Famous Choir to Sing Here

The world-famous Dresden boys' choir will appear in Iowa City Nov. 10, it was announced yesterday, under the combined auspices of the school of fine arts and the university concert course. One of the most famous vocal groups in the world, the choir's appearance here under the direction of Prof. Rudolph Mauersberger was the result of a chance program cancellation of an important middle western engagement.

Dresden Boys' Choir Will Give Concert

Choir of 66 Here Nov. 10

School at Dresden Has Continuous History Exceeding 700 Years

The school of fine arts of the University of Iowa and the university concert course will cooperate to present the world-famous Dresden Boys' choir in concert here at Iowa Union Nov. 10, it was announced yesterday. The choir is composed of 66 boys and young men between the ages of 10 and 19. The school which the choir represents, affiliated with the great church of the Holy Cross at Dresden, Germany, has a continuous history of more than seven centuries.

Richard was at one time a pupil at the school. Bach, Weber, Lotti and other musicians known to history and fame have known this choir and have been affectionately related to it. The members of the choir receive free tuition at the church school, and about half of them are furnished their board by the city. Of course, singing lessons are most important, but instruction is provided in the curricula of the regular schools, and in all of the favorite sports.

Under the direction of Prof. Rudolph Mauersberger, the Dresden Boys' choir will present music by Bach, Bruckner, Wagner, Paphael, Waerlant, Hasler, di Lasso, Schubert, Schumann and Brahms on the Iowa City program. A group of significant folk songs will also be featured on the program.

The cancellation of an important midwestern engagement made possible the concert at the University of Iowa. It is one of the most interesting and significant musical programs which will be heard in the middle west during the entire season.

Members of the committee in charge of the concert are Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts and Iowa Union, chairman; Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department; Prof. Erich Funke, head of the German department; Prof. Herald Stark of the school of music; Prof. Charles B. Richter, chairman of the concert course.

Bear Story Pretty Girl Artist Is Clawed by Bear

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26 (AP)—A 600-pound polar bear mauled and clawed pretty Julia Zernick, 21-year-old federal art project worker, for 20 minutes today, leaving her in critical condition from loss of blood and deep lacerations over her entire body.

While sketching the animal from the top of a wall adjoining a 10-foot fence surrounding the Brookside zoo cage, Miss Zernick lost her balance and fell screaming into the pit. With a roar the wild beast pounced on her and began to claw her body. She was rescued by quick-thinking Curley Wilson, zoo superintendent, and two attendants who came to her aid with a long, sharp-pointed pole. While Wilson held off the bear with the pole, one attendant threw a lasso around one of the girl's legs and dragged her from the cage.

Two of the girl's fellow workers, standing outside the fence, witnessed the mauling. "Judy was sitting there sketching," said one, James Kulanek, "when the bear reared up on his hind legs and made a grab at her.

"Before I could move, she screamed: 'He's got me.' " "Judy fought for a moment," he continued, "still screaming, and then became unconscious. Her clothes were all torn and the deep scratches were bleeding."

Hospital attendants said the victim was nearly scalped. They called for blood donors and said that removal of the left eye may be necessary.

British Troops Under Brig. Gen. Evetts Launch Intensive Drive Against Arab Rebels in Galilee

HAIFA, Palestine, Oct. 26 (AP)—Several thousands of Britain's best troops today began the biggest military operation in Palestine since the arrival of reinforcements with an intensive drive against Arab rebels in the districts of Acre and Galilee.

Preceded by land "minesweepers," armored cars, and wireless wagons, detachments of troops with light mountain artillery, machine guns, rifles and bombs moved into the area of 300 square miles under the command of Brig.

Fire Delays Steamer Only 10 Hours Captain Reports No Panic During Fire; Vessel Docks Friday

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—The S. S. Deutschland's victory over fire—a new saga of the sea—was told today by officers and passengers as the German liner steamed toward New York. After directing an eight and one-half hour fight to extinguish a below-deck blaze which was discovered last night while the vessel was 200 miles off Cape Race, Newfoundland, Capt. Karl Steincke set his engine room telegraph at "full speed."

at his Hudson river pier at 7 p.m. Friday, about 10 hours late. None of the 591 passengers or 392 members of the crew was injured in the desperate fight. "There was no panic," Captain Steincke told the Associated Press by radio telephone. "Everybody was very quiet at the time. There was tranquility."

