F. R. READY FOR LABOR ACT CHANGES

'Un-American' Activities Committee Assigns Bodyguards to Matthews

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The house committee on "un-American" activities assigned a bodyguard to accompany Dr. J. B. Matthews, writer and educator, when he left the committee room today after telling how communists "exploited" the names of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and other prominent Americans.

The plainclothes guard was assigned after Matthews had reported receiving threats by telephone of bodily harm if he persisted in his testimony regarding the purported inner workings of the communist party.

He is scheduled to return to the witness stand Monday with testimony which committee members said would be even more startling than that he unfolded today.

Dr. Matthews told the committee he was associated prominently from 1932 to 1935 with the communist party's "innocent clubs" in this country, but served his connections when he realized the party's real purpose and grew to doubt Soviet claims of social and other advances in Russia.

He charged that the world youth congress now meeting at Vassar, which was addressed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt this week, was "nothing more nor less than one of the maneuvers dedicated to forwarding the aim of the foreign policy of the Soviet union." At least 35 of the 50 American delegates belonged to communist front organizations, he said.

In response to direct questioning, Matthews, who said he had made five trips to the Soviet union since 1928, said the communists exploited the publicity value of such a speaker as Mrs. Roosevelt, who could thus innocently be aiding the work of the party.

Relating that he had been an active participant in the organization or work of about 20 organizations which he said formed part of the communist front, Matthews told the committee many intimate details of his link with the communist party. He said he did not belong to the party but worked with it as a "fellow traveler."

Wagner Act Change Sought By Roosevelt

William F. Green Confers With Chief Executive Over Change

By WILLIAM B. ARDERY
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt is ready to seek changes in the Wagner labor act, William Green reported today.

The president of the American Federation of Labor, after a long talk with Mr. Roosevelt here, told reporters: "We discussed possible changes in the (labor relations) law throughout. We are in accord on the necessity of making some changes in the law to overcome the objections the A. F. of L. has offered regarding the board's administration."

More Judicial
Green referred to the national labor relations board. He said its members should be "more judicial minded" and asserted he had given the president numerous specific complaints against its activities.

The labor official said he had talked with Mr. Roosevelt about the personnel of the board, and had mentioned that the term of Donald W. Smith will expire soon. Green would not say however, whether he had expressed specific opposition to Smith.

"I rather complained," Green said, "against the administration of the labor act by the board as a whole. I did not express objections to one specific person."

The members of the board should be more judicial minded," Green did not specify discussed changes in the labor act, but he said that possibilities included reducing the board's authority or a clarification of the law to define exactly the board's duties.

In Milwaukee this week, Joseph A. Padway, A. F. of L. counsel, announced he had drafted a set of proposed amendments to the Wagner act at Green's suggestion.

These proposals would reduce the authority of the board and deprive it of judicial powers.

Green appeared quite satisfied with the result of his conference with the president. He said he had outlined to Mr. Roosevelt numerous complaints against the board's administration.

The board, he said, has not observed "the spirit" of the labor law.

LaGuardia Calls
Another of Mr. Roosevelt's callers was Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York, who discussed with the chief executive Representative John J. O'Connor's race for renomination.

LaGuardia said he thought it was "unquestionable" that O'Connor would be defeated by James H. Fay, who has entered the primary on a platform of adherence to the new deal. Mr. Roosevelt already has expressed vigorous opposition to O'Connor, describing him as "one of the most effective obstructionists" in the house.

The mayor said Mr. Roosevelt had "a couple of political jokes" and that O'Connor's race fell within their category.

"I served with O'Connor in congress for 10 years," LaGuardia continued, "hence my opposition." He said he would participate in the campaign against O'Connor "as a citizen of New York" rather than as a member of the American labor party.

Reports Meeting
"Green said he called on Mr. Roosevelt because he wanted to report the president's views to a 10-day meeting of the A. F. of L. executive council starting Monday in Atlantic City.

The A. F. of L. head took occasion during a talk with reporters to tell them a story which Mr. Roosevelt told him:

Republican National Committee Says Roosevelt Administration Is 'Expensive'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The republican national committee charged today that the Roosevelt administration's work relief system was the most expensive in the world.

The average cost of each relief case has "sky-rocketed," the committee said, from $15.15 a month in May, 1933, to $30.66 in 1935 and currently under the Works Progress administration to $82 a month.

The committee reported the national administration had spent over $16,000,000,000 for relief and public works in little more than five years. At the end of six years, relief and attempted "pump-priming" of business will have increased the figure to over $20,000,000,000, it said.

If to this "staggering total" is added federal loans through the reconstruction corporation, the public works administration and other agencies, the committee said, "the Roosevelt expenditures and loans have totaled at least $47,000,000,000 up to March 4, 1938."

Prospects for Congressional Housecleaning Dim--Simpson

Army Blue? Olive Drab Uniforms May Be Replaced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The army soon may march in wintertime in slate blue uniforms, instead of the familiar olive drab.

The war department announced today that woolen uniforms of the new color, described by some officers as "like faded blue denim," were under consideration.

Troops at five scattered posts will make field tests for a year, before officials decide finally whether to adopt the new shade for winter field wear by the nearly half million men in the regular army and National Guard.

The slate blue apparently would be more nearly invisible to enemy airmen, it was said, and is easier to produce uniformly in woollens. During the world war olive drab shades of wool were found to vary with virtually every order.

Though the new color was described officially as "pleasing in appearance to the eye," the opinion of those who have seen it was far from unanimous. They reported it little resembled the French army's horizon blue. Some privately described it as "terrible" and "like a prison uniform."

The present cotton khaki uniform is to be retained for summer wear.

The field test was ordered after a year's study by a general staff board. Appearance was only one factor. One former major general, Johnson Hagood, has suggested overalls would be the most practical uniform, arguing they would be comfortable and easily manufactured.

The projected change would be the first of a major nature since Spanish-American war days, when tan shades displaced the blue for field wear. The world war brought the jaunty overseas cloth hat and the steel helmet, but the olive drab and khaki were retained.

