Hughes Lands Plane at Moscow on World Flight To Enlarge Radio Education Facilities at State University

Globe-Girdling Fliers Meet Downpour, Ice

Hughes Denies Damage To Landing Gear In Take-off From Paris

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, July 12 (Tuesday) (AP) — Completing the second lap of his round-the-world flight, Howard Hughes set his silver monoplane down on Central Airport at Moscow, according to radio reports, at 2:13 a.m. (C.S.T.) today after a 1,541 mile non-stop flight from Paris.

NEW YORK, July 12 (Tuesday) (AP) — Flying out of a downpour and icing conditions, the Howard Hughes globe-girdling flight en route from Paris to Moscow denied early today that the plane's landing gear had been damaged in the takeoff at the French capital. "Anything about damage to our landing gear is not true at all," said Radio Engineer Richard Stoddard. "Howard Hughes says the gear is in normal position."

By ROBERT E. PARKER PARIS, July 12 (Tuesday) (AP) — Howard Hughes headed his silver monoplane toward Moscow early today on the second leg of a world flight after a breath-stopping take-off which apparently inflicted serious damage to the plane's landing gear.

The danger-fraught departure came at 1:24 a.m. (6:24 p.m. CST Monday), more than eight hours after the millionaire pilot and his four companions landed to set a new non-stop New York-to-Paris flight mark.

His plane's left wheel apparently was gravely damaged in the take-off. It hit a rut at the end

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP) — Howard Hughes' flight headquarters here announced an itinerary tonight which indicated he might be back in New York Thursday night or early Friday. Figured roughly, he was expected to be in the air between 60 and 65 hours and on the ground another 10 to 15, barring mishaps.

After reaching Moscow Hughes was expected to make a 2,281-mile hop to Krasnoyarsk, Siberia. Other flights listed were to Yakutsk, Siberia, 1,277 miles, then to Fairbanks, Alaska, 2,456 miles, and then 3,380 miles to New York.

Begin Official Probe of TVA

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 11 (AP) — A congressional committee officially launched an investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority in a three-hour executive session today at which Chairman Vic Donahey (D-Ohio) said only "questions of policy" were discussed.

"Our meeting was formulative altogether," Donahey declared. He said he did not know what procedure would be followed at the open hearing, which he said would begin "in the near future."

Activities of privately owned electric utilities that have opposed the TVA power program also will come under the scrutiny of the investigators.

Van Nuys May Be Nominee

Predict New Deal Foe Will Get Demo Call For Indiana Senator

INDIANAPOLIS, July 11 (AP) — Indiana democrats, generally rejoicing over newly-found harmony, gathered tonight in the Hoosier capital for a convention at which, politicians predicted, the renomination of Senator Frederick Van Nuys, opponent of President Roosevelt's court bill and other new deal measures, would be only a formality.

The convention, to be held tomorrow in the fairgrounds coliseum, is expected to offer Paul V. McNutt, whose White House aspirations figured in the movement which brought Van Nuys back into the party fold and halted his threat to seek re-election as an independent, as Indiana's choice for the 1940 presidential nomination.

Word from the platform advisory committee said one of the major planks would be an endorsement of the silver-haired McNutt, former governor and now United States high commissioner to the Philippines, for president.

President Roosevelt Appoints Governor Allred Federal Judge

'Younger Man' Gets Commission in Texas Platform Ceremony

ABROAD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 (AP) — President Roosevelt announced to a cheering Wichita Falls station crowd today that he had appointed Gov. James V. Allred of Texas as a federal district judge.

The usual ceremony of presenting a new judge with his commission on a train platform was performed in Allred's hometown. In appointing Allred, Mr. Roosevelt said he was seeking wherever possible to nominate younger men to positions on the federal bench.

"As I said two weeks ago, the efforts of the people of this country to improve our federal judicial system have succeeded," Mr. Roosevelt said. "Our principal objectives for the improvement of justice are on the way to be fully attained."

Mr. Roosevelt praised Allred's record as attorney general and governor of Texas, "for fearlessness, honesty and good administration."

Allred, now 39, was 35 when he was first elected governor. Accepting the nomination, he thanked Mr. Roosevelt "from the bottom of my heart."

At Wichita Falls the chief executive was introduced by Allred. The president's rear platform talks were made under a blistering sun but he appeared fresh and cheerful.

Judge Fuller Enforces Strict Rule at Newton

Orders Jasper County Sheriff to Appoint All Needed Deputies

NEWTON, July 11 (AP) — District Judge Homer A. Fuller this afternoon ordered Sheriff Earl Shields to "surround himself with deputies sufficient to enforce any order that the court will make" and told him he would not "tolerate any interference with your duties by any person outside of Jasper county."

His order came during the hearings on contempt citations against three CIO union leaders brought by the Maytag Washing Machine Co. under an injunction restraining the union from picketing in "unreasonable numbers" and interfering with the regular order of business at the plant.

The statement was interpreted by the two state agents the governor sent here "in place of troops" as a direct reference to their status as law enforcement officers.

Both of them — Charles Croghan and Frank Moorhead — were in the courtroom when the judge made his statement.

The court heard the testimony of five witnesses after overruling several motions of union attorneys to delay the hearing by continuances.

Court was adjourned after the testimony of the fifth witness, A. M. Miller, back-to-work group attorney, and Judge Fuller said it would reconvene at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Many Officers Here For Course

Federal Loan On Crops Sure

Grain Board Reports 967,412,000 Bushels Wheat Yield Estimate

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Government loans to support wheat prices became a certainty today when the federal crop reporting board estimated that the 1938 crop would total 967,412,000 bushels — second largest yield on record.

The farm law provides for mandatory loans to farmers when the July estimate exceeds the normal domestic and export needs of about 750,000,000 bushels. The loans are designed to enable farmers to hold their grain off the market until prices are better.

The indicated yield of the bread grain this year falls only 41,000 bushels short of the record crop of 1915.

On the basis of present prices, the loan rate must be between about 59 and 85 cents a bushel. However, officials have indicated that it will be close to minimum. Such a rate would compare with an average of 69 cents a bushel which farmers received for wheat on June 15, according to a government survey.

The loan, which probably will be announced late this week, will be available to farmers cooperating with this year's farm programs. It will be made on wheat stored in commercial warehouses and in approved granaries on farms.

The indicated corn crop was 162,893,000 bushels below last year's production, but 176,000,000 bushels above the 1927-36 average.

