

Daughter Held; Death of Mrs. Trow Unsolved

Mrs. Knox Denies Knowledge of Civil War Widow's Death

LE MARS, Nov. 14 (AP) — Mrs. Sumner Knox vigorously denied tonight, Sheriff Frank Scholer said, any connection with the death of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Trow, 91, whose body was found Saturday, buried in a kitchen cabinet in the garden of the Knox home.

The sheriff said Mrs. Knox, who had not been informed previously of the finding of the body, denied she knew anything about the circumstances of the Civil War widow's death or the shallow grave in which the cabinet was found.

Sheriff Scholer and other county and state officers informed Mrs. Knox of the finding of her mother's body when they went to a county home, where she has been in technical custody for several days, to serve a warrant charging her with forgery.

The forgery warrant charges Mrs. Knox with forging the signature of Mrs. Trow on pension checks sent to the woman by the federal government.

Sheriff Scholer said Mrs. Trow had not been seen since May.

Mrs. Knox, the sheriff said, did not fully explain why she indorsed her mother's pension checks, but steadfastly maintained she knew nothing of the older woman's mysterious death.

Previously Mrs. Knox had told officers her mother was visiting friends and relatives in other places.

Mrs. Knox was to be taken to Sioux City tonight for detention in the women's section of the county jail.

Officers present when Mrs. Knox was informed of the finding of the body said the woman appeared nervous, but did not break down.

Meanwhile officers discontinued digging in the garden of the Knox home after a day spent in an unsuccessful search for trace of an unidentified woman, who they said had impersonated Mrs. Trow.

The sheriff said Mrs. Knox admitted engaging an unidentified woman to impersonate her 91-year-old mother to quiet the suspicion of neighbors.

Authorities also were continuing their widespread hunt for Sumner Knox, son-in-law of the woman whose body was found in the kitchen cabinet.

French Leftists, Labor Unions Oppose 'Guided Economy' Plan

PARIS, Nov. 14 (AP) — Premier Edouard Daladier's plan of "guided economy" to pull France out of a financial mire became effective today amid rising opposition from left wing politicians and French labor unions. The government recognized potential dangers in additional measures now which might add new costs to French living, and passed up a projected second group of decrees which were to have been issued today to supplement the 32 adopted Saturday and effective today. A communique announced no more decrees would be promul-

Approve General Principles of Health Program Southern Medical Association Will Take No Official Action to Indorse or Condemn Act

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH AP Science Writer OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 14 (AP) — Members of the Southern Medical Association today approved the general principles of the national health program to be presented at the next session of congress. The association itself will take no official action either to indorse or condemn the program, which calls for the expenditure of up to $850,000,000 by 1948 in bettering the medical status of the American citizen, officials of the organization said.

However, individual physicians arriving for the association's meeting said in a private poll conducted today that they favored the proposed use of federal, state and local government funds to provide medical care for the poor, build and maintain additional hospitals, establish new medical clinics, and provide better care for mothers and children. They opposed in principle the establishment of compulsory health insurance until it can be worked out, if possible, under the direction of medical men acquired with the problem.

One prominent federal government physician warned the medical profession it must take an active part in the discussion of the national health program before congressional committees during the coming session. Some "pressure groups" may attempt to obtain legislation establishing health insurance first. "That would be putting the cart before the horse," he said. "We must first work out a long-range program for the use of tax funds to care for people too poor to afford medical care. After that it may be possible to develop an insurance plan for people with medium size incomes who want to protect themselves against the financial emergencies of sickness." Physicians interviewed pointed out that the national health program is a natural development of the principle that the health of the people is a "direct concern of the government," since a healthy population is an asset while a diseased population is a liability.

Dame Rumor Has Field Day

Iowa Athletics Topic for Talk

Leib, Schroeder Deny Action on Local Coaching Situation

Despite emphatic denials by Karl E. Leib, chairman of the board in control of athletics, and Athletic Director E. G. (Dad) Schroeder regarding the reported resignation of Coach Irl Tubbs and the choice of his successor, Dame Rumor and her legions of sources continued to hold sway on Iowa City street corners late last evening.

Late last night, Schroeder informed newspapermen that "to the best of my knowledge" the board in control of athletics did not plan any action either way until after the close of the Iowa football season.

"As far as any knowledge I have on the matter is concerned," Schroeder said, "you may take this statement as official."

Leib went even farther than Schroeder, saying that the bi-weekly meeting of the athletic board this afternoon was purely a "routine meeting," and denying that any action was contemplated by the board as far as he knew. In spite of these comments to the contrary, street corner gossip was certain that there was more in the air than just the scent of burning leaves.

Cross sections of the street corner opinions were that Irl Tubbs and his assistants, Pat Boland and Ernie Nevers, were "definitely out" as far as the University of Iowa was concerned; that a successor to Tubbs was already approached, if not already hired; that Irl Tubbs already had an offer from another school; that Tubbs' successor had just completed a very successful season in an eastern school; that whoever the coach was, he was certain to be a "big name" coach; that the board in control of athletics would ratify the resignation of Coach Tubbs and approve the hiring of this new coach at the athletic board meeting this afternoon; that the announcement of Tubbs' resignation of a new coach would be announced to the "I" men immediately after the Nebraska game this Saturday.

A petition, supposedly originating in Cedar Rapids, which was to have been circulated within the Iowa football squad urging the board to renew Tubbs' contract, did not make its appearance yesterday afternoon.