New styles to be tested included trousers for the cavalry that resemble pantaloons, bagging over conventional type canvas leggings, and a shirt opening wide at the neck.

Germany Flexes Her Military Muscles While World Watches

Problems--New And Old--Vex France, Britain

Absence of Saturday Jitters Brings Hope To Worried World

LONDON, Aug. 20 (AP)—Germany is flexing her military muscles and wooing aggrieved Hungary while the world hopefully watches British efforts to wet down Europe's tinderbox, Czechoslovakia.

New and old problems for Britain and France were popping up at both ends of the Rome-Berlin axis but there were no Saturday jitters—a recurrent ailment—in London or Paris today.

Not the least of the British-French problems were the offers, promises or even demands Reichsfuehrer Hitler may make to Hungarian regent Horthy on his state visit to Germany starting tomorrow.

Welcome Hungary
With Germany all but mobilized for vast war maneuvers, Hitler ordered a splendid welcome for the head of Hungary—a state that could be another stepping stone for the fuhrer's political-economic hopes of a march to the east.

The great democracies looked earnestly to Viscount Runciman, Britain's unofficial mediator in Czechoslovakia, to find a new key to the deadlock between the Hitler-backed Sudeten German minority and the proud, young Czechoslovak state.

There was real hope in London that next week might bring success in meeting an issue vital to the peace of Europe—a satisfaction of the autonomy demands of the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans without causing the Praha government to lose face.

Suspends Negotiation
Dispatches from Praha said Runciman suspended negotiations for the week-end, a spokesman denying reports that a "Runciman plan" was about to be presented—a plan which, as some reports had it, would cut Sudetenland up into largely self-governing cantons.

Elsewhere the paths for British Prime Minister Chamberlain's long-for European "appeasement" seemed closed, at least for the present.

The arrest and expulsion of a British passport officer assigned to Vienna on what German authorities termed proof of espionage, threw a new shadow across Anglo-German relations.

Generalissimo Franco's reply to a British plan to get foreign soldiers out of Spain—not yet published—was reported so hedged by reservations as certain to force an indefinite delay in the long overdue scheme to give the Spanish war back to the Spaniards, exclusively.

In that connection, frost was beginning to form on the incomplete Anglo-Italian friendship pact.

In Rome, British diplomats sought unsuccessfully to pin Premier Mussolini down to unproved allegations he had sent thousands of men and tons of war material to the insurgent generalissimo in violation of the spirit of the Anglo-Italian accord.

France, with her border closed against shipments of supplies to government Spain, was worried even more than Britain over these reports of reinforced Italian intervention.

Catholic Church, Gen. Franco Smooth Over Differences--Controversy Halted

ROME, Aug. 20 (AP)—Through the good offices of 77-year-old Jesuit priest, Pietro Tacchi Venturi, Premier Benito Mussolini and Pope Pius XI have again smoothed over the differences between the Catholic church and fascist party.

A new accord was reached Thursday and announced today by the fascist party. It called a halt to the renewed controversy between the church and the party over activities of the Catholic action, a lay society.

Both clerical and lay sides privately expressed hopes that this limited agreement also would have a pacifying effect on another point of difference—the new fascist race policy.

Kendrick Held For Espionage

British Agent Said To Have Been Involved In Spy Activities

BERLIN, Aug. 20 (AP)—Capt. Thomas Kendrick, the British passport officer in Vienna whose arrest stirred the British government to make diplomatic representations, was "arrested because there were proofs of his conducting espionage," it was officially announced today.

Simultaneously it was announced he had been released and requested to leave the country immediately. This afternoon, accompanied by his wife and chauffeur, Kendrick left Vienna and headed for the nearest border, that of Hungary 40 miles away.

Convicted
The German press said the British officer was convicted on his own confession of misusing official prerogatives to obtain military information. The press said Kendrick was spared "dire consequences" only because Germany desired British friendship.

The official announcement on the case was the following laconic communique, distributed by DNB, official news agency:

"The head of the passport division in the British consulate general in Vienna, Capt. Thomas Kendrick, has been arrested because there were proofs of his conducting espionage."

Leave Soon
"The British ambassador, who made inquiries into the case, has been requested to see to it that Captain Kendrick leaves the Reich's confines within the shortest time possible."

"The Reich's government, in not drawing the full consequences of this confession, merely gave proof of the earnestness of his desire to foster amicable relations with England. It would be very deplorable if this were misunderstood in England."

German foreign office spokesmen said there was no precedent for the Kendrick incident within their memory. Kendrick was arrested Wednesday night when he attempted to cross the border at Prellassing, Bavaria, en route to England with his wife for a vacation.

Serious View
On Thursday the British ambassador to Berlin, Sir Neville Henderson, inquired about the case, and on Friday the British government disclosed it had informed Berlin it took "a serious view" of the matter. Britain asked for "a full and speedy explanation" of the arrest.

Kendrick had been passport officer in Vienna for 13 years. The British consulate in Vienna denied he enjoyed diplomatic or even consular status, stating he had no consular rights and that he worked in conjunction with the consulate, but independent of it.

Kendrick's status, it was said, was analogous to that of a representative of the United States treasury department abroad.

Treasury Studies Proposal To Consolidate Federal Taxes

Purposes to Raise A More Substantial Barrier For 'Slackers'

By IRVING PERLMETER
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The treasury is studying a proposal to consolidate the federal gift and estate taxes and thus raise a more positive barrier to avoidance of the higher tax brackets.

Under the proposal to combine the gift tax and the two federal estate taxes into a single "transfer tax," all gifts, whether made during the donor's life-time or passed on as estates would be taxed the same.

Successive gifts, whether effective before death or afterward, would be lumped together to determine the tax bracket applicable to them, and thus they would come under a higher bracket than if they were taxed separately, part as gifts and part as estates.

The system of taxing a series of gifts the same as a lump gift of the same aggregate amount already is imposed by the gift tax, and the government attempts by litigation to prevent reduction of estates for tax purposes by gifts made "in anticipation of death."