ACCIDENTAL Fire Wins When Suicide Attempt Fails

OAKLAND, Cal., July 11 (AP) — Averill B. Clifford, 30, awoke today—surprised at being alive, he told officers—and then accidentally caused an explosion which fatally injured him.

Policeman Eugene Van Houtte said Clifford turned on the gas before he went to bed last night, expecting to kill himself.

Van Houtte said Clifford awoke this morning, rather pleased by being alive. Then he struck a match to light a cigarette.

The blast from accumulated gas wrecked the house, Clifford jumped from a window, his clothing aflame. He died several hours later from the burns.

Declares Probe Not Hunt For Law Violators

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) assured business tonight that the monopoly investigating committee was not hunting for victims and was not interested in punishing anybody.

"Though this has been called a 'monopoly investigation' . . . it is distinctly not to be thought of as a grand jury hunt for law violators," the senator said. "It is rather to be a careful, serious, objective and constructive study of the causes which have brought about the concentration of economic power."

Special Agent Tells of F.B.I.

Police Attending Iowa Short Course to Hear Of Modern Methods

With almost half of an expected 300 Iowa peace officers registered at the end of the first day's activities, the second of the six-day officers short course will begin this morning with more intensive work in the law enforcement field.

Special Agent L. V. Boardman, who yesterday told officers of the functions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of which he is a member, and of federal crimes and methods of fingerprinting, will begin today's activities with a discussion of a new kind of fingerprint — the latent prints found at crime scenes which must be analyzed and filed in different ways than ordinary prints.

Today's Program 8 to 8:50 a.m.—Latent Fingerprint Technique, L. V. Boardman. 9 to 9:30 a.m.—Pathology, Dr. H. P. Smith.

10 to 11:50 a.m.—Demonstration at the Crime Scene, Mr. Boardman, assisted by L. M. Chipman and Harold Gessell.

1 to 1:50 p.m.—Case Histories and Report Writing, Mr. Boardman.

2 to 2:50 p.m.—Split session, Chief H. A. Alber and Sheriff H. T. Wagner.

3 to 5 p.m.—Pistol practice, care of firearms, chemical warfare against criminals.

7 p.m.—Demonstration of Mobile unit, E. F. Brown. 7:20 p.m.—Laboratories.

But a shift to an entirely new field is scheduled for 9 o'clock when Dr. H. P. Smith, head of the pathology department of the college of medicine tells officers of the part which pathology plays in the scheme of things.

The demonstration at the crime scene, scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning, will give officers a little practical experience in detecting. They will be given the opportunity of sizing up a situation at a mythical crime scene.

The demonstration will be conducted by Mr. Boardman, assisted by L. M. Chipman, special agent in charge of the Des Moines office of the F. B. I., and Harold Gessell of the Polk county sheriff's office in Des Moines.

To start the afternoon's activities, Mr. Boardman will speak about case histories and report writing. Chief H. A. Alber of the Des Moines police department and Sheriff H. T. Wagner of Black Hawk county from Waterloo will divide the next unit of instruction from 2 to 2:50. The daily session of pistol practice, (See OFFICERS, Page 6)

Norris Sees 77th Year

Nebraska Veteran Opposed American Entry Into War

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Far from this city's sizzling atmosphere, Senator Norris of Nebraska passed his 77th birthday today in his summer cottage on a lake near Waupaca, Wis.

"He pays absolutely no attention to birthdays," reported John P. Robertson, his son-in-law and secretary, at the senator's office here. Robertson said the veteran independent probably spent the day reading, going over papers and enjoying his daily swim in the cool waters of the Wisconsin lake. Not even a telephone links Norris with outside affairs when he retreats to the summer cottage.

The senator remained here for a time after congress adjourned to serve on the special joint congressional committee studying phosphate resources at the request of President Roosevelt.

Some time within the next week he will depart with other committee members for Idaho to conduct hearings there. After the November election Norris will accompany the group to Florida phosphate areas and Muscle Shoals, where TVA engineers have developed new processes for concentrating the fertilizer by electric power.

The Nebraskan's hair has turned nearly snow white during his 35 years in congress, but he was one of the most active and talkative members of the senate during its most recent session.

He is the only living senator, who voted against this country's entry into the World war.

Jews, Arabs Continue Fight For Holy Land

JERUSALEM, July 11 (AP) — Death and disorder continued to stalk the Holy Land today as British troops battled to restore peace in the mandated territory where there have been more than 300 casualties in a week.

Pitched battles between guerrilla bands and the military, explosions and stabbings occurred through the land which Great Britain proposes to divide between Jews and Arabs—to the dissatisfaction of both.

Machine-gun posts were established at all strategic spots. Armored cars patrolled highways and teeming streets.

At Haifa—Key point of northern terror—British marines aided the local constabulary and troops under the muzzles of the big guns of the warship Repulse.

Identified casualties alone since July 5 were: Arabs—46 dead; 145 wounded. Jews—23 dead; 81 wounded.

Bury Late Supreme Court Judge Cardozo In Simple Service

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., July 11 (AP) — In accordance with his expressed wish, Benjamin N. Cardozo, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, was buried without eulogy today.

The services, conducted in the home of Justice Irving Lehman, of the state court of appeals, were brief and simple. In the presence of about 200 mourners, Rabbi D. A. Jessurun Cardozo, no relative, read the 23rd psalm, parts of other psalms and excerpts from the Book of Proverbs.

Then he performed the traditional rites of the Spanish-Portuguese Jewish faith.

Planes Raid Madrid MADRID (AP) — Several insurgent airplanes raided the outskirts of Madrid yesterday, but anti-aircraft guns prevented them from flying over the city proper. Madrid itself has not been attacked by aviators since February, 1937.

University Application For PWA Allotment Filed in Washington

DES MOINES, Ia., July 11 (AP) — The legislative interim committee meeting here today approved a $90,000 project for expansion of radio education facilities at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City.

The state university has an application on file in Washington, D. C., for a public works administration grant for the project. The government's share would be $40,500.

The interim committee approved an allotment of $49,500 for the university's 55 per cent out of an appropriation by the last legislature of which there is $78,000 left.

Allows Landscaping Funds The legislative committee also allotted $19,453 from the same appropriation for grading and landscaping the State University of Iowa campus grounds, particularly along the Iowa river and near the University hospital.

Before approving the allotment for expansion of the university's radio department, the interim committee heard from university officials that the present radio equipment is obsolete and that the studios are "small and cramped."

While the university's station, WSUI, now only covers a portion of the state, the improved station will cover virtually the entire state. The radio department will become increasingly important at the university, officials said, indicating that works in television would be augmented substantially in the near future.

