In Which a Dream Takes Shape

This is the way Iowa City's new high school building looks from the air, looks as the walls are started, as the framework goes up. The $726,000 building was started after the bond issue was twice defeated at the polls, the third time successful. Then there came a grant from the federal government, an injunction to halt work, and finally the foundation was laid. Now workmen are busy eight hours every day on the building. This year, however, and for the last time, high school students will be starting to the old building on high school square.

France, Switzerland Strengthen Borders

Courtney's Axemen Chop Open Another Handbook; Bookies Get Jitters

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Street in the loop where Hymie State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney's axemen chopped up another handbook today and threw the horse race bookies into the jitters. None knew where the lightning would strike next since Courtney turned from the courts to axes to wreck the handbook industry here. Many folded up quietly or moved, awaiting better days. It was the third successive day the prosecutor's chopper swung lustily. Today they reduced blackboards and a blackjack table to junk in a "sneak joint" — room rented for $10 a day on the second floor of a west side lodge and club building. The manager and doorman were arrested. Two of the big town's toniest handbooks were ruined yesterday and Wednesday — one on Randolph

Patrols Must Halt Refugees From Germany

Flood of Jewish Race Not Just A Chance Operation

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 19 (AP)— France and Switzerland strengthened their border patrols today to block an increasing flow of refugees from Germany and Austria along a secret "underground railway" through nazi territory. The Swiss mobilized all available police in the northern Cantons and the central council at Berne promised to send additional troops to the frontier if necessary to reinforce 300 guards already there. French border guards were reinforced at all points of entry from Switzerland and Germany. Credentials of all train passengers from Switzerland and Germany were carefully checked. Swiss detectives questioned 400 refugees who made themselves known to the authorities at Basel after crossing the frontier. They pieced together an amazing tale showing existence of a 20th century combination of the "scarlet pimpernel" of the French revolution and the "underground railway" of American Civil war days. The flood of refugees, most of whom are Jews, is not a chance migration, the detectives learned, but the result of operations by a secret organization among Germans and German Austrians who feared for their future under the nazi regime. Cash came from refugees who left Germany and Austria before the nazi regime, and from various underground sources in Germany and German Austria. The means came from German families sympathetic to refugees in all parts of nazidom. They provided regular shelter for the refugees on their way to the frontier. From Austria, the Swiss police said, many refugees went through Bavaria not far from the Berchtesgaden mountain retreat of Chancellor Adolf Hitler, and then into Switzerland or France from Baden. The refugees explained that the route of the "underground railway" went through Bavaria because control in Bavaria and Baden was less strict than in newly-nazified Austria. The refugees told the Swiss harrowing tales of reaching the frontier by cross-country hikes on which they hid in woods and on farms in constant fear of capture by nazi border patrols. Many of them succeeded in entering Basel by the easier method of slipping through regular stations of customs patrol, but this is impossible now because of the strengthened frontier guard. In the last 48 hours hundreds crossed over hills in the darkness only to meet Swiss frontier patrols and be sent back again.

CONSCIENCE Crooked Deal Fails To Ease Conscience

MELLEN, Wis., Aug. 19 (AP)—J. E. Minton, operator of a local produce company, was $60 richer today after receipts of the following unsigned letter: "Mellen Produce company, 'Gents: 'Am sending money to make good on a crooked deal I pulled on your creamery once. My conscience has been bothering me. Now I got a clean slate.' Sixty dollars in crumpled bills were pinned to the note.

George Hits F.D.R. Purge

'Purgee' Addresses Political Rally In Macon, Georgia

MACON, Ga., Aug. 19 (AP)—Senator Walter F. George, one of the democrats President Roosevelt has marked for elimination from congress, asserted today new deal activity against his renomination was a "challenge to Georgia as a sovereign state." Sharing cheers at a rally at the city auditorium with the senior Georgia senator was his campaign aide, Edgar B. Dunlap, who resigned as Georgia RFC counsel at the request of Washington authorities because of his activities in behalf of George. George told hearers Dunlap's ouster was "a challenge to preserve our integrity and independence against any conceivable pressure, from high places or from low." At the same time, the senator said the charge of political activity by a government officer against Dunlap applied to the Atlanta district attorney's office, headed by New Dealer Lawrence S. Camp who was endorsed by President Roosevelt for George's senate seat. "Everyone of his deputies," asserted George, "actually is working for Camp every day — what is sauce for the goose ought to be sauce for the gander." "The people of Georgia will not let true democracy die," Senator George said. "They will exercise their right to select their representative in the senate... free from the dominion and control of the executive, by whatever name called." Dunlap charged earlier today "powerful sources" outside the reconstruction finance corporation, prompted the action which "liquidated me." These, he said, came to bear after a Washington visit by Camp.

British Foreign Office Asks Kendrick's Release from Nazis

German Secret Police Arrest Foreign Agent

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Annoyed and puzzled, the British foreign office today demanded that Germany release Capt. Thomas Kendrick, British passport officer in Vienna who was arrested by German secret police, and explain the detention. Tonight, however, Germany had done neither, despite the fact the British government informed Berlin that it takes "a serious view" of the incident. Acting on instructions from the foreign office the ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, asked the German government for "a full and speedy explanation" of Kendrick's arrest. Kendrick, for 13 years passport control officer in Vienna, did not have diplomatic immunity, and consequently Germany was within her rights in arresting him, and was under no obligation to speed her explanation. Kendrick was arrested Wednesday at Freilassing, Bavaria, where he and his wife expected to cross the border into Switzerland en route to England for a vacation. Mrs. Kendrick was permitted to return to her home in Vienna while Kendrick was taken to Vienna's Metropole hotel. One theory of the arrest was that the nazis thought Kendrick had issued too many passport visas to refugees. He has kept his passport office open 12 hours a day and is reported to have issued as many as 200 visas a day since the annexation of Austria. Other theories were that he was suspected of being a spy, or was suspected of evading the German currency laws. The number of Jewish refugees coming to Britain from German Austria is beginning to alarm some British officials. A London magistrate, Herbert Metcalfe, sentenced three people accused of handling without permission from Germany to six months at hard labor and recommended their deportation. Metcalfe described the entry of "stateless" Jews into Britain as "outrageous." The British ambassador to Berlin yesterday asked the German foreign office for full particulars of the charge against Kendrick, and he was promised a full inquiry would be made.

