'Old Capitol' Goes on Sale

Thousands Crowd Des Moines Postoffice to Buy Centennial Stamps

DES MOINES, Aug. 24 (Special to The Daily Iowan) — The government placed 65,000,000 steel-engraved pictures of Old Capitol on sale today.

These were the new Iowa territorial centennial stamps that Senator Herring worried over so much that Iowa stamp collectors have promised to cherish.

The honors were intended for Des Moines so far as the first day sale of the stamp was concerned. No other postoffice in the country was authorized to sell them until tomorrow.

But the glory was for Iowa City, both in the prominence given to the picture of Old Capitol on specially designed envelopes mailed by collectors, and by ceremonies surrounding the first day sale.

tradition around it that Old Capitol has.

Professor Holbrook constantly referred to a mural of Old Capitol, which, by coincidence, is on the wall of the hotel ball room where the philatelists were gathered.

The professor, a combustion engineer, told things about Old Capitol that the history books have not yet recorded. These were facts about Mazzuchelli's life — as an Italian aristocrat, as an unwanted priest in French and English frontier towns, and as a student of classic culture who built a church wherever he went.

Designing Old Capitol was no task at all for Mazzuchelli, Holbrook said, for he simply drew the plans as a replica of the old town hall in Milan, Italy.

Pageant Opens Iowa's Annual Statewide Fair

DES MOINES, Aug. 24 (AP) — Aided by the break in the heat wave, Iowa's 84th State Fair came to life tonight with the presentation of the pageant, "Cavalcade of Iowa," and the shouts of the carnival barkers on the midway.

At the close of the first "Preparation day," most of the educational and commercial exhibits were completed, while the remainder lacked only the finishing touches.

In the swine pavilion, Four-H boys scrubbed and groomed about 400 head of their prize market pigs for the opening of the judging in that class tomorrow.

A thousand actors, costumed in the height of fashion of the different periods since Iowa became a territory 100 years ago, portrayed the state's advance in the pageant.

S'no Fun Practical Jokers Run Amok

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 24 (AP) — A day and night of queer goings-on had the Snows so they got the jitters every time the doorknob rang.

First Mrs. Snow received a series of telephone calls during which an unidentified juvenile voice joked with her. Then came $10 worth of flowers, four taxicabs, medicine with a $1.75 bill, a plumber, a dry cleaner and various deliverymen who said they had been summoned to the Snow residence.

At 3 a.m., a milkman deposited three quarts of milk and a pound of butter — unopened — on the Snow doorstep. Snow, a fireman, overtook him a block away and returned the produce. Two other milkmen made identical deliveries at half hour intervals.

Then, suddenly, the harassment ceased, leaving the Snows wondering.

Farmer Testifies He Offered Services As Aid in Law and Order at Newton

DES MOINES, Aug. 24 (AP) — William P. Gannon, Valeria farmer, today testified that he offered the services of himself, his son, John, and his two hired men as special deputies to aid in the contemplated "law and order" drive in the Maytag labor controversy.

Gannon, one of the leaders in Jasper county taxpayers' protest against spending tax money to provide relief for Maytag strikers, was a witness here in the National Labor Relations Board inquiry into labor practices in the Newton Maytag plant.

Earlier today, attorneys for the labor board and the company stipulated that Gannon is repurchasing his 800-acre farm from E. H. Maytag, president of the Maytag company. The company official bought the farm following foreclosure of a $50,000 first mortgage, the stipulation said, and then sold it to Gannon on a contract totaling $76,000, the approximate amount of first and second mortgages against the place. Maytag had held a $25,000 second mortgage on the property, testimony disclosed.

Gannon meanwhile has reduced the debt by $8,000 to $68,000, the stipulation stated.

The witness testified that he twice consulted Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel on the question of settling the dispute between the Maytag company and the workers. Once he conferred with Kraschel, he said, and the other time in company with James R. Rhodes, Newton publisher, E. H. Mulock, former state relief director and Des Moines insurance official, and E. D. Perry, Des Moines lawyer.

Gannon said he wanted "in some way to guarantee the boys that there would be no trouble. That anybody who wanted to, could go back to work."

Gannon said Kraschel declared he would send troops to Newton "only as a last resort."