Meanwhile, it becomes more and more apparent as the time rolls by that everyone knows something and no one knows anything about the troubled athletic system on the University of Iowa campus. The board meeting today may clear up the whole situation one way or the other; it may take weeks, maybe months before the wishes of the athletic board are revealed to the ated and that parliament would act on any other measures deemed necessary to cope with France's financial problems, including the national debt, growing at the rate of 12 per cent a year and expected to be $70,000,000 francs (about $15,162,000,000) at the end of 1938.

Saturday's 32 decrees, which Finance Minister Paul Reynaud declared would give the government an extra 20,000,000,000 francs (about $52,000,000,000), in effect abolished the 40-hour week, increased income taxes, and increased the price of sugar, tobacco, bus and subway fares.

BITES BANDIT 82 Year Old Pioneer Foils Intruder

ADELANTO, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP) — An 82-year-old woman who fought Indians in the early days of the west held a decision today over a 35-year-old intruder who broke into her house in the Mojave desert community. Sheriff Emmett L. Shay said Elizabeth Christine Albertson surprised Arthur Fiola when she returned home from a walk, and that Fiola confessed he was hiding behind a door and intended to rob the woman. She bit Fiola on the hand, almost severing a finger, and pummeled him so severely he fled.

C. I. O. Group To Consider F. D. R.'s Plea

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14 (AP) — The Committee for Industrial Organization tonight summoned its peace committee into consultation in the wake of President Roosevelt's renewed plea for peace and unity within labor's ranks.

Seeking an end to the three year warfare between the C. I. O. and American Federation of Labor, Mr. Roosevelt in a letter called upon the first C. I. O. constitutional convention to leave open "every possible door to access to peace and progress in the affairs of organized labor in the United States."

C. I. O. Chairman John L. Lewis said the letter would be given "earnest and profound consideration." One high official of the C. I. O. who refused to be quoted, said the peace committee would draft a report for the convention and recommend some definite future course.

Was Second Message The chief executive's message was his second in recent weeks and substantially the same as that sent to the A. F. L. convention in Houston where it was received without demonstration.

"If the great gains already made are to be consolidated for the benefit of the workers as well as the management," Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "it is essential that there be cooperation among the wage earning groups, and because of this, I venture to express the hope, as I did to the American Federation of Labor, that every possible door to access to peace and progress in the affairs of organized labor in the United States be left open."

"Continued dissension can only lead to loss of influence and prestige to all labor. On the other hand, collective bargaining will be furthered by a united labor movement making for cooperation and labor peace which will be in the interest of all Americans."

After Lewis read the president's message, the delegates cheered for several minutes.

Tried Before The C. I. O. peace committee, headed by Phillip Murray, a leader of the steel union drive and vice chairman of the C. I. O., participated in the unsuccessful unity negotiations carried on in Washington with an A. F. L. committee in November and December last year.

The conferences collapsed at that time after Lewis and A. F. L. President William Green met face-to-face and threshed the subject out.

Since the 1937 peace conference Lewis has held to the position that peace could not be attained unless all C. I. O. unions were taken back and chartered by A. F. L. before jurisdictional conflicts were settled.

British Protest Press Attacks

Express Sympathy Toward Jewish People in Germany

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP) — Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the house of commons today that Britons had "deep sympathy" for the Jews in Germany, and disclosed the government had lodged a strong protest against nazi press attacks on certain British political leaders.

Under a barrage of questions from a house made angry by Germany's treatment of the Jews, Chamberlain failed to indicate what effect, if any, Germany's new campaign against the Jews would have on his efforts to get a lasting friendship pact with Reichstuehrer Adolf Hitler.

The prime minister gave either cautious replies or no answer to questions about his ideas for a colonial settlement with Germany.

One unanswered query was whether he did not think "recent happenings in Germany have proved abundantly that Germany is not fit to undertake the welfare of native populations."

The protest disclosed by Chamberlain was directed against an article in Der Angriff, official nazi party newspaper, last Friday stating "it is no coincidence" that the young Polish Jew who killed Ernst von Rath, German legation official in Paris, "took the same line" as Winston Churchill, Anthony Eden and Alfred Duff Cooper.

All three have been outspoken critics of Chamberlain's policy of "dealing with dictators."

Chamberlain said the government had protested to the German government in regard to recent press articles in the German press associating former British ministers and members of this house with the recent murder of Herr von Rath.

Killer of Two Given Life Sentence; Protests He Had No Malicious Intent

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP) — Robert Irwin, the "mad sculptor" who killed a mother and beautiful daughter and their apartment boarder on Easter morning, 1937, today accepted — but protesting gibberishly — a life in prison rather than the possibility of death in the electric chair.

The 31-year-old one-time divinity student and erstwhile asylum inmate abruptly was pleading guilty to second degree murder before completion of a jury to try him on first degree charges.

Irwin himself protested almost incoherently but finally yielded when the judge asked for a forthright plea.

COLD SHOWER Defendant Sentenced To Icy Bath

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP) — The court bailiff poured a pitcher of ice water down the neck of the defendant. Spectators gasped and their teeth chattered.

The bailiff reached for another pitcher, and another quart of cold water cascaded down the shoulders and around the ribs of the man.

The defendant, Gustav Berndt, 44, husky foundry worker, was accused of pouring two pitchers of ice water down the neck of his wife, Charlotte Berndt.

Police Judge Oliver Youngs decreed identical judgment would fit the case.

Refugee Plane Crash Kills 6 In Netherlands

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 14 (AP) — A Netherlands air liner loaded with Jewish refugees fleeing Germany crashed in a blinding rain-storm near Amsterdam's airport today, killing six of its occupants.

