Defer Removal Action Against J. Brandstatter

Coralville Constable Defends Self At Town Meeting

The Coralville town council, out of the news for more than a year now, was again the scene of a lively discussion last night when a petition containing 90 names, most of them Coralville residents, demanded the removal of Constable Joseph Brandstatter.

Brandstatter, town traffic officer, was accused of making "too numerous" arrests for speeding in the town territory. Action on the petition was deferred until the regular council meeting at the first of October.

According to statements at the meeting, Coralville had received "unfavorable publicity" throughout the state as a "traffic trap," and travel bureaus and chambers of commerce are routing tourists outside of Coralville.

John Halvorsen said that the constable gets fees and mileage for every arrest and conviction made.

Gordon Dinsmore, proprietor of Diaty's Place at Coralville, said Brandstatter discriminates between Iowa and out-of-state cars, usually arresting the out-of-state autos first.

"Anyway," said Dinsmore, "the police car should have a siren and be marked."

Brandstatter, who was at the meeting, declared, "When cars are coming from the east, I can't see whether they are licensed in the state or not. When they're coming from the west, I follow them and pick them up if they're speeding."

"Ninety per cent of all those arrested are going 40 or more," he said.

The town ordinance provides a 25-mile speed limit, with 20 miles in the school district.

Elmer Brant, a service station proprietor, said he had received a number of complaints from motorists who had been "misused."

"Coralville gets a lot of bad advertising," he said. The special meeting of the council called to hear the petition was adjourned soon after the group had accepted the petition, and after the business meeting members stayed to discuss the situation with business men who were present.

In his defense, Brandstatter declared he never picked anyone up who "is going less than 30."

Paul C. Packer Receives Leave

Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education will leave Aug. 15, on leave from his University of Iowa duties for a semester, for the Philippine islands where he will serve as an advisor on the educational program in the Philippines, it was announced yesterday.

Dean Packer will be associated with President E. C. Elliott of Purdue university. Dean and Mrs. Packer will leave Iowa City near the middle of August, accompanied by the Purdue president.

Dean Packer will resume his duties at the University of Iowa in February.

Lower Temperature Follows Rain Storm

An afternoon wind and rain storm that caused most lights to be turned on by 4:30 p.m. and early evening clear skies and a rainbow were part of yesterday's freak weather that brought lower temperatures to Iowa City.

The wind was heavy in some parts of the county yesterday, but no crop damage was believed done. The corn crop is tall enough to be out of danger now, it was said.

Largest Group of Summer Graduates Hears Prof. Strode

G.O.P. Group Charges Current Trends Threaten Economic System's Cave-in

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—The republican program committee tonight charged current trends in legislation and administration threatened the "breakdown" of the economic system and the "disintegration of responsible and effective government."

In a statement issued at the end of a five-day forum on national problems, the group assailed new deal policies and promised to develop a party program designed to revive business, industry and agriculture and based upon "representative democracy and private enterprise."

"After five years, in which the present administration has had funds and a freedom to act without parallel in our political history, we face the tragic fate that some 12,000,000 are still unemployed," the pronouncement set forth. It added: "The human distress and spiritual breakdown flowing from this vast unemployment is immeasurable. Continuance of unemployment on this scale threatens the continued employment and income of every American who now has a job."

The committee blamed the "confusion and uncertainty" upon the Roosevelt administration's "hastily conceived, wastefully financed and ineffectively administered policies."

Urges Interest In S. America

Writer, Critic Pleads For Understanding For Peace, Prosperity

Pleading for greater comprehension of Latin America and the values and principles for which its nations stand, Prof. Hudson Strode, well known writer and critic, delivered the summer convocation address in Iowa Union last night.

The theme of his address was based upon a statement by former President Woodrow Wilson: "Comprehension must be the soil on which shall grow all the fruits of friendship."

Professor Strode, member of the University of Alabama English department staff since 1916, has just concluded his activities as a summer instructor on the University of Iowa campus.

Following his address last night, the largest number of summer graduates in the history of the university, 435, were awarded their first, second or third degree as the eight-week summer session ended.

Urging that the United States should be interested in South America for both peace and prosperity, Professor Strode declared that, like President Theodore Roosevelt, he believed the present century is the century of South America, and that the needle of our interest is turning toward that continent.

