Warns U. S. Against Fortifying Pacific Islands As Means Toward Gaining Foothold in China

TOKYO, Jan. 16 (AP)—A newspaper considered an organ of the army and ultra-nationalistic elements warned the United States today against fortification of Guam and Wake islands if it is intended as the means toward a political foothold in China.

If such is the case, Kakumin Shimbu declared, "the Japanese people are determined to smash the American fleet."

The newspaper demanded to know "the real intentions of the American people in the western respect for territorial integrity of China and maintenance of the open door for trade she was unable to protest fortification of Guam but "realized such fortification would menace Japan's mandated islands and naturally the Japanese are gravely concerned."

(Japan has not formally abrogated the treaty which she signed in 1922 but holds that some principles of the past have been rendered no longer binding by her conquest in China. Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita on Dec. 19 declared "Some articles of the nine-power pact seem obsolete.")

"This is not the view of the army and navy but the determination of the Japanese people," Kokumin Shimbu asserted.

The newspaper said that since Japan has abrogated the nine-power Washington treaty pledging quarters said Hungary now was in such close accord with Germany's general aims that secondary problems, such as differences of opinion over Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia), could be solved easily.

(Hungary has been dissatisfied with the boundaries established by the Vienna agreement of Nov. 2 between herself and the Czechoslovak province.)

After announcement that Dr. Fritz Grobba, minister to Iraq, would be minister to Saudi Arabia as well, the press said Germany was ready to help this country develop gold and petroleum fields recently discovered.

The credit agreement with Turkey was negotiated during a visit of the German economics minister, Walther Funk, to Ankara last October. A Turkish delegation came here to complete details, which were concluded quickly "in a friendly spirit," according to DNB, official German news agency.

The agency predicted the agreement "will contribute toward the expanding and deepening close economic relationship already existing between the two friendly states."

France Receives Demands To Save Spanish Government

Franco Asks Foe to Disarm

Declares Army Will Not Harm Barcelona, 'But Will Save Her'

By JOHN LLOYD

PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—Demands for a last desperate effort to save the hard-pressed Spanish government poured in on the French government today, as Generalissimo Franco appealed to his foe to lay down arms in face of his advancing legions.

In a broadcast message, the generalissimo declared his forces were advancing on Barcelona "not to destroy her but to save her."

While 150,000 insurgent soldiers—Spaniards, Italians and Moors—converged relentlessly on the government capital, Paris became the focal point of anti-fascist hopes. In all, Franco's Catalonian forces were estimated at 300,000.

Although the fall of the sea-board metropolis would not necessarily end the civil war it was felt generally that its capitulation would assure Franco ultimate victory.

Reports were that the capital might be transferred to the extreme northeast tip of Catalonia, on the French frontier, if government officials were forced to flee.

From anti-fascists came warnings that a Franco victory would mean a dangerous setback for the democracies. French Premier Daladier, whose country has sent at least its moral support to the Spanish government, was swamped by demands for some kind of action.

At Geneva, white-haired Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, foreign minister of the Barcelona government, would not disclose what aid he would ask of friendly governments but one Spaniard said it was "high time for France to give us something more than words."

Spanish on the government side wanted France to open her Spanish frontiers to shipment of arms and ammunition. They warned France that insurgent victory in Spain might cost France her North African protectorate, Tunisia.

Alvarez Del Vayo postponed demands he had intended to make on the league of nations council but said "I will deal with the new situation on a subsequent occasion."

Germany Pushes Eastward

Signs $60,000,000 Agreement With Turkey; Minister Sent to Saudi Arabia

BERLIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Germany's eastward push gained momentum from three sides today with Hungary, Turkey and Saudi Arabia figuring in the developments.

A $60,000,000 credit agreement was signed with Turkey for delivery of German manufactured goods to Turkey.

For the first time Germany accredited a minister to the kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Hungary and Germany opened conversations looking to closer relations.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Stefan Cskay, the Hungarian foreign minister, conferred for two hours. The talks were expected to bind Hungary closer to the Rome-Berlin axis.

A communique said "All questions concerning Germany and Hungary were raised." The Hungarian government has announced it would join the anti-communist pact among Germany, Italy and Japan this week.

Later, after Chancellor Hitler had joined in the Ribbentrop-Cskay conversations, semi-official

'SOS' Canceled By British Ship As Aid Nears

THOMASTON, Me., Jan. 16 (AP)—Mackay radio tonight reported the British steamer Swinburne canceled a call for assistance that set two ships speeding to her aid through gale-swept seas off Cape Hatteras.

Mackay said the Swinburne's operator told a Bermuda shore station the vessel no longer needed aid and would proceed, under her own power, to Bermuda, roughly 300 miles away.

The Swinburne, a 4,659-ton freighter in the New York-South American service, had sent out an SOS, shortly after 7 p. m. (CST), saying a boarding sea stove in a hatch and giving a position about 200 miles east of stormy Cape Hatteras.

Mackay reported hearing the cancellation about an hour later.

Guard Against New Explosions In England, Northern Ireland

Authorities Attribute Blasts to Patriotic British-Irish Enmity

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Guards watched nearly every power station and reservoir in United Kingdom tonight following 10 explosions in England and northern Ireland, which authorities believed resulted from enmity between Irish and British patriots.

The tenth explosion occurred tonight at the huge water tower at Birmingham's power station. Another damaged an electricity pylon near Alnwick.

Earlier, some bombs shook the electric plant at Southwark, and exploded on the cable bridge over the grand junction canal at Harlesden in London.

As shoppers slouched through slush and rain, a department store advertised "Just ask for the loan of an umbrella. No 'cover charge'."

All we ask is your name and address and that you'll return it in a day or three so that you may borrow it again."

SAN PEDRO, Cal. (AP)—Count Anastase A. Vonsiatsky, head of the White Russians' national revolutionary party, expressed belief yesterday on his arrival from New York by boat that a general European war in the spring is inevitable.

Gloria Patri! Coughlin Praised By Italian Fascists

ROME, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Royal Oak, Mich., received fascist praise and thanks today from II Regime Fascista, the paper which has led attacks on the Vatican in the dispute over the Italian anti-Semitic measures.

Characterizing the priest as a man who "appreciates our line of conduct," II Regime Fascista said "Italians cannot fail to express their sympathy to this apostle of Christianity."

The paper, which is edited by Robert Farinacci, former secretary of the fascist party, said the Vatican had attempted "in vain" to silence the priest's radio talks which had shown "the peril to humanity and especially to Christianity of the demagogic and provocative words of (President) Roosevelt."

Relief Funds May Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sentiment developed in a senate appropriations subcommittee today to whittle even further the already-reduced relief appropriation.

The house trimmed $150,000,000 off the fund President Roosevelt requested to operate the WPA until June 30. It also imposed various restrictions on the use of the money.

At a closed session today, the senate subcommittee heard testimony from Col. Francis C. Harrington, the WPA administrator, in support of the original $875,000,000 estimate.

Harrington was reported to have said that needy persons would have to be cut from relief rolls unless the higher figure were authorized.

President Asks Liberal Set-Up

Requests Security To Cover Millions Now Outside System

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress for a broad liberalization of the Social Security program today and drew an immediate reply from republican quarters that the first necessity was the correction of the "mistakes" in the present system.

The chief executive submitted, with an approving special message, a report by the Social Security board which recommended that:

"Federal old age insurance payments begin in 1940 instead of 1942, the date fixed in the present law.

Old age insurance payments be larger during the early years of the program than the law now provides.

The old age plan be extended as rapidly as possible to get some 6,000,000 workers now outside the system.

The unemployment insurance system also be enlarged to embrace millions now uncovered.

"As regards both the federal old age insurance system and the federal-state unemployment compensation system," Mr. Roosevelt said in his message, "Equity and sound social policy require that the benefits be extended to all of our people as rapidly as administrative experience and public understanding permit."

