Testify Foremen Used Influence on Strikers

CIO Members Deny Findings Of Arbiters

Martial Law Enters Seventh Day at Site Of Maytag Strike

NEWTON, Ia., July 25 (AP)—CIO union members testifying here today in the National Labor Relations board inquiry into the strike at the Maytag Washing Machine plant said Maytag foremen advised them to sign "back-to-work" cards.

Today's testimony contradicted the findings of an arbitration board appointed July 9 by Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel.

The arbitration board reported there was "no indication of any company influence of any kind in the whole movement."

The arbitration board found that the "back-to-work" movement consisted of 610 men who were anxious to terminate the strike, return to work and take the risk of recapturing later the 10 per cent wage cut which the company insisted was necessary.

Madison Hill, NLRB trial examiner, reconvened the hearing today and said it would continue at full speed until completed.

National guard sentries maintained a vigil around the closed factory as martial law in Newton entered its seventh day. One guardsman collapsed because of heat.

In Des Moines, Mayor George Campbell renewed his plea to Governor Kraschel to re-open the plant. The governor said later he told Campbell his reports indicated "no change in the situation."

The governor said he was receiving telegrams from business men and chambers of commerce in other Iowa cities, urging him to re-open the plant, but he said one mayor wired him "Stand by your guns" and not pay any attention to the pleas of the business men if he thought the plant should remain closed.

Maytag Washing Machine Co. officials, replying tonight to a CIO union telegram asking the company to "speak for itself" in the labor controversy, stated "we stand ready to meet with you in joint conference whenever such meetings can be arranged."

The officials said in a formal statement "We beg to advise you that the Maytag company has never been closed by the management. We believe that the factory should be in operation. Our position is well known to you and has been fully justified by the findings of the governor's arbitration board."

National guardsmen tonight had become humdrum characters in the Maytag strike case as the National Labor Relations board hearing into allegedly unfair labor practices continued to hold the center of the stage.

Commerce Department Says Favorable Trade Balance Aids in Business Slump

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The commerce department credited sales of American goods abroad today with having helped to an "important extent" in maintaining employment and purchasing power in the United States during the domestic business slump this year.

It reported that this country exported $631,074,000 more than it purchased from foreign countries in the first six months of 1938. This excess of exports

'No Change'

Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel, replying yesterday to pleas of Newton's mayor, George Campbell, that the Maytag plant be reopened, told Campbell the reports indicated "no change in the situation."

Gov. Earle Fights Charges

Asks Special Session Legislature to Smash 'Judicial Dictatorship'

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 25 (AP)—Governor George H. Earle, fighting a grand jury investigation of political graft charges against his administration, called upon Pennsylvania's democratic-controlled legislature tonight to "smash what he termed "judicial dictatorship" in the state.

Opening a special session called principally in an effort to thwart the grand jury inquiry which begins here August 8, Earle recommended:

Subpoenas for Carl B. Shelley, republican district attorney of Dauphin county (Harrisburg) and former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, as a move to obtain any evidence on hand to support the charges of political corruption against Earle and 13 of his associates. The charges include conspiracy to cheat and defraud the commonwealth, blackmail and extortion.

Exercise of the legislature's "constitutional rights" to "resist overlordship" by the courts and to take "appropriate action with respect to all persons responsible for or partaking in it."

The governor's demand for "appropriate action" was quickly interpreted by some democratic legislators as an indication an attempt may be made to impeach certain judges.

Earle, democratic nominee for U. S. senator, originally summoned the legislature, he said, "to bring into the open" all phases of Shelley's investigation.

Puerto Rico's Gov. Winship Escapes Bullets

Assassination Attempt During Celebration Kills Two Others

PONCE, Puerto Rico, July 25 (AP)—More than a dozen shots were fired at Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, governor of Puerto Rico, in an attempt to assassinate him today while he was reviewing a parade celebrating American occupation of the island.

Governor Winship was not hurt, although the attack precipitated a shooting affray in which two Puerto Ricans were killed and at least 31 wounded, including three women.

Police said one of the men killed, Angel Esteban Antongiorgi, was among the governor's attackers. They described him as a member of the nationalist party, a group demanding Puerto Rico be made independent of the United States.

At least two others were believed to have fired at the governor from the crowd.

The parade was in connection with the 40th anniversary of the landing of United States troops in the Spanish-American war. The nationalists had issued a manifesto against holding the celebration.

The second fatality was Col. Luis Izarrary of the Puerto Rican national guard. The wounded included Obdulio Rodriguez, the governor's chauffeur; Miguel Angel Garcia Mendez, speaker of the house of representatives; and Francisco Lopez Dominguez, commissioner of agriculture and commerce.

None of the governor's official party was seriously hurt nor were any continental Americans of the large crowd which had gathered in Ponce for the celebration.

Bars Attorney From Hearing

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The labor relations board, invoking its disciplinary powers for the first time since it was created by congress in 1935, today ordered Clyde A. Armstrong, Weirton Steel company general counsel, barred from the board's hearing of charges that Weirton engaged in unfair labor practices.

The order sustained the ruling made by Trial Examiner Edward Grandison Smith at Steubenville, Ohio, July 11, excluding Armstrong not only from the case, but the hearing room on the grounds his behavior was "defiant, contemptuous and contumacious."

Examiner Smith's order grew out of a heated dispute between Armstrong and an attorney for the board over the presentation of a steel company witness at the 11-month-old hearing.

The board decided that Armstrong's conduct was "intolerable" and contemptuous "to an aggravated degree."

His failure to obey the examiner's order to "sit down" and his manner of examining witnesses, the board said, showed "a calculated attempt to wrest control of the hearing from the board's duly designated agent."

Governor A. B. Chandler, Sick Since Friday, Victim of Water 'Doctored With a Poison'

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 25 (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler, ill for days, is the victim of water "doctored with a poison," Dr. J. W. Bryan, his Louisville physician said in a statement today. The doctor said he did not know what kind of poison it was but added "if consumed in sufficient quantities, it would have caused death."

