Council Adopts New City Budget

Proposes Few Increases For Coming Year

Hearings on $262,103 Estimated Expenses Scheduled for July 25

A proposed budget of $262,103, an increase of $17,605 over the 1938 budget, was adopted last night by the city council for publication and approval.

Hearings on the estimated budget will be held July 25, and the budget probably will be passed early in August.

The proposed budget will increase appropriations for the library and the city park and will provide for maintenance of the Iowa City community building.

Mayor Myron J. Walker said that although local police and fire departments need to be increased, it is not possible to make allotments for increases during the coming year.

Mayor Walker also remarked that the park appropriation had been cut below the average park expenditures for the past four years and that the increase has been made this year to compensate for past cuts. The increase in park appropriations is expected to run for two years.

A problem arose last night as to whether the city should buy a flusher or a sweeper. Earlier in the meeting a communication was read suggesting it would be more economical if a sweeper were bought. A flusher, the letter said, would "bankrupt" the city within a few years.

The estimated appropriations are:

General, $82,477; improvement, $750; grading, $3,290; sewer, $6,500; water, $16,720; light, $13,450.

Cemetery, $6,200; fire equipment, $2,145; fire maintenance, $20,299; fire pension, $675; sanitation, $6,810; bridge maintenance, $3,500; library, $14,000; park, $7,200.

Police pension, $969; general bonds and interest, $53,118; Burlington street improvement, $2,700; airport, $7,650, and the community building, $4,000.

Raids Continue For 3rd Day

CANTON, July 14 (Thursday) (AP)—For the third successive day Canton awoke to the sound of screaming air raid alarms and exploding bombs today as 37 Japanese raiders flew over the city dumping their deadly cargoes.

Several bombs landed in the slum districts packed with refugees near the center of the city. One unofficial estimate was 150 dead and 480 wounded.

The raiders appeared soon after daylight. Apparently their objectives were the Pearl river bridge and the old power plant.

Meanwhile, official reports said a large force of Chinese guerrillas had landed at Namoa island, near Swatow, July 11 to capture or kill several officials of the Japanese-established regime there.

Fighting was still reported on the island.

F.D.R.'s Son Denies Current Rumors Of Political Aspirations

FORT WORTH, July 13 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, used one short sentence here today to deny political rumors out of Washington, D. C., that he might be a candidate for United States senator or governor in 1940.

"I do not plan to run for any political office now, two years from now or four years hence," said Roosevelt.

Praises Senator Pope
SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Postmaster General Farley, the democratic national chairman, said yesterday he did not know of any member of the senate who had "been more loyal to the administration," than Sen. James P. Pope of Idaho.

Workers Defend Attorney, Hang Smith in Effigy

STEUUBENVILLE, Ohio, July 13 (AP)—The Weirton Steel company sought today the reinstatement of an attorney expelled from a national labor board hearing following an unprovoked protest demonstration against the board in which Examiner Edward Granison Smith was hanged in effigy.

Barbara Drops English Case

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—The former Barbara Hutton hinted by proxy today at a possible quick shift to a Copenhagen separation court for a break from her titled Danish husband, who promised to stay away from her.

Her costly legal battery dropped the charge that her husband, Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, had threatened the Woolworth heiress. In a brief hearing at which the charge was dismissed, Sir Patrick Hastings, the countess' attorney, said any separation proceedings would be subject to Danish law.

Other points cleared up by statements of opposing attorneys were:

The "gentleman in London" the countess was accused of threatening to shoot like a dog" did not meet the countess until after she and her husband had quarreled.

The count admitted through counsel that he may have intimidated her thought the countess' London mansion was not the proper house for their two-year-old son, Lance, to be brought up in, but explained he meant merely that "wealthy surroundings were not suitable for the child."

Engineers Deny Channel Work Caused Flood

By The Associated Press
United States army engineers at Omaha denied Wednesday that work on the Missouri river channel in the vicinities of Rulo, Neb., and Bartlett, Ia., was in any way responsible for the ravaging flood waters covering thousands of acres of crop land in that area.

Returning to Omaha after an inspection of the flood area, C. C. Cook, chief engineer in the army's Omaha division, declared most of the stricken sections are "natural flood basins," which may be expected to be covered occasionally.

He said the situation at Bartlett, surrounded on three sides by water with a narrow highway as its only outlet, probably was caused by a drainage ditch below the town and not by the government's King Hill dam, which residents have charged caused the high water.