'Depression' Reigns While Germany Marches

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, Aug. 19 (AP)—While Reichsfuehrer Hitler is hurrying from training ground to training ground to see whether all is in readiness for the autumn divisional maneuvers, Germany's industrialists are hard put to find enough men to keep factories and plants going. Today Hitler went to the Grossborn training grounds and watched troops engage in thunderous sham battle.

Later he spent several hours among a circle of officers and other officials in Stelzin, northern Germany army center. The mobilization of practically every able-bodied man for military purposes has created a dire shortage of labor. This shortage has been further increased by the necessity of providing armaments and munitions, instruments, clothing, motor vehicles and other paraphernalia and necessities for the nation's gigantic military establishment. The government's sudden decision to speed up construction of fortifications at a rate probably unparalleled in history has meant a further drain on the man power available for the ordinary pursuits of life. So great are the military exigencies that nazism has been compelled even to throw into the discard one of its principal tenets, namely that of keeping women out of industry. Already 6,000,000 women have re-entered economic life of the nation since spring, according to a German correspondence service, and at present there is a big drive on for married women who were once stenographers to resume their work. In radio broadcasts the government promises such women that their babies will be cared for and their households kept running and their working hours arranged conveniently if only they will turn out. In addition, Germany has imported 100,000 farmhands, chiefly from Italy, this summer. Last April 13,400,000 men were employed in German industry. How many have been drafted for military maneuvers has not been revealed. It was indicated the number must be large by the fact that even Hitler's personal "pet projects"—such as new construction in Berlin—must yield to the precedence of German rearmament.

Picket Lines Miners Cheer— Their Priest May Stay

VULCAN, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP)—Grime-smearing miners and suntanned farmers, their faces streaked with rain, cheered late today when they learned there was hope for a compromise whereby they might keep their priest whose home they were picketing to prevent his transfer. In word relayed from Rome through Washington, the general superior of the salvatorian order informed Father Simon Borowski, beleaguered priest of St. Barbara's Catholic church, that if Bishop Joseph C. Plagens at Marquette, Mich., would accept him in his diocese, the order would not transfer him to a Wisconsin seminary. Father Simon was "loaned" to the Marquette diocese 13 years ago. Ordered by his superiors to return to the seminary, Father Simon, with two suitcases in his hands, was turned back by the pickets at the door of the rectory where he is held a virtual prisoner. The church is locked and the picket leaders hold the keys. Night and day since Monday the parishioners have patrolled the grounds of the little mining community church. Through the rain they marched today shouting, "We want Father Simon."

For a while a 77-year-old Italian woman led the marchers, clutching a rosary. "We will continue to march," said the pickets' spokesman, Leonard Flourde, a parishioner, "until we know Father Simon will remain. He belongs to these people. They love him and want him. No one can take his place."

Witness Testifies That Federal Theater Dominated by 'Reds'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Hazel Huffman of New York City testified in positive terms before the house committee on un-American activities today that the federal theater project of WPA was dominated by radicals and using public funds to spread the doctrine of communism. Explaining she had obtained her information from an extended personal investigation, she asserted that "propaganda plays were the rule," that employees of the project were compelled to join communist organizations and that the project was violating the law which created it by employing aliens. In addition, the committee received testimony from two veterans of the war in Spain that Representatives O'Connell (D-Mont) and Bernard (FL-Minn) repeatedly used the "Soviet salute"—the raised clenched fist—when addressing members of the Spanish government army while on a visit to that country. And on the basis of the veterans' testimony that communists had recruited them for the war in Spain, the committee asked the justice department to investigate the question of whether there had been any violation of a law forbidding the enlistment of American citizens for duty in foreign armies. At the department, it was said, the request would be given careful attention. Mrs. Huffman, plump and matronly, a registered nurse who said she also had had 26 weeks' experience in the theater, told the committee her first contact

Bright Light Small Niagara Falls Cools Light Plant

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—A brilliant new electric light, in which a midget sun, one fifth as bright as the real sun, shines through a miniature Niagara falls, was announced today by the General Electric company. The light itself is no bigger than a pin-head but it is so hot it would destroy itself were it not constantly cooled by a waterfall which pours three quarts of water over it every minute. The "sun" and the "Niagara" together are small enough to be housed in a glass tube the size of a shotgun cartridge. The lamp, developed in the General Electric laboratories at Nela Park, Cleveland, produces 1,000 watts from a mercury arc. It consists of two glass tubes, one within the other. The smaller tube is of quartz. Within it is the midget sun—a globe of mercury and a trace of argon gas. Between this quartz tube, which is about as big as a cigarette, and the other glass case flows the waterfall. Because the heat is so intense, the lamp is arranged that the water starts to move before the light goes on, and the light is turned off automatically if anything stops the water supply. Although the water absorbs 90 per cent of the heat generated, it allows virtually all the ultra-violet rays of the light to pass through, this gives the new lamp promising therapeutic possibilities.

Sudeten Germans Describe Offers As 'Inadequate'

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 19 (AP)—Sudeten German party leaders today described as "wholly inadequate" Czechoslovakia's offer of civil jobs as a peace gesture in their demands for full equality. "Seven postmasters were tossed into the scales on the side of peace but they did not weigh enough," said one party leader commenting on the government's offer of that many postmasterhips to Germans in Sudeten regions of the republic. "An offer of 700 jobs and many more later would have been a fair beginning," said another representative of the nation's 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans. It was admitted, however, that the government's move was considered conciliatory toward its autonomy-demanding Germanic population. From the government side there came an intimation more substantial concessions would be made—that from time to time more jobs would be opened to Germans to permit them a greater share in the government.

A Word About John Bull

IT LOOKS very much as if England will have a new foreign secretary, which doesn't surprise us any. It seems Lord Halifax has come to agree with Anthony Eden, who resigned as foreign secretary in February because he thought the democracies of the world should stand together—or they'd be forced to stand separately.