Exhausts Appropriation The interim committee was told that between 80 and 90 graduates of the radio department at Iowa City now have responsible jobs with commercial radio companies.

The interim committee made two other allotments to the state university, exhausting the legislative appropriation. It allowed $6,000 for repairs to the university hospital roof and $3,487 for a pump at the powerhouse.

The committee deferred action until today on a request from the state board of social welfare for $10,000 for child welfare work. The committee directed Frank Walton, superintendent of the child welfare department, to account for money spent during the last year before the committee acted on the present request.

Denies Ames Request Unless the interim committee allows the $10,000 for the state contingent fund, Walton said, the state will lose a federal appropriation of $63,000.

The interim committee denied a request from Iowa State college, Ames, Ia., for $4,925 to replace a sheep barn and sheep at the state college which were destroyed by fire. The committee decided the asking was too high.

The committee authorized the state board of control to prepare plans and specifications and advertise for bids for new barns at the state hospitals at Cherokee and Mt. Pleasant and at the state feeble-minded institution at Woodward. These would replace barns destroyed by fire.

Army Aviator Killed in Crash

PANAMA, Panama, July 11 (AP) — First Lieut. Paul R. Gowen, 29, of Caldwell, Idaho, was killed today and two other air corps men were injured today as a twin-motored United States army bomber crashed in flames on the Paitilla Point military reservation near here.

The injured were Lieut. Kenneth Crosher, navigator, and Private G. H. Bundy, radio operator, who crawled from the flaming wreckage with serious burns.

The plane crashed 15 minutes after leaving Albrook field on a routine navigation flight. Lieut. Crosher and Bundy said that shortly after the takeoff clouds of smoke began billowing from the right motor which had gone dead.

ADJUST YOUR SPEED to the SIGNALS AHEAD Good Drivers Seldom Have To Make SUDDEN STOPS

SEEN IN PASSING

This is the story of Henry Flit who drove his auto lickety split. And crashed a traffic signal light. That's the story—all of it.

What To Do About It—A Few Suggestions

THESE last few days, probably because summer school is at the half-way mark, we have heard a lot of quite nice people, most of them students, condemning Iowa City and the University because "there's nothing to do."

We happen to disagree. We think there is. It depends a lot, of course, on the kind of person you are.

If you're musically inclined, for example, you'll certainly be entertained amply. There's the music room in Iowa Union; that's open twice every day, and you can hear any musical selection from Bach to Duke Ellington if you ask for it.

If you like the theater, there are university plays every week, good ones, well-acted, for the most part, and well-directed and chosen. Some of them are Broadway successes; some of them original dramas written by promising young playwrights on the campus.

If you like books, there are university plays every week, good ones, well-acted, for the most part, and well-directed and chosen. Some of them are Broadway successes; some of them original dramas written by promising young playwrights on the campus.

If you're athletic. Well, there are tennis courts, golf courses, swimming pool, a natural lake 14 miles from here, competitions at the field house. Ever so many others.

Or—well, we could go on. We don't think we will. If you can't think of anything to do of a week end or of an afternoon, just call us.

What'll you bet we find something right here in Iowa City?

Let's Do Away With 'Blindfolded' Swimming Tactics

IOWA HAS had 49 drownings in its rivers and lakes this year which is too many accidents for a progressive state to have.

While the number of swimming pools and supervised beaches in the state has never been estimated, it is safe to say that Iowa has enough pools and beaches to accommodate every person who cares to swim at the same time.

Most drownings are termed accidents, and indeed they are. Accidents are caused by carelessness, so most of the drownings are due to carelessness, too. As there is no excuse for carelessness, so there is no excuse for most of the drownings. To plunge into the cooling water in hot weather is fun. To seek relief from sweltering temperatures, most persons think of water. It is only natural, but few people would think of this water as dangerous.

One would not think of driving a car on the highway blindfolded—it is too dangerous to be even attempted. On the other hand, many persons plunge "blindfolded" into streams and lakes every day.

Careful investigation should be given the choice of a "swimming hole" before you plunge in. Do this first and you'll be swimming without the blindfold. One should not be blind to the dangers of water, even though it gives relief from heat.

Those mysterious earthquakes throughout Europe are easy to understand. The old continent is simply trembling over what Hitler or Mussolini may think up next.

Our Readers' VIEWPOINT

Letters must be signed and should not exceed 250 words. Opinions expressed by our readers do not necessarily reflect our views.

Editor, The Daily Iowan:

If there is one danger to our democracy that is easiest corrected, it is the influence of lobbies or pressure groups. For it only needs the true expression of public opinion to rob these groups of their power. Does their success, then, indicate public indifference to public affairs, or merely timidity? Surely no one is indifferent to his pocketbook (which taxes soon empty), or to prosperity (still around the corner), or to party issues (in an election year)! Mercenary as it may seem, it is both the right and the duty of every freeman to express his opinion of public affairs.

Why should we be afraid to express our opinions? If we are uninformed, we should study and learn more of public things. One of the easiest ways to do this is to "expose our ignorance," in print and carefully study what is written against us. The most important thing here is a willingness to learn (from our enemies, if our friends won't help). If we think that only cranks and radicals write to newspapers, let us "bore from within" and make them compete for space and readers with the rest of us, patriotic Americans.

And if our neighbor laughs at our attempts, let us laugh with him (for nothing is gained by getting angry and calling names), and flatter him into trying to do a better job by quoting what he says in our next attempt.

For this is certain: our candidates for office want to hear "the voice of the people," the newspapers are eager to print it, and the general public would like to read it.

Why, then, don't more of us write "letters to the editor?" Eugene W. Wallace

CHEERLESS ANNIVERSARY

The current undeclared war in China is now a year old. Both sides have marked the occasion and both have tried to be as optimistic as possible over the results of the last 12 months. But it is a grim business.

For the Chinese the year has been one of almost uninterrupted defeat on the battlefield. Their troops have shown magnificent courage but odds have been overwhelmingly against them. On every front superior training and equipment in the end have carried the day. China's richest provinces have fallen prey to the invader and it is estimated that more than 1 million Chinese have died in their defense.

For the Japanese the year has brought a great disillusionment. The "incident" that began so casually last summer has developed into a life-and-death struggle for Japan, as well as China. The Japanese may not have sustained material losses comparable to those of the Chinese. But the myth of their invincibility has been destroyed; their whole national economy has been dislocated, and whatever the military outcome, their national future is now filled with uncertainty.