The banks of the drainage ditch act as dikes, Cook said, and back up the water.

Meanwhile, Bartlett eyed the long stretch of flood water lapping at its only means of escape.

Nevada Crowd Interrupts Roosevelt to Applaud Senator McCarran, Anti-New Deal Democrat

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, July 13 (AP)—A station crowd at Carlin, Nevada, interrupted a talk by President Roosevelt today to applaud Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), a bitter foe of some new deal legislative proposals.

The president was accompanied to the rear platform of his special train by Albert Hilliard, opposing McCarran for renomination. Hilliard has pledged full support to the administration. McCarran, who had boarded the train at Ogden, Utah, came onto the platform after Mr. Roosevelt had started speaking.

"Hello, Pat," someone called, and a round of applause rippled through the crowd. The president, smiling, stopped speaking momentarily and shook hands with McCarran.

Before the platform appearance, McCarran had told reporters he thought Mr. Roosevelt's cross-country tour had made no change in political sentiment. McCarran was one of the senators who fought Mr. Roosevelt's court reorganization bill last year, and he voted against the government reorganization plan.

Leaving Carlin, the president sped onward toward California, where he planned to speak at the San Francisco Exposition grounds tomorrow, and perhaps, say a good word or two for Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo, one of his staunch supporters.

Tomorrow afternoon, the president will review all available units of the United States fleet, assembled in San Francisco bay. Some 80 fighting craft will participate.

Judge Fuller Convicts Three Union Leaders

CIO Men Must Pay $500, Serve Sentence If Strike Continues

NEWTON, Ia., July 13 (AP)—Three CIO union strike leaders here were faced tonight with the alternative of either calling off the strike at the Maytag Washing Machine Co. plant or spending the next six months in jail for contempt of court.

District Judge Homer A. Fuller handed that decision down this afternoon as he held James G. Carey of New York city, national president of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers union; William Sentner, national union vice-president of St. Louis, Mo., and Hollis Hall, vice-president of the Maytag local of the union, in contempt of his court.

The judge sentenced each man to six months in jail and fined them $500 apiece.

He told the defendants, leaders in the strike which has tied up the plant for two months, he would withhold commitment papers until they had conferred with their attorneys about his pronouncement.

He said that if the three men would call off the strike and settle the labor strife here peacefully, he would parole them to Judge Truman S. Stevens, former chief justice of the Iowa supreme court.

Otherwise, he declared, they would have to serve their sentences in some county jail not in Jasper county nor in any county adjacent to it.

John Connolly Jr., and C. L. McNutt of Des Moines, attorneys for the three men, made no motion to appeal the order, pending the decision of their clients as to the judge's terms.

Judge Fuller's decision came after three days of testimony in the citations brought against the union leaders for violation of an injunction obtained by the Maytag company against the CIO on June 22.

He said there was no question of the guilt of the trio in violating the injunction.

Leaders of the Maytag employees' "back-to-work" movement announced tonight their group plans to return to work Thursday morning.

A. M. Miller, "back-to-work" attorney, said he advised his men they could return to work, after (See MAYTAG, page 6)

Kidnaper of Charles S. Ross Prepares for Extreme Penalty

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, July 14 (Thursday) (AP)—John Henry Seadlund, a lumberjack who turned kidnaper, died in the electric chair today for the $50,000 abduction of Charles S. Ross, retired Chicago manufacturer.

From his closely guarded cell came word that his calm demeanor suited his recent statement:

"I'm all square and ready." His last days were spent seeking diversion and consolation. He read adventure stories, figured his own handicaps on the horse races, wrote farewell letters to his mother, Mrs. Delia Seadlund of Ironton, Minn., and other relatives, received the religious advice of the jail's Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Ernest Kaushold.

He planned no last minute move to defer the penalty decreed for the $50,000 abduction of Charles S. Ross, 72-year-old retired manufacturer.

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Death reached out to snatch Kidnap John Seadlund tonight.

He apparently was reconciled to his fate as the hour set for his execution (12:01 a.m. central standard time) in the electric chair at the Cook county jail approached.

Deficit Estimate Raises Question Of Tax Policy

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt's estimate of a $4,000,000,000 deficit for the present fiscal year raised the question today whether the administration would ask congress to enact additional or higher taxes.