Day by day indications are that Tony Eden was right. England has now had a dozen ships sunk by Francisco Franco's bombers in the Mediterranean sea, and Franco, of course, is no more than the office boy for Hitler and Adolf Hitler. They work together.

So we do think it's up to the democratic countries to stand together against the atrocities of central Europe. We think if they had Hitler's march into Vienna would never have happened, and the Czechoslovakian "situation" would remain just that, a situation.

Again if England were actually interested in peace we might not be so sure Neville Chamberlain's eye-closing policy were the wrong one, but if peace is the desire why is England tripling her armaments expenditures this year? Why is the building more planes than ever before in her history, making plans for more defense?

It rather looks to us as if Chamberlain's main interest is delay, and the policy of Fabius never was very successful. In England and France and Russia and Czechoslovakia and Europe's other democratic countries are interested in stopping the march of Hitler, they can do it. Cooperation can accomplish a lot.

But Mr. Chamberlain can't see it that way, and so probably Lord Halifax will resign his post. (And if observers are correct, incidentally, Chamberlain himself is likely to go when the resignation occurs—as he very nearly did last winter when Tony Eden left.) Even the English can stand just so much; then they too call a halt.

And While We're On The Subject

WHILE WE'RE discussing affairs international, it might be well to mention that situation in the far east. Yesterday, if you noticed the news, Japan ordered a million men, men and boys, all untrained to "stand by."

Observers interpreted that as meaning to "stand by" for immediate call, which, probably, means a quick attempt to clean up the troubles as soon as possible. (Much the same sort of tactics Franco seems to be trying in Spain.)

John Gunther, writing in this week's Nation, seems to think Japan is slated to win the war, but he questions if it will be before many more months of fighting have passed. And then he adds, "Of course, any first-class European army, with proper equipment, even the Italian army, could drive the Japanese into the sea in six months."

But the significance seems to us to be in this. "I think," Mr. Gunther writes, "that following an undeclared war, there may eventually be an undeclared peace."

So Says the American Press

(From the Toronto Star.)

MOST designers of women's clothes are men. Men also design and make men's clothes. Why they dress women in cool, filmy, light, gladsome comfortable clothing and leave men to swelter in layers of heavy garments seems to be one of those enigmas.

An enterprising fashion scout made a comparison of the weights of men's and women's clothing. The comparison is astounding.

Five Times More Comfortable According to weight alone, women's summer clothes are about five times more comfortable than men's. Here is a girl and a beau in a restaurant.

The fashionable clothing which the girl wears weighs just one pound and eleven ounces. The well-dressed man's outfit totals five pounds and nine ounces.

The girl is dressed in proper, conventional summer clothing, observing all the fashion nuances. She wears a light-colored crepe dress, which weighs five ounces. Her hat weighs three ounces. The white mesh shoes weigh eleven ounces. The foundation garment tips the scales at three and a half ounces, the silk stockings come to one and a half ounces and all of her underwear totals three and a half ounces.

Suit a Handicap The man's summer suit of clothing weighs two pounds and ten ounces. Fight there he starts off with a major handicap. His shirt weighs eight ounces, his shoes come to one pound and ten ounces, his underwear is three and a half ounces, his socks, tie and belt total six ounces and his hat adds three ounces.

The long-standing argument in favor of modern men's clothing is that they are standardized and therefore simplified. They do not fluctuate with the vagaries of the fashion winds and save the wearer much worry and nervous energy.

Men are known to be enterprising, daring, bold in the willingness to try out new things, to experiment and make changes. But in their clothing they are basically conservative.

Women are said to be innately conservative, not given to accepting quickly any changes in thought, customs or habits of life. But in their clothing they are extremely radical, accepting change and variety unquestioningly and eagerly.

working together on this problem, and the modern woman can now pack enough clothing for twenty changes into one suitcase. The wonder of it!

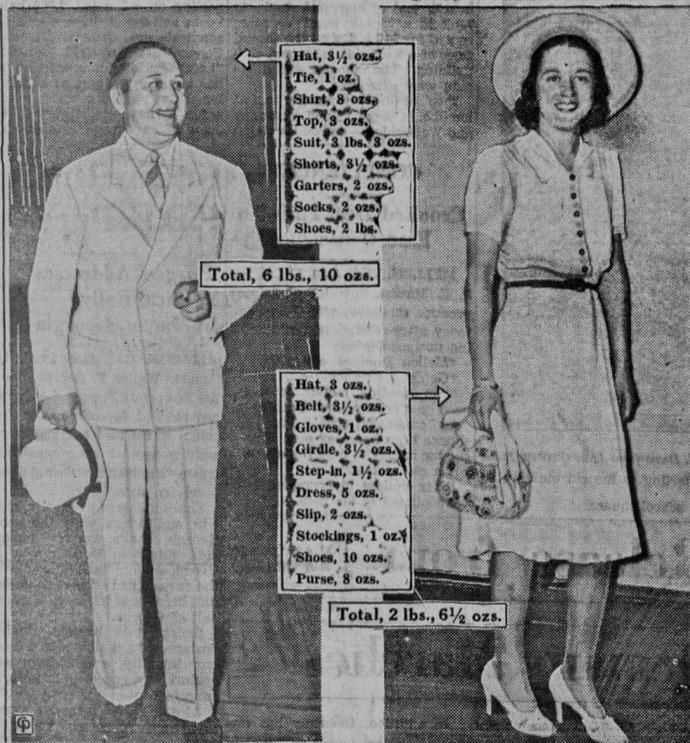

The modern woman trips off on a holiday outfitted with pieces of clothing that will give her enough variety for twenty changes, and it all weighs but thirty pounds, suitcase included; all can be packed in one handbag.

One of the curiosities in the comparison between men's and women's clothing is that they reflect the exact opposite in the characteristics of the sexes.

Men are known to be enterprising, daring, bold in the willingness to try out new things, to experiment and make changes. But in their clothing they are basically conservative.

Women are said to be innately conservative, not given to accepting quickly any changes in thought, customs or habits of life. But in their clothing they are extremely radical, accepting change and variety unquestioningly and eagerly.