As for the rest of the world—or that part of it which still rejects war as an instrument of political policy—it has witnessed a year-long spectacle of barbarism practiced by a supposedly civilized nation in defiance of every consideration of human decency and international obligation. What a thing to celebrate!

Tuning In with Loren Hickerson

Potpourri

John Davis, who speaks without vocal chords, is the feature on Robert Ripley's 8 o'clock program tonight. Davis is the organizer of the Lost Chord League, which tries to aid people with throat afflictions to speak.

Ripley will also dramatize the strangest case of escape from execution in the history of New England justice.

A Natural Liar Bob Burns comes by his radio story telling naturally! He is a descendant of Paul Bunyan.

Bob recently received notification that he had been elected a member of the Mystic Knights of the Blue Ox of Superior, Wis., an organization similar to the well-known Liars' club.

The order has several thousand members over the United States, all provided with family trees to show they are descendants of Bunyan.

A letter tracing Burns' descent from the famed yarn spinner of the north woods also arrived, showing that a brother of Bunyan had a daughter who married a Biggety Burns of Arkansas, a direct ancestor of Grandpa Snaazy.

Drummer Director Have you heard Skinnay Ennis, who broadcasts over the Mutual network from California? He's the latest drummer to lead his own band. Years back, George Olsen and Abe Lyman were the only ones. Chick Webb, Horace Heidt and Will Osborne are now among the leaders who fling the sticks.

Final for Goodman Benny Goodman's 7:30 broadcast tonight is the maestro's final one for the summer, at least for a time. Immediately following the broadcast he'll leave for Europe.

The king of swing will play "Dark Rapture" tonight, adapted by himself from original music brought back by the Denis-Roosevelt expedition in Africa.

Guy Lombardo will take over Goodman's baton for the next week's show, with Benny returning for the broadcast Aug. 5.

Try tuning in the Grant Park Chicago concert at 8:30 over the CBS.

Dance music lovers, tune in on all three networks tonight. You can hear Russ Morgan and Wayne King from 6 to 7:30 over the NBC-Red network; Goodman and Hal Kemp from 8 to 9:30 on CBS, and Rudy Vallee and Leo Reisman from 10 to 11:30 over NBC-Blue.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Colonel Jacob Ruppert quite naturally takes pride in his baseball clubs and his brewery, because his world champion Yankees have proved themselves the most devastating machine in the major leagues, and his brewery sends millions of flacons of foaming suds down thirsty throats every day.

But there is a place where the Colonel goes when he tires of business and desires the sequestered that only a sanctuary affords.

Go up to Garrison, N. Y., and you will find it—a fine house built of stones from a pre-Revolutionary quarry. This is the Colonel's pride and joy, a fact that may amaze you when you consider his millions in Manhattan real estate, his opulent sports arenas, his vast holdings here and there.

But this is the Ruppert hideaway. One thinks of Mr. Ruppert as Big Business—the executive who is signing a $36,000 contract for Lou Gehrig, or adding new subsidiaries to his beer empire.

But consider this: at Garrison he has a strange retreat where 40-odd monkeys live. These fellows dwell in air-conditioned tiled houses, so that they get just the right temperature summer and winter. He has aviaries of rare tropical parrots; he has dozens of bantams; his pens are filled with fancy pheasants from all over the world; he owns a flock of St. Bernard dogs, which he adores.

On the grassy slopes of his land, easing out his life in contentment and sweet-smelling grass, are the old brewery horses which have been retired to the comforts of a well-cared for old age. They used to haul his beer trucks through the city streets, but when their usefulness passed the Colonel didn't sell them to the glue factory. They're up at Garrison, flicking flies.

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—Just as President Roosevelt says, the country undoubtedly wants the executive branch of the government reorganized on a business basis.

Congress, at its last session, did not turn down proposed reorganization because there was any dispute on that score. The bill was shelved because so many of the lawmakers disapproved the kind of reorganization that the administration favored. If, as the president forecasts, the scheme is reintroduced when the legislators meet again, in a form acceptable to them, unquestionably it will go through a-kinning.

I am not sure that the issue can be made a very popularly exciting one. The present set-up is ridiculous, as well as terrible. However, its awfulness is pretty well concentrated in Washington. Here we all realize how nearly impossible it is. I doubt that this is so well understood out in the country, so the country may not care so much.

But that the thing needs reorganization and simplification is indisputable.

The Trouble The trouble is this: Every time a sub-administration is created to deal with it.

Such sub-administration survives on into near-eternity. Its emergency may pass. Some other agency may be established, to take over its functions. These outfits are overlapping or obsolete in dozens of different directions. But they provide jobs. Consequently it practically is impossible to abolish any one of them. There are more than 100 administrations, commissions, bureaus, boards and miscellaneous offices which could be compacted into half that many.

Each Has Supporters The difficulty is that it is nearly a hopeless undertaking to tackle these outfits one at a time. Each would have fighters in its favor. The succession of "scraps" would continue indefinitely.

General reorganization contemplates a grand jumbling, to be followed by a boiling-down process. It is a program unavoidably involving an initial terrific conflict—all the little groups campaigning like fury, jointly, for the continuance of their collective existence. Still, it would be one contest—an interminable struggle against an everlasting another one.

Two interests took the situation in hand: 1. A committee under the chairmanship of Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia—a committee which sought to put reorganization in congress' hands.

2. A committee under the chairmanship of Louis Brownlow, newspaperman and former city manager. This latter committee was of President Roosevelt's selection, and it undertook to put reorganization into the hands of the president.

That is the nub of the clash: Who is to do the reorganizing? Congress or the president?

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

Robbin Coon, our Hollywood columnist, is in New York for two weeks to see what movie activities are like in the east.

NEW YORK — Prescription for feeling about as big as a freckle on a flea's nose: any trip any time, to the Radio City Music Hall.

In this chromiamed, mirrored vastness the good old Hollywood descriptive "colossal" seems subtle understatement. Without both-ering your head or mine with figures, I'd guess that Hollywood's Chinese theater, the Warner Bros. Hollywood, and the Los Angeles Paramount could fit neatly into a small portion of the building, and the auditorium itself, seating 6,500, could take care of the crowds at these three coast houses on any given night.

There is nothing like the Music Hall anywhere else in America, and yet it isn't New York's. It isn't Hollywood's, either. It's a sort of American institution—the ultimate in movie houses. It had its beginning, actually, when Thomas A. Edison built his "black Maria" box of a studio over in Jersey; when Carl Laemmle and Adolph Zukor used to stand in front of their little theater and hawk the customers in to see "The Great Train Robbery" when the first flickers were shown in re-modeled livery stables and grocery stores and optry houses in towns and villages from coast to coast.