The entire crew of four and two women among the 14 passengers were killed. The pilot of the ill-fated Berlin to Amsterdam craft was Jan Duimelaar, one of the Netherlands' most famed airmen.

The women were Mrs. Weidman - Marx and Mrs. Marion Schneider-Desnitzky, both of Berlin.

The 12 other passengers were injured, all but one seriously.

To Report On Nazi Measures Against Jews

Move Intended To Convey Displeasure To German Reich

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP) — The United States government, plainly aroused by the sweeping measures taken against Jews by German nazis, called its ambassador home tonight for "report and consultation."

While officials issued no statement about the move, it was clear that it was intended to convey to the Reich's leaders and to the world that Washington strongly disapproves the treatment meted out to minorities in Germany.

The ambassador, Hugh R. Wilson, was directed to make his journey home immediately. Much significance was attached to the move, since it is one taken only in cases of outstanding importance. The step does not, however, mean a break in diplomatic relations.

Wilson will confer with President Roosevelt and also with Secretary of State Hull, provided Hull has not already left for the Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru. The date of Hull's departure has been moved up one day from Saturday to Friday of next week.

The treatment of Jews, including American Jews, in Germany, will form only one topic of consultation. A number of problems are outstanding between the two countries.

Nazi Draft New Anti-Semitic Laws

BERLIN, Nov. 14 (AP) — New decrees to ostracize Jews and regulate Jewish life in detail were being drafted by experts in German cabinet ministries tonight in continuation of nazi Germany's anti-Semitic campaign.

Jewish students were expelled from all universities and other institutions of higher learning today and other measures, aimed at preventing Germans from rubbing elbows with Jews, were in preparation.

Previously Jewish professors had been ousted, and in 1936 lower grade pupils from six to 14 years old were taken from German schools and put into private schools.

Besides the education order, Jews were forbidden, temporarily, to sell on the Berlin stock exchange and the Jewish automobile club was banned. The stock exchange order was designed to keep the market from falling in the face of reports from the provinces that there had been heavy selling offers on behalf of Jews.

The foreign office, meanwhile, apparently had been prepared for a British protest delivered by Sir George Ogilvie-Forbes, British charge d'affaires.

The protest was against an article in Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper Der Angriff which linked the names of several British statesmen with that of Herschel Grynszpan, Jewish youth who killed Ernst vom Rath, Paris German embassy secretary.

New Nickel Showing Jefferson To Make Debut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Thomas Jefferson nickel will make its debut today when 11,000,000 of the coins go on sale at the nation's banks. Many more millions will be minted as needed.

On one side of the coin is a profile of the third president and author of the Declaration of Independence, while his beautiful Monticello home is represented on the other.

Jefferson becomes the third person to be pictured on a regular coin of the United States. George Washington has been on several denominations and since 1932 has adorned the quarter, while Abraham Lincoln has been on the penny since 1909. The only other individuals honored were on special coins.

For 25 years, the buffalo-Indian head design was used for the nickel and 1,212,916,248 of them were minted.

Private Utilities Tell Supreme Court TVA Program Will End in Federal Monopoly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP) — Counsel for 15 utilities contended today before the supreme court that the Tennessee valley authority's power program would "result inevitably" in a "federal monopoly."

Raymond T. Jackson, Cleveland lawyer, added that the far-reaching enterprise also would "destroy the power of the states to regulate a local utility and end the right of an individual to engage in that business."

The utilities appealed to the supreme court from a three-judge federal court in eastern Tennessee which decided that they "have no immunity from lawful competition even if their business be curtailed or destroyed."

Justice Reed, who as solicitor general argued for the government in a previous TVA case before the tribunal, disqualified himself from participating in this controversy. That means the decision will be by seven justices, since there is one vacancy on the nine-man court.

Down
The Sports
Trail

By PAUL MICKELSON
NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—
"If this keeps up," predicted the old professor at his Monday morning session for football coaches today, "we will have to substitute for our annual graduation exercises a spelling bee or a lecture on how to survive the winter banquet tour. There's supposed to be 10 students on every honor roll but danged if I can see that many stars unless we recruit some of the boys from the junior class."

However, graduation day was set for Nov. 28 at which time the sheep from the goats and re-old professor will try to separate ward the sheep with sheepskins.
Professor: Elmer, how come you do us like you do?

Elmer Layden, Notre Dame: We beat Minnesota, but it was a tough, clean game, professor. I didn't like the way we were kept in our own back yard all afternoon but it was gratifying to see how the team worked together to make three touchdowns while we could only make two first downs. All we have left is Northwestern and Southern California.

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota: If we had a stand-out left half, we might have done more on offense, professor, but I'm not alibing.
Notre Dame was the better team.
Its speed, sharp tackling and blocking was too much.

Professor: I know Dutch admires the Irish, too.

Dutch Meyer, T. C. U.: I love em, professor. Especially the O'Briens. O'Brien and Aldrich make a team—but even they need the others. My boys are getting better, professor.

Dana X. Bible, Texas: Professor, Dutch's team is great because it has that fine combination—O'Brien on offense, Ki Aldrich on defense.
The Christian passing attack far surpasses anything I've seen in this section.

Professor: Dana, if you only had that contract of yours and the T. C. U. team, Ray, I thought you were going to lick Tennessee.

Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt: Nope, they were too tough for us to handle, professor. If they get the Rose Bowl invitation, they'll put on a great show.

