"Tenting Tonight—the Old Camp Ground"

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2 (AP)—An American symbol of "peace eternal" will be dedicated by President Roosevelt tomorrow on this field where the blood of a divided nation was spilled 75 years ago.

Alabama limestone, topped by a light that will glow "forever." The aged heroes of the war between the states, for whose "last reunion" Sunday's spectacle is to provide the high point, reviewed a military parade today. Then many retired early, worn out.

Meantime, in a speech for a "veterans night" reunion, Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the American Legion, said this battlefield "affords the world its greatest object lesson in peace" and the men who fought there afforded America's doughboys an object lesson in courage.

"There is no other record in all history," he added, "where 75 years afterwards, the survivors of opposing armies met on the field of battle in friendship, affection and brotherly love." Two of the aging men who fought here three quarters of a century ago, one in the blue of

To Shift Main U. S. Air Force Headquarters

Army Will Place Nerve Center Into Interior for Defense

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The army intends to shift the directing nerve center of its general headquarters air force 700 miles into the interior, from Langley field, Va., to Scott field, Ill.

War department officials disclosed today that Secretary Woodring had informed President Roosevelt of the forthcoming transfer, to be made as soon as possible. He explained the more central location of Scott field made the shift in the interest of national defense.

At Scott field, 740 miles by air from Washington, the commander of the army's aerial striking force would be nearer the Pacific frontier, while continuing within easy reach of the Atlantic.

The "GHQ" air force was created in 1935 with the aim of meeting quickly a threat to any border. It includes approximately 350 planes of all types. The number is to be nearly tripled in the next two years.

Officials said the transfer would involve merely Major General Frank M. Andrews, the commander; his staff, and probably a score of planes comprising the headquarters squadron of the force.

The bulk of the planes of the "GHQ" air force second wing will remain at Langley, and the remainder of the organization will be undisturbed.

Anticipating the forthcoming transfer, the public works administration announced this week a $5,500,000 allotment to build quarters for 350 enlisted men at Scott field, quarters for about 62 officers, and numerous other buildings. Runways are to be extended also.

Britain Would Fight To Preserve Liberties, Says Prime Minister

Chamberlain Talks to 15,000 At Party Rally

Admits Explanations of Insurgent Bombings Fail to Satisfy Him

KETTERING, Eng., July 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told 15,000 cheering fellow conservatives at a party rally here today that "we would fight again" if there were no other way of preserving "our liberties."

He said first, however, that it was his "prime duty to strain every nerve to avoid repetition of the great war in Europe," and he tempered his patriotic remarks about fighting again with a grim picture of the World war.

Chamberlain's description of the horrors of war—he reminded his audience 21,000,000 persons died in the World war, 3,500,000 of them British—accompanied an explanation of his government's position on the question of repeated Spanish insurgent bombings of British merchant ships.

Chamberlain, bitterly attacked by his opposition and even by some conservatives for his stand on this issue, admitted the explanations of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, insurgent leader, failed to satisfy him.

Intends to Keep Out He reiterated, however, his intention to keep out of war. He said Franco's explanation was that his planes flew so high when they dropped bombs on Spanish government ports that they could not possibly deliberately attack British ships in them.

"I must admit," Chamberlain said, "that I find it a little difficult to reconcile that explanation with some of the facts which are known to us, but perhaps after all Franco's airmen do not always rigidly adhere to their instructions."

The prime minister said he was not going to take the chance of plunging the nation into war because some British ships took the risk of trading in Spain to make huge profits.

Spectacle of Madness "I feel it is my prime duty," he added, "to strain every nerve to avoid repetition of the great war in Europe, and I cannot believe anyone who is not blinded by party prejudice could fail to agree with me."

He spoke of the "horrible barbarities inflicted either wittingly or unwittingly" in China and Spain, and declared "I wonder whether since the world began it has ever seen such a spectacle of human madness and folly."

Unless the Spanish war is ended, Chamberlain said, Europe would remain on the brink of war. He sought to calm fears of Britain's vulnerability in case of another European conflict.

Government Agencies Order A New Release of Millions

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Two government agencies—shock troops in the spending and lending attack on the depression—disclosed today that they had ordered additional millions of dollars to the front line.

The public works administration approved six additional projects in 17 states. It agreed to grant $4,371,939 and lend $19,000 to finance them.