The stories of passengers bore him out, although for three hours, until the flames were brought under control, the Deutschland sent out a series of SOS messages which stopped radio traffic along the seaboard and started seven vessels at full steam to her aid. Two of them, the S. S. American Traveler and the Norwegian whaler Europe, arrived at her side just as the last flame was smothered. Given the Deutschland's thanks, they went on their way.

Accuse Demos Of Being Reds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The house committee investigating un-American activities, undeterred by President Roosevelt's denunciation of its methods received testimony today that three ranking democratic candidates in the current California election campaign had communist connections.

Harper Knowles and Ray Nimmo, representing the radical research committee of the California American legion, at the close of three days' testimony, made the accusation, naming: Culbert Olson, candidate for governor, who, they said, "fraternizes with and accepts the program of the strategy committee of the communist party."

Ellis Patterson, candidate for lieutenant governor. Knowles and Nimmo charged he was a member of the communist party. And Sheridan Downey, candidate for the senate, called a "running mate of communist Upton Sinclair in 1934," when Sinclair sought the governorship.

Japanese Take Possession Of Hankow Easily

Little Resistance Is Offered by Chinese; Supplies Moved In

HANKOW, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Japanese completed occupation of the Hankow area late tonight without encountering the slightest resistance. This was done to the accomplishment of sounds no more warlike than that of a few machine-guns fired by incoming destroyers at an apparently imaginary and certainly unresponsive enemy on the Yangtze river bank opposite the city.

Sharing the honor of taking the Chinese war-time capital, the first of a long line of warcraft of all types steamed into the harbor as infantry regiments halted opposite the Japanese consulate, which was a smoldering ruin.

As successive Japanese destroyers, gunboats and mine sweepers passed, the Italian steamer Marco Polo ceremoniously dipped her colors.

Accompanying the destroyers were scores of airplanes and motor-powered flatboats which played a vital part in repeatedly successful Japanese landings on the Yangtze banks from Shanghai to Hankow—600 river miles.

By nightfall transports and supply ships had arrived in numbers. At a gateway leading into the former German concession of the civilian safety zone a Japanese infantry column halted while the Italian consul, British naval officers, and the zone organizer himself, Father Jacquinet, verbally explained the extent of the zone and obtained assurance from the Japanese commander that military action would not be planned there if no Chinese resistance materialized.

As an Italian naval guard presented arms, Father Jacquinet, the Japanese commander and zone officials marched through the streets of the former German concession.

Japs Far From Subduing Chinese SHANGHAI, Oct. 26 (AP)—With the conquest of Hankow and Canton now completing the Japanese conquest of China's great industrial and commercial centers, the Japanese still face years of struggle if they are to pacify China completely.

Japanese and foreign dispatches reported tonight the army and navy had completed occupation of Hankow and her sister cities, Wuchang and Hanyang without major Chinese resistance.

The occupation of Hankow today and the capture of Canton a week ago may be regarded as ending the major military phase of the Japanese "pacification" of China after almost 16 months of warfare.

But observers believe it would take years if the Japanese attempt to occupy and rule the tremendous areas still in Chinese hands behind their lines.

Plane Crashes On Football Field; One Dead, Another Hurt EASTON, Pa., Oct. 26 (AP)—One man was killed and another seriously injured tonight in the crash of an airplane on a football practice field at Wilson Borough, a suburb of Easton.

State Motor Policeman R. A. Wise said Herbert Freese, 27, of Freeport, Long Island, died in Easton hospital without regaining consciousness. Wise said Salvatore Marina, of New York City, was critically injured.

Czechs Accept Budapest Offer

Expect Italy, Germany To Act as Arbitrators In Territorial Dispute

BUDAPEST, Oct. 26 (AP)—Czechoslovakia tonight accepted Hungary's proposal that Italy and Germany arbitrate their territorial dispute, and it appeared probable the two totalitarian states would finally decide the new Czechoslovak-Hungarian border.

There still were secondary differences between the stands of Prague and Budapest, however, which might keep them apart. Acceptance of the principle of arbitration by Germany and Italy was contained in Czechoslovakia's latest proposals, received tonight in reply to proposals Hungary made Monday. The reply was considered as showing some progress which might form the basis for further peaceful negotiations.

A foreign office spokesman said among the still existing differences was Czechoslovakia's insistence that occupation of the pure Hungarian areas wait until Germany and Italy and possibly other arbitrators decide on the occupation procedure. The spokesman described this as "unacceptable" by Hungary.