William Green Declines CIO Offer to Unionize Latin-America

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP) — President William Green of the American Federation of Labor declined tonight to join the rival CIO in setting up a new Latin American labor organization and hinted broadly at possible extension of the CIO-A. F. of L. fight into the international arena.

Green said he had turned down an invitation from Vincent Toldano, general secretary of the conference of Mexican workers, to attend a meeting Sept. 5 in Mexico City where labor leaders from North and South America have been summoned to organize the Latin American trade union congress.

"I regard it as a meeting of extreme leftists and communists,"

Green said at a press conference.

"Because of this type of leadership," he added, "the American Federation of Labor could not subscribe to the economic and political philosophy which they proclaim, and will be sponsored and approved at the conference."

Hitler Guarantees Hungary's Borders

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP) — Chancellor Adolf Hitler tonight guaranteed the inviolability of the borders of neighboring Hungary in an exchange of toasts with his guest, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, at a magnificient state dinner.

Emphasizing the centuries of friendship and cooperation between Germany and the old Austro-Hungarian empire, Hitler said:

"This firmly founded community based on a mutually unshakable trust will be of special value to both peoples now that we as neighbors through historic events (union of Germany and Austria) have found our definite historical boundaries."

Admiral Horthy, in responding, stressed the three-cornered mutual friendship of Hungary, Italy and Germany and their common will for a "just peace."

"The wish for continuation of peaceful reconstruction which animates us and our friends is safe insurance that our people can pursue successfully the high aim of peace based on mutual good will and justice through further close collaboration, thereby serving best their own interests and those of the rest of the world," the regent said.

Chancellor Hitler, like Admiral Horthy, dealt with the three-cornered friendship of Hungary, Italy and Germany. He said he was convinced that historical German-Hungarian cooperation "not only serves the interests of our countries alone but also, in close collaboration with our befriended Italy, is a pledge of a dignified and just general peace."

Both men noted common ideals for which their nations fought "shoulder to shoulder" in the World war.

Two hundred guests attended the banquet, including Hungarian Premier Bela Imre and Foreign Minister Kolomon von Kanya and high Nazi party and German state officials.

Less than a year after he had given up the speed flying which made him famous, Commander Frank Hawks dies in a flaming plane crash near East Aurora, N. Y. J. Hazard Campbell, a stock broker, also perished in the plane crash in flames after striking telephone wires. Both men died in a hospital shortly after.

Pacifist Moves Find a Fertile Soil in Japan

Propaganda for Home Use Differs From International Rumor

TOKYO (Correspondence of the Associated Press) — Well-informed Japanese believe the war in China is nearly finished.

"The air is thick with peace," one high-ranking government official has put it.

For home consumption, however, Japanese officials make such statements as that of Lieutenant General Seishiro Itagaki, war minister, who asserted recently that Japan would continue fighting as long as Chiang Kai-Shek remained head of the Chinese government, and added: "That may be for 10 or 20 years."

The government is calling on the public to make great sacrifices, and it is believed the various campaigns for thrift and "spiritual mobilization" would come to a quick end if the man on the street thought the war were nearly over.

It was an undeclared war, and informed Japanese believe it will be an undeclared peace.

In their view there never will be formal cessation of hostilities, with a meeting of diplomats to draw up the legal documents of peace.

The war simply will peter out.

Weinberg, a henchman of Schultz, had testified he paid Hines $500 a week or more for protection, starting in the spring of 1932. The payments, he testified, took place frequently in Hines' apartment, Central Park West and 104th street.

Privately, Japanese military men say they will chase Chiang clear to the borders of Tibet, if necessary.

Privately, they are saying that "it may be possible to halt the offensive" after the capture of Hankow and a drive toward the south.

What they plan to do, however, is to carve out a chunk of China, along the coastline, then stop.

Once they stop the positions will be reversed Japan will be on the defensive, content to remain within the borders of the 400,000 square miles her army of some 600,000 has taken from China since the war started July 7, 1937, at a cost of $5,000,000 a day. China will be forced to take the offensive to dislodge them.

Japanese army men have a genuine admiration for the Chinese soldier — but not as an offensive fighter. They point out that last August, during the early days of fighting at Shanghai, fewer than 10,000 marines defended the Japanese section of the city against an estimated 100,000 Chinese regulars.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Senator Rush D. Holt charged last night his enemies were trying to "shut me up" as a federal indictment was returned accusing his brother of forging endorsements of two WPA checks.

