Loyalist Army Pushes On In Rout of Rebels

Insurgent Airplanes Bomb Valencia, Kill Danish Observer

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier), July 28 (AP)—The Spanish government's south-Catalonian army, led by a former stonemason, was reported tonight to have pushed around and beyond Gandesa and well along the road to Alcaniz.

The day of war also brought an insurgent aerial bombardment of Valencia in which 18 persons, including a Danish nonintervention observer and a Chinese cook aboard the British freighter Kellyn, were killed.

The Kellyn, just arrived from Marseille, France, to discharge a cargo of sugar and coffee, was only slightly damaged. One hundred and fifteen bombs, in all, were said to have been unloaded over the populous Mediterranean port city.

A similar attack on Tarragona caused widespread damage but the number of casualties was not known.

The government did not claim actual occupation of Gandesa. Generalissimo Francisco Franco's former regional headquarters and a link between the insurgent Catalanian and Mediterranean fronts but it lay within about 200 square miles of territory regained from the insurgents by the four-day Ebro river offensive.

Reports from Barcelona said the government's counter-conquest had covered 240 square miles but other advices reaching Hendaye added the gains up to 193 square miles.

Estimates of the number of prisoners taken ranged between 5,000 and 6,000.

So much war material was said to have been abandoned by the surprised insurgents that the rout was compared to defeat of Franco's Italian forces on the Madrid-Guadalajara front in March, 1937.

A dispatch from Barcelona said that the "people's army"—60,000 strong and led by Col. Enrique Lister, a Galician stonemason when the war broke out two years ago—had encircled Gandesa, leaving only enough infantrymen to clean up the town while the main force pushed ahead on the road west to Alcaniz, 30 miles away by air, 54 by road.

Riots Continue In Holy Land

JERUSALEM, July 28 (AP)—Eighteen persons were injured today in sporadic explosions and clashes between the Holy Land's feuding Jews and Arabs.

Ambushers wounded a Jewish woman and six Arab policemen near Bethlehem. A running gun battle ensued in which a number of the assailants were believed wounded.

In Haifa a bomb set off in a courtyard in the mixed quarter injured two Arabs.

A military court sentenced an Arab to death when he was found with a bomb in his possession.

Filibustering Slows to Near Standstill UAW Trial to Oust Four Vice Presidents

DETROIT, July 28 (AP)—The trial by which President Homer Martin seeks to remove four suspended vice presidents from the CIO United Automobile Workers slowed nearly to a standstill today because of frequent disputes.

Martin, who has charged the four with a communist conspiracy to disrupt the union, contended his opponents were "trying to filibuster."

Maurice Sugar, attorney for the suspended group, replied that Martin and his aides were using spe-

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 28 (AP)—The top-heavy democratic majority in Pennsylvania's house of representatives tonight shouted down republican opposition and passed finally an administration bill to suspend a grand jury investigation against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 associates.

The bill now goes to the senate where the party division is more nearly equal. The democrats also have a majority there, however.

Final senate action is scheduled this week so the governor can sign the bill by Saturday morning. The grand jury inquiry into primary campaign charges of "blackmail," "extortion" and coercion for political purposes is scheduled to open Aug. 8.

The democratic representatives shunted aside republican pleas for public hearings on the bill that would give the legislature the sole right to investigate charges of official misconduct against the governor or any other impeachable officer.

Supplemental bills in the administration's drive against the court inquiry also were pushed through the house by overwhelming votes. The other measures would create a committee of seven representatives to conduct the legislative investigation of the charges; make certain that the attorney general could supersede a county prosecutor in court inquiries and suspend the projected grand jury investigation.

All the bills, except the one creating the special legislative committee and the one specifically directed at the forthcoming court inquiry would change the state's laws.

Democratic leaders planned to recess the legislature soon after the bills are enacted and let the house committee proceed with the inquiry. Impeachment charges must originate in the house and are tried in the senate.

