Newton Sitdowners Evacuate Factory After Conference

Action Result Of Meeting Of Three Factions

CIO Union Members Held Possession Of Plant for 9 Days

NEWTON, July 1 (AP)—Striking CIO union workers who have held possession of the Maytag Washing Machine company plant here for nine days, marched out of the building peacefully tonight before a squad of eight policemen and several hundred on-lookers. The evacuation took place at 8:45 p.m., more than 40 minutes ahead of schedule.

400 Leave Building
A total of 400 were counted leaving the building, although some of them had entered only tonight after a decision to evacuate was announced.

The evacuation came as a result of a conference in Des Moines today between representatives of three factions in the labor difficulty and Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel.

The men who have been sitting down in the plant since a week ago Thursday, all left by the south gate of the plant, under the eyes of police.

Lead Men Out
Wilbert Allison, president of the local CIO union to which the workers belong, and Don Harris, regional CIO officer of Des Moines, went into the plant at 8:40 p.m. to lead the men out.

The men inside the building voted to evacuate early this evening after learning the result of the Des Moines conference. The governor had set the evacuation deadline for 9:30 p.m.

They came out singly and in pairs, many of them carrying the folding cots and bedding upon which they had been sleeping during the sitdown. Previous to the evacuation many of the cots were removed by workers in trucks.

The men were joined by wives and sympathizers and immediately began a march to the town square. Several carried banners reading "Thanks to our governor," "We want to arbitrate," and "CIO forever."

Parade Around Square
They paraded around the town square and went to union headquarters where plans were being made for a mass meeting tonight.

A mascot dog which had been in the plant with the workers, led the procession out and took part in the parade.

A blanket strapped around the dog bore the number of the union local, "CIO 1116."

There was no violence during the evacuation and although police counted the men and stood in front of the spectators, they were not called into action. The occupation of the plant has been entirely peaceful.

In the resolution to evacuate the plant, the men asked company officials to make an inspection of it before they went out, but the resolution was received too late to enable the officials to enter.

Officers Probe Death of Gray

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 1 (AP)—The pistol bullet which killed King D. Gray, 52, film cameraman, was fired a least a foot from his body, since his coat showed no traces of powder burns, Ray Pinker, police chemist, reported today.

"If it proves to be a murder," said Detective Capt. J. J. Jones, "I believe we will find jealousy was the cause."

Further evidence that Gray was slain was given by the fact that a .32 caliber pistol shell but no weapon was found when his body was discovered slumped over the steering wheel of his automobile in front of the postoffice here yesterday. Three buttons had been torn from his shirt.

An autopsy indicated Gray must have lived for sometime after he was shot.

Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin, founder of the National Progressive party, is pictured addressing 3,000 students at Northwestern university's summer school, Evanston, Ill. Rescuers Take Boy's Body To Albuquerque ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 1 (AP)—Brought from the foot of Sandia peak under state police escort, the body of Medill McCormick, 21-year-old heir to the Chicago publishing fortune, rested tonight in an Albuquerque mortuary.

The final trip was made late this afternoon, after Indians and mountain climbers, who had been working since dawn to bring down the remains from the jagged face of the cliff, had transferred their tarpaulin-wrapped burden to a waiting ambulance.

About 30 Indians and weather-beaten forest rangers stood by the ambulance, heads bared, as Albert Simms, step-father of the youth, said, "Mrs. Simms and I thank you from the bottom of our hearts."

Simms had watched the grim funeral cortege for more than a half an hour as it wound slowly over the rocky slope separating the waiting hearse from the entrance to canyon del Agua, on whose steep sides the body was found.

As the Indians and foresters came within earshot, cries of "water" were heard from the party, some of whom had had nothing to eat or drink since the day before, when the body was found.

The status of debts owed the United States remained unchanged. The United States is not in the same favorable bargaining position as Great Britain toward Germany.

Germany buys more from the United States than she sells—just the opposite of the Anglo-German relations—and consequently the United States lacks the same trade lever to force a settlement.

(Since April 6 the state department in Washington has sent three communications to Germany seeking settlement of the Austrian debts to the United States, amounting to $20,000,000. Germany has not replied.)

Williams Compares America With Germany In Days Before Hitler

COLUMBUS, O., July 1 (AP)—Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, tonight compared America with Germany in the days before Hitler, and urged: "We must not neglect the lessons taught."

Williams prepared his address for delivery before the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He said Germany, "whose economy had not recovered from the disruption caused by the World War, was then ruled by moderate political parties, which did not do enough while there was still time to do it, who hesitated, compromised and delayed.

"In the end, the German people succumbed to privation, and a new group came to power that did not believe in democracy. The chances of democratic progress were thereafter lost....

"In those last hours, while the moderates were still in power, there were those who urged them to adopt more thorough-going measures, if they would save the democratic process."

N.E.A. Chooses San Francisco For Next Meeting

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—The National Education association today chose San Francisco for next year's convention but said if facilities there proved inadequate, the meeting would be held in Chicago.

The board of directors said the executive committee would investigate the situation as soon as possible.

T. J. Walker, editor of "School and Community," published at Columbia, Mo., was elected a member of the board of trustees and Fred Cram of Cedar Rapids was elected to the executive committee.

Turkey, France Sign New Pact Of Friendship

Would Cause Change In Line Up in Case Of European War

PARIS, July 1 (AP)—France and Turkey clasped hands today in a good neighbor pact, concentrated in the Sanjak (district) of Alexandretta, which might change the political complexion of any new European war.

In addition to this treaty of friendship, which France will seek to broaden into a three-nation pact by negotiations with Syria, a military agreement was reached by which France and Turkey jointly guarantee the internal and external security of Alexandretta.

It was provided that from today equal numbers of Turkish and French troops would be stationed in Alexandretta, the 10,000-square mile district which formerly belonged to Turkey.

They are to preserve order pending a plebiscite on the future of the Sanjak—whether it shall become an autonomous moslem state or be rejoined to Syria, which France has ruled under a league of nations mandate.