Health Hints

By Logan Clendenning, M.D.

We may well ask "What are the factors in life which are conducive to the development of functional or nervous diseases?"

Generally speaking, diseases are either hereditary or acquired. We inherit blue eyes, brown hair, body type and weight, bald heads, big noses, and all the other physical characteristics which make people interesting. Our traits of character, however, and the stability of our nervous systems are largely a matter of contact and experience with others.

Granting this to be true, how fortunate is the child born and reared by sensible parents possessing good control of their nervous systems, and how important is the child of neurotic, hysterical or highly emotional parents.

Many children emulate their parents because knowledge is largely acquired in the early impressionable years by mimicking others. Such children are figuratively battered about between excess love and unreasonable anger; between fear and bravado; between over-solicitous attention and neglect.

Even such natural functions as eating, sleeping and elimination receive an unnatural and unwarranted attention, and the child is tremendously impressed with the importance of a lost meal, a coated tongue, a scratch on the hand, a failure to respond to a call of nature when the clock strikes nine.

Develop Nerves When Adults

Then there are other people, who, even though their adolescent years were passed under favorable circumstances, develop nervous or emotional tendencies in adult life. Many factors enter into this but they will usually fall into certain broad classifications — economic, domestic, thwarted ambition, or genetic disease.

The present economic disaster has brought to physicians thousands of men and women who previously had always been considered physically able and emotionally sound. The symptoms vary tremendously — headache, dizziness, backache, indigestion, loss of appetite and weight, weakness, insomnia, mental depression, are the common ones.

Incomparably domestic relations probably still heads the list, particularly with women. Books could be written about this subject and still not cover all the causes that are advanced as reasons why men and women fail to live together in peace and harmony. Back of it all is a fundamental reason — ignorance of the laws of physiology. Add to this selfishness, bad temper, jealousy, idleness, illness, perversions and other similar human frailties, and the picture is practically complete.

Old-timers like Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, "washed-up" leading men like Warner Baxter, found new careers in the squawking celluloid.

With the stage people and sound technicians came the voice coaches to hang out their signs of offering hope to the talkies.

And so Hollywood, upset and settled down to making talking pictures.

(Tomorrow: The Squawkies Talk)

Stage Actor Invasion

At least a thousand stage actors were imported. Ann Harding, Iris Claire, Winifred Lightner, Fanny Brice, Sophie Tucker, Spencer Tracy led the stage invasion. Pat O'Brien, James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Kay Francis, Walter Huston, Frederic March soon followed.

Real Syrup Now Used In Carbonated Drinks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Department of Agriculture scientists believe they have found a new use for strawberries. They are experimenting with fresh strawberry syrup to be used in carbonated drinks in place of synthetic flavoring.

Although fresh syrup has been made before, they have discovered for the first time a way to preserve it by adding sodium benzoate. Experimental batches keep fresh a year at room temperature. Department scientists say the syrup can be manufactured at a cost of about 39 cents a gallon.

I want to go one step further than Mr. Carroll's son who "has observed the effect of industrialization in a small town and disapproves it" ... I want to know why it is, how it came about and what can be done about it ..

I think I'll be worth more to a community — or to a nation — that way... And certainly myself (which is also important).

I'll want to be able to get more out of a newspaper than the winner of the Cubs-Giant game or the new adventures of Popeye and Blondie...

And I'll take the college graduate — not every time but eight times out of 10... (You would too, Mr. Carroll... Aren't your best friends college men? Mine are and probably will be through life... Anyway I hope so...) ..

I want to be able to decide whether "un-American" is so very different, really from "non-Aryan"... And if either is congruous with democracy...

I want, for me, to have "communism" and "nazism" and "purge" and "democracy" mean more than a name-tag in a head-line...

I want to be able to distinguish between "ingenious" and "ingenuous"... And not write "posts" for "posts," "roll" for "role," "separate" or "separate..." I think that's important...

And the fact that congressmen, governors, landowners and business magnates say "he don't" or "he doesn't" won't convince me I'm wrong — or that I'm right...

Like Jimmy I'm not a silk purse — nor yet quite a sow's ear..