The governor, smiling as of old, talked from his sick bed in the mansion with reporters but declined to make public the physician's report. He referred all inquiries to

Dr. Bryan.

Tonight he went on the air speaking from his sick bed for his first speech since he was stricken with a stomach ailment last Friday in Louisville. He was brought to Frankfort Sunday in an ambulance. He is to return to the stump Thursday if his condition continues to improve.

Chandler is opposing Sen. Alben Barkley, senate majority leader, seeking re-nomination in the Aug. 6 democratic primary.

The statement of Dr. Bryan was dated July 24. It was made available to newsmen when the governor later complied with a suggestion from Dr. Bryan that it be released.

Dr. Bryan is resident physician of the hotel in which the governor was staying when taken ill.

Dr. Bryan said State Finance Commissioner J. Dan Talbot and State Highway Patrolman Jesse Wyatt who "drank from the same pitcher of water" with the governor also became ill at the same time.

Iowa Jobless Get Checks

Kraschel Presents First Money From Unemployment Fund

DES MOINES, Ia., July 25 (AP)—Two young married men who had been out of work all summer were made happy tonight with the first checks from the Iowa unemployment compensation fund.

Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel presented the first check to be drawn on the $10,000,000 fund accumulated since the job insurance act was passed in December, 1936, to Leonard G. Ebeling, 27, Des Moines salesman out of work for five weeks.

At the same time, the governor presented check No. 2 to Baugh Fontanini, 23, employe of a Des Moines coal company who had not worked since March.

Boat Launches 19-ton Plane

Tosses German Airship From Catapult In New Style Take-off

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—Four men in a 19-ton seaplane were tossed into the air at 95 miles an hour from a standing start at 5 p.m. (CST) today in one of the most thrilling spectacles in aviation.

They were Capt. Joachim von Blankenburg and his three man crew aboard the Nordmeer, one of Germany's three catapult monoplane now engaged in "exploring" the air route between Germany and the United States.

The craft, powered with four Diesel engines, was shot into the air from the motorship Friesenland, steaming at 11 knots up Long Island sound against the wind. The Nordmeer's destination was Horta, the Azores, 2,397 miles away—15 hours by air.

The take-off, from this international airline terminal established by the American Flying company, Pan American airways, was less than five hours after Nordmeer's sister ship, Nordwind, piloted by Capt. Hans Werner von Engel, had arrived from Horta and only 10-12 hours after the British pick-a-back plane, Mercury, set out for Montreal to return to Southampton by east stages across the Atlantic.

The Mercury had been here since Thursday, the Nordmeer since Friday. The Nordwind will start her return trip next Monday just after the third German airplane, Nordstern, arrives on its first trip to New York.

None of the German catapult planes is expected to carry passengers, even after trans-Atlantic aviation is operating on a commercial basis. The reason for this was demonstrated in the takeoff.

The men who fly from the catapults say: "You have to be in very good physical condition. The first second or two, you can not move even a hand. After that, though, everything is all right."

It is that second or two which furnishes the thrill.

The Friesenland, of 9,000 tons and built especially for catapult work, steams backward against the wind, her huge Diesels propelling her at 11 knots.

F. R. Watches Ceremony For 'King Neptune'

ABOARD CRUISER HOUSTON, IN GALAPAGOS ARCHIPELAGO, July 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt watched more than 300 men aboard the cruiser Houston get "the royal works" today as they were changed from "pollywogs" to "shellbacks."

Tonight the Houston, a one hundred per cent shellback ship, dropped anchor off the west coast of Albermarle island, the largest of the Galapagos group.

King Neptune, accompanied by Davy Jones and his royal court, came aboard ship early this morning while the Houston was on its way from San Salvador island to Albermarle and prepared for the initiation of the pollywogs—those who have not crossed the Equator—into the order of shellbacks—those who have crossed.

Official Says Victory Opens Hankow Road

Defenses Crumble As Mikado's Planes Lead Attack on Kiukiang

SHANGHAI, July 26 (Tuesday) (AP)—Japanese military spokesmen announced today their forces had occupied Kiukiang, Yangtze river port 135 miles downstream from Hankow, the Chinese provisional capital.

The Japanese army took unopposed control of the city, the spokesmen said, when Chinese defenses crumbled and the army of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek began retreating to the west and southwest.

The fall of the important port marked the breaking of the principal line of Chinese defense in the Yangtze valley, Japanese claimed, and opened the way to Hankow.

Japanese naval officers added that the Mikado's fleet of war vessels simultaneously advanced up the mine-strewn river and began shelling the retreating Chinese.

Civilians had fled. Foreign properties, including Standard Oil waterfront property, was damaged during the bombardments and defense activities of the Chinese.

Many foreigners, including 50 Americans, had departed to Kuling, the mountain resort 14 miles southeast of Kiukiang.

Chinese commanders were reported to have requested them to leave, however, and this was interpreted by Japanese as signifying that Chinese intended to defend the mountain.

In this event much destruction at the resort seemed certain.

Japanese said their forces marched into Kiukiang from Kungang, seven miles southeast. The Lion Hill forts guarding the river downstream from Kiukiang and the mouth of Lake Poyang were completely occupied, Japanese said.

Two days rain delayed the Japanese entry into the city, Japanese said, but clearing skies yesterday permitted their airmen to dominate the air and quickly shattered resistance.

American Gunboat In Hank of Shells

HANKOW, July 25 (AP)—The United States gunboat Monocacy was in the thick of shellfire and aerial bombardment today when eight Japanese warships steamed up the Yangtze river past the Kiukiang waterfront and anchored 1,500 yards downstream from the American ship.

The three torpedo boats and five gunboats began an intensive bombardment of Chinese shore positions southwest of Kiukiang while Japanese airplanes kept up a heavy bombing of troop concentrations on the north bank about a mile from the Monocacy's commanding officer, Lieut. C. V. Conlan.