This Should End That Weighty Heat Problem

Hat, 3 1/2 ozs. Tie, 1 oz. Shirt, 8 ozs. Top, 3 ozs. Suit, 3 lbs. 3 ozs. Shorts, 3 1/2 ozs. Garters, 2 ozs. Socks, 2 ozs. Shoes, 2 lbs.

Total, 6 lbs., 10 ozs.

Hat, 3 ozs. Belt, 3 1/2 ozs. Gloves, 1 oz. Girdle, 3 1/2 ozs. Step-in, 1 1/2 ozs. Dress, 5 ozs. Slip, 2 ozs. Stockings, 1 oz. Shoes, 10 ozs. Purse, 8 ozs.

Total, 2 lbs., 6 1/2 ozs.

No doubt you have gone home from work on a hot day and remarked to your wife how you have perspired in your heavy summer ensemble in comparison to the lightweight outfit your wife wears.

And no doubt your wife has retorted that, stating her ensemble is heavier than yours. With a couple of models, a scale and a bit of arithmetic we settle the problem. Milady certainly has the best of it.

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—Election irregularities are an old story. They date back to the days when all nominations were made in party conventions, usually preceded by secret conferences of a few bosses in the well-known "smoke-filled rooms."

The nominations doubtless were framed in advance, but that was supposed to be all right. It was not considered strictly according to Hoyle for a candidate to over-spend himself against his election day opponent. It occasionally caused him trouble to be caught at it, anyway. But the regularity of his nomination never was disputed.

Two Questions

These times two questions arise. It still is asked, "Was the election o. k.?" Back of that, however, is the query, "Was the winning party candidate fairly nominated?"

There are two elections, in short, and recent charges and counter-charges hint that the first one (the primary) is liable to be characterized by as much queer business as the second one, in November. Maybe more. Rival party candidates watch one another's campaigns pretty closely. If one of them suspects any crookedness in his opponent's methods he is not a bit hesitant to say so vehemently. In an intra-party primary the tendency is to hush scandals up, in the interest of party harmony.

Primary Worse

That is to say, an election day candidate is forced to be reasonably discreet, because he knows that, if he wins and the loser believes he can make out a good case, the latter's disposition will be to contest the former's victory.

In a primary contest, on the opposite hand, the winner is tolerably certain that the loser, even if badly disgruntled, will go through the form of congratulating him—will keep quiet, at least. He may not feel like it, but all his friends will say, "Now, don't split the party wide open." And probably, if the primary winner's side wins the election also, the primary loser gets some sort of an appointment for being good, which consoles him quite a lot.

True, this year's democratic primaries are being extraordinarily bitter. Possibly there will be some primary aftermaths. Yet we have "Happy" Chandler congratulating the primary candidate who licked him. And "Happy" complained of having been poisoned during that primary campaign, presumably by his political foes. If poisoning (supposing any such thing) isn't ground for contesting a primary nomination on, what would be? Still, if it was done, it was all in the democratic family—so let it pass!

If It Isn't One Thing It's Another

TWO RIVERS, Wis. (AP)—The "largest city in the United States without a jail" is losing that distinction, but it will gain another.

The common council of this city of 12,000 has voted to build a combination jail, police station and city hall. Since 1926, when the municipal lockup was condemned, Two Rivers prisoners have been taken to Manitowish county seat.

On the other hand, the North Western railroad is discontinuing all passenger train service here. That would make Two Rivers "the largest city in the United States without passenger train service."

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK (AP)—Fifty years ago park officials protected Yellowstone National Park bears from the tourists, who wanted to take home bear rugs. Now the government has decided it is necessary to protect the tourists from the bears. Too many are bitten attempting to feed them. Feeding bears tidbits has been forbidden.

WALHALLA, S. C. (AP)—Cotton is supposed to open in late summer, fall or early winter. W. H. Smith's crop put on a heavy growth last fall, then failed to open as it should. This spring, however, was early and mild. The cotton finished opening. He sold it for more than he could have gotten last fall.

Lots of Hollow

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Oil crews near Dighton, after drilling 4,611 feet, struck a hollow space, pumped in hundreds of pounds of "filling," then started drilling again. Finding the hollow spot still far from filled, they pumped in six railroad freight cars of cement.

GRACE VAN WORMER, Acting director

A New Yorker at Large

NEW ORLEANS—As state director of the Federal Writers' Project, Lyle Saxon isn't making as much money as he would be if he were sitting at a desk on his place near Melrose plantation, pounding out fiction, but he is having a lot of fun and accomplishing something that will benefit his career in the long run as well as performing a chore of inestimable merit for the people of Louisiana.

Lyle is writing four books, the first of which is already on the market, and under his hand are some 85 assistants doing research, compiling data on early Louisiana history and in general accumulating a fund of material that has never before been available to the public.

Saxon's first book is the "New Orleans City Guide," a magnificent piece of work that begins with the days of LaSalle and ends with present New Orleans.

His second, well underway, is a guide to Louisiana, doing for the state as a whole what the first has done for this city. A third will deal with folklore in Louisiana, and the fourth takes up the history of the Negro from the time he was chained in the hold of slave ships to the present day.

This represents exhaustive research and, as Saxon tells you, "All of my previous books took so long that often I was months on end doing research before the actual writing got underway. With 'LaFitte the Pirate,' for instance, I was a whole year accumulating data before a line was set down on paper."

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Jules Garfield—now John—will never be a movie star. He will never be rich. He will never have a Beverly Hills shack with a swimming pool and four butlers.

His studio, since it saw him on the screen in "Four Daughters," is sure it has a new star. The ballyhoo's already loosed. But John will never be a movie star. He won't let himself be. He says the play's the thing, and very few acting names should go above its title.

Hollywood, for three years, has been offering him good money to come out and see it some time, for keeps. He's taking less money for the kind of contract he wants. Or 60 days' notice he can go back to the stage any time. He doesn't want to be rich. He has a mission in life.

John Garfield is 26. He is shorter than the average movie actor but well proportioned. His hair is black, his skin is olive, his teeth flash white. His manner and speech are cultured. He talks seriously of Great Things—as he sees them—just as if he'd learned it all at the finest of universities.

In a sense, he did. He was born on New York's lower east side. He was a problem child, a community menace, a Dead End kid. He says he's sure he could have been a gangster if it hadn't been for Angelo Patri, the child psychologist.