At the same time the federal surplus commodities corporation announced it had bought $8,000,000 worth of flour and wheat cer-real products this week to be distributed free to families on relief. The government thus swung further into its lending-spending program which, experts said, would lift federal spending for relief and job-making to a monthly average of around $200,000,000 a month before the end of the summer. Some of Uncle Sam's economists, scanning the spending outlook, said they expected the monthly rate of disbursements to reach about $300,000,000 by the end of the year.

Warships Rush To Chinese City After Bombing

May Evacuate All Foreigners in Port, Result of Attacks

HONGKONG, July 2 (AP)—Two United States warships were reported rushing to the South China port of Swatow today to take part in probable evacuation of all foreigners as a result of Japanese bombing attacks.

Evacuation of foreigners appeared likely tonight after Japanese planes staged the second attack in two days on Swatow.

Today's casualties were reported limited because the attack was directed only against a railway station and the immediate vicinity and because the bulk of the populace had fled to the countryside after yesterday's devastating bombardment of civilian centers.

Estimates of the two days' casualties placed the number at 500 killed and wounded, including 200 school children.

The United States destroyer Edsall and the gunboat Tulsa were reported steaming to Swatow to join the gunboat Sacramento for protection of American lives and property and possible evacuation.

Further attacks upon Swatow were feared. American residents, most of whom live on a small island opposite the Chinese area, were said to be ready for immediate evacuation under direction of Consul Whitney Young of New York.

(Sixty-nine Americans have been reported in the Swatow consular district and 25 in Swatow itself.)

Added to the aerial terror were spasmodic shellings by a score of Japanese battleships maneuvering off shore.

The British gunboat Dainty also was standing by at Swatow and it was reported a number of the foreign consuls now were urging evacuation of their nationals with the American and British craft as places of refuge.

County's Political Stars

Judge Harold D. Evans, present district court judge, a republican, yesterday was endorsed for re-nomination at the Johnson county republican convention. District judicial convention, Iowa and Johnson counties, will be Thursday morning at the convention.

Attorney F. B. Olsen, a democrat, retiring county chairman, yesterday morning received the county's democratic endorsement for the district judge nomination. The judicial candidate for this district will be nominated Thursday morning at the convention.

Attorney "Bill" Hart — W. H. to those who are formal — has tossed his political hat into the democratic ring. He will, he announced, be a candidate for the place on the ticket left by the withdrawal of Congressman Edward C. Eicher.

County G. O. P. Attacks Demos

Martin, Congressional Candidate, Speaks; Larson Re-elected

A vigorous new deal attack and a short speech by Attorney Thomas E. Martin, republican congressional candidate, featured yesterday's county G. O. P. convention.

Attorney Robert Larson, Iowa City lawyer, was re-elected republican county chairman; he will serve two more years.

Attorney Kenneth M. Dunlop keynoted the convention, lashing the administration's "spending program — one of the most inconsistent and costliest governmental programs this country has ever seen."

Congressional Candidate Martin said Edward C. Eicher's withdrawal from the democratic ticket is "methodic planning." We have a tough job ahead of us, and we will have to put our shoulders to the wheel," Martin said.

Attorney R. G. Popham, G. O. P. lawyer who has announced his candidacy for the Iowa state supreme court, was endorsed in a resolution read by Attorney D. C. Nolan.

Attorney Martin and Judge Harold D. Evans, a candidate for re-election as district judge were also endorsed.

Local candidates at the convention spoke briefly.

SLEEPY BEES They Moved In—Hassan Moved Out

SIoux FALLS, S. D. July 2 (AP)—Bees in his bedroom sent Hassan Ballas to the police today for aid.

"A swarm moved into my bedroom last night and I can't get 'em out," he complained. "What'll I do?"

One officer suggested tear gas; the health department advised sulphur fumigation. Neither of the suggestions was tried and the bees hummed contentedly in their new home while Ballas disconsolately wondered where he would sleep tonight.

Strikers Take Advice, Find Time to Think

NEWTON, Ia., July 2 (AP)—Principals in the Maytag Washing Machine Co. labor dispute here appeared tonight to have taken Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel's advice when he told them to "celebrate the Fourth of July and do a lot of thinking."

Relief was noticeable tonight in both townspeople and workers, 24 hours after 350 CIO sitdowners evacuated the plant they had held for nine days. The plant was closed May 9 when the CIO members walked out in protest against a 10 per cent wage cut.