Among the clauses understood to be contained in the Turkish-French friendship treaty was the following important condition:

France and Turkey have agreed that the "political status quo" of the eastern Mediterranean should be maintained and further decided upon mutual consultations should events tend toward upsetting this stipulation.

Barbara's Husband Arraigned In Court for Threatening Her

Monopoly Committee To Divide Itself As Six Sub-Divisions

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The monopoly committee, organizing for its job of investigating concentrations of wealth and economic power, agreed today to divide into six subcommittees, each to pursue a particular line of inquiry.

The count was freed under 2,000 pound ($10,000) bail and a hearing was set for Tuesday. His defense will be denial.

Before his release the count satisfied the court that he was not carrying a gun and he promised to keep away from the countess and not to communicate with her.

The litigation was expected to end in separation or divorce of the nobleman and the blonde, American-born heiress to Woolworth millions. They were married May 14, 1935, in Reno the day after her divorce from the late Prince Alexis Mdivani.

The countess did not appear today, remaining locked within her regent's park mansion with the couple's two-year-old son Lance, about whom the quarrel centered. They differed on questions regarding his bringing up.

The child yesterday was made a ward of the chancery court at the request of the countess, out of control of both herself and her husband.

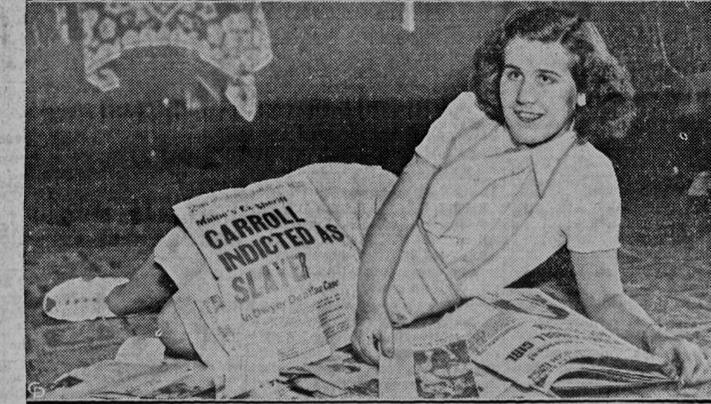

The count, met by policemen, was hustled to the Bow street court immediately upon his arrival from Paris to answer to the charge. This was done with a flurry and with general bowing.

The charge against him was that he had written a letter "using threats toward his wife whereby she apprehends she goes in danger of her life or bodily harm."

Congressman Edward Eicher Reports Withdrawal From Race

Will Testify Against Father—But Not "Hurt" Him

When Francis M. Carroll, former ex-deputy sheriff indicted in the slaying of Dr. James G. Littlefield at South Paris, Me., goes on trial, his daughter, Barbara, 17, will testify for the state against her father. Barbara added, however, "Nothing I will say will hurt dad as far as the murder charge is concerned." Carroll was drawn into the case by accusations of Paul Dwyer, 18, Barbara's former sweetheart now serving a life sentence as the confessed slayer of the doctor and his wife. "Barbara is seen making a scrapbook of newspaper clippings.

Was Nominee For Re-election On Dem. Ticket

Will Devote Attention To Congressional Monopoly Committee

Congressman Edward C. Eicher, democratic nominee for reelection, last night withdrew his candidacy in a telegram sent to Attorney William R. Hart, member of the state democratic central committee.

Eicher announced he will devote all his attention to the work of a congressional monopoly investigating committee to which he was appointed 10 days ago.

Eicher, just now completing his third term in office, was unopposed in the primary, receiving more than 2,500 votes in this county, one of the largest totals on the ticket.

Attorney Thomas E. Martin is the republican nominee.

Attorney Hart said last night that he has sent telegrams to the county chairmen of all the 11 districts in the first congressional district, announcing the Washington, Ia., man's withdrawal.

At today's county conventions 11 congressional committeemen will be selected, and these will be called to Iowa City next week to set the time and place for a congressional convention, when Eicher's successor on the ticket will be named.

Eicher's withdrawal last night came as a complete surprise to Iowa Citizens. Eicher had made no primary campaign but was expected to begin his campaign soon.

Eicher will remain as a member of the monopoly committee, Sen. Clyde L. Herring said in Des Moines tonight, until his term in congress expires Jan. 1, 1939. Work of the committee is expected to be completed before that time, the senator said.

Born near Noble, Ia., in Washington county, Mr. Eicher is 60 years old. A former railroad attorney, Eicher was the first Iowa congressman to openly declare himself in favor of the president's court reorganization bill last year.

In this spring's state primary the democratic senatorial primary, Eicher publicly expressed himself as favoring the election of Congressman Otha D. Wearin, who was defeated.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., July 1 (AP)—A $15,000 trailer was completed today for respirator-ridden Fred B. Snite Jr.

The unique vehicle will be driven to Chicago tomorrow or Sunday for use of the infantile paralysis victim.

The trailer has an opening in the roof to which a revolving mirror is attached so Snite, lying on his back in the iron lung with only his head protruding, may see the surroundings when he travels.

Business Shows Turn for Better In Past 2 Weeks

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor reported today that business prospects had taken a sudden turn for the better in the past two weeks.

At the same time it called upon organized labor to continue resistance against wage reductions, saying:

"There is still the possibility that some industry employing a large number of workers might cut wages and start off a series of wage cuts throughout industry. If this happens it would have so strong a deflationary effect as to offset the beginnings of improvement and start business into a further decline."

John L. Lewis, the A F of L's rival for labor leadership, likewise reiterated opposition to wage reductions.

Smith Defends U.S. Mediators

Third in University Lecture Series By Senator T. V. Smith

The modern politician, with all of his "ambiguous promises and downright lies," is, nevertheless, the supreme hope of our democratic society.

Thus, Senator Thomas V. Smith of Illinois, professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago and candidate for congress, came to the defense of today's lawmakers as he spoke on the west front of Old Capitol last night, the third of the university's summer lectures.

Referring to the lack of understanding between classes and professions in our modern society as the "divisions of labor" which are responsible for "the tragic situation of the normal processes of civilization," Senator Smith regarded the politician as the sole mediator between unrelenting factions in the conflicts which constantly arise between "equally legitimate interests and equally moral causes," and said that upon him rests the only alternative to dictatorship.

