

Roosevelt, Utilities Pledge Cooperation In National Defense

Industries Will Double Yearly Expenditures

Two Billion Dollars To Be Expended In 2 Years by Utilities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Amid a display of friendliness which left the capital guessing, the Roosevelt administration and 14 large utilities announced today a far reaching program to strengthen national defense and stimulate industry by expanding private power facilities.

Utilities executives pledged themselves to place immediate orders for equipment to add some 1,330,000 horsepower to existing generating capacity. They estimated that the "first stage," alone, of the expansion program would mean an outlay of two billion dollars in the next two years.

This, they said, would double the recent annual rate of capital expenditures by the industry.

The government's share in the undertaking—the first concrete development from President Roosevelt's study of national defense needs—will be to extend aid where needed in refinancing securities through the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Whether this display of cooperation might lead to a truce in the fierce struggle which the administration and some utilities have waged in the courts, in congress and elsewhere was not stated. Questions whether the development indicated better feeling were waved aside by Floyd L. Carlisle, a utilities leader who participated in today's announcement.

To Increase Power

An administration power survey group, at work since September, stressed that the primary objective was to increase power facilities of manufacturing centers which in war time would be called on for a heavy output of munitions.

At the close of the World war, the study disclosed, munitions manufacturing at some of these was near a breakdown because of a threatened power shortage.

Of 15 key centers listed, all but Birmingham, Ala., in the south, and Chicago and St. Louis, in the west, are in northeastern states.

As spokesman for the other utilities executives, Carlisle, of the Consolidated Edison company of New York, commented that the government and private concerns "have cooperated closely and not the slightest difficulty has arisen."

Seek Vast Expansion

Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war and chairman of the administration survey group, emphasized that the new construction represented merely the first stage of a vast expansion program and expressed confidence other utilities would cooperate.

"Definite commitments" were made by the utilities men present today to place immediate orders for turbo-generators, boilers and auxiliary equipment to provide 1,000,000 kilowatts of generating capacity.

Carlisle estimated this would involve an immediate expenditure of $117,000,000, followed later by some $240,000,000 for sub-stations, transmission lines and other facilities. Other experts figured that 1,000,000 kilowatts was approximately one and one third million horsepower.

This, they said, was equivalent to the generating capacity of any two or three midwestern or southeastern cities, and compared with New York City's total capacity of about 2,900,000 horsepower.

Alleged Shipment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The state department announced tonight that G-men are investigating an alleged forgery of documents under which 40 airplanes were shipped to Loyalist Spain.

The airplanes were assembled in Canada, with American engines and parts.

The documents purported to show, the state department said, that planes were destined for Turkey.

The state department said the Canadian government is also investigating the case.

Daladier Stops Meeting As Fire Sweeps Marseille

MARSEILLE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Premier Eduard Daladier drove ahead today before the radical-socialist convention to rebuild France politically and economically and warned parliament he would appeal to the nation in new elections should it refuse to back up his reforms.

Then, as a great fire raged through the heart of Marseille, causing four deaths and destroying several large buildings, including the hotel where he stayed, he suspended the convention until tomorrow to take charge of firefighters.

The fire started shortly after noon and continued to spread in the evening. The Noailles hotel and the Nouvelles Galeries de Paris department store were destroyed.

Shortly after 6 p.m. (12 noon C.S.T.) the authorities announced four persons were dead, including a shopgirl killed in plunging from the fourth floor of a department store, and more than 20 were injured.

Special trainloads of fire-fighters were rushed into Marseille from surrounding regions as the blaze continued unchecked during the night with high south winds fanning it.

Pears were expressed for 10 other persons when they failed to report after the department store where they were employed was destroyed.

Heavy cordons of guards were thrown about the burned area when looting broke out. It was believed the conflagration started across the street from Noailles hotel and spread quickly because of the high south wind.

As the premier earlier hammered home his program to the party congress, authorized sources in Paris said negotiations were underway with Nazi Germany aimed first at a mutual declaration renouncing war.

F. D. R. Talks With Richberg On Labor Act

Former NRA Chief Suggests Revamping For More Security

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt heard from Donald R. Richberg today that the Wagner labor act should be revamped to end "industrial warfare."

The former NRA administrator and one-time attorney for railway unions was a luncheon guest at the White House. He said afterward that he discussed operation of the labor law with the chief executive and had suggested that it should give "security and certainty" to industrial management.

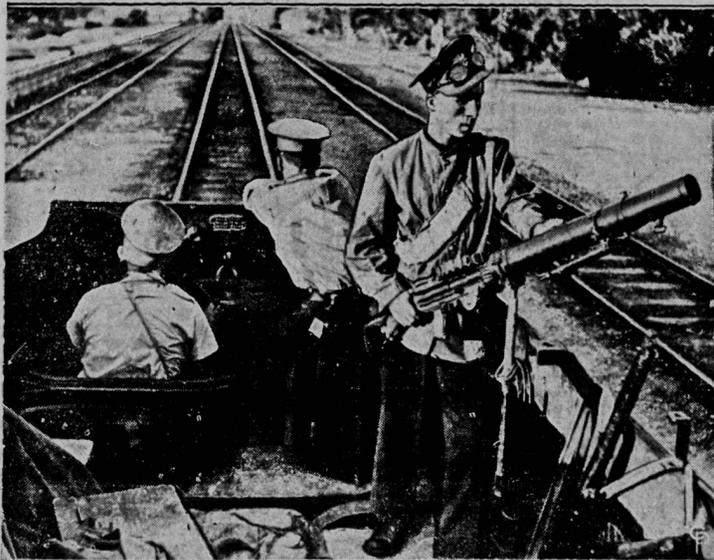

"I am very sympathetic with the Wagner act," Richberg declared, "but I think it should be revised so as to bring in more mediation and cooperation. We can't have any permanent improvement unless we can get the machinery to iron out industrial conflicts without continual warfare."

He said the railway labor act, which provides a means of mediating rail labor disputes and requires deadlocked disputants to maintain existing conditions for 60 days after the president appoints a board to determine the facts, seemed the ideal way to end industrial strife.

Mr. Roosevelt had disclosed at his press conference earlier today that the board he appointed under this act on Sept. 27, in an effort to avert a threatened strike of approximately 1,000,000 rail workers against a proposed 15 per cent wage reduction, would file its report with him at 11:30 p.m. (CST) tomorrow.

There have been numerous suggestions recently for revision of the Wagner act, which guarantees the right of workers in interstate commerce to organize and bargain collectively with their employers. Many industrial spokesmen have contended the statute was one-sided, in favor of labor. Mr. Roosevelt has said he would call a conference of business, labor and government representatives to study possible changes.

Japanese Protest That France Is Shipping Arms to China; Demand Immediate Cessation

TOKYO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Japan protested today to France against alleged shipment of arms to China and warned of possible consequences unless the traffic was prohibited immediately.

(In Paris, the foreign office denied there was any such traffic and expressed surprise Japan should protest again after representations early in the year in which she "was unable to substantiate her charges.")

A foreign office spokesman at the same time said the government would reply soon to the United States note of Oct. 6, insisting upon maintaining the open door in China. The newspaper Asahi predicted that the government would attempt "to induce the United States government correctly to recognize the new far-eastern situation" which, it said, had modified the nine-power pact.

The foreign office spokesman agreed the nine-power pact "must be modified" and admitted there likely would be many changes affecting foreign settlements and concessions and previous foreign privileges.

(Under the nine-power pact of Feb. 6, 1922, the United States, Belgium, the British empire, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Portugal agreed, among other things, to use their influence for establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations in China.)

(They also agreed to refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of foreigners.)

A foreign office statement issued after Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye conferred with French Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry disclosed the warning to France.

It said Yotaro Sugimura, Japanese ambassador to Paris, had delivered a protest against the alleged arms traffic with a request it be halted immediately, otherwise "Japan might be compelled to defend itself by such measures as she deems necessary."

Funds Lacking; Schools Close

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 28 (AP)—A money shortage forced closing of the Dayton city schools today for an indefinite period, while a delegation of officials and businessmen urged Gov. Martin L. Davey in Columbus to summon the legislature to provide finances.

Thirty-four thousand students and 1,300 teachers and employees left the schools today, possibly not to return until after Jan. 1.

"No comment until after the (Nov. 8) election," said Gov. Davey of the special session request. "This is chiefly a local problem due to the fact that Dayton is the only large city in Ohio that has not levied additional taxes for its schools."

Dr. David Sutton, finance director of the state department of education, said the legislature might provide temporary relief to hard pressed school systems by extending present taxes and appropriations from which the state school foundation derives revenue.

Gillette Attacked By Dickinson In Political Speech

DES MOINES, Oct. 28 (AP)—Iowa's political campaign moved to new fronts tonight as its last fevered 10 days began.

In a speech prepared for delivery at Charles City, L. J. Dickinson, former senator and republican aspirant for that post, declared "I was down in Washington battling for the farm cause while Mr. Gillette (Sen. Guy M. Gillette, democratic candidate) was here in Iowa taking it easy and now Mr. Gillette sneers at me and my associates."

"Picturing himself as a great friend of the farmer, Mr. Gillette delights in sneering at the work that was done in behalf of agriculture prior to 1933," Dickinson said.

The Iowa committee of the communist party meanwhile issued a statement declaring "the accusation made by Mr. Short, farmer-labor candidate for governor, that Governor Kraschel is using communists to aid him in his campaign for reelection is a deliberate falsehood."

"As a matter of fact," the statement, signed by M. R. Carson, state secretary of the communist party, said, "the communist party of Iowa has been an outstanding critic of the governor for its vacillating and half-heartedly support to the new deal and the laboring people of Iowa."

Italy Sends 20,000 to Libya For Largest Mass Migration

Families of Peasant Colonists to Settle On African Farms

GENOA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Twelve thousand three hundred and seventy men, women and children took their quarters tonight on nine vessels to sail at noon tomorrow for Libya in one of the largest mass migrations for colonization in modern times.

In all, about 20,000 will sail from Genoa, Naples and Syracuse.

The Genoa number had been increased since the colonists left their homes. Two of the more than 60 expectant mothers bore children while trains were bringing them from inland villages of northern Italy.

Genoa furnished a festive reception and farewell today for the emigrant peasant families. Tonight they were getting acquainted with their shipboard accommodations and with each other. They will be neighbors on homesteads along the coastal reaches of the north African colony which has been decreed an integral part of Italy.

Each family already had its homestead allotted and each colonist wore a card and a bit of ribbon indicating his destination and the name of the village from which he had come.

The homesteads consist of 30 to 123 acres, depending on the condition of the soil, a three-room dwelling and a well.

Wet Retreat! Rain Increases Misery Of Chinese

HANKOW, Oct. 28 (AP)—Steady rain today dampened down scattered fires throughout Hankow, but increased the misery of Chinese refugees. The fires had been burning since the Chinese retreat.

Thousands of the refugees could find no shelter except the eaves of foreign-owned buildings in the former foreign concessions. An estimated 100,000 persons were still huddled in these sections three days after Japanese capture of Hankow.

Despite the rain, international refugee committee workers toured the streets in trucks, distributing hot rice gruel to all who had no food of their own.

Transfer of the safety zone to specially marked districts in the old native quarters to be policed by the Japanese was announced officially, but the rain and preliminary details delayed removal of the refugees.

The Japanese today completed assumption of police authority over the former German and Russian concessions and tomorrow morning, with an exchange of salutes between a British naval force and Japanese military police, the Japanese will assume the responsibility of policing the former British concession.