Most literature rolls off my back and of science I have only the scariest knowledge... But I've taken a thorough course in physics and can now understand, and better appreciate, what's being done in the scientific world...

I have a nodding acquaintance with Shakespeare and Sinclair Lewis and St. Francis and Rabelais, and I'm glad for it...

I know I'll never be very lonely

Generally speaking, any peacock is called a peacock, whether male or female. Strictly speaking, however, only the male should be called a peacock. The female is properly called a peahen. Peafowl is the proper word to apply to the birds when speaking of them generally, without reference to sex. The young fowls are known as peacocks.

Sir Walter Scott regarded "Guy Mannering" as his best work. It was also written more rapidly than any of his other books, being completed in six weeks.

So Says the American Press

So Says the American Press

(EDITOR'S NOTE — In adhering to The Daily Iowan's policy of presenting both sides of the picture, the following editorial clipping from the New York Daily News is reprinted today. The opinions of this editorial do not necessarily represent the opinions of the editor or of The Daily Iowan but are presented to show another trend in American thought as presented by the American press.)

aside from the fact that the Canadians for generations have been good neighbors, good customers and good friends of ours.

It is too bad that things are not as serene on our southern exposure as on our northern. When we turn to have a look at—

Our Neighbor to the South—the view is anything but pleasant.

President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico, tutored, we suspect, by Leon (Stormy Petrel) Trotsky, goes on being the problem child among statesmen of the Western Hemisphere.

When Cardenas last March grabbed off all the American, British and Dutch oil properties in Mexico, he lighted a fuse which is still smoldering toward some kind of powder magazine. What kind of events may show, unless our State Department is able to pinch out the fuse by timely and decisive action.

As we get it, the situation in Mexico at present shapes up about as follows:

Mexican oil production, normally about 130,000 bbls. a day, has been cut to about 65,000, or 50 percent. Mexican oil is being laboriously exported to Germany, Italy and Japan. There never was any United States market to speak of for Mexican oil. A little Texas outfit has contracted to buy some oil from Cardenas — about 100,000 bbls., or $250,000 worth, according to rumor. Some Mexican oil is being transshipped through Louisiana to foreign countries.

Otherwise, no Mexican oil is coming into this country. Communistic Cardenas is doing his oil business thus far with Fascist Germany and Italy and imperialist Japan—while United States radicals cheer.

As for the people of Mexico, they are twirling down the vicious spiral of depression which we came to know so much about in 1929-33. Liquid capital fled Mexico in huge amounts when Cardenas grabbed the oil properties. Consequently, the peso went down, meaning real costs of living went up. Mexico's entire industrial setup, weak at best, has been badly jolted.

The worst of it is that our State Department's recent note protesting seizures of American-owned farms in Mexico has been represented by the Cardenas Government to mean that our Government is really in sympathy with Cardenas.

So the stable elements in Mexico — the people who want to keep Mexico in world trade and gradually raise average Mexican standards of living — are afraid to put the screws on Cardenas. If the screws aren't put on Cardenas, he bids fair to ruin the country he thinks he is helping.

The history of similar Mexican crises has been that a strong, unmistakable though friendly word from Washington has stopped many a Mexican President's well meant but misguided attempts to hurry up the evolution of his country. We hope such a word will be uttered in Secretary of State Hull's next note to Cardenas.

There is no thought in all this of going to war with Mexico. You don't kick a problem child's teeth down his throat and batter the little walloper's head against a brick wall. You try, patiently and firmly, to teach him a few things about getting along in a world of normal people.

But in today's world, and what with the Fascist and imperialist powers inching into Mexican Government and business circles, we do need to keep our defense forces up to scratch. For any emergencies, we need to have the strongest navy in the world — a steel wall behind which, if need be, we can expand our efficient skeleton Army into as powerful a land fighting force as there is in the world.

Sometimes you hear this cry wafted through the breeze of a semi-tropical afternoon:

"Mah mule is white, mah face is black." Ah sells mah coal two bits a sack."

This is the coal peddler, ambling through the streets beside a patient mule, carrying gunny-sacks of coal. He too is indigenous to these parts, but, like the chimney-sweep, he is fast disappearing, because natural gas has claimed most of New Orleans and the coal-peddler is on the way out.