A Czechoslovak suggestion that a Czechoslovak-Hungarian military commission be formed immediately to prepare details of the Czechoslovak evacuation of territories as well as for smooth occupation was accepted in Hungarian military circles providing occupation began with 48 hours.

The Hungarian cabinet council tomorrow will have to decide whether it accepts German-Italian arbitration, prefers further direct diplomatic parleys with the Prague government or will reject both and order the army to march in after a short ultimatum.

Western Hemisphere To Be Protected—F. R.

Government's Mystery Witness, Miss Santa De Wanger, Testifies That Spies Met Often at Her Long Island Home

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—The government's heralded "mystery woman" witness, Miss Santa De Wanger, 31, testified in federal court today that Otto Hermann Voss, 38, one of the three defendants on trial for espionage, consorted with agents of a German spy ring operating in this country. Miss de Wanger said she had been under constant guard by federal agents since the spy case broke last February—"because," she said, "I was afraid of my life." She did not disclose whether any threats had been made against her.

States warplane secrets and identified him as the "Mr. Voss" who spoke "always in German" with other alleged conspirators. Earlier a United States customs agent identified blueprint negatives, photographs and other documents which German agents nearly smuggled to Berlin aboard a German trans-Atlantic liner three years ago. One of the confiscated letters contained a startling reference to a "von Papan," which led courtroom observers to recall the name of Col. Franz von Papan, former German chancellor and one-time nazi ambassador to Austria, who was cited for espionage activities in this country when he was a pre-war military attache at Washington.

Martini Receives Outstanding Ovation as Concert Course Inaugurates 1938-39 Season

By LOREN HICKERSON Daily Iowan Campus Editor

"Soft as the south wind at twilight..." Winter Watts includes that phrase in his song, "Blue Are Her Eyes." Nino Martini sang the song last night, with many others, and no other phrase is quite so descriptive of Martini's own voice, expression, appeal to his audience, as that one.

country in motion pictures, performs as smoothly on the concert stage as the hair-spring performer in your watch. He stood last night, his right arm resting easily on the edge of the piano, smiling and singing as if he were practicing a single number that he liked very much, quite by himself.

Martini presented a concert last night of 13 numbers. When the sell-out audience finally let him go, he had raised that number to 22. Miguel Sandoval, his more than capable accompanist, presented two numbers. The audience demanded an additional two.

The concert opened with "Tu lo Sai" by Torelli, followed by the lilting "Le Violette" and "Il Mio Tesoro" from Don Giovanni. Then Mr. Sandoval, alone at the piano, carried on with "Melody" by Gluck and Trucco's "Gavotte and Musette."

And it wasn't only the receptive mood of the audience, for no finer combination of artists could be found than Martini and Sandoval. The famous Metropolitan tenor, who rose to stardom first in this

Martini returned to sing Paganini's quiet and smooth "Sageesse," followed by the brisk and rapid "Chevauchee Cosaque" by Fourdrain. It was in the final number be-

Roosevelt Endorses Murphy's Campaign for Renomination

Backing Suggests Murphy as Possible Presidential Nominee

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt's vigorous defense of Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan against charges of "treasonable" conduct in handling the 1937 sit-down strike crisis created new factors for political speculation.

AFL Telegraph Strike Fails In Texas, Kentucky

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—Postal telegraph employees in Houston, Tex., and the Louisville, Ky., district tonight openly defied a strike order of President Frank B. Powers of the A. F. L. Commercial Telegraphers' union. Powers called for suspension of work today in cities where the union had agreements with the management or an organization among employees.

The president was not content with laying those charges to "disgruntled" republicans and attacking the house committee on un-American activities headed by Representative Martin Dies, Texas democrat and a critic of many administration policies. Mr. Roosevelt's formal statement described the Murphy-Fitzgerald gubernatorial race in Michigan as "vitally important." And it associated the president directly with the procedure Murphy followed during the strike.

Employees in Jacksonville, Fla., met the strike call by withdrawing from the union and affiliating with the rival C. I. O. group, the American Communications' association. In Dallas, Tex., the workers refused to strike on the grounds they had received no orders.

"I received almost daily reports on the situation from the governor," the president's statement said. Attention of political observers also was caught by the warmth with which the president described Murphy's success in meeting the situation "without loss of a human life" as "a great achievement of a great American."

He said the union was demanding a 44 hour week in accordance with the wage-hour law which became effective Monday. The existing agreement provides for 48 hours, and the union wants a 44 hour week at the same pay.