The senator spoke of the typical situations which face legislators today—with "legitimate interests" on either hand, each demanding legislation, each possessed with a feeling of moral righteousness.

"The politicians themselves are the only bridge builders," he asserted. "They are the only ones capable of spreading the cement of sociology over the crevices created by this division of labor."

"What we need," he maintained, "is someone who can create justice where there is no justice," and he mentioned a typical case of the sit-down strike, in which each of the disagreeing factions is convinced of the virtue of his own individual cause.

The speaker viewed the political situation as a whole.

Report Women And Children Die in Air Raid

HONGKONG, July 2 (Saturday) (AP)—Chinese reported today that 400 civilians including women and children were killed or wounded in yesterday's Japanese bombing raid on the south China port of Swatow.

Nine Japanese planes rained more than 100 bombs on the city, many falling in crowded residential sections.

Of the casualties, Chinese said 200 were school children who were leaving their classrooms as a school building was struck. Other buildings damaged included the municipal and a Red Cross headquarters.

Buildings were destroyed on a large scale as the powerful explosives ploughed to earth from great heights.

The devastating attack began at 5:00 p.m., and lasted for an hour and a half. The population had had some warning, for six of the planes had circled over the city for 30 minutes before the first bomb was loosed.

The objectives, according to eye-witnesses, appeared to be the mayor's office, military headquarters and the power station.

The attack, on a far greater scale than several previous bombings recently, created panic as it continued through the 90 terrifying minutes. The populace ran in all directions as buildings after building was shattered.

The Chinese believed the raid to be the prelude to a large-scale Japanese invasion of south China. Foreign observers thought the Japanese would follow it with an attempt to establish a shore base for an overland drive toward Canton.

Secretary Woodring Asserts 'Our Present Troubles Small'

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 1 (AP)—Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring today ranked "our present troubles" as "small" compared with those overcome by the armies in blue and gray who fought on this historical battlefield just 75 years ago.

"Inheriting from the initiative, the ingenuity and the courage so manifest throughout their useful lives," the secretary said, "we may rely on our ability and that of our descendants to go forward with America to new heights."

A New Declaration Of Independence—1938

Model—Gains Prestige

JULY, which should be one of the pleasantest months of the year, has become a bug-bear to the accident statistician. Last July 10,200 Americans were killed in accidents and with the week end holiday approaching, precautions are being taken by responsible persons to cheat death on this Independence day.

Statistics are always dry, but a glance at a few may impress the need for caution over the Fourth. Every eleven and a half days of the average July, as many Americans are killed by accidents as lost their lives in the Revolutionary war.

Over the last five years, July's list of dead from accidental causes has been 29 per cent greater than that of the average month. Approximately one million people suffered disabling accidents last July—one out of every 130 persons in the United States.

In 1936, the latest year for which complete figures are available, July topped every other month of the year for lives lost by drowning, falls, excessive heat, electric shock and food poisoning.

One quarter of the drownings occur in July.

Falls in the home, at work and in the street take an average of 73 lives a day during the year, but in July the average jumps to 83 lives a day.

July's clear warm weather is no safety medium for drivers for 4 out of 5 accidents in July occur when the pavement is dry and the sky clear.

Accidents for last July cost an estimated price of $350,000,000. In the United States last July, the average accidental death rate toll averaged 14 an hour.

It is little wonder that the National Safety Council, after gathering together all the statistics available on accidents; published a new Declaration of Independence for the month of July.

THE 1938 DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

WHEREAS one hundred and sixty-two years ago citizens of the thirteen United States declared their independence on the basis of their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and WHEREAS each year their descendants celebrate the birth of this independence by wholesale sacrifice of life, and

WHEREAS in place of life, liberty and happiness we have death, destruction and tragedy, and the irony of many more Americans slaughtered in celebrating their independence than died in the war that gained it, and

WHEREAS last year 10,200 men, women and children were killed in July—many of them in this Independence Day jamboree—and

WHEREAS this year, with a week end prolonging the holiday, there is no reason to hope for a less bloody toll—unless we awake to the danger and put the brakes on our headlong dash into destruction, and

WHEREAS the Fourth of July toll, shocking as it is, merely signals the opening of a month which year after year leaves strewn behind it a greater list of dead and injured than any other month of the twelve;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the National Safety Council call on America to cut down this mid-summer massacre by signing a new Declaration of Independence—Independence from the annual tribute of tens of thousands of American lives needlessly sacrificed. . . Independence from the kind of celebration that leaves us the dead and the sightless and the suffering, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Executive Committee of the National Safety Council call on every citizen of the United States to do his or her part in this new independence from death and disaster by being careful and considerate of others on the streets and highways, whether walking or driving; by being careful while boating or swimming and by taking no chances with explosives or fireworks, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we call upon all public officials, including governors, mayors, chiefs of police, heads of state highway patrols and all others charged with public welfare, to remember that it is not only ironic but cruel to celebrate life and happiness by death and tragedy, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we call on all churches, schools, fraternal and civic organizations and upon every individual in the country to join this new Declaration of Independence for a new lease on life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness!

'Happy Days'—You Know The Rest

WE'VE been saying all along it wouldn't be long, if business forgot its fear.

Sure enough. It's happened. We've just been reading Babson's business report for the week. Stocks zoomed all week; there was a stampede of buying in Wall Street, the greatest since last year, Oct. 29. Trading in stock exchanges swelled to 2,658,000 shares. Prices of the shares went up, some $1, some $5 and a few $10. Industrial shares went at the highest prices since November.

More cars were sold. About 65,000 tons of cotton goods was purchased, and railroad freight volumes increased two-fold, all during this last week.

Then WPA helped a bit. The WPA Sunday put into effect a pay increase averaging about $5 a month for all WPA workers in 13 states. More than 500,000 persons will benefit.

The president signed the wage-hour bill which will, within 90 days, raise wages, lower hours of 2,000,000 American workers.

Do you mind, then, if we're just a bit cheerful this morning? It looks as if that shower President Roosevelt spoke of may be on us.