Officials envision elimination of this litigation as one result that might be expected from adoption of a single "transfer tax." Another they are taking into account is the elimination of duplicate forms and procedure.

The proposal is sharing treasury attention with the previously publicized proposals for another revision of the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes, for extension of expiring excise taxes and for reduction of personal income tax exemptions.

However, all of the treasury's tax work for the next congress is still in the study stage, authorities said today. Although Assistant Secretary Roswell Magill discussed progress with the president last week, Magill said no policy decisions would be made until Secretary Henry Morgenthau returned from France and consulted Mr. Roosevelt. Morgenthau is due back Monday.

The chief obstacle to simplification of estate taxes, experts said, was the revamping of the present system of giving credits for inheritance taxes paid the states. Under the 1926 federal estate tax, these credits range from nothing to 80 per cent of the federal tax, but no credit is given on the additional estate tax imposed in 1932.

Floods Recede; Japan's Troops Mass for Attack

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21 (Sunday) (AP)—With Yangtze floodwaters slowly receding in the battle zone of Hankow, Japanese troops today were reported concentrating on the north bank for an overland thrust against the provisional Chinese capital.

The fresh troops were said by Chinese military advisers reaching Shanghai to be massing between Hwangmei and SuSung, along the Hupehannwei provincial border about 115 miles east southeast of Hankow.

Since Aug. 3, when Japanese advance units reached Hwangmei, repeated Chinese counterattacks had failed to dislodge the Japanese from these two towns won in the six-week offensive from Hofel in mid-Anhwei.

The Chinese quit their counterattacks and started digging in to defend Kwangsi, 20 miles west of Hwangmei. From Kwangsi the Japanese would be in position to carry on westward or wheel 15 miles south to attack Wusueh on the north shore of the Yangtze.

Wusueh is about 25 miles up river from Kiukiang, principal base of the Japanese Yangtze campaign, where the United States gunboat Monacaq has been on patrol duty. It helped protect foreigners when the Japanese captured Kiukiang July 25.

Abraham Sobel ... on stand in Washington

Two disillusioned young deserters from the Lincoln battalion, a brigade of Americans fighting in the Spanish government army, take the stand in Washington to tell the house committee investigating "un-American activities" that hundreds of their former comrades wanted desperately to come home but were being held "virtual prisoners."

One of the witnesses, Abraham Sobel, 23, of Boston, said the American fighters were being held by communist leaders of the government forces, spied upon by a "Russian OGPU" (secret police), threatened with machine guns at any sign of mutiny and constantly in danger of execution.

Two Accidents Are Reported

Saturday Night Traffic, Downpour Result In Two Minor Crashes

Last night's downpour combined with Saturday night traffic resulted in two minor traffic crashes, according to police report.

A picking-up truck belonging to D. W. Neber of Iowa City and a sedan driven by William Smith of Hills were involved in a front-end rear-end collision near the Curtis greenhouse on U. S. highway 218 south of Iowa City at 7:45 p.m. Both cars were slightly damaged.

Collision of cars driven by Jack Morgan of Bloomfield and Arthur Martin of Oxford at the intersection of Burlington and Clinton streets half an hour later was also reported.

Transfusions Aid Mrs. K. Krueger

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20 (AP)—Blood transfusions today strengthened the wife of Karl Krueger, internationally known symphony conductor, and physicians expressed hope she would recover from two bullet wounds inflicted in a strange "jealously" shooting on Hollywood boulevard.

Mrs. Emita Krueger, former Chicago society girl, was shot down and critically wounded late yesterday as she ran from her maid's estranged husband.

While Krueger paced a hospital corridor, clenching and unclenching the slender hands that have led some of the world's most noted orchestras, his wife slept fitfully, occasionally becoming partly conscious. Once, through lips compressed with pain, she whispered an accusation against Charles E. McDonald, 30-year-old electrician, who surrendered to police and, Detective-Lieutenant George Whaley said, confessed the shooting.

The Refugees From Germany

THAT story coming from Switzerland yesterday, telling of the closing of the French and Swiss borders to Nazi refugees, many of them Jews, had more in it than a surface reading might reveal.

It means that in Germany these days hundreds of thousands of persons are deprived of a means of making a living—people from laborers to lawyers and professional men. It means their property has been confiscated, their liberty, their life endangered.

That's serious, although, of course, it's really nothing more than has been going on in Germany for several years or than is now going on in Italy, Poland, Rumania and Hungary.

France, Great Britain, the Netherlands, New Zealand and Australia have all been niggardly in their promises of efforts to find room for more people.

Czechoslovakia has, in her own interests, to exclude Austrian refugees altogether. Switzerland's attitude was expressed in yesterday's closing of her borders.

The United States—though admittedly more "liberal" than the others—has a quota for Germans of only 27,000, and there is no hint that this is likely to be increased.

Why should this be? The refugees are, most of them, not incompetents. They are usually leaders in their fields.

It's not that they'll be an added burden. To quote a recent editorial, "Immigrants are both producers and consumers; their addition to a given population ought not to give rise to economic imbalance."

No, the problem is deeper than that. It means nations must express more than mere "horror" at what is happening in Germany. It means they must be prepared to share alike receiving victims of the injustices.

Myron C. Taylor is now working on the problem for the United States, with the other countries of the world. We wish him luck. He has a problem to solve, but it's an important one, certainly one worth serious consideration by the world's remaining democracies.

Hollywood Writes Today's Editorial: ONE OF THE MOST poignant commentaries on the world scene we can imagine came out of Hollywood Friday, ready-made. It was a scene from the "Stick and Stones" premier, the Mussolini, Hitler and Franco lampoon staged by the film colony intelligentsia.

The scene to which we refer is that in which Mussolini, Goerring, Franco and Goebbels are introduced by a radio announcer as war makers. Each has played his part—even as in real life. Hitler furnished the plot; Goerring, the uniforms; Goebbels, himself; Mussolini, his supervision, and Franco, the victims.