"Before we can build proper and beneficial trade relationships," he said, "we must learn something about South America. We must overcome our own ignorance and misinformation before we can deal with South America in a sensible, temperate and profitable way. We must learn to treat the republics with the proper courtesy."

'Our Hero' Convalesces

Corrigan Is Hurt When Wild Welcome Becomes Too Rough

By JOHN FERRIS

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—With many a quip, many a flash of Irish wit, Douglas Corrigan rode today through one of the wildest receptions New York has given any hero, perhaps not excepting Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

He bowed over crowds outside his Broadway hotel in midtown Manhattan and lifted a million people in lower Broadway to a frenzy of roaring applause. He made a pretty little speech in city hall to Mayor LaGuardia and jammed the hearts of guests at an advertising club luncheon.

And he sent the Irish of Brooklyn and all the other nationalities of that borough into raptures of glee in a gigantic parade from Manhattan to Floyd Bennett field where he took off July 17 in his $900 crate in the astonishingly wrong way flight to Dublin.

But the result of the crowd's enthusiasm threatened for a few moments to end the day on a less jubilant note.

No sooner had the smiling aviator returned to his hotel from his Brooklyn celebration than he was put to bed by the hotel physician, Dr. Willard Ellsworth, who found cartilage broken around Corrigan's breast bone.

Harry Corrigan, the flier's brother, said both he and the direction-confusing Irishman believed the injury was suffered when crowds broke through police lines and stormed the hero's car, shoving and pushing him for minutes until officers rescued him.

Dr. Ellsworth put a heavy layer of tape on the aviator's chest and said later the injury was not so serious as was at first believed.

That was all Corrigan needed to hear. He immediately announced he would go through with the remainder of his reception plans.

It was Corrigan's day all the way and the grin by which all men now know him never left his face. Himself entranced by his vastness of the celebration, the noise, the color, the unceasing uproar, he never lost his poise. Cool and self-contained in the midst of sweltering thousands he parried questions about his flight which might have embarrassed one less confident.

"Your achievement," said Mayor LaGuardia at city hall, "attracted more attention than any other accomplishment in the history of aviation. It was so unorthodox—the way you did it. Your deliberate impetuosity finds a responding chord in me."

And the speech found a responding chord in Corrigan's grin.

He was grinning when, freed from interviewers and others, the police hustled him through the jammed lobby of the Hotel McAlpin and through hatless, coatless thousands, packed with sickening density in the streets outside. The crowds roared from windows, elevated stations, from the street.

Corrigan grinned.

Nation's Retail Stores Make High Total Turnover of Goods

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Blistering hot weather, coupled with special August sales drives, lifted turnover of goods at the nation's retail stores this week to one of the highest totals since the beginning of summer, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Retail sales at leading centers of distribution rose 3 to 7 per cent above last week for the country as a whole, though lagging 3 to 10 per cent under the like week last year.

Wholesale buying held close to last week, but was 6 to 12 per cent

Civil Liberties Group Hears of Bloody Battle After 'Ladies Day on Picket Line'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Indignant Youngstown police and irate union men told the senate civil liberties committee today in vivid, if often conflicting detail, how a "ladies day on the picket line" ended in a bloody, night-long battle in which two men were killed.

The fight occurred during last summer's "little steel" strike. The scene, an area of several blocks adjacent to a Republic steel corporation mill, was one of horror, according to the testimony. Bullets and rocks flew, the streets were ankle deep in water from open hydrants, tear gas eddied about in the still air of a hot summer night, street lights were broken, and the area was intermittently illuminated by the glaring lights of military flares.

Vehemently, the police denied that they fired any guns, other than those used to propel tear gas bombs, and vigorously they asserted that the strikers fired upon them with revolvers, rifles and shotguns.

Union Claims Circus Faked Shutdown

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—A labor union complained to the national labor relations board today that the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus had faked its recent shutdown to get rid of its 1,200 union employees.

The American Federation of Actors, an A. F. of L. affiliate, filed an 800-word complaint with the board contending the circus workers had been "illegally, fraudulently and discriminatorily" fired when the show closed in Scranton, Pa., last June.