The Music Hall is America's temple to the Great God Cinema. It is the Rheims cathedral of film houses, but like that church it could never have been built without the cinematic catacombs era, the period of furtive and often scorned worshipping at lesser shrines.

A movie temple, it gives you more than movies. Much, much more. It has a stage on which a few of the things Busby Berkeley of Hollywood makes happen on his stages might conceivably happen.

Summer Ills of Children Less Numerous Now, Says Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

As short a time ago as the beginning of this century, from 1901 to 1905, the death rate among infants began to rise sharply with the beginning of June, and by the middle of July it had reached the highest peak of the year. It was five times as great as the other high peak in March. It began to decline in August, and by September had reached a mean level.

In 1931-1935, the death rate among infants was lower during June, July, August and September than at any other period in the year.

The difference is due to disappearance of infantile diarrhea. This is due to sanitary milk and water supply. But it is astonishing that the improvement has occurred since such a short time ago. In 1901 the fact that infantile dysentery was due to germs transmitted in milk was well known. So, too, was the means of producing and distributing clean milk. The improvement that has occurred in 30 years is a matter of organization and persistent effort.

That effort must be kept up if our present high standard of infant health in the summer is to be maintained. The germs are not destroyed, and the ancient plague will break out again with all its virulence at the slightest slip in vigilance. Our public health service knows this and devotes most of its time these days to this problem.

How can milk be safeguarded to prevent it from transmitting disease? Those who are likely to read this paper do not constitute the heart of the problem; they are at an economic level where they can obtain certified milk, evaporated milk or pasteurized milk from a clean dairy. And they are on a level of intelligence such that they know what the health requirements of a milk supply for their family are and will insist that those requirements be met.

The real problem is in the thriving dens of those too poor and too ignorant to insist on clean milk. Here the public health department does its effective supervision. Boiled milk is the ideal answer. In many parts of Europe and South America, where they boil the milk, they have practically no milk-borne disease. But here we cannot depend on enough people boiling the milk to prevent epidemics. The answer seems to be pasteurized milk, properly inspected and supervised.

ELLEN MOSBEK

AROUND THE TOWN

BY MERLE MILLER

BRIEF THOUGHTS ABOUT NOTHING

I do think the music room should be wanned by one who knows music, loves it. . . And Sunday's lorgish concert was superb playing, but so few remained. . . Slightly bad music for one hour is better than—well, you know. . .

After years of requests, they bought Venetian blinds for a certain campus building. . . For one side, that wherein the department's white rats, guinea pigs are housed. . . Dollars for white rats but not one cent for professors. . .

Yes, I could take a half-dozen professors from the faculty and form a university on the lawn. . . You'd be surprised how unimportant buildings are. . .

You'll read "Colleges Are Salemen" in the new Harper's. . . This new novel I'm reading, "Rachel's Children," is dedicated to Therese and Hudson Strode, of the campus this summer — and worth knowing. . . Authress Harriet Hassell is a Professor Stradette protege. . .

Had you ever thought of Robert Jackson for 1940's demo nominee? . . . I'd start thinking, if I were you. . .

Despite Faith Baldwin, I know few Iowa City secretaries local wives need lose winks over. . . Mostly I know secretaries who are just solidly good women — they're more than girls — with a husband and child or so at home. . .

Having Wonderful Time" is good cinema. . . Notice E. A. Baldwin and Ingalls Swisher these days? . . . They're thinner. . . Swisher lost five pounds in two days last week. . . Ask him. . .

You'll want to hear Paul Olson's Anglo-American talk on the morrow at 3, Old Capitol. . . I like concealed folk. . . They're not looking for self compliments. . . They give them. . .

Remember Sinclair Lewis' quote, "The worst fascists are those who down the word 'fascism' and preach enslavement. . . to the style of the constitution and the Traditional Native American Liberty. For they are the thieves not only of honor but of wages. . . For their purpose they would not only quote the scripture but Thomas Jefferson?"

Stop me if I'm wrong — but who's been quoting Thomas Jefferson lately? . . .

PEEVES — The new dresses, no back, no character. . . Men who wear black shoes with white trousers. . . Dirty white linens. . . Greasy glasses in restaurants. . . People who crook their tiny finger to hold a coffee cup. . . Movie-talkers (who aren't on the screen) . . . All pedantics. . . Anyone with no sense of humor. . . Mornings before 11 o'clock. . . Evenings before midnight. . .

A W. R. Hearst man was in town yesterday, quite quietly; talking, asking questions. . . Don't be TOO surprised then at another WRH blast at "red" colorings in the Big Ten. (I wouldn't know for sure.)

Oklahoma has more "reds" than any other school in the nation. . . More than 100 Indians are enrolled. . .

That was an intelligent survey of the southern troubles in yesterday's DM Register. . . Nobody with a reputation ever stakes it. . . Thought this summer's lecture series lacked last summer's ummph. . .

Mrs. Gordon of ICP Library will tell you about the 70-year old localite who'd dreamed of reading, worked 'til he was 70 — then found he couldn't. . . What, he asked her, have I got to look forward to now? . . . She started him on juveniles. . .

Gen. Hugh Johnson once wrote a book called "Williams at West Point. . . I wish he still were. . . The only summer book I've had courage to finish is Dorothy Baker's "Young Man With a Horn. . . Swingers should read it and think. . .

If I were a parent, I think I might bar comics these Sundays. . . The trend for political back-talking and a three-letter word beginning with "s" seems a bit to odorous. . .

There's only one thing easier than to persuade someone to run for political office; that's to be persuaded yourself. . .

Paychek Stops Levinsky

Kingfish Fails To Last Three Full Rounds

Des Moines Fighter Continues Sensational String of Victories

DES MOINES, Ia., July 11 (AP)—King Levinsky, bloated around the mid-section, lasted less than three full rounds against Johnny Paychek, Des Moines heavy-weight, here tonight as 4,000 fans watched the King try what he called a "comeback" in heavy-weight boxing circles.

Wheezing and slow afoot, the King, whose weight was announced at 215 pounds, stood Paychek's punishment for two rounds, but his second threw in the towel shortly after the start of the third round. The King had been down for a nine count and he was sinking toward another rest period when the towel came fluttering into the ring.

It was the seventh straight victory in Iowa for Paychek, a former Chicago Golden Gloves fighter who weighed 187 pounds. The fight was scheduled for eight rounds.