Treasury tax experts, who were unwilling to venture an answer, said Mr. Roosevelt and department executives probably would decide this next fall.

Nevertheless, the treasury already is gathering data that congress may use in drafting another tax revision bill.

Mattson Case Still Unsolved

TACOMA, Wash., July 13 (AP)—A hoped-for solution of the Mattson kidnaping-slaying "blew up" today, leaving the 17-month mystery still unsolved.

At Spokane, Dr. M. W. Conway, superintendent of a state insane hospital, said a man who called himself "Frank Olson," and confessed the abduction, was an inmate of the asylum at the time Charles Mattson, 10, was kidnaped and slain.

"Olson's real name is Lester Mead," Dr. Conway said. "He is entirely harmless but is given to fantastic theories that he is a big-time criminal."

Earlier Chief William Cole of Washington police had said the man was "a mental case and had no part in the crime."

He was arrested Friday night at Ritzville after he had frightened a housewife. Chief Cole said that while being questioned the man started sobbing and told police it was he who kidnaped the Mattson boy and strangled him.

Charles Mattson was kidnaped from his home Dec. 27, 1936. Fifteen days later his battered, nude body was found in a snowbank near Everett, 60 miles away.

Asks World Wheat Contract
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States embarked last night on an ambitious effort to get the big wheat-producing nations of the world to control their surpluses.

Members of a joint committee of government executives and members of congress, who are starting an investigation of monopoly, may show an interest in such Brookings conclusions as these:

Even if a concern has a monopoly of a product, it is likely to meet keen competition from companies whose products, though different are almost equally satisfactory to consumers.

Efforts to maintain artificially high prices under modern competitive conditions have little chance of success over a period of years. The price-fixing power of so-called monopolies "has clearly diminished."

The study, "Industrial price policies and economic progress," was made for the private research agency by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse and Dr. Horace B. Drury.

They clearly disagreed with those who have argued that bigness in business is a curse and who have yearned for a society made up largely of competing "little fellows."

New Deal Wins Nominations In Oklahoma Race

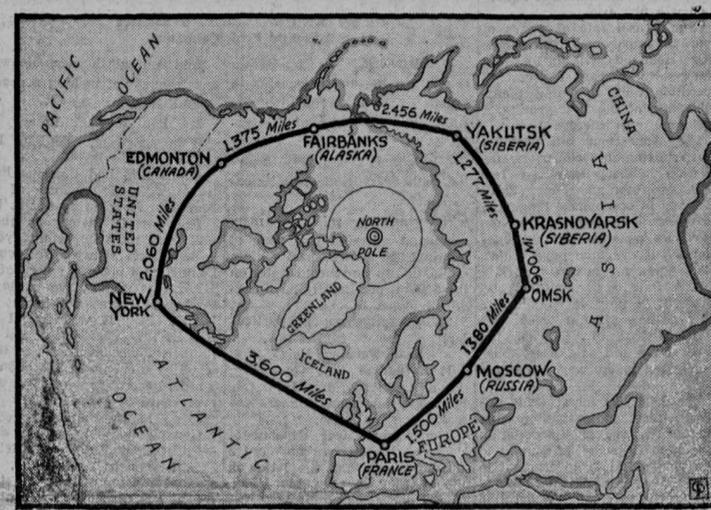

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13 (AP)—Oklahoma democrats emphasized their allegiance to the Roosevelt administration today by nominating Senator Elmer Thomas for a third term and rejecting the gubernatorial bid of former Gov. W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, new deal critic.

Thomas' campaign was marked by friendly words spoken in his behalf by President Roosevelt three days before yesterday's primary.

Dies for Shooting
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert Snow, 27, of Akron, Ohio, died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary last night for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Harriet Deger, 25, his Akron sweetheart last Jan. 18.

WESTWOOD, Cal. (AP)—Several hundred CIO unionists and organizers were driven from Westwood yesterday by independent unionists and other citizens with the warning "don't come back."

Route Howard Hughes Follows on World Flight

Record-breaker of the air and his route

Here are character studies of his record-breaking round-the-world flight. After leaving Fairbanks, Alaska, late yesterday, route he originally planned for Hughes planned to stop at an intermediate point between Fairbanks and New York, splitting the last long leg into two parts.