Japan Suggests Settlement Of Border Strife

TOKYO, Aug. 6 (Saturday)

(AP)—The foreign office revealed today that Japan had proposed to Soviet Russia that the present Soviet-Japanese clashes on the Siberian-Manchoukuo border be settled by that Russia's viewpoint favored arbitration of the entire border question.

The disclosure was made when part of the text was released of the conference in Moscow Thursday of Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, and Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu. Shigemitsu was quoted as informing the Soviet official:

"The Japanese government view the present border incident as a local question and it is their policy to exert every effort for a peaceful and rational solution as such.

"The proposals of today are based on that policy. The Japanese government propose immediate cessation of hostilities on the spot and opening diplomatic negotiations for settlement."

Telegram Charges Threat to Jobs, Aim To Incite Discord

DES MOINES, Aug. 5 (AP)—Officers of the CIO union representing the employees of the Maytag company at Newton tonight sent a telegram to George Umbreit, vice president of the company, demanding "that you cease your unlawful activities against your employees."

The telegram charged "Your letter threatening the jobs of 275 employees is a brazen piece of provocation aimed to incite discord and unrest."

"Your letter publicly testified and supports our charges that you lack good faith in dealing collectively with your employees. It further supports the fact that your company, in its manner of dealing with its employees, is the instigator of unrest and dissatisfaction."

Signed by Wilbert Allison, president of the local union, and Robert Kirkwood, secretary, the telegram said, "Our membership has returned to work and are making every effort in spite of such provocation, to assist through honest industry in re-establishing industrial peace to the city of Newton."

Copies of the telegram were sent to Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel and to Gen. Mathew A. Tinley, commander of the troops in Newton.

"The Maytag company this afternoon sent approximately 275 special delivery letters to its workers alleged to have participated in a sitdown strike at the factory recently, informing them of an investigation to assist it "in properly and fairly judging the action it should take."

(In explanation of the letters, company spokesmen would say only "We feel that it would be unfair if any individual who has had these things said about him should have no chance to refute those charges.")

NLRB Examiner Hears Carr's Version

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 5 (AP)—Labor Board Trial Examiner Madison Hill today heard Jasper County Attorney Luther Carr's version of the Newton situation in a rousing hearing in the federal courthouse here in the Maytag labor practice case.

The examiner halted the proceedings once after Carr had said: "I assume that this board does not stand for mob rule."

"I don't care for any statements as to what you assume this board does," Hill said. "We have a duty to perform, no matter whether it hits on soft or hard ground, nevertheless it is a duty."

The witness just had engaged in a brush with Thurlow Smoot, NLRB attorney, on whether he as county attorney would file charges in behalf of a group of men who had come into the court house in Newton during the recent strike at the Maytag plant.

Newton Corps Given First Rating in 'Battle of Champions'

By B. F. CARTER JR.

The results of youthful ambition and competitive spirit were demonstrated to more than 1,500 Iowa Citizens last night at Shrader field by 300 high-school age boys and girls who participated in the "Battle of Champions" drum and bugle corps contest.

A final compilation of percentages by the judges gave the first rating to the Newton "Green Beetles," state and national drum and bugle corps champions last year. The Chariton band, official state junior American Legion band, received the second highest percentage total.

The leaders were followed by the Spanish Musketeers, an all-girl drum and bugle corps from Boone, the Cedar Rapids Veterans of Foreign Wars drum and bugle corps, the Iowa City V. F. W. corps and the Cedar Rapids Y. M. C. A. corps.

To open the evening's exhibition at Shrader field a "parade of champions" was held. Each of the six groups marched around the field before lining up to prepare for inspection by Capt. Miles M. Dawson of the military department.

For 15 minutes each organization took the field and gave the spectators an example of its marching and playing ability. Strutting in their colorful uniforms, the musicians performed with professional perfection.

In a spectacle which rivaled the state music festival in all manners except for the number of musicians, the organizations massed together on the field to play selections under the direction of Jack Fromm, organizer and director of four of the competing drum and bugle corps.

Reds and blues dominated the colorful uniforms worn by the musicians. The Boone girls carried out the Spanish title by wearing white tunics, a red sash, black slacks and red sombreros.