Japanese airplanes zoomed low over the Monocacy several times yesterday, but departed apparently after satisfying themselves of the nationality of the vessel.

Rep. Maverick 'Enjoying Obscurity'

Kilday Defeats Texas New Dealer; 'Mountain Music' O'Daniel Wins

DALLAS, Tex., July 25 (AP)—Rep. Maury Maverick, ardent new dealer defeated in a campaign in which he said "more money" was used against him than ever before in the south, spoke today of "enjoying obscurity"—but quickly added how long his retirement would be he did not know.

Maverick's defeat, the possible upset of a fellow new dealer, Rep. W. D. MacFarlane, the losing fight of Rep. Morgan Sanders and the spectacular triumph of W. Lee O'Daniel for governor were the highlights of Saturday's democratic primary battle.

Rep. MacFarlane trailed Ed Gossett but Gossett still lacked enough votes for a majority.

In Texas, where the democratic nomination usually is equivalent to election, if a candidate does not gain a majority in the first primary, a run-off election is necessary.

The retirement of Sanders, considered previously as ultimately slated for the championship of the house ways and means committee, was reported as certain after the Tyler Courier Times checked every precinct in the third district and showed the congressman third in the race. The count was: Lindley Beckworth, freshman state legislator who made a "poor boy" campaign, 13,973; Brady Gentry, 13,550; Sanders 13,267, and two others trailing.

Of his defeat at the hands of Paul J. Kilday, and the "pleasant obscurity" he said would result from it, Maverick said:

"How long I do not know, but whatever happens, nothing will dim my spirit, and I will stand by the people for civil liberty and economic justice."

O'Daniel's majority over the field of 11 other candidates, some of them seasoned campaigners, was 28,340 when the Texas election bureau made its final tabulation of the day at 6 p.m. (Central Standard Time). Officials did not expect the approximately 60,000 votes outstanding would alter the outcome.

Loyalist Army Crosses Ebro

BARCELONA, July 25 (AP)—Government armies on the Catalan front in northern Spain crossed the Ebro river today and smashed forward in a surprise offensive into insurgent territory.

At 5 a.m. the first government forces crossed the 100-yard wide stream that has been a barrier between the northern government army and insurgent Spain for the last three months. Tonight the government commanders said they had advanced without casualties.

Gandesa, northwest of Tortosa, was the focal point of three government spearheads. Gandesa is 14 miles west of the Ebro river and is an insurgent base.

A thin enemy line crumbled before the surprise assault. Government reports said a number of insurgent officers deserted to the government's side and that the morale of the enemy appeared broken by the swift advance.

Eight More Die As Victims Of Plane Crash

BOGOTA, Columbia, July 25 (AP)—Eight additional deaths today brought to 42 the number of victims of a stunting military plane which crashed yesterday into a crowd of 50,000 watching a military review.

Many of the remaining 142 persons injured by the hurtling, flame-enveloped plane were reported in grave condition. The injured were visited during the day by President Alfonso Lopez, who escaped unhurt. The stand he occupied was struck by the plane.

Memorial services were held this afternoon in the Plaza Bolivar in front of the cathedral where the caskets of the victims were assembled.

Holy Land 35 Die in Explosion; Riots Spread

HAIFA, Palestine, July 25 (AP)—Terror gripped this Mediterranean port tonight after a terrific bomb explosion killed 35 Arab men and women in the crowded market place.

Rioting, arson and violence spread swiftly. Four Jews were killed and eight were wounded in Haifa proper before the curfew was imposed.

Disorders in other sections of the Holy Land raised the total casualties during the day to 45 killed and 75 wounded.

Marines from the British battle cruiser Repulse landed eight artillery and posted guards throughout Haifa, mainly on the borders of the Arab and Jewish quarters.

Police said the market place disaster was caused by a time bomb which exploded with such tremendous force that it blew human beings and animals to pieces in all directions.

Board Asks if S. U. I. Should Pay More to Get Iowa Coal

DES MOINES, Ia., July 25 (AP)—The state board of education, facing the task of buying next winter's coal for the University of Iowa, today asked Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel whether to buy at the lowest price quoted, or to pay more to get Iowa coal.

The 1937 legislature passed a law requiring tax supported institutions to burn Iowa coal, but the university could buy Illinois coal cheaper than it could buy from an Iowa mine, the board told the governor.

The governor said it was his position that all state departments should buy their coal from Iowa mines.

He pointed out further that union shaft mines in Iowa produced 3,200,000 tons of coal last year, while strip mines, operated largely with machinery, produced 419,000.

Kraschel said he believed that state institutions should buy their coal in the same proportion—eight ninths from shaft mines, and one ninth from strip mines.

"The output of a shaft mine per man-year is 334 tons, compared to 1,995 tons per man-year for strip mines, so a ton of coal from a shaft mine involves three times as much labor as a ton of strip coal," the governor explained.

The board did not arrive at a decision today, but decided to buy all of the coal needed by the other state schools from Iowa mines. The other state schools can buy Iowa coal as cheaply as any, the board said.

Last year, the university burned Iowa coal, but at several thousand dollars' extra cost, the board said.

Labor—Britain And America

GREAT BRITAIN has made further strides toward solving her labor problems than has the United States.

Of course, even in Britain business men would prefer "self government," but in the last 30 years they've fairly well given up the idea that complete self-government is possible—or probably even desirable.

Among the several boards and commissions regulating the capital-labor problem are the trade boards set up to fix minimum wages and prevent sweat-shops.

Under these boards about 47 trades or branches of trades employing some 1,250,000 persons are operating.

The boards are set up with an equal number of representatives of labor and industry plus independent members. The wage rates upon which the boards agree are subject to confirmation by the ministry of labor, after which they are enforceable by civil law.