Patri impressed him through kindness where others had failed with force. Patri suggested the theater as his vocation—and Garfield was an actor from that time on. In the Patri school, later in

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

Quite often I am asked to discuss Meniere's disease. This condition is often defined as dizziness or vertigo, associated with head noises and partial deafness. The differentiation of Meniere's disease, strictly speaking, is somewhat different from this. Real Meniere's disease is quite rare.

The combination of dizziness with head noises and deafness, on the other hand, is common. It may come from absorption of poisonous products from the intestine, or from an infected tooth or tonsils. Those who worry about this combination of symptoms should remember that this is the usual form and can be relieved.

It may be that this set of symptoms is due to a chronic inflammation of the middle ear. Here the head noises prevail because the slow hardening of the tendons of the little bones of the middle ear causes tension and scraping between them which sound like explosions to the poor ear drum of the patient who owns them.

The reason that dizziness and deafness go together lies in the close anatomic association of the two branches of the eighth cranial nerve. One branch is that of the nerve of hearing—the auditory branch, and the other is the nerve of equilibrium—the vestibular branch.

Cause Is Mystery Why these two functions should be united together is a mystery. Hearing and equilibrium do not have anything to do with each other. But united they are—one goes to the end organ of hearing, one to the end organ of equilibrium—the cochlea and the vestibule respectively—two little bony nests of beautiful intricacy imbedded in the temporal bone just behind the external ear.

All the politics seems to be talk this season, and not much of that. 's the dulllest political year I can recall.

Bobby Doerr Helps Red Sox Down Senators

BOSTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Bobby Doerr today broke up a pitcher's battle between Fred Ostermuller and Monte Weaver when his single with two down in the 10th gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

He drove in the Sox's slugging first baseman, Jimmy Fox, who had walked and been sacrificed to second. It was Fox who started Boston's scoring in the fifth when his mighty homer off the left field fence, his 33rd for the season, drove in Vosmik ahead of him.

Washington piled up a three run lead in the first three innings, Bonura's single scoring two men in the first after Ostermuller had walked two and hit another. In the third, Al Simmons' double and a single by Blumme gave the Senators their third tally.

Boston evened matters in the sixth when Desautels' single scored Chapman.

Doubleheader Sees Several Marks Go In Batting Dept.

DETROIT, Aug. 19 (AP)—Led by big Hank Greenberg, who drove out three homers to bring his season total to 41, the Detroit Tigers swept a double header with the St. Louis Browns today, taking the opener 8 to 7 and the nightcap 7 to 4. The wins extended Detroit's victory streak to five straight.

Greenberg homered off Oral Hildebrand with the bases full in the fourth frame of the opener. In the last of the ninth he hit for the circuit with the sacks empty off Fred Johnson to break up the game.

In the second game Greenberg homered in the first off Howard Mills with two mates on, The day's clouting put him ahead of

Don Budge Has Casino Tennis Title Almost Within Grasp

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19 (AP)—The Newport Casino's huge tennis trophy appeared almost in Don Budge's grasp today when he gained the final round by overwhelming Frank Parker of Beverly Hills, Cal., 6-3, 6-1, 6-3, in the easiest match the world's premier amateur star has had since he started his drive for his third Casino victory.

Budge can gain permanent possession of the handsome bowl, replica of the one Bill Tilden retired in 1929, by defeating Sydney Wood of New York.

Wood became the other finalist by nosing out his doubles partner, Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, 6-2, 3-6, 6-7, 6-3, 6-6, in a brilliant match that found each trying to storm the net against the other. Wood outlasted the powerful Hunt to win by the closest of margins.

Budge also will figure in the doubles California, and his Davis cup partner, Gene Mako of Los Angeles, qualified for the title round by wearing down Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles, and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., 15-13, 6-4, 7-5.

Just who will play Budge and Mako was not determined, for darkness overtook the other semifinalists when Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn of Austin, Tex., led Hunt and Wood, 13-15, 6-3, 6-2.

Australia Gets 3rd Doubles Win In Davis Matches

By BERNARD FREEMAN BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 19 (AP)—Without the loss of a single set, Australia swept into the Davis cup challenge round today when its unbeaten doubles team of Adrian Panik and Jack Bromwich easily scored the Antipodeans' third straight victory of the five-match interzone series with Germany.

It took the Aussies exactly one hour to pin a humiliating 6-2, 6-1, 6-4 defeat upon Henner Henkel and George Von Metaxa, who were good enough to reach the doubles final at Wimbledon this year.

As they sent Australia into the challenge round for the 12th time since cup play started in 1900—the Aussies have won six times and lost five—Quist and Bromwich were even better than the scores indicated.

Victors over Don Budge and Gene Mako three times "down under" last year and picked by Vincent Richards, pro veteran, after today's match to beat the Americans in the Davis Cup final two weeks hence, they scored just about at will.

Lee Holds Indians To Seven Bingles In 7 to 2 Triumph

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19 (AP)—Thornton Lee held the slipping Cleveland Indians to seven scattered hits today and the Chicago White Sox pounded two Tribal pitchers for 13 hits to win, 7-2.

Cleveland scored in the second inning when Hal Trosky drove his 16th home run of the year over the right field wall with Earl Averill on base. Marvin Owen and Joe Kuhel homered for the Sox, both with the bases empty.

The victors reached Whitehill for 12 hits before he retired in the seventh. Lee, who previously had made a double, singled to start the barrage that brought in Galehouse.

Yankees Ahead By Ten Games After Victory

Phillies Fall Before Giants By 4-2 Score

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19 (AP)—The New York Yankees' American league lead hit the 10-game mark today. The world champions combined a 14-hit attack with Spud Chandler's six-hit pitching to whip the Athletics 5 to 2 while Cleveland's second-place Indians lost to Chicago.

The victory was Chandler's 12th against three defeats for the season. After his mates staked him to a three-run lead in the second frame he was never threatened with defeat.

Every member of the Yankee lineup except Tommy Henrich and Joe Gordon hit safely at the expense of line-drive Lynn Nelson, and, but for silly base-running in spots, Gehrig and company might have had two or three more runs.