The Iowa City and Newton drum corps wore steel helmets which glistened under the floodlights on the football field. Newton's color scheme was yellow and green, and the local boys were dressed in red, white and blue.

Newton and Boone boasted girl drum majors. Wilma Berlauf, the Newton girl, led her group to victory in the same manner as at the state and national meets last year.

The spectators at times were amused at the marching of the small boys in the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City units. On several occasions the young musicians were forced to take steps longer than they were tall to complete the maneuver.

Led by one of the city's fire engines, a half-mile long parade composed of the six musical groups in full dress uniforms, representatives from local patriotic organizations and floats entered by merchants marched through the business district late yesterday afternoon.

Col. Will J. Hayek assisted by Capt. Elmer Hay directed the parade.

The contest, the second in a series of five round-robin meets, was sponsored by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post to raise funds for the purchase of new uniforms and equipment for the Iowa City Grenadiers who expect to enter the national contest at Columbus, Ohio, next year.

The Iowa City corps placed second at the first contest held last month in Cedar Rapids.

Rolph Hartwig, both of Cedar Rapids, who judged the musical ability.

The percentage ratings accorded the groups were Newton, 82.2; Chariton, 80.2; Boone, 89.8; Cedar Rapids V. F. W., 85.6; Iowa City, 83.4, and the Cedar Rapids Y. M. C. A., 72.3.

The local drum and bugle corps, organized a year ago by Jack Fromm, is composed of 60 Iowa City boys. The corps is sponsored by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post, and James T. Gwynne is the manager.

DETROIT, Aug. 5 (AP)—Tallying five runs in the ninth to knot the score mainly because of Joe Cronin's homer with the bases full, the Boston Red Sox picked up another run in the tenth to down the Detroit Tigers, 9-8, today. It was the third straight defeat for Detroit.

Successive doubles by Roger Cramer and Joe Vosmik brought home the winning run.

Robert Moses Grove, veteran Sox southpaw, made his first start since July 14 when his arm went dead while hurling against Detroit at Boston. He worked the first six innings, allowing five hits and four of the Tiger runs.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Yankees collected only four hits today, but Joe Gordon whacked a homer and young Bobby Feller kindly walked 11 batters to give the New Yorkers a 6 to 1 decision in front of the Tribe in the American league race, the biggest edge Gehrig & Co. has enjoyed this season.

Feller just couldn't find the plate. In fact, he was the best man the Yanks had on the field. He had runners on base in every one of the seven innings he worked, twice three batters in a row, and once walked in a run, as he lost his sixth game of the season. For Hadley, it was the fifth victory of the year, compared with three setbacks.

The Yanks played without the services of Bill Dickey, their ace catcher, who was sidelined with an ailing leg, but Joe Glenn, who handled the receiving chores, filled in capably. His two-bagger in the second, scoring Twinkletons George Selkirk, who had walked, gave the Yanks their first run.

In the third, a hit batsman, a walk, a double steal and a fly gave the Yanks their second—and winning—run.

Cleveland's lone tally came in the fourth on Jeff Heath's triple and Ken Keltner's infield ground-er, but that was the only time the Tribe proved dangerous.

Browns Crush Philadelphia To Tune of 9 to 2

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns eyed seventh place today after taking the first of a four-game series with Connie Mack's Athletics, 9 to 2.

But to hoist themselves out of the American league cellar Gabby Street's lowly crew will have to sweep the remaining three games.

The generosity of Almon Williams, who started for the A's, contributed to the Browns' total today. He walked two men over the plate in succession in the fifth inning when the Browns scored six times.

Harry Kipke Leads In Poll to Select Coach for All-Stars

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—Harry Kipke, former Michigan coach, had a leading total of 4,547,129 points tonight in the poll to select a coach of the college All Star football eleven which will battle the professional Washington Redskins Aug. 31 at Soldier Field. The balloting will end Sunday night.

Bo McMillin of Indiana, was second with 4,245,847, Elmer Layden of Notre Dame had 4,108,181 for third, and Raymond Pond, Yale, was fourth with 4,052,296.

Ruffing Able to Pitch

CLEVELAND (AP)—An examination of Charley Ruffing's injured right knee by a specialist yesterday revealed the Yankees' leading pitcher had a strained ligament. Ruffing was informed his injury is not serious enough to keep him out of the present series with the Indians but he will have to wear an elastic brace when he is pitching. He is due to pitch tomorrow's game.