Around the French market is an excellent place to hear old chants and cries, especially on Holly Thursday. Gumbo Zhebes (gumbo of herbs) is a famous item in Creole cuisine, and there is a legend that this dish should be prepared on Holly Thursday for good luck. This is why you hear criers chant, "Buy your seven greens for good luck."

The shrimp man, too, standing by the roadside like a character in a musical comedy, holds up a giant shrimp by its whiskers and yells:

"Lake shrimp, river shrimp mighty cheap."

Mighty fine and good to eat."

New Orleans has a whole culture of these cries, and if they disappear America will lose something that all the poets and fiction writers can never hope to bring back.

It on." And they did, but Hull named no names.

DEPARTURE KEPT SECRET

Any argument that he has done all he can in the Free State and now is at liberty to enjoy himself abroad hardly will hold water. He can be useful to the administration up to the very day of his primaries in mid-September.

As we know, a red-hot "pro" versus "anti" new deal political campaign is raging in Maryland. Welles, himself a Marylander, is quite entitled to take a hand in it, and is said to have been doing so very effectively; not conspicuously, for State Secretary Hull's chief aid is diplomatic super-discret.

Nevertheless, it is current talk that he has been highly competent worker in the new deal's behalf in his home commonwealth.

It might be assumed that he takes a holiday from his official duties just now to leave him free to devote himself to the Maryland situation. But no. He isn't vacating in Maryland. He's off for Europe instead.

And I'll take the college graduate — not every time but eight times out of 10... (You would too, Mr. Carroll... Aren't your best friends college men? Mine are and probably will be through life... Anyway I hope so...) ..

I want to be able to decide whether "un-American" is so very different, really from "non-Aryan"... And if either is congruous with democracy...

I want, for me, to have "communism" and "nazism" and "purge" and "democracy" mean more than a name-tag in a head-line...

I want to be able to distinguish between "ingenious" and "ingenuous"... And not write "posts" for "posts," "roll" for "role," "separate" or "separate..." I think that's important...

And the fact that congressmen, governors, landowners and business magnates say "he don't" or "he doesn't" won't convince me I'm wrong — or that I'm right...

It doesn't look like a spell of mighty hard work.

Moreover, why shouldn't the news of his voyage be freely broadcast? To the contrary, it was unannounced; almost hushed up.

About Augie Galan?

Who says that, while Pittsburgh is a good team, they will have their cold streaks as well as the hot ones. And so, he says, the Giants are still the team to beat in the National League. Pirate rooky number one is Pitcher Jim Tobin, according to Augie. But "There's only one Hubbell." Another of Augie's pet beliefs is that he stands a much better chance as a slugger if he continues to switch-hit.

Incidentally, this boy Galan goes in for hunting in a big way. After a goodly stretch of elk hunting in Montana this winter, he plans to return to his California home for a little triggering at the ducks.

About the kick-off dinners?

Alumni groups in some 40 counties have already projected plans for kick-off dinner rallies, and at least 40 more are expected to shape up before Sept. 19. The key dinner in Iowa City will be broadcast by five different stations. Here's cheers for the dinner promoters.

About tickets?

Our athletic department is sending out the largest mailing of football ticket application material in history this year. Wisconsin, Colgate, Purdue and Nebraska, filling Iowa's home-game schedule, should all draw good crowds, other things being equal.

About next fall?

While football is attracting all the attention this fall Iowa athletes in baseball, track, swimming and basketball will be starting preparations for the time when they themselves will move into the limelight. At least six weeks of outdoor workouts are scheduled for track and baseball men. Basketball practice starts in early October, and swimmers will do considerable out-of-water building up.

About Golf?

Jack Hall, Des Moines instructor, gave a perfect demonstration of golfing yesterday as he shot into the lead at the half-way mark of the Iowa Open tournament. He turned in a par 72 to head the parade with a 144 score for the 36 holes.

Senators Win Fourth Place, Defeat Browns

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP) — Rallying in the eighth inning to break a 6-6 tie, the Senators won fourth place in the American League today with an 8-6 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Monte Weaver held a 6-2 lead going into the eighth but the Browns tied the score in that inning.

Ken Chase relieved Weaver after a bad hole. Buddy Lewis' eleventh home run and Al Simmons' sixteenth featured the Washington attack.