Great Purge Soviet 'Ends' Japan's Far East Efforts

MOSCOW, July 28 (AP)—The Siberian newspaper, Pacific Ocean Star, tells of a "great purge" in the Soviet Russian far east to frustrate what the newspaper terms Japan's efforts "to destroy our strength from the inside."

"In the past few months a great purge was carried on, and it still continues," the newspaper says. "The Bolsheviks of Primorsk province will smoke from their holes all spies, wreckers and terrorists to the last man."

The newspaper, published at Khabarovsk, near the scene of recent border incidents between red soldiers and detachments of the Japanese army of occupation in Manchukuo, says the purge was started "on the initiative" of Joseph Stalin, secretary general of the Russian communist party.

Diplomatic exchanges between Moscow and Tokyo in a renewed dispute over the Siberian-Manchukuo border were marked by Russian rejection of a Japanese protest that Soviet soldiers had occupied Manchukuo soil near Changkufeng on July 11. Japan since has taken a conciliatory attitude.

ABOARD CRUISER HOUSTON, In Galapagos Archipelago, July 28 (AP)—The waters about Hood island, present anchorage of the cruiser Houston, today yielded President Roosevelt and his party bigger fish than they had found elsewhere during the past several days.

Tuna, averaging from 30 to 45 pounds, were hooked and brought to boat by the president. Several large golden groupers and other fish—some of unknown species—also were taken and turned over to Prof. Waldo L. Schmitt for identification. Professor Schmitt ordered that they be preserved for addition to the Smithsonian institution's collection of marine life specimens native to the Galapagos archipelago.

After lunch the president resumed his fishing, going after smaller ones.

Senate Civil Liberties Committee Receives Evidence of Spying

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The senate civil liberties committee received evidence today that company police of the Republic Steel corporation attempted to hamper the activities of CIO organizers by shadowing them.

Everywhere they went, the organizers testified, they were followed. One of the witnesses, Youthful Robert Burke of Youngstown, Ohio, told of trapping his pursuers and their automobile in a driveway on one occasion by parking his own car across the entrance. He said he bargained for two hours freedom from pursuit by agreeing not to call the public police.

The shadowing of the organizers was admitted by Earl Butler, excitable captain of the company's police force in Youngstown, who had arisen to make an indignant denial of Burke's repeated assertions that Republic policemen were "thugs" whether "in or out of uniform."

With an oath, Butler shouted:

"I'm an American citizen. I'm not a thug and neither are my men."

Chairman LaFollette (Prog-Wis) of the investigating committee seized the occasion to question Butler about the shadowing.

"They (the company police) might have got in back of them but they never stopped them from going any place," Butler said.

"I want this testimony to stop somewhere near the truth," said LaFollette, obviously angered at repeated instances of conflicting testimony. "The testimony before the committee has been that these men followed the organizers at your instructions."

Jews Unite for Dealing With Emigration From Germany

BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—German Jews today formed a united front in an effort to deal more effectively with the problem of emigration from Nazi Germany.

Formation of a federation of Jews to constitute their official representation in dealing with the government was announced in the weekly Central Verein Zeitung, organ of German Jewry.

Rabbi Leo Baeck, chief rabbi of Berlin, was named president of the organization which united all Jewish societies at a time when international effort is being made to assist emigration from Germany.

They added that emigration would be faster if conditions for leaving Germany were lighter and simpler.

Bar Report Accepted Reject Resolution For Information On Black's Eligibility

By LYNN HEINZERLING

CLEVELAND, July 28 (AP)—

The house of delegates of the American Bar association accepted today the report of its committee on administrative law without a mention of the section which Commissioner Jerome N. Frank of the Securities and Exchange commission said "defamed" SEC Chairman William O. Douglas.

The assembly rejected today a resolution asking the association to petition the supreme court for information concerning a lawyer's right to question the eligibility of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black.

James R. Garfield, son of the late president and former secretary of interior, presented the controversial report of the committee on administrative law in the absence of its chairman, Dean Emeritus Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school.

Garfield made no reference to the statement of Commissioner Frank that "This association owes it to itself to see to it that those remarks, which cast a slur on the character of Chairman Douglas, be stricken from the report."