"I received almost daily reports on the situation from the governor," the president's statement said. Attention of political observers also was caught by the warmth with which the president described Murphy's success in meeting the situation "without loss of a human life" as "a great achievement of a great American."

A description of the Michigan governor as "a profoundly religious, able and law-abiding" official also was noted. The completeness of the presidential endorsement revived speculation as to whether Murphy, in the event of his reelection, might not rate a consideration among the possible 1940 democratic presidential nominees who could find administration favor.

Throughout his democratic primary campaigning, Mr. Roosevelt spoke neither in behalf of nor against any party colleague with the fervor he put into his statement endorsing Murphy's handling of the sit-down strike crisis.

Hoover Declares U. S. Should Resume Economic Conferences

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—"That does not mean," he said, "that Americans should disassociate themselves from efforts to maintain peace in the world. We assert and we should continue to assert that the basis of international relations should not be force but must be law and free agreement. We assert that as a principle of life and civilization. We should give moral support to that principle on all occasions. But it is a vital inconsistency to seek to impose it upon the world by force."

President Raps Fascist Nations In Radio Talk

Condemns Suppression Of Liberty, Treatment Of Jewish People

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a virtually unprecedented condemnation of nations which suppress liberty, persecute Jews, and use threats of war to attain national ends, issued a warning tonight that the United States would protect the western hemisphere from interference from abroad.

Speaking by radio from the oval room of the White House in connection with the New York Herald Tribune's forum on current affairs, Mr. Roosevelt added:

"And we affirm our faith that, whatever choice of way of life a people makes, that choice must not threaten the world with the disaster of war."

"The impact of such a disaster cannot be confined. It releases a flood-tide of evil emotions fatal to civilized living. That statement applies not to the western hemisphere alone but to the whole of Europe and Asia and Africa and the islands of the seas."

U. S. Must Arm He declared that until foreign nations give the United States something more than mere verbal assurances that they desire disarmament—until disarmament discussions are actually started—this country must arm "to meet with success any application of force against us."

Without mentioning directly the recent war crisis which led to the settlement of Munich, the president declared: "It is becoming increasingly clear that peace by fear has no higher or more enduring quality than peace by the sword."

"There can be no peace if the reign of law is to be replaced by a recurrent sanctification of sheer force.

"There can be no peace if national policy adopts as a deliberate instrument the threat of war."

Raps Treatment of Jews Without mentioning the measures adopted against Jews by Germany and Italy, he said: "There can be no peace if national policy adopts as a deliberate instrument the dispersion all over the world of millions of helpless and persecuted wanderers with no place to lay their heads."

And on the subject of liberty of thought and expression, he said: "There can be no peace if humble men and women are not free to think their own thoughts, to express their own feelings, to worship God."

U. S. Wants Disarmament Deplored armaments competition which "heightens the suspicions and fears and threaten the economic prosperity" of every nation, he called for the adoption of a "good neighbor" policy under which needed political changes "shall be made peacefully."

"That means a due regard for the sanctity of treaties," he said. "It means deliberate avoidance of policies which arouse fear and distress. It means the self-restraint to refuse strident ambitions which are sure to breed insecurity and intolerance and thereby weaken the prospect of what economic and moral recovery the world so badly needs."

Pep On The Iowa Campus

THE MOST RECENT attempt to generate pep on the Iowa campus has amply shown the distinct lack of an adequate pep organization.

In the action of our political leaders is reflected every childish trick—name calling, mud-slinging, underhandedness.

We bring this topic up because of the wide interest in President Roosevelt's newest bombshell: the defense of Governor Murphy in a denunciation of the Dies committee proceedings.

So, in yesterday's news, comes a blast at Roosevelt from Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg. It may or may not be material that Mr. Vandenberg is a republican possibility for president and Mr. Murphy is a democratic hopeful.

And, in conclusion, may we cast a frown in Mr. Vandenberg's direction for his faulty thinking? As the last of six condemnations of New Deal policy, the distinguished senator says: "The official endorsement of his administration—and his Michigan proxies—by the communist party."

We believe any person or organization should not be judged by the company that it chooses. A far better measure of its character might be obtained by observing the company it chooses.

"Give a child a horn to blow," says Walter Damrosch, noted orchestra conductor, "and he'll never carry a gun." Maybe he won't—but some of the neighbors might.

With such a background, you would take 2,000 students anxious to take part in mass pep meetings, for pep meetings are great fun if you can really let yourself go.