Commuter Air Service Close Even When Presented To Illustrators

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Borrowing a development in aeronautical progress from Germany, America probably will inaugurate aerial commuter service from the centers of big cities to the suburbs in the next decade, a leading engineer said today.

Speaking at the first rotating wing conference ever held in this country or abroad, Haviland H. Platt of New York said the Pocke helicopter—a flying machine which rises and descends vertically in complete safety—will open up uses for aircraft heretofore impossible.

Liner Deutschland, Wrecked By Fire at Sea

While rescue ships fought through a wild gale off the Newfoundland coast to her side, the 21,000-ton liner Deutschland (above) of the Hamburg-American Line, brought a raging fire in her hold under control, and proceeded unassisted to New York. The crew numbered 369, the passenger list 591.

Chiang Kai-Shek Still Confident Of Ultimate Chinese Victory

Polish Jews To Be Sent Home

Germany's Action Precipitated By New Polish Law

BERLIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Germany acted swiftly today to return several thousand male Polish Jews to their homeland before the tightening of Polish citizenship laws might block their reentry.

In Warsaw an informed source said that "in all probability" the German action would be held up and that it apparently had resulted from "a misunderstanding" of Poland's new citizenship law requiring revalidation of Polish passports held abroad.

In Berlin alone several hundred Polish Jews were rounded up in the early morning. From Vienna, Cologne, Braunschweig and other cities came reports of new measures against Jews.

Authoritative sources said several thousand men were taken to the Polish border today and others were expected to be moved within the next few days. Women relatives said they were not told whether they would be able to follow their kin.

Jews with Polish citizenship have been a constant snag in the anti-Semitic movement in Germany since ordinary measures failed to reach them as completely as German Jews.

The government estimates that 150,000 Poles are living in Germany, but only a fraction of these are Jews.

A new Polish law effective Sunday provides that Poles living abroad must have their passports certified by consular offices or lose their right to re-enter Poland. The measure was interpreted in Polish Jewish circles as an attempt to deprive Polish Jews abroad of their passports.

The German government was represented in informed quarters as fearful that many Poles would not receive a revalidation stamp by tomorrow and would become public charges.

Weeping women and children, who saw their husbands, sons and fathers seized by Berlin police in the early morning hours, milled excitedly outside the police barracks where the men were held during the day.

The women carried battered suitcases, blankets, food and cigarettes for the men. They were not permitted to see the men or say goodbye and were not told the plans for their evacuation.

In Vienna police were assisted by S. S. (black shirted) guards in a systematic search of the Jewish section. The number of Polish Jews taken into custody was not known but it was estimated to exceed 2,000.

About 500 of those arrested were Hungarian and Rumanian Jews and they later were released.

PIGS IS PIGS!

Even When Presented To Illustrators

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—A pig, a donkey and a goat were awarded to three of the nation's best-known artists and illustrators tonight after a strenuous election held by 100 pretty models.

The girls decided to let their bosses know how they stood so they elected Peter Arno the best dressed and presented him the donkey. Bradshaw Crandall, named the most beautiful, won the goat and Arthur William Brown, chosen most popular, received the pig.

FIRE AT SEA! Crew of Deutschland Save Vessel

By J. NORMAN LODGE
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Fire at sea, the bane of all seafaring men, caused no undue alarm among the crew members of the German liner Deutschland, and many of the 591 passengers learned of the fire only after it was extinguished, Captain Karl Steincke, master of the ship, said tonight as the liner docked.

Steincke said he "had not the remotest idea" what caused the fire, and sabotage was not even suggested.

The skipper, who displays a sheaf of testimonials from passengers, gave a vivid description of what happened Tuesday night off the coast of Newfoundland.

Because of the absence of passenger liners in the immediate vicinity, Steincke said, he deemed it necessary to sound an S O S call for freighters which might be nearer.

This, the skipper said, was a final resort and, although he realized it would cause alarm among friends and acquaintances of the passengers and crew, he believed the safety of his charges was paramount.

"It was shortly after 6:15 p.m. (CST), Tuesday," the captain said, "when I was advised of fire in the No. 2 hold forward. I immediately investigated and ordered an alarm sounded in the cabin class. My gallant crew availed themselves of axes, hose and other means of fighting fire. I could not, at that time, tell how big or how intense the fire was.

"Steam was blown into the hold, but when the heat neared the fire doors, smoke rose rapidly and I ordered holes cut in the bulkheads and carbon dioxide was forced into the hold.

"In the meantime we tried, but found it impossible, to speak to passenger liners for assistance. Only the Manhattan answered and it was 250 miles away, 12 hours steaming, so its help was out of the question.

"So it was with a heavy heart that I decided to call freighters in the neighborhood whose stations were not occupied. I had the S O S repeated until the automatic alarms on such freighters as were within call were set into action.

Witness Denies Knowledge Of Spy Plots

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Characterized by Federal Judge John C. Knox as a "hostile witness," Mrs. Kate Moog Busch, silken-voiced government witness, testified in federal court today that she did not know a match packet sent her from Germany contained the key to a secret spy code, and that she "wasn't interested in spies" when she dined, wine and danced with high espionage officials of the German war ministry.

With a vagueness of memory that drew repeated admonitions from Judge Knox, the witness finally recalled that one of her escorts on a gay whirl through Berlin night life last year told her he "got information from someone in Washington, D. C." on United States naval ships under construction.

She said her escort was Capt. Lieut. Erich Pfeiffer, a German intelligence officer, who was indicted with 17 others for espionage in this country.

Mrs. Busch—or Miss Moog, as she preferred to call herself after her divorce decree became final today—said she did not know the name of the "someone" in the national capital who was transmitting American defense secrets to the third Reich.

Hope to Lure Japanese Into Western China

Resistance of China Backed by 'Spirit of National Solidarity'

SHANGHAI, Oct. 28 (AP)—From somewhere in the vast interior of China, beyond the lines of Japanese encroachment, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today proclaimed continued Chinese resistance and expressed hope of "luring" the enemy into western China.

The Generalissimo's message, coming from unidentified headquarters, was addressed to the national people's political assembly in session at Chungking, provisional Chinese capital now that Hankow is Japanese-occupied.

It reiterated Chiang's confidence in ultimate Chinese victory; said China was prepared for the reverses that have come in the nearly 18 months of war and asserted Chinese resistance was "becoming increasingly difficult for the invaders to overcome."

Chinese reports of the message said the Generalissimo referred to the military situation thus:

"Superficially the Japanese appear to have occupied a large portion of China, but in reality the situation is favorable to Chinese plans for prolonged resistance.

"We inflicted heavy losses on the enemy in the Yangtze valley. In desperation they invaded south China, attempting to interrupt our munitions and hoping for a quick decision in the war.

"But we were prepared for this. For years we concentrated on development of west China where bases for operations are established and where we will prolong resistance until victory is ours.

"We hope to lure the enemy further inland. The farther they come the sooner victory will be ours."

The message said "the spirit of national solidarity" was increasingly evident and "this spirit is the foundation of our resistance. We are prepared to make greater sacrifices. China's ultimate victory is approaching. Our plans to overcome the enemy will be fully achieved."

Japanese forces in the Hankow area were engaged in mop-up operations while advanced detachments speared deeper into Hupeh province.

The army spokesman said Anlu, about 100 miles northwest of Hankow, was captured. Troops 50 miles south of Hankow captured Stenning, gaining position for an advance along the Canton-Hankow railway to Yochow, 110 miles southwest of Hankow.

The Stenning victory was reported to have trapped large numbers of disorganized Chinese in a large swampy area between Stenning and Hankow.

A naval spokesman said Japanese warships were continuing upstream from Hankow toward Yochow, principal city of northeastern Hunan province.

The Japanese announced their planes bombed Yingtak and other stations along the southern extreme of the Canton-Hankow railway to make way for infantry assaults. Yingtak is about 65 miles north and slightly west of Canton and is more than 500 miles south of Hankow. (At Hongkong, Chinese reported that a general counteroffensive was developing against the Japanese northeast of Canton with the Chinese attacking near Tsungfa and Lungmoon, respectively 40 and 80 miles from the metropolis.)

Naval forces supporting the south China invasion, now based on captured Canton, were reported clearing mines and obstructions from the Pearl river to the south. Japanese planes were said to have discovered and bombed eight Chinese torpedo boats.

Pep And MEN'S WEEK

WE HATE to keep harping about pep. Maybe it isn't that important. Maybe it is.

We do know that last year, when campus enthusiasm was at a record low ebb, Pi Epsilon Pi was served with an ultimatum either to deliver or stop pretending. The group admitted it hadn't been functioning but promised a "new deal in school spirit" — a reorganization and bigger and better pep meetings for the campus.

That was fine in the beginning, but the spirit soon lapsed. This year, particularly after the Homecoming pep meeting, we had hopes for the future. There was a well-planned program. It was a good start, and we felt the pep organization would recognize that the crowd's lack of interest was due to ignorance, not knowing the yells and songs. But nothing was done. Before the next home game there was no pep meeting at all.

NOW comes the latest move of the pep fraternity. MEN'S WEEK (the capitals are not ours) has been initiated. And, now that we've all had a glimpse of the proceedings, the idea has been condemned by students, faculty and townspeople alike, condemned as rowdy, disgusting and vulgar, condemned as a minority demonstration by a few men.

It has done nothing to foster pep on the Iowa campus or to increase the enthusiasm and backing for the team, its alleged purpose.

We believe in pep. We believe "school spirit", so-called, has an important place here and thus needs to be organized on a permanent and representative basis. Therefore, it should be an honor to be on the pep committee, just as it is an honor to be on the Union Board or a member of any other elective group. Pi Epsilon Pi is not organized on this basis and therefore does not always have the most capable men on the campus in its membership.

If the local pep famine is to be abolished, a pep board might be established. It could be composed of from six to 10 officers, these to be filled by a vote of the student body. Democracy is well in all governments, even those of universities.

The duties of such a board could consist primarily of organizing and planning pep meetings, send-offs and welcomes for our athletic teams. But more than that it would be this board's responsibility to see that students on the campus, particularly those in organized houses, know the school songs and yells. Also it would foster a movement to get student attendance at football games.

The job's a big one. It's one for big men and women. If we are to put pep on a solid foundation here, it must be done sensibly, intelligently, permanently. It's a problem for the present. We need it NOW.

An Open Letter To Merle Miller: You have been to Rome, Mr. Miller. Tell me, is there any basis for that old saying, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do?" Or is it an old saw, worn out, no longer applicable?

There is honor for your stubborn resistance to Men's Week, but there is also indignity. It is seemingly the better part of valor to be untidy, crude, immature — yet you do otherwise. Your sad experience of Friday morning should point a moral.

In all other phases of animal life I think you will adhere to one principle. I think that you will always meet brute strength with intelligence; it is in this ability we pride ourselves, you know.

Should you, on occasion, find yourself faced with a shark in a contest for your life . . . would you not be happier if you could cut swim as well as he? In his own element that shark would leave you at his mercy. With no matter what amount of courage and skill you fought him, the chances are strong that he would win. In such a situation your courage and skill are of little worth to you; your life is gone.

There is a chance that during your lifetime you have made an unwelcome acquaintance with a skunk. Though you were as fleet as an Wisconsin fullback, as quick as an Eastern invasion, what could you hope for if you came too close?

Be reasonable. Find a curb to sit on; mull this over in your mind. If one is out of his element, he cannot hope for victory, nor when an opponent employs a weapon, against which there is no defense.