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), who has made an extensive study of the problem, commented:

"He ignores the fundamental necessity of putting the existing system on a sound basis before it is expanded. I emphatically agree that there should be an expansion, but manifestly it is logical that he must first correct the mistakes in the existing formula."

Mr. Roosevelt suggested, as did the board, "a two-fold approach" to the problem of old age payments, suggesting that "one way" (See PRESIDENT, page 6)

Hawks Down Chicago In Slow Game, 29-19; Move Into Fifth Place

Slaying of Girl, Student, Told By Ex-Convict

'Everything Turned Red,' Mahr Confesses In Hatchet Murder

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 16 (AP)—A 24-year-old ex-convict who said "everything turned red" when he was surprised in the act of burglary, was jailed tonight after confessing the brutal hatchet slaying of a 16-year-old high school girl he had known since infancy.

Sheriff Miles Hulett of adjoining Racine county, whose deputies asserted Ernest John Mahr, Milwaukee chauffeur, said Mahr dictated and signed willingly a confession he bludgeoned comely Ruth Scott to death early today.

Her battered and partially nude body was found in her bed, a gag in her mouth and her hands slashed to a bedpost above her head.

In Hospital

The slain girl's widowed mother, Mrs. Ida Scott, 57, was in serious condition at a Milwaukee hospital with wounds suffered when she battled the hatchet-wielding intruder.

Mahr's police record dates to 1930, when as a boy of 16 he was placed on probation after theft of $63 from his father and larceny of an automobile. Later he served terms for automobile theft and larceny, second offense.

His father, Ignatz Mahr, said Ernest left home about two weeks ago.

"Ernest and Ruth were always such good friends," the father sobbed. "Why should he want to kill her? The Scott family and our family were always friends."

Young Mahr said he had known the Scott family since he was 7 or 8.

Wanted Money

"Several days ago I went over to visit Mrs. Scott and Ruth," he said. "I heard them mention 'some money they were going to collect as rent. Last night I went over to get the money. I went through the bathroom window and started to search the house for the money. Ruth woke up and I went down cellar and got the hatchet.'"

Mrs. Scott, who told police Mahr had tried to force his attentions on Ruth, said she awakened early this morning and recognized him in semi-darkness, a hatchet in one of his hands, a butcher knife in the other. She was struck on the head and hand before the intruder fled as she fought back. Then she found her daughter's body on the blood-stained bed in the next room.

Less than eight hours later Mahr was taken into custody by the deputies when they found him riding in a truck toward Chicago.

The truck driver, who was not held, said Mahr "hitched" a ride near Milwaukee.

Not Funny! Students Sentenced In 'Fake' Holdup

AMES, Jan. 16 (AP)—A Saturday night prank backfired today when five Iowa State college students were given suspended sentences of 30 days each in the Story county jail after they pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace in connection with what they termed a "fake" holdup.

Municipal court testimony revealed the five students "faked" the holdup of Robert Milford of Atlantic and took $11 from him, which was later returned, as a prank.

The court didn't consider the "prank" funny, sentenced the students and then suspended the jail terms upon payment of $10 in costs. College authorities said they were investigating the incident.

Sharecroppers' Arms Seized

State Police Break Up Demonstration Along Main Roads

NEW MADRID, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP)—Sheriff A. F. Stanley said he and his deputies confiscated 48 shotguns, rifles and pistols "as a precaution against a possible outbreak of violence" at a Negro sharecropper camp north of here late today.

He said he visited the settlement, where about 500 disgruntled sharecroppers were transferred as state police carried out orders to break up their week-long demonstration along the main highways, after receiving complaints from white families in the vicinity.

The sheriff declared threatening reports had emanated from the camp. There have been no arrests.

The camp, only slightly less crude in appearance than the "squatter" colonies that dotted the rights-of-way, is located in a swampy area which was covered with 20 feet of water during the 1937 flood. The occupants have named it "Homeless Junction."

The last highway camp was emptied today.

Others who made the original army of 1,300 which staged a mass exodus from their shanties to protest living and working conditions were either returned to their former cabins or had found new homes.

Around flickering campfires the sharecroppers, many of whom claim they were evicted by planters, discussed their next move toward getting "another la forge" — a government resettlement project accommodating 100 families just across the levee from the "concentration camp."

Several union workers have been advised by state police and county authorities to stay out of the community.

Fighting fire with fire, the University of Iowa Hawkeyes last night played a slow, methodical and nearly perfect technical game to send Neil Norgren's University of Chicago Maroons back to the Windy City with another 10 point defeat chalked up against them, to the tune of 29 to 19.

If the game against Purdue was a symphony, write in the harmony of a perfect offense and the counterpoint of a tight defense, then last night's battle went to the other extreme.

Gone was the symphonic offense. In its place Rolfe Williams substituted a deadly, clock-working passing attack that would combat a tight zone defense, and once the boys from the Midway would let up, it was bingo... and two points.

The Maroon defense was more than matched by Iowa in the low scoring contest, for in the last 14 minutes of play the Chicago quintet was held scoreless, and their total for the entire second half amounted to but four markers.

The win for the Hawkeyes brought them up with a .500 percentage, and lifted them up into fifth place in the conference standings.

After a beautiful start, in which the Hawkeyes dropped in six points against the intricate zone (See HAWKEYES, page 3)

U.A.W. Row To Come to Head

DETROIT, Jan. 16 (AP)—A vital hour in the United Automobile Workers' intra-union row, now again under scrutiny by the parent CIO, drew near tonight while fresh accusations against President Homer Martin widened the breach between him and the union's executive board majority.

Sidney Hillman and Philip Murray, vice presidents of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and members of the CIO-UAW coordinating committee which Martin has sought to dissolve, conferred at length with anti-Martinites of the factional fight.

A recommendation to revive the brief peace between Martin and the foes on the board was expected from Hillman and Murray, and meanwhile Martin's adversaries charged him with being "no longer interested in advancing the best interests of labor."

Upon adjournment of the board meeting tonight, and before going into secret hotel conferences with Hillman and Murray, the board opposition said Martin's "recent statements" were "as ridiculous" as Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling's charges against President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Horner Silent In Campaign

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (AP)—The campaign for mayor of Chicago shifted into high gear today.

Rival aspirants for the office at stake in the foremost election on the nation's 1939 political calendar swung into action simultaneously on four fronts.

Two of them — Dwight H. Green, republican, and State Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, democrat — took the stump with demands for a change in leadership as their theme, while from the camp of Mayor Edward J. Kelly, democrat seeking re-election, came a call for his retention.

Announcement that Gov. Henry Horner would remain on the sidelines during the democratic contest shared interest with the actual electioneering. The governor, an ally of Courtney and a factional foe of Kelly's Chicago organization, has been ill in Miami Beach, Fla., since Nov. 27. His secretary, Arthur P. O'Brien, reported Horner was "too sick to take any part in the mayoral battle."

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 16 (AP)—Northwestern achieved the biggest upset of the young Big Ten basketball championship season tonight by conquering Minnesota's previously undefeated Gophers, 32-31, for its first conference triumph of the campaign.

The defeat was Minnesota's first in four title games as well as its first in its last 20 starts.

Addington Vance, Wildcat guard, sparked the Purple by scoring 15 points on four field goals and seven free throws.

A nip and tuck game from the start, the score was tied six times, three times in the first half and three more in the second period. The score was 16-16 at half-time.

The lead saw-sawed in the second period until Northwestern edged in front 22-20 and was never headed.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—Wisconsin galloped back from Saturday night's drubbing at Indiana's hands to blast Michigan's hopes of a high finish in the Big Ten basketball race with a 42-39 victory tonight.