Chicago Golfer Wins Bet

J. Smith Ferebee Gets $2,500 and Land After 144 Holes in One Day

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—J. Smith Ferebee, footsore, weary and slowed down to a walk, won his wager of $2,400 in cash and a half-interest in a Virginia plantation today over Olympia fields' rugged acres today by playing 144 holes of golf between sunup and darkness, with no 18-hole round of more than 90 strokes.

Ferebee, wiry, blond golfer-broker, set out on one of the sport's strangest matches at 5:05 (CDT) this morning to settle an argument with Fred Tuerk, another broker, with whom he shared interest in a $30,000 plantation in Princess Anne county, Virginia.

All in One Day A dispute had arisen over management of the land, and Ferebee, who had played 90 holes one day recently, offered to settle it by playing 144 holes between dawn and darkness, with no round over 95 strokes, or forfeit his share.

Tuerk accepted and bets totaling $2,500 grew out of the plan. The 31-year-old Ferebee did everything he said he could—and more. He left himself plenty of leeway in setting 95 strokes per round as the maximum, for his highest score was a 90, scored as he warmed to his task on the first round this morning.

He followed up his opening 90, with rounds that many a golfer would be glad to card anytime under the best of circumstances—82, 82, 82, 87, 87, 88, and 89.

Wood, Riggs Meet in Finals

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—Sidney Wood of New York and Bobby Riggs of Chicago clash tomorrow in the finals of the 4th annual Meadow Club invitation tournament, with a possible berth on the Davis cup team hanging on the outcome. They are leading aspirants for the No. 2 singles position on the cup squad.

Riggs easily turned back his semi-final opponent, fifth-seeded Frank Kovacs, of Chicago, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3, but Wood waged a bitter battle with Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, before he finally prevailed, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 3-6, 7-5.

Wood and Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, the top-seeded doubles combination, were stopped just short of the final round when Kovacs and Bobby Harman, the California duo, defeated them 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 in a semi-final encounter played late to allow Wood to recuperate from his match with McNeill.

Reach Finals

EAST HAMPTON, N. Y. (AP)—Two unseeded but by no means unknown players—Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles and Barbara Winslow of Hollywood—reached the final round of the Maidstone club's invitation women's tennis tournament yesterday.

Mel Ott

Down The Sports Trail

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—A column on Col. Jacob Ruppert, the modern King Midas of everything from beer to baseball, on his 71st birthday.

The Colonel, suffering from an inflammation of the veins, was much improved today but was forced to observe his birthday quietly in his spacious Fifth avenue apartment. "I'll be out and running in a few days," said the magnetic owner of the world championship New York Yankees, who became so concerned over his friends' concern over his illness that he hired a special contact man to deny rumors that he was on his death-bed.

Beyond his message that he was improving, the Colonel was not permitted to be interviewed or entertain his host of friends. But there's so much interesting material about the man who always wanted to be a soldier but became one of the world's richest sportsmen that an interview hardly was necessary.

Plenty of Suds He was born the very day his father decided to build a brewery, a plant that today is the largest in the world with an annual output of 2,000,000 barrels of beer. The plant covers three square blocks and its estimated value is $35,000,000. The Colonel — he was made a colonel in the New York national guard at the age of 22—doesn't know how much he's worth. Next to the Astor's, he's the largest owner of New York real estate. His fortune has been estimated at from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000.

Colonel Ruppert is one of the world's best dressed men and a bachelor. Though he always laughs off reference to marriage, it is reported he's had a hundred proposals. "I know when I'm well off," he once remarked as he discussed the matrimonial troubles of his ace pitcher, Lefty Gomez.

Owens Ten Clubs His successful advent into baseball in 1915 was responsible for that of many rich men. In those days there wasn't much money back of baseball. Today, the combined capital bank of the game with such bankrolls as those of Tom Yawkey, Phil Wrigley, Walter Briggs and Powell Crossley is rated at more than a billion dollars. Colonel Ruppert owns nine minor league clubs in addition to the Yankees. Personally, he is one of the staunchest fans in the game. He always is afraid the Yankees will lose when he goes to his park. Once he left a game with his club five runs ahead, explaining: "I don't like these close contests."