Such a program will take hard and persistent work. Is Pi Epsilon Pi equal to that? If not, they should admit it and help to build a pep organization that could really do the job.

By Their Fruits Ye Shall Know Them

RECENTLY in Chicago a Jewish rabbi, dressed in the regalia of his faith and wearing his long grey beard, seated himself in a crowded street car which was crowded mainly with workmen.

A poor working woman, with her baby in her arms, entered the crowded car and stood waiting for a seat to be offered her. As no seat was proffered at her end of the trolley, the rabbi arose and motioned the lady to accept his place along the bench.

This act, evidently proud of his feat, glanced at the rabbi with a

smug gleam in his eye and leered. "Hey, graybeard, I'll bet you could eat me up, huh?"

Said the generous rabbi with a quiet smile, "Oh, no, my polite friend, in my faith it is forbidden." As the Good Book says, "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Really, We Can Still Be Proud Of S. U. I.

THE Iowa football situation has come in for more than its share of publicity in the last few weeks—in fact so much has been written about this phase of university life that many readers unfamiliar with the university program have come to believe that the University of Iowa depends entirely on its football team for its fame.

In part, this may be true, but it is also a fact that many events take place daily on the Iowa campus which pass almost unnoticed in the state picture and yet are just as important to the university as the football team.

We refer to the lecture by Linton Wells Tuesday night, the concert by Nino Martini last night and the Dolphin pageant tonight.

Three different types of entertainment drawing three different types of students—yet each event filling a place in the university picture.

As long as the university is able to present such events to the students and faculty, the University of Iowa will continue to serve its place in the world—even though the football team goes flop.

Random Thoughts As Election Date Approaches

WE ARE ALWAYS amused when elections approach, for in no other activity does America seem, as she has been accused, guilty of youthful mentality.

In the action of our political leaders is reflected every childish trick—name calling, mud-slinging, underhandedness.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — The biggest, loudest item among the new pictures is "Suez." The most entertaining is "Service de Luxe." For fast fun there's "Brother Rat," and for simple pleasantness there's "Listen, Darling," sappy titled but good. And then, for the surprise package, there's "Young Dr. Kildare."

"Suez" tells how Ferdinand de Lesseps (Tyronne Power) built that very important canal despite (1) an unrequited love for the Empress Eugenie; (2) all manner of political opposition; (3) the persistent wooing of a desert gambo who would have driven a lesser hero to distraction; and (4) two of the Zanuck lot's most thunderous technical triumphs, to wit, the blasting of a mountain, and a desert fornado. The production is photographically magnificent.

Tyronne Power succeeds admirably as the engineer who forces his ditch-digging dream to triumph despite the machinations of man, nature, and Zanuck's sound effects. Loretta Young is charming but necessarily negative as Eugenie, and Annabella (Just Annabella) is cute as the desert kid who can't help lovin' that man, J. Edward Bromberg, as the glutinous Egyptian prince, leads the extensive character parade, with Joseph Schildkraut in there pitching his usual tricky curves.

All in all, "Suez" is on the credit side.

To slide from the epic to the amusing, call for "Service de Luxe." Connie Bennett, assisted by Helen Broderick, offers it to all comers in her modern business enterprise, and the tangle comes when the one man, Vincent Price, is roped in on service he didn't want or bargain for. Charlie Hodge, Mischa Auer, and Joy Hughes help the laughs. Vincent Price, from the stage, makes his first movie bid rather impressively although he's a bit camera-conscious still.

"Brother Rat" takes up the case of a kay-det, secretly married against V.M.I. rules—and what's worse, about to become a father. The role is a click for Eddie Albert, an artist in projection of this dazed, inarticulate, comic-pathetic character. Jane Bryan is good as the wife, and Jane Wyman steals a few tricks as the commandant's daughter. The nominal stars are Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris, the latter so bad at times that it's embarrassing. Ronald Reagan's good though, and on the whole "Brother Rat" stacks up as fast and funny comedy—once it brings in Eddie Albert.

"Listen Darling" shows that Freddie Bartholomew, too, can grow up gracefully. He and Judy Garland kidnap Judy's mamma, Mary Astor, to keep her from marrying Mr. Drubel, Mamma, financially harassed and ready to marry anybody who'd take care of Judy and her other child, Scotty Beckett, is just as happy to be kidnapped—especially after she meets Walter Pidgeon.