The governor left Des Moines to spend the holiday in his Harlan, Ia., home. Tuesday he will resume his conference with union, company and "back-to-work" group representatives that led to the evacuation and armistice in the strike.

Meanwhile the Minneapolis office of the National Labor Relations board announced a hearing into charges brought by the CIO union against the company will be held at the Jasper county courthouse here July 18.

"I am delighted with the effect of Friday's conference at which the agreement for evacuation of the plant and keeping it closed was made," Gov. Kraschel declared before leaving for Harlan.

Solon's Charles Chansky, old-line democrat, was re-elected district congressional committeeman. Attorney O. A. Byington, who said he's been a democrat for 70 years, was chairman of the convention.

Stock Market Zooms Upward

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—Wall street shattered tradition with a burst of pre-holiday buying today that sent stocks of industrial corporations to the highest levels since October.

Normally cautious before an extended week end — all markets will be closed Monday, independence day — buyers rushed in, rolling up the largest volume of Saturday trading in eight months. So strong was the conviction that the spectacular advance of the past fortnight marked a turn in the economic cycle, that the usual tendency to be uneasy about holding stocks over an extended week end was almost completely absent.

Leading industrial shares were bid up $1 to $4, lifting the average of 30 representative stocks $1.30 to $70.50, highest since October 30. Turnover of 1,472,420 shares was the highest for a Saturday since Oct. 23.

swing of last week should carry on through a second week without serious interruption left the financial community blinking with surprise, casting about for convincing explanations.

That out of months of stagnation — with smallest trading in a couple of decades — should come without warning a two-weeks' appreciation of some $10,000,000,000 in quoted stock and bond values, left the experts with a staggering job of explaining.

ful possibilities of violence. And the Hagues are wearing that venerable thinness. That, in our mind, just about sizes up the situation.

Hollywood Makes A Move In The Right Direction

INTERESTING work has come from Hollywood this week, on three occasions. In the first place Walter Wanger, who's still in his 30's but one of the screen's most independent producers, has dared to release a film dealing with the Spanish Civil war realistically. Those who've seen the film declare it to be thinly veiled realism, mostly sympathetic to the loyalist cause. Then Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announced it has procured the rights to Robert Sherwood's play, "Idiot's Delight," the most sharply worded denunciation of war and what it means that has yet been written.

Lastly Warner Brothers, who have recently been showing a deeper interest in social movements, announce they will probably film Sinclair Lewis, "It Can't Happen Here," a story of American fascism as it could happen here.

These three announcements, coming as they do together, point toward a move in the right direction it seems to us. Hollywood can, as it has not, play a great part in moulding American social opinion. All great art, according to Bernard Shaw, is didactic. The movies can be art, and they are.

In producing these three films, the Hollywood producers will lose money in the foreign market. "Blockade" has already been barred in both Germany and Italy. If American patronage encourages them, however, the movement will continue. Hollywood, like most of the rest of us, is interested primarily in making money.

Now that it is proposed the government buy surplus clothing, perhaps the political cartoonists will reveal Uncle Sam wearing something else besides that faded frock coat and striped, gaitered and very tiresome pair of breeches.

WHERE GLORY GUARDS

EARLY in the morning vedettes of the 8th Illinois Cavalry were fired upon by the advance of Heth's North Carolinians. The cavalymen returned the fire, then fell back on the brigade commanded by their colonel, William Gamble. They had opened the Battle of Gettysburg, just 75 years ago today.

It was not until the "Stonewall Brigade" recognized the black hats of the 2nd Wisconsin that Lee's army of northern Virginia realized that it was in the presence of the army of the Potomac—so accidental was that meeting. Virginia's "Stonewall" had met the Iron Brigade—2nd, 6th and 7th Wisconsin, 19th Indiana, and 24th Michigan—a year before at Second Bull Run.

The battle raged from McPherson Ridge, through the streets of Gettysburg, to Oak Hill. There, where the 16th Maine lost 232 of its 275 men—84 per cent—an eternal light peace memorial is to be dedicated Sunday. Reynolds killed, Hancock and Howard, Doubleday and Schurz, withdrew the 1st and 11th corps to Culp's Hill and Missionary Ridge. Sergeant Hussy of the 7th Indiana captured an officer and routed 20 men of the 25th Virginia.