It's a well-established fact that Great Britain's labor problems today are less serious than ours; but one of the main reasons is that Britain started thinking about the problem 30 years before we were even aware that it was one.

It seems rather important for us to remember that labor and industry's problems will never be solved by merely ignoring them—although that's what a large number of quite intelligent persons seem to advocate.

International Trade Leaps Barriers Erected By Solons, Militarists

IT IS AN odd thing to take comfort in, and yet the underlying lesson is of that sort. We refer to the French agreement to let Germany purchase large quantities annually of Lorraine iron ore, even though some of it may be used for weapons made to threaten France.

Lorraine has been, ever since there was an iron and steel industry, a natural source of iron ore for both neighboring countries. Germany snatched it away from France in 1870 to get exclusive control of this resource so essential to Germany's industrialization.

However, things did not go so well in the Lorraine area. The French market was unable to absorb all the ore production, with the result that many were unemployed. A number of years back nature again began taking its course, with the licensing of occasional exports to Germany, in spite of decrees forbidding this trade.

away the aggravated nationalism which has been the curse of the post-war world, giving rise in Europe to economic systems incapable of operation except by military dictatorships. The practical kind of international co-operation that grows up along the trade routes is the end which will really make the world safe for democracy.

That Irish-American who had everyone thinking he was headed from New York for California, but landed in Ireland instead, made his flight at the wrong time. It should have been St. Patrick's Day or—better still—April 1!

Prince Konoze of Japan says the Japanese are not fighting the Chinese people. Golly, they certainly had us fooled.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

INDUSTRY AND PRESS: THE misconceptions and the ineptitudes of industrialists in their attitudes toward newspapers are beyond all understanding. The latest examples are given in the testimony before the Senate Civil Liberties committee as to the Republic Steel corporation and newspapers in Birmingham and in Canton.

In Birmingham, the Republic officials apparently were interested in their competitive relationship with the local subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation and in labor matters. They were entirely within their rights in going to the newspaper offices to state their viewpoints and claims—precisely as would be any group of other business men, or any group of politicians, or any group of average citizens. That sort of thing goes on all the time in the offices of newspapers of any importance.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

(Carey Wilson, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer writer, today pens a column for Robbin Coons, who is on vacation.)

By CAREY WILSON: HOLLYWOOD — They call Hollywood "The City of Make-believe" and I admit that most of the phantasmagoric figures that flash across your silver screens are conceived in imagination and born of metaphoric parents. But there is a celluloid fable — or rather a series of fables — concocted entirely out of reality. The Judge Hardy series of pictures is tailored to a single and iron-clad premise: "If it hasn't happened to you or someone you know, we can't use it in the Hardy Series!"

If, as audiences seem to be saying throughout the world, a Judge Hardy picture is true to life, the public dictum has arisen out of this studio law. If it hasn't happened to you, or someone you know, we can't use it!

Aurania Rouverol, playwright-author of "Skidding" which, as "A Family Affair," started all this Hardy business, freely admits that her characters were dramatic paraphrases of her own family. Kay Van Ripper, Agnes Christine Johnston, Bill Ludwig — all contributors to Hardy scenarios — will not deny that they use their memories rather than their imaginations in their Hardy efforts. And not a few of the amazing adventures of young Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy bring now-humorous but then-bitter memories of a small boy named Carey Wilson in the town of Rutherford, N. J.

So it is that the Hardy stories are never written — they "just grow," like the immortal Topsy. Anybody and everybody on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot may pop up at any time with a valuable suggestion. And it's never put in the form of a suggestion like "I just thought up a swell idea for the Hardy Pictures." No, it's inevitably more like "I remember something that happened to my kid brother back in Kansas." And a surprising number of these impromptu suggestions are immediately seized on as appropriate and valuable.

There must be a dozen prototypes in the studio organization for each member of the Hardy Family — mothers who have growing daughters like Marian Hardy; fathers who have adolescent sons like Andy; boys just out of their teens, to whom come readily the recent occasions of their schoolboy adventures and romances; and many a father, who like Judge Hardy himself, has both a young son and daughter. Like me.

Thus it is that through the walls enclosing a Hardy story conference are liable to leak phrases strange indeed for movie conferences. "Listen! When my dad first caught me smoking a cigarette he whaled the tar out of me! ... My dad didn't. He stopped my allowance for three. I tell you that no young girl would act the way you want this girl to act — I ought to know — my kid's 17 and she wants to know when she can start drinking cocktails! ... That's a lot of rot — my 18-year-old daughter has never gone out with a boy yet!"

General Notices

Independent Study Unit: The three-week independent study unit is designed only for such students as are registered this summer in the graduate college in case it appears to them, and the departments in which they may wish to register, practicable to undertake a definite study project, not exceeding three semester hours, independent of regular, daily meetings with professors for instruction and discussion, though with the advantage of the daily use of the other facilities of the university, chiefly the libraries. Graduate students who register in this way are required to remain on this campus, as resident students, throughout the three-week period. A graduate student who contemplates registering in this way should, at the outset, and as soon as possible within the present week, have a preliminary conference with the head of the department concerned (or another professor in the department more immediately concerned) for the purpose of a mutual determination of the feasibility of the plan for him. If, together, they find the plan practicable they should agree upon a descriptive title (within the department title) of the course, or study project, to be undertaken (with a suitable course number if at all practicable). Only after this preliminary conference and the agreement indicated the student should proceed as follows: 1. Call at the registrar's office for his registration materials. 2. Fill the registration forms as usual (though omitting what is called for on the backs of the cards.) 3. Obtain the approval signature of the head of the department in which he registers. 4. Obtain the signature of the dean of the graduate college (East hall, room W513.) 5. Return to registrar's office to have fees assessed. 6. Pay fees at treasurer's office. 7. Registration in the independent study unit for 1938 must be completed by Monday, Aug. 8. In the conferences with the department concerned, each student should make as definite arrangements as possible for submitting the results of his study to the appropriate professor, as basis for the latter's report, to the registrar's office, of the outcome in terms of semester hours and a grade mark. This should be accomplished, so far as possible, at the end of the period, Aug. 26-29. This three-week independent study unit may serve to accommodate the special group of graduate students who plan to complete this summer the nine semester hours in graduate courses in educational supervision and administration necessary for the standard superintendent's certificate. These students will have completed, during the present session, eight study hours of this requirement. They should proceed, as indicated above, by arranging with the dean of the college of education for the descriptive title of the course (within the department title) and the amount of work to be undertaken; with a suitable course number wherever practicable. According to the Iowa State Board of Education's tuition regulations for the student who registers for only one semester hour in this independent study unit (less than half work) the tuition fee will be three-fifths of the normal tuition fee—nine dollars. The three-week independent study unit is not available for undergraduate students, but the attention of such undergraduate students as may wish to employ the latter weeks of the summer in further systematic study is directed to the availability of correspondence courses. Doubtless any such student can enroll for such a correspondence course immediately after the close of the present session, Aug. 8, and at least make a substantial start upon the completion of such a course prior to the opening of the