Freddie is a comedy sock as a serious romance-promoter, with Pidgeon and Alan Hale as his prey. The Beckett youngster is bristly cute, and Judy sings a lot. "Listen, Darling" is so full of human stuff and brightness that it's tonic for that tired feeling.

"Young Dr. Kildare"—first of a series—sends Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Lynne Carver et al off to a flying start, Ayres as the ambitious medico scores a real acting comeback, and Harold S. Bucquet is launched splendidly as a feature director.

Whoops—He Razed The Wrong House

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Imagine the embarrassment of a contractor at suburban Eastwood who received orders to demolish a certain house—as soon as the tenant vacated it. Getting his streets mixed, he found an empty house and did a workmanlike job of wrecking it.

The house turned out to be a perfectly good dwelling, owned by a clergyman.

Curator Finds Freaks In New Mexico

CHICAGO (AP)—A cream-white lizard, a black mouse and kangaroo rats are among the live specimens Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, zoology curator of Field Museum, brought back from an expedition he headed into south central New Mexico.

The lizard or ligo protected it from being easily observed in desert sands of the Tularosa basin and the black mouse was well camouflaged in lava beds.

Queen Mary Redecorating Chapel

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Our state department naturally is not saying so out loud, but it is not much of a secret that it is pretty thoroughly disgusted with Herr Hitler's recent speech warning Britain and France (Britain in particular) to curb their respective "war parties"—or else—.

To be sure, Uncle Sam's foreign office was none too confident, any of the time, that the Anglo-Franco-German-Italian dicker at Munich promised anything more than temporary peace. Still, it was hoped that it did promise at least that much. There also were hopes that, before conditions took another turn for the worse, international negotiations might put peace upon a more or less dependably permanent basis. That there would be plenty of American opposition to a Yankee initiative in such a direction was recognized. Nevertheless, it was a policy which had its supporters, too. President Roosevelt had momentary good luck in his appeal to the old world not to go immediately to the mat over Czechoslovakia, which encouraged the theory that his influence might prove effective in the yet longer run.

But this last Hitlerian speech knocked that idea higher than a kite.

Not Altogether Illogical

Adolf's reasoning is not altogether illogical, either. His argument was that he and Benito Mussolini prefer peace, which doubtless is true, if they can get all they want without fighting for it. And, being dictators, what they dictate goes.

But Britain and France, he pointed out, being democracies, have changeable governments. Right now they have governments which seem disposed to bow to his and Benito's demands. However, they may have elections almost any day, bringing uglier British and French governments into power. He and Benito, says Adolf,

Bronze, an alloy of tin and copper, was so widely used by prehistoric man that its era is known as the "bronze age."

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Sometimes while reading in the newspapers the names of the first nighters who attended last night's premiere of a new play I think of that book which Thornton Wilder wrote, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," because this was the story of five different characters who, by the merest chance, came together on a high, suspended bridge at precisely the moment when, after enduring for centuries, it chose to fall, plunging all to their deaths.

There was another premiere last night, and so today, in a brief spray of type, set down for the benefit of those who like to follow the nocturnal galavantings of their theatrical heroes, were these names: Sinclair Lewis, Jean Muir, Sheila Barrett, Walter Huston and Brock Pemberton.

The parable ended, for the only bridge that fell was the play, which was really no bridge but a turkey, as we say on Broadway, but nevertheless the individual stories of these characters are interesting. Let's check up on them:

First comes tall, red-headed, good-natured Sinclair Lewis. He's a doctor's son, 53 years old and a stage-struck. Wrote "Babbitt." Wrote "Main Street." Wrote "Arrowsmith." A Yale man and an editor. Recently turned actor. Married twice. He's a Nobel prize winner and lives in Bronxville.

Jean Muir is a young and, according to some, talented actress who was discovered by a Warner Brothers' scout several years back and taken to Hollywood in an effort to "out-Hepburn Hepburn." She is tall and very serious, and when I knew her as an intensely ambitious but inexperienced stock actress she used to wear tweed skirts and walk in the rain like Garbo.

Sheila Barrett can be cruelly sarcastic when the mood strikes her. She is probably the best known of our singing mimes, and, for my money, the most talented. Likes to refer to members of cafe society as "co-morons," because they frequent a nightclub named El Morocco. She's a tall, gay Washington lass who made her first hit by enchanting the students at dances at the University of Virginia.