Watchman, Watchman, Spare Those 31, Or Who Trew Dat Baseball?

THE time was late afternoon yesterday.

The place was a vacant lot adjoining a university building.

The characters were three university students.

The occasion was a friendly game of "catch."

The three boys were busily engaged in tossing the ball back and forth when the university "campus cop," carrying out his duty, came across this little group and stopped the game.

Now this group and similar groups can't play "catch" on this vacant lot anymore.

Why should men be allowed to play games like "catch" on lots owned by the university, lots which adjoin campus buildings? After all, didn't the state, at great expense, create playgrounds across the river west of the field house, only about a mile away? On these ball diamonds at the field-house, which are very similar to this afore-mentioned vacant lot, you can schedule and play a ball game even though it may take 15 minutes of walking to get to the ball park.

It is necessarily foolish to expect the university to allow ball games in the vicinity of classroom windows for obvious reasons—a home run ball crashing through a window is not only disturbing but also destructive. However, anyone familiar with "catch," and who isn't, will realize that such a game played within 50 feet of a building, even if the building was a greenhouse with its myriad windows, is practically safe.

Oh, well, Monday is Independence day.

Tuning In with Loren Hickerson

Guests of Kay Kyser at his "Musical-Class and Dance" program are admitted to the broadcasting studio a half-hour before airtime to give the maestro plenty of time to select those who will participate in the program.

Tonight, being Saturday, is the night of the Hit Parade, still one of the few constantly top ranking favorites.

And perhaps second to Charlie McCarthy and Snow White and the seven dwarfs, the tobacco auctioneer, with his well known chant, has been unduly commercialized.

The Cantor Touch Terry Kilburn, the brilliant young actor who flashed to prominence several months ago on Eddie Cantor's program as the winner of a search for new talent, is the latest to join the ranks of successful Cantor "graduates."

Included on the list are Deanna Durbin, Bobby Breen, Burns and Allen, "Parkyakarkus" and several others. It's becoming an adage that an appearance with Cantor is practically a springboard to stardom.

Terry's work on the air led directly to a role in "Lord Jeff," MGM picture starring Freddie Bartholomew. When the film was previewed in Hollywood the other night, Terry stole the picture, in the opinion of practically every reviewer.

Benny Goodman The king of swing, who has been appearing in Montreal, really made a hit there. Goodman is apparently new in Canada. The swanky Hotel Mount Royal is decorated in a swing motif and banners are flying.

Voice of Experience! Following the receipt of a letter from a desperate listener, the Voice of Experience recently asked his radio audience to send him ideas on the subject, "how to avoid visits from unwelcome relatives."

The replies varied from suggestions to leave home before they arrive to one which stated: "If that old battle-axe was a relative of mine and made life miserable for me, my wife and my dog, I'd put a stinkbomb in her bedroom and smoke the old hag out!"

There's a typical list of Saturday night baahds for your entertainment tonight—Horace Heidt and Kay Kyser at 9:30, and Rudy Vallee at 10 and Freddie Martin at 10:30, to mention a few.

Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 1—Senator Henrik Shipstead's plan for railroad rehabilitation has been referred to as a form of pump-priming—not only by the senator but by commentators on his suggestion. Not that these commentators necessarily are adverse critics; some of them believe in pump-priming and speak of the Shipstead proposal as an excellent way of doing it. But they do call it pump-priming.

It does not seem to me a bit like pump-priming. In pump-priming there is not the least bit of nutriment. It is more like a stimulant. It has approximately the same relation to the Shipstead scheme that a "shot of licker" has to a series of doses of cod liver oil. A little "licker" may be all right in an emergency, but, after all, it is an artificiality, and sometimes it has a nasty reaction. Cod liver oil legitimately builds up a run-down system. Its purveyors say it does, anyway. I never took any. I'm more familiar with the other thing.

What Is Matter? Well, if ever a system was run-down our railroad system is. We all know that. The roads themselves admit and perhaps exaggerate it.

Their distress is importantly responsible for our recent economic tie-up.

What, then, is the matter with the roads?

Principally, their equipment is hopelessly out of date. If improved, the roads' operating costs could be cut. Perhaps they could reduce rates, thus getting more business—and maintain wages.

But they cannot make the required improvements; they have not the money.

Why Not Use Junk? In short: The roads have a lot of obsolete rolling stock on hand that they cannot operate advantage-

First Aid Saves Many a Life

Doctor Believes Dangers Of Camp Life Greatly Exaggerated

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The pure and health-giving life in camp, in the great out of doors, on river and lake, is made miserable for some of us by the thought of spiders, snakes, scorpions, centipedes, etc. This is nearly all unnecessary. I talked with a man yesterday who had been bitten by all these varmints from scorpions to rattlesnakes, and found him very contemptuous of their prowess.

The tarantula is like a singed cat—it looks worse than it is. There are a good many species of tarantula and the chances are that you are right about any large spider you see in the woods—that it is a tarantula. Like most spiders, they have some venom with which to paralyze their prey, but this is not seriously harmful to man. Raised, swollen areas about an inch in diameter occur around the location of the bite, but no constitutional symptoms result. The best treatment is to apply tincture of iodine or equal parts of ammonia and water as a wet dressing.

The black widow spider is another and more serious matter—although fatalities are not reported—but the black widow is found under conditions of civilization rather than in the woods. Most patients are bitten in bed.

Scorpion Little Consequence Scorpion bites are of such little consequence that in most cases if the victim hasn't seen the animal, he thinks it is a mosquito bite. Centipedes cause a red stinging eruption which is not as troublesome as the bites of red ants. Most of the suffering from all of these is due to the psychic state of fear.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—"Lord Jeff" is a persuasive story about the regeneration of a young man, a favorite theme of the Metro factory. As in "Captains Courageous," Freddie Bartholomew is the boy who learns his lesson.

Freddie's cunning and intelligence are used for a time by a pair of crooks. When he is caught and made a ward of the court, he is "sentenced" to one of the Barnardo homes, famous in England.