He said, however, "There have been criticisms" of the report.

A. M. Miller, attorney for the back-to-workers, refused to remove the list of names from a bank vault and present them at the hearing.

Answering a request for the list of names, made by Thurlow Smoot, board attorney, Miller said he would accompany Smoot and Trial Examiner Madison Hill to the bank vault where the cards are in safe-keeping and aid in checking the list.

The attorney said he believed the "peace and quiet of the community" would be threatened if the names of the back-to-workers were revealed.

The section of the report to which Frank objected described "a tendency" of administrative justice "to make decisions on the basis of preformed opinions and prejudices" and mentioned a report of the SEC.

Investigating America's Politics

THIS threatened investigation by a senate committee of Tennessee's political battles sounds promising. We hope it's more than a threat.

Of course, what probably will happen is what happens to most such "investigations." Names will be called; money will be spent; mud will be thrown. There it will end.

We think probably graft in politics in the United States is not quite as widespread as some would have us believe. As in most lines of endeavor, the honest are in the majority.

But these instances that keep coming up—these besmirching "graft and corruption" accusations. Nothing much ever happens to them beyond a newspaper headline.

The senate this year is spending a good deal of money to keep the senate campaign expenditures committed. It should.

Government in America is politics; politics is democratic. So we're in favor of money being spent to keep politicians hewing to the line, all of them. If they don't, well, serious consequences may result.

What became of the man who thought it was fun to rock the canoe? Oh, his son now thinks it's fun to rocket the family car.

The Program
Of Juvenile Recreation

EVERY SUMMER about this time we write an editorial about Iowa City's recreation program for children. We praise it; we urge its extension.

This year is no exception.

Except we would like to point out that this summer about three-fourths of Iowa City's younger school-age children are taking part, more than ever before. We'd like to add that the playground program is the most complete in years.

We think Eugene Trowbridge, general director, is doing a good job, as is, of course, the recreation board of Iowa City. Those Iowa towns that are worried about their juvenile delinquency problems might study Iowa City's youth program with profit.

Another disarmament conference is suggested for 1940. Just as though everyone isn't mad enough over the last one!

Family Reunions—
An Integral Part Of Our Life

DAYS of summer and early autumn see many family clans assembled for reunion festivities. It is not an easy thing, in the case of most families, to get them together for such a gathering. They are apt to be scattered over the world, and many of them may have forgotten their family ties. Some do not know their cousins, perhaps they do not even write to their own brothers and sisters.

A good dinner topped off with jolly speeches and informal talks makes everyone feel good at such occasions. Promises of good will and friendship are exchanged which will do much to bind the relatives together during the cold days and nights of winter.

Politician, on radio, says the trouble with us is we're asleep. Of course, we are—if we weren't we'd have to listen to him.

IF YOU'RE THINKING

... of going into radio or on the stage or screen, you'll be interested in what field you'll receive the highest pay...

For honest appraisal of an actor's worth in corresponding payment, radio offers a better balance than the stage and screen.

Highest paid performer in the stage and screen system is the romantic lead, so you'll want to be one, by all means. The high pay bracket is composed almost exclusively of this type, with just a comparatively few actors not fitting into the romantic category...

And unless your son or daughter is already one of the leading box office stars, you'll not want to put them on the stage, for juveniles, who usually have as many as the leads, hence have as much work to do, draw salaries about half as big as the stars.

For sound acting ability and versatility, the character actor usually has the star and the juvenile stopped cold. Necessity of frequent changes of costume makes his clothing need greater than either of the other general classifications. Yet he isn't paid as well.

BUT IN RADIO ... the romantic lead and the juvenile are paid for their work, while the clever character actor, with a sound knowledge of tricks of the acting trade and a number of dialects at his command, can put in a day moving from one show to another and end up his week with a neat stack of pay checks.

So when you go on the stage, make a stab at the romantic lead's role, while if radio is your dish, be a character actor. The best of luck to you.

Next spring came ... One day I heard that Merle had won the coveted freshman speech contest ... No one had even known he was going to try for it ...