Frank Moore Is Medalist in P.G.A. Golf Championship

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Out of a bewildering barrage which saw 31 players better the Shawnee Country club's soft-touch par of 72 today emerged Frank Moore, 29-year-old professional at Hamaronek, N. Y., with the qualifying medal of the national P.G.A. championship and the Alex Smith memorial trophy firmly in his grasp.

Until today, Moore had been identified chiefly as the older brother of Terry Moore, the St. Louis Cardinal outfielder. But after his performance this afternoon, in which he shot his second straight four-under-par 68 for a 36-hole score of 136, Frank will stand on his own feet—in the record books as well as on the golf course.

Pirates Annex 12th Straight

Buccaneers Cut Down Cubs by 5-3 Score To Maintain Streak

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—The fast-stepping Pittsburgh Pirates extended their winning streak to 12 consecutive games, a new high in the major leagues this season, and advanced within a game and a half of the New York Giants today as they came up from behind to whip the Chicago Cubs 5-3. The Giants held the previous 1938 record of eleven straight.

Trailing 2 and 3 going into the ninth inning, the Pirates jumped on Larry French for three runs to give Jim Tobin his sixth victory of the year, but not until Mace Brown, the old reliable relief hurler, had been called in to stop a budding Cubs' rally in the last half of the frame.

Seeks Women's Title

Here is Carol Mundhenke of Dubuque who will be seeking the women's singles title in the Mississippi Valley tennis tournament which starts tomorrow. Miss Mundhenke was a semifinalist in last year's meet, losing to Thelma Kenefick by a 6-4, 7-5 margin.

Peggy Kerr Enters 'Sippi Net Meet; Play Starts Tomorrow

A rush of last-day entries is anticipated by Manager Ted Swenson as players hasten to enroll for a chance to win $100 worth of travelling luggage in the Mississippi Valley tennis tournament which starts tomorrow and runs through Saturday.

High quality in the women's singles was assured with the entry of Peggy Kerr of Hollywood, Cal., runner-up for the women's national intercollegiate title; and Louise Kuhl of Beatrice, Neb., winner of second place in the 1936 Mississippi Valley meet.

Miss Kerr was seeded No. 1 in the state meet at Des Moines last week but was upset in the semi-finals. Carol Mundhenke, perennial city champion of Dubuque, is another classy entrant in the women's section.

Sterling Lord Enters
Otehr entries over the week end were Sterling Lord Jr., of Burlington, who advanced to the semi-finals of the state meet; Sylvanus Ebert of Watertown, Wis., Richard Kadesch of Cedar Falls, and Francis Senska and Margaret Woods, both of Iowa City.

Instead of giving the champions and runners-up silver trophies, the tournament committee has decided this year to give large wardrobe travelling bags in the men's and women's singles, and gladstone bags for the winning doubles team. The prizes will be on display at Bremer's.

The seeding committee will meet at Iowa Union tonight at 9 o'clock. Drawings for the meet will take place and the contestants will be seeded by a committee consisting of Arthur Wendler, tennis coach, who is chairman of the committee; Charles Okerbloom, instructor in the school of fine arts; and Gladys Scott, instructor in the women's physical education department.

Dizzy Ordered Back to Work By Wrigley

Hurler Tells Boss His Arm Is O.K. And 'Ready to Go'

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—Dizzy Dean—sore arm or no sore arm—was ordered today to return to duty as a starting pitcher for the Chicago Cubs.

Owner Phil K. Wrigley, tired of fiddling around with varied treatments while the team's pennant prospects burned, announced he had directed his $185,000 hurling hand to "be ready to pitch within a week."

Dean, out of action for more than two months, told his boss he was "ready to go."

Manager Charley Grimm said Dean would take the mound again within the stipulated time "if his arm is better and I think it will be."

The decision was reached at a conference attended by Dean, Wrigley and Grimm.

Arm Improved
Grimm reported the latest X-ray pictures of Dean's problem arm showed some improvement. He added:

"He's down to 190 pounds and in perfect physical condition. There's no reason why he can't get in there and win. He'll lob 'em over for the rest of the week and a week from today he may pitch."

"Diz might have a sore arm for two years and he won't hurt it any more."

Dean, credited with three 1938 victories, has been idle since May 4. Meanwhile, the Cubs dropped to fourth place.

Cubs Need Him
"We didn't need Dean during the first part of the season but we do now," Wrigley stated, "and I'm going to put him to work. He has lots of courage and enthusiasm and he's anxious to get going."

"Dizzy will be a better pitcher with a sore arm than half the major league pitchers who have good ones."

Grimm opined Dean's arm would improve with service and predicted he would win 10 more games.

Forgotten for the time being was Dean's threat to sue the St. Louis Cardinals for $250,000 on the claim that his work for them after an injury last year had impaired his ability.

The Cubs, who gave $185,000 and three players for him during the spring, aim to find out.

Hudson Strode Will Deliver Summer Convocation Address

Guest Lecturer Named to Talk Here August 5

Topic 'Importance Of Our Friendship With South America'

Hudson Strode, University of Alabama English professor, traveler, and author who is a guest lecturer here this summer, will deliver the address at the University of Iowa's summer convocation Aug. 5.

Appointment of Prof. Strode was announced yesterday by the summer session office. He will speak on "An Adventure In Understanding the Importance of Our Friendship With South America."

He has been a member of the Alabama faculty since 1916. The 44-year-old educator has travelled in Italy and Africa and for three years lived in Bermuda.

In addition to contributing much prose and verse to American and European magazines, Prof. Strode in 1929 was awarded first prize for his one-act play, "The End of the Dance," judged the best unpublished play by the National Little Theatre tournament in New York.

During the summer session, the southerner is teaching a course in advanced imaginative writing, and in Shakespeare's tragedies.

HOSTESS HINTS

On warm days, one of the housewife's biggest problems is how to prepare a meal that will be both tempting to the appetite and substantial. Making a wise choice of the meat dish will do much toward solving this problem.

It is a good idea to cook meat in a quantity large enough to last for two or three days' meals. Ham or pork may be roasted in quantities large enough to serve hot for one meal and as a cold sliced meat dish another meal and in meat salads.

A corn meal meat loaf is a dish that demands little time in preparation. It would be an especially good choice for a summer Sunday dinner as it may be served warm at the noon meal and sliced thinly and served cold in the evening. Because it contains corn meal, this loaf will slice easily and will be much more nutritious than ordinary meat loaf.