Bob Neyland, Tennessee: That shifting Vandy defense stopped us cold that first half but we finally got going. That was a close call, professor. Don't let anyone mention Rose Bowl to me. We've got two more to play.

Professor: Wallace, my lad, speak up.

Wallace Wade, Duke: Professor, with the return of our injured backs our defense is becoming better balanced and showed it against Syracuse. But we still look bad against passes.

Ossie Solem, Syracuse: I'd like to look that bad. Professor, I'm glad the score wasn't more than 21-0. That's really a great ball club.

Professor: Far above Cayuga's waters, tra al la . . .

Carl Snaveley, Cornell: Yes sir, professor. I'm here. That Dartmouth team is great. It took a bunch of super-players to beat em. My boys were super-men Saturday.

Earl Blaik, Dartmouth: All I care to say at this sitting is that Cornell has a fine team. They were much too powerful for us, up in front.

Tom Stidham, Oklahoma: I'm happy. We looked ragged against Missouri but won. Professor, that Paul Christianman really can play football.

Don Faurot, Missouri: My derby's off to the Sooners. They have the finest ball club I've seen this season.

Biff Jones, Nebraska: So does Pitt. Professor, it's the same old story. You can't make mistakes against the Panthers.

Joek Sutherland, Pittsburgh:
Remember I predicted it would be a tough game, professor. It was. We got the breaks and won.

Michigan and Northwestern Battle to Scoreless Tie

Football strategy and manpower proved of no avail when Michigan and Northwestern clashed at Ann Arbor in a thrilling contest that ended in a scoreless tie. Here being stopped by Jefferson of Northwestern.

Professor: We'll now hear from the scoreless wonders.

Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern:
Professor, we had the ball on Michigan's one yard line, first down, but couldn't put it over.
We were lucky to get a scoreless tie against that kind of defense.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan: That's right, professor. My boys refused to get licked. I'm disappointed, though. That tie just about ruined our Big Ten title hopes.

Professor: As a reminder, we'll now hear two very sad stories from the land of sunshine.

Howard Jones, Southern California: It was a case of too much Art Means, professor. Washington was better but if we can beat U. C. L. A. Turkey day I believe we still will get the Rose Bowl.
But that Means! Wotta guard.
He spilled our running attack all day.

Jimmie Phelan, Washington:
Professor, I knew we had 'em when the Trojans kicked on fourth down with only a yard to go for first down on our 30 near the end of the game. Let's start the season all over again.

Slip Madigan, St. Mary's: Professor, please excuse my sophomoric enthusiasm, but our victory over Santa Clara provided me one of the happiest moments of my illustrious career. Whoopee!

Buck Shaw, Santa Clara: The Gaels gave us a lesson in the aerial and rope department, professor. Well, we had to lose some time. Now is the time to start up the ladder again.

BITS

Rumors, rumors and more rumors seem to be the order of the day here in Iowa City as the football season draws to a close. Street corner conversation would have it that Coach Tubbs and his staff are on the way out as far as the University of Iowa is concerned. Others say that the coach who is to supplant Tubbs has already been "contracted and hired."

After more than a little time and trouble spent in chasing down some of these rumors, it seems that nobody — that is nobody who might be in a position to verify or deny them — seems to know a great deal about the present status of the coaching staff.

However, in fairness to those who select the coaching staff — when that becomes necessary — no one has taken action along that line, regardless of rumors to the effect that the deal had already been signed, sealed and all but delivered.

The solemn word of several men who are in a position to know those things is more than enough to satisfy us that nothing in the nature of supplanting the present staff with another has been acted upon.

There is considerable dissatisfaction with the results of the current football season. This, perhaps, is rightly so. Most fans had been expecting a great deal more of the squad than was forthcoming. This is a perfectly normal reaction of one who has been disappointed.

Some have laid the blame squarely on the doorstep of the board in control of athletics. Again the charge may be a bit hasty. A more thorough investigation may prove that nothing of the sort is true. Then, the question is asked, who or what is to blame? The answer to that question is more than difficult — it's practically impossible to answer.

It is extremely doubtful if any one person or thing could be pointed out as the sole reason for Iowa's athletic decline. It's a problem that can be solved, but not in one hour or one day. It may take considerable time, more than the average individual realizes. It will be solved, however, and the solution should come in the near future.

A little confidence at this time will go a long way in making it a little easier on those most concerned with the athletic future of the University of Iowa.

Cyclone Coaches Remain Optimistic Over Prospects

AMES, Nov. 14 (AP) — Iowa State college's football coaching staff, after reviewing scouts' reports, today remained optimistic over the prospects of a Cyclone victory over Oklahoma here Saturday in the climaxing game of the Big Six conference race.

Coaches predicted the Cyclone line would be able to hold the backfield would enable Quarterback Everett Kischer to alternate successfully his aerial and running attacks.

Today reserves scrimmaged against freshmen as the regulars rested after Saturday's tie game with Kansas State.

Halfback Henry Wilder was out for practice today loosening up his muscles after a long period on the sidelines with an injury.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — One of the greatest ovals ever tendered a University of Wisconsin football team was given yesterday to the Badger eleven which Saturday defeated U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles. Close to 5,000 students and townspeople turned out for their return.