Seventy-five years ago tomorrow the fight raged about Little Round Top, the Peach Orchard, Devil's Den and Culp's Hill. In one charge the 1st Minnesota lost 205 of its 252 men. Hood was wounded, leading his Texans, and Barksdale fell at the head of his Mississippians. Vincent's brigade held Little Round Top with the bayonet and the 140th New York arrived just in time to save the flank. In the Peach Orchard, the 141st Pennsylvania recaptured the guns of McGilley's reserve artillery. From Culp's Hill only 150 men returned of 1,750 "Louisiana Tigers."

Seventy-five years ago this Independence Day the ebb began. Vicksburg surrendered, releasing the hordes of Grant and Sherman to convert the Confederacy into a hollow shell behind Lee's army defending Richmond. The decisiveness of Gettysburg has been questioned, but it remains the greatest battle ever fought on American soil. It was spectacular, heroic, colorful. It was the end of chivalric war—not since has a gallant foe withheld fire as an artilleryman calmly drove off his gun within a few feet of capture. Not since have a Barlow and a Gordon begun a friendship of opposing generals on the battlefield.

The Blue and the Gray hold reunion today at Gettysburg. Former foes clasp hands while a nation pauses to honor them. Three score and thirteen years have passed since war's bloodshed has stained the soil of the United States. May the eternal fire to be kindled Sunday mean eternal peace.

Odd Notes

Duke Ellington numbers are used as themes on 37 radio shows, more than any other composer's.

Ben Bernie once demonstrated violins in a department store.

Andre Kostelanetz, touring South America with his new wife, Lily Pons, will direct a large symphonic orchestra on three short wave broadcasts from there.

"Attorney at Law," a new series of thrilling adventure stories, will replace Fibber McGee for 9 weeks beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Guy Lombardo will conduct Benny Goodman's swing band while Benny is away in Europe. You can hear Goodman's band at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

John J. Anthony, Good Will Hour conductor, has signed a four-year contract with Ironized Yeast, which puts him in a class with Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny and Bing Crosby.

Two oxygen tanks, a barrel, a galvanized drum, two doors, a hand truck, water and air pumps, a telephone, a hoghead full of water, three pails, a well driven, a shovel and an ax were used for sound effects on a recent "Johnny Presents" program.

"Hobby Lobby," the outstanding idea show of 1937 in the national radio editors' poll, begins at 5 o'clock tonight over the NBC-Red network. The program consists of interviews with unusual hobbyists, and is directed by Dave Elman.

At 5:30 tonight, you can hear the first "Passing Parade" program, headed by John Nesbitt, west coast story teller, over the Columbia broadcasting system.

"Town Hall Big Game Hunt" starts Wednesday at 7 p.m. over the NBC-Red network. Old and new parlor games will be played by members of the studio audience, which ought to be interesting.

"Quiz the Wizard," a feature on the broadcast, will headline a guest wizard who'll be asked questions by the audience.

The first guest wizard, incidentally, is "Bottle" McNaughton, Phil Baker's stooge. Peter Van Steeden's orchestra will play. The broadcast promises to be one of the summer's best.

Gracie Allen will greet the Casa Loma band with an appropriate poem at 6 p.m. tomorrow, unless George can stop her. Despite opinions to the contrary, I think Gracie is tops, in movies or on the air.

Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—The new dealers' objection to the seniority rule, under which chairmanships of congressional committees are determined, is understandable.

Each proposal of a new piece of legislation is referred, upon its introduction, to its appropriate committee in the senate or house of representatives.

The committee to which such reference is made has a deal to say concerning that bill's fate. The committee can report on it favorably or unfavorably and its report counts considerably. However, if a majority of the committeemen are hostile to the measure, they generally do not bother to report at all; the bill never gets out of the committee's hands. It is "buried in committee," as the saying is; congress, as a whole, never gets a chance to vote on it. If a congressional majority really wants the thing badly enough, it can take it out of the committee's hands by petition, but it is a pretty difficult undertaking, involving a lot of delay anyway.

Committee Divisions When a new congress convenes committee assignments are made. The size of their respective memberships depend upon the size of their respective parties' strengths on Capitol Hill. For example, the senate committee on agriculture is entitled to 19 members. Of these, in the last congress, 13 were democrats; five were republicans. That was fair, based on the proportion of democrats to republicans in the senate. Of course there was a nineteenth member—Senator Henrik Shipstead. But that, too, was a fair (or more than fair) proportion, considering that Shipstead is a Farmer-Laborite and that there are only two Farmer-Laborites in the senate.