This one happens to be a school where young men are prepared for the merchant marine. One of the students is Mickey Rooney, who takes Freddie in tow. When Freddie tries to run away, Mickey goes after him, brings him back after a fight. The smart old boss, Herbert Mundin, realizes that Freddie has the makings of a great student and appoints him coxswain of the crew, although the other boys are giving Freddie the chill.

It takes a lot of excitement to reach the happy ending of Director Sam Wood's well-made picture. Stand-out in the piece is a new lad, Terry Kilburn, son of a London bus driver, here playing his first screen part.

Smartest Kay Francis casting in years appears in "My Bill," recognizable as another version of Tom Barry's play "Courage."

ously and yet cannot replace—being too poverty-stricken. Still, this ancient stuff has a market value as junk. Illustratively, there is in it a huge quantity of steel—dandy raw material for countries now engaged in armament construction. Fancy prices are being paid for such scrap in Europe and the Orient.

Senator Shipstead's theme is: "Why not utilize our railroads' otherwise useless supply of it?"

Junk Value Parenthetically, I do not intend to imply that the Minnesota farmer-laborite would condone armament-building.

He points out only that a used-up freight car has about $100 worth of value left in it, and the number of such freight cars is legion. The hint that these derelict cars are militarily available is my own, not the senator's.

A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Formula for a hot night: (A)—Undress leisurely and get under a shower. Remain there for a long time—20 or 30 minutes.

(B)—Slip into something cool and thin—perhaps white linen, or a palm beach.

(C)—Take the elevator downstairs. If one isn't handy, wait for it. Walking is unwise.

(D)—Look around for a taxi, but make the cabbie come to you. Never let him wait while you go to him. Climb inside and sink back in the soft upholstery. Close your program for a moment and take a deep breath.

(E)—Tell him to drive you through the park and out across George Washington Bridge. As you cross the bridge lift your eyes to the Palisades heights and look at that picture-castle, which looks like the glow of a firefly, perched on the very lip of the cliffs. That will be the Riviera. Tell your driver to take you there, through Fort Lee, up to the glittering entrance.

(F)—Get out. Pay your fare. Stroll casually up the steps and into the bar. No doubt Benny Davis will be there. Shake hands with him. You know Benny. . . Yes, you do. . . He's the song-writer, the fellow who wrote hundreds of tunes that you've whistled a thousand times. . . "Margie," for instance. . . "I Still Get a Thrill Thinking of You." . . See, I knew you'd remember him.

(G)—After you talk awhile, amble on through the bar and out into the Riviera proper, which is an oval soft light and music and tables and Sophie Tucker.

(H)—Insist on a table not too near the dance floor—say, on the first row against the rail of the elevated rim. . . You're sky high then. . . Only your feet are on the ground. . . Don't be in a hurry. . . Tell your waiter to come back in a little while. . . Let him do what he's supposed to do—wait.

(I)—Give a few minutes to Enrico Madraguera's music, for I doubt if you'll find better anywhere. . . And if you have something you want very much to hear, request it. . . He may play it for you, if it doesn't interfere with the program.

(J)—Rest your eyes on the soft stars above the river. . . Shift a little in your chair until you are comfortable, until it fits you. . . And then you may order. . . Call your waiter. . . Tell him what it's to be, only be certain that it's tall and cool.

(K)—After that, I guess the evening's pretty fool-proof. . . From there on you can't go wrong. . . Just sit there and have your dinner and those other things which most people like to have with dinner. . . And enjoy the show. . . By all means pay particular attention to Sophie, and to Willie and Eugene Howard. . . They take the weight of the world off your shoulders. . . They leave you in a good mood.

(L)—By this time, you should be impervious to the heat and summer weather. But if you aren't, if even the Riviera fails to alleviate your suffering, there's one thing left. You can always go outside and jump off the cliff.

Dodgers Bow to Giants

Harry Gumbert Goes Route In 3 to 1 Triumph

Bob Seeds' Homer Provides New York With Victory Margin

BROOKLYN, July 1 (AP)—Bob Seeds, fresh up from the International league, clouted a homer with two mates aboard in the fifth inning today to give the New York Giants a 3-1 victory over their old enemies, the Dodgers.

The victory, strengthening the Giants' hold on their four-game National league lead, stretched their winning streak to five straight. It was the seventh in a row for Bill Terry's Terriers over the Dodgers this season. The Brooklyn has yet to beat the Giants in 1938.

Both teams collected eight hits, Harry Gumbert giving up that many in winning his seventh victory of the year against five defeats, and the Giants tagging Luke Hamlin and Tot Pressnell for the same amount.

Man Mountain Dean's Baby Just a Hoax

LOS ANGELES, July 1 (AP)—It was just a hoax—Man Mountain Dean isn't a papa. The huge bearded wrestler admitted today that he invented the story as a futile scheme, hoping it might induce the California state athletic commission to release a purse held up after one of his night shenanigans here Wednesday night. Dean told the commission he needed the money because of the "new arrival," and later thought so well of his "brave child" that he called writers here and advised them of the "event." Confronted with a denial by his wife at the Dean farm near Norcross, Ga., the wrestler admitted the hoax. "Just forget the whole thing. I'm just a liar," Dean said.

After 51 Years In Baker Bowl Phillies Move to Shibe Park

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP)—The Philadelphia National league baseball grounds, known in recent years as Baker bowl, have seen the last of the Phillies. Beginning Monday the National leaguers will use Shibe park, home of the Athletics, for all their games. The managements of the two clubs met today and signed final papers. The abandoned grounds were used by the Phillies for 51 years during which time they won only one pennant, in 1915. When the club's first steel cantilever grandstand was built it was the wonder of baseball. Today the park is one of the smallest in either major league circuit.

Foxx Leads Attack As Red Sox Clout Macks for 12-7 Win

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox came from behind today with a six-run spurge in the eighth inning to beat the Athletics, 12-7, and give Lefty Bob Grove his 12th victory of the season.

Behind, 5-1, at the end of the fourth, the Red Sox tied the score on Jimmy Foxx's 23rd homer of the season off Bud Thomas with two on in the fifth and Vosmik's single off Relief Pitcher Nelson Potter in the seventh.