Among the 10 veterans who will be playing their last game for Iowa when the Hawkeyes square off against Nebraska's Cornhuskers here Saturday, none will be missed more keenly than Bob Allen, right, and Chuck Brady, Iowa's sterling guards. Allen, who comes from Chicago has been one of the standouts of the Hawkeye line for the last two years and is, in addition, a star swimmer. Brady, from Mason City, is known as one of the toughest guards in the conference and is always in there battling. Together they form a combination that makes the center of the Hawkeye line all but impenetrable and, if opposing teams have gained against the Hawks this year, it has not been through Brady and Allen who will be in there Saturday to prove to a doubting Cornhusker forward wall that the Iowa guards are as rough as they come.

Safety Decides Close Game In Greek League

After battling on even terms throughout the entire game, Phi Epsilon Pi scored a 2 to 0 victory over the men from Phi Kappa Psi in the only game played in section I of the interfraternity touch-football league. Norman Sandler, Phi Epsilon Pi back, put his team in scoring position on several occasions but they lacked the scoring punch to push across the goal.

Hawkeye Run Closes Outdoor Track Season

Hawkeye cindersmen will get their last taste of outdoor competition for this fall when they cover two miles of ground on Finkbine field in a battle for the traveling trophy and the medals offered as prizes in the annual Hawkeye cross country run.

Merlin Erickson won the Hawkeye event last year in 10:34. The Canby pole vault, the next event on the fall track program will take place Nov. 29 in the fieldhouse. Dale Roberts was last year's champion with a height of 11-8.

Event Was Scheduled For Fieldhouse

An exceptionally heavy schedule of events in the fieldhouse swimming pool has forced University of Iowa athletic officials to decline an opportunity to hold the Midwestern A. A. U. swimming meet in Iowa City this year, according to Swimming Coach Dave Armstrong.

With the Iowa pool not available, the meet will be held in Omaha, Jan. 14 under the auspices of the Omaha Athletic club.

Hawkeyes Come Out Of Indiana Game With Minor Injuries

Saturday's game against Nebraska will be the last collegiate game for 10 Hawkeye gridders, and the final effort of the fruitless 1938 season for the University of Iowa football team.

Coach Tubbs excused everyone yesterday and today will probably see the Hawks prepare weapons to pierce a stubborn Husker defense that is rapidly improving with every game.

Both the Huskers and the Hawkeyes have similar records for the year. The two teams have each won a game, tied one and lost five in an uneventful season for the respective squads.

"The Huskers are improving," Coach Rollie Williams, who scouted Nebraska in their game with Pittsburg, said. "They played good ball against Pittsburg, although losing 19-0. Charley Brock, the center, is a great defense man," he added.

The Husker attack, which has not looked dangerous all season, may break out at any time and the Iowans are being duly warned. Physically the Hawkeyes came out of the hard-fought Indiana battle with but minor injuries. Erwin Prasse, who was removed from the game because of an injury will be able to play against Nebraska, Dr. W. W. Hayne reported. Prasse incurred no broken bones. A nerve injury necessitated his removal.

Irish Rank First in Grid Poll

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP) —

The mightiest Notre Dame football team since the Halycon days of the late, great Knute Rockne took over national leadership in the fifth Associated Press poll of sports writers, today.

The flying Irish, who bagged their seventh major victory Saturday, rolled up a total of 887 points to lead Texas Christian, the first team a week ago, by 101 points. Sixty of the 92 sports writers who participated in the poll named Notre Dame as their No. 1 eleven.

The rise of the Irish from second to first place was accompanied by other upheavals of lesser note. Tennessee, paladin of the southeastern conference moved from fourth to third, and Duke, triumphant over Syracuse in its northern invasion, rose from seventh to fourth. Unbeaten Oklahoma, the class of the corn country, jumped from tenth to seventh and Cornell, which finally harnessed its acknowledged manpower against Dartmouth, made the poll's biggest gain, a spurt from 20th to eighth.

Others mentioned: Boston college 12, Georgetown 10, Minnesota 9, Iowa State and Ohio State 4 each, Georgia Tech and St. Mary's 3 each, Auburn 2, North Carolina, Vanderbilt and Clemson 1 each.

Notre Dame's exceptional showing against Minnesota apparently was all the pundits needed. The Irish had been moving swiftly, defeating in turn Kansas, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Carnegie Tech — a close one — Army and Navy.

But when Minnesota, always large, courageous and well-drilled fell, the press — and the public gave heed. As the Irish move toward their last two battles, Northwestern at Evanston Saturday, and Southern California at Los Angeles on Dec. 3, they carry more prestige than any

Supt. of Schools Commends Teachers Annuity Law in Talk

Plan Based Only On Business Principles, A. W. Merrill Says

"We must base the teachers annuity law on the good of education in general and of the children for whom the schools exist," asserted A. W. Merrill, superintendent of schools in Des Moines, addressing a combined meeting of the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women last night in the river room at Iowa Union.

Worry and fear for the future are detrimental to the efficiency of the teacher, he added, pointing out in his address on "Proposed Legislation for Teachers Annuities in Iowa," that security for the teacher is security for the child.

"The annuity plan now proposed is based upon savings account idea where a percentage is taken from the teacher's wages before he receives his check," he continued.

Mr. Merrill contrasted and compared the bill which failed to pass the last session of the legislature with the proposed plan. He enumerated the funds which would be formed under the new system and explained how the annuity would be paid.

"The desire for teachers annuities is not based on selfishness or sentimentality," he said, "but on purely business principles. Private industry long ago realized need for pensions. The United States realized it, but the state has failed to do anything effective for one of the large groups—the teachers."

With the proposed bill in effect, the status of the teacher would be changed from a trade to a profession, Mr. Merrill pointed out.

At the close of his address, Mr. Merrill conducted a round table discussion, answering questions asked concerning the proposed plan. Mrs. R. H. Ojemann introduced the speakers.