Gordon Keith, Margaret Woods To Be Feted at Bridal Dinner

Bride's Parents, Dr.,
Mrs. Woods, Will Be Hosts Friday Night

Honoring their daughter, Margaret Woods, and Gordon Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Keith of Duxbury, Mass., whose wedding will be an event of Saturday afternoon, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Woods, 1100 N. Dubuque, will entertain at the bridal dinner tomorrow night.

An uncle of the bride-to-be, Dr. David J. Woods, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Clinton, S. C., who will officiate at the ceremony, will be present at the bridal dinner.

Mrs. Parke Dickey of Titusville, Pa., twin sister of Miss Woods, to be the bride's only attendant, has already arrived for the affair, as have Robert Woods, a student at McGill university in Montreal, her brother, Dr. Francis Woods, another brother, his wife and daughter, Frances Marion, who will serve as flower girl.

Other relatives of the couple who will be here for the dinner and wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woods, brother and sister-in-law of the bride-elect, Carolyn Souter of Cedar Rapids, cousin of Mrs. Andrew Woods, Mr. Keith, his parents, and his cousin, George Keith, who will be best man at the wedding.

The service will be a quiet one solemnized in the home of the bride's parents at 4 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families and a few intimate friends. After receiving congratulations there, the couple will depart on a wed-ding trip in the east.

Finale Independent Study Closes Tomorrow

The independent study period for graduate students enrolled in the University of Iowa's 1938 summer session will close tomorrow.

This special study period has been a continuation of the regular eight-week summer term and has been restricted entirely to graduate students. The regular summer session closed Aug. 5 with a record total of 435 degrees.

Between now and Sept. 16 the university will be in its only idle period of the year, excepting vacations.

Though Freshman week does not start until Sept. 19, the first of the new students will arrive a few days in advance. Sept. 22 will mark the beginning of registration, and the 1938-39 first semester classes will have their first meeting Sept. 26.

Preview for Fall Is Given

200 Invited Guests Watch Fashion Parade in Hotel Jefferson

Daily Iowan Photos and Engravings

By BETH BROWNING

Nearly 200 invited guests watched an advanced fall fashion parade as they had unceas on the mezzanine floor and in the dining room of the Hotel Jefferson yesterday afternoon. They saw the new fall fashion predictions as 14 local misses and matrons modelled creations for sport, afternoon and evening wear.

On the left above is Mrs. Paul Rayburn as she appeared yesterday afternoon, modelling a strapless evening gown, the newest thing in formals, made of royal blue, transparent velvet. This gown is fashioned with a heart shaped bustline, outlined with a soft ruffle and gardenia. The floral accent is carried into the skirt, which is very full.

In her hair Mrs. Rayburn is wearing an ornament of blue flowers and bright green leaves.

To the right is Martha Ann Isaacs ready for play, school or what-have-you, in this outfit of black velvetine. It combines several of the season's outstanding trends to make a comfortable all-around dress. It is fashioned with a dirndl skirt and in heavy black velvetine. It is still the most popular, off-colors will be very popular in early fall. Off-shades of blue, rust, green, gold and red are popular; brown is good, but black will gain in momentum as the season advances.

Smartness and practicability go hand in hand in this fall as the sweaters and skirts are matched and contrasted under tweed jackets. One of the outfits modeled was a new wine shade sweater over a teal blue skirt with a tight fitting tweed jacket combining a number of the fall colors in its weave. Flat heel shoes and hat of matching blue lend finishing touches to such a costume.

Those appearing in the display of the fall styles were Mrs. Bradley Rust, Mrs. Stephen Popoff, Mrs. William Grimm, Mrs. Huff, Mrs. Rowland, Mrs. Ruleman, Mrs. Rayburn, Marie Connell, Helen Ries, Beth Browning, Marjorie Anderson, Jayne McGovern, Martha Ann Isaacs, and Jean Liembach.

Among the predominating style trends noted in yesterday afternoon's review was the strong emphasis on color. While black is still the most popular, off-colors will be very popular in early fall. Five Old Coaches Still Operate in Paris

PARIS (AP) — Paris has only five Victoria still operating on the boulevards that once held tens of thousands.

The five coachmen, only one of whom is under 70, stand with their carriages and their horses at a stand in the Bois de Boulogne waiting for customers to come for a drive along the boulevards for "Auld Lang Syne."