Corn Meal Meat Loaf
2 pounds ground beef
1 pound ground pork
1 cup cornmeal
1 medium onion (grated)
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup tomato juice or meat stock
2 teaspoons salt

Have the beef and pork ground together. Combine with the cornmeal and mix well. Season with the grated onion, salt and pepper, and moisten with the beaten egg and tomato juice or meat stock. Mix well and pack into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until done (about one and a half hours).

A new and delicious flavor can be imparted to boiled ham by cooking it in fresh coffee instead of plain water. This gives a new richness to the meat and a tang of the slightly more smoky flavor that is especially appetizing when it is used in sandwiches or for cold sliced ham in any form.

For a 10 to 12 pound smoked ham use two cups freshly ground coffee. Scrub the ham as usual and cover it with cold water. Add the ground coffee, bring to a boil and let it simmer gently until done. The usual timing for ham is 25 minutes to the pound. Let it stand until thoroughly cooled; then take it out on a platter and remove the skin.

This ham with the new flavor may be covered with brown sugar when partially cooled, then stuck with cloves and baked long enough to glaze in the usual way. Or serve a true breakfast delicacy by using with the fried ham platter gravy made with freshly brewed coffee instead of water.

Meat salads which can be made from left-over roasts or ham may be divided into two groups—the toss-up variety and the jellied ones. Which you choose depends upon your preference and the time you have for preparation.

Practically any kind of meat may be used in these salads. Left-over roast, chilled and diced into cubes, is delicious. If none of this is on hand, already cooked ham or ready-to-serve meats may be used.

Here is a way to prepare quickly a salad of the toss-up variety. Dice the meat into small cubes. Combine with an equal amount of chopped celery and apple. Season with salt and pepper and moisten with salad dressing. Serve in lettuce cups. Sprinkle with paprika for added color.

Dr. L. F. Audrieth Will Give 4 Lectures on Chemistry Here

Guest Speaker Will Present First Talk Tomorrow Afternoon

Dr. L. F. Audrieth of the chemistry department of the University of Illinois in Urbana will present a series of four lectures, beginning at 4 p.m. tomorrow, as the summer's guest speaker of the University of Iowa chemistry department.

Dr. Audrieth is the third speaker to appear under the auspices of the department since the summer guest lecturer program was inaugurated in 1936. Dr. F. B. Dains of Kansas spoke here in 1936 and Dr. Herbert Freundlich of University college in London in 1937.

The series is designed for graduate students in particular, and for all summer session students. Each of Dr. Audrieth's four lectures will be heard in the chemistry auditorium.

The first of the lectures at 4 p.m. tomorrow is on "The Nitrogen System of Compounds and Ammonolytic Reactions." At 4 p.m. Thursday, Dr. Audrieth will discuss "Sulfamic Acid and its Derivatives." At 7:30 p.m. Thursday, the topic will be "The Chemical, Economic and Political Aspects of the Nitrogen Industry," and the series will be concluded at 4 p.m. Friday with a lecture on "Fused Onium Salts as Acids."

The Thursday evening lecture on the nitrogen industry will have the greatest popular appeal, because of the importance of nitrogen in the making of munitions and explosives.

Chemical derivatives of nitrogen compounds are of enormous economic importance in the making of such commonplace articles as combs, insulating materials, shatter-proof glass, mirror handles and motion picture films.

Nitrogen compounds are also used as soil fertilizers. The importance of the nitrogen industry in contemporary world affairs makes the lecture by Dr. Audrieth of interest to everyone.

Dr. Audrieth graduate from Colgate university in 1922, receiving his Ph.D. from Cornell in 1926. In 1931-32 he was a national research fellow at the University of Rostock in Germany, where he was a student of Prof. Paul Walden, Europe's leader in the field of reactions of non-aqueous solvents.

The speaker has been at the University of Illinois since 1934. He translated Cohen's "Physico-Chemical Metamorphosis" and Walden's "Salts, Acids and Bases." He is one of the editors of "Inorganic Syntheses," and is the author of some 50 scientific publications.

Bose Will Give Fifth Lecture

To Speak Today On Art, Architecture Of Countries Of Orient

A illustrated lecture on "Art and Architecture of the Orient," to be presented by Dr. Sudhindra Bose at 3:10 this afternoon in the house chamber of Old Capitol is the fifth of the political science lecturer's series on Oriental contributions to civilizations.

Some 50 slides, representative of the architecture, sculpture and painting of India, China and Japan, will form an important part of the lecture, which will cover the ideals of Oriental art and how those ideals are different from those of the Occidental countries.

Some of the slides were made from reproductions of rare and ancient paintings found in the Hindu cave temples built 200 B. C. The principals and ideals that underlie Oriental art, which is the theme of the lecture, will bring forth such questions as these:

Is an Oriental impressed by the Parthenon as he is by the Alhambra or the Taj Mahal? Is a Hindu or a Japanese carried away with admiration when he looks at the Apollo Belvedere or the Venus de Milo?

Paris Installs Lights; Police Direct Traffic

PARIS (AP)—French traffic experts have installed the capital's first synchronized system of traffic lights, but the Paris police don't trust them.

The entire broad avenue of the Champs Elysees has lights timed so that an automobile traveling at 30 miles an hour will hit every light when the green shows.

Police have little faith in these new—fangled American inventions. An "agent" in uniform with his white club still stands in the middle of each cross street and gives the usual directions, synchronized, of course, with the lights.

Scots Celebrate 600 Years After Victory

GLASGOW (AP)—Six hundred years late, a ball was held here to celebrate the battle of Bannockburn, when Scottish troops under Robert Bruce routed the forces of King Edward the Second. Members of the Scottish Home Rule party sponsored the celebration on the better-late-than-never principle as propaganda for their goal of Scottish separation from England. Dancing at the ball was to bagpipes as saxophones were banned as un-Scottish.

Enraged Bees Sting Six Men to Death

SIMLA, India (AP)—Six camelriders of a passing caravan were stung to death by a swarm of bees in Suratnagar. According to the only survivor, the caravan, which had halted near the jungle, was attacked by bees shortly after the men had lighted a fire to cook their food, just below the bee-hives. The victims, who ran in all directions, were stung to death within a few minutes. The insects next attacked the camels and two of the animals perished also.

Society Selects Lackendar For New Vice-Commander

Choose Delegates For State Convention At Davenport in August

B. M. Ricketts last night was elected commander of Roy L. Chopek post 17 of the American Legion. George Sheets was the other nominee.