You were in exactly this predicament. The henchmen of Adonis move far above your lowly plane. They breathe in a regal atmosphere of sweetness and light. How can you, Mr. Miller, pretend any appetite for such ambrosial sweet-meats. Come, don't be stubborn. Take off your tie in deference to their wish, for certainly some glorious impulse, has prompted this movement — this RETURN TO THE SIMIAN.

And be warned! If you do not comply, they have at their disposal weapons barred to the average citizen. Not that we are unfamiliar with these tools of warfare, no . . . no, it is rather a case of our having forgotten how to use them. Loss of dexterity, I should say. Barred from the practical world, as we are, here in the cultural atmosphere of a university campus, it is not surprising we have lost the art of bludgeons and pikes.

But these setaceous godlings, these hispid examples of genius, have retained that knowledge. And to good effect, too. With what facility they brow-beat a supine majority. See how many proudly wear the crest of lip rouge!

Snap out of it, Merle!

These men are to be avoided, as you would avoid the shark or the civet cat. And if you will not be warned, at least stay out of the coliseum. A brave intellectual radical is but entertainment to the cheering Romans.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

DOES WAGE LAW CUT JOBS? ONE of the first visible effects of the new wage and hour law in the United States is a small wave of factory shut-downs turning some thousands of persons at least temporarily out of work.

We say temporarily because there is a question as to just how genuine some of these shut-downs are. Even last week Elmer F. Andrews, the administrator, commented in connection with such reports that "these suspensions of operations seem to have been timed in an effort to bring the law into disrepute," that in some cases inventories had been built up beforehand, or there would have been seasonal closings anyway, or certain employers were miffed at not being allowed to get around the law by technicalities.

Nevertheless there is enough smoke to indicate that the operation of the act calls for continuing study and observation. Congress declared it to be the policy of the act to improve labor conditions "without substantially curtailing employment or earning power" and instructed the advisory boards to observe this proviso in recommending standards. It would be an incongruity if the flat, nation-wide standards established by Congress itself should prove to have this effect.

There is apparently more likelihood at the outset that trouble will result from the hours limitations than from the wage requirements. Certainly 25 cents an hour is not an exorbitant minimum. But a reduction to 44 hours a week is a marked change in many manufacturing industries. New rulings by the administrator or revisions by congress may be required to prevent injustice to employers and damage to industry if the law also operates to raise wages already above the minimum, as it appears to do in some cases.

The subject is not one which congress can consider closed. It cannot say, "Well, we have passed the law and that's that." This kind of regulation will require constant observation and adjustment of details. This is one difficulty about writing fixed and frozen standards into the act instead of leaving them to be determined and revised from time to time by boards designed for the purpose.

OUR FAMILY SKELETON

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Criticism: under the blue tiled arches of the romantic Della Robbia room in the Vanderbilt hotel a young girl was dancing. She was, well, just a girl, dancing as perhaps 50 others were dancing, very much taken with the music and her tall young man.

Why I noticed her I am unable to say, because she was no prettier than a dozen others, and I doubt that she danced better. But I remembered her costume. She wore a dark, full dinner gown with a jacket or bolero or something that was white and came only to her waistline. And she was just a little girl. . . . I mean, she was only about five-feet-one, or maybe two.

"Why does that girl stand out?" I inquired of my companion. "There isn't anything unusual about her. But I notice her every time she goes past."

"That," replied my friend, "is because she is improperly dressed. Her jacket is white, her skirt is black. . . . She is too little to be divided in the middle like that."

Axiom: later, at the theater, I ran into John Peter Toohy, who is an old hand at analyzing dramas, playing poker, and keeping himself generally in the know. We were discussing a rather amazing turn in that a show we all thought would be a ringing hit had turned up with only fair success.

"Well," said Toohy, "The Times didn't care for it, and one of the soundest axioms of the Broadway theater is that no show can hope for a second-night sell-out without a favorable opinion in the New York Times."

Irony: Those who pass the Czech consulate these days are a little startled and a little saddened too. I guess, by a sign which says proudly: "Come to Beautiful Czechoslovakia to Celebrate the Twentieth Year of Independence!"

Denial: Little Freddie Bartholomew, who isn't so little any more but who is a tallish, exceedingly polite young man with a craving for football, American style, isn't going to become an American citizen. There was a story last week that to that effect, but the young British actor said he couldn't understand how it got aired about.

"I love America but I also love England, and anyway I couldn't become a citizen if I wanted to, because I am only 17." Which would seem to take care of that.

Protest: into the vast confines of the International Casino there strolled the spokesman for 150 visitors who wanted dinner at a certain hour for his guests, and he went into consultation with the chef about it.

"Well," replied the chef, "I'll fix you a lovely dinner, with beautiful souffles, marvelous salads, vegetable combinations that are gastronomical delights, and I shall build this on the savory foundation of chicken . . ."

"Hold it," cried the visitor, who up to this time had been enchanted by the remarks of the chef. "Anything but chicken. That's definitely and unequivocally out."

"But why?" expostulated the despairing chef.

"Listen," cried the fellow, "I represent a poultry producers' association. Say chicken to that gang and they'll hang me."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Eddie Albert has clicked. Rock Island, Ill., can run up the flag for a native son who made good in his first movie. Minneapolis, Minn., can rah-rah for the home-town boy who ran away with "Brother Rat."

Eddie is back in New York now. He came from there—from "Room Service" — to do the movie "Brother Rat." He'll be back, and Hollywood will be waiting for him with parts. Hollywood thinks it has found an actor—and another proof that a collar-ad face is excess baggage when it comes to movie clicking.

Eddie isn't another Robert Taylor. He isn't a new Clark Gable. He won't send Jimmy Cagney into retirement. He's a plain lad with a gift for being funny and pathetic at the same time, for acting rings around the competition.

His name used to be Heimbürger. When he was working over the air the announcers called it Hamburger so often that he dropped it.

Personally, I hadn't realized the extent of Eddie's success until I talked to Marie Wilson. Marie's ambition is still—guess?—to learn how to act. Seeing Eddie Albert act depresses her.

"I see him," says Marie, "and I get woozy. How can I ever get to be that good?"

Marie's higher education, incidentally, is progressing. But Marie is still one of our most amazing—and sweetest—characters. The girl who wrote her own script for her first screen test had just been writing her own script for an appearance at a U.S.C. football rally.

But I, for one, refuse to believe that his quotation, culled from a Warner studio report of the affair, is anything less than rank libel: "If we lose the first quarters, boys, even if we lose the second quarter, why, even if we lose our last quarter—what of it? Money isn't everything!"

What I have long suspected is true. This office harbors a soul with no romance and no glimmer in his make-up. A cynic, b'gosh. This note, found in my typewriter, speaks volumes:

"Some bold called to inform you that Earl Carroll, who is GOING to build a gigantic colossal theater-casino in Hollywood, has called for chorus gals to show up for trials. . . ."

Now if Mr. Carroll should NOT find enough Calif. beauties for his revue he will immediately high-tail to NY to get rest of same and there will be a lasting stigma on Hollywood, etc., etc.

"This bold would like to have you guys present because all the people that count will be there. . . ."

"Also, this bold says on Monday noon W. C. Fields will give a party on the site of the prospective gigantic colossal theater-cafe for Carroll, Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor, etc. They will be there with gals without much clothes Benny, Cantor, Fields, etc., will have clothes such as overalls — don't misunderstand me). They will sit around in the dirt and eat caviar out of lunch pails with the workmen who are starting the project. . . ."

"This bold trusts you'll be more impressed than am I."

Such irreverence, of course, shall not be tolerated. I shall speak to the fella, sharply.

A. Wallace is young and brainy enough, but he isn't popular with urbanites and he hasn't satisfied more than about half of the country's farmers. Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri wouldn't suit the new deal democrats or catch any republicans. Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson isn't known to speak of. Postmaster General James A. Farley has his former boxing commissionmanship of New York to live down — a glorified prize fight manager. It's a shame that his religion should count against him, but it would undoubtedly.

And so on down the line — there's something the matter with each of the most of them.

Mayor LaGuardia likewise has his drawbacks.

For one thing, he isn't a democrat. He has served in congress as a republican and a socialist. He has served New York's mayoralty as a fusionist and an American laborite.

Yet, what of it? He's a new deal. He should gobble all new deal democratic votes; all advanced liberal republican votes; all farmer-labor votes; all progressive party votes; all American labor votes; all maverick votes (like those of Senator George W. Norris' followers).

He's a New Yorker, which is something of a handicap out in the western sticks. Still, he was brought up in Arizona; he's a westerner himself, and a semi-southerner.

He's a bit close to his Italian ancestry. That can't be helped. He has a brilliant American war record, anyway.

He admits that his name ("Fiorello," or, in Italian, "Little Flower") is slight ridiculous — and it is, considering how hard-boiled he is. Even that isn't his own fault, though. How could his mother, christening him, have foreseen that his name would weigh with him presidentially later?

Health Hints

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

A diet may be adequate in amount and in the food elements which are required for energy, growth and tissue replacement, and still be inadequate because it lacks the food factors which are called the vitamins.

The vitamins have become very popular—more popular with the lay public than with the physician. Undoubtedly they have been overexploited and used with very little critical discrimination by the layman. But, at the same time, it is a fascinating subject for speculation, and, after all, there is more than "something" in it.

Nutrition Worked Out The vitamins are typical 20th century products. The 19th century had nutrition all worked out — on an efficiency basis. All you had to do was to give a man enough protein, fat, carbohydrates, minerals and water, and his nutrition was taken care of. But when they started putting them on a concentrated ration—containing all the supposedly necessary ingredients—it was found that something was lacking. There was something necessary for growth, for maintenance, for smooth skin, for clear eyes, for proper development that was missing. And this something was a number of drugs, the vitamins; those substances which were incorporated in the chemistry of our foods, which the body learns to adjust itself to and utilize so that it can't get along without them.

They are part of the food we eat, yet they do not furnish energy or tissue replacement. Somehow they operate mysteriously to set all the functions of the body going smoothly.

Some of them are in the fat foods, some in the watery foods, some are destroyed by heat (cooking), some are not. Here is the list of them: Vitamin A—Found in fat foods and in association with yellow pigment—carrots and corn. The yellow pigment is carotene; animals can form their own vitamin A if fed carotene.

What Absence Causes Absence of vitamin A in the diet causes failure of growth and two types of eye trouble, infection and night blindness. Natural sources of vitamin A are butter, cheese, eggs, liver, fish liver oils, yellow corn, spinach, carrots and prunes.

Vitamin B—There are now classified six forms of Vitamin B. They control growth to some extent and are necessary for the nutrition of the nerves. If left out of the diet, paralysis from nerve degeneration may result. They keep the skin smooth.

Natural sources of Vitamin B are wheat germ, yeast, bran, tomatoes, prunes, egg yolk, oysters and nuts.

Vitamin C—Infants need this to produce good growth and ward off scurvy. It is found in orange juice and tomato juice, lemons, peas, spinach, apples and milk.

Vitamin D—Infants and children need this to promote good bone growth and ward off rickets. It is found in fish liver oils, such as cod liver oil. It is often deficient in an ordinary diet.

Vitamin E—This vitamin has something to do with fertility. It is found in cereals and lettuce. Vitamin F—Lack of this interferes with growth and promotes a scaly condition of the skin. It is found in the unsaturated fatty acids.

R. O. T. C. Navy Invites Guests On River Trip

Highlanders Present Open-Air Concert From Pontoon Boats

An eighth official event was added yesterday to the schedule of Dad's day activities by Prof. Earl E. Harper, faculty Dad's day chairman, and other members of the committee.