Behind 18-8 after 13 minutes of play, the Badgers rallied to take a 20-18 half-time lead and won out in the last minutes on reserve forward Andy Smith's sixth field goal and a free throw by John Rundel after a see-saw battle.

Rookie Tom Harmon, football star in the Michigan cagers' lineup because of injury to Jim Rae, bagged five field goals and four free throws to lead the scoring, with Smith of the Badgers finishing second high with 13 points.

It was Wisconsin's second triumph in four games and Michigan's third defeat in four.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 16 (AP)—Illinois knocked Ohio State out of the undefeated class in the Big Ten basketball title race tonight, handily downing the Buckeyes, 45-31. It was Illinois' third win in four conference starts and Ohio State's first loss in three games.

Illinois' victory was clean-cut, with the first half three quarters gone, the Illini held a 15-10 margin and they increased their edge to 24-14 at half-time. Ohio State trailed 35-20 at one point, but the Buckeyes began hitting the hoop against Illinois reserves.

"Pick" Dehner, star Illinoiser in center, staged a scoring duel with Jim Hull, Ohio State ace. Dehner bagged 19 points, dropping in seven field goals, while Hull's total was 14 on four baskets and six free throws.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 16 (AP)—Indiana university's cagers made the most of free throw opportunities to nose out their old rivals, the Purdue Boilermakers, 39-36, in a scorching Big Ten encounter before approximately 7,000 fans here tonight.

Indiana sniped 13 of 19 attempts from the charity line and Purdue, 10 of 14. Both quintets made 13 field goals apiece.

Indiana held a half-time advantage of 19-14, but the Boilermakers rallied brilliantly in the final minutes to go out in front, 36-35. Indiana braced just in time to get the victory-winning points.

The triumph was Indiana's third in four Big Ten starts. The defeat was Purdue's second in three loop engagements.

Hawkeyes--

defense on two baskets by "Whirling Dervish" Plett and one by Capt. Benny Stephens. It seemed for a moment that the Iowa five would methodically keep it up all night.

Prasse and Irvine would bring the ball down, pass back and forth, occasionally whip one over to either Lind or Stephens and then once more start passing to each other.

Patiently they would wait for a break, and then bingo... the ball went from Prasse to Stephens to Plett and two points were marked up against the Maroons.

Bill Murphy, half of the Murphy "brother act," and high scorer for the Chicagoans, broke the ice after Plett had chalked up his second field goal. Tall Joe Stampf then converted on Plett's charity and after Stephens tallied the first of five free throws, Bill Murphy again scored to bring the count to 7-5.

The Hawkeyes then spurred ahead on two field goals by Irvine and the third tally by Plett. Prasse made a free throw and the score stood at 14 to 5.

Lounsbury delivered on two charity tosses and Prasse made a long shot. From here until the end of the half the Iowa attack lost its vitality and Chicago all but tied it up.

Two beautiful shots by Bill Murphy and one each by Dick Lounsbury and Capt. Bob Cassels made it 16-15. Benny Stephens then tossed in his second free throw and the half ended with Iowa leading 17 to 15.

The second half was a vastly different story. Chicago encountered the same stubborn defense Purdue saw, and was contented to take occasional pot shots at the basket. Toward the latter part of the half, the Maroons switched from the zone to a man-to-man defense, but it still was no good.

"Blazin' Benny" Stephens garnered four points on two charity tosses and a field goal. The boys from the Midway then scored their

Iowa State Beats Oklahoma, 51-42

AMES, Jan. 16 (AP)—Iowa State moved into third place in the Big Six conference tonight by trimming Oklahoma 51 to 42 in a loop basketball game marked by close, but wild playing.

Thirty four personal fouls were called on the players as they battled for the constantly changing lead.

Iowa State went into a quick 3 to 2 lead in the opening three minutes, only to have Oklahoma take a 7 to 5 margin four minutes later.

Iowa State forged into a 12 to 10 lead midway in the period and the lead kept swinging from one team to another until the end of the half found the Cyclones leading 18 to 13.

The same close playing prevailed during the second half. Oklahoma kept the Cyclones bottled up and most of their shots had to be made from far out in the court.

only points in this latter half on a free throw by Bill Murphy, a basket by Capt. Bob Cassels, and one of two charity throws by Cassels.

From here on until the end of the contest, Chicago did not score, thus, while the Iowans were adding eight points to their score, maintaining their record in Big Ten competition of either losing or winning a game by the margin of 10 points.

After Cassels missed his second free throw, Angie Anapol swished one in from the side and then followed with a free throw, after Stephens had also scored via the gift route.

A point of humor then entered the contest in the person of Morris Allen. No sooner had Allen come into the game than he promptly fouled Prasse. Prasse converted, and after a while Allen repeated his act and Prasse converted again, and then Allen fouled Prasse once more, which he also converted.

Ramblers And Muscatine Five Meet Tonight

Fur is due to fly tonight when St. Mary's fighting quintet meets St. Mathias at Muscatine in the second game between the two rivals.

For the St. Mathias five, it is a case of revenge; the Ramblers having taken their measure in the previous game this year.

For the St. Mary's club, it is another opportunity for victory. So far this year, they have a record of nine wins out of eleven starts.

The man whom the Ramblers will especially have to keep an eye on is the Muscatine school's sharp-shooting center, Fuller. He has been leading his team-mates in scoring all season, having the ability to drop them in from all angles.

The Ramblers have become an all-around scoring team, even the guards popping into the highest scoring role at times. Both Bill Bock and Jim Chadek have been at the top when the individual points were totaled.

Coach Suplee reports that he is pleased with the work of certain of his reserves in recent games. He commented favorably on the work of Ray Cole, reserve guard, and Jerry DeFrance, second string forward.

Tony Brack, rugged little reserve center, has played some spirited ball, also, when Coach Suplee sent him in against the fast competition which the Marjans have been running up against lately.

The usual starting line-up will probably go in for the Marjans: George Chadek and Jack Bock at the forwards, Bill Bock and Jim Chadek in the back court positions, and Don Schmidt at the pivot position.

Brechler Juggles U-Hi Lineup For Monticello Game Friday

In quest of a more potent offense and greater speed Coach Paul Brechler juggled his varsity lineup as he began preparation yesterday for the Monticello tilt Friday night.

In the shake-up Brechler shifted Hank Pelzer to the center post and moved Ernie Krogh to the second team. Krogh, who played fairly good ball before Christmas, has fizzled out completely in the last two games. In addition to this, Ernie has developed a "don't care" attitude that has had a tendency to wreck the team's spirit.

Hank Pelzer, rangy junior, who is taking over the duties of Krogh, should prove to be a valuable man in recovering rebounds from each basket.

Even though the Blue and White lads have looked listless in their last two defeats, Brechler feels that the return of Capt. Ed Burns to active duty this week should bolster the locals' attack.

"Bus" Smith, rangy sophomore, who has been filling in for the disabled Burns, will probably alternate with Murray Dawson at the other forward post. Offensively Smith was the only bright spot in the locals' 20 to 16 defeat by West Liberty last week. "Bus" garnered three of the Blue's four field goals to lead his team mates in the scoring department.

Coach Brechler gave his U-High squad only a light workout yesterday and plans two long hard drills for today and Wednesday, with a possible scrimmage on the latter day. In view of the fact that the locals counted only 6 charity shots in 20 attempts the boys will probably spend all their spare time in practicing from the free throw line.

Goodbye-- Col. Ruppert Buried As Thousands Mourn

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Col. Jacob Ruppert was buried today after his friends and the church had paid him moving tribute in a solemn high requiem mass in beautiful St. Patrick's cathedral.

More than 4,000 mourners filled the cathedral and other thousands stood outside in the cold during the service for the fabulously wealthy little brewer and owner of the New York Yankees who died last Friday after a long, painful illness. Traffic for a time was paralyzed on Fifth avenue.