Leo Lackendar was chosen vice-commander; George Dohrer, adjutant; Don Davis, historian; Frank Mezik, chaplain; and George Zeit-hamel and Dr. George Maresh the executive committee.

Delegates were chosen for the state convention in Davenport Aug. 8, 9 and 10. Iowa City delegates were instructed to vote for Vic Siezervding of Grundy Center for state department commander. Mr. Siezervding was in Iowa City during the boys' state week in Des Moines; he addressed the local Legion post.

Delegates were also named for the district conference in Muscatine next Monday.

Mr. Sheets gave a report of the Dan Doherty day which showed it was a financial success.

Blue Ribbon Gas Model Plane Takes 1st Place

Walter Good, a graduate assistant in the physics department, won first place in the division of radio controlled gas models at the national model airplane contest held recently in Detroit, Mich., it was announced yesterday.

Gas model airplanes are powered by a one-fifth horsepower single cylinder gasoline motor which will run easily on a thimbleful of gas and support a model of about eight feet wingspread.

Mr. Good's model is one which, when in flight, can be controlled from the ground by means of keys on a small five-meter transmitter. Vertical and horizontal motions are controlled by a receiver in the small flying plane which amplifies the signal sent from the ground and sets the control device in operation. The entire receiver with batteries weighs less than two pounds.

For winning first place in the national competition, Mr. Good received a trophy, a radio receiver valued at $70, and a gas model motor.

E. F. Brown of the Iowa Bureau of Investigation will discuss the Mobile unit at 7 o'clock tonight. Laboratories in preservation of evidence, fingerprinting, toxicology, photography, counterfeiting, narcotics, personal combat and jiu jitsu, drivers' licenses, identification of metals, moulage casting and auto theft, open for the inspection and instruction of officers, will close the day's activities beginning at 7:20 p.m.

Some highlights of the course's activities will be presented over WSUI at 3 o'clock this afternoon. With the expression of a belief that Iowa officers "compare more favorably with officers of other states," Chief W. W. Akers of the state bureau spoke at the opening session of the course yesterday.

Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the college of law outlined the purposes and significance of the short course.

Mr. Boardman spoke of the five departments of the federal system of investigation and explained the nature and scope of each department's jurisdiction.

"The federal bureau of investigation has jurisdiction over all federal crimes," he said, "but restricts its attention to those crimes which have not been specifically delegated by congress to some other investigative agency.

Council Acts Tomorrow On City's Budget

Hearing Scheduled For Last of Month; Expect Few Changes

Iowa City councilmen worked five hours yesterday, then surrendered to the heat and postponed final action on their budget for the coming fiscal year until 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The council was in executive session from 1 p.m. yesterday until nearly six. After the budget is finally completed, probably tomorrow evening, it will be published for a 10-day period.

Hearing will probably be July 24 or 25. It may be passed on the night of the hearing, if there are no serious objections.

Chairman John F. Reilly, who heads the budget committee, last night said no fundamental changes have been made from last year's budget.

It is anticipated that the millage rate for general fund expenditures not including bonds will be about two mills under this year's rate.

Some few increases may be made.

Wondering What to Do About the Heat?

When the temperature goes up, Iowa Citizens find relief from the heat at popular Lake Macbride, northeast of Iowa City. Many of the crowd of 5,000 who sought recreation at the park Sunday found cool dips in the lake waters refreshing. Shown here is a part of the crowd which packed the beach nearly all day. An official count showed Sunday's crowd to be larger than the Fourth of July crowd but less than the record of 6,499 established June 19.

Hughes--

ing evidence of something amiss, apprehension arose the Americans might experience difficulty in landing at the Soviet capital some seven hours hence.

Hughes immediately was notified of the trouble by radio.

A damaged rudder control and fuselage had held the fliers over in Paris for repairs. Mechanics said the left wheel also had been checked thoroughly.

The second leg of the globe-girdling flight started early today after completion of minor repairs to the huge silver monoplane in which Hughes halved Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's New York-to-Paris trans-Atlantic time.

The plane roared down Le Bourget field, terminus of Lindbergh's historic flight, and rose into a moderate wind and a light intermittent drizzle which had just begun to fall.

Though his takeoff seemed perfect, the plane's left wheel appeared seriously damaged and French air corps officers expressed belief he might have difficulty in landing at Moscow.

Hughes immediately was warned of the trouble by radio from Le Bourget.

The wheel apparently hit a rut at the far end of the field where it started to run for the takeoff and taxied off the concrete onto grass.

A crowd of several hundred saw a perfect takeoff to which the scores of arc-lamps gave an eerie aspect.

The millionaire aviator was at the controls as he was when he brought the flying laboratory in from New York only 16 hours and 35 minutes after his departure.

Exactly 39 minutes after the heavily loaded monoplane was wheeled out of the hangar she rose, barely topping houses at the southern end of the field, and disappeared into the sky bound for the Soviet capital, 1,541 miles east and slightly north of Paris.

Meteorological reports indicated the fliers would have good weather at least until they reached the German-Polish frontier. There was a possibility they might encounter storms over Poland.

The general tenor of weather reports had improved since Hughes landed at Le Bourget at 4:55 p.m. (9:55 a.m. C.S.T.) Monday.

The show will include a variety of activities and exhibits, Gardner said.

A pageant, "A Century of Harmony," will be given by all 4-H clubs the night of Aug. 17.

The second day of the show will be taken up with a society horse show and exhibitions by the girls and boys.

A live stock show will be the boys' contribution to the show, and the girls will display their work on the home efficiency project.

Stockton, Cal., directed "The Contrast," and did a 100 percent job.

From start to finish, "The Contrast" showed careful guarding against burlesque and unnaturalness. Most impressive were the speeches of the characters aside to the audience. Although the advertised five acts lengthened into some eight or nine scenes, no one seemed to mind.

The authentic designs for the production were Arnold S. Gillette. Hunton D. Sellman took care of the lighting and the splendid costumes were the product of Janet K. Smith.

"The Contrast" was complete enough within itself, but a "celebrated, serio-comic, satirical lecture on heads, in two parts," which was really funny in spots, added one of the anti-climaxes to the play.

The bit was in full keeping with the 18th century atmosphere, and "The Tragical Death of General Warren," entoned by Mr. Lee and Edward Kyvig, who also presented the "Heads" lecture, was worth sitting in the warm theater to see.

Almost too much was the concluding feature, a "miscellaneous, comic pantomimic entertainment in grotesque characters" called "Humpty Dumpty." Also funny in spots, a cooler theater would have added much to the skit's enjoyment.