They're permitted anywhere on Paris' streets, but the policemen on the large boulevards don't like to see them. Motorists stop to stare and it jams up traffic.

46 Courses In Saturday Class

Weekly Periods Draw More Than 600 Men And Women to S. U. I.

The Saturday class students, who travel miles to attend special courses at the University of Iowa between October and April, will have their choice of 46 courses in 16 departments in 1938-39.

Final plans for the project have been announced by the extension division. More than 600 men and women, most of whom hold jobs and work toward degrees in the Saturday class courses, are expected to register.

Beginning Oct. 1, the students will meet on 10 Saturdays approximately three weeks apart. Other dates are Oct. 15 and 29, Nov. 19, Dec. 10, Jan. 7 and 21, Feb. 4 and 18, and March 11.

From four to six courses are offered by numerous departments. Six music courses are listed, five in education and chemistry, and four in physical education.

Other departments giving courses include child welfare, commerce, economics, English, graphic and plastic arts, history, home economics, journalism, psychology, sociology, speech, and zoology.

Any person who has completed a year of college work or who is 21 years old is eligible to enroll. Undergraduate or graduate credit may be earned, the maximum being six semester hours.

University Gets Twelve Paintings By E. A. Wilson

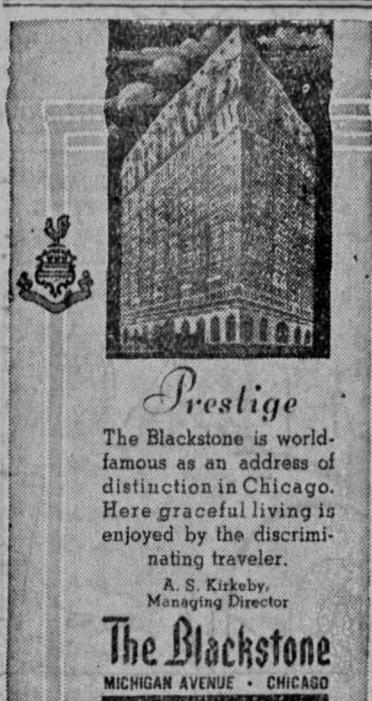

The University of Iowa's school of fine arts has received a gift of 12 original paintings depicting scenes from Shakespeare's plays as interpreted by the brush of Edward A. Wilson.

Acceptance of these paintings has been announced by President Eugene A. Gilmore. The gift was a presentation by the John Morrell company of Ottumwa.

Prof. George L. Kittridge, Shakespearean authority at Harvard university, selected the episodes for the paintings which were distributed on the Morrell company calendars.

Wilson, an American artist, is famous for his development of technique in American book illustration. Since 1921 his pictures have appeared in 19 books, the latest a three-volume edition of "Anthony Adverse" which was published by the Limited Editions club.

The paintings given the university will be displayed in Iowa Union.

With the arrival of harvest season, even the simplest of meals takes on new inspiration! Market baskets are fairly bursting with the best of summer's vegetables—and among these few have a warmer place in our affection than corn—golden bantam, country gentleman — "roasting ears" we used to call them.

A delicious new main dish, as economical as it is delicious, combines this summer favorite with golden American cheese, diced ham, green pepper and onion. It's a whole meal in itself, and is simply prepared for all its party appearance. Cooked en casserole, bubbling in its own rich cheese sauce, the ham and the corn scallop is destined to become a household favorite through the months to come.

1-2 lb. American cheese
1-3 cup of milk
1 cup of cream style corn
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper

1 tablespoon grated onion

1 cup diced spiced ham

Melt the cheese in the top of a double boiler. Gradually stir in the 1-3 cup of milk. Place the corn, pepper and onion in a casserole, cover with the diced ham, then with the cheese sauce, bake in a slow oven, (300 degrees F.), 50 minutes.

Iowa Graduate Gets Award

Dr. Richard Shope Honored for Research Studies of Influenza

Dr. Richard E. Shope, a graduate from the University of Iowa in 1924, has been presented the Alvarenga prize of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia for his intensive research studies on influenza.

Associated with the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research in Princeton, N. J., for the past 13 years, Dr. Shope has specialized on the etiology and epidemiology of influenza.