The A's broke into the scoring column in the first on consecutive walks to Stan Sperry and Wally Moses, Bill Werber's infield hit and Frankie Hayes' infield grounder.

Dodgers Win From Boston

BROOKLYN, Aug. 19 (AP)—Cookie Lavagetto's single with two out in the 11th inning tonight sent the lone run of the ball game across to give the Dodgers a 1-0 victory over the Boston Bees and end Lou Fette's eight-game winning streak. A crowd of 24,649 cash customers turned out for the tilt.

Lavagetto's single was the sixth and last hit off Fette. Buddy Hassett opened the inning with a single, went to second when Dolph Camilli walked, and scored on Lavagetto's smash.

Fred Frankhouse, making his first pitching start in two months, held the bees to three hits to chalk up his third win of the year.

The victory boosted the Dodgers into a tie for fifth place with the Bees in the National league race.

Phillies Fall Before Giants By 4-2 Score

Ripple Replaces Ott In Opening Inning, Hits Circuit Blow

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Jimmy Ripple, filling in for the ailing Mel Ott, smashed a homer inside the park with a mate on base in the sixth inning today to break a tie and give the Giants a 4 to 2 victory over the Phillies.

The win enabled the Giants to pick up a half-game on the National league leading Pittsburgh Pirates, and climb to within 4 1-2 games of the pace-setters, who were idle.

Rookie Bill Lohrman went the route for the first time this season and held the futile Phils to four hits, all of them in the first four frames. It was his eighth victory against one defeat.

Wild Bill Hallahan, who succeeded Claude Passeau in the fourth, after the latter strained his back while pitching, was charged with the defeat.

Harry Danning, who had hit a homer earlier, opened the sixth with a single, and Ripple hit one on a line out to center field. Hershel Martin, the Phils' center-fielder, might have played the ball better and held it to a single, but he came running in to take the bounce with his bare hand, and missed. The ball rolled to the 483-foot mark and Ripple pranced around the bases.

The Giants started the scoring in the first inning on George Myatt's double and Danning's single, the first of Catcher Hank's three hits. Ripple came off the bench to play when Ott turned up with an ailing back.

The Phils scored in the second on Morrie Aronovich's single, Bill Cissel's error and an infield out, and tied it up in the fourth on Chuck Klein's two-bagger and Spud Davis' base hit.

What Do You Think? By ART GOLDBERG

About the football situation: Coaches nowadays have nothing to worry about—by comparison, I mean. And this time back in 1922 Howard Jones was wondering how he would replace a few of his graduated men. Aubrey and Glenn Devine, "Duke" Slater and Lester Belding had left him with some wide open holes. That year 51 men reported to Jones, setting a new record up to that time for Iowa grid squad size.

About summer college baseball: Every Big Ten school has a summer enrollment of between two and four thousand—certainly enough to provide a coach with a suitable baseball squad. And it would help a lot in a town like ours, where it's impossible to see a good ball game at any time during the summer. It's too late, of course, for this year, but how about 1939?

About bicycle races: Why do we midwesterners shy away from bike races? It's great sport, they tell me (I've never seen one)—requiring strength, endurance, skill and those things that go to make sport what it is.

About superstition in sports: Racing seems to be the hatetest phase of sports activity when it comes to superstition. Owners complain if their horses draw number 13. Jockies object when there are 13 mounts in a race. Thirteen to 1 odds are considered poor bets. Some stables even have the letter "M" (13th in the alphabet) replacing that number on the "unlucky stable."

About rope-climbing, Tom Thumb golf: Rope-climbing used to be an inter-fraternity sport on our campus. And, though some of you might consider it a "sissy game," I can vouch for its stamina-testing powers.

Miniature golf courses once attracted long lists of customers in Iowa City, that, too, was a game of skill. Wasn't it Puck who said, "Oh, what fools these mortals be."

About horse shoe pitching: My hair is only beginning to turn grey, but I can still remember some good horse shoe pitching contests. And sportsmen of the state fair committee are doing their part to revive it. They're holding a statewide tournament to select the best we have.

About King Carl's injured arm: Every member of the Giants company is in quite a huff—'cause they'll have to do without the star screwballer for the rest of this season. The pain is centered on the inner side of the left arm, Hub complains that he's unable to lift or drop his arm at times. But there is no swelling.

All of us hope he can come back greater than ever, but... So spoke Gus Mancuso, Hubbell's old battery mate.

Dizzy Dean (AP)—The Chicago Cubs will lay their fading pennant hopes on the line against Pittsburgh tomorrow and shoot Dizzy Dean and his $185,000 arm against the Pirates in a long gamble on battling their way back into the National league championship fight.

HOSTESS HINTS

Cut half-inch slices of bread into cubes, arrange the cubes in a shallow pan and brown them well, stirring several times with a fork. Then add a tablespoon of butter, and an eighth of a teaspoon each of salt, paprika and celery salt for each cupful of croutons and heat five minutes in a slow oven.

When spreading sandwiches, leave about a quarter-inch around the edges unspread. Then, when you put the second slice of bread in position, press it down firmly. The filling will spread to the edges, but is less likely to ooze out.

Ripe olives blend with duck. Dice them and add them to the gravy. Or slice them and scatter them over the duck when it is served.

Remove the centers from heart-shaped biscuits after they are baked. Fill each cavity with a creamed mixture - chicken, salmon and peas, mushrooms and beans, or shrimp a la king.

In selecting corn choose that which is tender and juicy and has kernels that slightly resist pressure from the fingers.

Another canape: Spread thinly-rolled cheese pie crust with pickle and olive relish. Cut into one-and-one-half-inch squares and quickly turn each square half over. Prick the tops with a fork and press the sides together. Bake for six minutes and serve warm.

In baking fruit or wedding cakes which require long slow cooking, place a shallow pan filled with water in the oven. The water will help keep the cakes moist and give a glaze to their surfaces. Each cake should be allowed to cool in the pan in which it was baked.

Chocolate used in cooked or uncooked frosting should be cooled after it is melted. Otherwise it may cause the frosting to become too thin.

Crush chocolate-covered mazes chips, butterscotch candy, glazed nuts, peanut brittle or any other hard candy and add them to pudding sauces just before serving.