The University of Iowa's famous Scottish Highlanders, R. O. T. C. unit, will present an open-air concert on Iowa river this morning at 10:15. From Iowa Union dock, the Scottish-clad bagpipers will float down the river in the R. O. T. C. pontoons, manned by Pontoniers, members of the honorary engineering unit.

The Pontoniers last night extended a special invitation to dads who are being honored today to ride with them on their river excursion, meeting at the boat dock not later than 10:10 this morning.

Organized by Col. George F. N. Daley, head of the department of military science and tactics, the Scottish Highlanders have met with wide acclaim as a unique and spectacular organization.

The performance of the group may be viewed and heard from the banks of Iowa river between

AN INVITATION

Religious Emphasis Week, Oct. 28 to Nov. 4, will bring to our community a distinguished group of men and women of various faiths. Some of them are among the best-known religious leaders in the world today, and all of them are associated with great religious enterprises. Many of their books have made significant contributions to the thinking of our time, and the team includes several inspirational speakers of the very first rank.

I am pleased that the occasion will be for the community, and not only for the university, and I would encourage students, faculty and townspeople in general to take advantage of such an unusual opportunity which probably, in the nature of the case, cannot be repeated for years to come.

EUGENE A. GILMORE, President.

Iowa Union and the Burlington street bridge, or from the Iowa avenue street bridge.

The pontoon boats which will transport the Highlanders this morning are of the type used by the corps of engineers of the United States army in constructing floating bridges to carry wagon and motor traffic across rivers.

The Scottish Highlanders will make their second appearance on the Dad's day program at the Iowa-Purdue game this afternoon. They will combine with the University of Iowa 115-piece marching band at that time in a new series of spectacular displays.

Dad's day visitors were noisily welcomed to the campus last night, when the traditional pep meeting south of Iowa Union launched the events of the week end.

There also a unique note crept in; for the first time in history, an elaborate fireworks display, with incendiary bombs and colored patterns of fire, climaxed the traditional mass meeting.

Color Movie To Open Activities

"Summer Session at Iowa," a three-reel motion picture in color of activities on the University of Iowa campus, will launch today's Dad's day activities at 10 o'clock this morning in the chemistry auditorium.

Summer session students, interested from an amateur point of view in photography, prepared the movie this summer on the Iowa campus. Lee Cochran, director of the visual instruction department, was in charge of the production.

Included in the movie are the activities of the summer session, which are largely those of the regular school year. Shots were taken within class rooms, in the various colleges and departments, of sports and recreational activities—all in natural color.

Students, themselves, under Mr. Cochran's supervision, took a hand in choosing sites for the pictures, taking them, cutting the film and arranging its continuity.

Dinner to Close Dad's Celebration

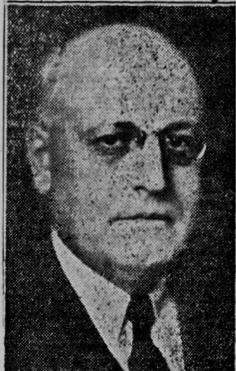

The traditional Dad's day dinner tonight at 8 o'clock in Iowa Union will conclude today's activities honoring the fathers of University of Iowa students.

F. C. Waples of Cedar Rapids, president of the Dad's association,

They'll Speak At Dad's Day Dinner

F. C. Waples, above, president of the Dad's association, will preside at the traditional Dad's day dinner in Iowa Union at 6 o'clock tonight. He represents the dads at the annual affair. Eight events are included in the Dad's day program.

The University of Iowa's president, Eugene A. Gilmore, above, is one of the speakers who will talk to the dads of University of Iowa students tonight in Iowa Union. Two events of the week remain on the program for tomorrow.

Al Sorenson, U of Ames, above, is president of A.F.I., senior men's honorary organization. When the university honors the dads of its students at the annual dinner tonight, Sorenson will speak on behalf of Iowa men.

As president of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary organization, Phyllis Wassam, A4 of Iowa City, above, will represent her fellow women students on the program which will follow the Dad's day banquet in Iowa Union tonight.

Geologists From Five States At Tri-State Field Conference Today and Tomorrow in Iowa will act as toastmaster at the dinner, which is under the direction of A. F. I., honorary senior men's organization.

Al Sorenson, U of Ames, will speak for university men at the dinner. He is president of A. F. I., Phyllis Wassam, A4 of Iowa City, president of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary organization, will speak for the women of Iowa.

President Eugene A. Gilmore will also appear on the program, which will follow the dinner.

Jones to Speak At Vesper Service

The concluding event on the Dad's day week end schedule—tomorrow night's vesper service—will permit dads to hear a world-famous leader in the religious field, Dr. E. Stanley Jones of Lucknow, India. He will be heard in Iowa Union at 8 p.m.

Simultaneously, a second vesper service, in order to accommodate Dad's day and Religious Emphasis week crowds, will convene in Macbride auditorium, with Father Norbert C. Hoff, professor of philosophy at Notre Dame, as the speaker. Father Hoff is another outstanding leader in the religious world.

An audience of 3,000 greeted Dr. Jones at emphasis week meetings at the University of Oregon.

Dr. Jones' life in India has brought him into intimate relationship with Mahatma Gandhi, outstanding Indian leader of the masses; with Tagore, India's noted Christian poet, and Charles F. Andres, Scotch missionary and biographer of Gandhi.

In addition to having traveled widely in India, he has conducted speaking campaigns in the United States, South America, China, Korea, Malaya, Burma, South Africa and Australia.

He was first stationed by the Methodist church in Lucknow, and then, after 10 years, was given an assignment covering the whole of northern India.

Father Hoff is an Iowa product, having graduated from Columbia college in Dubuque in 1910. He also received his Ph.D. degree from that institution.

The famous Catholic received his S.T.B. degree from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C.

Between 1914 and 1920, Father Hoff was professor of philosophy at Carroll college in Helena, Mont. From 1920 to 1932, he was president of that institution. Since 1932, he has been at Notre Dame.

Beardless Men Emerge From Hairy Bushes

Winners of Contest Are Announced At Monster Pep Rally

Men's week, the first of what Pi Epsilon Pi, national honorary pep fraternity who sponsored the affair, hopes will become a tradition, came to an end last night.

And, simultaneously, an end came to the beards of courageous Iowa men who braved the criticism of women students and their non-conformist fellows to compete in Pi Epsilon Pi's beard contest.

The winners of the contest were announced last night — four of them. They are:

Don Sutsman of Washington, winner in the class of thick beards.

Carl Conrad, A3 of Fonda, who grew the longest beard.

Paul Fishman, A1 of Cherokee, whose beard was the lightest.

Bill Pinkston, A1 of Council Bluffs, possessor of the most unusual beard.

Prizes for the winners were awarded by Iowa City merchants. Presentations were made following last night's Dad's day pep meeting south of Iowa Union.

Fishman's beard was the result of 17 years of "no shaving." Pinkston's beard spelled "Iowa Fights" on each cheek.

Judges for the contest were Margaret Clary, A4 of Sioux City, Kappa Alpha Theta; Jean Witmer, A4 of Des Moines, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Frances Borly, A2 of Omaha, Neb., Sigma Delta Tau; Alma Louise Atherton, A3 of Union Grove, Wis., Zeta Tau Alpha, and Polly Schenk, A1 of Des Moines, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Club to Have Outing Today

University Women Will Attend Annual Athletic Ass'n. Trip

A group of about 20 university women will leave Iowa City this afternoon to attend the annual Palisades outing under the auspices of Outing club of the Women's Athletic association.

The group will leave from the women's gymnasium shortly after the football game. Transportation is provided.

Any university woman who is interested in attending is asked to call the office of the women's gymnasium early this morning. A few places are still available.

The outing is under the general direction of Carol Dunger, A2 of Aurora, Ill., president of Outing club. Margaret Schmitz, G of Milwaukee, Wis., is in charge of food. Jane Brooks, A1 of Princeton, Ill., and Wahnta Lucus, A1 of Muscatine, will lead singing at the evening campfire.

The club has reserved the large cabin which overlooks the dam at the park, and can accommodate only 20 women.

Marian Smalley, last year's president of the Women's Athletic association, and Jeannette Smalley, last year's intramural manager, will be among the group.

Esther French of the women's physical education department, adviser for the Women's Athletic association, will go with the group and will have as her guest Bernice Cooper, physical education instructor from the University of Wisconsin.

Luncheon Group To Meet Today

Mrs. Nate Moore Sr., chairman of the luncheon committee for the Fall Festival of the First English Lutheran church, has called a meeting of the committee for this afternoon at 2:30 in the lounge at the city hall.

The festival will be Dec. 1 in the church parlors. Plans are also being made for an antique display and for a one-act play to be given as a part of the evening program.

White Crepe Gown Worn by Dolphin Queen at Follies

Margery Hansen, A2 of Brooklyn, N. Y., Dolphin queen, is wearing a chalk white crepe gown, fashioned with a sheath skirt and empire bodice at the current "Dolphin Follies of 1939" performances. Her dress is trimmed in gold in a Grecian pattern, and her jewelry is of antique gold set with brilliant. Her sandals are white satin of the classic draped style.

Wisconsin institutions; Iowa State college, Iowa State Teachers' college at Cedar Falls, Simpson college, Cornell college, Coe college, Iowa Geological survey and the University of Iowa.

They'll Perform Today!

The University of Iowa's nationally famous Scottish Highlanders, R.O.T.C. bagpipe unit, will present a "double feature" on today's Dad's day program. At 10:15 this morning, the nattily-clad unit will sail down Iowa river, playing on pontoon boats manned by members of the Pontoniers, honorary engineering group of the R.O.T.C. They've invited dads who are in town for the festivities to go along on the "cruise." In addition, the unit will appear with the Iowa band at the Iowa-Purdue game in Iowa stadium this afternoon for the pre-

Campus Guide Service Starts This Morning

A campus guide service will be inaugurated today when members of Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting fraternity, conduct Dad's day visitors about the campus.

The service, with headquarters at Old Capitol, will be a permanent one and will function at all succeeding university events.

Hillis Hauser, A4 of Marshalltown, is president of the fraternity; William Schmertz, A2 of Burlington, vice-president; Warren Randall, A2 of Miles City, Mont., secretary; Bill Eastman A2 of Douglas, Wyo., historian, and Hugh Ellisworth, A2 of Des Moines, treasurer.

Members of the group are: Melvin Witte, L1 of Williamsburg;

Mervin Minish, E3 of Iowa City; Robert Lowry, A4 of Newton Centre, Mass.; Scottie Walker of Lone Tree; Alan Wicks, G of Valley City, N. D.; Parke Woodworth, E3 of Ipswich, S. D.; Parley Wellstead, A3 of Ottumwa.

Ivan Brooks, A3 of Iowa City; Edward McCloy, C3 of Iowa City; Russell Jones, A2 of Williamsburg; Victor Lipka, A2 of Tama; William Langston Jr., A2 of Little Rock, Ark.; William Wright, E3 of Uniontown, Pa.; and William Moershel, A3 of Homestead.

Mrs. Parizek Entertains 40 At Early Breakfast

Mrs. William Parizek, 917 E. Fairchild street, entertained members of the Women of the Moose at a galloping breakfast at her home yesterday morning. About 40 women were surprised at their homes and brought to the breakfast just as they were attired. No one was allowed to prepare themselves for the affair.

This was the second such breakfast given by the club. The ways and means committee members served as hostesses.

Croft Attends College Meet

Prof. Hubert O. Croft, of the college of engineering, is attending a meeting of midwestern colleges at Chicago. The meeting is to make preliminary arrangements for a Midwest Power conference to be held there in April.