Police to Learn First Aid Today

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—A Brookings institution report contended today that giant corporations had fostered "useful competition" rather than harmful monopoly.

"The persistent dissolution of large corporations," it said, would bring us to the point where we would not have the power to make the industrial advances which would progressively lower prices. "Pure competition" is not the path to economic progress in an industrial age.

Members of a joint committee of government executives and members of congress, who are starting an investigation of monopoly, may show an interest in such Brookings conclusions as these:

Even if a concern has a monopoly of a product, it is likely to meet keen competition from companies whose products, though different are almost equally satisfactory to consumers.

Wagner Wants Lynch Probe

ALBANY, N. Y., July 13 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D-NY) called tonight for a federal investigation of what he described as the recent "brutal lynching" of two southern Negroes.

In a telegram to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, Wagner asserted the investigation was necessary to "help bring the guilty to justice and forestall a new wave of lynching during the adjournment of congress."

"With all the earnestness at my command I respectfully urge an immediate investigation of these lynchings by the department of justice to ascertain violations of the 14th amendment," Wagner wired Cummings.

Wagner said he referred to "two lynchings in rapid succession" at Rolling Fork, Miss., and at Arabi, Ga., in which the victims were Tom Green, 48, and John Dubes, 60. The first incident took place July 6 and the second three days later.

Leaves Alaska On Last Part Of World Trip

New York Awaits Flyers Today After One More Fuel Stop

Fairbanks, Alaska, July 13 (AP)—Dare devil Howard Hughes and his four-man crew sped through the darkness toward the United States tonight on the next to the last leg of an astounding round-the-world flight they hoped would take them 14,709 miles in four days.

Tired, but smiling and happy, the five aviators spanned Siberian wastes today, spent an hour and 18 minutes in Fairbanks, then dashed southward.

To Make Stop
New York flight headquarters announced the party had planned to stop briefly at Winnipeg but that if weather conditions were unfavorable there the fliers might land either at Edmonton or Minneapolis. Because a short runway here prevented takeoff with a heavy load of gasoline, the fliers abandoned hope of hopping the 3,380 miles to New York non-stop.

Favorable weather conditions were ahead over southeastern Alaska and northern Canada.

Speeding over the 2,456 miles from Yakutsk, Siberia, in 12 hours 17 minutes, Hughes landed here at 7:18 p.m. (EST) and hopped-off at 8:36 p.m. (EST).

In Smiling Mood
In the brief stop here Hughes came from the ship several times to pose for pictures. He was in a smiling mood and expressed pleasure at absence of autograph seekers.

Radio engineer Richard Stoddard and others spoke briefly, the former explaining shortness of the 2,800-foot runway here made advisable abandonment of original non-stop flight plans.

"We also will be flying into darkness "and we want no mishaps at this late date."

A crowd which assembled at the airport several hours before Hughes' arrival fidgeted for a quarter of an hour while the fliers made final inspections of the ship's nose, tail and radio antenna, and removed pieces of baggage to reduce weight for the takeoff.

Describes Trip
The precautions proved a success for the plane left the ground without incident.

Stoddard took time here to describe incidents of the trip. At Yakutsk, he said there was only one person, a girl, who spoke English.

He explained his first difficult experience was in understanding Russian radio stations making it hard to keep track of schedules. But he declared the Russian engineers "went to a lot of trouble" for the fliers and aided particularly by radio directions for the landing at Omsk earlier in the flight.

Ready For Reception
The Hughes party was so far ahead of the late Wily Post's globe-girdling record of 7 days, 19 hours 49 minutes that it appeared only a serious mishap could prevent a new mark. Hughes' representatives in New York predicted he would arrive late Thursday.

When they left Fairbanks the airmen had flown 11,329 miles in about an hour more than three days.

At New York a police detail of approximately 1,000 officers was ordered to be at Floyd Bennett airport tomorrow for the expected arrival. The police operations bureau predicted the biggest crowd since Charles A. Lindbergh's return from his New York-Paris hop in 1927.

Favors Westerner For Vacancy Left In Supreme Court

DENVER, July 13 (AP)—Sen. Alva Adams (D-Colo.) said tonight President Roosevelt told him he favored appointment of a western man to the vacancy on the United States supreme court bench created by the death last week of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo.

Adams said he discussed the matter with the president when the latter's special train stopped at Pueblo, Col., yesterday.