Big men of the sports, financial and political world joined in the sad homage. Many of his baseball players, present and past, were there to say goodbye to the man whose liberality hiked baseball salaries to their present high level.

The mass, sung by the full cathedral choir of 18 male voices, lasted for nearly an hour, solemn and sad for the most part, concluding on a majestic note as the colonel's body was carried up the broad aisle and out of the cathedral. The thousands in the street bared their heads as the casket was placed in a hearse.

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia and Senator Robert Wagner led the procession of honorary pallbearers down the aisle to where Col. Ruppert's body rested under the high altar. They were followed by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Landis, President William Haridre of the American league, Joe McCarthy of the Yankees, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and other notables of the sports world. There were tears in the eyes of Ruth and Gehrig.

McCarthy to Broadcast Louis-Lewis Fight

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 16 — Clem McCarthy and Edwin C. Hill, who have teamed up on previous championship broadcasts, will be at the microphones when Joe Louis, champion, and John Lewis, contender, meet for the world heavyweight ring title in Madison Square Garden, Jan. 25.

McCarthy will give the blow-by-blow description during each round of the fight while Hill, between bells, will analyze the bout and describe ringside color and events to the nationwide radio audience.

Announcements of the selection of the two ace commentators was made today by the sponsors of this and the five previous major heavyweight fight broadcasts.

The fight will be broadcast over both the red and blue networks of the National Broadcasting company through the facilities of the 157 stations.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- Spoons
- Mashies
- Putters

NEW YORK (AP)—At first glance it might be a rather elaborate golf shot specializing in second-hand clubs, and as a matter of fact the spoons and mashies and putters and such racked along the walls of U.S.G.A. headquarters can be classified as well-used, with emphasis on the well.

They are clubs used by champions in winning their honors, and they are part of the collection in a golf museum which, although only two years old, already ranks second in this country to the exhibit at the James River Country club at Newport News, Va.

For those who gaze fascinated at the spot where George Washington ate bean soup, or the "X" where a body was found, the large, shadowy room where slim Joe Dey, association secretary, labors among links treasures offers a grand opportunity for flights of the imagination.

For instance, nestling like a fire extinguisher in a narrow glass case suspended high on a wall is a battered, weatherbeaten putter, the kind you might expect to see a barefoot lad using to bat around a tin can in a vacant lot.

"Calamity Jane"

The most prized of relics is Calamity Jane the Second, the putter used by Bobby Jones in winning 12 to 13 of his major championships from 1924 to 1930. The original Calamity Jane Bobby obtained from Jim Maiden in 1920, but it became so battered Jones was forced to retire it.

One wall rack contains 21 clubs, the oldest a midiron used by Findlay S. Douglas in winning the National Amateur in 1898.

Then there is the famous spoon used by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare in winning six women's national titles; the spade mashie used by Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston in his final match with Doc Willing in the 1929 amateur at Pebble Beach; the monrel mashie Tommy Armour used in the 1927 open; a cleek which helped Bob Gardner win the amateur in 1909 and 1915; a cleek and a mashie used by Mararet and Harriot Curtis, respectively, donors of the Curtis cup.

Show Development

Dey explains the purpose of the museum is to show the development of golf in this country. The association hopes to have a club from each champion's collection, starting in 1895. The total of champions for the national open, national amateur and women's national champions is 126, but as several players, such as Jones and Mrs. Vare, won more than once, Dey figures that about 75 clubs will cover the field.

Oddly enough, many of the recent champions are not yet represented, including Ralph Guldahl, Patty Berg, Johnny Goodman and Johnny Fischer, but it is the links tools of the champions of the dim past which are causing the most concern. The collection offers a vivid picture of the development of the steel shaft. In fact, only five steel shafts are included among the 22 clubs now on display.

Veteran Takes Beating Before Bellhop Wins

Audience Boos As Des Moines Fighter Wins Another One

By JOHN MOONEY and J. DENNIS SULLIVAN

DES MOINES, Jan. 16 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Al Ettore, whose chief claim to fame is that he's numbered among Joe Louis' victims, became bored after 22 seconds of fighting in the sixth round of his scheduled 10-round bout with Johnny Paychek, Des Moines pride and joy, and decided to call a halt to the proceedings, Paychek getting the referee's nod in one of the wildest fights ever staged in the local ring.

The Philadelphia battler, obviating efficiency, was an easy mark for Paychek's long left jab, which had plied up an overwhelming amount of points prior to the razzle-dazzle finish of the bout.

The lone knockdown of the fight occurred in the fifth canto when Paychek, following his opponent to the ropes, bounced a right smash off of Ettore's head, leaving the Philadelphia boy sprawled in his own corner seconds before the end of the round.

The crowd, estimated at 7,000, booed lustily when Fidler stopped the fight, many in the audience expressing their disapproval of the fracas by shouts of "Fake."

The opening round was a toss-up, Paychek landing with several jabs and Ettore finding the range with those jolting left-hooks to the head.

Paychek took the lead in the second round, punishing Ettore with a straight left and a jolting right-cross which he used effectively.

The third, fourth and fifth rounds were carbon copies of the second, Ettore having little or no defense against Paychek's jabs.

The sixth and final round got under way only after Ettore's mouth which had been cut by Paychek's punches had been examined by officials at the ringside and pronounced O. K.

Twenty-two seconds later, Ettore looking helplessly at his own corner and providing no defense against Paychek's punches, was led by the referee into his corner amid a chorus of boos from the gallery.

Mayor Myron Walker Speaks At American Legion Meeting

Discusses Progress, Duties of Legion In Auxiliary Legislation

"What is the good thing for the community and public welfare? That is the question we must ask when we consider new legislation," asserted Mayor Myron J. Walker last night at a supper meeting of the American Legion auxiliary. Mayor Walker's topic was "American Legion and Auxiliary Legislation."

After outlining the progress the two organizations had made in the enactment of what he termed "selfish" legislation in the form of bonus and disability remuneration laws, Mayor Walker pointed out that the present need for laws which will work against foreign elements which are attempting to undermine our democracy.

"It is our duty as a mature organization to maintain our democratic status by representation of all groups in the government," he said. Mayor Walker then went on to explain the Legion's safety campaign last year and to show the need for a continuance of that campaign. He also suggested several other possible reforms which the two groups might sponsor as a project this year.

"From the local post to the state to the national department is the regular route which proposed legislation follows," he said in explaining the lobbying system which the Legion uses.

"The people who enact our laws want to be truly representative of the people they serve. Lobbies which are maintained by service organizations help our representatives understand our desires," he continued.

Since the Legion is now older and more mature, its opinions are given more consideration, he explained. Therefore, he concluded, the various posts should cooperate and work together to achieve the enactment of those laws which will benefit the public good.

Mrs. B. M. Ricketts introduced the speaker. A business session followed the supper meeting.

Mexican Theme in a Kitchen

Have you ever been to Mexico? Or do you visit the Mexican department in your favorite store? That's the place to find colorful and interesting ware with which to bring charm into a painfully plain modern kitchen. Note how easily this homemaker decorated her culinary quarters after installing a new stove, refrigerator, table-top water heater and metal-topped sink and floor cabinets. As contrast to dark ivory linoleum on the floor, she used yellow curtains with a Mexican pattern in red and blue, Mexican tiles on the walls, and Mexican pottery. The result — a bright pleasing effect with a minimum of expense and effort.

Be It Beef, Calves' or Pork, Liver Is Healthful and Tasty

There are many healthful qualities in liver and during the past few years the public has more and more become aware of them. The demand for calves' liver has increased its cost. However, the beef and pork liver, both of which have a more pronounced flavor, are not only less expensive but contain more iron, which makes them just that much more valuable as a protection against anemia.

