis and runnerup at Chicago last year, and Miss Didrikson shot the best golf of the day. The shapely Beatrice, steady in every department, breezed 12 holes in two strokes under par in eliminating Mrs. Francis G. Riche, Denver, 8 and 6. She had four birdies.

Miss Didrikson, Beaumont, Tex., pro made spectators eyes pop with her woods as she clipped one stroke off par in a 7 and 5 win over Mrs. Frederick B. Shaw, Denver. The Texan sewed up the match with a birdie two across the pond at the 136-yard 13th, sinking a 10-foot putt.

There was only one tight battle. Mrs. Hayes Dansingburg, Rochester, Minn., former Minnesota champion, was forced to go to the 17th green before erasing Iva Mae Picher, Mexico, Mo., 3 and 1.

Black-haired Helen Hofman, Salt Lake City, runnerup for the medal yesterday, with 81 to Patty Berg's 79, was too strong for Mrs. W. W. Haerther, Chicago, winning 8 and 6.

Down The Sports Trail

Best Team Won

None of us feels downcast because we lost the cup," said non-playing Captain Francis Oimout of Boston. "We had to lose sooner or later and the loss really is a great thing for golf."

The British licked us with superb golf and then showed us the best time many of us ever have had anywhere. Yates? He was like a clock all the way. He mowed down the toughest part of the field in the British amateur. He left these shores a good golfer; he returns a great one."

As Johnny Goodman of Omaha and Reynolds Smith of Dallas kept Charley jumping and hopping with their wisecracks and gags, the Atlanta said he owed his unexpected triumph to his lions.

I went over hoping to win some points on the team and lookee, I come back with the amateur title," said Charley. "Well, I was lucky—that Jaw-Juh luck, you know. My most satisfying shot was that second to the 18th green that I had to get against Hector Thomson. Boy, those Britishers are real sportsmen. It was my first time over to England but I sure hope it isn't my last. Paris? Nope, I didn't get a chance to see those French chickadees (girls to you) because the British showed us such a good time we couldn't leave."

Duke of Kent Yarn "Tell 'em about the Duke of Kent," ordered Smith. "Aw, Doctor Smith, you started that one," yelled Charley. The story, told before, types Yates' modesty. When the Duke asked the flustered champ if he had ever won a title before, Charley said "I can't think of any." Whereupon, Smith cracked: "Why, Charley, you always can win your club championship."

A large Atlanta delegation, led by State Treasurer George Hamilton and Charley's boss, First National Bank President James D. Robinson, immediately took the hero in tow. After today's luncheon for the team and a World's Fair sightseeing tour, Charley and his boss will make a round of the New York banks. He's due for his Atlanta homecoming Sunday and it'll be a great show.

"Is Charley going to get a raise?" Boss Robinson was asked. "We'll come to that," he said. "In fact, I think we're there now, eh, Charley?"

"Thank you, Mr. Robinson," said C. Richardson Yates, who then insisted the reporters refrain from writing too much about "chickadees." And when one bold reporter asked the now most eligible bachelor in Atlanta if his golf conquest would affect his romancing, Charley blushed a deep crimson and gulped a "Nope."

No Allibs None of the Walker coppers had any alibis. Their scoring average in Walker cup play was approximately a half shot over par per round, so no alibis were regarded as necessary. Goodman, the one big disappointment of the trip, said he couldn't get his putting down and that "anyway, if you'll recall, I never am worth much when it rains."

Gang Films Blamed For Juvenile Crime

LONDON (AP) - Gangster films are blamed in part, for the increase in juvenile crime in England.

A recently issued report shows that the number of indictable offenders under 17 years of age in England and Wales went up from 20,540 in 1934 to 27,126 in 1936.

Two-thirds of the crimes, officials say, are committed by boys and girls working together in gangs under such fancy names as "Black Klan" and "The Secret Seven."

"To many of these children it is just a glorious game," says one official. "Their imaginations become fired by the exploits of 'tough guys' they see at the movies twice and sometimes three times a week, till at last they decide to form a gang of their own."

Expect 400 at Annual Three-Day DeMolay State Conclave

Founder of DeMolay to Speak At Banquet, General Meetings

Varied Sports Program, Ceremonies, Talks, Dance in Store

An expected four hundred DeMolays from nearly every chapter in the state will convene in Iowa City Monday as the three-day annual DeMolay state conclave gets underway here, Donald Graham, master councillor of the local chapter, announced last night.

Brief addresses by men prominent in DeMolay, colorful degree ceremonies, athletic competition, state and district business meetings and the grand conclave ball will highlight the session.

Outstanding speaker for the conclave will be Frank S. Land, founder of DeMolay and member of the Grand Council of DeMolay, who will speak at the Tuesday night banquet and the Monday afternoon and Wednesday morning general assemblies. Other prominent advisory officers speaking during the three-day session are Judge Hubert Utterback, state deputy and member of the Grand Council, and Carl Harris, state director of sports, both of Des Moines.