As they depart, a forlorn little man dashes up and begs to be allowed to speak "just one word" so the whole world may hear. The announcer doesn't like it, and he tries to put the little man down, but finally consents.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

HOLLYWOOD — You've heard about Golf Widows and Bridge Widows. Meet the Magic Widows. They abound in Hollywood. Each is the victim of circumstances. She married a man who means something definite when he says "How's tricks?"

It was Chester Morris who told me about this hapless sisterhood. He told me about it between tricks at his Beverly Hills shanty, beside the swimming pool.

It seems Chester's missus is one of the foremost sufferers. She bears up patiently, however. Probably because she knew, when she married Chester, that he was nuts about Magic. He has been ever since he was 14.

The magicians of Hollywood meet regularly. One organization—Los Magicos—includes in its select membership such movie names as Harold Lloyd, Bert Kalmar, the song-writer Max Terhune and Morris, besides a number of doctors, lawyers and professional magicians. Magic is not a vice peculiar to movie actors.

Well, the magicians have meetings and their wives go along. There is a program of magic, but it doesn't end there. The meeting place becomes a bedlam of tricks.

It must be fun for the wives. As Sue Morris said to Chet: "I don't mind watching the tricks, dear, but when you start talking about Bridge Leads and Gimmicks and Threads it drives me crazy!"

And Mildred Lloyd, Chet's suspect, is another victim. "But Harold," he says generously, "is not so annoying as I am. He goes in for mental effects—a mind-reading stunt he's been developing for three years. This is much less

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M.D.

The question of whether tuberculosis can be caught from a consumptive is not as simple as it may seem on first sight. The theories on the matter have gone through a number of changes.

A hundred years ago, when very little was known about the cause of tuberculosis, the idea was that it was not contagious at all. Then the French physician, Villemin, pointed out that if a case of consumption were brought into a hospital ward, several other cases would develop there.

When the cause of tuberculosis—the tubercle bacillus—was discovered, opportunity was afforded for more intensive study of early cases. The conclusions arrived at were that tuberculosis probably always begins in infancy or very early life.

Catches It From Adult: The child usually catches tuberculosis from an adult in the family who has an open unsuspected case of tuberculosis of the lungs. The course of the disease depends on the amount of immunity that can be developed—most often the condition gets well in childhood and leaves nothing but a scar.

Recreational Swimming: The pool in the women's gymnasium will be open the following hours for recreational swimming for all women registered for the independent study unit.

A New Yorker at Large

By George Tucker

NEW ORLEANS — Unless you are one of those unimaginative souls to whom custom means nothing you must order a Ramos gin fizz the moment you arrive in New Orleans, even before you check in to your hotel, for this—as anyone will tell you—is the Deep South's most celebrated refreshment. Like everything else down here, it has a tradition and a history.

You must do this for the same reason that you go to the French Market after midnight for coffee and sordough doughnuts, or to Galatoire's for shrimp a la creole, or to Antoine's for pompano or cafe brutot. You do these things because you can never hope to savor New Orleans unless you do.

I think if one of my friends were to visit New Orleans and come away without having a Ramos fizz I would avoid him thereafter as one bereft of his senses. I would know he was wacky, because that is one of the things you don't do when you come to New Orleans. You don't get out of town without leading against the Roosevelt bar and saying at least once, "A Ramos Sam."

Why is this? Don't ask me. Why do people throw coins into wishing wells? Why do you knock on wood, cross your fingers, and refuse to walk under ladders? It's just one of those things, like tossing your lei into the sunset when you leave Honolulu. If you don't do it, according to one school of thought, you become an untouchable and labor under a stigma till the end of your days.

Probably he didn't know it himself at the time, but back in the '80's, when Henry C. Ramos came up on night with something he thought might be pleasing to the palate and find favor among his guests, he had happened on a combination of ingredients that was to win a fortune and perpetuate his name.

It became famous and everybody in New Orleans was treating their friends to the new fizz.

"It was not uncommon," goes the story, "for travellers to visit Ramos' famous establishment as soon as they arrived in New Orleans and before they registered at hotels. The bar was the rendezvous for the best people of New Orleans and America's greatest celebrities. At one time eight governors were counted at the bar. And so famous became the original fizz that at times 33 bartenders of mixers were required to handle the customers who often stood before the bar three rows deep."

Time passed and Ramos passed on, too, but the fizz remains. It is copyrighted now, owned by his son, Carl C. Ramos, who has leased the rights to a few reputable hotels throughout the country. The Roosevelt, for instance, has exclusive rights for the state of Louisiana. There are one or two hotels in New York where it may be ordered and in Chicago and Cleveland you may have it too. But for every one sold a royalty must be paid to the son of the "master-mixologist of his time."

Science Discovers Another Treatment for Social Disease

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—

A new treatment for gonorrhea, claimed to be 100 per cent successful, was announced today by a Louisiana public health service officer.

By the simple use of a weak solution of hydrochloric acid, one of the commonest industrial chemicals, it has been possible to treat even advanced cases quickly and surely, according to Dr. Charles E. Verdier, medical director of the public health institute of New Orleans.

Writing in the Military Surgeon, Dr. Verdier said many thousand injections of hydrochloric acid, have been made into veins and muscles in the past three years, for "every conceivable type" of gonococcal infection in men, women, and children. "In no case has there been failure to achieve curative results and, moreover, there has never been an unfavorable reaction in our observation," he added.

Some physicians contend that, if additional work confirms the findings of Dr. Verdier, medicine will be given a new form of treatment rivaling sulfanilamide in its efficiency. Sulfanilamide has been found effective in treating more than half a dozen different diseases caused by gonococcus, meningococcus, and streptococcus germs.

Hydrochloric acid may prove effective in treating other diseases than gonorrhea, the New Orleans physician said, since it stimulates activity of the white blood corpuscles, the bodies chief defense mechanism against the invasion of disease.

Further experiments with the chemical may lead to a real understanding of immunity of the human body to disease, he added. "Many drugs will stimulate the production of the white blood cells, but only hydrochloric acid will reinforce the cell activity, for it has now been demonstrated that it is a component part of the white cell and here in may lie the solution to our theories of immunity."