Phillies Clip Boston Bees Twice, 4-1, 5-0

Maggert's Pinch Homer Is Only Run Scored Off Passeau and LaMaster

BOSTON, July 1 (AP)—Holding the Bees scoreless except for Pinch-hitter Earl Maggert's homer, Philadelphia copped a doubleheader from the Boston Nationals today, 4-1 and 5-0.

Maggert's four-base blow in the eighth inning of the first game put the Bees on an even footing with the Phillies until Relief Pitcher Bobbie Reis gave four bases on balls in the last of the ninth. His wildness forced in one run and a single by Herschel Martin scored two more before the game ended.

Tiger Secondbaseman

CHAS. GEHRINGER, DETROIT SECOND BASEMAN—THE FIELDS OF NEAR PERFECTION

GEHRINGER WAS HIGHLY HONORED WHEN HE WAS NAMED THE ONLY SECOND BASEMAN ON THE AMERICAN LEAGUE ALL-STAR TEAM

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Belting Bill Dickey took personal charge of keeping the Yankees' winning streak alive today, hammering two homers, good for seven runs, to pace the world champions to an 8 to 0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Between Dickey's walloping, a homer by Frankie Crosetti, and the fine six-hit pitching of Spud Chandler, it was just a breeze for the Yanks to stretch their streak to six straight. With the league-leading Cleveland Indians rained out, the win boosted the Yanks to within 2 1-2 games of the pace.

Chandler's performance marked the second shutout by a Yankee pitcher in three days, and the sixth straight game in which Yankee hurlers have gone the route. In their winning streak, they have allowed just eight runs in 54 innings.

Budge Crushes Austin in Final American Wins In Three Sets

WILMINGTON, England, July 1 (AP)—Don Budge, working his monotonous miracles with incredible ease, played phenomenal tennis for 22 minutes on Wimbledon's center court today and thrashed Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin in the men's singles final of the All-England championships, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3.

In these 22 minutes, before a hushed and strangely baffled capacity crowd, Budge won 14 consecutive games. After that he just toyed with the "Mechanical Rabbit" until the end.

Queen Mother Mary and the Duke and Duchess of Kent were in the crowd that saw Budge become the first foreigner since 1921 to defend the Wimbledon title successfully.

With one title thus secure, the United States has the two finalists in the women's championship, Helen Wills Moody and Helen Jacobs, and seven of the 12 players left in the three doubles finals tomorrow.

Mrs. Moody still is a 5-4 favorite to beat Miss Jacobs. Budge and Gene Mako and Budge and Alice Marble are favored to retain their men's doubles and mixed doubles crowns, and Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry to win the women's doubles. If all the favorites prevail, it will be the first time in the history of the tournament that all five titles have been taken by one country.

After the first ten minutes, the Budge-Austin match had all the elements of an exhibition. Unlike his 1932 final against Ellsworth Vines, Austin was not awed by the speed of Budge's service. In fact it was against this service in the first game that he looked, for a brief instance, like a potential giant-killer.

Queen Mary Congratulates Don

WIMBLEDON, England, July 1 (AP)—Queen Mary asked to see Don Budge and Bunny Austin after Budge had beaten the Briton in straight sets for the Wimbledon championship today.

The queen mother congratulated the blushing Californian and sympathized with Bunny. "She's a kind and wonderful lady," said Budge later.

Chicago Bruins Claw Reds, 11-4 In Night Game

CINCINNATI, July 1 (AP)—Clay Bryant hurled six hit ball for Chicago tonight to tag an 11 to 4 defeat on the Cincinnati Reds.

Bryant held the Redlegs in complete subjection for eight innings, allowing one unearned run and but one hit—a fourth-inning double by Ival Goodman. Cincinnati rallied for three runs in the ninth, one of them on Berger's home run.

The Cubs jumped on Paul Derringer, Jim Weaver and Whitey Moore to get ten of their 11 runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, aided by Billy Myers' three errors. Marty hit a four-bagger for Chicago.

Louis-Baer Go Now Appears Improbable

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Prospects of a September heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Max Baer faded into the realm of improbability today as the champion and Promoter Mike Jacobs indicated there were not overly anxious to have the match this year.

In Chicago, Julian Black, co-manager of the brown bomber, said Louis was a bit worn out and reluctant to meet Baer in September. In New York, Promoter Mike Jacobs said he was "open minded" on the subject of a Baer-Louis match this fall.

Ring experts around New York's cauliflower row almost unanimously believe Louis will not risk his title until 1939.

Louis Gets Good Start on Vacation

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, got away to a good start today on a vacation his managers said would take him from the ring for the remainder of this year. Joe, who makes no secret of his love for sleep and lots of it, slept almost the whole day through.

Old Capitol to Have Birthday Monday

July 4—Old Capitol's Birthday

SUI Building's Corner Stone 98 Years Old

Centennial of Act Creating Territory Comes July 4, 1938

Iowa officially had been a territory for exactly two years before pioneer builders laid the corner stone of the State Capitol, now the historic Old Capitol, administration building of the University of Iowa.

One hundred years ago Monday, July 4, 1838, the legislative act creating the territory of Iowa went into effect after having been signed by President Martin Van Buren June 12.

And 98 years ago, the pioneers hoisted the stone of the new territorial capitol into place at the southeast corner, while hilarious settlers mingled with a few of Poweshiek's tribesmen at the combined Independence day and cornerstones laying celebration.

Having completed the ceremonies, the builders constructed the former heart of territorial and state government for permanency. They hewed limestone blocks from the river bluffs and rafted these 8,000-pounders downriver. Some of them are six feet thick.

So staunchly did they build that the capitol was not completed for about fifteen years. Used before all of the construction work was finished, it was the site of territorial assemblies, six sessions of the state legislature after Iowa was admitted to the Union in 1846, and three constitutional conventions.

In the fall of 1857 when Des Moines became the capital of Iowa, Old Capitol was given to the university and at one time housed several academic departments, including the college of law.

Cornell Players To Perform At Lake Macbride

A cast of nine players from the Cornell summer theater will present a drawing room performance of a one-act play tomorrow afternoon at the summer home of Dean George D. Stoddard of the graduate college of the University of Iowa, on Lake Macbride.