As between parties, then, the allocation of membership was according to political Hoyle. Nobody disputes it.

Embarrassing Leader The new dealers' howl is that Senator Ellison D. Smith is chairman of the senate agriculture committee. Senator Smith is a democrat, but emphatically, no new dealer. Now, the chairman of a committee usually has plenty of influence with it. He almost weighs as a majority. Therefore the South Carolina solon has gravely embarrassed the administration in his leadership of this important committee.

How It Works How did he gravitate into his present post? Well, Ellison D. is, in point of service, the oldest senator next to William E. Borah.

When he was sworn into office, in 1909, he got an assignment to the agriculture committee as the very junior-est of juniors. But, by being re- and re-elected, gradually he worked up to a minority seniority. And then the democrats came into power and he was transformed into a majority senior.

Whereupon custom made him, under seniority rules, his committee's chairman.

But in the meantime conditions had so changed that his kind of a democrat no longer is a democrat, as per new deal specifications. Yet the seniority system entrenches him.

Thus It Fights Him If the new deal can beat him for renomination, in favor of a democratic new dealer, all well and good, from the new deal's standpoint.

But if he is re-elected, the new deal would like to eliminate him from that chairmanship. It cannot be done except by ending the seniority rule in congress.

And there are some other committees (in both the senate and the house of representatives) that the administration would like to "doctor."

Still, congress is mighty jealous of its privileges. It believes it had better be in the coming primaries and election.

HIS RED LETTER DAY!

Clendening Presents Story Of Famous 'Yankee Doodle' Tune

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The medical profession has every right to some pride in the record that was made during the Revolutionary war. There were a number of medical men who were signers of the Declaration of Independence—among them Joshua Bartlett and Mathew Thornton of New Hampshire, Oliver Wolcott of Vermont, Benjamin Rush of Pennsylvania and Lyman Hall of Georgia.

I believe it is not generally known that it was a physician who wrote "Yankee Doodle." It is true that he was not an American nor did he ever become one. He was a surgeon in the British army, Dr. Richard Shuckburgh. He died before the Declaration of Independence was composed or before the Revolutionary war began, in Schenectady in 1773. He was stationed with the British armies during the Indian wars in the Mohawk valley and saw service there. He spent nearly all of his life in America.

"Yankee Doodle" was said to have been written in the old Van Rensselaer house near Albany, N. Y., close to the site of old Fort Crailo. The house was standing at least a year or two ago. Apparently Dr. Shuckburgh was very much amused by the cocky ways of Colonial Americans, and he also admired their fighting ability and their courage in battle.

The tune was from an old jig well known in the eighteenth century. The first verse he wrote was: Yankee Doodle is the tune Americans delight in; 'Twill do to whistle, sing or play, And just the thing for fighting, When actual hostilities began between the British and the Colonial troops the tune was played first by way of contempt. We have this on the word of another medical man, James Thatcher, whose "Military Journal" is the best authority we have for certain aspects of the Revolution.

The British did not, however, long play Yankee Doodle by way of contempt because the American troops took it up and glorified in it. "Yankee Doodle" is now their poem," says a British observer in 1777, "a favorite of favorites, played in their army, esteemed as warlike as the Grenadier's March." After our rapid successes we held the Yankees in great contempt, and it was not a little mortifying to hear them play this tune, when their army marched down to our surrender.

We offer this little historical essay in lieu of the usual warnings against the dangers of the Fourth of July. These warnings should be pretty well stereotyped and well known. If you do not regard them, it is your own fault if you get hurt. At the present time we need more warnings against the reckless driving on such holidays as the Fourth of July than we do against firecrackers.

The number of people killed by fireworks since 1900 is greater than the number of American soldiers killed in the Revolutionary war.

NEW YORK — They talk a picturesque lingo up in the Black Belt, a "jive" so odd that only your true Harlemese understands it. "Jive," for instance, means lingo or speech. It is an instinctive speech, almost unknown tongue and peculiar only to the New York Negro.

Say, for example, you are walking along Lenox avenue and you hear someone say: "The chic's schmaltz but she's a V-8." This means: "The girl is sweet and sentimental but she's unapproachable."

Well, Cab Calloway decided to do something about it. Cab is a "hep cat." And a hep cat is one who is in the know, a thoroughly wise guy, and Cab reasoned: "Maybe I ought to spread the gospel of our jive." Maybe I ought to wise up everybody, so they can understand what we are talking about. But how'll I do it? You can't just pick it up in a day or a week. You can't just tell it. So I think I'll edit me a dictionary. A hepster's dictionary.