The failure of the body to resist disease is the result of inability of its defense forces to mobilize quickly. Dr. Verdier declared, adding that it now appears that hydrochloric acid has a specific action in stimulating the white blood cells to immediate action. He reported 25 cases of "specific cures" of gonorrhea "chosen at random from several thousand" case histories in the institute's files.

Some individuals responded quickly to the treatment and others improved slowly. Dr. Verdier declared. "This does not always depend upon the type of disability, and thus may point to a new conception of theories of resistance" of the body to infection, he said.

The most striking feature of the hydrochloric acid treatment "is the quick response of the subjective symptoms in the patient combined with a feeling of general bodily stimulation which they report," he added.

"Furthermore, the method is economical and free from danger."

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist: WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Accounts drifting into Washington from out in the sticks are to the effect that American voters are becoming exceedingly conscious of the tax burden—not only the very heavy taxpayers, but the small fry, too.

Besides the federal government, the states quite generally are squeezing out every cent they can get. County and city levies likewise are increasingly oppressive.

The average citizen, however, evidently does not distinguish sharply between national and local imposts. He recognizes simply that collective taxation is high, is impressed by published figures of Uncle Sam's growing deficits, foresees a still weightier load to carry in years to come, and tends to blame the Washington administration for the whole thing.

Nor is the average citizen's feeling in the matter altogether wrong, though he may not fully comprehend why not. Statisticians prove that John Bull's taxes, as an illustration, are higher than Uncle Sam's. This is true enough. But John Bull's tax is nearly the only tax that the Briton has to pay. The local levies chalked up against him are picayunish. Having paid J. Bull, he hasn't much else to pay. The American victim, having settled with Uncle Sam, still has a multiplicity of local bills to foot.

The Briton, adding all his tax bills up together, gets off considerably more lightly than the American, after he has added up all his.

INDIRECT: But the point is: Federal taxation, except the income tax, mainly is indirect. The taxpayer does not realize that he is paying it. If he has to pay 16 cents for a 15-cent pack of cigarettes it makes him sore. He does not realize that the initial 15-cent pack represents a 6-cent governmental take-off, because that isn't conspicuous. It's disguised under a government stamp. The extra cent is what irks him.

I believe in above-board taxation. The more offensive it is the better—for the more offensive it is the likelier it is to be questioned and put to the test. It seems to be getting that way, which is all to the good.

BRITON KNOWS HIS: The Briton knows about how his taxation rate averages up, county-wide. The American has no such certainty. He can ascertain what his federal average is. But suppose he lives in a state where his local average is high. Obviously he pays at a far higher rate than an American resident of a state where local levies are relatively low. An average can be struck between the two, indeed, but it is an average at the expense of the state where local taxation is comparatively high.

It is an average which does not mean much, all around.

The League of Nations, conceived by that great Communist Woodrow Wilson... Contained in the 1932 platform of that "more or less Bolshevik party, the G. O. I like that item from the Hollywood-intelligentsia show, "Sticks and Stones"... A fat, cigar-smoking capitalist sees his du Pont stock make a million dollars profit when the secretary gasps... The stock has fallen...

On the other hand there goes the story of Hitler, Mussolini, Franklin, three-coming... "I'm the greatest man since Caesar," says Mussolini... "I'm descended from the family of Augustus..." "Now, wait a minute, Duce," interrupts Adolf... "You forget I get my power from heaven..."

"That so?" asks FDR... "I don't remember having delegated you any rights..." All of which proves the assertion's right... There are no new political laughs; just change the party to suit the administration in power...

Cleveland Wins From Chisox By 8 to 2 Score

CLEVELAND, Aug. 20 (AP)—Mel Harder held Chicago's White Sox to seven hits today and registered his 11th victory of the season for the Cleveland Indians, 8-2.
 Home runs by Ken Keltner and Jeff Heath led the Tribe's 12-hit attack on Monte Stratton.
 Each of the pitchers gave up only one walk. Stratton fanned four and Harder five.
 Seven errors—four by the White Sox—marked the game. Two of the Cleveland fumbles, coupled with doubles by Mike Kreehik and Boney Berger, gave Harder his only trouble, in the seventh.

Dizzy Dean Knocked Out Of Box in Six Innings; Bruins Make Six Errors in Losing

Gus Suhr, Al Todd Lead Pittsburghers To 5 to 2 Triumph

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates extended their National league lead to five and one-half games today by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2, while the New York Giants were bowing to the Philadelphia Phillies.
 Although the Pirates' veteran Red Lucas, their only pitcher who had gone nine innings against the Cubs this year, failed to go the route today, the league leaders drove Dizzy Dean from the mound and capitalized on six Chicago errors to keep intact their record of not losing a game in Chicago this year. The Cub errors accounted for three unearned runs.

It was Dean's first loss since his purchase by the Cubs. Although he has been credited with six victories, it was the sixth time in nine starts he has failed to go nine innings.
 The Pirates, led by Gus Suhr and Al Todd, whom Manager Harold Traylor benched earlier in the week, made eight hits off Diz and added three more off his successor, Vance Page. Suhr collected a double and two singles and Todd a triple and two singles.

Dean collared the Pirates for four innings, but a single, an error and Woody Jensen's double tied the score at 1-1 in the fifth. The Buc went to work in the sixth after Johnny Rizzo had fanned. Consecutive doubles by Arky Vaughan and Suhr and Stan Hack's fumble of Pep Young's grounder sent in one run and sent out Dean. Todd then greeted rescuer Page with a triple that scored two more runs.

Tigers Earn Sixth Consecutive Game In 6 to 4 Conquest

DETROIT, Aug. 20 (AP)—Rudy York's 26th and 27th home runs of the season paced the Detroit Tigers to their sixth consecutive victory today, a 6-4 conquest of the St. Louis Browns. The two blows scored four of the Tigers' six runs.