NEW YORK—Tell me, magic mirror, why Eric Madriguera has such a sad face. I saw him last night at a private showing of "Alexander's Ragtime Band." His resemblance to Tyrone Power was so striking I continually had to look from one to the other, to satisfy myself that I wasn't seeing double.

But only Madriguera was there really. He sat fifth row on the aisle, holding his straw hat in his laps, gazing straight ahead. Tyrone Power was on the screen, sharing honors with Don Ameche and playing the role of a sensitive, somewhat melancholy young man who seemed hurt but didn't want anyone to know it. And by some curious chance of studio make-up he had become Madriguera's twin.

I have always thought that Madriguera's countenance was exceptionally sensitive and sad. On the few occasions I have seen him he has never spoken to anybody unless they speak to him. Sometimes in nightclubs, occasionally in theaters, once in a taxi I saw him, and always he wore that quiet, resigned expression of brooding melancholy.

When he sees this he probably will demand, "What the hell do you mean telling people I'm a Pagliacci?" And I won't have any satisfactory answer to give—except, as I say, to me he always seems lonely and sad.

I think you are going to enjoy "Alexander's Ragtime Band," if for no other reason than that it is an album of Irving Berlin's music. They take you back, these old tunes do. They make you realize how old you are. But there is compensation. Ever since I saw the picture I've been whistling "Everybody's doing it ... doing what? ... Turkey trot, etc." Remember that one? That's just the beginning, o-o-o-only the be-gin-ning. And each is more reminiscent than the other.

After the showing we went over to the Biltmore to welcome Harry Owens back to New York. It has been 13 years since "the genius of Hawaiian music" has been in town. Harry has come back now to play in the new Royal Palm roof of the Biltmore — further evidence of the widening sphere of hula influence in Manhattan.

You will have to admit that when better Hawaiian songs are written, Harry Owens will come pretty close to writing them. His masterpiece, of course, is "Sweet Leilani," and he has also written "To You, Sweetheart, Aloha," which is his signature, and then there is "Hawai Calls."

I asked him: "Have you got any others, any new ones pretty as Leilani?"

"You bet I have," he replied, "I've got a lullaby, 'Little Angel.' It's a sequel to 'Sweet Leilani.' And then there's 'Kohala.' That's a girl's name. Wait till I play it for you. Kate Smith introduced it on the air just a few weeks ago."

It was mighty nice talking to Harry Owens again, for he knows everybody you know, and he tells you about them. He has seven months more in the States ("I'm on a year's leave of absence from the Islands") and then he goes back to Honolulu.

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M.D.

At the convention of the American Medical Association at San Francisco recently many advances in medical science were demonstrated. In the articles in the next few days I shall describe the subjects that attracted my own attention. The treatment of certain forms of insanity by shock therapy was the subject of Dr. Ernst Gellhorn's paper. This is quite new, and except that its value has been demonstrated over and over by actual tests, it is so surprising as hardly to be believable.

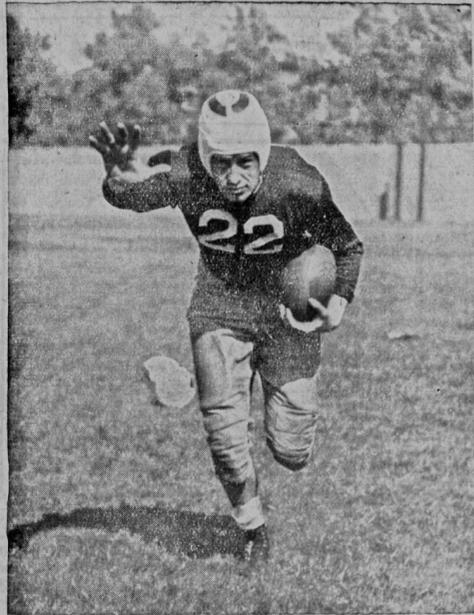

The cases in which the treatment works best are those of split personality, particularly in young people. The drugs used are insulin and metrazol. The patient is given enough of these so that a condition of profound shock is induced. Then restoration to normal is produced. The idea is that the shock to the brain is sufficient, so that it is thrown completely off balance and it may suddenly come back into gear.

It is a dangerous treatment and deaths have occurred, but most of the relatives of these people are willing to take the risks—are willing to do anything which holds out any hope. The injection treatment of hernia is another new subject discussed by Drs. Franklin I. Harris and A. S. White of San Francisco. Here again is something that few surgeons would have looked on with favor a matter of 10 years ago.

University of Chicago Expects Better Grid Team This Year

Maroons' Offensive Threat

Sollie Sherman, shifty Maroon tailback, is one of the best backfield threats of this year's University of Chicago team.