Prof. Sayre To Broadcast

Prof. Paul L. Sayre of the college of law will present the fourth broadcast in the family course of the Radio Child Study club over WOI and WSUI at 2:30 this afternoon.

Meteorite Seen Sunday

Edward Mittendorf, Davenport, Reports Phenomenon

Prof. C. C. Wylie of the astronomy department received communication yesterday from Edward Mittendorf of Davenport telling of his sighting a meteor in the northwestern skies Sunday about 5:35 p.m.

Mittendorf stated that he was standing on the government bridge in Davenport when he saw the "fireball" which was brighter than any star or planet, but not as bright as the moon. He reported that the path of the meteor was slightly curved.

Professor Wylie said that evidently Mittendorf had taken a course in astronomy because he gave the location of the meteor with respect to the stars in Draco, the "dragon," and Corona, the "northern crown."

Anyone in this vicinity who saw the meteor Sunday night is asked to correspond with Professor Wylie, who returned Sunday from a week end trip to Joliet, Ill., where he had been studying a meteorite which had fallen through a car. The university professor had been called to make a study of the rock to decide upon its authenticity. He found it authentic.

He said that it was the second recovery of a meteorite which had fallen in the state of Illinois. The first was in 1927.

This last meteorite fell on Sept. 29. It had crashed through a frame garage and a car.

Canvass of Votes Reveals One Error To Favor Baldwin

Canvassing of the votes in all Johnson county precincts, while not changing any results, revealed only one discrepancy of any importance, according to a report from the board of supervisors which concluded its checking yesterday afternoon.

E. A. Baldwin, democratic candidate for county attorney, received 100 more votes than was certified by the election officials of the first precinct, first ward. That left his opponent, re-elected County Attorney H. W. Vestermark, with a 106 plurality.

The law requires a canvass of the votes, asking that the board of supervisors check the final list of votes which has been submitted by the counting boards of all the precincts in the county after the recent general election.

The state scholarship contest, popularly known as the "brain derby," will be held for the eleventh time at the University of Iowa next June.

Dates of the 1939 event are June 5 and 6, when some 1,100 pupils from nearly half of the state's high schools will come to the university for the series of examinations. Prof. E. P. Lindquist of the college of education is director of the contest.

These qualifiers will be determined by the "every-pupil" tests of May 8 and 9 when each pupil enrolled in a course is compelled to take the examination. The "every-pupil" affair does not involve school competition, the results being made available to school officials for check on the progress of instruction.

The high school events have no connection with the basic skills testing program for pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, to be conducted Jan. 18 to Feb. 1 by the college of education.

On the program for 1939 is the usual list of 12 subjects, ranging from plane geometry and world history to English correctness and contemporary affairs.

BANKING LOOKS AHEAD

We should go Forward

After every setback, America has gone forward. But we should not rest our hopes for the future on a blind faith that history will repeat itself.

True, the stage is set for prosperity. New products are needed everywhere. Business is ready to fill these needs. Banks have ample credit. And millions are able to buy.

We should go forward—but first there must be cooperation. All groups must work together for our common goal—progress.

New Road Reflectors May Reduce Accidents

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A new type of reflector will be installed along three miles of the heavily traveled Bayshore highways. The line of lenses, about 30 inches above the ground, will outline the highway far ahead at night by reflecting one's car's headlights.

A pedestrian or unlighted vehicle ahead, highway officials say, would break the line of lights and thus give warning of its presence.

Santa Is Coming to Town!

He Will Bring His Parade of Story Book Characters to Iowa City

The story of Santa Claus is old, and yet an ever-new story to the children who for weeks before Christmas each year allow their thoughts to dwell on the jovial, red-faced, bewhiskered old Saint Nicholas.

Santa Claus himself is old—almost as old as time. But his story is ever-new because he does not allow himself to become out-of-date or "behind the times." As conditions change, so does Santa change. But the principles of love and unselfishness for which he stands do not change. They are the same yesterday, today and forever.

So it is that when Santa Claus brings his magnificent pageant and parade to Iowa City, appearing here Saturday, Nov. 26, he will bring many figures and characters familiar to everyone as well as new objects and units never before seen in this city. The vast throngs which view the parade here will find that truly, Santa Claus has kept up with the times. Spectators will see Mother Goose characters and story-book characters from the realm of make-believe; but they will also see modern bands in snappy uniforms, cathedral chimes on a musical float, beautiful young Iowa City girls dressed in the height of fashion, and many other up-to-date attractions.

The city is already beginning to take on an atmosphere of joviality and mirth in preparation for Santa's visit here. Shop windows are being decorated with Christmas gifts and shelves in the stores are filled with articles of interest to everyone.

Cynics scoff at the idea of identifying commercialism with the spirit of Christmas. True, Christmas and the sentiments it is expressive of are too sacred to contaminate with vulgarities of trade. Yet business, commercialism and trade are sacred in their places and necessary to life to such an extent that Christmas festivities, and commercialism have survived through many generations.

Not only are the shops taking on the aspect of the holidays, but the general atmosphere on every hand indicates that everyone is awaiting Santa's visit with expectation.

Children are showing unusual willingness to gratify the slightest wish of their parents. There is very little "sassiness" to elders. Even the grown-ups are becoming fired with enthusiasm. The spirit is in the air—it is everywhere—and there is but one answer and one explanation: SANTA CLAUS IS COMING TO TOWN!