The conference is sponsored by, and under the direction of the University of Iowa, Armour Institute of Technology, University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin, University of Michigan and Iowa State Agricultural college.

Carson, Hightshoe Lead U-High to 19-7 Win

Hawks Out to Avenge Early Season Losses; Purdue Boasts One of Nation's Fastest Lines

River Boys Blast Through The West Branchers for Victory

Fumbles Almost Cost Blue Team Game; Play Well

By OSCAR HARGRAVE
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

A rampaging U-high eleven invaded West Branch yesterday, and the afternoon's activities saw Carson and Hightshoe, the big guns in the Blue and White running attack, blast through to lay waste to enemy hopes, 19-7.

It was Carson and Hightshoe who accounted for two of the three U-high touchdowns, and it was this same pair of flashy halfbacks whose end runs and off-tackle smashes put the ball in enemy territory before a pass accounted for the other U-high marker.

Hightshoe began the fireworks when, after he and Carson had led a steady march from deep in their own territory, he took the oval on his own nine, and drifted around the end and over the goal line. This ended the scoring for the half, as U-high failed to convert and the second quarter saw a see-saw battle with West Branch having somewhat the advantage.

Kicking off to start the last half, U-high soon had the ball again, after the West Branch running attack failed to gain. Then, with Carson and Hightshoe juggling the pigskin they traveled steadily down field, with Carson taking a lateral from Burns on the West Branch six to race over for another marker. The try for extra point failed.

At this point fate took a hand in the game, fate and a fighting West Branch team that recovered Burns' fumble on the Blue and White 20. Three plays took them to the U-high eight, and then Pedersen fumbled and flipped a pass to Lewis, who grabbed the ball in the end zone. West Branch brought the score to 12-7 by converting.

Receiving the ball on the next kickoff, U-high committed the second error in succession, and one that almost cost them the game. On the first play from scrimmage, Carson fumbled and the alert West Branch forwards recovered on the U-high 25. Battling desperately, the West Branchers shoved on down to the 15 before the Blue and White stiffened and took the ball on downs.

From here, the Iowa City boys, with Carson and Hightshoe carrying the ball behind beautiful blocking, pounded to the West Branch 40. Then Burns rifled a 25-yard pass to Krogh who dashed 15 yards to score. Carson took a lateral from Burns and crossed the goal for the extra point.

Leading 19-7, U-high received a break, when, after their kickoff traveled only a few yards, they recovered on the West Branch 40. Another U-high drive was halted on the West Branch 30 by a series of penalties before the teams exchanged kicks, with U-high receiving as the game ended.

Folsom Loses To Chesley In Touchball, 8-6

With a safety added to the six points gathered through Woodcock's jaunt over the goal line, Chesley nosed out Folsom last night in a co-op league touchball game, 8-6.

Besides the one co-op game, there were two battles in the Hillcrest division and one in the recently formed town league. With Cowan piling up 27 points, Third North took the measure of Second east, 35-19, in a wild game. Another Hillcrest battle saw First North take in Second North, 19-13.

The vaunted passing attack of Harris hall, a town league entry, gave southwestern plenty of worry, but the Harris representative was nosed out, 25-20. This game ended the town competition until next Thursday, when two games will be played in the league.

Revamped Lineup
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Coach Paddy Dirscoil planned to place a drastically revamped lineup on the field today as his Marquette university gridgers, defeated in three out of four starts, meet the unbeaten Iowa State Cyclones.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan and Illinois, traditional Western conference football foes, renew their feud here today with the Michigan Wolverines conceding an edge. A homecoming crowd in excess of 40,000 is expected.

Gophers Meet Cats Today

Minnesota Favored To Beat Wildcats In Big Ten Clash

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Spiced with gridiron feuds — one of them carrying a decidedly championship flavor — Western conference football hits its peak tomorrow.

Headlined by the important Minnesota-Northwestern clash at Evanston, Ill., the Big Ten program sends all members of the conference into action. By Saturday night the Big Ten titular picture may be revised sharply.

Gophers Favored
Minnesota will be slight favorites to down Northwestern in their battle, expected to attract 47,000 fans. For the first time in several weeks the Gopher passing ace, Harold Van Every, will be a starter and the Minnesota running attack will test the strong Wildcat line. Should Minnesota win this duel, 20th in a series of hard fought battles, it would be a stand-out choice to sweep over Wisconsin and Iowa to a second straight championship.

Another old rivalry will be renewed at Ann Arbor, with Michigan's strong eleven favored over Illinois, crippled by the loss of three backs, Brewer, Wehrli and Mazeika. In Tom Harmon and Norm Pupucker, Michigan has two fine ball toters, with Harmon an able passer should the Illini forwards halt the Wolverine rushing game.

Wisconsin and Indiana will tangle at Madison in what should be a thriller. The Hoosiers, seeking an initial victory in three conference starts, may click at Wisconsin's expense. At Iowa City, Purdue will go after its second Big Ten win and will be favored over Iowa. Chicago's hapless Maroons will try for their first victory of the season, over De Pauw.

Ohio State's Buckeyes carry Big Ten prestige into the east, engaging New York university at New York. Ohio State is an outstanding favorite over the Violets.

All loyal Irishmen rejoiced last night as St. Pat's returned from Wilton Junction with a neat, well-earned victory to the tune of 19-0. Miller was the thorn in Wilton's side as he snagged passes two different times to gallop over for touchdowns. Superior line smashing by J. Fitzpatrick and Love also contributed strongly to the rout.

The game was even more one-sided than the score indicated as the Green and White scored their first win of the year. Three times they advanced the ball inside the five-yard line only to lose it on downs. Jack Fitzpatrick smashed over from the one-yard line for the first score in the closing minutes of the opening quarter. G. Fitzpatrick's placekick was low. Thereafter Wilton's line stiffened, forcing St. Pat's to take to the air.

Late in the third period the Irish blocked an enemy punt and recovered on Wilton's 12-yard stripe. Following a penalty setback Bradly passed to Miller who went over the goal line standing up. On a fake dropkick Love plunged for the extra point.

In the final stanza the Junction lads uncovered a passing attack of their own with Beinke and Gatzke alternating on aerial attempts. Jack Fitzpatrick intercepted one of Beinke's throws with but two minutes of playing time left. Rohner immediately heaved a long pass to Miller who again scored standing up for a gain of 45 yards.

Beinke threw an 11-yard pass to Maurer after the kickoff just before the whistle sounded, ending the game.

Pitt Panthers to Become Purer Than Snow on a Church Roof

By PAUL MICKELSON

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28 (AP)—These balmy autumn days find the once staid and slightly sour Dr. John Bain Sutherland, auld commander of Pittsburgh's football team, in much the same exalted position as a white-capped goby in port with official shore leave and plenty of spending money. The Scotchman's team perhaps is the mightiest since Minnesota's 1934 model, and he's enjoying his toy so heartily that folks are beginning to wonder if he isn't a bit on the Irish side.

Oh, Well
The truth is the doctor, like a few thousand others around here, doesn't expect any more such lovely football toys. The Bowman plan, a scheme designed to make Pitt football purer than the snow on a church roof, is scheduled to start cramping his style next fall and to continue ever after until football purists can point to Pittsburgh as the shining beacon of all that's sweet in amateurism. What makes it worse, Jock loses 10 of his 11 starting 1938 regulars in the next June graduation.

So, the doctor, who swears he is not going to U. C. L. A. or U. S. C. next fall as head coach, is taking his fun where he finds it. In his heart he believes he has far and away the greatest college football team in the land — that tomorrow's game with Fordham, like all the rest on the schedule, will be a Pitt victory barring unreasonable breaks. In fact, the doctor thinks so much of his team that he even tips his game plans in advance with keen delight.

Before last week's game with Southern Methodist, Jock called in sports writers and advised them Pitt was a bit weary of the Gil Dobbie type of straight football. "Against S. M. U.," said he, "we will throw some passes. We'll show you boys how passes should be thrown."

Nobody believed him except our local pigskin spy, Mr. Jud Bailey, who sat down and wrote a piece for the papers to that effect. Other writers told Mr. Bailey he was pretty gullible. But when Saturday came around, the doctor was good to his word, his boys threw 16 passes and completed nine, stealing S. M. U.'s aerial circus and swamping the Texans.

Against Wisconsin, the doctor openly predicted he would let John Chickerno do a bit of galloping. No one believed him because Chickerno, in three years, never carried the leather. But on a fake kick formation, Chickerno grabbed the pigskin and ran 71 yards for a touchdown.

So it has been with the doctor all fall. His team is so good he doesn't mind helping spies that come around, and he's having a big time at smokers, banquets and parties. Before this big week end is over, the doctor expects to make at least a dozen speeches.

Goldberg's Day
Tomorrow, he promises to give Marshall Goldberg a chance to show he rates All-America honors again. Marshall was shifted from left half to fullback this fall to strengthen the backfield. In Jock's scheme of play, the fullback is the blocking bellwether. You don't notice him much but he is the key man. But against Fordham, Jock says Marshall will play close to 60 minutes, shifting him to his old left half post when the second team relieves. So, it might be a smart idea to keep your eye on Goldberg tomorrow.

Pittsburgh is a bit over-whacky about the game. Though Fordham has held the Pitts to three straight scoreless ties, local fans, heeled with plenty of folding money, are offering odds as high as 4 to 1 against the Rams.

"Maybe our baseball team does fold up," said one fan, "but we've always got two items here—Jock Sutherland's team and good middleweight fighters. They never let us down, well, very seldom."

Four to one odds are too tempting, so I grabbed some. Fordham is far better than rated though not overly smart with a touchdown in sight. Both teams are weak on kickers.

Favorite Loses In Tennis Meet

With only two matches being played, competition in the all-university tennis tournament came to an end for one of the seeded entries, Bob Sieh dropping a 6-1, 6-0 cision to Jess Upp.

In yesterday's other match, Garry Margoliuss eliminated William Crowell in a match that ended 6-3, 6-3.

On and Off The Field

Speaking of tradition, did you know that one of Indiana university's main traditions is their Senior Walk? How about it P. E. P. and "I" club.

Wisconsin football players do not walk from the practice field back up to town, they ride. Yessir, University of Wisconsin trucks pick up the Badgers at the field and transport them to the vicinity of their campus homes.

Angie Anopol will probably play basketball this season with the added handicap of a mask to protect his nose. He was injured in one of the pre-season practice tils.

Hawklets Take Day off After Beating Wilson

The Iowa City Little Hawks, victorious over the Wilson eleven Thursday night, took the day off yesterday and so postponed the preparation for their important tilt with Davenport until Monday night.

Ken "Knobby" Walsh and Bob Caywood, who received painful bruises in the Wilson game, will be back in uniform Monday, showing little effects of their injuries. Stu Mueller, who received a minor leg bruise, will also be back for practice.

Davenport, after ironing out difficulties among its squad members, returned to full strength for the Clinton game last night, and, barring all injuries, will present its usual powerful array against the Hawklets in the Homecoming game next week. Two Davenport players had quit but have now returned to the squad.

That's Right
NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Schmidt, one of the country's leading exponents of trickery and deception as coach of the Ohio State football team, yesterday supplied the following definition of his own favorite razzle-dazzle: "When you ain't lookin' where you're goin', an' you ain't goin' where you're lookin', an' you've got the ball but somebody else is runnin' with it."

Cross Country Run Attracts 150 Athletes

High school thincads from 23 schools will take their chances on Finkbine field this morning, as the annual University of Iowa invitational high school cross country run sends 150 men up and down hill for 1 9-10 miles.