The cast, directed by Prof. Albert Franklin Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, who will also be present, includes four guest artists at the Mt. Vernon colony who have headed the productions of the summer theater.

Prof. I. Estermann Of Carnegie Institute Visits Physics Dept.

Prof. I. Estermann of the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh was a guest of the physics department of the University of Iowa Thursday.

Professor Estermann lectured on his recent work on the scattering of slow neutrons by ortho and para hydrogen.

The results show, briefly, that the forces acting on neutrons depend in an essential way upon the angular momentum and magnetic properties of the neutron.

University Libraries

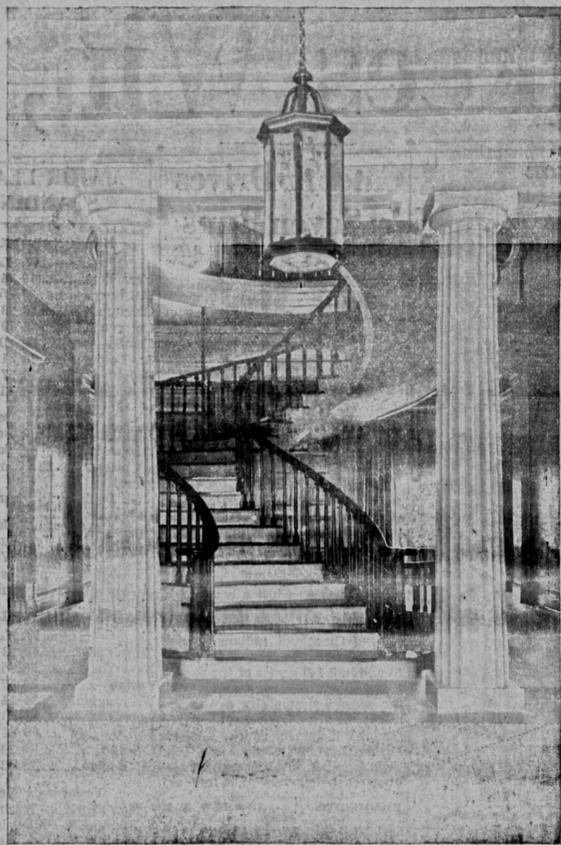

Seventeen books of general interest to the reading public are listed here—a selection from recent additions to the university library:

Seven day books—"Like Water Flowing," by Margaret Mackprang Mackay; "The Dark River," by Charles Nordhoff, and "The Crowning of a King," by Arnold Zweig.

Twenty-eight day books—"The Citizen's Choice," by Barker; "If War Comes," by Dupuy; "Selected Cases on Government and Business," by Gerald O. Dykstra; "Save America First," by Jerome Frank; "Communism, Fascism or Democracy?" by Edward Heimann; "I, William Shakespeare," by Leslie Holton; "Iraq," by Willard Ireland.

"Labor on the March," by Edward Levinson; "An Introduction to the Study of Spinning," by W. E. Morton; "Religion and Public Affairs"; "His Excellency, George Clinton," by Ernest Wilder Spaulding; "Hearken Unto the Voice," by Franz Werfel.

"The Maryland Press," by Joseph Towne Wheeler, and "The Geography of Reading," by Louis R. Wilson.

This unusual photo of Old Capitol accentuates the spiral stairs which leads from the first floor to the senate and house chambers, where former Iowa laws were made. For 80 years now, Old Capitol has formed the nucleus of University of Iowa activity.

Revered by faculty and student body for its historical significance, and for its present place in the life of the university, succeeding generations have mounted these stairs in the varied pursuits of politics and education. Old Capitol has a birthday Monday!

Ninety-eight years ago, the cornerstone of the structure was laid. Not for 15 years was the building completed. Constructed of Iowa's own stone, fitted together with a definite purpose, Old Capitol, like the university itself, has stood the test of time.

HOSTESS HINTS

Hostess Hints

Foods which can be prepared ahead and reheated without loss of flavor or nutritive value are especially popular with the housewife in the summer. Rice is such a food. Quickly and easily digested, it is ideally suited to be the basic energy dish of the lighter meals of the day.

Of course there's a "beauty secret" in all rice dishes—a simple knack called fluffing. Snowy grains of rice cooked neither too moist nor too dry but just right, are achieved this way:

Wash one cup of rice in several waters (put it in a sieve and hold under the faucet) and have two quarts of water boiling in a deep kettle. Add three teaspoons of salt to the water, and then drop in the rice slowly. Let it cook until a grain pressed between thumb and forefinger is soft; then remove it from the stove. Do not stir the rice while it is cooking. If it sticks, you can lift it with a fork from time to time. When the rice is sufficiently cooked, pour it into a sieve or colander and drain. Then let the water pour through it until the grains are separated. To "fluff" the rice, put the sieve or colander full of rice over a pan of hot water on the stove. Place a cloth over the top and steam the rice until the grains dry a little and are large and fluffy.

Here are some suggestions for rice menus:

Creamed Rice With Eggs Au Gratin
3 cups hot boiled rice
6 eggs
1-2 cups medium white sauce
1-2 cup grated cheese
Combine the rice and white sauce. Place a one-half inch layer of creamed rice in a buttered shallow oven dish or individual ramekin. Make slight hollows in the rice. Break an egg into each hollow. Season; cover with grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 minutes, or until the eggs are set. This will serve six.

Rice and Fish Loaf
3 cups boiled rice
3-4 cup thick white sauce
1-2 teaspoons minced parsley
2 cups minced cooked fish
1 teaspoon onion juice
1 egg
2 tablespoons butter
Any kind of white-fleshed fish, salmon, fresh or canned, or tuna fish may be used in making this dish. Add the butter (melted) to the rice. Butter a mold and line with the rice, reserving a little to spread over the top. Steam or bake the loaf until done, about 40 minutes. If baked, it should be set in a pan of hot water and covered for the first half of the cooking. Serve with buttered or creamed peas, tomato sauce, curry sauce or savory egg sauce. This amount serves eight.