There will be many wonderful features in Santa's great pre-Christmas parade in Iowa City on Saturday, Nov. 26. They will interest persons of all ages, young and old. In other stories that will appear in The Daily Iowan from day to day until the date of Santa's arrival, these parade units will be outlined briefly. No attempt will be made to properly describe them because they defy adequate description in ordinary words of the English language.

Suffice to say that no one is going to want to miss this beautiful Christmas pageant, nor miss seeing Santa Claus and his reindeer. Write your friends and relatives in nearby towns, inviting them to come to Iowa City on the day Santa will be present. Neither they nor you will ever regret it. It will be a red-letter day in Iowa City's history, a day long to be remembered, a day of joy and thanksgiving.

ROMANCE IN

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, creates a furore on the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, when she erects a sign in front of her cottage announcing "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE." Her plan is to help guide 100 student "members" in their social and love affairs for a small fee. Bob Towne, campus football hero, attracted by Sara Sue, is the first to enroll. This enrages Peaches Pomeroy, a senior, who regarded herself as "Bob's girl" the previous year. Worthington Gurley, apprehensive freshman, provides another interesting problem for Sara Sue. But the climax in her Cottage Plan occurs when Dr. Thornton Holgate, new member of the faculty, begs Sara Sue to help him... then confides he has fallen in love with Peaches Pomeroy. Gurley obtains a date with Sara Sue for the freshman ball, which displeases Towne; but Bob accepts it gracefully. Sara Sue finds her affairs growing complicated, but feels much better after confiding her troubles to a close friend, Roxy Powell.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER 10

THE FACULTY meeting of the Rice Institute was called to order at 4 p.m.

First item of business: "Mr. Sam Konomos requests permission to speak to the faculty, sir."

President Edgar Odell Lovett of the Rice Institute looked at his secretary.

"Konomos?"

"Yes, Dr. Lovett. He is proprietor, I believe, of the Houstex Inn, located across Rice boulevard from the campus."

"Um, Well, it is in no way connected with the university, but conceivably Mr. Konomos has legitimate business here. Ask him to come in, please."

Mr. Konomos would have been completely in atmosphere inside a prize fight ring. Indeed, he had once been a prize fighter. He weighed 205 pounds, and he was hairy, and his skin was dark, and his nose was flat, which caused him to wheeze a trifle. He smelled a little of alcohol and cheese.

On the other hand, the faculty chamber in the Rice administration building is one of the most beautiful rooms in Texas.

"It is an honor to welcome you, Mr. Konomos," said Dr. Lovett, who is about the most gracious gentleman imaginable. "Will you have this seat, sir?" He indicated a chair, and Sam slid into it, wheezing, glancing right and left.

"I ain't got too much time," Sam began.

"Quite so, sir. We shall endeavor to move swiftly. Proceed."

"It's about this widow, this Davis. She's ruin my business."

Nobody said anything to that.

"She's take all the trade," Sam went on. He turned to glare at the professors, instructors and assistants. "She come here with soft soap. She put up the fresh sign. She make love with everybody, ha! She is ruin my business, this romance house!" Sam's muscles bulged noticeably and he got up excitedly. "I have been in business three year. Is not fair she cut in!"

There was much more talk, with some questions from the faculty. Nobody voiced an opinion, however, until Mr. Konomos departed.

"So far as I am concerned," one faculty member spoke out then, "I cannot see that it is any affair of ours. But personally I can testify that the Houstex Inn is anything but savory in reputation. I hope she puts him out of business!"

Applause, and smiles, closed the discussion.

Next item of business: Report from Mr. James Britt, football coach.

"I have nothing unusual at this time, gentlemen," said Coach Jimmy, who had just come in. "The squad seems to be progressing nicely. You are already aware of the high interest in football this fall. I am doing everything possible to stress scholarship, as we previously agreed here. If any of my lads show signs of falling down in studies, please let me know promptly and I will take up the matter individually. The team morale seems to be exceptionally good. For one thing, I am getting some valuable co-operation from a person who, it appears, has a rather remarkable personality and influence. It is a Mrs. Davis, a widowed lady, of whom you may have heard elsewhere. She operates a new, all-service, across Main street. I find her quite a help, when I had feared she might be a distraction."

"Um, Thank you, Jimmy," said Dr. Lovett. "Please meet with us as often as you can."

Next item of business: "The faculty is herewith presented with a brief written report from Mr. Wasson, the dormitory manager," said Dr. Lovett's secretary. "It reads as follows: "Gentlemen:

"My records for the week show all rooms occupied, three illnesses of which one required hospitalization, and disbursements of $84.75 for supplies and repairs, invoices attached. This is exclusive of the mess hall.

"The general survey indicates, however, some minor disturbances are resulting from students trading in memberships in a new social club. Demand for these memberships, which seem to be limited in number, apparently is very great. Memberships which cost $3 initially have sold for as high as $30 in a few cases, I learned. I will make further investigation, if you so request.

"Respectfully submitted, "JACOB WASSON."

The dean of the institute arose from his chair at this point.

"I move you, sir," he addressed the president, "that Mr. Wasson and the student government counsel be asked to meet at once with a faculty committee to investigate this matter. As you well know, Rice has maintained strict taboo on fraternities, sororities and such social clubs as function in a secret manner, tending to destroy the freedom and democracy we have cherished here. Perhaps it is just some of the new students, not acquainted with our traditions, however, so I think there is no cause for hasty action."

At that juncture Loren Dall Rogers, Ph.D., took the floor. Dr. Rogers, instructor in English literature, was smiling.