Here are two recipes which are economical since they are from low priced foods and also economical from the standpoint that there is no waste, no bone, gristle or other inedible portions. The food elements of liver combined with energy-rich corn meal is a dish high in food value.

Corn Meal Liver Loaf

Richberg Says Probe of Bank Is Unlawful

Former NRA Head Defends Huge West Coast Branch Bank

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Donald R. Richberg, the former NRA administrator, accused the securities and exchange commission today of attempting to conduct an unlawful and damaging public inquiry into the affairs of the bank of America, huge west coast coast banking firm.

Acting for the bank and the famous figures of finance who head it, Amadeo P. Giannini and Amadeo's son, Lawrence, the erstwhile new deal official asked the federal district court to restrain the commission from obtaining the institution's books or further publicizing bank examiners' reports which he said had been obtained illegally from the treasury.

Richberg contended that federal authority over national banks was vested in the comptroller of the currency, who directs examinations; the federal reserve board and the federal deposit insurance corporation. He expressed apprehension that the SEC would divulge records of the bank of America in partial and misleading form in an effort to sustain "false imputations" regarding trans-America corporation which has a stock interest in the bank and currently is the subject of a commission proceeding to determine whether its own stock should be suspended from trading on exchanges in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The SEC contends it has reasonable grounds to believe that trans-America made false and misleading statements in its application for federal registration of its stock.

Shortly after the filing of the suit, William O. Douglas, commission chairman, made public a letter to Richberg accusing him of attempting to provoke dissension between the commission and the comptroller of the currency and the federal reserve board. Replying to a letter from the attorney, Douglas said:

"Based on the information which I have, your statement that there is no controversy pending between the bank of America and the comptroller's office is misleading, is entirely beside the issue between this commission and trans-America, and is so obviously intended to provoke dissension between this commission and the comptroller of the currency and the federal reserve board that it needs no further comment."

Richberg had written him, the SEC chairman related, in part as follows: "There is no controversy pending between the comptroller of the currency and the bank of America; to the contrary, the bank of America has met and is complying with all suggestions and directions of the comptroller of the currency in regard to the handling and accounting of its business."

"We, therefore, face the extraordinary situation where proposition of charges affecting the bank of America involve an implication that the comptroller of the currency and the federal reserve board are not fulfilling their obligations under the law."

Douglas denied emphatically that the commission's proceeding against trans-America corporation carried "any implication of dereliction of duty or failure to fill any legal obligations on the part of the comptroller of the currency or the federal reserve board."

Feigl Declares Naturalism Is Misunderstood

Addresses Humanist Society at Meeting in Memorial Union

"Naturalism has been a much slandered and misunderstood philosophy," explained Prof. Herbert Feigl of the philosophy department in his lecture on "Naturalism Without Regrets" given at the Humanist society meeting in Iowa Union last night.

Although the meaning of naturalism has been often misconstrued, Professor Feigl stated that in recent decades a critical naturalism has emerged free from both the dogmatic character and the materialistic flatness of previous naturalistic systems.

Through a clarification of meaning, Professor Feigl showed how to avoid the reductive fallacies of materialism, mechanism, and nominalism, as well as the seductive fallacies of theology and metaphysical idealism.

Professor Feigl defined naturalism as the general research program of science which aims at an explanation of the facts of this world on the basis of the framework of experience, that is, in terms of space, time and causal relations.

Metaphysical attempts to go beyond this frame, implied Professor Feigl, were shown to be resting on emotional verbalisms (devoid of factual meaning) or superfluous speculative conjectures.

The four "recalcitrant" problems of naturalism, organic life, mind, freedom and moral values, were shown by Professor Feigl to be satisfactorily approachable from the point of view of evolutionary naturalism.

In conclusion Professor Feigl pointed out that only ethics of sympathy and politics of social democracy are compatible with a strictly scientific and naturalistic point of view.

Iowa Veteran Druggists' Museum Displays Varied Items

Here is a view of cases in the Iowa Veteran Druggists' museum in the pharmacy building. On the top of the cases on the left can be seen some of the show globes which used to be used for display purposes in drug stores or as a sign of a pharmacy. A hanging show globe can be hanging on the wall between the two cases. At the extreme left is the display window which is used by the class in principles of window display where a new pharmacy window layout is installed each week by pharmacy students. The case at the right is a newer addition to the museum. When these pictures were taken, the shelves were not yet filled with displays, but have since had many articles of historical interest added. A fourth case has been constructed, and it too has been filled with items representing pharmacy as it was practiced in Iowa 50 to 100 years ago. Dean emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy is curator of the museum.

Examples of Early Iowa Druggist's Art

Veteran Druggists' Museum Preserves Valuable Historical Items

By D. MAC SHOWERS

Mineral water which was sent from the Royal Prussian mineral springs 50 years ago, a book on medicine written by John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church, or a pill-making machine used by John Brown when he wintered his troops in Iowa—these are only a few of the interesting historical items displayed in the Iowa Veteran Druggists' museum, along the main corridor of the pharmacy building.

The purpose of the museum is to show the history of pharmacy in Iowa and to preserve those things representative of pharmacy as it was practiced 50 to 100 years ago. Without such a collection, many of the specimens now preserved would have been lost or destroyed long ago, never to be recovered again. Many of these things are now or will be of great historical interest.

The first material in the collection was gathered by the Veteran Druggists' association of Iowa. In February, 1932, the members of the association voted to turn their historical relics over to the college of pharmacy of the University of Iowa for safe keeping. At this time Dean emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy was made curator of the museum. Since that time the collection has greatly increased in size.

The largest individual contributor was B. F. Osborn of Rippey, who was president of the Veteran Druggists' association when the articles were turned over to the university. James E. Dumbauld of Marshalltown has given liberally, as well as George Judisch of Ames.

The displays include apparatus, books, bottles, prescriptions, old patent medicines, show globes and many other articles representing historical pharmacy and medicine.

The most colorful objects in the museum are the pharmacist's show globes which stand on top of the display cases or hang from the walls of the hall. These globes are large glass jars of various designs and sizes. They are filled with brightly colored liquids and, when in actual use, were set in windows or hung in front of the drug store to attract attention and stand as a symbol of a pharmacy. Some of the specimens of those which are in the pharmacy building are more than 100 years old and are of great value because of etchings on the sides and some of the peculiar shapes of the bottles.

There are also on display bottles in which were put colored sand, brightly colored powdered drugs or other products for display.

Historically, the most interesting article to Iowans is the wooden pill tile used by John Brown during the winter which he kept his troops at Springfield, near West Branch. It was with this equipment that he made pills of bread dough and calomel for his soldiers. The piece was purchased at the sale of John Brown's goods after his execution. It was presented to the museum by Mrs. Frederick G. Higbee, whose father purchased it at the sale.

The most valuable item in the museum, one too valuable to display, in fact, is a book on medicine written by John Wesley, the founder of the Methodist church, during his stay in the United States.

The date of publication was about 1780, the book in possession of the museum being the 26th edition published in 1805. In reality, Wesley was not a medical authority, but since the clergy were supposed to know something about everything, the book was taken as an authority.

An article too large to display is a peculiar old specie jar. Such jars, now out of general use, were used to store and sometimes display large quantities of powdered drugs. The jars were made in sizes ranging from 18 to 27 inches high, the largest costing about $15 in American currency. They were beautifully painted on the inside so that the design would show through the glass. The design which was painted usually was some identifying mark of the producer or of the country in which it was made.

The specie jar in the museum is the largest size made—27 inches high. It is painted with the British coat-of-arms. It was given to the collection by James Dumbauld of Marshalltown, who found it in the basement of a drug store which he purchased. It had come from an English drug firm by the name of "Maw and company, London" and had contained sulfur. An attempt was made to trace the original source of the jar, but no evidence could be found to show how or when such a jar found its way into Iowa.