Cooper spoke of the three types of genuine paper money — silver certificates with blue seals and serial numbers, United States notes with green, and federal reserve notes with green seals and serial numbers.

He outlined the duties of the secret service, asserting that the nationwide drive against counterfeiting is the latest assignment of the secret service, the oldest of the (See POLICE, page 6)

Travel-time Americans Seek Wide Open Spaces

One vast business in which there is no sign of recession is the domestic travel business in the United States. Returns from the leading travel agencies of the country place the tourist travel for this year as probably fully 15 percent ahead of 1937.

When the temperature begins to seek the higher levels, the great American public feels an urge to get out in the "wide-open spaces and commune with nature"—an urge which means only one thing—travel. Whether you go in your own private car, take a bus, a train, interurban or steamer, the results are just the same.

Bright skies and moonlit nights make summer the most pleasant time for travel in all the year, and with more and more of the beauties of nature coming within our reach, due to improved travel conditions, the public is becoming increasingly travel-conscious.

Miles mean nothing today in our travel—a trip which formerly took several hours now can be completed in half the time with the improved automobiles, busses, and railway facilities. With all the speed and modern conveniences offered today, it is no wonder that America is going travel conscious.

Von Reuter possesses a Maggini violin, valued at $25,000, that he will play when he appears at the concert here.

1934 Trade Act Results Shown By Prof. Olson

The government's 1934 trade agreements act has spelled increases in United States exports to co-operating nations over those to non-cooperating countries, Prof. Paul R. Olson of the college of commerce stated yesterday as he spoke at the fifth of the university's summer series of campus forum discussions in Old Capitol.

The speaker also pointed out that the United States imports from countries with which trade agreements are held have not increased as rapidly as from non-cooperating nations.

Professor Olson reviewed the historical conditions which led to the passage of the act—"the problem of doing something about standards of living," and conditions of trade restrictions and economic nationalism tendencies which were prevalent in 1933.

The passage of the act, he pointed out, was based on the belief that a restoration of international trade would aid standards of living for the world as a whole.

Tariff Barriers
The problem of how best to attack the problem of reducing the world's tariff barriers was met through bi-lateral approach, the speaker pointed out, in which the United States negotiates with one nation at a time for trade concessions.

He stressed the danger of any national policy showing preferences or discrimination in choosing commodities and nations with which to deal.

"The United States," he said, "decided upon a policy of equality of treatment." When the United States extends a concession to any nation, the same concession is extended to all other nations not discriminating against the United States.

Germany, the speaker revealed, is the only nation classed as "discriminating against the United States" in trade relations.

Both Ways
The agreement works both ways, Professor Olson said, in that nations who receive benefits from United States concessions also extend concessions to the United States, as well as to any other nation with whom they complete agreements.

The speaker mentioned opposition to the power of the president to make trade agreements without congressional approval, but he pointed out that the chief executive is checked in certain ways, one of which is a clause which does not permit the president to change items from the free to dutiable lists of trade commodities.

Since the passage of the act in June 1934, he said, the United States has negotiated agreements with 17 foreign countries, among them Canada, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Brazil and Sweden.

Concessions Gained
Among concessions which this country has gained are a general lowering of tariff barriers on packing house products, citrus fruits, vegetables, wheat, dairy products and other agricultural commodities by those countries, and the lowering of barriers on such non-agricultural goods as motor vehicles and parts, rubber tires and goods and steel materials.

He also cited concessions which the United States has extended to other nations. The general results show, he said, that United States exports increased 14 per cent in 1936 over 1935, and 41 per cent in 1937 over 1936 to cooperating nations, while increases to non-agreeing nations increased only 4 to 34 per cent during the two periods.

The same trend is recognizable in imports, with an increase in imports of 18 per cent in 1937 over 1936 from agreeing nations, and a greater increase of 34 per cent during the period from the non-agreeing nations.

The speaker next week will be Prof. W. Willard Wirtz of the college of law, who will speak on the final forum topic, "Constitutional Obstacles to Social Progress."

Board of Education Awards Contract for Excavation For New High School Gymnasium

Hires Two Teachers, Discusses Landscape Problems of School

Deferring action on the budget for the fiscal year until a special meeting Friday at 7 p. m., the Iowa City school board approved a grading contract and hired two teachers at the regular monthly meeting last night in the administration building.