Once he owned the most successful racing stable in the country but sold it after listening to a speech by Charles Evan Hughes who deplored gambling. During the prohibition era, he kept 250 employees working for 13 years without a pay cut. He was elected to congress at the age of 30, served four terms and retired.

"Giant Mistake" When the Giants refused to give him lower rent for use of the Polo Grounds, he built Yankee Stadium — baseball's largest structure. He still calls it "the Giant mistake." "Because," he explains, "the Giants made me build it and it's a gold mine for Ruppert."

The Colonel has a priceless collection of rare books and first editions. On his big estate, he has a large flock of monkeys. "I like monkeys," he says, "because they're more natural than a lot of people I know."

Ball players always have puzzled the Colonel. They are the only ones to out-bargain him. Because he is the kind of man who turns everything he touches into gold, he tried his hand dealing with holdouts and they "took him." Last year, he got tough and, for the first time, stood them on their heels. The Colonel still is crazy about Babe Ruth but close friends think he believes the Babe should have worked his way up to a big league managership by piloting one of Ruppert's farm clubs.

"Speeding" Asked about the oddest thing that ever happened to him, the Colonel said: "I'll fool you. It had nothing to do with baseball — or beer. I was arrested for speeding years ago with O. H. P. Belmont. We were tearing along at 17 miles an hour."

Giants Slash Pirates' Lead By Full Game

Melton Pitches Again But Walter Brown Is Winning Hurler

By DREW MIDDLETON

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—That best remedy for the ills of a ball club, the home run, came to the Giants' aid today when Bob Seeds plastered one high into the left field stands to beat the Pirates 5-3 for the New Yorkers and reduce the Pittsburgh National league lead to four and a half games.

Seeds' clout came with Mel Ott on base in the seventh and broke a 3-3 tie the Pirates achieved when Lloyd Waner singled home Pep Young in their half of the frame. Waner's single ended Cliff Melton's return on the mound, for, after he had walked Paul Waner intentionally, Walter Brown came in to blank the Pirates and receive credit as the winning pitcher.

Ott Homers Too If Seeds' home run won the game, Mel Ott's 25th of the season off Bob Klinger, making his first start since July 24, kept them in the fight. Ott hit his in the fifth and made it 15 straight games in which he has hit safely.

A crowd of 18,535 turned out to see the Giants whip Klinger for the first time in four starts against the rookie this season. Melton, recently reinstated by year, stressed the fact that the knowledge of the Latin American republics among North Americans and their better understanding of us carry with them immense potentialities for the future of the people of the western hemisphere.

"The countries on this side of the world," he asserted, "are peculiarly blessed in that among themselves they can supply just about everything each other needs.

"If the eastern hemisphere should destroy itself by suicidal wars, or should drop into the sea, the American nations could still maintain a balanced economy."

The speaker stressed the present danger to the peace and independence of the South American nations, because of fascist and nazi nations and their propaganda.

He pointed out that South American materials are needed by European powers, and that fascist nations and Japan are actively penetrating South America, breaking the control of the United States and Great Britain.

He revealed that German and Italian propaganda has been great since the World war, and he spoke of the economic and political infiltrations of the fascist and nazi powers.

He listed propagandizing forces at work in the Latin Americas--Italy's appeal to Latin pride, Germany's tie-up with Brazil, the fact that German is taught in the schools there and that there are 15 million Italian descendants in the nation.

He pointed out that the Japanese are active there, that there are 500,000 Japanese in Brazil and 50,000 in Peru.

He stressed the fact that the fascist powers are constantly urging an armament boom in South America, and that Venezuela buys cruisers from Italy in exchange for oil.

All of these factors of propaganda, he repeatedly asserted, are dangers to the peace and economic security of all of the western hemisphere, including the United States, because such factors mean western infiltration of fascist and nazi principles and ideals.

In contrast to a former period of dislike and distrust, Professor Strode said, Latin and South America now have tremendous confidence in North America--in President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull and their principles of peace.