Some people I know disagree with the things he says in "Around the Town" so violently that they brand Miller "rattle-brained" ... Some think he's a genius ... Probably they are both wrong ...

One visiting "big name" in the radio world recently was interviewed by Merle and afterward invited him to come to New York for a job on the network ...

Expected to Attend
SUI Dinner Program

With the assurance that next Friday's summer convocation ceremony will break all previous records in numbers of candidates to receive degrees, plans for the annual affair were nearer completion yesterday with the announcement of the graduates' dinner program.

Some 500 candidates for degrees, their friends and members of the University of Iowa faculty will attend the dinner, to be held at 6 o'clock Thursday in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

President Eugene A. Gilmore will give the only address. Prof. Bruce Mahan, head of the university extension division, will preside at the dinner.

Candidates for degrees may secure their tickets and tickets for their friends at the alumni office in Old Capitol.

About 445 applications for degrees, by far the greatest majority of them for master's degrees, are now on file, according to Prof. F. G. Higbee, director of convocations.

Included in that number are 47 applications for doctor of philosophy degrees, about 100 for baccalaureate degrees and almost 300 for degrees of master of arts and master of science.

These figures make the ratio between graduate and baccalaureate degrees about three to one, typical of summer session convocations.

Candidates will receive their degrees in an impressive outdoor ceremony on the west approach to Old Capitol next Friday night, with Prof. Hudson Strode of the University of Alabama, visiting instructor in English the convocation department, as the convocation speaker.

The summer session band under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter will provide music for the occasion, which will be held in Iowa Union if weather conditions are unfavorable.

Degrees will be awarded in commerce, pharmacy, engineering, law, liberal arts and the graduate degrees of master of arts and science and doctor of philosophy.

Professor Strode, well known writer and educator, has been professor of English at the University of Alabama since 1916. He received his B.A. there in 1913 and his M.A. at Columbia university the following year.

He studied at Harvard, and was instructor in English at Syracuse university from 1914 to 1916.

Among his works are "The Story of Bermuda" and the "Pageant of Cuba." He has contributed prose and verse to American and European magazines and has also written short stories and plays.

Board Jobs
Kann Wants Workers
To Fill Them

Here's one place where jobs are open, and a man is concerned about filling them. They are board jobs, paying three meals a day for work in the University of Iowa hospital. And the man responsible for hiring the candidates is Lee Kann, manager of the university's employment service.

Kann announced that students or non-students are eligible.

He hopes to secure about 30 of them to work on the basis of one hour at each meal time. Then the worker can eat his fill.

The jobs begin Aug. 4 or 5 and continue until Sept. 25, just before the university opens its new year.

Kann's worries are caused by the fact that the summer session set-up provides a longer period than usual before the fall opening, when hundreds of students clamor for the board work.

The couple will be married Aug. 17 at the St. Patrick's church.

A graduate of the St. Patrick's high school, Miss Barry attended the university and Irish's business college. She has been employed at the Willard apparel shop.

To Try For 1940 Trophy

1895 Law Class Has Book Printed Urging Reunion Attendance

When graduates of the 1895 law class return to the University of Iowa for their five-year reunion in 1940, they'll be trying to win the trophy for having the largest percentage of their living members on the campus, a trophy they won in 1935.

As a step in that direction, Fred M. Hopkins, owner and publisher of the Fostoria (Ohio) Daily Review, has compiled a class book, which will be sent to all of the members of the class.

Bound in old gold and black, with the words to "Old Gold" on the front and a poem written for the 1940 reunion on the back, the book contains a foreword written by Judge M. L. McKinley, chief justice of the circuit court in Chicago, a member of the class, and open letters to the class by President Eugene A. Gilmore, Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, and Prof. E. G. Schroeder, director of the division of physical education.

In addition the book contains thumbnail sketches of living and dead members of the class, the class prophecy and class affairs of the 1895 class in law, pictures of college athletics and campus scenes, and letters from members of the class.