To keep cream fillings from soaking into cake layers, sprinkle a thin layer of confectioner's sugar over the cake. Then add the filling and sprinkle it with a little more sugar before the next layer is put on the cake. To avoid excess sweetness use less than the usual amount of sugar in the filling.

Brush the tops of unbaked cookies with slightly-beaten egg whites mixed with a little cold water. Added decorations will then stick when the cookies are baked. The cookies will have a glaze that looks quite professional.

Canned soups may serve many purposes. Pour asparagus soup over cooked lima beans, rice or noodles and bake it for 15 minutes; mix mushroom and celery soup and serve with diced cooked chicken, fish or meat poured over crackers on toast; mix tomato soup with chopped cooked meats or fish and use the combination as SHANGHAI, Aug. 19 (AP)—Japanese forces have started a large drive in Shantung to wipe out 42,000 Chinese guerrillas reported operating in all quarters of the province.

Japanese advices from Tsinan, Shantung provincial capital, said the initial Japanese thrust scattered 10,000 of the fight-and-run Chinese close to the city.

The Japanese said other expeditions were expected to crush all guerrilla resistance in Shantung. They admitted mobile Chinese units had carried on unceasing attacks.

In the past week Chinese reported a guerrilla army had captured Tsinan. The Japanese admitted the assault, but said the guerrillas were repulsed.

In northern Honan province, Chinese irregulars were reported to have attacked Sinsiang and Siaocheichien, inflicting 200 casualties and capturing Japanese-supported officials.

Posting, capital of Hopeh province, was reported encircled by guerrillas.

In the Yangtze valley, still more than 100 miles from Hankow, China's provisional capital, Japanese forces struggled against Chinese regulars to widen the front of their drive toward Hankow.

(A dispatch from Tokyo said the Japanese government had made available an estimated 1,000,000 men for the fighting forces. The war department ordered all males in the recruit division, men between 20 and 34 who have not had active training, to "stand by.")

(This was taken to mean Japan might soon call upon the division to send a tremendous new force into China to end the war.)

General Franco Shifts Legions To Bring War to Speedy End

HENDAYE, France, (at the Spanish frontier), Aug. 19 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today shifted his insurgent legions for a new general offensive to bring the two-year-old Spanish civil war to a close before winter.

The preparatory maneuvers were accompanied by a new fury of aerial bombardments along the eastern coast in which British shipping suffered heavily. The actual war fronts were comparatively quiet.

Barcelona was rocked by the heaviest bombing since March, when hundreds died.

The assaults today on the government capital in Catalonia and on two Catalan coastal villages, Sitges and Valkearen, 25 miles southwest of Barcelona, were reported to have injured or killed more than 150 persons.

Government dispatches said insurgent airmen bombed and sank the 1,363-ton British freighter

Newton Settles Down to Normal Life After Troops Leave Town

NEWTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Newton quickly settled down to a normal mode of living tonight, as national guardsmen departed after a month's patrol duty in the Maytag Washing Machine company strike area.

District Judge Frank Bechly, back upon the bench today upon dissolution of the military commission when martial law formally was lifted at 10 a. m., announced that Judge Homer A. Fuller of Mt. Airy, Ia., would return here Aug. 29 to preside until the end of the term, Sept. 12.

Judge Bechly said Judge Fuller would return in keeping with an exchange agreement which they made when Judge Fuller came here six weeks ago to handle cases growing out of the Maytag labor controversy.

In Des Moines, where he is taking part in the National Labor Relations board inquiry into the Maytag dispute, Edward W. Ford, attorney for the washing machine company, said the injunction against the CIO union, prohib-

Cambridge University Needs More Concrete

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—The English rave about the romantic charm, the history and tradition of their old buildings. But there must be times when the most loyal countryman yearns for a good, solid chunk of reinforced concrete that doesn't require constant patching with a few prayers thrown in between times to keep it from falling down.

Here at the university they discovered the other day that something had to be done, and done quickly, if the Fellows' building of Queens' college was to be saved. The foundations have been so eroded by the Cam river, which washes against the walls, that huge cracks have appeared.

It is thought it may be saved by under-pinning the foundations after the immediate emergency has been met. But if not, the hall, erected in the middle of the 18th century, may be demolished.

Bait Manufacturers Strike Bonanza

HONG KONG (AP)—American manufacturers, combing the world for materials with which to make fishing tackle, have rallied at Hong Kong. It's rich in pheasant feathers. Several exporters, whose business has fallen off in other lines because of the war in China, are making up their losses by buying Chinese pheasant feathers and shipping them to sporting goods makers in the United States and Europe.

The Chinese Government has put an embargo on pheasants so the only place their feathers may be bought for export is in British-occupied Hong Kong.

Germans Find Painless Way to Teach English

BERLIN (AP)—A year of experimenting with its English Boarding School for Adults has convinced the German Labor Front that this novel establishment at Hohenstein in the Taunus Mountains must be extended.

Pupils are not bored with classes. They learn English almost without effort during sports and games, on cross-country hikes, and in evenings devoted to conversation.

Only after they have thus become used to the language are some few classes in grammar arranged.

Former Harlem Policy Bankers Testify 'Dutch' Schultz Contributed to 'Club'

By E. C. DANIEL

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Two thick-chested, chocolate-colored, former policy bankers of Harlem calmly told a supreme court jury today that Dutch Schultz, founder of the numbers racket to which Tammany Boss Jimmy Hines is charged with giving political protection, contributed thousands of dollars from racket funds to election campaigns here.

Well-dressed, dignified Alexander Pompey, who once defied—but not for long—the Dutchman's orders to surrender his bank to the racket, testified $10,000 was taken from his treasury in the fall of 1933.

"George Weinberg said that they were going to use this money for a campaign," Pompey said. "He said that every bank in this combination was going to donate money for this particular campaign."

Another former policy-magnate whose business was taken over by the Schultz strong-arm gang in 1931, "Big Joe" Ison, linked the contributions more directly to Hines, against whom Weinberg, who was indicted with him, already has testified.

Every week, Ison said, $125 was deducted from the profit sheet of his bank as an expense item.