He pointed out that South America had never liked North America until the present administration, and asserted that Secretary Hull, by his inspired diplomacy at Montevideo in 1933, won their respect, and that President Roosevelt had carried out each of the secretary of state's policies.

The speaker listed reasons for South Americans' previous mistrust of this nation--our dollar diplomacy, the taking of the Panama canal, the intervention of the marines, a false interpretation of the Monroe doctrine, and our "get rich quick" adventurers.

"After the Buenos Aires peace conference in December, 1936," he said, "the world press, including the United States papers unfriendly to Mr. Roosevelt, agreed on two things: that never in history has the prestige of the United States been so high with Latin America, and that the establishment of new peace machinery to prevent war is the most important achievement of this hemisphere since the American nations won their independence from Europe."

Professor Strode spoke particularly of Uruguay, as an example of the principles which are at work in South America, and which are worth the protection and respect of this country.

Uruguay, which he called "the virtuous child among South American nations," was the first among the southern nations to recognize the vote for women, to establish minimum wage laws, to institute an eight-hour working day, recognize old-age pensions, unemployment insurance, compulsory and free education.

More than any other nation, the largest proportion of Uruguay's income is spent for public health, he asserted. The country believes, he said, "that no nation is better than its bottom stratum."

These principles, he suggested--principles which America has for years been trying to adopt--have for years been working successfully in South America.

"Let me urge you students of the University of Iowa," he challenged, "to inform yourselves on Latin America. Let me hope your faculty will help by adding to your curriculum more courses in Latin American history, economics, political science and fine arts."

The importance, he asserted, of complete understanding and cooperation between the nations of the western hemisphere, cannot be overestimated.

Council Authorizes PWA Grant Application for Paving Funds

U. S. Would Pay 45 Per Cent Of $30,000 for Street Paving

Four Streets, Two Alleys Included In Modified Program

The city council last night authorized the application for PWA assistance to finance the construction of a modified $30,000 city streets paving program. If the application is approved, the federal agency will pay 45 per cent, or $13,500, and the city will pay the remainder for the improvement.

The modified paving program for which aid is being asked would improve four streets and two alleys. They are:

- Black Springs circle from Rider street around the circle and back to the starting point.
- College street from Dubuque to Clinton streets.
- Harrison street from Capitol to Madison streets.
- Seventh avenue from College street to Morningside drive.

Application for the grant will be made to the regional administrative offices at Omaha, Neb. Plans and specifications for the project will also have to be forwarded for PWA inspection and approval.

City councilmen discussed the probability of the project starting before the spring of 1939, even if the PWA application is successful. It is possible that the legal time requirements placed on the approval of the application, the inspection of the plans, and the advertising for bids and awarding of the contract would delay the starting date of the project to early spring.

Mayor Myron J. Walker and City Clerk Grover C. Watson were authorized to make the application.

HOSTESS HINTS

Brimful of bubbles. Coffee Foam comes charging forth to join the parade of cooling summer drinks. It's carbonated coffee—just freshly-made brew, cooled, then placed in a siphon and charged. Put cracked ice in tall glasses; add cream and sugar if you like, then "squirt" the charged coffee from the siphon. It will dance forth into the glasses, a million little bubbles, to make billion-headed brunette drinks you'll enjoy.

Carbonated coffee beverages are newly popular this summer, with several brands on the market, and no wonder—that coffee flavor's so popular. You can make your own right at home, using any model of the "Carbonators" or commercial siphons. Or you can outshine yourself at concocting other sparkling and "fizzy" drinks with a cooled-off potful of coffee and various bottled drinks. Try the recipes given here.

Coffee Frost
2 cups strong freshly-brewed coffee
5 tablespoons sugar syrup
1/2 cup heavy cream
2 cups gingerale

Allow freshly made coffee to chill thoroughly. When cold mix with sugar syrup. Fill four tall glasses one quarter full of crushed ice; put in whipped cream, then coffee mixture and add gingerale to fill glasses. Stir slightly and serve.

Coffee Flitz
Make double-strength coffee, using two heaping tablespoons or four level measuring tablespoons of coffee to each measuring cup of water. Chill coffee thoroughly. Before serving add vanilla ice cream to cold coffee and mix well with egg beater. Fill tall glasses half full of mixture and add chilled gingerale. Serve immediately.