Other speakers will be the Rev. Iliot T. Jones, of the Presbyterian church, Dean G. F. Kay of the college of liberal arts and Prof. Forest Ensign of the college of education.

Highlight of the degree work will be the presentation Monday evening of the initiatory and DeMolay degrees at the state quarries overlooking the Iowa river several miles north of Iowa City. The majority services and conferring of the Chevalier degree will be Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple.

Athletics will also play a prominent place in the activities of the conclave. Competition will begin with a swimming meet in the fieldhouse pool Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Coach David Armbruster.

Included in the events will be the 20- and 100-yard sprint, the 60-yard back- and breast-stroke and diving. Wednesday afternoon will be taken up with the track and tennis meets. In track events will be included the 100-, 220-, 440-, and 880-yard dashes, the 220-yard low hurdles and 110-yard high hurdles. Shotput, discus, javelin, broadjump, highjump and pole-vault will round out the field meet. Ted Swenson will be in charge. The tennis tournaments, on the fieldhouse courts under the direction of Art Wendle, will be limited to singles only.

Election and installation of new state officers and the selection of the site of the 1939 conclave site will be Wednesday morning.

Climax of the three-day work will be semi-formal banquet in the river room of Iowa Union Wednesday evening with the presentation of all trophies and awards, followed by dancing from 9 until 1 in the triangle club rooms. Music will be furnished by Len Carroll and his orchestra.

Golden Key to Mark Community Building Ownership Change

A golden key, emblematic of the change of ownership of the Iowa City community building, will feature the dedicatory exercises on Dan Doherty day June 22, George M. Sheets of the program committee stated yesterday.

The golden key will be presented to Mayor Myron Walker by one of the past commanders of the legion, because the Past Commanders, Inc., was the source from which the city's title to the reconstructed civic center was derived.

The Legion originally held title to the structure which was gutted by fire in July, 1936. The reconstruction was financed by a $35,000 bond issue.

The dedicatory exercises will be brief, Chairman Sheets stated. They will be confined to the one act of official presentation of the key.

Commander Doherty is scheduled to go one the air at 8:30 p.m. The banquet begins at 6:30 p.m.

Petit Jury Will Hear Cases In Second Group

Members of the May term petit jury will report for jury service at 10 a.m. Monday to hear the cases in the second law assignment announced Monday afternoon by Judge Harold D. Evans.

The jurors were excused last month until further notice after the sudden illness of Attorney Frank F. Messer caused the original law assignment by Judge Evans to be cancelled.

At 10 a.m. Monday, Judge Evans has set for hearing the cases of Adams and Son against Bontrager, Adams against Skriver, Miller, assignee, against Krall, et al; Gilpin and Whites against Wolfe and Dunham against Roth.

The suits of Crowley against Draker, Helm against Rate, et al; Lone Star Gasoline company against Duncan Oil company, Mann against Bradley, Gorvin against Mann and Larew against White, et al, will be heard next Tuesday.

Six criminal cases, state of Iowa against Howard, state of Iowa against Paul, state of Iowa against Amelon and state of Iowa against Parrish on three charges, will be heard by the jury June 22.

County Clerk Miller Issues Two More Marriage Licenses

Bang Tells Of Chinese Plight

Kiwanis Hears Chinese Student Describe Suffering

The suffering of the Chinese masses today is much greater than the suffering of the Chinese depicted in the movie "The Good Earth," Chi-Shing Bang, a Chinese student and graduate of the college of law this spring, said in an appeal for aid for his fellow countrymen yesterday at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Jefferson hotel.

He said that the suffering today was caused by a few militarists at the expense of the masses and declared that there are nearly 50,000,000 refugees in China today.

People are often reluctant to aid others, especially those in foreign countries, Mr. Bang said, but the situation in China is different in that the Chinese government cannot take care of all the refugees because of the great number of them.

Mr. Bang leaves for Shanghai, China, Sunday where he will begin the practice of law.

Ruth Marner Will Administer Estate

Ruth E. Marner was appointed administratrix of the estate of Mrs. Ella F. Marner Monday by Judge Harold D. Evans. Mrs. Marner died May 22.

Rural Precinct Primary Vote Gains Over '36

The June 6 primary vote in 22 rural precincts was considerably heavier this year than that polled in 1936, it was revealed yesterday by the county board of supervisors.

A total of 2,758 Johnson county residents of townships outside of Iowa City went to the primary polls this year as compared with 2,205 primary votes that were cast in 1936. The voting was under that of 1934, however, when 3,208 ballots were cast.

Very few minor changes in results announced June 7 were found in the canvass yesterday. The greatest change was the loss of 10 votes for Attorney Thomas E. Martin of Iowa City, successful candidate for the republican nomination for congressman, in West Lucas township, it was reported.

Police Find Clubs Of Despairing Golfer

That old ditty about "Oh, where; oh, where, has my little dog gone?" had its modern counterpart early yesterday morning when John Piper, 122 South Dubuque street, couldn't find his golf bags and clubs.

But the 1938 version ended happily. Police, patrolling the streets in the early morning hours, found the clubs in the 200-block on East Washington street and returned them to their owner.