This is Dr. Shope's second major award in two years. In 1937 he received the Phillips Memorial prize given by the American College of Physicians.

The Iowa alumnus formerly lived in Des Moines.

TODAY With WSUI

Today's Highlights

Amna Laura Davidson of Cedar Rapids will present a special half-hour program this evening beginning at 7:15, opening with 15 minutes of children's poetry.

At 8:30 this evening Dick Bowlin presents the second in a series of late sports summaries, giving all the baseball scores of the day. The late summary is in addition to the early Sports Time broadcast with Bill Seller.

Refreshments will be served following the degree work, and all local and visiting Masons are urged to attend.

Third Degree To Be Given Tonight

Iowa City Lodge No. 4, A. F. and A. M. will conduct the third degree at 7:30 this evening at the Masonic temple.

Grace Van Wormer, acting librarian, said that the fiscal year's circulation was an increase of 21,372 over the previous year's mark.

When students return next month, they will have access to more than 441,396 books, the additions during the past year totalling 13,252.

The number of periodicals received also surpassed the mark of a year ago, Miss Wormer reported. This mark was 3,368 more than half of which were acquired by gift or exchange.

1937-38 Sets Mark For University In Library Circulation

More books are being circulated in the University of Iowa libraries each year, with the 1937-38 figure reaching the high point of 711,404.

Grace Van Wormer, acting librarian, said that the fiscal year's circulation was an increase of 21,372 over the previous year's mark.

When students return next month, they will have access to more than 441,396 books, the additions during the past year totalling 13,252.

other philatelic knowledge—preparation for yesterday's rush.

Advance requests for 110,000 first day covers were filled, the envelopes ready to be mailed, early Tuesday evening.

Wednesday morning collectors were waiting before the postoffice opened. A special booth was erected in the postoffice lobby to accommodate the collectors.

Sales began before 7 a.m. and continued briskly all day.

By 9 a.m. dealers were doing a thriving business with passers-by on the postoffice lawn.

At least 20 different designs were drawn for printing on the envelopes which were to become first day covers. These "cacheted envelopes" sold by dealers for 2 or 3 cents each.

After stamping and addressing his envelopes, the collector could hand them to a clerk who cancelled and returned them to him.

Stamp dealers, many of them in business only for a day, mailed thousands of covers, all carrying the picture of Old Capitol, to every section of the country.

Today—and few collectors real-cations

But ingenious stamp collectors thought they had put it over on the commission, for many covers were mailed from the Iowa City postoffice yesterday, becoming "freaks" by their premature cancellations.

Collectors bought the centen-ial stamps early yesterday and drove to Iowa City to mail them.

Most ingenious of the lot was H. S. Sarson, Dubuque pilot, who flew from Des Moines yesterday with a group of friends. They landed in Iowa City, mailed their covers here, then proceeded to both Dubuque and Burlington to make more mailings there.

Later in the day Al Burns, editor of a stamp collector's magazine, was in Iowa City to mail first day covers. The supply of Old Capitol picture post cards at least two Iowa City merchants was exhausted during the visit.

Elaborate preparations were made by the Des Moines post office for the first day sale of Iowa stamps.

From Washington, D. C. came Mrs. L. P. Shawen, secretary to the superintendent of the division of stamps, post office department; and Mrs. Elizabeth Trumbo, secretary to the third assistant postmaster general. Both women are experienced in meeting the many demands of stamp collectors when new issues appear.

They introduced the Des Moines postoffice officials into the mysteries of first day covers, a n

ches, plate number blocks and reservations early.

Quatron Defends Radio for Taking Definite Stands

"There are instances in which a radio station should take a definite stand on a public question," W. B. Quatron of radio station WMT told Lions' club members yesterday.

"Taking a stand on a question would lend weight and authority to radio," he said.

Mr. Quatron said freedom of the air and non-partisanship are two major policies of United States radio stations.

He Had Kissed for Love-- Now It Was Gratitude

Once Ronald had kissed her longingly, possessively. Now he kissed her kindly—for gratitude. Perhaps she shouldn't have noticed the difference. Yet how could she help it, Judy asked herself. It seemed so significant tonight, though it was only a gesture. She wondered. Perhaps a girl wasn't supposed to make such observations if she were