Walter Huston brought a wooden leg, which he borrowed from John Barrymore, to New York with him when he came back to town on a recent train. He uses it in his role of Peter Shuysanov in "Knickerbocker Holiday." . . . Was a great stage star long before you ever heard of him in pictures. . . . Used to play baseball and his chief claim to fame, to hear him tell it, was a heroic swat delivered at a crucial point in the late innings of a game one blistering afternoon which resulted in a home run with the bases loaded.

Brock Pemberton, a small town boy from Kansas who made good in the city, is a producer and a successful one. His current hit is that "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" thing which pokes fun at the film industry and its search for a girl to play Scarlett in "Gone With the Wind." Another celebrated winner was "Personal Appearance," and it was the sort of play in which a passe movie star, desiring solitude, remarked: "Leave me alone—I want to commute with myself."

And there they were. Promptly at 8:25 the doctor's son, the girl who was like Garbo, the Virginia belle, the homarun slugger, and the small town lad from Kansas, sat down in their respective seats in a Broadway playhouse, wondering what the evening and the other side of the curtain would hold for them.

Can't Decide If Bear Is Nuisance or Godsend

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The question of whether cows or bears are more important to Kodiak island has provided a puzzle for federal officials.

Stockmen complained that brown bears of the island were killing so many cattle they endangered the district's livestock industry. Others contended revenue from hunters who came thousands of miles for bear trophies was equally important.

Pheasant Becomes Chummy With Secretary

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Just a few hours before the hunting season opened a pheasant flew through the open door of a local elevator company and sat down to make friends with Secretary Jacob Freede.

Freede later took the bird to the Milwaukee lake front, a diminished it to remain within the county where discharging firearms is prohibited at all times, and released it.

PENSION DRIVE
NOT long ago the Townsend plan was thought to be as dead as Huey Long's share - wealth scheme. But a Washington dispatch in Sunday's Times showed that the doctor's plan or some modification of it is to be submitted to the voters in 17 states.

In Colorado an effort is being made to repeal a pension system preposterously disproportionate to the resources of the state and likely to ruin it if continued. California's $30-a-week Thursday for unemployed persons over 50 is already a household word. Generally the projects raise the payment and lower the age to 60.

In Maine and New Hampshire the republican party and its candidates are down with Townsenditis. In Massachusetts, in the hope of gobbling the 46,000 votes cast for a Townsendite aspirant for the governorship, they content themselves with asking congress to give a hearing to the plan. Both parties are tarred with the same brush. The Townsendites helped nominate a democratic senator in Florida and nominated a senator from Idaho in the democratic primary. The administration has given its blessing to Mr. Sheridan Downey, the democratic Townsendite nominee for senator in California.

Candidates are easily pressed. Nearly a fourth of the last house was in favor of a bill for a federal old-age pension of $50 a month. In the next house another demonstration for fatter old-age pensions is plainly to be expected.

By Their Fruits Ye Shall Know Them

A poor working woman, with her baby in her arms, entered the crowded car and stood waiting for a seat to be offered her. As no seat was proffered at her end of the trolley, the rabbi arose and motioned the lady to accept his place along the bench. Before the lady could push her way to the seat just vacated by the Jew, a smelly ill-clad worker crowded past the rabbi and seated himself in the seat.

HOSTESS HINTS

Here's a sweet and simple answer to an old problem of seeking easy ways to make more delicious results in our everyday diets... use honey. Honey harmonizes with any flavor with a tantalizing result. Strained honey in glass jars is obtainable at all times of the year so we can enjoy these suggestions any time. And you'll find that frostings, cakes and any other foods made with honey will retain their moisture much longer.

- Honey Spice Cake
- 3 cups sifted cake flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 1-2 teaspoon soda
- 1 1-2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1-2 teaspoon cloves
- 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 3-4 cup shortening
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 3-4 cup strained honey
- 2 egg yolks, well beaten
- 1-2 cup chopped nut meats
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3-4 cup water
- 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, soda and spices, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar, cream together until light and fluffy. Add honey gradually. Beat after each addition. Add egg yolks, nuts and vanilla. Beat well. Add flour, alternately with water, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Fold in egg whites. Bake in a paper lined greased loaf pan in moderate oven (350 F.) for 50 minutes.

- Honey Boiled Icing
- 1-3 cup strained honey
- 1-2 cup water
- 2 1-2 cups sugar
- 1-4 teaspoon salt
- 2 egg whites

Place honey, water, sugar and salt in sauce pan and cook, stirring occasionally to hard ball stage (254 degrees F.). Remove from flame and beat egg whites until stiff. Pour syrup mixture over egg whites and beat with rotary beater until thoroughly blended. Then beat with spoon until icing holds its shape. Spread on cake with swirling motion.