Shortly thereafter a neat little brochure entitled "Cab Calloway's Cat-ologue" was deposited on your correspondent's desk. And it's quite a cat. Here are some of the weird me'ows of the Harlem jive: "That canary is beat to my socks"—that crooner is lacking in everything.

A "clambake" means every man for himself. . . a "boogie-woogie" is heavy bass harmony. . . To "cool" means to lay off between jobs. . . A "kill-diller" is a thrill. . . AROUND THE TOWN

BY MERLE MILLER

CAME THE YAWN . . . HISSE LISTS—Pardon me if I wax indignant this morning. It's one of those days . . . It seems to me, then . . .

That freedom of speech is more than a phrase, even though it rolls so beautifully on the tongue . . . I think, for instance, any man should have and EXPRESS (!) his political beliefs whether he digs ditches or heads a university department . . . It doesn't always happen . . .

That the Saturday Evening Post is a petty, mean, bigoted magazine that's lost its reason for existence . . . And it wasn't founded, by Benjamin Franklin . . . That the very class-hatred it befalls is fostered by its columns. . .

That this week's "Jimmie's Got It" attack on James Roosevelt's is a smack far below any belt . . . I'm one of those persons, see, who doesn't care WHAT the prexy's family does, how many cameras it smashes, divorces it gets, marriages it annuls, as long as the President is doing all right . . .

Wonder WHO paid for Alva Johnson's research, who gave him the "inside"—not "friends" of Jimmie's by any chance? . . .

That there's malice in those teeny ones who're lashing the first lady of our land because she happens to have the courage to say what she believes in and fight for it . . .

She's the wife of a president, has several children, believes in helping those who can't help themselves, fights for world peace, writes a newspaper column . . . I happen to think she's a nearly great person, a definitely great personality . . . Does anyone mind? . . .

Those worthy ones who raise their voices and eyebrows against FASCISM in the U. S. and then continue to voice themselves for certain institutions that foster it (including a magazine I know) . . . As if it would be by that name in our land of freedom (!). . .

That Sinclair Lewis has sold himself out to all the little important things he stood against once . . . That his nick-name should be "George" (F. Bah-bitt). . .

That Cordell Hull could be one of the greatest secretaries of state we've had—is the worst . . .

INTERESTING FACES—Prof. George Robeson—because it's not made of flesh but India rubber . . . Hans Pawlak—because it's that of an artist on an artist . . . Frank Mott—because it's that of a very young boy very well scrubbed . . . Stephen Bush—because not being German his face, hair cut are the prototype of everything that is . . . Mrs. Fred Pownall—because it's reminiscent of Eleanor Roosevelt in feature, more in manner . . .

A chatty letter in yesterday's mail to refute a columnar statement of June 15, regarding Life's circulation drop . . . The circulation man declares "LIFE is selling more copies this month than all the 12 other picture magazines put together."

That was a grand scene in "I Met My Love Again," the one in which Fonda satirized the campus with his discussion on the ant . . .

A private cheer for Jimmie Nelson who's got what the big ones are looking for in his radio impersonations . . . He does a skit with 12 voices that's NBC-ish . . .

A separate jeer for those hunky-shouldered ones who've lifted the sweat shirts from the athletic department with "underwear" in bold-face on the back—Then dare wear them . . .

Away I sh'd think most profs'd be throwing away their text books these days . . . More's happening on your front page than in most full-year courses . . .

"FREEDOM"—a seven-letter word meaning the AMERICAN WAY . . .

Mrs. Moody In Triumph Again

BOSTON, July 2 (AP)—Taking advantage of a moment of wildness by Sylvester Johnson the Boston Bees pushed over a brace of runs in the fourth inning today to whip the Philadelphia Nationals 2 to 1. However, the Phillies took the series, two games to one.

Foredoomed to a final stroke of misfortune after overcoming the handicap of a shoulder injury earlier in the tournament, Miss Jacobs pulled a tendon in an already injured right leg in the ninth game of the opening set, hobbled through the next seven pathetic games and was beaten, 6-4, 6-0.

This victory lifted Mrs. Moody to her eighth title—a record in the history of this old historic club. It set the crown on one of the most notable comebacks in sporting history. It was a major link in an unprecedented all-American sweep of Wimbledon's five titles.