Editor's Note - This is the third of a series of eight articles that will appear in The Daily Iowan between now and the opening of the football season, dealing with Iowa's 1938 football opponents.

By SCOTTY FISHER Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Although the University of Chicago's gray towers still loom up along the Midway as monuments to the school's reputation as one of the greatest centers of culture and learning in America, Chicago athletics have suffered a considerable drop in prestige during the last two decades, particularly in football.

Founded in 1892, Chicago was for many years truly the peer of the Western Conference on the gridiron. Aply led by Amos Alonzo Stagg, the "Grand Old Man," who was the one and only coach the Maroon institution ever had until six years ago, serving 41 years in all, the Chicagoans won enough championships in the days of yore that they still have won more than any other Big Ten team.

To Chicago also went the honor of having the first All-American player to be selected from west of the eastern seaboard, C. B. Herschberger being picked on the 1898 team.

Stagg was deposed by the Chicago officials in 1933 because he was considered too old to remain in active coaching but he immediately stepped into another head coaching job at the College of the Pacific. The 76-year-old mentor is still a part of Chicago though—the school song has a line that goes "With the Grand Old Man to Lead Them—and the Stadium bears the name of Stagg field. Stagg returns to the Midway this year when he brings his western team to do battle with the Maroons Nov. 12.

Through their record of recent years has been somewhat dismal, Chicago's football fortunes figure to be definitely improved this year. Chicago officials admit themselves that—"Although there are no tom-toms heralding the approach of a highly successful football season, Coach Clark D. Shaughnessy, beginning his sixth year as Maroon mentor, will have the best material that he has had since in 1933."

Four lettermen - Capt. Bob Fitzgerald, end, Kendall Petersen, tackle, George Antonio, center and tackle, and Fred Lehnhardt, fullback, will be lost from the 1937 squad but injuries kept Lehnhardt and Antonio from competition most of the season so the only actual losses this year will be Fitzgerald and Petersen.

Backfield intact Gladdening Shaughnessy's heart is the fact that he will have his 1937 backfield intact, with the exception of Louis Letts, the outstanding halfback of last year's sophomores, who will be lost to the squad through ineligibility. Returning backs will be Capt. Lewis Hamity, 190, Sollie Sherman, 185, Morton Goodstein, 210, Ed Valorz, 182, and John Davenport, 165.

Davenport, a Cedar Rapids, Ia., boy, is one of Iowa's contributions to the Maroon squad and is expected to give the Chicago backfield what it needs this fall—speed. Davenport, Big Ten indoor and outdoor sprint champion, did not quite make a major letter last year, but Assistant Coach Jay Berwanger spent considerable time with him, teaching him to break away from a straight-running style. He learned to shift quickly, cut and sidestep, and with a year of experience behind him figures to be a valuable cog in the Maroon backfield. He amassed a total of 137 yards in 17 end-run plays against Beloit last year and carried the ball 31 yards in four attempts against Vanderbilt.

Capt. Hamity was the defensive star of the Chicago secondary last year and to him goes most of the credit for a successful winter and spring practice on the Midway. Spirited and determined and with his eye on the tough schedule this fall, his influence was largely responsible for several candidates turning out for the early-season drill. John Polajner, a fast and rugged halfback who was ineligible last year, also looked good in the spring workouts as did Howard Hawkins, 170-pounder from Michigan State. Chief among the sophomore backfield candidates are Bill Kimball, 170, former member of the all-Cleveland high school eleven; Dick Salzman, 170, Dubuque, Ia., Wallace Ottomeyer, 175, and Bob McNamee, 165. McNamee was particularly impressive against the varsity in last year's practice.

Ft. Dodge Boy The ends include Bob Wasem of Ft. Dodge, another Iowan, who received honorable mention on a number of All-American teams last fall—the man of whom Coach Shaughnessy said last year, following his first season of varsity competition, "He knows more football than any member of the squad." Wasem fractured his ankle last fall but the injury is not expected to bother him this year as much as the fact that he failed a course which may necessitate his missing the first half of the season. Among the four transfer students who will join the squad are Wingmen Duncan Scott and Bob Harlan, both of whom attended Dartmouth last year.

Other flankers include Bob Meyer, 175, a minor letterwinner, and basketball player, Russell Parsons of Davenport, 170, Paul Tatge, 170, and Sophomores John also be handicapped. One of the posts will be filled by Ted Fink, 195-pound veteran. Prospects for the other are Robert Sass, 180, who earned a minor letter last year, Dick Wheeler, reserve of two years ago, and John Wickman, 185; Joseph Howard, 180; Jack Plunkett, 185, of Red Lodge, Montana, and James Lineberger, 170, of Long Beach, Cal., all sophomores.

James Cassels, a center who has been out of college for two years, is the hope at the pivot position but Bob Greenebaum, 185, a senior who has played everything from quarterback to guard, can take over if need be. End David Wiedeman can also be shifted if necessary. Other candidates are John Barton, 180, Allan Shackleton, 185, from Cresco, Ia., and Willis Littleford, 170, a highly regarded sophomore.

Shaughnessy Optimistic Despite the losses through ineligibility, Coach Shaughnessy is looking at the future optimistically, but he will need first-class material for the tough schedule that has Bradley, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio State, DePauw, Harvard, College of Pacific and Illinois appearing on consecutive Saturdays.

In general, the veteran backfield should be more reliable and dangerous, and the line, sprinkled with ambitious sophomores, should be fairly hefty and hard-charging. So, when the Old Gold eleven

With 208-pound Bob Johnson declared ineligible recently, the big problem seems to be at the tackles, where no lettermen remain. The chief hopes are two sophomores, Hugh Rendelman from Davenport, Ia., 208, and John Be of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and the veteran guard and center, Earl Peirce, 208 - pounder from Brigham, Utah, who may be shifted. Walter Maurovich, 195, is another transfer student, from Washington State, but is an unknown quantity since he was not out for spring practice. Other possibilities are Sophomores John Keller, 185, Lawrence Traeger, 185, and Donald Wilson, 190.