Field Worker Gives School Leader for Recreation Trains Playground Directors

John E. Gronseth, field representative of the National Recreation association, was in Iowa City yesterday to lead a training school session of the Iowa City playground directors and their assistants.

Mr. Gronseth discussed the philosophy and problem of playground work as they are applicable to communities such as Iowa City.

Eugene Trowbridge, recreational director, announced that playgrounds will open next Monday at the Horace Mann, Henry Sabin and Longfellow schools.

Walker Wants Students' Aid

Mayor Myron J. Walker last night asked summer school students to help solve part of Iowa City's parking problems by parking their cars on side streets when they are attending classes.

Cars of students parked in the business streets while the owners are in class prevent shoppers finding a place to park, the mayor pointed out.

The finest specimens of amethysts come from India, Ceylon and Brazil.

Child Welfare Research Staff Offers Courses

Courses in child development will be offered by the Iowa Child Welfare Research station and allied departments during the summer session.

The courses are designed to be of interest to graduate students, teachers, social workers, study group leaders and parents. Courses dealing with the child from infancy through adolescence have been arranged, as well as courses in the allied fields of genetics, statistics and home economics.

Excellent facilities exist for the scientific study of the normal child in fields of infant and child psychology, physical growth, pre-school education, parent education, mental hygiene and character education.

Juniors and seniors may secure credit for work in the Child Welfare station upon securing a major permit card signed by the head of their major department.

The station also offers graduate work, leading to the degrees of master of arts and doctor of philosophy. A bachelor's degree is the prerequisite to graduate study.

Wage Bill Ends Congress' Work

Swisher to Talk To Lions Club

"Governors of Iowa" will be the topic of J. A. Swisher of the state historical society staff when he speaks before the Lions club at 12:05 this noon in Reich's Pine room.

Swisher's talk will be illustrated by lantern slides, and Robert H. Lorenz, president of the club, will introduce the speaker.

Dance Boat Capt. Verne Streckfus Promises Treat

Dancers who like their "trunk-in" hot, and their waltz music romantic as well as rhythmic, are promised some big evenings on "Ol' Man River" by Capt. Verne Streckfus, skipper of the Streckfus excursion steamer "J.S." which is cruising northward for its annual season on the upper Mississippi.

The "Garden Steamer," Captain Streckfus reports, is carrying one of the Mississippi's hottest dance bands—Piron's Dixie Serenaders, a troupe of 12 versatile Dixie rhythm-makers. These boys, according to the veteran skipper, have a rare repertoire of the latest swing music of their own improvisation, and the plantation-type romantic rhythm that waltz lovers demand.

The "J.S." will make many stops enroute north for the starlight dance outings which have become a feature of its annual spring cruise from New Orleans to the upper river. And wherever Captain Streckfus and his veteran crew stop for a visit, there's sure to be a big turnout of river lovers who have welcomed the "Garden Steamer" each spring.

Geologists Go To Black Hills Under Runner

The geology department will offer two field courses in the Black Hills of western South Dakota and Wyoming this summer under Prof. Joseph J. Runner.

The first course, which will be given from June 12 to July 19, is designed to give illustrations of principles already studied in the classroom and to give training in observation and interpretation of geological phenomena, the construction of geological maps and the writing of reports.

In the second course, from July 10 to August 3, study will be made of pre-Cambrian rocks in the lead region.

These are two of the courses being offered under the auspices of the Midwest Association for Geologic Field Instruction, a cooperative association which includes the University of Iowa, Northwestern university and the University of Wisconsin. The combined facilities for field instruction of four universities are made available to their students and to students of other universities.

The camp for both the above mentioned field courses is Pine Crest, near Deadwood, S.D., at an elevation of approximately 5,000 feet. Tents or cabins are available for living quarters, and a large electrically lighted community house furnishes a place for baths, study and recreation.

Other courses include two in St. Genevieve county, Mo., given by the University of Chicago; two courses in the Devil's lake region in Wisconsin, offered by the University of Wisconsin and the University of Chicago, and one in the Lake Superior region of northwestern Minnesota and Ontario offered by Northwestern university.

Aristotle was the founder of dramatic criticism.

Instructors Join English Faculty

Two visiting instructors, Prof. Thomas M. Parrott of Princeton university and Prof. Hudson Strode of the University of Alabama, will join the regular English faculty in offering almost 40 courses during the 1938 summer session. The work of the department will be carried out under the supervision of 21 faculty members.

Professor Strode will teach a course on Shakespearean tragedy and one in advanced imaginative writing. Professor Parrott will offer a course in Victorian literature and one on English drama.

Courses in Zoology Equivalent to Those During School Year

Nearly all courses offered this summer by the zoology department are equivalent to those given in the school year. Advanced courses are offered in three-year cycle, thereby making it possible for students who can take work only in the summer to be assured of an offering of fundamental courses required for their degrees.

Excellent opportunities for research are offered by the department for qualified students. Equipment and facilities are above the average, and the faculty is practically the same as that of the fall session.