Just as he had a year ago, Don Budge figured in three championships. Following his easy straight-set triumph over Bunny Austin for the men's single's crown yesterday, Don partnered Gene Mako of Los Angeles to a 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6 victory over the German team of Henner Menkel and George von Metaxa. Then he and Miss Marble defeated Henkel and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., 6-1, 6-4, for the mixed doubles title.

Miss Marble and Mrs. Fabyan won the women's doubles, trouncing the defending champions, Mme. Rene Mathieu of France and Abeline (Billy) Yorke of England, 6-2, 6-3.

To Decide Senior A. A. U. Titles Today

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—As a prelude to the season's climax track and field show, the national A.A.U. championships today provided three record-smashing performances, a series of eye-catching finishes, and six individual triumphs for California's youthful athletic stalwarts.

The senior championships, with national crowns and a competitive campaign in Europe as twin objectives, will be run off tomorrow in the new civic stadium. The headline event for the seniors will bring together the country's great milers, with Glenn Cunningham seeking his fourth straight championship against the challenge of his Kansas rival, Archie San Romani.

Monte Pearson Hurls Five-Hit Ball As New Yorkers Gain

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—The Yankees fired four home runs and 10 other assorted hits today to back up Monte Pearson's five-hit pitching, wallop Washington's Senators 12 to 2 and climb within two games of the American league lead.

The victory was the seventh straight for murderers' row. With the pace-setting Cleveland Indians idle, the win boosted the Yanks half-a-game nearer the top.

It was Ferrell's sixth loss of the year against 10 victories. Pearson came through handily for his fifth win.

Denny Shute Proves Master Of Guldahl

HINGHAM, Mass., July 2 (AP)—Denny Shute, two-time champion of the national P.G.A., today proved again he is peer of the nation's match players as he clinched a 2 and 1 victory over Ralph Guldahl, master of medal play, in a 36-hole challenge match for the unofficial championship of the United States.

Shute was exactly two under par for the 35 holes, the first 18 of which were played yesterday over his home course of Brae Burn and which left him 3 up starting the last round at the South Shore Country club today. Neither ever had seen the course here before today.

Guldahl was loath to accept the verdict as conclusive. "Although I putted poorly and have no alibi," he said, "I don't think 36 holes is a long enough test, and I don't think it was quite fair to play part of it on Shute's home course.

"I'd like to play him again in the fall over 72 holes and over a neutral course, preferably one tough and long. This course (South Shore) was too short for me."

Mary Barker, Robert Schmidt Wed Yesterday

Rev. Hion T. Jones Reads Single Ring Afternoon Service

The marriage of Mary Barker, 403 N. Linn street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Smith of Winterset, to Robert Schmidt, 403 S. Dubuque street, son of Mrs. Mabel Schmidt of Waterloo, was solemnized yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church with the Rev. Hion T. Jones reading the single ring service.

An organ recital by Ross Steck of Oxford preceded the service. Mr. Steck also furnished music for the wedding.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of pastel pink silk net, fashioned with a square neckline, shirred bodice and short puff sleeves and bouffant skirt. Trimming the gown were matching grosgrain ribbons which were stitched across the bodice and tied in flat bows in the front. A matching ribbon also edged the sleeves. With her gown the bride wore a cartwheel leghorn hat and carried an arm bouquet of talsman roses.

Maid of Honor
Attending her sister as maid of honor was Isabel Smith of Winterset. Miss Smith was gowned in lilac mousseline de soie styled on princess lines with accorcion pleats bordering the hemline of the full skirt and forming the sleeves. Her cartwheel hat was banded with a light green taffeta ribbon and she also carried roses. Julian Indvik of Milwaukee, Wis., served as best man. Ushers were John Mooney and S. J. Davis.

Garden flowers decorated the river room of Iowa Union, where a reception was held following the ceremony. Presiding at a table centered by the four-tiered white bride's cake was Mrs. S. J. Davis. Margaret Schmidt, sister of the bridegroom, and Katherine Keefe presided at the punch table.

Wedding Trip
Later in the day the couple left by airplane for a wedding trip to Chicago. Upon their return they will be at home in the Iowa apartments.