Adjourn State Athletic Group

Action Is Deferred On Site for 1939 State Basketball Tourney

At a meeting here yesterday to discuss the possibility of holding the 1939 state high school basketball tournament in Iowa City, the Iowa High School Athletic association deferred all action on the proposal until a later meeting. The petition of Center Point high school to be readmitted into the organization was deferred till the next meeting, which will probably be in August.

Center Point had lost its membership in the group after an affair last spring in which the high school students staged a sit-down strike in the school building, protesting the dismissal of the athletic coach.

Des Moines, host to the state stage meet last year, is also bidding strongly for this year's tourney and the matter will be definitely settled at a later meeting, probably in September.

Seven Iowans On List of All-Time U. S. Track Greats

Places on the all-time all-American honor roll in track and field have been awarded to seven former University of Iowa athletes on the basis of marks made in competition.

The Hawkeyes are included in the compilation made by the Helms-Olympic Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles after a year of research into the best performances of amateur athletes.

George Salins, Olympic high hurdles champion of 1932 who was killed five years ago, is given four places. He ran 14.1 in the 120-yard high hurdles, 14.2 in the 110-meter high hurdles event, 23 in the 220-yard low hurdles, and 52.1 in the 400-meter hurdles, all in 1932.

Second of the four Iowa hurdlers honored is Frank (Bab) Cuhel who, in 1928, travelled the 220-yard lows in :23.2 and the 400-meter hurdles in :53.4. Ed Gordon, Olympic broad jump champion of 1932, ranks high in his specialty with 25 feet 4 3-8 inches in 1931 and also is placed in the hop, step and jump with 48 feet 1-8 inch in 1932.

Other Iowans listed are Mark Panther, 219 feet 7 3-8 inches in the javelin, 1935; Charles Brookins, 23 for the low hurdles, 1924; Chan Coulter, 53.2 for the 400-meter hurdles, 1924; and Andy Dooley, :20.7 for the 220-yard dash, 1935.

Helen Back Mrs. Moody Will Seek Singles Title

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Helen Wills Moody, as amiable and gracious as a tennis queen should be, returned from England today and said she will seek her eighth U.S. singles crown, to add to her eight Wimbledon titles, in the national championship Sept. 8-17 at Forest Hills.

She also will compete in mixed doubles in the national doubles at Brookline Aug. 22-27, and also expects to enter the Essex County tennis club invitation starting at Manchester, Mass., Aug. 15.

There is a possibility, therefore, of two more "battles of the Helens" before the season is over. Helen Jacobs, who lost to Mrs. Moody in the Wimbledon final after turning her ankle, already has said she will enter the Essex county tournament. Miss Jacobs also is entered in the nationals.

Mrs. Moody denied that there was any ill feeling between her and her California neighbor.

Each Team Scores Shutout

Allen Loses First, 4-0; Mel Hader Captures Second for Tribe, 3-0

BOSTON, July 25 (AP)—After two pitching duels, the Indians and Red Sox remained just where they were before they started today's doubleheader—Cleveland in second place a game back of the Yankees and Boston in third position another game and a half to the rear.

The Red Sox won the opener, 4-0, as Rookie Emerson Dickman outpitched the Veteran Johnny Allen, who after winning 12 straight, suffered his second setback of the season and his third in 30 games over two years. Mel Harder outpointed Young Jim Bagby, however, 3-0, in the nightcap to give the Indians an even break.

Dickman held the Indians to three hits for his fifth victory as against two defeats. Earl Averill got to him for a scratch double in the second and that was all until Hal Trosky also doubled in the eighth. Sammy Hale got the other blow, a single in the ninth. Allen himself yielded only five hits before he was replaced by Bill Zuber at the start of the eighth.

Seeded Netsters Win At Sea Bright Meet

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 25 (AP)—Seeded players advanced without exception and only one upset was recorded today as first round matches substantially reduced the field of 48 men and 32 women competitors in the 51st renewal of the Sea Bright invitation tennis tournament.

Led by Alice Marble of San Francisco, who is seeking her third consecutive championship and permanent possession of the historic Sea Bright bowl, favored performers came through without undue difficulty.

Will Give Last Lecture Today

Dr. Bose to Speak On "Power Politics And World Peace"

With the topic "Power Politics and World Peace," Dr. Sudhindra Bose, political science department lecturer, will conclude the summer series of campus lectures at 3:10 this afternoon in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

He will discuss the whys and wherefores of world politics at his final lecture, having dealt in the early lectures with the Orient and its contributions to the world.

The speaker will view the "might" politics of the western hemisphere in an effort to find out what such politics accomplished in the past, are accomplishing now, and what the future trend seems to be.

Referring to present power politics as "breeders of international hatreds, conflict and bitterness," Dr. Bose points out that "in a world dominated by power politics there can be no peace," and he asks, "What are we going to do about it?"

We are witnessing, according to Dr. Bose, the revolt of the subject nations as a whole against the predatory empires. Is there a way out—leading away from "the World war that's just around the corner?"

"The struggle among the aggressive powers today," according to Dr. Bose, "is nothing less than grappling for the partition of the world, and therein lies the danger!"

This afternoon's lecture concludes a series of seven which began June 14.

Mrs. Frank Kindl Will Entertain Club

Journalism School, Extension Division Sponsor Meetings

Featuring displays of the finest news photographs, lectures by outstanding guest speakers in the field of news photography, and a photographic contest, the first annual short course in news photography will begin on the campus Thursday.

Sponsored by the school of journalism and the extension division with the cooperation of the Campus Camera club, the course is the first one of its kind ever offered in the state. It ends Saturday afternoon.

The musical background for the picture was arranged under the direction of Howard Haven of the Rochester Philharmonic society.

Friday's presentation of the film here will be one of its earliest showings, for only one print of the movie has been released.