All the Brownie runs were scored by homers. Don Hefner hit one with Beau Bell on base, and Bell and George McQuinn each connected for the circuit with the sacks empty. McQuinn's hit marked the 30th successive game in which he has hit safely. Bill Cox started for St. Louis but was replaced by Les Tietje after he allowed three runs in the first inning and filled the bases on walks in the third. Roxy Lawson started for Detroit and got credit for the victory although Harry Eisenstat relieved him with two on base and one out in the sixth inning.

Phillies Upset Giants, 8 to 7

Oscar Vitt Tells Bob Feller How To Improve Delivery

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP)—For the first time this year, the Phillies won a ball game in the Polo Grounds today, nipping the Giants, 8-7, in a slug-fest match to drop the New Yorkers 5 1/2 games behind Pittsburgh in the National league race.
 Morrie Aronovich, the Phils' sophomore fly chaser, paced the 16-hit attack with a homer and two singles, driving four runs across. Phil Weintraub also whacked a homer for the Phils and Gil Brack collected four hits.

The Giants banged out a dozen hits, including homers by Dick Bartell and Harry Danning, but they were unable to do much with the offerings of Al Hollingsworth, who relieved Hugh Mulcahy in the sixth.

Cincinnati Reds Split With St. Louis Cards in Double Bill

Re-Play Contest Of May 14; Have Same Argument Over Hit

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds who are scrapping to get into first place and the Cardinals, just scrapping, split an exciting doubleheader today. The Reds won the opener, 4-2, and Lon Warneke pitched the Cards to a 5-4 victory in the nightcap for his 12th win of the year.

The second game was a re-play of a contest May 14th. And by strange coincidence, an argument similar to the one that necessitated the re-play developed over a hit that bounded off the edge of the pavilion roof. In the seventh inning Johnny Mize hit the projection with a line drive and the ball bounded back into the field. He was flagged at second, but umpire Dolly Stark changed his mind and waved him around, ruling it a home run. A heated argument followed. The officials changed their minds again and ordered Mize back to second.

Rookie Don Lang started in the first game for the Reds, driving in the run that broke a 1-1 tie and then slamming out a homer with one on in the ninth.

Gehrig Leads New York Yanks To Easy Victory, Drives In Six Runs With Two Hits

Lou Gehrig

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20 (AP)—Iron Hoss Lou Gehrig, who's on the up on the batting doldrums, hit a homer with the bases loaded and a two-run double today and generally was a large ball of fire as the New York Yankees walloped the Athletics 11 to 3.

The six runs he batted in made it a cinch for Monte Marcellus Pearson to chalk up his eighth win in a row and his 11th of the year. Monte gave up eight hits altogether, but four of these came in the second inning when the A's did all their scoring.

Gehrig's payoff homer came in the first inning and put the game on ice at once. Red Lof and singled and Tommy Heinrich and Joe DiMaggio walked to load the bases when the "Hoss" cleared them with his 24th four-bagger of the year.

Joe Gordon doubled, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on a fly for another run in the second. Gehrig's two-bagger produced a pair in the fourth. Frank Crosell's single sent another home in the eighth, and Joe DiMaggio's single, Bill Dickey's two-bagger and Myril Hoag's fly each pushed one across in the ninth.

What Do You Think?

By ART GOLDBERG

About Iowa's national circuit championship races:
 You State Fair-goers can look forward to a real dirt track dog fight, should you happen to be in Des Moines Friday, Aug. 26. And it's all because of this:

The fair officials are finding it monotonous paying the prize money year after year to Gus Schrader, Iowa's "flying Dutchman," and Emory Collins, Le Mars speedster. That's why they've combed the eastern speed lanes and the west coast. With entries piling in, fairmen believe they have plenty of newcomers who can outdrive the pair of vets. So they're pitting the rest of the field against Schrader and Collins.

Included in the list of strangers are Doc Shanebrook and Ben Musick, both of whom have scored over Schrader in the past. Then there's Ben Shaw, whose battered old jalopy hides a high-powered airplane motor—also conceded a chance to dethrone the champs. He should, for he sent his car to a new world's record of 55.88 seconds on the one-mile dirt track at Langhorne Speedway, near Philadelphia.

The one I should enjoy watching is Mark Light of Lebanon, Pa.—known as the outlaw race driver. He has finally consented to the governing rules of the officials, but has everyone wondering whether he'll adhere to them. And Jimmy Corrigan of Baltimore—not, as far as I know, related to Wrong Way—is a newcomer of unknown quality. He has a good name, anyway.

About Horses:

A record entry of more than 200 pacers and trotters will greet you at the fair, too. That includes many of the outstanding money winners of the east, Canada and the midwest.

Iowa's 'Fair of a Century' Expected to Set New Records

State Fair, Bigger and Better Than Ever, to Open Wednesday

Exhibits Planned To Show Complete History Of the State of Iowa

DES MOINES, Aug. 20 (AP)—The "fair of a century"—celebrating the centennial of the creation of Iowa territory—opens its gates here Wednesday.

State fair officials promised that exhibits at their 84th annual exposition would furnish a thorough review of Iowa's century of progress.

Pageant Featured

Features include a centennial pageant, "Cavalcade of Iowa"; a million-dollar display of livestock, with purses totaling $50,000; school, club, and industrial exhibits; a rodeo; horse and auto racing; band concerts; and historical displays ranging from quilts to railroad engines.

J. P. Mullen of Fonda, president of the state fair board, predicted this year's attendance would surpass the 400,000 figure.

New Record Expected

"With favorable weather, we should set a new record this year," Mullen declared.

Temporary exhibit space will be used in some departments because of the heavy entry lists, Secretary A. R. Corey said. Comparative entry totals in the beef cattle show, for example, were reported as follows: Herefords, 237, against 186 last year; Shorthorns, 285, against 193 in 1937; Aberdeen Angus, 192, against 133 last year; and milking Shorthorns, 177 against 123.

Longer List

With a new $130,000 poultry industry building ready for use for the first time this year, the poultry entry list is twice as long this year.

Nearly 2,000 head of hogs have been entered this year, compared with 1,700 last year.

Families desiring to camp out during the fair will find a 125-acre tented city awaiting them, the fair board said.