An interesting display in the basement corridor of the building shows how druggists used to keep their prescription papers. The papers in the case are from the Louis drug store of Iowa City.

These papers are on long wires which were used like an oversized spindle. Some of the strings are as much as four feet long, and hold hundreds of old prescriptions. In contrast to this method of filing, prescriptions of today are kept in indexed metal filing cases and are always readily available for reference.

Sitting atop a case near the prescription papers is an old soda dispenser. It is made of crockery, and when in use, stood on the counter. It has only one screw spigot for dispensing, in contrast to the modern soda fountains of today. This specimen is dated 1895.

From the Amara colonies comes a set of glass cups used to collect blood when bleeding a patient. The process employed in this work is very unique. The cups were heated, and after the skin of the patient had been scratched, were pressed against the scratched surface. As the cup cooled, the air inside contracted and drew out the blood. There is also a set of metal bleeding cups from Bavaria which were used as long ago as 1840.

There are several jugs of water from the Royal Prussian mineral springs on display in the museum. These are still sealed, just as they were after having been filled probably more than 50 years ago. When the jugs were received, one was opened to examine the water. It proved to be of a very high sulfur content, but was in good condition despite its age.

Representing a jack-of-all-trades is an old glass quart jar about half full of teeth which Mr. Osborn of Rippey extracted with an old corkscrew type tooth extractor. When he was in active business in Rippey, Mr. Osborn was the pharmacist, dentist, veterinarian and undertaker of the town. The teeth in the jar were saved over a period of several years.

In the four large display cases there are numerous articles which cannot all be mentioned. Some of the more unique and interesting things are two sets of opium pipes and the accessories used in smoking the drug; many different kinds of balances, including pocket kits and one specimen with a keyboard arrangement to change the weights. There are many old mortars of wood, iron, brass and glass.

Included here is a group of eight mortars which Dean Rudolph A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy brought from apothecary shops in Europe. The choicest one of this group is from a small French village. It is made of bronze and dates from 1590. The others, which are also of bronze, come from England, Switzerland and Germany.

A full bottle of the oldest patent medicine sold in Iowa is on display in the museum. It is called "Nichols Peruvian Bark" and is a tonic to be used to cure all ailments.

An interesting example of the increased cost of medicinal supplies as compared with several years ago is a receipt for a barrel of whiskey which sold for 22 1/2 cents a gallon.

Besides these articles described and mentioned, there are many others on display, as well as several items which are not on display because of lack of space in the show cases. Long-range plans call for additional cases, so that all of these interesting historical pieces may be shown to the public.

Thirteen Casts Enter Annual Play Production Festival Here

Officials Expect More Than 60 Others As Deadline Approaches

Thirteen casts already have entered the fourteenth annual play production festival at the University of Iowa, extension division officials reported yesterday. Before the deadline date of Feb. 1, between 60 and 70 other groups probably will have entered, according to expectations based upon the totals of other years.

Instead of three sections on different dates as in 1938, the 1939 affair will have two: community groups and junior colleges in their divisions March 23, 24 and 25, and high schools in three classes March 27 to April 1. Class B and C high schools constitute the bulk of the early entrants. In class B are DeWitt, Garner, Nevada, Manchester and West Des Moines. Nevada won a superior rating last year.

Class C schools are Danville, Grand Junction, Winfield, Lost Nation, Ocheydan and What Cheer. No entries yet have been received for class A. One of the 1938 superiors was Danville.

First junior college to enter is Creston and the first community group is Davenport Woman's club in class B. Junior colleges will compete in their single class, but the community groups are split in classes A, B and C. The record for number of entrants was set in 1938 when 80 casts registered, 53 of them being from high schools. Cooperation in the festival are the University of Iowa extension division and speech department and the community drama committee of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs.

Professor Barnes, who is chairman of this section, will preside at the meeting which will be in the Rock Island auditorium at 7:30. C. L. McMullen, vice president of the Gisholt Machine company in Madison, Wis., will be present at the meeting and discuss a subject which concerns a large number of people in the Tri-cities.

His talk, "Recent Developments in Machine Tools" will include a brief history of the machine tool industry illustrated with original and old type models.

Mechanical developments in machines with illustrations of late models and their production capacities, including turning, grinding, broaching, drilling, boring, milling, lapping and gear grinding will be covered.

Mr. McMullen will also discuss the procedure used in purchasing machine tools. This will include an analysis or survey, tool layout, quotations, purchase, installation, demonstration and service.

Barcelona Outwardly Calm as Insurgents Advance

5 Persons Injured in Bombings as City Steadily, Grimly Prepares for Invaders

By ROBERT OKIN
 BARCELONA, Jan. 16 (AP)—Two patrons of a little open air shooting gallery in one of Barcelona's downtown streets, plugged away at china ducks and drakes today as the insurgent war machine moved steadily toward their city.

They typified many of the capital's citizens while reports of the enemy's successes poured in. Only in a negligible part was there anything resembling panic or hysteria.

In most parts of the city there were great islands of calm where men dozed against walls and children made mud pies.

Paradoxically, no attempt has been made to conceal the news of the insurgent successes.

The citizens knew Tarragona fell yesterday.

They knew only 33 miles separated the red and gold banners of the insurgents from Barcelona.

They saw five insurgent bombers over the city today. The raiders dropped 20 bombs, wounding five persons who were standing in lines before food distribution centers.

No one tried to make them believe that the bombings would not be much worse in coming days.

But from balconies there were women idly watching the crowds in the streets.

Little groups gathered around shoe repairers on the sidewalks. Women strolled by with market baskets on their arms.

A mattress maker sewed busily in the open door of his shop. In government buildings, workmen went ahead with remodeling offices.

Serious, large-eyed children crowded in every street. Some tumbled about and laughed in their play; others in ragged coats and with shaved heads labored with bundles as they marched with their families away from the front. Some wore little military caps; some were primly dressed.

Along the shrapnel-pitted and bomb-wrecked streets men were at work, some cutting up ornamental palms for firewood. Others went about their routine jobs, mending roadways and fixing overhead electric wires.

In the amusement section, crowds stood before the moving picture theaters.

A few persons sat in sidewalk cafes.

In the central of the capital, citizens wandered by, watching army recruits, or making their way home.

Only occasionally did they cock an eye to the sky.

But through all of this ran a perceptible undercurrent of tenseness.

Hundreds of women streamed down one street bearing banners which read "Defend Catalonia."

And there was an efficient deliberation in the way the army recruits marched and the manner in which workmen went about their jobs.

It showed Barcelona was getting ready to defend itself to the last.

Three Seats In Iowa House To Be Decided

DES MOINES, Jan. 16 (AP)—Persons involved in three official contests for seats in the Iowa house of representatives today appeared before a house committee appointed to investigate the "grounds and sufficiencies" of the contests.

Representative William Judd (R) of Clinton, chairman of the contest committee, said the committee will meet at 10 a. m., tomorrow to decide on its recommendation to the house.

It appeared likely the committee would either recommend individual investigations of the contests or would recommend that the house dismiss the contests in favor of the incumbents.

The incumbents involved in the contests are Representatives Mrs. Frank Elliott (D) of Bronson, T. H. Broderon (R) of Battle Creek, and Howard Eckerman (D) of Davenport.

Raymond S. Hill, Sioux City, contested the election of Mrs. Elliott, who was shown by the returns to have won by 258 votes. Representative Broderon, whose majority was 13 votes, was contested by Peter Bendixen (R) of Davenport.

The incumbents, the contestants and attorneys representing both sides appeared before the house contest committee today.

In 1937 nine contests were brought against house members. All nine incumbents were seated after house investigations which cost the state nearly $5,000.

Chadwick Dubs 'Values' of U. S. Worth Defending

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Jan. 16 (AP)—Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, national commander of the American Legion, told a legion district convention today "we have values in America every nation covets and these values are worthy of our defense."