Creamed Peanuts and Rice
1 cup rice
2 cups chopped peanuts
2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons flour
1-2 tablespoon paprika
3 tablespoons fat
3 cups milk
Wash the rice thoroughly. Boil and drain. Make a white sauce of the last five ingredients, and combine all ingredients. Bake in a buttered baking dish in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. This will serve six.

Actors Proving Vaudeville Still Lives in Portland

By SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. — Four old troupers here have decided that vaudeville isn't dead after all—and are making their decision stick.

It's taken an idea and some careful management, but the old-timers have been putting on a couple of shows nightly for years, and their enterprise is still going strong.

The show is put on in a sort of night club, but only beer is served and the management insists it is running a vaudeville show rather than a cabaret. Each one of the entertainers earns his way by other duties.

Most of the performers wait table. One is a hat check girl, one a cigarette girl. Several double in the dance orchestra. The Negro tap dancer is janitor. A singer draws beer when the spotlight goes off.

Owners Work, Too

The four owners and managers present the feature act, a "singing waiters" quartet. Their aggregate stage experience is 94 years, ranging from Frank Confer's 39 years, to 15 for Bill Barardinelli, the "baby" of the enterprise.

Confer is not at all hopeful of vaudeville coming back on a big scale, despite announcement that a New York theater chain of 20 houses would revive it in the fall. However, he is personally loyal to that once thriving branch of the show business, believing that it is both good entertainment for the audience and the natural field for budding entertainment talent.

As long as they can sell enough 10-cent glasses of beer to meet their payroll, the singing waiters are going to see that Portland has vaudeville.

Philadelphia leads the country in the production of leather goods, knit goods, rugs, cigars, cigarettes, hats, saws and files.

Mannheimer To Teach Piano At Mount Vernon

Attracting musicians from eight states for a five-week course of study beginning this month, Frank Mannheimer of the Tobias Matthay school of pianoforte of London will teach in the Cornell college summer school at Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Mannheimer will conduct individual lessons and offer lectures on piano technique and literature during the five weeks period beginning July 12 and concluding Aug. 15.

This will be the third appearance of Mr. Mannheimer in Mt. Vernon. He appeared in concerts in 1935 and 1937. Mr. Mannheimer was soloist with the Chicago symphony orchestra in the May music festival of 1937.

Annual Financial Report for School District Presented Here

Report Shows Balance on Hand In General Fund $118,572.79

Budget for Current Year Ready July 13 For Consideration

The annual financial report of the Iowa City independent school district for the fiscal year, July 1, 1937 to June 30, 1938, was presented to the school board by Glenn R. Griffith, treasurer, at a special meeting in the administration building last night.

In detail the report showed a balance on hand in the general fund July 1, 1937 of $118,572.79, and receipts during the year totaled $205,804.47. Expenditures amounted to $207,222.56, leaving a cash balance in the general fund June 30, 1938 of $117,154.70.

Griffith's report showed the school fund to have a cash balance of $18,386.09 at the beginning of the fiscal period. Receipts in this fund totaled $25,306.02, while disbursements of $10,273.71 left a balance of $33,418.40 at the end of the year.

There was no balance in the construction fund at the beginning of the fiscal period, according to the records. Through a bond sale, receipts of $403,451.00 were built up, and the expenditure of $30,120.89 during the period left a balance of $373,330.11 at the close of the year.

The board authorized the secretary to make arrangements for publishing the annual financial report as required by law.

Superintendent Opstad announced that budget for the current fiscal year would be drawn up and ready for the board's consideration at the regular monthly meeting July 13.

John L. Hamilton, architect for the new high school building, met with the board, and discussed various minor details in the construction.

V. R. Miller and Elza M. Means, buildings, grounds and janitors committee, were instructed to make a survey of the buildings, supervising repairs and improvements.

Members present at last night's meeting were Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec, W. W. Mercer, Elza M. Means, Dr. George Maresh and V. R. Miller. Dr. W. E. Spence and T. G. Caywood were absent.

Would Carve China Into Five Separate Units

Arrangements Have Small Chance For Chinese Acceptance

By J. D. WHITE
PEIPING, July 1 (AP)—An elaborate peace plan for ending the Chinese-Japanese war, under which China would be carved into at least five autonomous units, today was reported being drafted by Chinese members of the Peiping provisional government and their Japanese advisers.

The government officials and their advisers all are dominated by the Japanese army.

Has Little Chance
While the plan admittedly had little chance of early acceptance by the Chinese government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, it was believed to be an important indication of the basis of which Japan would be glad to terminate the conflict, now less than a week from its first anniversary.

Informed persons who reported the plan said that, roughly, it called for continuation of the present status of Japanese occupation, with division of China into at least five autonomous units under separate governments.

Resembles Imperialism
But as a bid for European acceptance of Japan's partial conquest of China, Japanese sources indicated European powers would be offered spheres of influence. The whole scheme therefore was said to resemble the plans of imperialists of 40 years ago, when the break up of China appeared imminent.

The five autonomous Chinese states envisaged by the draft plan were said to be:
North China, under the present Peiping provisional government.
Inner Mongolia, under Teh Wang, Japan's Mongol friend who heads the present Mongolia federation with the capital at Kweihsia in Suiyuan province.
East China, under the Japanese-dominated Nanking "reformed government of China."
Central China, under the present Chinese government at Hankow.
South China, under a combination of Kwangtung-Kwangsi provincial leaders.

Would Recognize Chiang
It was said Japan would recognize Chiang Kai-Shek as head of the Hankow regime if he would accept the scheme. Probably he would resign to save his face and then return, it was said.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, said that Italy and Germany would recognize the Peiping provincial government soon as an extension of their anti-communist accord with Japan. Both already have recognized Manchoukuo, the state Japan carved out of China's Manchurian provinces.

Other sources expressed belief the United States, Britain and France would continue to recognize the Hankow regime as the legal government of all China but would maintain de facto contact with the Peiping regime through their branch embassies here.

Members present at last night's meeting were Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec, W. W. Mercer, Elza M. Means, Dr. George Maresh and V. R. Miller. Dr. W. E. Spence and T. G. Caywood were absent.