"I think I can allay the dean's fears," he announced. "I happen to room in the faculty tower myself, near the students. This 'club' to which Mr. Wasson refers is no threatened secret order, nor fraternity. It is simply the same one already mentioned — the Cottage Club, organized by one, Mrs. Sara Sue Davis, who resides across Main boulevard. I have heard innumerable discussion of it in the dormitories. I think the matter will evolve its own solution satisfactorily, but I shall be glad to look into it and report further here."

Next item of business: "A telegram," said the president's secretary, "has come from The New York Journal-American.

"Gentlemen:

"Our Houston correspondent has sent a most interesting article concerning a new Cottage Plan for developing individual and group social life in Rice Institute, sponsored by Sara Sue Davis, a matron. Are we authorized to say that Mrs. Davis is ex-officio a member of the Rice faculty, or that she operates independently, but with your guidance and approval? You can understand how this would have added weight if it carried faculty endorsement, at least. Apparently Mrs. Davis' plan is rather distinctive in that she offers personal guidance. Eastern colleges have been striving for some means of combating the unwholesome roadhouse type of social attraction for students, and we are prepared to give full display to Mrs. Davis' enterprise, but would like to have your exact relationship to the plan there."

"The telegram is signed by the managing editor, who requests that we telegraph him a reply, collect," the secretary concluded.

"Um," said Dr. Lovett.

He peered over his spectacles at his colleagues. Could he be detecting twinkles in eyes that normally were serious, dignified?

"Ahem!" the president rumbled it, quite seriously. "It is almost time to adjourn this faculty session, and we seem not to have accomplished a thing. Have you gentlemen observed that every item of business so far has centered around, or at least led up to, some consideration of this Davis woman? Lady, perhaps I should say; I do not know her. I understand she is a widow. One of you mentioned that she is red haired, although what significance that holds in these discussions, I cannot say. But is it true that an entire faculty session must be given over to a young lady in no way connected with this university?"

A youngish looking professor, wearing horn-rimmed spectacles, took the floor.

"Mr. President!"

"Dr. Holgate," the chairman acknowledged him.

"I, of course, lament the crowded condition of our business calendar this afternoon, but I do wish to declare, emphatically, that Mrs. Davis is a most estimable young woman, and one, I think, of extraordinary."

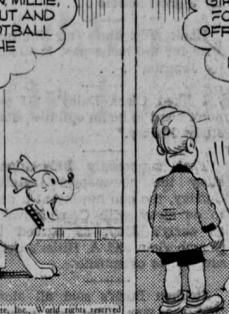

After considerable further discussion, the faculty meeting of the Rice Institute adjourned at 6 p.m.

Drivers Detour To Save Trees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington drivers have just started a 30-year detour because the great majority of the city's people love trees.

The detour has been made in "K" street, an important cross-town thoroughfare which was just widened. Engineers feared the public clamor that would arise if they cut down the handsome elms which lined the street, so they widened the street, but left narrow islands down each side in which the elms stand untouched.

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are 60,000 children born each year with syphilis, says Dr. R. V. Vonderlehr, assistant surgeon general. He believes 95 per cent of these infancy infections could be prevented if the mothers had prenatal treatment.

look-forward-to event? . . .

Wonder if there was ever an educational underling who, after all, wasn't sure he'd be a better dep't head . . . If he only had the chance . . .

Margaret Halsey must surely have the most delightful hobby of all . . . Hers is NOT being photographed by candid camera fans . . .

Whitford Kane, who did the delightful Bottom in Sunday's "BRC" "Midsummer Night's Dream," did the same part on the campus not many seasons back . . .

Unless there's a sudden switch, Dodie Carlson'll be the good fairy in Blue Bird . . . A good part for a good actress . . .

Hank Forsythe's an informal slate for the name part in "Johnny Johnson" . . .

I liked Clara Daley's "If you don't want to be an optimist, don't study history."

That supposedly SENSational story the newspapers featured Sunday, the one hinting at a deal to do away with Czechoslovakia as early's May, as agreed by Chamberlain and A. Hitler's not a surprise to campuses . . .

Stephen Bush's said all along that the war scare was only a scare . . . That the decision about what should be done with the Czechs was decided long before Munich . . .

He thinks Germany—militarily speaking—has England, France backed off the map . . . and all three know it . . .

J. Van der Zee places the next major killing about 1943 . . . He thinks it'll take that long for Britain, France to re-arm . . .

Prof. Schone once almost decided to join the Dresden Boys' choir, had been asked . . . But his parents decided no . . .

Occurred to me at Sunday night's concert that Deems Taylor must be right . . . He said, "Music, like olives, becomes more appreciated the more it is tasted" . . . Brahms seemed more intellectually inspiring Sunday than I'd ever remembered . . .

Odd McIntyre once wrote it . . . Columning, he wrote, is the art of saying nothing, saying it often and pleasantly . . .

"... or were these 5 victims just EASY TO KILL?"

ONLY ONE WOMAN in this quiet, innocent English village scented murder—cold-blooded, cunning murder. "It's very easy to kill," she told Luke Fitzwilliam, "if no one suspects you." But before she could name the killer, she, too, was struck down. And Luke, just back from police duty in the Straits Settlements, found himself facing a new kind of menace—"accidental" death... You'll find the first installment of this mystery thriller on page 5 of your Post.

"The (Washington) Redskins offer to go anywhere and play any single college team in the country a sixty-minute game under any rules, behind closed gates, without benefit of box office, to prove they can beat a college team any day in the week."