Asserting that America is beset by dangers from within and without, he added:

"We do not acknowledge that America has reached its prime and is destined for decay."

Chadwick urged the nation to "get back fundamentals and reason from the bottom up."

The legion, he continued, has "tried to tell the country that it must be constantly prepared against aggression of nations and peoples. There are aggressive individuals in this world that seize and exploit a people."

WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART
 Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain, "reported" today said so-and-so recently, as a witness before a joint meeting of the senate and representatives' military affairs committees here in Washington. William C. Bullitt, Uncle Sam's ambassador to France, "allegedly" furnished the legislators with certain additional information. "Rumor has it" that Hugh R. Wilson, U. S. ambassador to Germany (home on indefinite leave, however), furnished the joint committees with further facts bearing on the foreign situation. "According to reliable sources" the lawmakers are in possession of "important memoranda" provided by Williams Phillips, American ambassador to Italy. "It is understood" that Joseph C. Grew has supplemented this wad of diplomatic dope, in our solons' hands, with copious confidential dispatches from Tokyo, where he is our Yankee envoy.

And there is an unlimited quantity more of it, of other "usually well-informed" origin.

Nominally it consists exclusively of reports, allegations, hints, rumors and miscellaneous uncertainties. Theoretically the joint congressional committees' sessions are executive and secret. My! how secret!

The truth is that these two committees have a combined membership of 40-odd.

bership of 40-or-more, and wrung 'em dry, member by member, for net results. Maybe no one committee has told everything. Maybe no one correspondent has squeezed out the whole story.

But, pooling the yield, not much is left to the imagination.

Different in 1914

In 1914 things were entirely different.

Personally, in those days, if I do say so myself, I had a fairly clear idea of the dangers of the outlook in Europe. I had lived there, had criss-crossed the old world as a traveler, and had sensed the tenseness of the strain in that atmosphere.

But heavens! When the row broke out I had not a notion but that the United States would side-step it as any rational bystander would side-step a scrap between mad-dogs.

Now we all realize the peril.

We begin to foresee a globe-conflict when even two little jerk-water countries clash with each other.

The mad-dogs bite indiscriminately—and the bites go cuckoo, naturally.

Mad Dogs Are Dangerous

O.K. versus mad dogs. Armament against that kind of "critters" is strictly justifiable.

Fascism nazi-ism and mikado-ism seem to me to be 100 per cent hydrophobic.

Russian communism strikes me as kinda funny, but not as bad as fascism and nazi-ism.

Communism isn't very aggressive. It wants to take care of itself at home, and abroad, it is mildly missionaryistic. But it isn't aggressive. Nazi-ism, with its bands and things, is offensive. Ditto fascism.

Well, against whom are we arming? Anybody?

Summary Here Are President's Recommendations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Here is a summary of President Roosevelt's recommended changes in the social security law:

Old age insurance— Begin payments of benefits Jan. 1, 1940, instead of Jan. 1, 1942, as originally planned.

Increase monthly benefits in early years of the program by supplementary payments to aged dependent wives of retired workers, and calculate benefits on the basis of average wages, instead of total accumulated wages.

Provide benefits for widows and orphans of insured workers.

Allow workers employed after age 65 to continue earning benefit credits.

Extend old age insurance coverage to farm labor, domestic service, employes of non-profit organizations, employes of banks in the federal reserve system, and seamen (excluding foreign crews of American vessels.)

Clarify application of the program to insurance, real estate and traveling salesmen.

Unemployment compensation— Simplify employer tax reporting procedure with a view to combining record keeping for old age insurance and unemployment compensation.

Apply payroll tax for unemployment compensation only to the first $3,000 of wages paid.

Calculate the payroll tax on wages paid instead of wages payable.

Extend compensation coverage to farm labor, domestic service, employes of non-profit organizations and banks in the federal reserve system.

Set up a federal system of jobless insurance for seamen.

Extend coverage to employes of one or more employes. (At present it applies to firms with eight or more employes.)

Require placing of personnel in state unemployment compensation agencies as a condition for receiving federal grants for administrative expenses.

In addition, it proposed, in the case of the death of a worker, payment to aged widows and to young widows with dependent children. Widows of workers who would have received old age benefit payments had they lived to the age of 65, should receive, the board suggested, such payments themselves when they themselves reach that age.

To extend both old age and unemployment compensation to new groups, the board suggested the partial inclusion of agricultural workers; the gradual inclusion of domestic servants, and extension of the plans to non-profit and charitable organizations, national banks and other instrumentalities of the federal government and to seamen.

"We shall make the most orderly progress," Mr. Roosevelt said, "if we look upon social security as a development toward a goal rather than a finished product. We shall make the most lasting progress if we recognize that social security can furnish only a base upon which each one of our citizens may build his own individual efforts."

was to begin insurance payments earlier and make them more liberal, and a second to increase federal grants to states of "limited fiscal capacities, so they may provide more adequate assistance to those in need."

(Under the Social Security act there are two forms of payments to the aged. There is an old age insurance system, under which workers and employers pay taxes and the worker receives a monthly pension when he reaches 65 and retires. There is also a system under which the federal government makes grants-in-aid to states for outright gifts to aged persons who are needy.)

As drawn in 1935 the act requires that old age insurance payments begin in 1942 and go to workers who have reached the age of 65 and have been employed during some part of the five preceding calendar years.

It fixed such payments monthly at one half of one per cent of the total wages of the worker after Dec. 31, 1936, with a minimum monthly payment of $10.

The argument has been advanced that this is insufficient for the proper maintenance of the recipient, especially if he has dependents. The advisory council on social security suggested some weeks ago that 50 per cent be added to the payment in the case of beneficiaries with one dependent.

The board, in its report today, suggested the payment of "supplementary benefits" to dependent wives of retired workers. It also suggested that the benefits be calculated on a basis of average wages received by the worker rather than on the total wage received.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester 1935-1936

Saturday, January 21, 8 a.m., to Saturday, January 28, 4 p.m., 1936

The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, as shown in the form below; and Speech (1), (2) and (3) as shown at the second N.B. below).

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation from this schedule, in the case of an examination, except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification on the student's written petition, filed in ample time and supported by the recommendation of the department concerned, to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of completing examinations earlier will not be permitted.

Each student who is absent from the final meeting of his class as indicated in the Examination Schedule should be reported on the official grade sheet at the end of the semester, as "Abs." Before this grade mark can be removed he must file with the Committee on Admission and Classification a written petition, with adequate vouchers attached, setting forth in full the necessity of his absence. This petition must include a departmentally signed statement indicating whether, in case the Committee finds the absence excusable, the student has the department's and instructor's permission to take the final examination. If the Committee finds the reason for the absence adequate it will issue to the student a partially prepared special report (signed by the Secretary, lower left corner) with a form letter explaining to him that he has the Committee's permission, with the departmental consent and at the convenience of the instructor, to take his final examination within one month (or other designated period of time) from the date indicated.

If the student takes the examination thus authorized the outcome is to be reported on this card and not on any other card.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E, F, and G) the Schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below, meet for examinations during the periods noted at the tops of these columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double vertical line. N.B. Unless students are reasonably sure that their semester's work, including final examinations, is successful they are requested to call (within the 24-hour period following the conclusion of each of their final examinations) at the offices of the deans of men and women, appropriately, in order to learn whether any of their instructors have reported Fd. for them; and if any student has reason to suspect that Fd. will be his record for one or more courses, he is requested not to register until he learns that he has passed.