Rehearsals Tuesday

Final rehearsals for the pageant will be held Tuesday night.

The pageant, which is to set the tempo for the centennial aspect of this year's state fair, will be presented Wednesday and Thursday night in front of the grandstand.

Wednesday and Thursday also are designated officially as "preparation days," when all livestock, machinery and other exhibitions are to be placed, ready for inspection by the public at the formal opening of the fair at 8 a. m., Friday, Aug. 26.

The midway will be open afternoon and evenings, beginning Wednesday, however.

Program

The program by days: Friday, Aug. 26—Children's day; auto race day; rodeo day; 4-H club stock judging day; public school day.

Saturday, Aug. 27—Thrill day; World war veteran's day; press day; baby beef judging day; Des Moines day.

Sunday, Aug. 28—Auto race day; garden club and music day; horse show day.

Monday, Aug. 29—Farm bureau day; livestock day; horse race day.

Tuesday, Aug. 30—Old soldiers' and Spanish war veterans' day; California day.

Wednesday, Aug. 31—State day; 4-H club day; territorial centennial day.

Thursday, Sept. 1—Pioneer day; final harness race day; industrial and manufacturers' day; boys' judging contest day.

Friday, Sept. 2—Auto race day; baby beef sale day; grand finale day; carnival and whoopee night.

The musical extravaganza, "Centennial Belles," will be presented in front of the grandstand five nights, from Monday through Friday, the second week of the fair.

On Saturday, Aug. 27, Iowa Associated Press editors will hold their annual fall meeting, beginning with a business session in the morning, luncheon as guests at the fair board at noon, and an entertainment program in the afternoon and evening.

Wedding Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanysh announce the marriage of their daughter Thelma Irene of Iowa City to Arthur J. Hedges of Iowa City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Hedges of Vinton.

The ceremony took place at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Matin of Waukegan, Ill., June 1, 1937.

Both will continue their work at the university and they will be at home in the Moffitt apartments after Sept. 20.

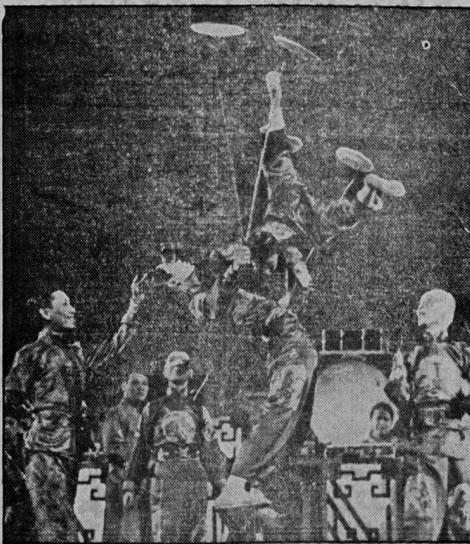

Funeral Service For Mrs. F. Boarts Will Be Held Today

Funeral service for Mrs. Frank Boarts, 64, 101 River street, who died Friday afternoon in Mercy hospital, will be this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Hohenschuh mortuary.

Mrs. Boarts died of injuries incurred in the yard of her home Friday morning when she was struck on the head by a limb as it fell from a tree.

The Rev. A. C. Proehl will officiate at the funeral service and burial will be in Oakland cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

Added Attraction

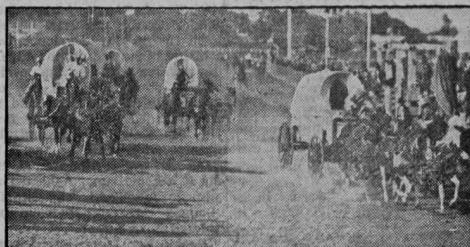

DES MOINES, Aug. 20 (Special)—In addition to the rodeo, races, fireworks and musical features announced on the entertainment program for Iowa's Centennial State Fair, opening here Aug. 26, two circus performances daily have been added to the array of centennial attractions. Some of the best known circus acts of two continents have been booked for the shows, to be presented each afternoon and evening in front of the State Fair grandstand.

Thrill Day Events

DES MOINES, Aug. 20 (Special)—Catapulting automobiles, head-on collisions, wall crashes and kindred daredevil stunts are being crowded into one afternoon's program for the annual "Thrill Day" at the Iowa Centennial State Fair here Saturday, Aug. 27, according to final plans announced today by fair officials.

Pioneer Sports

DES MOINES, Aug. 20 (Special)—Chuck wagon races, wild horse races and other contests of pioneer days in Iowa will be revived at Iowa's Territorial Centennial State Fair here Aug. 26-Sept. 2, in connection with the fair's sixth annual rodeo, officials announced this week. HOSTESS HINTS

Chop a few olives and sprinkle them over cream of corn, oyster, tomato, celery or asparagus soup. The added flavor will delight your guests.

Serve pineapple, orange or grapefruit marmalade with English muffins and tea. Be sure the muffins have been split, toasted and buttered.

To keep mashed potatoes hot, place them in a tightly covered kettle set in a pan of hot water over a low heat.

Spread baked ham, veal or pork with a mixture of half a cup each of crushed pineapple and brown sugar. Added flavor and a crusty top will result.

Pour a third of a cup of olive oil into a shallow dish. Add a garlic bud and after three or four minutes, discard it. Dip both sides of a steak into the mixture and then boil it quickly. While the steak is still hot sprinkle it with salt and pepper, dot it with butter and sprinkle it with two teaspoons of lemon juice and one teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce. Serve on a sizzling platter.

Cheese dishes require slow cooking. Otherwise the cheese will become ropey and difficult to digest. Macaroni and cheese, cheese fondues and omelets all require a moderate oven. Toasted sandwiches should be cooked only until the cheese softens.

Add one-fourth of a teaspoonful of lemon juice to each cup of heavy cream to hasten the whipping process.