The schools will compete in class A, B and C sections for the titles that East Des Moines, University high of Iowa City and Clarence won last year.

This afternoon, the competitors and their coaches will be guests of the university at the Iowa-Purdue football game.

Class A: Ames, Burlington, Franklin (Cedar Rapids), McKinley (Cedar Rapids), Wilson (Cedar Rapids), Iowa City, Knoxville, Okaloosa and Ottumwa.

Class B: Adel, University high (Iowa City), LeClaire, Monticello, Vinton, Williamsburg and West Branch.

Class C: Buffalo, Clarence, Conesville, Cantril, Finchford Consolidated (Janesville), Iowa school for the blind (Vinton) and Thornburg.

If the Iowa team continues to show the fine spirit which was expressed in the pep meeting last night after they are on the field, the Boilermakers will be in for one of their hardest games this year. The Hawkeyes have had several tough breaks, but today may prove to be the occasion for which they have been waiting.

A fine team spirit was expressed by Bob Allen last night when he stated, "It's more than a football game, we've just got to win."

No Boilermaker team has ever shown a finer spirit than the 1938 Purdue squad. Outclassed and outwitted by both Minnesota and Fordham, the Purdue team battled the entire 60 minutes of each game and in doing so established a reputation for aggressiveness and team play which will last for many years to come.

Coach Mal Elward adequately expressed the sentiment of the Purdue squad when he stated yesterday, "I expect this to be just as hard as any game we have played this year. The Purdue team has shown that they are the kind that can't be licked, and I know that they will be in the same frame of mind tomorrow."

The Boilermakers possess one of the fastest aggregations in inter-collegiate football, and once the Purdue backs break loose they are hard to stop. Lou Brock, junior halfback, stands out among the best ball carriers in the Big Ten, and his splendid defensive work against Minnesota was responsible to a large extent for the low 7-0 score.

Jack Brown, who occupies the other regular halfback position, was converted from an outstanding fullback as a sophomore last year into a fast, shifty ball carrier, at his best on wide end sweeps and off-tackle drives.

In Mike Byelene, diminutive sophomore, and Ted Tykocki, fastest of all the Purdue backs, Coach Mal Elward possesses excellent reserve material. Both Byelene, who starred against Wisconsin last week, and Tykocki will be called on repeatedly to replace the veterans Brown and Brock in today's game.

Lacking the bulk which has characterized Purdue linemen in the past, the Boilermaker forward wall makes up in aggressiveness and speed for its deficiency in brute strength. Co-captains Joe Mihal at tackle and Paul Humphrey at center are splendid leaders who inspire the entire team by their continual drive while in the game. Guards "Whitey" Johnson and Carl Verplank and Ends Gene Britt and Jack Krause complete the Boilermaker line.

Successful Dolphin Show Rings Down Curtain Tonight

Second Show Run Off With Greater Smoothness Than First

Hand-Balancing And Aerialist Acts Steal Show; Queen Present

Before a crowd of 1,000 in the fieldhouse pool, the second performance of "The Dolphin Follies of 1939" was run off with greater smoothness and polish than the opening night performance.

The aerialists and the hand-balancers practically stole the show with their acts, that won a tremendous ovation from the audience. Each stunt was completed in the midst of a burst of applause, as the natorium echoed and re-echoed with the handclapping of the delighted spectators.

Swinging through their act with professional ease, the hand-balancing trio composed of George Nissen, Bob Ferry and Xavier Leonard fairly brought down the house. With one man using his strength for the base, the other two men performed their stunts while balanced on his hands and shoulders.

Flipping from one statueque position to another, "The Hawkery Trio" went through their stunts in almost unceasing applause.

The aerial act ranked with the hand-balancers as a feature performance of the "Follies." Rivaling any professional circus group, the five aerial artists gave a smoother acrobatic performance than was ever presented in the Iowa fieldhouse.

Triple exchanges were made with perfectly timed catches as first one then another of the daring acrobats took his turn on "the flying trapeze." Larry Hays, clown of the act, gave a hilariously funny performance as he tried to ape the actions of the other five stunt-men.

Each of the others concluded his stunt by somersaulting down into the water from the 30 foot height but the distance looked too much for Hays. After some hesitation, he finally appeared with a parachute and dropped gingerly overboard.

The regular clown act turned out to be one of the funniest seen at a dolphin show in recent years. Featuring red flannels and winter underwear, the three clowns' tripping and sprawling dives were greeted with guffaws of merriment from the roaring crowd.

The first baggy panted individual took over the stage immediately after the fancy diving was completed. Upon being dared to try his hand at diving, he called one of his pals, Elmer, who appeared in the balcony amongst the audience.

Lowering a rope down to the lower bleachers, Elmer slid it and took a flying dive to the assistance of his wobbly friend. Six men made up the act of "The Dance of the Mermaids," in which they tried nobly to imitate a group of stage girls. Their ludicrous efforts and bald clumsiness were more than enough to merit their encore.

Whipping through a dipsy-doo, a horn pipe and a weaving Egyptian number, the sextet made a decidedly "naughty" exit with a flourish of their fish tails.

The onlookers were given a preview of Iowa swimming strength for the coming season as a group of varsity swimmers tore through a medley relay. Three strokes, crawl, breast and back, were used by each of the two teams. One variation was the use of the dolphin breast-stroke which was invented by Coach Armbruster some years ago.

The diving exhibition also showed that the freshman and varsity teams have a well trained group of divers. Excellent control was exhibited in the demonstration.

Grid Peak Campaign to Reach Climax Today

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — Climaxing a month-long buildup of numerous upsets, wide open play and striking emphasis on the forward pass, the current college football campaign tomorrow hits its 1938 peak in attendance. Directly responsible for that peak is a profusion of battles between teams so evenly matched that the forecaster's safest policy is to head for the nearest bombproof shelter, taking his selections with him.

Irish-Army
Four of the day's games will attract crowds of 70,000 or better, leading off with 78,400 at Yankee stadium for the renewal of the country's oldest inter-sectional rivalry, between Army and Notre Dame. The Pitt stadium will be packed to its 75,867 capacity for the all-conquering Panthers' clash with under-dog but unbeaten Fordham; 71,000 will be in the Yale bowl as the Elis deploy against Dartmouth and 70,000 will fill Franklin field's two tiers for Pennsylvania's engagement with Navy.

Gophers-Cats
Elsewhere only lack of additional space will keep the crowds below these figures. That applies to Northwestern's Dyché stadium, where 47,000 will see the Wildcats tackle Minnesota in the Big Ten feature; to the Dixie headliners exchanging Tennessee and Louisiana State in the Southeast conference and Duke and North Carolina in the Southern, due to draw 35,000 each, and to the 27,000 crowd expected for the Texas Christian-Baylor game "which brings together two undefeated Southwest conference rivals."

The principal Pacific coast duel between Oregon State and California is due to draw another 30,000.

Yeah?
Feeling oddly like the man who went over Niagara Falls in a barrel, only more so, this observer leads with his chin in the following predictions (probable attendance in parentheses):

Pittsburgh - Fordham (75,867): Fordham has spirit but Fordham also has only three tackles and three ends. Pitt's power plays are specially designed to pulverize tackles and ends. Conceding Fordham its best running attack since Jim Crowley took over, the selection is Pitt, with both teams scoring for the first time in the four years of their rivalry.

Notre Dame
Army-Notre Dame (78,400): It still is hard to forget that the Irish, in their opener, used seven full teams against Kansas, and that Kansas couldn't score against any of them. Notre Dame.

Northwestern - Minnesota (47,000): Hal Van Every, the Gophers' ace back, has regained the 15 pounds he lost through illness. He and his mates had an extra week's rest. Still, largely on a hunch, Northwestern.

Texas Christian - Baylor (27,000): Baylor has Patterson to match T. C. U.'s O'Brien, but T. C. U. looks to have the better line. Texas Christian.

Georgetown Beats Temple

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 (AP) — Georgetown's undefeated and untied eleven converted two breaks into touchdowns tonight to beat Temple, 13 to 0, for their fifth straight victory.

A crowd held to 8,000 because of an all-day rain, saw the Hill-toppers shove over their first touchdown in the third period after Earl Fullilove, a tackle, grabbed a forward pass from Joe Mellendeck which Jack Berrier batted into the air instead of to the ground.

Fullilove was downed on the Temple 20. Jules Koshlap picked up 13 yards in two running plays. Mellendeck then smashed to the three from where he scored on the next play.

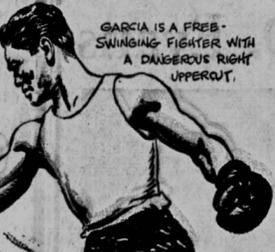

An intercepted forward pass in the last quarter led to Georgetown's other score. Joe Frank reached up and grabbed one out of Al Juralewicz's forwards on the Temple 21, and ran 18 yards to

Duquesne Beats Detroit, 14-6

Nery Stars For Dukes; Pushes Titans Around

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28 (AP) — Big Carl Nery, Duquesne tackle, played a lot in the backfield tonight and as a result his team tasted a sweet 14-6 victory over the University of Detroit at Forbes field.

Nery's thumping punts kept Detroit in a hole throughout most of the game and he was a stalwart on defense. He also figured in the first of the home club's two touchdowns. With the ball on Detroit's four yard line, the big tackle faked a field goal attempt and heaved a pass over the goal to Ray Serangelli for the touchdown to the delight of 8,943 fans.

The Titans, hit by injuries which left their ace running back Johnny Halpin at home, presented a revamped lineup out for the Dukes, who have lost three of their five games, the result was regarded as a stunning upset.

The Titans drew first blood early in the first period, due largely to the running and accurate pitching of their triple threat ace Halfback, Eddie Palumbo. The assault started after Palumbo caught Nery's punt on his own 20-yard line. Then a 22-yard pass to Clint Barritt, combined with dashes by Palumbo and End Bill Coyne, pushed the leather to the one-half yard line, where Barritt sliced off tackle for a touchdown.

Dukes' second touchdown, coming soon after their first, resulted after they worked the ball back to the Titan 2-yard line and then Geno Onder slipped the ball to Mitchell Barron on a reverse, Barron scoring. Nery booted both extra points.

Junior League Considers Change In Baseball

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP) — The American league, President William Harridge said today, was considering "some slight change" in the baseball to be used in 1939 and was carrying on experiments with manufacturers.

"One ball has been tried," Harridge said, "having a heavier cover. Another has raised seams and a third a different core. We have not been informed by the manufacturers what the experiments have shown thus far.

Harridge, after a talk with several managers, said, "The consensus indicates they do not approve of any radical change." A ball with raised seams to aid pitchers, he said, was favored by several pilots.

This season the National league used a ball with a heavier cover and raised seams and a comparison with the 1937 statistics showed that batters in the senior circuit made approximately 230 fewer hits than in 1937. Harridge said no decisive action could be taken until the league meeting in December.

Ambers Whips Steve Halaiko In Comeback

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP) — Lou Ambers, starting his campaign to regain the lightweight title, scored a technical knockout over Steve Halaiko of Auburn in the third round of a scheduled 10-round fight here tonight. Ambers weighed 137; Halaiko 142.

A crowd of 2,000 watched Halaiko fight a game battle for two rounds before he finally succumbed to Ambers' heavy artillery. It was the third meeting between the two — their first encounter having ended in a draw and the second in a decision for Halaiko.

In the third Ambers tore in at top speed. A short right-hand punch to the jaw gave Ambers an advantage which he quickly followed with another solid right that sent Halaiko reeling helplessly into the ropes.