The 55-minute film, released by the Eastman Kodak company in Rochester, N. Y., portrays the stages in the manufacture of photo apparatus, cameras, lenses and other equipment.

Technical problems on photography and engraving will be discussed by speakers, including George Yates of the Des Moines Register, Thomas Miller of the Eastman Kodak company, Tom Mahoney, associate editor of Look magazine, and Clifton C. Edom of the Aurora, Mo., school of engraving.

Hail, Rain Storm Lashes City; Flooded Streets Stop Traffic

Two Men Killed By Lightning at Irwin; Auto Wreck Kills 2

Iowa City for half an hour last night was the center of a thundering, lashing hail storm that brought down huge limbs from trees, broke window panes in two downtown business places and stopped all traffic temporarily.

The rain and hail storm broke at 8:30 p.m., accompanied by a terrific gale, and continued for about 20 minutes. The rain went on until a little after 9 p.m.

Police reported that at 1016 Newton road a live wire had been laid on the ground, and two trees fell, one at 716 S. Capitol street, another in the alley entrance on North Van Buren.

Downtown water was said to be at least six inches deep in the street, and during the worst of the storm all traffic was halted for at least 15 minutes. Lightning did no damage in Johnson county, so far as it could be learned.

Corn fields near Iowa City were damaged considerably by the hail, but it is believed most of the crop is well enough along not to be hurt bad.

In other parts of the state rain and hail were also considerable, and at Irwin two men were killed and a 12-year-old boy stunned when lightning struck a barn on the Lars Axland farm.

At Ottumwa two women were killed when the auto in which they were riding skidded on a wet pavement and rolled over.

Those who were killed by the lightning are Lars Axland, 74, and a long-time resident of Shelby county; and his son-in-law, Harold Berndt, 29. Mr. Axland's grandson, Gene Ship, 12, of Summers was stunned by the bolt but is expected to recover.

The two women killed when their auto skidded are Mrs. Ralph Darnell of Des Moines and Mrs. William Vermillion of Oskaloosa.

Fines Motorist
Emery Wade of Des Moines was fined $2 and costs by Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec yesterday for failing to give half the highway to oncoming vehicles.

Dr. Nika, 'Fighting Eskimo,' Visits Here

Alaskan Archaeologist Tells of Interesting Life at Point Barrow

This is Dr. Edward Nika of Point Barrow, Alaska, who arrived in Iowa City this week end, 35 years late but glad to be here. Today

It took Dr. Edward Nika of Pt. Barrow, Alaska, 35 years to get a date he had in Iowa City, but he finally made it, under different conditions than he originally planned.

Thirty-five years ago, Dr. Nika was scheduled to speak in Iowa City on archaeology. Yesterday he was interviewed over WSUI.

Dr. Nika, chief of the Aleutian Island Indians, a physician and an archaeologist, is better known in Washington, D. C., as the "Fighting Eskimo." He has just returned from a senate investigation of Japanese fishing in Alaskan waters and is going home to Pt. Barrow.

Known in Pt. Barrow as "White Deer" (his Indian name), Dr. Nika was one of the first to reach the scene of the Will Rogers-Wiley Post airplane disaster.

Quered on the crash he said that "the bodies were crushed and jammed in the wreckage. We had to pry the plane apart to get them out. Had the plane hit the water 50 feet from where it hit the iceberg, Rogers and Post might still be alive today."

The probable cause of the crash, Nika said, was due to ice formation on the wings of the plane. There was a six-inch coating of ice on the wings, and the wings tore off.

Nika was also connected with the diphtheria epidemic at Pt. Barrow five years ago. Briefly relating what had happened he said:

"The epidemic had become very serious, and all communications had been broken. There was really nothing to do but start out for Nome by dog-sled; so I started out with provisions for the trip, despite the objections of my family.

"I ran into a blizzard some distance out of Pt. Barrow and was driven 300 miles off my course headed in the general direction of Fairbanks. My food gave out and I had gone three days without food, when a plane located me and dropped provisions.

"I followed the plane into Nome where I had them send the serum to Pt. Barrow by government plane. I was in the hospital for about a month after that."

"Do you mind if I ask a few questions about Alaska, Dr. Nika?"

"Certainly not, go ahead."

"Well, doctor, in your radio interview you mentioned that you live in either log or wood houses. Are there people living in igloos?"

"Why yes, there are a few. It may be interesting to you to developments on that disaster. It's funny, too, Levanovsky was Russia's top man."

"How long do you think it will take you to get to Pt. Barrow?"

"Well roughly about a month and a half, maybe more. About seven days to Victoria, British Columbia, 27 days to Nome, where I have to pick up some supplies of meat, and about 16 days to Pt. Barrow."

"Are you coming back to the States about February or March. We are bringing a group to the New York World's Fair, and I expect to stop over at Iowa City to present a program. We are taking a 75-piece Indian band with us."

Council--

make compensations for cuts in the park appropriations in past years by giving an increase which is expected to be repeated next year.

The city also expects to buy either a sweeper or a flusher for sanitary purposes.

The council hit a legal snag last night in relation to the paving program. Because of the protests of the property owners, the proposed paving was cut so as to include only the Black Spring circle area, Harrison street from the west line of Capitol street to the east line of Madison street and alleys in blocks 48 and 53 of the original town.

The legality involves the Black Spring circle district, the center of which was deeded to the city as a park district, thus requiring the city to pay for the paving.

There is a possibility now that this section may not be paved, although the council is trying to transfer funds—from either the park appropriations or from the general emergency fund—to pay for the pavings. Such an appropriation has not been provided for in the budget.

No action was taken by the city council last night on an application for a PWA grant. Such a grant would have defrayed 45 per cent of the total costs of the paving program. The grant may be applied for pending the council's decision on the paving program at their next meeting Aug. 5.

It is believed, however, that the program has been cut to such an extent that PWA appropriations will not be necessary.