The bride is a graduate of Winterset high school and St. Joseph's academy in Des Moines. She has been employed by the Wilson, Clearman and Brandt law firm. Mr. Schmidt is a graduate of Shell Rock high school. He also attended Iowa State Teachers college before coming to Iowa City, where he will be a junior in the university next year. He is now employed at The Daily Iowan.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Smith and Miss Smith, all of Winterset; Mrs. Mabel Schmidt and Miss Schmidt, both of Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Patzig, Jr., of Des Moines, and Mr. Indvik of Milwaukee.

Bose to Speak Tuesday at 3:10

A non-technical survey of the highlights of Hindu literature will form the basis of Tuesday's lecture on Oriental contributions to civilization, to be presented at 3:10 p.m. in the house chamber of Old Capitol by Dr. Suddhinda Bose, lecturer in the political science department.

Dr. Bose will devote his lecture to moulding a picture of the part which Hindu literature has played in the literature of the whole world. The lecture is designed to be of interest to all students of world literature.

He will speak of religious and philosophical literary accomplishments of the Hindus, considering the epics and dramas of the Hindu writers.

Dr. Bose will also show the influence which Hindu literature has exercised upon the works of Goethe and the other leaders in the European romantic period. He will speak of the influence of Hindu literature upon the works of Shelley and Wordsworth in England, and of Emerson in America.

A feature of the lecture will be a recitation from Hindu literature, both in the native tongue and in English translation. The speaker will also consider Hindu ballet music.

Dill Will Give 2nd in Summer Lecture Series

Prof. Homer Dill, director of the University of Iowa museum, will present the second of his summer series of lectures at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the auditorium of the geology building. The public is invited to attend.

The lecture, fully illustrated with colored slides, will center about the topic, "Wild Animal Life of the Louisiana Gulf Coast," and will deal with an expedition to the gulf coast made by Professor Dill and his assistants in 1918. The purpose of the expedition was to collect birds and reptiles for reproduction of a typical southern swamp scene in the Iowa museum.

The expedition obtained a complete collection of snakes and frogs, among them two new species.

Maintenance of Minimum Standard Of Life Now Imperative Says Prof. Smith

"The new imperative in government," Prof. Thomas V. Smith told his round table group in Old Capitol yesterday, "is the maintenance of at least a minimum standard of life for all of its citizens."

The University of Chicago professor, who is now a candidate for congress, pointed out that maintenance of internal order and guarding against external oppression are not the only two imperatives of government. Modern democracy has, since the World War, been forced to undertake the important problem of feeding its citizens, Professor Smith pointed out.

"We have discovered, as other countries discovered before us," he asserted, "that without undertaking this third imperative, we cannot take care of the first two."

The speaker asserted that there is much more unity of spirit and similarity of purpose behind the scenes in politics than is commonly believed, and that in addition legislation which is often considered of primary importance is of little importance as compared to other issues.

The speaker reiterated his Friday contention that politicians are the only persons capable of compromising conflicting factions in government, and that such compromisers cannot be trained for their jobs, but must work into them from a fundamental knowledge of human beings.

Prof. Daniels Given $1,000

Prof. Amy L. Daniels of the Iowa child welfare research station received a gold medal and a check for $1,000 at the 21st annual meeting of the American Home Economics association in Pittsburgh recently for outstanding accomplishments in research work in her field.

"Professor Daniels' research," the award committee stated, "provides a sound basis for the more exact standards of the calcium requirements which undoubtedly are met by milk. This research points to a new method of approach for future studies on human food requirements."

"Professor Daniels' researches over a period of years have made an outstanding practical contribution to human nutrition."

Professor Daniels graduated from Columbia university and received her Ph.D. degree from Yale. She is a former faculty member of the University of Wisconsin and the University of Missouri, and joined the staff of the Iowa research station in 1918.

It's 'All Out' Hospital Children To See Fireworks

It's "all out" at Children's hospital!

For beginning at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow, the traditional fireworks display, the annual celebration sponsored by the Iowa City Rotary club, will offer an evening's entertainment for the inmates of the hospital.

Those who can walk will walk out; those who have wheel chairs will be wheeled out, and those who are confined to beds who may be moved will be carried out to watch the show.

This year, because of the new state law banning the sale of fireworks, a special permit had to be obtained from the city council by hospital authorities.

From the east terrace of the hospital, patients will watch a varied large assortment of fireworks in a display which will be set off from the lot south of West-lawn and across the driveway from Children's hospital, out of harm's way.

The forthcoming display has been the talk of the hospital for days, according to Robert E. Neff, general hospital administrator.