Lewis Wins Comes From Behind In Late Rounds

By DREW MIDDLETON

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 28 (AP) — John Henry Lewis went full steam ahead in the final five rounds to pound New Haven's Al Gainer into submission and retain his world light-heavyweight title tonight. The Phoenix, Ariz., champion weighed 174, Gainer four pounds less.

Weak from making the weight and hard hit by Gainer's consistent attack in the first 10 rounds, the Negro champion went to work in the final five to earn the unanimous decision of the two judges and referee, and a belt emblematic of the title.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut presented the belt to the weary but grinning winner in the ring after the bout.

Gainer Ahead
Gainer, tremendous favorite with the crowd of 2,278 that paid a net gate of $7,065, started well. He belted Lewis with three steaming left hooks in the second to take command. He stayed there by winning the fourth and fifth and headed into the tenth well ahead.

The 11th told the story. Lewis came out and started to tie up Gainer at the same time smashing his own right to the head and hooking the New Haven Negro in close with lefts. Gainer came back at the start of the 12th and stung Lewis with lefts to the head, but midway through the round Lewis bounced him into the ropes with four drives to the belly that had Gainer holding on.

Gainer Gaps
The champion continued to draw ahead in the last three. Gainer, who never had fought over 12 rounds before, was tired and he tried to hold Lewis but it was no dice. John Henry banged him in the face with his left and turned loose a body attack that had Gainer gasping for breath and rest at the end of each round.

Out for a knockout in the final, Gainer didn't have a chance. Twice he threw the left that had stood him in good stead in the early rounds, and each time Lewis stepped inside and nailed him with a right to the body.

Broken Hand
Gainer said after the fight he thought he had broken his right hand in the fifth round. The hand was swollen and badly bruised and Gainer's manner indicated he thought he would have won were it not for the injury.

No one could take anything from Lewis. The champion, who pared off nearly 20 pounds to make the weight, fought back magnificently with his title in danger. Twice in the early rounds he was holding on but from the 11th on there was no doubt he was still the best light-heavy in the business.

Buckeyes Favored
NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State's beefy football team will be heavily favored to repeat its 1936 triumph over New York university when their football teams meet today at the Polo Grounds. A crowd of 25,000 is expected to see the game.

Bolo Punch Depose Negro? Opinion Evenly Divided as to Whether Garcia Can Defeat Armstrong

By DILLON GRAHAM

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — Can Hank Armstrong dodge Cefferino Garcia's jaw-popping bolo punch? The bolo is a half right uppercut, half hook.

That, simmered down, seems to be the troublesome question as fight talk centers around the welterweight championship match at Madison Square Garden Nov. 2.

Along Bashed Beak Boulevard, that short Sixth avenue stretch where the Cauliflower industry sways to the clanking of Czar Mike Jacobs' store-bought teeth, opinion appears about evenly divided.

This bolo swat must not be confused with polo mallets or pogo sticks. Bolo is just a fancy name for an old-fashioned uppercut.

Garcia used to swing a bolo knife in cutting sugar cane in the Philippine islands, so the story goes, and he swings his copyright punch with the same motion. The bolo is a half right uppercut, half hook.

Hawkeye Feud Dramatized On NBC Program

'March of Time' Features Reams, Mooney, Sullivan

Life magazine's Friday night "March of Time" broadcast, which went on the air at 8:30 p.m. yesterday over the NBC-Blue network, dramatized University of Iowa events of the past week among their highlights of last night.

To the tune of the "Iowa Corn Song," "The March of Time" presented a dramatization of the "feud" between the Iowa Hawkeyes and The Daily Iowan editor and sports editor.

Following widespread stories concerning the events of last week which appeared in papers throughout the nation, G. K. Hodenfield, United Press correspondent from Iowa City, received a wire from officials of the "March of Time," asking for materials concerning the scrap.

Hodenfield filed the requested materials. They were edited and prepared for broadcast in New York.

Daily Iowan Editor John Mooney and Sports Editor J. Dennis Sullivan figured prominently in the broadcast, as did members of the Iowa football team.

No less a prominent figure in the broadcast was Maxine Reams, A3 of Cedar Rapids, whose coverage of the Hawkeyes' Tuesday practice appeared in Wednesday morning's edition of The Daily Iowan, following the impromptu ousting of The Daily Iowan's sports department from the Iowa practice session.

U. Awarded Trophy For Short Course

A silver cup, token of appreciation for the staging of the second annual peace officers' short course last summer, has been presented to the University of Iowa.

Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the college of law said that the unusual cup was from the group of more than 250 attending officers.

While it formally was given to the college of law, Dean Rutledge pointed out that the cup actually was an expression to the entire university because of the several divisions of the institution which co-operated.

The 1938 course, in enrollment and in variety of lectures and demonstrations, surpassed that of 1937, Dean Rutledge said. The attendance totalled 252, each person receiving a certificate indicating that he was present during the six days.

Among the university colleges and departments which co-operated were medicine, chemistry, and political science.

State Campers Meet Today At Iowa Union

30 Representatives Will Attend Talks, Ball Game, Dinner

Thirty representatives from 20 camps throughout Iowa will meet at 10 o'clock this morning at Iowa Union for the opening session of the state meeting of the Iowa division of the American Camping association.

Thelma Short of Iowa State Teachers college will speak to the group on "Councillor Training in College."

"State Legislation for Camping" will be the subject of a discussion led by Glenn Custer, Boy Scout executive of Des Moines.

At luncheon each person will relate his most outstanding experience of the 1938 camping season.

The entire group will attend the Iowa-Purdue football game this afternoon.

Dinner will be served this evening at 6 o'clock at Iowa Union.

"Trends in Camping" will be the subject of an address given by George Alder, director of personnel study for the national organization. Mr. Alder is from the University of Michigan.

Local Women

Attend Conclave At Ft. Madison

Nine local women, including five official delegates, attended the district convention of the American Legion auxiliary Thursday at Ft. Madison.

Those who went included Mrs. Charles Fieseler, Mrs. Rex Day, Mrs. William White, Mrs. J. A. Faherty and Mrs. Bert Lewis, official delegates; and Mrs. W. M. Edwards, Mrs. George Unash and Mrs. Francis Boyle. Mrs. Myra Watkins, a charter member of the Ft. Madison unit, also accompanied the group from here.

Included in the day's program was a trip through the penitentiary, an afternoon tea and a banquet in the evening at which the entertainment was furnished by several groups from the penitentiary.

Mrs. Davis Will Read to Group

"Period Furniture" will be the subject of a paper which Mrs. S. J. Davis will read at the meeting of the home department of the Iowa City Womans' club Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Irving King, 903 Dearborn street.

Mrs. W. T. Goodwin will display an exhibit of peacock fiber and bead handcraft.

Services Performed On Anniversary Day Of Bride's Mother

Just 24 years after her parents were married in the same church, Helen Marie Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Schroeder of Muscatine, became the bride of Warren Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ball of Winfield. The ceremony took place in the First Presbyterian manse where Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder were married Oct. 14, 1914. The Rev. David I. Berger officiated at the single ring service.

The bride wore a teal blue silk dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses. Maxine Statler, her only attendant, wore wine with black accessories.

Following the ceremony, the couple left on a wedding trip to Chicago and are now at home in Muscatine.

Mrs. Ball was graduated from the Muscatine high school and Mr. Ball graduated from the Winfield high school and attended the university.

Chaperons Will Meet at Union

The monthly meeting of the Chaperons' club will be Tuesday in the river room of Iowa Union. The group will meet at 12:30 p.m. for luncheon.

Mrs. Margaret Jamison is chairman of the committee in charge. Others on the committee are Mrs. Laura Lewis, Mrs. Maye Stump, and Mrs. Carrie Brown.

Candidates for King and Queen

Third in the series of pictures of junior popularity candidates in the current Hawkeye yearbook contest are those pictured above.

German club, French club, Hawkeye staff, Union Board, U. W. A. council, and she is also a Freshman Orientation leader, and chairman of the committee making arrangements for coffee hours.

Miss House is a member of the Scottish Highlanders unit, and she was awarded the U. W. A. scholarship award last year. She has also served as a member of

Mrs. Emory Lane, chairman, Elizabeth Mills, Mrs. Andrew Woods, Mrs. I. L. Pollock, Mrs. William of the University Freshman Reception committee and of the Homecoming Party committee.

One of the king candidates is Nile Kinnick of Omaha, Neb. (right), Phi Kappa Psi active. Prominent in athletics, he has won major letters in football and basketball, as well as freshman numerals in football, basketball and baseball. He was co-captain of the freshman football squad and won the freshman football scholarship award. He was also proctor at the Quadrangle and an ex-officio member of the Quad student governing board. He has done work on Union board committees, has been a member of the Quad social committee and the Sophomore Cotillion committee. He also received Big Ten recognition in football.

Mrs. Emory Lane, chairman, Elizabeth Mills, Mrs. Andrew Woods, Mrs. I. L. Pollock, Mrs. William

Recent Wedding Of Iowa Grad. Just Announced

The marriage of Viola Handley to Gould D. Wise of Leon has been announced by the bride's mother, Mrs. Mabel Handley of Fontanelle. The ceremony took place Sept. 29 in Bethany, Mo.

Attendants at the service were Maxine Gardner and Howard Taylor, both of Leon.

Mrs. Wise was graduated from the school of nursing of Iowa Methodist hospital in September. Mr. Wise is a graduate of the university.

The couple are at home in Leon, where Mr. Wise is associated with the Van Warden Drug company.

Plans Made I. C. H. S. Concert Tickets on Sale

Plans are now being completed for the concert series season ticket sale which will be conducted Tuesday and Wednesday by the Music auxiliary of the Iowa City high school.

Tickets will be sold entitling the bearer to attend six varied concerts presented by the Iowa City high school music groups. First in the series will be a cantata, "The Rose Maiden" (Frederick H. Cowen) to be given Nov. 23.

Mothers who are members of the auxiliary are asked to observe the following rules, according to Mrs. Lloyd Swartley, head of the drive.

1. Keep a list of every ticket, numbers, and names of those to whom they are sold. Records will be kept of every ticket.
2. Each mother must telephone her captain each evening.
3. Start early Tuesday morning to canvass your district.
4. See every person in your division.
5. Written reports are requested.
6. After Tuesday and Wednesday you may sell anywhere you can.

Pupils to Start City Canvass

Funds Obtained Will Be Used to Send Students to Contest

Beginning at 8:30 this morning 26 groups of pupils from Iowa City high school will canvass the city for the rummage sale which the Music auxiliary of the high school is sponsoring next Saturday.

Funds obtained from the sale will send music pupils to the national music contest in the spring.

Articles for the sale will be collected today and taken to the community building. There it will be sorted by a committee composed of Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, Mrs. B. M. Ricketts, Mrs. Charles Gill, Mrs. W. H. Simpson, Mrs. George Hertz, and boys and girls from the high school. Coat hangers will be counted and tied into packages by Mrs. I. A. Rankin and Mrs. A. E. Lantz assisted by pupils.

Residents who have articles are asked to place the bundles on their front porches before 8:30 if possible. If anyone is accidentally missed, he is asked to call Mrs. Ingalls Swisher, 4978, so that it may be called for.

People who have coat hangers and paper sacks are asked to donate them. All sorts of articles are welcome.

Music Committee, Women's Assoc. To Entertain Chorus

Members of the music committee and the Women's association of the First Congregational church will entertain the choir and the Women's Sunday school teachers at a dinner Wednesday evening at the church parlors.

To help save the backs of farmers and other laboring men, manufacturers are now making aluminum alloy shovels that are much lighter than ordinary iron shovels.