The poem on the back of the book is called "Gathering at the Campus" and was written by C. B. Halliday, a lawyer in Kansas City, Mo., and a member of the class.

Space is provided for pictures and names of classmates returning for the 1940 and '45 reunions, and a special invitation is extended to members of the class to return for the 45th reunion in 1940.

A copy of the book has been presented to the alumni office.

Don L. Lewis has been advanced from the rank of associate to that of assistant professor, and C. Esco Obermann becomes an associate after serving as research assistant. The other advancement is that of John Knott, from research assistant to research associate.

Eight of the courses are primarily for undergraduates, 22 others are open both to undergraduates and graduates, and nine are only for advanced students.

Dean Stoddard pointed to the wide range of majors for graduate students, such as general and experimental, physiological, neuropsychology, social, music and art, clinical and abnormal, educational, comparative, genetic and child, reading, speech and student personnel.

Other members of the faculty are Prof. Carl E. Seashore, who developed the department to high rank before he retired as head; Norman C. Meier, Wendell Johnson and Scott N. Reger.

The outstanding design in the fur coats which will be featured in August sales soon, according to New York designers, is an easy box-cut fashioned without great fullness. Coats will be longer this year, extending to a point that reveals only about an inch of the skirt underneath.

As the season advances, the fitted princess fur coat will grow in importance. For sports wear, shorter coats, about 36 inches in length, and hijab jackets will be popular.

That fur coat prices have been cut will be welcome news to many women who are in the market for them. Leading designers say that the cost of fall and winter coats will be approximately 25 per cent less than last year.

For general utility town wear, black Persian lamb, brown Alaska seal, Hudson seal and caribou lead the parade, while gray kidskin and nutria will be popular in sports coats.

A processed lambskin called "mouton" is among this season's new pets. The fur has been treated to remove the curl and achieve a silky finish. Dyed brown and worked into casual and inexpensive coats, this fur will find favor with the college girl or woman who wants an extra fur coat at little cost.

Sleeves of the new coats are quite simple, with straight and bishop designs being favorites. In several coats where the shorter bracelet length is seen, the fur runs inside the sleeve to permit its extension to full length if desired.

Many of the coats have modified square shoulders. Collars are generally quite small and cut on sleeve lines.

For afternoon and evening wear, the short collarless fox jacket will again be definitely in the picture. Blue fox and silvered pefts are both being used in the smartest of these jackets. For the college girl, short hipbone length jackets of guanaco are shown.

colored pictures were demonstrated.

Mr. Miller demonstrated the various processes by making a colored picture, using the wash off relief printing process.

George Yates, Des Moines Register and Tribune photographer, closed the evening session with an account of the humorous adventures of photographers in general, (and in particular) in fulfilling their obligations by providing interesting and timely pictures as speedily as possible.

The course, the first of its kind to be held in Iowa, got underway yesterday morning when Prof. F. L. Mott, director of the school of journalism and originator of the short course idea, greeted the first session.

F. W. Kent, the university photographer spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of different types and sizes of cameras, demonstrating them as he progressed.

Concluding the morning session, Mr. Miller classified pictures in accordance with the conditions under which they are taken.

All of the sessions, including the showing of tonight's moving picture, are open to the public.

Highlighting feature of today's activity is a dinner at 6:30 tonight in Iowa Union, at which Tom Mahoney, associate editor of Look magazine, is scheduled to speak about the phenomenal success of that picture publication and its picture methods.

Anyone desiring to attend the dinner tonight is requested to phone University Photographer Kent's office to make reservations.

Also outstanding from the public's viewpoint today is a five-reel sound movie, "Highlights and Shadows," which will be given a double showing tonight in the chemistry auditorium.

Tonight's showings, at 7:30 and 9 o'clock, will be the premiere showings of the film, only one print of which has been made.

The one brought from the Eastman Kodak company by Mr. Miller.

Engraving activities in general will be the theme of the morning session, with discussions of the one-man engraving plant, commercial engraving principles and etching.

Indoor photography and interesting pictures will form the foundation for this afternoon's discussions.