Shaw Describes Illinois Juvenile Correction

Says Present Methods Fail To Get Results

Advocates Corrective Program to Operate Within Youth Groups

By B. FRANKLIN CARTER JR., Daily Iowan City Editor

Dr. Clifford P. Shaw, director of the institute of juvenile research of the department of public welfare in Illinois, told members of the Iowa City Coordinating Council of Social Agencies of the results his institute has obtained from four experimental projects in Chicago at a meeting of the council last night in Reich's Pine room.

Basing his accusations on these results, Dr. Shaw declared, "Delinquency work in Chicago has failed because we treated it as an individual problem when it is the group situation in which the delinquent lives that causes the delinquency."

Groups Approve Thefts

He explained that each group had its own code of moral standards and rules which often included shoplifting and other petty thefts as accepted things.

To describe the program being carried out by his group in Chicago, Dr. Shaw said that they were working on the trial and error method to see what means of delinquency correction would bring the best result when evaluated in terms of what happened to humans affected by the correctional work.

Remain Criminals

He said that his agency found that 70 per cent of the youths brought into juvenile courts in Chicago were found in later years in the criminal courts.

Regardless of their criminal career, Dr. Shaw maintained that these delinquents were human beings and were only satisfying human desires of stimulation and thrill by shoplifting and other crimes.

Institute's Program

The juvenile research institute, Dr. Shaw said, attempted to devise a program which would obliterate the chief fault of the courts in delinquency cases — the necessity of repudiating friends to "go straight" — utilize the desires of thrills by recreation, and create a new environment for the delinquents.

A three-part program was set up by the institute for experiment in four areas in Chicago, he continued. This includes plans for entire groups for recreational and other educational programs, to set up coordinating councils to combine the activities of the various social agencies working within the area, and to contact the leaders in the community and make them conscious of the problems facing the group.

Operate Own Program

Dr. Shaw said that after the council of the social agencies had been put into operation and the leaders among the community had been contacted, the institute offered to furnish money for projects to be carried out under the leadership of the individual community leaders.

He explained that only in this manner was it possible for the social workers to put any program into operation — when the people felt that they were operating it themselves.

Experiments Successful

To indicate the success obtained by the institute in these four projects, Dr. Shaw described the enthusiasm of the participants. He said:

"One of the projects is in a neighborhood of 15,000 persons, principally steelworkers, in south Chicago. The first work of the institute in the area was to obtain the use of a basement in a school building. The members of the community built their own ping pong tables and other recreational equipment. At the end of the fifth year the leaders in the community wanted to expand the program to remodel the entire building for recreational purposes. In a single year the community raised $31,000 and, aided by a contribution of $7,000 from the institute, not only remodeled the building, but purchased a camp in northern Indiana for their children's use in summers.

Remove Barrier

"A second group project is located among the Italian settlement on the near north side in Chicago. The program instituted there, now in its sixth year, has expanded until it includes 16 separate institutions.

"Recently the social agencies have broken down the barrier between the Italian settlement and the near 'Gold Coast' area. The people in the Gold Coast are beginning to realize that the less fortunate are just as human and as capable as they themselves are. The people from the two very different social groups regularly sat side by side and ate spaghetti at a dinner given by a committee of leaders in the Italian community. The important results obtained

Cast Goes on Hunger Strike

Other Federal Theater Project Workers Stage Sitdown Demonstration

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Twenty four members of the cast of the yet-unopened WPA musical show, "Sing for your Supper," neither sang nor supped tonight.

They went on a hunger strike at the Adelphi theater, while 40 other federal theater project workers staged a sitdown demonstration at headquarters of the federal arts projects.

Pickets paraded outside both places, advertising the protests against previously announced dismissals of 1,500 arts project employees.

A spokesman for the strikers at headquarters said they would "sit and starve collectively until our pink slips are rescinded or we are carried out."

No immediate move was made to evict the men and women, who were staging the first WPA hunger strikes here.

"Sing for your Supper," apparently born to bluish unseem, has been in rehearsal since last March at a cost in salaries alone of $120,000. Its cast of 162 recently was cut to 100 and 56 more received dismissal slips Jan. 1 and 6 were transferred.

The show satirizes the WPA theater.

Judge for Yourself Whether We Need Thousands of Planes

By MORGAN M. BEATTY, AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The president calls for the mass production of thousands of airplanes and the men to keep them roaring for defense.

The opposition warns against the hysteria of joining a mad armament race.

What does it all mean? Here are the arguments—and you can judge for yourself.

PRO
The world is uneasy, susceptible to war fever, and woe betide the nation that does not possess adequate defense on land and in the air.

The United States has an adequate navy — second only to the British — that gives us an adequate first line of defense. Even though we have a small army, the naval defense strategy in war would give us plenty of time to carry out our well arranged plans to swell the army to emergency proportions and mobilize industry.

But in military air strength the United States has fallen behind. Germany, Britain, France and Russia exceed us in quantity. As for quality, some authorities say we are at the top, but others insist that Germany, Britain, and possibly Italy are better than we are.

Progress in the air is based primarily on research and experimentation, a field in which America led the world until Hitler came along five years ago. At that time Germany embraced the theory that a terrible swift air attack is the secret of military success in the modern world. Today at least four powers have as good or better research establishments than our own.

Has Strong Reserves

The secret of German air power is not the number of planes she can put into the air at the outbreak of war, but the great manufacturing organization she has tuned up to replace lost ships at the rate of at least 1,000 planes a month—a production that cannot be equalled by any other nation in the world.

German preparedness also includes — and this is probably more important than any other one point — full training of reserve mechanics to put planes together, and of pilots. She has 110,000 men in military aviation. Aviation expert Paul Johnson estimates that Germany has trained 150,000 to 200,000 men in plane and engine manufacture alone, and training begins with lads of 10. That's twice as many trained men of the air as any other nation can boast.

Minister's Son Admits His Guilt In Store Holdup

CLERMONT, Fla., Jan. 16 (AP)—Police reported today a minister's son found seriously wounded in a Bartow, Fla., hospital admitted participating in a grocery store holdup here late Saturday night.

One bandit was killed in a gun battle with store employees as he attempted to escape after the robbery. The store manager and a clerk were critically wounded. Officers still sought a third bandit who drove away a wounded companion in an automobile.

Police Chief Holar Cleaver identified the 23-year-old hospital patient as Ralph Revels, son of a Bowling Green, Fla., minister. The officer said a bullet had lodged near his heart and could not be removed.

Three grocery store employees, Cleaver said, told him they recognized Revels as one of the holdup men.

Revels declined to name the third member of the gang, the police chief said, and quoted the youth as saying he participated in the robbery but was drunk at the time.

Chief Cleaver said Revels told him the slain man was named Griffin and lived in Wauchoila. Laundry marks on his clothing bore the name "B. T. Griffin."

Wilson Denies Statement Of Dry Support

DES MOINES, Jan. 16 (AP)—An anti-saloon league leader's statement that Gov. George A. Wilson would support a two-point local option liquor law drew a reply from the state chief executive tonight that he never had discussed the matter with the dry force superintendent.

The Rev. C. C. McCaw of Des Moines, superintendent of the Iowa anti-saloon league, today told the opening session of the league's annual convention that Governor Wilson had personally pledged his support to the law and assured the league superintendent that he would sign it if it were passed by the legislature.

Informed of the superintendent's report, Governor Wilson said: "I never had any conversation of that kind with him (McCaw). After all, I still ought to be able to make my own statements on such subjects."

(In his inaugural address the governor made no reference to the liquor question. Neither did he make an issue of the matter in pre-election campaign speeches.) (Iowa now permits sale of beer by license establishments and sale of hard liquor through state-owned retail liquor stores.)

The Rev. Mr. McCaw told the convention a bill providing for local option would be introduced in the legislature soon. First point of the proposed law, he said, is that the area not included in incorporated cities or towns be dry. The second is that voters within incorporated areas be permitted to choose at elections whether they wish sale of liquor or beer or either.