HOSTESS HINTS

Do you have streaks of ambition when your mouth just waters for some kind of delicious rolls or fragrant home made biscuits and you hunt up a favorite recipe, work diligently and in the end are handsomely rewarded by the shouted approval of the whole family? The only trouble is that there never seems to be enough and the family demands encores. But you enjoy the preparation and the results justify the little extra time.

Pecan Rolls
1 cake compressed yeast
1-4 cup cold water
1 cup milk, scalded and cooled
1-4 cup butter, melted
1-4 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 eggs
4 1-2 cups flour
Crumble yeast and add water. After five minutes, add the milk salt, butter, sugar, rind, eggs and two cups of flour. Beat for three minutes. Add the rest of the flour. When mixed, cover with cloth and set in a room of moderate temperature. When the dough has doubled in size (after about four hours) roll it out one-fourth of an inch thick on a floured board. Spread with filling and roll up like jelly roll. Cut off one and one-half inch slices. Place each slice, flat side up, in a greased muffin pan with some of the mixture. Cover with cloth and let rise until doubled in bulk. (About three hours). Bake 20 minutes in a modern oven.

Filling
5 tablespoons soft butter
2-3 cup dark brown sugar
1-2 cup broken pecans
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Spread dough with butter. Sprinkle with rest of ingredients and roll up as suggested.

Pecan Mixture
(for each roll)
1 tablespoon dark brown sugar
4 pecans
Sprinkle sugar in each greased muffin pan. Add nuts and top with cut-off dough roll.

Ham Rolls
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon celery salt
3 tablespoons fat
2-3 cup milk
Mix together flour, baking powder, salt and celery salt. Cut in the fat and slowly add the milk. Pat out the soft dough until it is a half inch thick. Spread with ham filling and quickly roll up.

Cut off one-inch slices and place them flat side up in a buttered baking dish or muffin pans. Bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Unmold and surround with savory cream sauce.

Ham Mixture
1 cup chopped cooked ham

2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1-4 teaspoon minced onion
2 tablespoons salad dressing
Mix ingredients and spread on soft dough.

Cherry Rolls
2 cups pastry flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons fat
2-3 cup milk
2 cups seeded red cherries
Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat. Slowly add mixing with a knife. Pat out soft dough on floured board until it is one-fourth of an inch thick. Spread with cherries. Quickly roll up and cut off in one and one-half inch slices. Place, flat side up, in greased muffin pans. Cover with sauce and bake.

Cherry Sauce
1 1-2 cups granulated sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 1-2 cups cherry juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
Mix flour and sugar. Add salt water and juices. Boil two minutes. Add butter. Pour over roll.

Add 'Umph' to Your Costume With Swanky Leather Shoes

By SHIRLEY LAMB

It's smart to be in the Dog House!

That is, if you're sporting a pair of those swanky shoes in smooth leather, buck leather or natural pig skin which believe-it-or-not is washable.

All jam session fiends and wearers of jitter bug jackets can really add "umph" to their costumes by donning suede Jitter Bug Plops with thick crepe soles.

Irish or not, shure an' ye'll be proud to wear Shenanigans—ties, spectator pumps and gillies in brown or black alligator.

Platform soles are tops. And, here's a brand new combination—black kid with ox blood trim—that's plenty smooth.

With winter tweeds and sweater and skirts, smooth calf skin pumps are way out in front.

When teas, little dinners and tea dances roll around spectator pumps in suede alligator and kid with built up heels are favorites of Dame Fashion. Platform soles, soft pumps and a few high throat ties in crushed kid, suede, reptilian leather, gabardine and sculptured kid, one of Paris' latest creations, are all five star winners. And definitely it's an open toe season.

Since m'lady is stepping out with or without high hat and tails her choice in evening slippers might be Joyce of Hollywoods' "wrap around" stunning in black satin and red silk. Gold and silver, still ranking first, in metallic cloth, kid and brocade are featured as sandals with open toes. White satin trimmed in gold or silver are very new, but a black satin platform sole with gold trim has personality plus. Speaking of heels, high or low are equally popular with, of course, the open toe.

When Iowa snow flurries hit the campus snow boots will be just the remedy. This year the natural, light elk and brown boots are featuring leather soles. Cuffs will be made of plaid wool, lamb's wool and leather. Some manufacturers have laid 2-to-1 odds in favor of leather cuffs.

While speaking of odds, black is leading by 70 per cent, brown and rust shades are running a close second and blues, wines and greens are coming up third in the color race.

Clothes may make the woman, but this year fickle Dame Fashion has centered much of her personality punch in shoe styles.

Guest to Speak At Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Lunch

The guest speaker for the Y.W. C.A. cabinet and council luncheon Tuesday noon at the D and L grill will be Harold Ehrensperger, secretary of the board of education of the Methodist church and a member of the faculty of Northwestern university, appearing in Iowa City as a Religious Emphasis week speaker.

Special guests of the cabinet and council will be the advisory board,

Mrs. Emory Lane, chairman, Elizabeth Mills, Mrs. Andrew Woods, Mrs. I. L. Pollock, Mrs. William

Religious Emphasis Week Begins—

The University of Iowa's gigantic Religious Emphasis week, with its roster of nationally and internationally famous speakers, began yesterday afternoon when Jacques Maritain, philosopher from the University of Paris, presented a graduate college lecture in Old Capitol. The meetings of the week, extending through Friday, have as their purpose the consideration of the resources of religion for human life, with reference to both the individual and society. Sixteen religious leaders will participate in the discussion. In the above picture, Prof. Christian Richard of the school of religion, left, and Prof. Norman Foerster, right, director of the school of letters, are shown with Mr. Maritain.

of Iowa campus yesterday when Jacques Maritain, outstanding Catholic philosopher from the University of Paris, presented a graduate college lecture in Old Capitol.

Maritain's lecture was the beginning of a week filled completely with outstanding meetings, lectures, round tables and seminars under the direction of foremost religious leaders from all parts of the world.

"Those participating in the Iowa City Religious Emphasis week," the official program states, "represent a wide range of interest and viewpoint, and include clergy and laymen, men and women, Jews, Catholics and Protestants. Each speaker, in all freedom and sincerity, will bring his most constructive word on religion."

A retreat, at which members of the general committee for the Iowa week will meet visiting speakers, is scheduled as the only event today. The group will meet at the Theta Xi fraternity at 6 o'clock this evening.

Tomorrow morning, outstanding members of the speaking group will appear in the pulpits of Iowa City churches. They will likewise conduct Sunday evening meetings at churches and student centers tomorrow evening.

A. J. Muste, director of Labor temple in New York, will speak at the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning. Sam Higginbottom, agricultural missionary to India, will appear there tomorrow night.

Morning and evening meetings at the Congregational church tomorrow will be conducted by Frank W. McCulloch, a lawyer and specialist in industrial relations from Chicago, and Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton, writer and lecturer on problems of youth from Ann Arbor, Mich., will appear in the evening.

Jesse M. Bader, national director of the University Christian mission and a secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, will speak at the Baptist church in the morning, while Mr. McCulloch speaks tomorrow evening.

Harold Ehrensperger, secretary of the board of education of the Methodist church and a member of the faculty of Northwestern university, will speak at the Christian church tomorrow morning. Mr. Bader will speak there tomorrow evening.

E. Stanley Jones, famous missionary to India, will fill the pulpit at the Methodist church in the morning, while Mr. Ehrensperger speaks there tomorrow evening.

T. O. Wedel, secretary for college work of the national council of the Episcopal church, will speak both morning and evening, tomorrow at the Episcopal church. The English Lutheran church will have Joseph C. Sittler, pastor of Messiah Lutheran church in Cleveland Heights, Ohio, as its speaker both times.

Mrs. Overton will speak tomorrow morning at the Unitarian church.

Mrs. Brown To Be Hostess to Members Of Monday Group

Mrs. Tom Brown will be hostess to the members of the Monday club at her home, 141 Grand court, Monday.

The group will meet at 1:15 p.m. for dessert. The afternoon will be spent playing bridge.

Johnson County Demos Plan Intensive Speaking Campaign

Rallies in Solon, Lone Tree, I. C.; Gillette Will Speak

Johnson county democrats have planned the most intensive speaking schedule in their campaign for next week with rallies in Solon, Lone Tree and Iowa City, according to Will J. Jackson, county chairman. The speakers have not been designated for either the rally in Lone Tree Monday or in Solon Wednesday; but United States Senator Guy M. Gillette and Judge James P. Gaffney, democratic congressional nominee from Williamsburg, will appear at the rally in Iowa City Thursday. State Representative LeRoy Mercer and Ralph Ashbaugh, G of Ft. Dodge, discussed national and state issues at a rally in Swisher last night. Mr. Mercer discussed the national agricultural program and Ashbaugh limited his remarks to the homestead tax exemption law and its "benefits to Iowa."

Senator Gillette To Speak at Marengo

Sen. Guy M. Gillette will speak briefly at Marengo Thursday afternoon en route to the county-wide democratic rally in Iowa City that night, according to Attorney William R. Hart, member of the state democratic committee.

Christian Youth Conference To Meet Nov. 3-5

The 11th annual state-wide Iowa Christian Youth conference will meet Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Oskaloosa. Among the principal speakers will be Dr. E. E. Voigt, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

This conference is intended for all Iowa youth between the ages of 18 and 24. Its purpose is to decide a definite Christian way of life and to decide a solution to problems which might prevent the Christian from following this way. On Thursday morning Dr. Voigt will lead one of the discussion groups on the topic "Christian approaches to the economic order." Other groups will discuss international affairs. On Friday, Dr. Voigt will deliver an address on "Peace on Earth."

About 650 Iowa youths will attend.

GENE RIVKIN ASKS:

WHAT ARE YOUR REACTIONS TO THE MEN'S WEEK PROGRAM AS A WHOLE, AND TO THE KANGAROO COURT IN PARTICULAR, NOW THAT THE ENTIRE THING IS OVER?

Richard Fuson, G, Summum, Ill. — "The whole affair was rather pointless, but I guess it was all right. "The less said about the 'Kangaroo Court,' the better."

Jean Witmer, A4, Des Moines — "I heartily endorse the idea of more school spirit on the campus, but I do believe that the people in charge of Men's Week went about it in the wrong way."

Marvin Taub, A3, Rochester, N. Y. — "The fundamental idea behind the Men's Week program was a good one. The method, however, in which it was executed was a very despicable and brutal one."

"It would have been perfectly all right had it been organized, but when a bunch of hooligans carry on as if they were a lynch mob crying for victims, it becomes abominable."

"The mauling of some of the girls — who were no where in the vicinity of the supposed boundary — by far exceeded normal proportions."

"I'd like to see Men's Week as a tradition on the campus, but would also like to suggest to the persons who take charge of it next year, that it be better organized and handled a bit more intelligently."

Clara Lauderdale, A3, Tama — "It was a lot of fun — for the boys! I don't think it did much for the pep of the school."

Herbert Sostek, A2, Malden, Mass. — "To me the entire affair seemed to be infantile, unoriginal and nauseating."

"The boys tried to make up for the lack of originality by brute strength and sheer force. It was a cheap way for the boys to get some wholesale kisses, that's all."

"I never saw a worse exhibition of poor sportsmanship than the incident involving Merle Miller in the morning. It looked like the boys couldn't take it."

Mildred Ross, A3, Oelwein — "I thought that it was a swell idea and that it should be perpetuated. Only next year there ought to be more people involved."

Billie Young, A1, Cedar Rapids — "Of course I wasn't victimized, so I might not appreciate what some girls went through, but I thought it was lots of fun."