"They said to me," he testified, "that $125 is going to Jimmy Hines' club."

A little later, with the same cool detachment, he related that he was told that two deductions of $2,500 were for "campaign

Thomas E. Dewey ... prosecuting Hines' case

Policy racket trial of James J. Hines, Tammany district chief-in-law in New York, held the attention of the entire U. S. and, aside from Hines, the defendant, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, prosecuting the case, is the most talked of personality. Here is a new picture of Dewey on way to court for the day's session.

funds" to help elect a "democratic mayor and the democratic district attorney."

That was in 1933 when Fiorello LaGuardia was republican mayor, a candidate opposing Joseph V.

McKee, on the "recovery" party ticket, and John P. O'Brien, democrat. LaGuardia won.

The democratic candidate for district attorney was William Copeland Dodge, a former magistrate, and one of the three men named by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey as having been "intimidated, bribed or influenced" by Hines in his alleged role as conspirator with Schultz and the others to provide protection for the racket.

Dewey, in his opening statement to the jury, charged that Hines received $500 a week in cash from the Schultz mob, and that the gangster further contributed to Dodge's campaign fund and aided him through the use of "floaters" at the polls. "Big Joe," known familiarly to sporting Harlem as "Spasm," answered Assistant District Attorney Sol Gelb's questions with the air of a man who knows there is no help for it.

He gave his age as 47, his birthplace the British West Indies, said he came to New York in 1917, drifted into Harlem in the early 1920's and became a collector for a policy bank, working for several, including Wilfrid Brunder, a state's witness, who gave him business in 1930 when he fled the city to dodge the Seabury investigation.

He met Schultz in the late summer of 1931, he said, sometime after he had taken over the bank of Henry Miro, a Puerto Rican, who like Brunder had left town for his health.

Snowshoe Rabbits Get Blame for Killings

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The snowshoe rabbit is one of the chief causes of high mortality in new forest plantations in the Lake States region, experiments conducted in the Superior National Forest have shown.

Sylviculturists of the Lake States Forest Experiment station at University Farm reported also that in brushy areas in northern Minnesota rabbit damage often resulted in complete failure of seedling plantings.

Angus Steer Awarded Grand Championship at Annual 4-H Show

Billy Hunter's Baby Beef Entry Awarded Grand Championship

Donald Spencer's Herford Steer Given Reserve Crown

An Angus steer, shown by Billy Hunter of Iowa City, was awarded the grand championship of the baby beef class yesterday afternoon in the closing event of the 10th annual Johnson county 4-H club show. The reserve championship in the event was given to Donald Spencer's Herford steer.

Seven of the 14 shown at West Liberty will be exhibited in the baby beef contest at the state fair the last of next week, Emmett C. Gardner, county agent, said last night. Temporary repairs will be made on the culvert on U. S. highway 218 south of Benton street which was washed out by rain three weeks ago. Mayor Myron J. Walker announced yesterday after a conference with state highway commission engineers.

Before the permanent reconstruction of the culvert can begin, approval must first be obtained from the highway commission because of the expense of the repairs.

Condition Still Critical—Woods

Father, Shot in The Chest by 16-Year Old Son, Still Lives

H. E. Wood, who was shot in the chest by his 16-year-old son, Luverne, when he discovered his father attacking his mother with a claw hammer in the Wood farm home near Mechanicsville Thursday, was reported as unchanged critical condition by hospital attendants here last night.

The mother, 48, was reported to be in "fairly good" condition at the Cedar Rapids hospital where she was taken by Luverne and his sister, Bonnie, 23. Mrs. Wood's skull was fractured.

In a signed statement given by Wood to R. A. Potter, Cedar county attorney, the father said he had gone to the woodshed on the farm with intentions of hanging himself, but picked up the hammer and returned to the farm home and attacked his wife.

Luverne, who with his sister witnessed the altercation between the parents, fired two shots from a revolver. The first splintered the handle of the hammer and the second pierced the elder Wood's chest and lodged in his back.

Pending further investigation, the county attorney said that no one would be held and no charges would be filed.

LUNCHES GO TO SCHOOL

IT'S time to take stock of school clothes, to dust off textbooks, and to begin packing lunches for children who are eager to be off to school.

Noon lunch for the child who goes to school does not present a problem. It's important to supply the proper kind and amount of food, in attractive and appetizing form. That isn't always easy, to be sure; the selection of foods is limited, either because it cannot be conveniently packed and carried, or because it's not good cold, or after standing. Most often, too, lunches are packed during a particularly busy time of day. Careful planning is necessary to prevent tiring sameness and a hastily put-together and unsatisfactory meal.

LUNCH BOX SANDWICHES
Sandwiches make up such an important part of the lunch that is packed and carried, that they deserve more than casual consideration. They can be varied, now and then, with whole wheat, rye oatmeal or brown bread; raisin bread or nutbread are popular favorites, too, and a pleasant surprise in a box lunch. Sometimes just cutting plain bread and butter sandwiches with a fancy cookie cutter, is all that's needed to add interest to this oftentimes neglected meal.

Sandwich fillings are important, too, and variety is easy to attain if you keep on hand in your modern, air-conditioned ice refrigerator, two or three wholesome, delicious and unusual sandwich spreads, prepared in advance during the easy hours of the day. These fillings are favorites with children of all ages, and with grown people, too.

RAISIN ORANGE FILLING FOR SANDWICHES
(Makes 8-10 Sandwiches)
2 cups raisins
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
4 tablespoons orange juice

Grind the raisins, add orange rind and juice and blend well. Use with white or whole wheat bread.

RAREBIT SANDWICH FILLING
1 pound American cheese
1/4 pound dried beef
1 cup condensed tomato soup

Grind the cheese and the dried beef in a food chopper, and moisten with the soup. Store, uncovered, in ice refrigerator.

These fillings are easily made and keep perfectly in a modern, air-conditioned ice refrigerator. Its proper moisture keeps them from drying out, and clean-washed, circulating air guards against exchanging of flavors. Ample storage space in these modern ice refrigerators makes beforehand preparations practical, and you'll find that school lunches are no problem at all, when your refrigerator yields a variety of delicious, tasty sandwich fillings, such as these.