A $1,416 contract submitted by William Horabin company for excavating and grading for the gymnasium at the new high school was accepted by the board. This was the third contract with the firm covering excavation work on the school site. The other two contracts were approved some time ago.

The two teachers -- Mary Stoddard of Waterloo and Norma L. Pepler of Iowa City -- will teach in kindergarten classes and home economics respectively. Miss Stoddard has been teaching for the last two years in Monticello while Miss Pepler has taught in Baltimore, Md., Lowden and DeWitt, having had seven years experience.

The board discussed with P. A. Robinson of Des Moines, landscape architect, the problem of walks, drives and parking spaces on the new school site.

Representatives of two coal companies talked with the board, but no action was taken on the purchase of fuel at the meeting.

Board members present last night were Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlic, president; W. W. Mercer, Dr. W. E. Spence, Thomas G. Gaywood, Elza M. Means and V. R. Miller. Dr. George Marech was absent.

conferring with Judge Fuller late this afternoon.

Union officials had no comment regarding their reactions to Judge Fuller's decision in the contempt cases.

A union mass meeting was scheduled for tonight in the junior high school auditorium.

Judge Fuller's decision climaxed an eventful day in strike harassed Newton.

Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel's three-man arbitration board, set up last Saturday in a "last move" to settle the strike peacefully, recessed its hearings early this afternoon to await the judge's ruling.

They heard testimony from three CIO officials and one local union member during the day.

Judge Fuller heard testimony from seven witnesses this morning, overruled arguments by attorneys for the company, union and state, and then announced he would give his decision at the afternoon session.

The Maytag strike began last May 9 when CIO union workers walked out in protest to a 10 percent wage cut. They began picketing the plant, which remained closed.

On June 22 the company procured an injunction limiting the picketing and restraining the union from interfering with the regular order of business at the factory.

The next morning a group of about 350 CIO members entered the plant and held it until July 1, when Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel arranged a truce by conferences with both sides.

The governor urged the plant be opened up for work last Wednesday morning, but a large group of pickets prevented any entrance by members of the "back-to-work" group organized during the strike.

The appointment of the arbitration board, the citations and the arrest of seven union men on grand jury indictments charging criminal syndicalism or kidnapping, followed.

federal government's investigative branches.

The speaker compared the methods by which genuine and counterfeit money is made, and pointed out that a careful comparison between the two types will show the counterfeit to be "a shabby imitation of genuine United States bills."

Dr. Fred Jarvis of the surgery department of the college of medicine, who will speak at 8 o'clock this morning on first aid, began a discussion of that topic yesterday.

He outlined the important things to remember in dealing with accidents — "keep cool and never give up hope" — pointing out that extreme haste is necessary only in case of severe hemorrhage from an artery, failure of a patient to breathe or poisoning.

Demonstrating the makeshift tourniquet for stopping the flow of blood and discussing emergency treatment of wounds, Dr. Jarvis said that the accident patient should be laid in a prone position, his clothing loosened and pulse taken, while a doctor is called.

Prof. Rollin M. Perkins, administrative director of the short course, dealt with the four point program of the interstate commission on crime and Dr. R. B. Gibson of the biochemistry department of the college of medicine spoke on blood and urine and alcohol and intoxication at the morning session.

4 Child Study Radio Courses

To Organize Study Program in 1938-39 For Seventh Year

Child study by radio, which extended its benefits to 2,548 parents of 13 states in 1937-38, will be organized for the seventh year in 1938-39, with four courses on the program.

Broadcast by station WSUI of the University of Iowa and WOI of Iowa State college, the radio child study club program will include 48 talks between Oct. 4 and Apr. 6, it was announced by Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann of the child welfare research station.

Every age will be covered, so parents with infants as well as those with adolescent children may secure current information on developments in child-rearing. The family, infants and preschool children, school age children, and adolescents are the course titles.

Each course is planned for two years, with 12 meetings in each annual series and the second half of the cycle will be offered in 1938-39.

Ten or more parents can organize a study group and the individual membership plan also will be used. In addition to talks by experts from the university, Iowa State, State Teachers, or other organizations, round table discussions, with parents in the studio, will be broadcast during the bi-weekly programs.

Professor Ojemann said that the 1937-38 enrollment was a record one. There were 175 organized groups, including those from 56 towns in Iowa and in 12 other states. The individual enrollment during the year totalled 115.