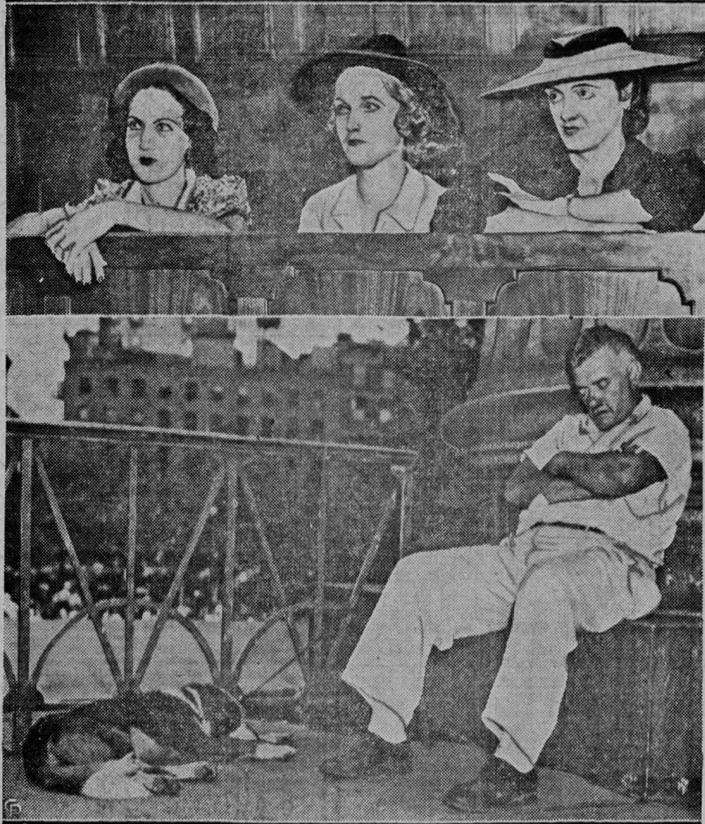

Lay several strips of waxed papers in the mold in which refrigerator desserts are placed. Let the edges of the paper extend two inches above the mold. Use the overlap as handles in lifting out the chilled dessert.

Dried celery leaves are excellent for flavoring soups, stews, and sauces. To prepare them sprinkle a thin layer of leaves in a shallow pan, heat them until they are dry, then crumble them in your fingers. Stored in a covered jar, they will keep for months.

Make fruit ice cubes for the punch bowl. Half fill the ice-cube trays in the mechanical refrigerator with water. When the cubes are partially frozen insert fresh cherries, strawberries, orange rind or lemon slices. Add bits of mint leaves for color contrast. Cover with more water and freeze.

Canape hint: Spread thin slices of bologna with cream cheese mixed with chopped pickles, olives and onions. Roll the slices up and stick a wooden pick through each. Quickly dip the rolls into the salad dressing mixed with catsup and broil them four minutes on toast squares. Serve warm.

Not Everyone's Interested in Hines' Trial

While the New York policy racket trial of James J. Hines, Tammany chieftain, draws attention and holds the interest of persons the U. S. over, and especially members of

Hines' immediate family, it seems from one of the photos above that not everyone is interested. The man and his dog, fast asleep, were snapped at the entrance to the supreme court building where Hines is on trial. The spectators are Hines' daughters-in-law, Mrs. Phillip Hines, Mrs. Eugene Hines, Mrs. James Hines Jr.

'Big Business' Methods Struggle for Supremacy In Trial of Jimmy Hines and His Rackets

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP)—Big business methods of criminals and big business methods of fighting them were in a struggle for supremacy tonight in the conspiracy trial of James J. (Jimmy) Hines of Tammany Hall.

The embattled forces were outlined clearly in the first week of testimony accusing Hines of being a political "fixer" of police and magistrates courts.

On one hand was the intricate and powerful "numbers" combine organized by the late Dutch Schultz, the gangster.

On the other was the business-like crime fighting machine developed by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of Manhattan.

Hines' future depended on how well Dewey had untangled the Schultz methods—on how right or wrong he was in naming the democratic district leader as a paid protector of the "numbers" business and how thoroughly he could support that charge.

The efficiency of the Dewey organization was evidenced even as the trial recessed for the week end. It reached across the country to Los Angeles to find a possible witness in San Quentin prison, Max Silverman, a one-time bondsman who the police say knows all about Schultz' methods of obtaining political "protection" for his underworld operations.

No comment came from the Dewey office on reports Silverman would be brought here to testify; but it was rumored the prosecution hoped he could bolster evidence already in the record purporting to show that Hines received a $500 weekly retainer for "fix" arrests of Schultz henchmen.

Whatever comes of the Silverman incident, it serves to demonstrate Dewey's scientific, business-like system. Silverman was located by a routine check of his fingerprints, within a fortnight of his arrest.

As District Attorney Dewey and the first of his 55 witnesses pictured it to the jury this week, the racket began with penny bets placed by the Negroes of Harlem. Each bettor staked his mite on a hope that he could guess a combination of numbers that would turn up in the New York clearing house totals, in the total sales on the stock exchange, or in the pari-mutuel betting boards of race tracks. The odds were 1 in 1,000 and the "take" ran into the millions.

The bettors placed their bets with "collectors"—newsboys, cigar store or small shop owners, or roving free agents—who took out 10 per cent. The "collectors" pooled their income with a "controller," who took out 5 per cent. The "controllers" forked over to a "banker" who paid off the winners and kept the profits.

There were a number of "bankers" in the business when Schultz first appeared and decided to consolidate the whole thing as part of his illicit empire. Three of them, Joseph "Spasm" Ison, Wilfrid Brunder and Alexander Pompez, all Negroes, have testified to having been "bought out" by the gangster at gunpoint. Each was promised one-third of the profits, but never got it. They had to be content with salaries ranging from $100 to $250 a week.

Schultz was collecting millions but, these bankers testified, too much of it was going out in unnecessary expense for bail and fines for "employees" arrested in raids.

To put a stop to this, Ison told the jury in Justice Ferdinand Pecora's court, Schultz ordered contributions to the political club of "Jimmy" Hines, the Tammany chieftain. In the period in 1932 and 1933 when the prosecution charges Hines was employed as Schultz' "fixer," Ison said arrests dropped 50 per cent.