Try honey in these other exciting ways: Pour honey over cut grapefruit and fill in the spot where the core was removed; then broil until lightly browned. Delicious for breakfast, luncheon or as a dinner dessert. Whipped cream remains delightfully smooth and creamy if flavored and sweetened with strained honey.

'U' Libraries Buy Bookcase Books Dating From 16th, 17th Centuries Will Now Be Displayed

A display case for rare and valuable books in the medical library has recently been purchased by the university libraries. This piece of furniture, consisting of double-faced cases of counter height, has been installed between the two pillars in the medical library reading room.

Each side of the case contains five units of three adjustable shelves. The capacity of the case is approximately 750 volumes. The new equipment is fire proof and is constructed of steel with olive green finish and a bronze trim.

The top is covered with contrasting brown linoleum. The plate glass doors of the case will make many attractive displays possible.

In the present display are 25 books with publication dates between 1500 A. D. and 1600 A. D. These books are not only interesting because of their content but for their vellum bindings. All other books in the display are over 100 years old.

Thus far, six units of the case have been filled with books, many of which were contributed by the faculty of the college of medicine.

In addition to the books are the publications of the various departments of the college of medicine. These include announcements and catalogs dating as far back as 1870, when the first class was held.

State Huskers To Meet Today

Local Man Earns Right to Compete With Sectional Kings

Charles T. Stover of Iowa City, rural route 4, earned the right to compete for the state corn husking title today near Ringsted by being one of three high men in a group of 15 sectional champs who competed in the district meet Monday near Mediapolis.

Stover became Johnson county's 1938 corn husking king last Friday afternoon when he beat out a field of eight other competitors, including three former county titleholders as he husked 1,929.9 pounds of corn.

Contest sponsors, who predicted a crowd of 50,000 persons would swarm the contest farm to witness the finals Thursday, announced an added attraction would be a "nubbin derby" in which three members of the Cleveland Indians in the American league would do their stuff.

Bob Feller of Van Meter, star pitcher, will toss ears against the bangboard in competition with Rollie Hemsley, catcher, and Hal Trosky, first baseman, the sponsors continued.

Members of the Ringsted high school baseball team will have the thrill of nabbing some long ones when Trosky smacks a few of Feller's famous "strikeout balls" pitched to Hemsley.

YOU'RE WORKING YOUR WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

—And You Are in Search of Knowledge— You're one of the lucky ones . . . You're working your way through . . . It's a great opportunity, they tell you . . . Look at Horatio Alger, look at Abe Lincoln, look at John D. Rockefeller . . . Just look . . .

It can be done . . .

You start out by getting a scholarship, a polite name for a kind sort of tradition that means you needn't pay tuition or most of it . . . That's only the beginning.

Also, being human, you must eat and sleep . . . You can have a board job . . . You can work three hours a day for meals that are edible—if only slightly questionable . . . You can scrub floors or wash windows or tend babies for a room . . .

Those are the necessities of life, and there the interest ends . . . You're launched . . .

You can work 12 hours a day, the seventh included, in a local restaurant for your meals and $6 besides . . . That pays the rent and makes up for the deficit on your tuition . . . Once in a while you can buy a book . . . If you're exceptional, you may even find time to read it . . .

You must also have laundry done, buy notebooks and notebook paper, have clothes pressed and brush your teeth . . . Your shoes look better polished, and an occasional hair cut doesn't spoil your appearance . . .

Sometimes, too, you'd like simply to sit down and read a book or make use of one of the highly-touted special libraries, listen to a snatch of music or even a radio program.

There may be half an hour to spare, and you can do it . . . Probably, though, you'll go to sleep . . .

And sleep that once seemed quite the least important of life's necessities becomes one of its rarest luxuries . . . It haunts you every hour of every day, and the ever-present image of a bed is always before you . . .

Six hours sleep a night is enough, they tell you . . . The ones who sleep eight . . .

The ones who knew you in high school and thought you had such a proud promise look for your name on the lists of honor . . . They seldom find it . . . The records about Phi Beta Kappas who worked their way through are a little obscure . . .

The mortality rate is high . . . Of the more than a dozen who started with you (not one with more than half a hundred dollars in his pocket), only three still survive . . .

Of the others, one is working on a radio station, one driving a truck, a third clerking in a store and one a city manager of WPA . . . They all plan some day to come back . . . They're
